Zix Corporation Presents Web Seminar on Email Security Risks for Financial Institutions

Industry expert, Paul Reymann, discusses security risks and the controls needed to ensure the confidentiality, integrity, and availability of information assets

DALLAS — April 10, 2006 — Zix Corporation (ZixCorp®), (Nasdaq: ZIXI), the leader in hosted services for email encryption and e-prescribing, today announced that it will present a Web seminar on how financial organizations can establish proactive email security plans that meet with regulators' expectations.

- What: Email Security Risks and Your Regulatory Exam: Is your information security program adequate?
- When: Wednesday, April 12, 3:00 p.m. – 4:00 p.m. EDT
- Who: Paul Reymann, CEO of ReymannGroup, Inc.
- Where: Visit www.zixcorp.com/series to register

This informative and engaging Web seminar will explore prudent steps financial organizations need to take to prevent email security breaches and their consequences, government mandates for email security, necessary elements of a self-assessment prior to annual regulatory exams, and how an email encryption service can help make it happen quickly and easily. Plus, a complimentary thought leadership paper will be available for download after the presentation to help attendees evaluate their email security preparedness before their next examinations.

Featured guest speaker, Paul Reymann, is a leading financial institution regulatory expert and coauthor of Section 501 of the Gramm-Leach-Bliley Act (GLBA) Data Protection Regulation. Reymann has more than twenty years experience in the financial services industry, including thirteen years with the Department of Treasury's Office of Thrift Supervision in Washington, D.C.
