

SafeBoot Partners with Zix Corporation to Launch Enterprise Email Encryption Products and ServicesGlobal OEM distribution agreement delivers trusted email encryption service

DALLAS and NAPLES, Fla., March 8, 2006 — Zix Corporation (ZixCorp®), (Nasdaq: ZIXI), the leader in hosted services for email encryption and e-prescribing, today announced the signing of a global OEM distribution agreement with SafeBoot. Under the terms of the agreement, SafeBoot will distribute ZixCorp's award-winning email encryption services under the SafeBoot® Email Encryption™ brand, through its worldwide direct sales force and channel partners.

The new SafeBoot Email Encryption offering incorporates ZixCorp technologies and services. SafeBoot is a key player in the mobile data security market and was recently recognized as a leader in Gartner's Magic Quadrant for Mobile Data Protection.

"We evaluated many vendors and we were looking for an easy-to-use, best-of-breed solution that would complement the entire SafeBoot suite," said Gerhard Watzinger, chief executive officer for SafeBoot. "Through this partnership with ZixCorp, we are now able to meet the huge demand we are seeing in the global marketplace for email encryption."

SafeBoot clients are located in more than 60 countries and total more than two million active users. SafeBoot plans further expansion through its SafeBoot Email Encryption offering.

"This agreement is significant because it is another example of our commitment to expand our channels of distribution using an OEM model. It is particularly significant as it enables us to expand with a strong partner into new markets in both Europe and Asia," said Rick Spurr, chief executive officer for ZixCorp. "The ease of use and interoperability of our email encryption services allow us to partner with great companies such as SafeBoot and amplify these offerings worldwide."
