Sierra may, nonetheless, invest alongside its affiliates in certain circumstances where doing so is consistent with applicable law and SEC staff interpretations. For example, Sierra may invest alongside such other clients' accounts consistent with guidance promulgated by the SEC staff permitting it and such other clients' accounts to purchase interests in a single class of privately placed securities so long as certain conditions are met, including that no investment adviser, acting on Sierra's behalf or on behalf of other clients, negotiates any term other than price. Sierra may also invest alongside such affiliates as otherwise permissible under regulatory guidance, applicable regulations and SIC Advisors' allocation policies.

Policies and Procedures for Managing Conflicts

SIC Advisors and its affiliates have policies and procedures in place designed to manage the conflicts of interest between SIC Advisors' fiduciary obligations to Sierra and its similar obligations to other clients. Such policies and procedures are designed to ensure that investment opportunities that are not subject to the Current Exemptive Order are allocated on an alternating basis that is fair and equitable among Sierra and their other clients. An investment opportunity that is suitable for multiple clients of Medley and its affiliates may not be capable of being shared among some or all of such clients and affiliates due to the limited scale of the opportunity or other factors, including regulatory restrictions imposed by the Investment Company Act. There can be no assurance that Medley's or its affiliates' efforts to allocate any particular investment opportunity fairly among all clients for whom such opportunity is appropriate will result in an allocation of all or part of such opportunity to Sierra. Not all conflicts of interest can be expected to be resolved in Sierra's favor.

Members of SIC Advisors' investment management team, which is provided for by Medley, have managed and will continue to manage investment vehicles with similar or overlapping investment strategies. In order to address these issues, Medley has put in place an investment allocation policy that addresses the co-investment restrictions set forth under the Investment Company Act and seeks to ensure the equitable allocation of investment opportunities when Sierra is able to co-invest with other accounts managed by Medley and affiliated advisers. In the case of a transaction that is not subject to the Current Exemptive Order, SIC Advisors will apply Medley's investment allocation policy. When Sierra engages in co-investments that are permitted without exemptive relief, it will do so in a manner consistent with Medley's allocation policy. Under this allocation policy, a fixed percentage of each opportunity, which may vary based on asset class and investment objectives, among other things, will be offered to Sierra and similar eligible accounts, as periodically determined by Medley. The allocation policy further provides that allocations among Sierra and other accounts will generally be made pro rata based on each account's capital available for investment, as determined, in Sierra's case, by SIC Advisors. It is Sierra's policy to base its determinations as to the amount of capital available for investment on such factors as: the amount of cash on-hand, existing commitments and reserves, if any, the targeted leverage level, the targeted asset mix and diversification requirements and other investment policies and restrictions set by the Sierra Board or imposed by applicable laws, rules, regulations or interpretations. Sierra expects that these determinations will be made similarly for other accounts. In situations where co-investment with other funds managed by SIC Advisors or its affiliates is not permitted or appropriate, such as when there is an opportunity to invest in different securities of the same issuer, SIC Advisors will need to decide whether Sierra or such other fund or funds will proceed with the investment. SIC Advisors will make these determinations based on its policies and procedures, which generally require that such opportunities be offered to eligible accounts on an alternating basis that will be fair and equitable over time.

Material Nonpublic Information

Sierra's senior management, members of SIC Advisors' investment committee and other investment professionals from SIC Advisors may serve as directors of, or in a similar capacity with, companies in which Sierra invests or in which it is considering making an investment. Through these and other relationships with a company, these individuals may obtain material non-public information that might restrict Sierra's ability to buy or sell the securities of such company under the policies of the company or applicable law.

Investment Advisory Agreement

Sierra has entered into the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement with SIC Advisors and pays SIC Advisors a management fee and incentive fee. The incentive fee is computed and paid on income that Sierra may not have yet received in cash. This fee structure may create an incentive for SIC Advisors to invest in certain types of securities that may have a high degree of risk. Additionally, Sierra relies on investment professionals from SIC Advisors to assist the Sierra Board with the valuation of Sierra's portfolio investments. SIC Advisors' management fee and incentive fee are based on the value of Sierra's investments and there may be a conflict of interest when personnel of SIC Advisors are involved in the valuation process for Sierra's portfolio investments. In addition, the dealer manager has a right to receive a fixed percentage of the profits generated by SIC Advisors, but otherwise has no equity interest in, or control of, SIC Advisors.

License Agreement

Sierra has entered into a license agreement with SIC Advisors under which SIC Advisors has granted Sierra a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Sierra" for specified purposes in Sierra's business. Under this agreement, Sierra will have a right to use the "Sierra" name, subject to certain conditions, for so long as SIC Advisors or one of its affiliates remains Sierra's investment adviser. Other than with respect to this limited license, Sierra has no legal right to the "Sierra" name.

Appraisal and Compensation

The Sierra Charter provides that, in connection with any transaction involving a merger, conversion or consolidation, either directly or indirectly, involving Sierra and the issuance of securities of a surviving entity after the successful completion of such transaction, or "roll-up," an appraisal of all Sierra's assets will be obtained from a competent independent appraiser which will be filed as an exhibit to the registration statement registering the roll-up transaction. Such appraisal will be based on all relevant information and shall indicate the value of Sierra's assets as of a date immediately prior to the announcement of the proposed roll-up. The engagement of such independent appraiser shall be for the exclusive benefit of Sierra Stockholders. A summary of such appraisal shall be included in a report to Sierra Stockholders in connection with a proposed roll-up. All Sierra Stockholders will be afforded the opportunity to vote to approve such proposed roll-up, and shall be permitted to receive cash in an amount of such stockholder's pro rata share of the appraised value of Sierra's net assets.

Restrictions on Transactions with SIC Advisors

Sierra will not purchase or lease assets in which SIC Advisors or its affiliates have an interest unless (i) it discloses the terms of the transaction to Sierra Stockholders, the terms are fair to Sierra and at a price that does not to exceed the lesser of cost or fair market value, as determined by an independent expert or (ii) such purchase or lease of assets is consistent with the Investment Company Act or an exemptive order under the Investment Company Act issued to Sierra by the SEC. SIC Advisors will not acquire assets from Sierra unless approved by Sierra Stockholders and, to the extent required, by the SEC. Sierra will not make any loans or other financing to SIC Advisors. SIC Advisors is prohibited from commingling Sierra's funds with the funds of any other entity or person for which it provides investment advisory or other services. Sierra is permitted to invest in general partnerships and joint ventures with affiliates of SIC Advisors and non-affiliates provided certain conditions are met.

Expense Support Agreement

From June 29, 2012 through December 31, 2016, Sierra was party to an Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement with SIC Advisors (the "Expense Support Agreement"). During the term of the Expense Support Agreement, SIC Advisors reimbursed Sierra for operating expenses in an amount equal to the difference between Sierra's distributions paid to Sierra Stockholders in each month, less the sum of Sierra's net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to Sierra from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains, during such period ("Expense Support Reimbursement"). To the extent that no dividends or other distributions were paid to Sierra Stockholders in any given month, then the Expense Support Reimbursement for such month was equal to such amount necessary in order for available operating funds for the month to equal zero. From April 1, 2016 until the expiration of the Expense Support Agreement on December 31, 2016, SIC Advisors made expense support payments on a discretionary basis by making an election on the last day of each month to fund an expense support payment in an amount equal to the difference between Sierra's distributions paid to Sierra Stockholders during such month less the sum of Sierra's net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to Sierra from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains during such period.

Table of Contents

The purpose of the Expense Support Agreement was to cover distributions to Sierra Stockholders so as to ensure that the distributions did not constitute a return of capital for GAAP purposes and to reduce operating expenses until Sierra had raised sufficient capital to be able to absorb such expenses. The Expense Support Agreement expired on December 31, 2016.

Pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement, Sierra will reimburse SIC Advisors for expense support payments it previously made following any calendar quarter for which it received net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends from its portfolio companies (not included in net income and net realized capital gains) in excess of the distributions paid to Sierra Stockholders during such calendar quarter (the “Excess Operating Funds”). Any such reimbursement will be made within three years of the date that the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors, subject to the conditions described below. The amount of the reimbursement during any calendar quarter will equal the lesser of (i) the Excess Operating Funds received during the quarter and (ii) the aggregate amount of all expense payments made by SIC Advisors that have not yet been reimbursed. In addition, Sierra will only make reimbursement payments to the extent its current annualized “operating expense ratio” is equal to or less than its operating expense ratio for the quarter during which the corresponding expense obligation was incurred and to the extent the annualized rate of its regular cash dividends to Sierra Stockholders for the month is equal to or greater than the annualized rate of Sierra’s regular cash distributions to Sierra Stockholders for the month during which the corresponding expense payment was incurred.

The following table provides information regarding liabilities incurred by SIC Advisors pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement as well as other information relating to Sierra’s ability to reimburse SIC Advisors for such payments:

(1) “Operating Expense Ratio” is as of the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors and includes all expenses borne by Sierra, except for organizational and offering expenses, base management and incentive fees owed to SIC Advisors, and interest expense, as a percentage of net assets.

(2) “Annualized Distribution Rate” equals the annualized rate of distributions paid to Sierra Stockholders based on the amount of the regular cash distribution paid immediately prior to the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors. “Annualized Distribution Rate” does not include special cash or stock distributions paid to Sierra Stockholders.

(3) The unreimbursed part of the expense payment obligation has expired as of September 30, 2018.

The potential reimbursement obligations set forth above will survive the Mergers. However, Sierra does not expect that the triggers that would require reimbursement under the expense support agreement will be met with respect to the amounts identified in the table as currently outstanding. Therefore, Sierra expects that the potential reimbursement obligations will remain unpaid and will expire on September 30, 2019. Notwithstanding Sierra’s expectations, if the triggers requiring reimbursement of such amounts are satisfied and the Combined Company is obligated to make a reimbursement payment to SIC Advisors pursuant to the expense support agreement, the economic effect of such payment would simply be the Combined Company making a payment to its wholly owned subsidiary. However, notwithstanding all of the foregoing, SIC Advisors has agreed to waive the right to be reimbursed for any amounts outstanding under the expense support agreement.

CONTROL PERSONS AND PRINCIPAL HOLDERS OF SIERRA COMMON STOCK

The following table sets forth information with respect to the expected beneficial ownership of Sierra Common Stock as of December 14, 2018 by:

- each person known to Sierra to be expected to beneficially own more than 5% of the outstanding shares of Sierra Common Stock;
- each of Sierra directors and each executive officers; and
- all of Sierra directors and executive officers as a group.

Beneficial ownership is determined in accordance with the rules of the SEC and includes voting or investment power with respect to the securities. There is no Sierra Common Stock subject to options that are currently exercisable or exercisable within 60 days of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. Percentage of beneficial ownership is based on 98,182,586 shares of Sierra Common Stock outstanding as of December 14, 2018.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE ABOUT MARKET RISKS OF SIERRA

Sierra is subject to financial market risks, including changes in interest rates. As of September 30, 2018, 90.7% of Sierra's portfolio investments (based on fair value) paid floating interest rates, 9.3% paid fixed interest rates, 10.6% were non-income producing investments and the remaining 89.4% were income producing investments. A rise in the general level of interest rates can be expected to lead to higher interest rates applicable to any variable rate investments Sierra holds and to declines in the value of any fixed rate investments Sierra holds. However, many of Sierra's variable rate investments provide for an interest rate floor, which may prevent Sierra's interest income from increasing until benchmark interest rates increase beyond a threshold amount. To the extent that a substantial portion of Sierra's investments may be in variable rate investments, an increase in interest rates beyond this threshold would make it easier for it to meet or exceed the hurdle rate applicable to the subordinated incentive fee on income under the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement that Sierra has entered into with SIC Advisors, and may result in a substantial increase in Sierra's net investment income and to the amount of incentive fees payable to SIC Advisors with respect to Sierra's increased pre-incentive fee net investment income.

Under the terms of the TRS between Arbor and Citibank, Arbor will pay fees to Citibank at a floating rate based on LIBOR in exchange for the right to receive the economic benefit of a portfolio of assets having a maximum notional amount of $180 million. Sierra's interest expense will also be affected by changes in the published LIBOR rate in connection with its credit facilities. Sierra expects any future credit facilities, total return swap agreements or other financing arrangements that Sierra or any of its subsidiaries may enter into will also be based on a floating interest rate. As a result, Sierra is subject to risks relating to changes in market interest rates. In periods of rising interest rates, when Sierra or its subsidiaries have debt outstanding or financing arrangements in effect, Sierra's cost of funds would increase, which could reduce Sierra's net investment income, especially to the extent Sierra holds fixed rate investments.

In addition, any investments Sierra makes that are denominated in a foreign currency will be subject to risks associated with changes in currency exchange rates. These risks include the possibility of significant fluctuations in the foreign currency markets, the imposition or modification of foreign exchange controls and potential illiquidity in the secondary market. These risks will vary depending upon the currency or currencies involved.

Based on Sierra's Consolidated Statement of Assets and Liabilities as of September 30, 2018, the following table shows the approximate annual impact on the change in net interest income of hypothetical base rate changes in interest rates, assuming no changes in Sierra's investment portfolio and capital structure:

Basis point increase/(decrease)	Change in
	Interest Income ⁽¹⁾	Interest Expense	Net Interest Income
300	$ 22,237,649	$ 11,100,000	$ 11,137,649
200	14,825,099	7,400,000	7,425,099
100	7,412,550	3,700,000	3,712,550
(100)	(7,372,781)	(3,700,000)	(3,672,781)
(200)	(9,893,431)	(7,400,000)	(2,493,431)
(300)	(9,893,431)	(8,364,072)	(1,529,359)

(1) Assumes no defaults or prepayments by portfolio companies over the next twelve months.

Sierra expects that its long-term investments will be financed primarily with equity and debt. If deemed prudent, Sierra may use interest rate risk management techniques in an effort to minimize its exposure to interest rate fluctuations. These techniques may include various interest rate hedging activities to the extent permitted by the Investment Company Act. Adverse developments resulting from changes in interest rates or hedging transactions could have a material adverse effect on Sierra's business, financial condition and results of operations. During the three months ended September 30, 2018, Sierra did not engage in interest rate hedging activities.

In addition, Sierra may have risk regarding portfolio valuation. See "Management's Discussion and Analysis of Financial Condition and Results of Operations of Sierra — Critical Accounting Policies — Valuation of Investments" and "Risk Factors — Risks Relating to Sierra."

BUSINESS OF MCC

MCC is a non-diversified closed-end management investment company incorporated in Delaware that has elected to be regulated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act. MCC completed its IPO and commenced operations on January 20, 2011. MCC has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code. MCC is externally managed and advised by its investment adviser, MCC Advisors, pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement.

MCC's investment objective is to generate current income and capital appreciation by lending directly to privately held middle market companies, primarily through directly originated transactions to help these companies expand their business, refinance and make acquisitions. MCC's investment portfolio generally consists of senior secured first lien term loans and senior secured second lien term loans. In connection with some of its investments, MCC receives warrants or other equity participation features which it believes will increase the total investment returns.

MCC believes the middle-market private debt market is undergoing structural shifts that are creating significant opportunities for non-bank lenders and investors. The underlying drivers of these structural changes include: reduced participation by banks in the private debt markets, particularly within the middle-market, and demand for private debt created by committed and uninvested private equity capital. MCC focuses on taking advantage of this structural shift by lending directly to companies that are underserved by the traditional banking system and generally seek to avoid broadly marketed investment opportunities. MCC sources investment opportunities primarily through direct relationships with financial sponsors, as well as financial intermediaries such as investment banks and commercial banks. As a leading provider of private debt, Medley is often sought out as a preferred financing partner.

On March 26, 2013, MCC's wholly owned subsidiary, the SBIC Subsidiary, a Delaware limited partnership, received a license from the SBA to operate as a SBIC under Section 301(c) of the Small Business Investment Company Act of 1958, as amended.

The SBIC license allows the SBIC Subsidiary to obtain leverage by issuing SBA-guaranteed debentures, subject to the issuance of a capital commitment by the SBA and other customary procedures. SBA-guaranteed debentures are non-recourse, interest-only debentures with interest payable semi-annually and have a ten-year maturity. The principal amount of SBA-guaranteed debentures is not required to be paid prior to maturity but may be prepaid at any time without penalty. The interest rate of SBA-guaranteed debentures is fixed on a semi-annual basis at a market-driven spread over U.S. Treasury Notes with 10-year maturities. The SBA, as a creditor, will have a superior claim to the SBIC Subsidiary's assets over the MCC Stockholders in the event MCC liquidates the SBIC Subsidiary or the SBA exercises its remedies under the SBA-guaranteed debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary upon an event of default. The Mergers may require certain regulatory approvals, including that the MCC Merger is conditioned on MCC obtaining SBA approval. For more information, see "Regulatory Approvals Required by the Mergers — Request for SBA Approval" and "Risks Relating to the Mergers — The MCC Merger is conditioned on MCC obtaining certain approvals from the SBA for the debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary."

SBA regulations currently limit the amount that the SBIC Subsidiary may borrow to a maximum of $150 million when it has at least $75 million in regulatory capital, receives a capital commitment from the SBA and has been through an examination by the SBA subsequent to licensing. In June 2018, the U.S. Senate passed the Small Business Investment Opportunity Act, which the President signed into law, that amended the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 by increasing the individual leverage limit from $150 million to $175 million, subject to SBA approvals.

On November 16, 2012, MCC obtained an exemptive order from the SEC to permit it to exclude the debt of the SBIC Subsidiary guaranteed by the SBA from its 200% asset coverage test under the Investment Company Act. The exemptive order provides MCC with increased flexibility under the 200% asset coverage test by permitting it to borrow, through the SBIC Subsidiary, up to $150 million more than MCC would otherwise be able to absent the receipt of this exemptive order. If the Mergers are successfully consummated and subject to SBA approval, the SBIC Subsidiary will become a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company and the Combined Company will not be able to rely on this exemptive order granted to MCC. In this regard, Sierra has submitted an exemptive application to the SEC that requests an exemptive order that would permit the Combined Company to exclude the debt of the SBIC Subsidiary guaranteed by the SBA for purposes of the leverage limitations under the Investment Company Act. For more information, see "Regulatory Approvals Required by the Mergers — Request for SEC Exemptive Relief."

On January 26, 2018, MCC priced a debt offering in Israel of $121.3 million of the 2024 Notes. The 2024 Notes will mature on February 27, 2024 and the principal will be payable in four annual installments, of which 25% will be payable on each February 27 for the years 2021 through 2024. The 2024 Notes are listed on the TASE and denominated in New Israeli Shekels, but linked to the US Dollar at a fixed exchange rate which mitigates any currency exposure to MCC. The 2024 Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration under the Securities Act or in transactions exempt from, or not subject to, such registration requirements. In connection with this offering, MCC has dual listed MCC Common Stock on TASE. On June 5, 2018, MCC announced that, on June 1, 2018, the MCC Board authorized MCC to repurchase and retire up to $20 million of the 2024 Notes on TASE. Execution of the repurchase plan is subject to an open trading window for MCC and continued liquidity at that time and is expected to continue until the full authorized amount is purchased or market conditions change. The repurchase of the 2024 Notes is not expected to result in any material tax consequences to MCC or the holders of the 2024 Notes.

MCC's Adviser

MCC's investment activities are managed by its investment adviser, MCC Advisors, which is an investment adviser registered under the Advisers Act. MCC Advisors is an affiliate of Medley and is based in New York. MCC's investment team, which is provided for by MCC Advisors, is responsible for sourcing investment opportunities, conducting industry research, performing diligence on potential investments, structuring MCC's investments and monitoring its portfolio companies on an ongoing basis. MCC Advisors' team draws on its expertise in lending to predominantly privately held borrowers in a range of sectors, including industrials, and transportation, energy and natural resources, financials and real estate. In addition, MCC Advisors seeks to diversify MCC's portfolio of loans by company type, asset type, transaction size, industry and geography.

MCC's investment team has on average over 20 years of experience in the credit business, including originating, underwriting, principal investing and loan structuring. As of September 30, 2018, MCC Advisors, through MCC, has access to 72 employees, including 38 investment, origination and credit management professionals, and 34 operations, marketing and distribution professionals, each with extensive experience in their respective disciplines. MCC believes that MCC Advisors' disciplined and consistent approach to origination, portfolio construction and risk management should allow it to achieve compelling risk-adjusted returns for MCC.

MCC Advisors also serves as MCC's administrator and provides it with office space, equipment and other office services. The responsibilities of MCC's administrator include overseeing its financial records, preparing reports to MCC Stockholders and reports filed with the SEC and generally monitoring the payment of MCC's expenses and the performance of administrative and professional services rendered to MCC by others.

As a BDC, MCC is required to comply with regulatory requirements, including limitations on MCC's use of debt. MCC is permitted to, and expected to continue to, finance its investments through borrowings. However, as a BDC, MCC is only generally allowed to borrow amounts such that its asset coverage, as defined in the Investment Company Act, equals at least 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to the Investment Company Act, certain requirements are met) after such borrowing. The amount of leverage that MCC employs will depend on its assessment of market conditions and other factors at the time of any proposed borrowing.

Opportunities for co-investments may arise when MCC Advisors or an affiliated investment adviser becomes aware of investment opportunities that may be appropriate for MCC and other clients or affiliated funds. MCC obtained an exemptive order from the SEC on November 25, 2013 (the “Prior Exemptive Order”). On March 29, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the “Exemptive Order”) that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise have been prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder. On October 4, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain MCC affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the “Current Exemptive Order”) and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly- or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act. The terms of the Current Exemptive Order are otherwise substantially similar to the Exemptive Order. Co-investment under the Current Exemptive Order is subject to certain conditions, including the condition that, in the case of each co-investment transaction, the MCC Board determines that it would be in MCC’s best interest to participate in the transaction. However, neither MCC nor the affiliated funds are obligated to invest or co-invest when investment opportunities are referred to MCC or to them.

In situations where co-investment with other funds managed by MCC Advisors or its affiliates is not permitted or appropriate, such as when there is an opportunity to invest in different securities of the same issuer or where the different investments could be expected to result in a conflict between MCC’s interests and those of other MCC Advisors clients, MCC Advisors will need to decide which client will proceed with the investment. MCC Advisors will make these determinations based on its policies and procedures, which generally require that such opportunities be offered to eligible accounts on an alternating basis that will be fair and equitable over time. Moreover, except in certain circumstances, MCC will be unable to invest in any issuer in which a fund managed by MCC Advisors or its affiliates has previously invested. Similar restrictions limit MCC’s ability to transact business with MCC’s officers or directors or their affiliates.

Formation Transactions

Medley Capital BDC LLC (the “LLC”), a Delaware limited liability company, was formed on April 23, 2010.

Prior to the pricing of MCC’s IPO, Medley Opportunity Fund LP (“MOF LP”), a Delaware limited partnership, and Medley Opportunity Fund, Ltd. (“MOF LTD”), a Cayman Islands exempted limited liability company, transferred all of their respective interests in six loan participations in secured loans to middle market companies with a combined fair value, plus PIK interest and accrued interest thereon, of approximately $84.95 million (the “Loan Assets”) to MOF I BDC LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“MOF I BDC”) in exchange for membership interests in MOF I BDC. As a result, MOF LTD owned approximately 90% of the outstanding MOF I BDC membership interests and MOF LP owned approximately 10% of the outstanding MOF I BDC membership interests. On January 18, 2011, each of MOF LTD and MOF LP contributed their respective MOF I BDC membership interests to the LLC in exchange for LLC membership interests. As a result, MOF I BDC became a wholly owned subsidiary of the LLC.

On January 18, 2011, the LLC converted into Medley Capital Corporation, a Delaware corporation. As a result, MOF LTD and MOF LP’s LLC membership interests were exchanged for 5,759,356 shares of MCC Common Stock at $14.75 per share. On January 20, 2011, MCC filed an election to be regulated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act.

On January 20, 2011, MCC priced its IPO and sold 11,111,112 shares of MCC Common Stock at $12.00 per share. On February 24, 2011, an additional 450,000 shares of MCC Common Stock were issued at a price of $12.00 per share pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ over-allotment option. Net of underwriting fees and estimated offering costs, MCC raised a total of approximately $129.6 million. Shares of MCC Common Stock began trading on January 20, 2011 on the NYSE under the symbol “MCC.”

Investment Strategy

MCC believes that a well-structured portfolio of private debt transactions can generate equity-like returns with the risk profile of secured debt. Private debt combines attractive elements of both equity and fixed-income investments because transactions are generally structured as secured loans with equity upside in the form of options, warrants, cash flow sharing, co-investment rights or other participation features. As a result, MCC believes its private debt strategy offers upside potential, similar to mezzanine and private equity investments, and downside protection, similar to bank loans.

MCC believes that private debt offers an attractive investment opportunity for the following reasons:

Attractive Yield Opportunity.

MCC believes its ability to work directly with borrowers to create customized financing solutions enables it to deliver attractive yields to investors while eliminating intermediaries who extract fees for their services. Addressing complex situations that are generally underserved by traditional lenders enables MCC to generate excess returns. Private debt transactions have either a fixed or variable coupon payment due periodically, typically monthly or quarterly, and usually include (but are not limited to) PIK interest exit fees and warrants. MCC targets investments with an annual gross internal rate of return of 9 - 14% on an unleveraged basis consisting of cash interest, PIK interest and warrants or other forms of upside participation. Furthermore, while equity holders typically receive no cash or other periodic payments on their investments until a liquidity event occurs, regular interest payments on private debt transactions, combined with amortization payments, reduce the overall level of risk for the private debt investor.

Downside Protection.

MCC generally structures its transactions as secured loans supported by a security interest in the portfolio company's assets, as well as a pledge of the portfolio company's equity. MCC believes its secured debt position and corresponding covenant package should provide priority of return and also control over any asset sales, capital raises, dividend distributions, insurance proceeds and restructuring processes. MCC also focuses on transaction opportunities in which it can target lower first lien debt/EBITDA ratios, lower loan-to-value ("LTV") ratios and higher coverage ratios, all of which MCC believes further reduces the risk of principal loss. MCC typically targets first-lien debt/EBITDA of less than 3.5x, LTVs of lower than 65% and interest coverage ratios of 1.5x or higher. MCC believes that the current supply and demand imbalance in the private debt market enables it to employ a conservative strategy that seeks to protect investor capital.

Predictability of Returns.

MCC develops potential exit strategies upon origination of each transaction and will continually monitor potential exits throughout the life of the transaction. MCC structures its transactions as secured loans with a covenant package that will provide for repayment upon the completion of asset sales and restructurings. Because MCC structures these private debt transactions with contractually binding periodic payments of principal and interest, it is generally less likely to depend on the existence of robust M&A or public equity markets to deliver returns. MCC believes, as a result, that it can achieve its target returns even if public markets remain challenging for a long period of time.

Market Opportunity

MCC believes the credit crises that began in 2007 and the subsequent exit of traditional lending sources have created a compelling opportunity for skilled debt providers in the middle-market. MCC expects to take advantage of the following favorable trends in private lending:

Reduced Competition Leads to Higher Quality Deal Flow.

Traditional sources of liquidity have declined considerably. Commercial banks and other leveraged financial institutions have curtailed their lending activities in the current environment. Similarly, hedge funds and other opportunistic leverage providers' access to capital have decreased, thus reducing their ability to provide capital. Finally, MCC believes continuing bank consolidation has resulted in larger financial institutions that have shifted product offerings away from the middle market in favor of larger corporate clients. MCC believes that the relative absence of competition facilitates higher quality deal flow and allows for greater selectivity throughout the investment process.

Lack of Liquidity Creates Attractive Pricing.

MCC believes that a meaningful gap exists between public and private market debt spreads, primarily due to the fact that liquidity has not been returning to the private lending markets in the same way it has been returning to the public debt markets. As such, MCC believes that lenders to private middle-market companies in particular will continue to benefit from attractive pricing. MCC believes that gross internal rates of return of 9 - 14% are available for private debt investments in the current market via cash interest, PIK interest and equity participations.

Competitive Advantages

MCC believes that it represents an attractive investment opportunity for the following reasons:

Experienced Team.

The MCC Advisors' investment team has on average over 20 years of experience in the credit business, including origination, underwriting, principal investing and loan structuring. As of September 30, 2018, MCC Advisors, through MCC, has access to 72 employees, including 38 investment, origination and credit management professionals, and 34 operations, marketing and distribution professionals, each with extensive experience in their respective disciplines. Medley employs an integrated and collaborative investment process that leverages the skills and knowledge of its investment and credit management professionals. Medley believes that this is an important competitive advantage, which has allowed it to deliver attractive risk-adjusted returns to its investors over time.

Focus on Direct Origination.

MCC focuses on lending directly to portfolio companies that are underserved by the traditional banking system and seeks to avoid broadly marketed and syndicated deals. While MCC may source transactions via the private equity sponsor channel, most of its efforts focus on originating transactions directly to middle-market borrowers. MCC targets assets and borrowers with enterprise or asset values between $25 and $250 million, a market which it believes is the most opportune for its private debt activities. The challenging credit environment has further increased the number of potential transactions available to MCC, as traditional sources of credit have disappeared or diminished. MCC believes reduced competition among lenders and increased deal flow should allow it to be even more selective in its underwriting process.

Extensive Deal Flow Sourcing Network and National Presence.

Medley's experience and reputation in the market has enabled it to consistently generate attractive private debt opportunities. As a seasoned provider of private debt, Medley is often sought out as a preferred partner, both by portfolio companies and other financing providers. Historically, as much as half of Medley's annual origination volume has been derived from repeat and referral channels. MCC leverages Medley's offices on both coasts to maximize its national origination capabilities and direct calling efforts. Medley filters through as many as 1,300 transactions annually through its origination efforts and targets between 20 and 40 transactions per year for execution.

Finally, Medley has a broad network of relationships with national, regional and local bankers, lawyers, accountants and consultants that plays an important role in the origination process.

Risk Management.

MCC intends to continue the asset management process employed by Medley over the last ten years. In particular, its investment transactions will vary by asset type, transaction size, industry and geography. MCC utilizes a systematic underwriting process involving rigorous due diligence, third-party reports and multiple Investment Committee approvals. Following the closing of each transaction, MCC Advisors implements a proprietary, dynamic monitoring system for regularly updating issuer financial, legal, industry and exit analysis, along with other relevant information. At the same time, checks and balances to the asset management process will be provided by third parties, including, as applicable, the following: valuation specialists, legal counsel and loan servicers.

Restructuring and Workout Experience.

MCC Advisors' combined investment team has worked on over 100 restructurings, liquidations and bankruptcies prior to Medley. This experience provides valuable assistance to MCC in the initial structuring of transactions and throughout the asset management process.

Investment Process Overview

MCC views its investment process as consisting of three distinct phases described below:

Sourcing and Origination

MCC Advisors sources investment opportunities through access to a network of contacts developed in the financial services and related industries by Medley. It is MCC Advisors' responsibility to identify specific opportunities, to refine opportunities through rigorous due diligence of the underlying facts and circumstances while remaining flexible and responsive to clients' needs. With a total of over 35 investment professionals based in the New York office involved in sourcing and origination for MCC Advisors, each investment professional is able to maintain long-standing relationships and responsibility for a specified market. Each quarter, these origination efforts attract hundreds of inquiries from potential middle market borrowers.

An investment pipeline is maintained to manage all prospective investment opportunities and is reviewed weekly by the Investment Committee of MCC Advisors (the "Investment Committee"). The purpose of the investment pipeline, which is comprised of all prospective investment opportunities at various stages of due diligence and approval, is to evaluate, monitor and approve all of MCC's investments, subject to the oversight of Investment Committee.

Credit Evaluation

MCC utilizes a systematic, consistent approach to credit evaluation developed by Medley, with a particular focus on determining the value of a business in a downside scenario. The key criteria that MCC considers and attributes that MCC seeks include: (i) strong and resilient underlying business fundamentals; (ii) a substantial equity cushion in the form of capital ranking junior in the right of payment to MCC's investment; (iii) sophisticated management teams with a minimum operating history of two years; (iv) a conclusion that overall downside risk is manageable; (v) collateral support in the form of accounts receivable, inventory, machinery, equipment, real estate, IP, overall enterprise value and other assets; and (vi) limited requirements for future financing beyond the proposed commitment. The first review of an opportunity is conducted using the above-mentioned analysis to determine if the opportunity meets MCC Advisors general investment criteria. The next three reviews performed by the Investment Committee include the following: (1) an Early Read Memo, (2) a Green Light Memo, and (3) an Investment Committee approval memo. MCC Advisors maintains a rigorous in-house due diligence process. Prior to making each investment, MCC Advisors subjects each potential portfolio company to an extensive credit review process, including analysis of market and operational dynamics as well as both historical and projected financial information. Areas of additional focus include management or sponsor experience, industry and competitive dynamics, and tangible asset values. Background checks and tax compliance checks are typically required on all portfolio company management teams.

MCC's due diligence process typically entails:

- negotiation and execution of a term sheet;
- on-site visits;
- interviews with management, employees, customers and vendors;
- review of loan documents and material contracts, as applicable;
- obtaining background checks on all principals/partners/founders;
- completing customer and supplier calls;
- review of tax and accounting issues related to a contemplated capital structure;

Table of Contents

- developing a financial model with sensitivity analysis that includes a management case, expected case and downside case;
- receiving third party reports such as environmental, appraisal and consulting reports, as applicable.

Monitoring

MCC Advisors views active portfolio monitoring as a vital part of MCC's investment process. MCC Advisors utilizes a best-practice investment management system called Black Mountain ("BMS"), which maintains a centralized, dynamic electronic reporting system which houses, organizes and archives all portfolio data by investment. This is the primary system that tracks all changes to investment terms and conditions. On a quarterly basis, the asset management team produces a report from BMS for each investment within the portfolio by summarizing the investment's general information, terms and structure, financial performance, covenant package, and business updates. This feature enables MCC Advisors to track the history of every investment, while maintaining access to the most recent reporting information available, ensuring accurate reporting of the investment.

MCC Advisors will typically require portfolio companies to adhere to certain affirmative covenants requiring the following reports:

- monthly financial statements
- monthly covenant certificates
- monthly management discussion & analysis
- monthly bank statements
- annual insurance certificates
- annual audits and management letters
- quarterly industry updates
- quarterly customer and supplier concentration updates
- quarterly backlog/pipeline reports
- annual budgets and forecasts.

MCC Advisors holds quarterly portfolio reviews where the Investment Committee reviews each transaction in detail and reassesses the risk rating presently assigned.

Rating Criteria

In addition to external risk management research and internal monitoring tools, MCC uses an investment rating system to characterize and monitor the credit profile and its expected level of returns on each investment in its portfolio. MCC uses a five-level numeric rating scale. The following is a description of the conditions associated with each investment rating:

Credit Rating Definition

1	Investments that are performing above expectations.
2	Investments that are performing within expectations, with risks that are neutral or favorable compared to risks at the time of origination. All new loans are rated '2'.
3	Investments that are performing below expectations and that require closer monitoring, but where no loss of interest, dividend or principal is expected. Companies rated '3' may be out of compliance with financial covenants, however, loan payments are generally not past due.
4	Investments that are performing below expectations and for which risk has increased materially since origination. Some loss of interest or dividend is expected but no loss of principal. In addition to the borrower being generally out of compliance with debt covenants, loan payments may be past due (but generally not more than 180 days past due).
5	Investments that are performing substantially below expectations and whose risks have increased substantially since origination. Most or all of the debt covenants are out of compliance and payments are substantially delinquent. Some loss of principal is expected.

Investment Committee

The purpose of the Investment Committee, which is comprised of a minimum of three members selected from senior members of MCC Advisors' investment team, is to evaluate and approve all of MCC's investments. The Investment Committee process is intended to bring the diverse experience and perspectives of the committee's members to the analysis and consideration of each investment. The Investment Committee serves to provide investment consistency and adherence to MCC's core investment philosophy and policies. The Investment Committee also determines appropriate investment sizing and suggests ongoing monitoring requirements.

In addition to reviewing investments, Investment Committee meetings serve as a forum to discuss credit views and outlooks. Potential transactions and deal flow are reviewed on a regular basis. Members of MCC Advisors' investment team are encouraged to share information and views on credits with the Investment Committee early in their analysis. MCC believes this process improves the quality of the analysis and assists MCC Advisors' investment team members to work more efficiently.

Each transaction is presented to the Investment Committee in a formal written report. All of MCC's new investments and the exit or sale of an existing investment must be approved by a majority vote of the Investment Committee, although unanimous agreement is sought.

Investment Structure

Once MCC has determined that a prospective portfolio company is suitable for investment, MCC works with the management of that company and its other capital providers to structure an investment. MCC negotiates among these parties to agree on how its investment is expected to perform relative to the other capital in the portfolio company's capital structure.

MCC structures its investments, which typically have maturities of three to seven years, as follows:

Senior Secured First Lien Term Loans

MCC structures these investments as senior secured loans. MCC obtains security interests in the assets of the portfolio companies that serve as collateral in support of the repayment of such loans. This collateral generally takes the form of first-priority liens on the assets of the portfolio company borrower. MCC's senior secured loans may provide for amortization of principal with the majority of the amortization due at maturity.

Senior Secured Second Lien Term Loans

MCC structures these investments as junior, secured loans. MCC obtains security interests in the assets of these portfolio companies that serves as collateral in support of the repayment of such loans. This collateral generally takes the form of second-priority liens on the assets of a portfolio company. These loans typically provide for amortization of principal in the initial years of the loans, with the majority of the amortization due at maturity.

Senior Secured First Lien Notes

MCC structures these investments as senior secured loans. MCC obtains security interests in the assets of these portfolio companies that serve as collateral in support of the repayment of such loans. This collateral generally takes the form of priority liens on the assets of a portfolio company. These loans typically have interest-only payments (often representing a combination of cash pay and PIK interest), with amortization of principal due at maturity. PIK interest represents contractually deferred interest added to the loan balance that is generally due at the end of the loan term and recorded as interest income on an accrual basis to the extent such amounts are expected to be collected.

Warrants and Minority Equity Securities

In some cases, MCC may also receive nominally priced warrants or options to buy a minority equity interest in the portfolio company in connection with a debt investment. As a result, as a portfolio company appreciates in value, MCC may achieve additional investment return from this equity interest. MCC may structure such warrants to include provisions protecting its rights as a minority-interest holder, as well as a “put,” or right to sell such securities back to the issuer, upon the occurrence of specified events. In many cases, MCC may also seek to obtain registration rights in connection with these equity interests, which may include demand and “piggyback” registration rights.

Unitranche Loans

MCC structures its unitranche loans, which combine the characteristics of traditional senior secured first lien term loans and subordinated notes as senior secured loans. MCC obtains security interests in the assets of these portfolio companies that serve as collateral in support of the repayment of these loans. This collateral generally takes the form of first-priority liens on the assets of a portfolio company. Unitranche loans typically provide for amortization of principal in the initial years of the loans, with the majority of the amortization due at maturity.

Unsecured Debt

MCC structures these investments as unsecured, subordinated loans that provide for relatively high, fixed interest rates that provide it with significant current interest income. These loans typically have interest-only payments (often representing a combination of cash pay and PIK, or PIK interest), with amortization of principal due at maturity. Subordinated notes generally allow the borrower to make a large lump sum payment of principal at the end of the loan term, and there is a risk of loss if the borrower is unable to pay the lump sum or refinance the amount owed at maturity. Subordinated notes are generally more volatile than secured loans and may involve a greater risk of loss of principal. Subordinated notes often include a PIK feature, which effectively operates as negative amortization of loan principal.

MCC tailors the terms of each investment to the facts and circumstances of the transaction and the prospective portfolio company, negotiating a structure that protects its rights and manages its risk while creating incentives for the portfolio company to achieve its business plan and improve its operating results. MCC seeks to limit the downside potential of its investments by:

- selecting investments that it believes has a low probability of loss of principal;
- requiring a total return on its investments (including both interest and potential equity appreciation) that it believes will compensate it appropriately for credit risk; and
- negotiating covenants in connection with its investments that afford its portfolio companies as much flexibility in managing their businesses as possible, consistent with the preservation of its capital. Such restrictions may include affirmative and negative covenants, default penalties, lien protection, change of control provisions and board rights, including either observation or rights to a seat on the board of directors under some circumstances.

MCC expects to hold most of its investments to maturity or repayment, but it may realize or sell some of its investments earlier if a liquidity event occurs, such as a sale or recapitalization transaction, or the worsening of the credit quality of the portfolio company.

Managerial Assistance

As a BDC, MCC offers, and must provide upon request, managerial assistance to certain of its portfolio companies. This assistance could involve, among other things, monitoring the operations of its portfolio companies, participating in board and management meetings, consulting with and advising officers of portfolio companies and providing other organizational and financial guidance. MCC Advisors provides such managerial assistance on MCC's behalf to portfolio companies that request this assistance. MCC may receive fees for these services and will reimburse MCC Advisors, as its administrator, for its allocated costs in providing such assistance, subject to the review and approval by the MCC Board, including its independent directors.

Leverage

Through any credit facilities MCC may enter into in the future, MCC may borrow funds to make additional investments, a practice known as "leverage," to attempt to increase return to MCC Stockholders. The amount of leverage that MCC employs at any particular time will depend on MCC Advisors and the MCC Board's assessments of market and other factors at the time of any proposed borrowing. MCC is also subject to certain regulatory requirements relating to its borrowings. For a discussion of such requirements, see "Regulation — Senior Securities" and "Regulation — Small Business Investment Company Regulations."

MCC may from time to time seek to retire or repurchase MCC Common Stock through cash purchases, as well as retire, cancel or purchase MCC's outstanding debt through cash purchases and/or exchanges, in open market purchases, privately negotiated transactions or otherwise. Such repurchases or exchanges, if any, will depend on prevailing market conditions, MCC's liquidity requirements, contractual and regulatory restrictions and other factors. The amounts involved may be material.

Properties

MCC does not own any real estate or other physical properties materially important to its operation. MCC's headquarters are currently located at 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, NY 10017. MCC's administrator furnishes its office space and MCC reimburses it for such costs on an allocated basis.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, MCC is involved in various legal proceedings, lawsuits and claims incidental to the conduct of its business. MCC's businesses are also subject to extensive regulation, which may result in regulatory proceedings against it. Except as described below, MCC is not currently a party to any material legal proceedings.

On August 29, 2016, MVF Holdings, Inc. filed a lawsuit naming MCC among others as defendants, captioned Modern Videofilm Holdings, LLC, derivatively on behalf of Modern Videofilm, Inc. v. MCC, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, MCC Advisors, Richard Craybas, James Feeley, Congruent Credit Opportunities Fund II, LP, Congruent Investment Partners, LLC, Preston Massey, Main Street Capital Corporation, Charles Sweet, Managease, Inc., Christina Woodward, in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 631888 (the "Derivative Action"). The plaintiff in the Derivative Action asserts claims derivatively on behalf of Modern VideoFilm LLC against the defendants for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, unfair competition, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, interference with prospective economic advantage, fraud, and declaratory relief. MCC and the other defendants believe the causes of action asserted in the Derivative Action are without merit and all defendants intend to continue to assert a vigorous defense. On May 16, 2018, Modern VideoFilm LLC filed for bankruptcy in the United States Bankruptcy Court, Central District. As a result of the bankruptcy filing of Modern VideoFilm LLC's, all matters in the Derivative Action have been stayed.

Medley LLC, MCC, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube were named as defendants, along with other various parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned as Royce Solomon, Jodi Belleci, Michael Littlejohn, and Julianna Lomaglio v. American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Mark Curry, MacFarlane Group, Inc., Sol Partners, Medley Opportunity Fund, II, LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube, DHI Computing Service, Inc., Middlemarch Partners, and John Does 1-100, filed on December 15, 2017 and amended on March 9, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:17-cv-145 (hereinafter, “Class Action 1”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned George Hengle and Lula Williams v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and MCC, filed February 13, 2018, in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Richmond Division, as Case No. 3:18-cv-100 (“Class Action 2”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned John Glatt, Sonji Grandy, Heather Ball, Dashawn Hunter, and Michael Corona v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and MCC, filed August 9, 2018 in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:18-cv-101 (“Class Action 3”) (together with Class Action 1 and Class Action 2, the “Virginia Class Actions”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP was also named as a defendant, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned Christina Williams and Michael Stempel v. Red Stone, Inc. (as successor in interest to MacFarlane Group, Inc.), Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Mark Curry, Brian McGowan, Vincent Ney, and John Doe entities and individuals, filed June 29, 2018 and amended July 26, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, as Case No. 2:18-cv-2747 (the “Pennsylvania Class Action”) (together with the Virginia Class Actions, the “Class Action Complaints”). The plaintiffs in the Class Action Complaints filed their putative class actions alleging claims under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, and various other claims arising out of the alleged payday lending activities of American Web Loan. The claims against Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube (in Class Action 1, as amended); Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC (in Class Action 2 and Class Action 3); and Medley Opportunity Fund II LP (in the Pennsylvania Class Action), allege that those defendants in each respective action exercised control over, or improperly derived income from, and/or obtained an improper interest in, American Web Loan’s payday lending activities as a result of a loan to American Web Loan. The loan was made by Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in 2011. American Web Loan repaid the loan from Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in full in February of 2015, more than 1 year and 10 months prior to any of the loans allegedly made by American Web Loan to the alleged class plaintiff representatives in Class Action 1. In Class Action 2, the alleged class plaintiff representatives have not alleged when they received any loans from American Web Loan. In Class Action 3, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan at various times from February 2015 through April 2018. In the Pennsylvania Class Action, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan in 2017. By orders dated August 7, 2018 and September 17, 2018, the Court presiding over the Virginia Class Actions consolidated those cases for all purposes. On October 12, 2018, Plaintiffs in Class Action 3 filed a notice of voluntary dismissal of their claims, without prejudice, against Medley Opportunity Fund II, LP and MCC. On October 22, 2018, the parties to Class Action 2 settled. On October 29, 2018, the plaintiffs in Class Action 2 stipulated to the dismissal of their claims against all defendants in Class Action 2 (including Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC), with prejudice. Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube never made any loans or provided financing to, or had any other relationship with, American Web Loan. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube are seeking indemnification from American Web Loan, various affiliates, and other parties with respect to the claims in the Class Action Complaints. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube believe the alleged claims in the Class Action Complaints are without merit and they intend to defend these lawsuits vigorously.

Competition

MCC’s primary competitors to provide financing to private middle-market companies are public and private funds, commercial and investment banks, commercial finance companies, other BDCs, SBICs and private equity and hedge funds. Some competitors may have access to funding sources that are not available to MCC. In addition, some of MCC’s competitors may have higher risk tolerances or different risk assessments, which could allow them to consider a wider variety of investments and establish more relationships than MCC. Furthermore, many of MCC’s competitors are not subject to the regulatory restrictions that the Investment Company Act imposes on MCC as a BDC or to the distribution and other requirements MCC must satisfy to maintain its favorable RIC tax treatment.

Employees

MCC does not have any employees. Its day-to-day investment operations are managed by MCC Advisors. MCC Advisors employs a total of over 35 investment professionals, including its principals. In addition, MCC reimburses its administrator for the allocable portion of overhead and other expenses incurred by it in performing its obligations under the MCC Administration Agreement, including the compensation of MCC’s Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer, and their staff.

Administration

MCC has entered into the MCC Administration Agreement, pursuant to which MCC Advisors furnishes it with office facilities, equipment and clerical, bookkeeping, recordkeeping and other administrative services at such facilities. Under the MCC Administration Agreement, MCC Advisors performs, or oversees the performance of, MCC’s required administrative services, which include, among other things, being responsible for the financial records which MCC is required to maintain and preparing reports to MCC Stockholders and reports filed with the SEC.

MCC Advisors

MCC Advisors serves as MCC's investment adviser and is registered as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act. Subject to the overall supervision of the MCC Board, MCC Advisors manages the day-to-day operations of, and provides investment advisory and management services to MCC pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement by and between MCC and MCC Advisors.

Investment Committee

The purpose of MCC Advisors' investment committee, which is comprised of a minimum of three members selected from senior members of MCC Advisors' investment team, is to evaluate and approve all of MCC's investments. The investment committee process is intended to bring the diverse experience and perspectives of the investment committee members to the analysis and consideration of every investment. The MCC Advisors' investment committee also serves to provide investment consistency and adherence to MCC Advisors' investment philosophies and policies. MCC Advisors' investment committee also determines appropriate investment sizing and suggests ongoing monitoring requirements.

In addition to reviewing investments, MCC Advisors' investment committee meetings serve as a forum to discuss credit views and outlooks. Potential transactions and deal flow are also reviewed on a regular basis. Members of MCC Advisors' investment team are encouraged to share information and views on credits with MCC Advisors' investment committee early in their analysis. This process improves the quality of the analysis and assists MCC Advisors' investment team members to work more efficiently.

Each transaction is presented to MCC Advisors' investment committee in a formal written report. All of MCC's new investments and the exit or sale of an existing investment must be approved by a majority vote of MCC Advisors' investment committee, although unanimous agreement is sought.

Investment Management Agreement

Under the terms of the MCC Investment Management Agreement, MCC Advisors:

- determines the composition of MCC's portfolio, the nature and timing of the changes to MCC's portfolio and the manner of implementing such changes;
- identifies, evaluates and negotiates the structure of the investments MCC makes (including performing due diligence on its prospective portfolio companies); and
- executes, closes, monitors and administers the investments MCC makes, including the exercise of any voting or consent rights.

MCC Advisors' services under the MCC Investment Management Agreement are not exclusive, and it is free to furnish similar services to other entities so long as its services to MCC are not impaired.

Pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement, MCC pays MCC Advisors a fee for investment advisory and management services consisting of a base management fee and a two-part incentive fee.

On December 3, 2015, MCC Advisors recommended and, in consultation with the MCC Board, agreed to reduce fees under the MCC Investment Management Agreement. Beginning January 1, 2016, the base management fee was reduced to 1.50% on gross assets above $1 billion. In addition, MCC Advisors reduced its incentive fee from 20% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over an 8% hurdle, to 17.5% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over a 6% hurdle. Moreover, the revised incentive fee includes a netting mechanism and is subject to a rolling three-year look back from January 1, 2016 forward. Under no circumstances will the new fee structure result in higher fees to MCC Advisors than fees under the prior investment management agreement.

The following discussion of MCC's base management fee and two-part incentive fee reflect the terms of the fee waiver agreement executed by MCC Advisors on February 8, 2016 (the "Fee Waiver Agreement"). The terms of the Fee Waiver Agreement are effective as of January 1, 2016, and are a permanent reduction in the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income payable to MCC Advisors for the investment advisory and management services it provides under the MCC Investment Management Agreement. The Fee Waiver Agreement does not change the second component of the incentive fee, which is the incentive fee on capital gains.

Base Management Fee

For providing investment advisory and management services to MCC, MCC Advisors receives a base management fee. The base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% (0.4375% per quarter) of up to $1.0 billion of MCC's gross assets and 1.50% (0.375% per quarter) of any amounts over $1.0 billion of MCC's gross assets, and is payable quarterly in arrears. The base management fee will be calculated based on the average value of MCC's gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters and will be appropriately pro-rated for any partial quarter. On May 4, 2018, MCC Advisors voluntarily elected to waive $380,000 of the base management fee payable for the quarter ended March 31, 2018, which is shown on MCC's Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Incentive Fee

The incentive fee has two components, as follows:

Incentive Fee Based on Income

The first component of the incentive fee is payable quarterly in arrears and is based on MCC's pre-incentive fee net investment income earned during the calendar quarter for which the incentive fee is being calculated. MCC Advisors is entitled to receive the incentive fee on net investment income from MCC if its Ordinary Income (as defined below) exceeds a quarterly "hurdle rate" of 1.5%. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to MCC's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by MCC of MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to MCC's dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by MCC of MCC Common Stock, and any dividends paid by MCC, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter.

Beginning with the calendar quarter that commenced on January 1, 2016, the incentive fee on net investment income will be determined and paid quarterly in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter by reference to MCC's aggregate net investment income, as adjusted as described below, from the calendar quarter then ending and the eleven preceding calendar quarters (or if shorter, the number of quarters that have occurred since January 1, 2016). MCC refers to such period as the "Trailing Twelve Quarters."

The hurdle amount for the incentive fee on net investment income is determined on a quarterly basis, and is equal to 1.5% multiplied by MCC's NAV at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to MCC's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by MCC of MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to its dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by MCC of MCC Common Stock, and any dividends paid by MCC, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter. The incentive fee for any partial period will be appropriately pro-rated. Any incentive fee on net investment income will be paid to MCC Advisors on a quarterly basis, and will be based on the amount by which (A) aggregate net investment income ("Ordinary Income") in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters exceeds (B) the hurdle amount for such Trailing Twelve Quarters. The amount of the excess of (A) over (B) described in this paragraph for such Trailing Twelve Quarters is referred to as the "Excess Income Amount." For the avoidance of doubt, Ordinary Income is net of all fees and expenses, including the reduced base management fee but excluding any incentive fee on Pre-Incentive Fee net investment income or on MCC's capital gains.

Quarterly Incentive Fee Based on Net Investment Income

The incentive fee on net investment income for each quarter is determined as follows:

- No incentive fee on net investment income is payable to MCC Advisors for any calendar quarter for which there is no Excess Income Amount;
- 100% of the Ordinary Income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle amount, but is less than or equal to an amount, which MCC refers to as the "Catch-up Amount," determined as the sum of 1.8182% multiplied by MCC's net assets at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, as adjusted as noted above, comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income; and
- 17.5% of the Ordinary Income that exceeds the Catch-up Amount is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income.

The amount of the incentive fee on net investment income that will be paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter will equal the excess of the incentive fee so calculated minus the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters but not in excess of the Incentive Fee Cap (as described below).

The incentive fee on net investment income that is paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter is subject to a cap (the "Incentive Fee Cap"). The Incentive Fee Cap for any quarter is an amount equal to (a) 17.5% of the Cumulative Net Return (as defined below) during the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (b) the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters.

“Cumulative Net Return” means (x) the Ordinary Income in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (y) any Net Capital Loss (as described below), if any, in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap is zero or a negative value, MCC will pay no incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is a positive value but is less than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors equal to the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is equal to or greater than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors, calculated as described above, for such quarter without regard to the Incentive Fee Cap.

“Net Capital Loss” in respect of a particular period means the difference, if positive, between (i) aggregate capital losses, whether realized or unrealized, and dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital actions, in such period and (ii) aggregate capital gains, whether realized or unrealized and accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital action, in such period.

Dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of MCC Common Stock, as the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to MCC’s dividend reinvestment plan), as the excess of the transaction price per share over the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to other capital action is calculated, in the case of repurchases by MCC of MCC Common Stock, as the excess of the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share multiplied by the number of shares repurchased by MCC.

For the avoidance of doubt, the purpose of the new incentive fee calculation under the Fee Waiver Agreement is to permanently reduce aggregate fees payable to MCC Advisors by MCC, effective as of January 1, 2016. In order to ensure that MCC will pay MCC Advisors lesser aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated beginning January 1, 2016, at the end of each quarter, MCC also calculates the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income owed by MCC to MCC Advisors based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016. If, at any time beginning January 1, 2016, the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place after January 1, 2016, would be greater than the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016, MCC Advisors shall only be entitled to the lesser of those two amounts.

The second component of the incentive fee is determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year (or upon termination of the MCC Investment Management Agreement as of the termination date) and equals 20.0% of MCC’s cumulative aggregate realized capital gains less cumulative realized capital losses, unrealized capital depreciation (unrealized depreciation on a gross investment-by-investment basis at the end of each calendar year) and all capital gains upon which prior performance-based capital gains incentive fee payments were previously made to MCC Advisors.

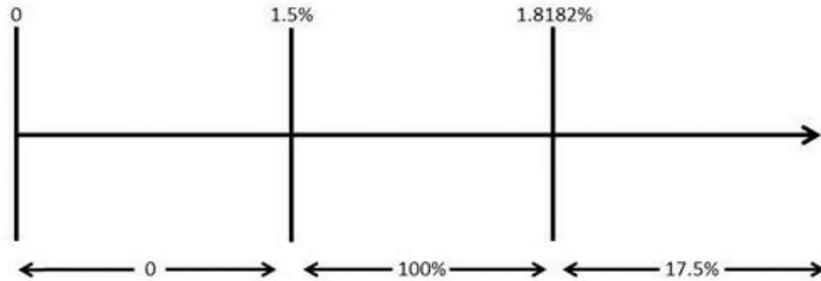

Under GAAP, MCC calculates the second component of the incentive fee as if MCC had realized all assets at their fair values as of the reporting date. Accordingly, MCC accrues a provisional capital gains incentive fee taking into account any unrealized gains or losses. As the provisional capital gains incentive fee is subject to the performance of investments until there is a realization event, the amount of the provisional capital gains incentive fee accrued at a reporting date may vary from the capital gains incentive that is ultimately realized and the differences could be material.

For the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC incurred net base management fees payable to MCC Advisors of $14.3 million and did not incur any incentive fees related to pre-incentive fee net investment income.

The following is a graphical representation of the calculation of the income-related portion of the incentive fee effective as of January 1, 2016 pursuant to the Fee Waiver Agreement:

*Pre-incentive Fee Net Investment Income
(Expressed as a Percentage of the Value of Net Assets)*

Example 1: Income Related Portion of Incentive Fee:

- Quarter 1
 - NAV at the start of Quarter 1 = $100.0 million (1 million shares)
 - Quarter 1 Ordinary Income = $5.0 million
 - Quarter 1 Issue 1 million shares at $101 per share = $1.0 million
 - Quarter 1 Capital Gain = $1.0 million
 - Quarter 1 Hurdle Amount = $1.5 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.5% hurdle rate)
 - Quarter 1 Catchup Amount = $1.81818 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.81818% rate)
- Quarter 2
 - NAV at the start of Quarter 2 = $100.0 million (1 million shares)
 - Quarter 2 Ordinary Income = $1.5 million
 - Quarter 2 Capital Gain = $1.0 million
 - Quarter 2 Hurdle Amount = $1.5 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.5% hurdle rate)
 - Quarter 2 Catchup Amount = $1.81818 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.81818% rate)
- Quarter 3
 - NAV at the start of Quarter 3 = $100.0 million (1 million shares)
 - Quarter 3 Ordinary Income = $4.0 million
 - Quarter 3 Repurchase 500,000 shares at $99 per share = $0.50 million
 - Quarter 3 Capital Loss = ($8.0) million
 - Quarter 3 Hurdle Amount = $1.5 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.5% hurdle rate)
 - Quarter 3 Catchup Amount = $1.81818 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.81818% rate)

- Quarter 4
 - NAV at the start of Quarter 4 = $100.0 million (1 million shares)
 - Quarter 4 Ordinary Income = $4.0 million
 - Quarter 4 Capital Gain = $3.0 million
 - Quarter 4 Hurdle Amount = $1.5 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.5% hurdle rate)
 - Quarter 4 Catchup Amount = $1.81818 million (calculated based on a quarterly 1.81818% rate)

Determination of Incentive Fee Based on Income:

In Quarter 1, the Ordinary Income of $5.0 million exceeds the Hurdle Amount of $1.50 million and the Catchup Amount of $1.8182 million. There is $2 million of Net Capital Gains, including a capital gain of $1 million and accretion to MCC's NAV of $1 million as a result of issuing shares at a transaction price that exceeds the NAV per share. As a result, an Incentive Fee based on income of $875,000 ((100% of $318,182) + (17.5% of $3,181,818)) is payable to MCC Advisors for Quarter 1.

In Quarter 2, the Quarter 2 Ordinary Income of $1.50 million does not exceed the Quarter 2 Hurdle Amount of $1.50 million, but the aggregate Ordinary Income for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $6.50 million exceeds the aggregate Hurdle Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $3.0 million and the aggregate Catchup Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $3.6364 million. There are no Net Capital Losses. As a result, an Incentive Fee based on income of $262,500 ($1,137,500 (100% of $636,364) + (17.5% of 2,863,636) minus $875,000 paid in Quarter 1) would be payable to MCC Advisors for Quarter 2.

In Quarter 3, the aggregate Ordinary Income of the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $10.5 million exceeds the aggregate Hurdle Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $4.5 million and the aggregate Catchup Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $5.4545 million. However, there is an aggregate Net Capital Loss of ($4.5) million for the Trailing Twelve Quarters. As a result, the Incentive Fee Cap would apply. The Incentive Fee Cap equals $(87,500), calculated as follows:

$(17.5\% \times ($10.5 \text{ million minus } $4.5 \text{ million})) \text{ minus } $1,137,500 \text{ paid in Quarters 1 and 2.}$ Because the Incentive Fee Cap is a negative value, there is no Incentive Fee based on income payable to the adviser for Quarter 3.

In Quarter 4, the aggregate Ordinary Income of the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $14.50 million exceeds the aggregate Hurdle Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $6.0 million and the aggregate Catchup Amount for the Trailing Twelve Quarters of $7.2727 million. The calculation of the Incentive Fee based on income would be $1.40 million ($$2,537,500$ (100% of $1,272,727) + (17.5% of $7,227,272) minus $1,137,500 million paid in Quarters 1 and 2). However, there is an aggregate Net Capital Loss of $(1.50) million for the Trailing Twelve Quarters. As a result, the Incentive Fee Cap would apply. The Incentive Fee Cap equals $1,137,500 calculated as follows:

$(17.5\% \times ($14.5 \text{ million minus } $1.5 \text{ million})) \text{ minus } $1,137,500.$ Because the Incentive Fee Cap is positive but less than the Incentive Fee based on Income of $1.40 million calculated prior to the Incentive Fee Cap, an Incentive Fee based on Income of $1,137,500 is payable to MCC Advisors for Quarter 4.

Example 2: Capital Gains Portion of Incentive Fee:

Alternative 1:

Assumptions

Year 1: $20 million investment made in Company A (“Investment A”), and $30 million investment made in Company B (“Investment B”)

Year 2: Investment A sold for $50 million and fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $32 million

Year 3: FMV of Investment B determined to be $25 million

Year 4: Investment B sold for $31 million

The capital gains portion of the incentive fee would be:

Year 1: None

Year 2: Capital gains incentive fee of $6.0 million ($30 million realized capital gains on sale of Investment A multiplied by 20.0%)

Year 3: None; $5.0 million (20.0% multiplied by ($30 million cumulative capital gains less $5 million cumulative capital depreciation)) less $6.0 million (previous capital gains fee paid in Year 2) (the $1.0 million difference would not be deducted from future capital gains incentive fees)

Year 4: Capital gains incentive fee of $200,000; $6.2 million ($31 million cumulative realized capital gains multiplied by 20.0%) less $6.0 million (capital gains fee paid in Year 2)

Alternative 2:

Assumptions

Year 1: $20 million investment made in Company A (“Investment A”), $30 million investment made in Company B (“Investment B”) and $25 million investment made in Company C (“Investment C”)

Year 2: Investment A sold for $50 million, FMV of Investment B determined to be $25 million and FMV of Investment C determined to be $25 million

Year 3: FMV of Investment B determined to be $27 million and Investment C sold for $30 million

Year 4: FMV of Investment B determined to be $35 million

Year 5: Investment B sold for $20 million

The capital gains portion of the incentive fee would be:

Year 1: None

Year 2: Capital gains incentive fee of $5.0 million; 20.0% multiplied by $25 million ($30 million realized capital gains on Investment A less $5 million unrealized capital depreciation on Investment B)

Year 3: Capital gains incentive fee of $1.4 million; $6.4 million (20.0% multiplied by $32 million ($35 million cumulative realized capital gains less $3 million unrealized capital depreciation on Investment B)) less $5.0 million capital gains fee received in Year 2

Year 4: None

Year 5: None; $5.0 million of capital gains incentive fee (20.0% multiplied by $25 million (cumulative realized capital gains of $35 million less realized capital losses of $10 million)) less $6.4 million cumulative capital gains fee paid in Year 2 and Year 3 (the $1.4 million difference would not be deducted from future capital gains incentive fees)

As noted above, in order to ensure that MCC will pay MCC Advisors a lesser base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income on a cumulative basis, as calculated beginning January 1, 2016, MCC will, at the end of each quarter, also calculate the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income owed by MCC to MCC Advisors based on the formula in place prior to the Fee Waiver Agreement, and pay lesser of those two amounts. Set forth below is a description of the base management fee and the incentive fee on net investment income payable to MCC Advisors prior to the Fee Waiver Agreement.

Base Management Fee — Prior to Fee Waiver Agreement

The base management fee was calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of MCC’s gross assets, and is payable quarterly in arrears. The base management fee is based on the average value of MCC’s gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters.

Incentive Fee — Prior to Fee Waiver Agreement

The incentive fee based on net investment income was calculated as 20.0% of the amount, if any, by which MCC's pre-incentive fee net investment income, expressed as a rate of return on the value of MCC's net assets calculated as of the end of the calendar quarter immediately preceding the calendar quarter for which the incentive fee is being calculated, exceeds a 2.0% (which is 8.0% annualized) hurdle rate but also includes a "catch-up" provision. Under this provision, in any calendar quarter, MCC Advisors receives no incentive fee until MCC's net investment income equals the hurdle rate of 2.0%, but then receives, as a "catch-up", 100% of MCC's pre-incentive fee net investment income with respect to that portion of such pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle rate but is less than 2.5%. The effect of this provision is that, if pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.5% in any calendar quarter, MCC Advisors will receive 20% of MCC's pre-incentive fee net investment income as if the hurdle rate did not apply. For this purpose, pre-incentive fee net investment income means interest income, dividend income and any other income including any other fees (other than fees for providing managerial assistance), such as commitment, origination, structuring, diligence and consulting fees or other fees that MCC receives from portfolio companies accrued during the calendar quarter, minus MCC's operating expenses for the quarter including the base management fee, expenses payable under the MCC Administration Agreement, and any interest expense and any dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the incentive fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income includes, in the case of investments with a deferred interest feature (such as original issue discount, debt instruments with PIK interest and zero coupon securities), accrued income that MCC has not yet received in cash.

Payment of MCC's Expenses

All investment professionals and staff of MCC Advisors, when, and to the extent, engaged in providing investment advisory and management services to MCC, and the compensation and routine overhead expenses of such personnel allocable to such services, is provided and paid for by MCC Advisors. MCC bears all other costs and expenses of its operations and transactions, including those relating to:

- its organization and continued corporate existence;
- calculating its NAV (including the cost and expenses of any independent valuation firms);
- expenses, including travel expense, incurred by MCC Advisors or payable to third parties performing due diligence on prospective portfolio companies, monitoring its investments and, if necessary, enforcing its rights;
- interest payable on debt incurred to finance its investments;
- the costs of all offerings of common shares and other securities;
- the base management fee and any incentive management fee;
- distributions on its shares;
- administration fees payable under the MCC Administration Agreement;
- the allocated costs incurred by MCC Advisors as MCC's administrator in providing managerial assistance to those portfolio companies that request it;
- amounts payable to third parties relating to, or associated with, making investments;
- transfer agent and custodial fees;
- all registration and listing fees;
- U.S. federal, state and local taxes;
- independent directors' fees and expenses;
- costs of preparing and filing reports or other documents with the SEC or other regulators;

Table of Contents

- the costs of any reports, proxy statements or other notices to MCC Stockholders, including printing costs;
- its fidelity bond;
- directors and officers/errors and omissions liability insurance, and any other insurance premiums;
- indemnification payments;
- direct costs and expenses of administration, including audit and legal costs; and
- all other expenses reasonably incurred by MCC or MCC Advisors in connection with administering MCC's business, such as the allocable portion of overhead under the MCC Administration Agreement, including rent and other allocable portions of the cost of the Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staffs (including travel expenses).

MCC reimburses MCC Advisors for costs and expenses incurred for office space rental, office equipment and utilities allocable to the performance by MCC Advisors of its duties under the MCC Administration Agreement, as well as any costs and expenses incurred relating to any non-investment advisory, administrative or operating services provided to MCC or in the form of managerial assistance to portfolio companies that request it.

From time to time, MCC Advisors pays amounts owed by MCC to third party providers of goods or services. MCC subsequently reimburses MCC Advisors for such amounts paid on MCC's behalf.

Limitation of Liability and Indemnification

The MCC Investment Management Agreement provides that MCC Advisors and its officers, directors, employees, agents or controlling persons are not liable to MCC or any of the MCC Stockholders for any act or omission by it or its employees in the supervision or management of MCC's investment activities or for any loss sustained by MCC, except that the foregoing exculpation does not extend to any act or omission constituting willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of its obligations under the MCC Investment Management Agreement. The MCC Investment Management Agreement also provides for indemnification by MCC of MCC Advisors' members, directors, officers, employees, agents, associates and controlling persons for liabilities incurred by it in connection with their services to MCC, subject to the same limitations and to certain conditions.

Duration and Termination

The MCC Investment Management Agreement was initially approved by the MCC Board on November 3, 2010 and was executed on January 11, 2011. Pursuant to its terms and under the Investment Company Act, the MCC Investment Management Agreement had an initial two-year term, and then was subject to an annual approval by the MCC Board. Unless terminated earlier as described below, it will continue in effect from year to year if approved annually by the MCC Board or by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of MCC's outstanding voting securities, including, in either case, approval by a majority of MCC's directors who are not interested persons. The MCC Investment Management Agreement will automatically terminate in the event of its assignment. The MCC Investment Management Agreement may be terminated by either party without penalty upon not more than 60 days' written notice to the other. See "Risk Factors — Risks Relating to MCC's Business — MCC depends upon senior management personnel of MCC Advisors for MCC's future success, and if MCC Advisors is unable to retain qualified personnel or if MCC Advisors loses any member of its senior management team, MCC's ability to achieve its investment objective could be significantly harmed."

Annual Board Approval of the Investment Management Agreement

On November 29, 2018, the MCC Board, at an in-person meeting, approved the renewal of the MCC Investment Management Agreement for an additional one-year term. Based on the information reviewed and the discussions held, the MCC Board, including a majority of the independent directors, concluded that the investment management fees and terms are reasonable in relation to the services to be provided and approved the MCC Investment Management Agreement for a period of one additional year, which will expire on January 9, 2020. In making its determination, the MCC Board took into account, among other things, its consideration and approval of the MCC Merger, consummation of which is subject to a number of conditions and approvals.

Administration Agreement

On January 19, 2011, MCC entered into an administration agreement with MCC Advisors. Pursuant to this agreement, MCC Advisors furnishes MCC with office facilities and equipment, clerical, bookkeeping, recordkeeping and other administrative services related to the operations of MCC. MCC reimburses MCC Advisors for its allocable portion of overhead and other expenses incurred by it performing its obligations under the MCC Administration Agreement, including rent and its allocable portion of the cost of MCC's Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staff. From time to time, MCC's administrator may pay amounts owed by MCC to third-party service providers and MCC will subsequently reimburse its administrator for such amounts paid on its behalf. For the years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC incurred $3.6 million and $3.8 million in administrator expenses, respectively.

The MCC Board approved the continuation of the MCC Administration Agreement on November 29, 2018, which extended the term of the MCC Administration Agreement for an additional period of one year beginning on January 19, 2018. Based on the information relating to the terms of the MCC Administration Agreement and the discussions held, the MCC Board, including a majority of the non-interested directors, approved the MCC Administration Agreement as being in the best interests of MCC Stockholders. The MCC Administration Agreement may be terminated by either party without penalty upon 60 days' written notice to the other party.

License Agreement

MCC has entered into a license agreement with Medley Capital LLC under which Medley Capital LLC has agreed to grant MCC a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Medley". Under the license agreement, MCC will have a right to use the "Medley" name for so long as MCC Advisors or one of its affiliates remains MCC's investment adviser. Other than with respect to this limited license, MCC has no legal right to the "Medley" name. This license agreement will remain in effect for so long as the MCC Investment Management Agreement with MCC Advisors is in effect.

Regulation

General

MCC has elected to be regulated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act. The Investment Company Act contains prohibitions and restrictions relating to transactions between BDCs and their affiliates (including any investment advisers or sub-advisers), principal underwriters and affiliates of those affiliates or underwriters and requires that a majority of the directors be persons other than “interested persons”, as that term is defined in the Investment Company Act. In addition, the Investment Company Act provides that McKay not change the nature of its business so as to cease to be, or to withdraw its election as, a BDC unless approved by “a majority of its outstanding voting securities.”

MCC may invest up to 100% of its assets in securities acquired directly from issuers in privately negotiated transactions. MCC does not intend to acquire securities issued by any investment company that exceed the limits imposed by the Investment Company Act. Under these limits, except for registered money market funds, MCC generally cannot acquire more than 3% of the voting stock of any investment company, invest more than 5% of the value of its total assets in the securities of one investment company or invest more than 10% of the value of its total assets in the securities of more than one investment company. With regard to that portion of MCC’s portfolio invested in securities issued by investment companies, it should be noted that such investments might subject MCC Stockholders to additional expenses. None of MCC’s investment policies are fundamental and any may be changed without MCC Stockholder approval.

Qualifying Assets

Under the Investment Company Act, a BDC may not acquire any asset other than assets of the type listed in section 55(a) of the Investment Company Act, which are referred to as qualifying assets, unless, at the time the acquisition is made, qualifying assets represent at least 70% of the BDC’s total assets. The principal categories of qualifying assets relevant to MCC’s business are the following:

- (1) Securities purchased in transactions not involving any public offering from the issuer of such securities, which issuer (subject to certain limited exceptions) is an eligible portfolio company, or from any person who is, or has been during the preceding 13 months, an affiliated person of an eligible portfolio company, or from any other person, subject to such rules as may be prescribed by the SEC. An eligible portfolio company is defined in the Investment Company Act as any issuer which:
 - is organized under the laws of, and has its principal place of business in, the United States;
 - is not an investment company (other than a small business investment company wholly owned by MCC) or a company that would be an investment company but for certain exclusions under the Investment Company Act; and
 - satisfies either of the following:
 - has a market capitalization of less than $250 million or does not have any class of securities listed on a national securities exchange; or
 - is controlled by a BDC or a group of companies including a BDC, the BDC actually exercises a controlling influence over the management or policies of the eligible portfolio company, and, as a result thereof, the BDC has an affiliated person who is a director of the eligible portfolio company.
- (2) Securities of an eligible portfolio company purchased from any person in a private transaction if there is no ready market for such securities and MCC already owns 60% of the outstanding equity of the eligible portfolio company.
- (3) Securities received in exchange for or distributed on or with respect to securities described above, or pursuant to the exercise of warrants or rights relating to such securities.
- (4) Securities of any eligible portfolio company which MCC controls.
- (5) Securities purchased in a private transaction from a U.S. issuer that is not an investment company or from an affiliated person of the issuer, or in transactions incident thereto, if the issuer is in bankruptcy and subject to reorganization or if the issuer, immediately prior to the purchase of its securities was unable to meet its obligations as they came due without material assistance other than conventional lending or financing arrangements.
- (6) Cash, cash equivalents, U.S. Government securities or high-quality debt securities maturing in one year or less from the time of investment.

The regulations defining and interpreting qualifying assets may change over time. MCC may adjust its investment focus needed to comply with and/or take advantage of any regulatory, legislative, administrative or judicial actions in this area.

Managerial Assistance to Portfolio Companies

A BDC must have been organized and have its principal place of business in the United States and must be operated for the purpose of making investments in the types of securities described in “— Qualifying Assets” above. However, in order to count portfolio securities as qualifying assets for the purpose of the 70% requirement, the BDC must either control the issuer of the securities or must offer to make available to the issuer of the securities (other than small and solvent companies described above) significant managerial assistance. Where the BDC purchases such securities in conjunction with one or more other persons acting together, the BDC will satisfy this test if one of the other persons in the group makes available such managerial assistance. Making available managerial assistance means, among other things, any arrangement whereby the BDC, through its directors, officers or employees, offers to provide, and, if accepted, does so provide, significant guidance and counsel concerning the management, operations or business objectives and policies of a portfolio company.

Temporary Investments

Pending investment in other types of “qualifying assets”, as described above, MCC’s investments may consist of cash, cash equivalents, U.S. Government securities or high-quality debt securities maturing in one year or less from the time of investment, which MCC refers to, collectively, as temporary investments, so that 70% of its assets are qualifying assets. Typically, MCC will invest in highly rated commercial paper, U.S. Government agency notes, and U.S. Treasury bills or in repurchase agreements relating to such securities that are fully collateralized by cash or securities issued by the U.S. Government or its agencies. A repurchase agreement involves the purchase by an investor, such as MCC, of a specified security and the simultaneous agreement by the seller to repurchase it at an agreed-upon future date and at a price which is greater than the purchase price by an amount that reflects an agreed-upon interest rate. There is no percentage restriction on the proportion of MCC’s assets that may be invested in such repurchase agreements. However, certain diversification tests in order to qualify as a RIC for U.S. federal income tax purposes will typically require MCC to limit the amount it invests with any one counterparty. MCC Advisors will monitor the creditworthiness of the counterparties with which MCC enters into repurchase agreement transactions.

Senior Securities

MCC is permitted, under specified conditions, to issue multiple classes of indebtedness and one class of stock senior to MCC Common Stock if its asset coverage, as defined in the Investment Company Act, is at least equal to 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to the Investment Company Act, certain requirements are met) immediately after each such issuance. In addition, while any preferred stock or publicly traded debt securities are outstanding, MCC may be prohibited from making distributions to MCC Stockholders or the repurchasing of such securities or shares unless MCC meets the applicable asset coverage ratios at the time of the distribution or repurchase. MCC may also borrow amounts up to 5% of the value of its total assets for temporary or emergency purposes without regard to asset coverage. For a discussion of the risks associated with leverage, see “Risk Factors — Risks Related to MCC — Risks Related to MCC’s Business — If MCC uses borrowed funds to make investments or fund its business operations, MCC will be exposed to risks typically associated with leverage which will increase the risk of investing in MCC.”

On March 26, 2013, MCC’s wholly owned subsidiary, the SBIC Subsidiary, received a SBIC license from the SBA. In anticipation of receiving an SBIC license, on November 16, 2012, MCC obtained an exemptive order from the SEC to permit MCC to exclude the debt of the SBIC Subsidiary guaranteed by the SBA from the 200% asset coverage ratio MCC is required to maintain under the Investment Company Act. Pursuant to the 200% asset coverage ratio limitation, MCC is permitted to borrow one dollar for every dollar it has in assets less all liabilities and indebtedness not represented by debt securities issued by MCC or loans obtained by MCC.

The exemptive order provides MCC with increased flexibility under the 200% asset coverage test by permitting the SBIC Subsidiary to borrow up to $150 million (the maximum amount of SBA-guaranteed debentures an SBIC may currently have outstanding once certain conditions have been met) more than MCC would otherwise be able to absent the receipt of this exemptive order. As a result, MCC would, in effect, be permitted to have a lower asset coverage ratio than the 200% asset coverage ratio limitation under the Investment Company Act. For example, MCC would be able to borrow up to $150.0 million more than the approximately $303.2 million permitted under the asset coverage ratio limit as of September 30, 2018. For additional information on SBA regulations that will affect its access to SBA-guaranteed debentures, see “Risk Factors — Risks Relating to MCC — Risks Relating to MCC’s Business.” The SBIC Subsidiary is subject to SBA regulations, and any failure to comply with SBA regulations could have an adverse effect on MCC’s operations. SBA regulations currently limit the amount that the SBIC Subsidiary may borrow to a maximum of $150 million when it has at least $75 million in regulatory capital, receives a capital commitment from the SBA and has been through an examination by the SBA subsequent to licensing.

Code of Ethics

MCC and MCC Advisors have each adopted a code of ethics pursuant to Rule 17j-1 under the Investment Company Act that establishes procedures for personal investments and restricts certain personal securities transactions. Personnel subject to each code may invest in securities for their personal investment accounts, including securities that may be purchased or held by MCC, so long as such investments are made in accordance with the code of ethics’ requirements. You may read and copy the code of ethics at the SEC’s Public Reference Room in Washington, D.C. You may obtain information on the operation of the Public Reference Room by calling the SEC at 1-800-SEC-0330. In addition, the code of ethics is available at MCC’s website, www.medleycapitalcorp.com, and is available on the EDGAR Database on the SEC’s Internet site at <http://www.sec.gov>. You may also obtain copies of the code of ethics, after paying a duplicating fee, by electronic request at the following e-mail address: publicinfo@sec.gov, or by writing the SEC’s Public Reference Section, 100 F Street, N.E., Washington, D.C. 20549.

Privacy Policy

MCC is committed to maintaining the privacy of MCC Stockholders and to safeguarding its non-public personal information. The following information is provided to help you understand what personal information MCC collects, how it protects that information and why, in certain cases, it may share information with select other parties.

Generally, MCC does not receive any nonpublic personal information relating to MCC Stockholders, although certain nonpublic personal information of MCC Stockholders may become available to MCC. MCC does not disclose any nonpublic personal information about MCC Stockholders or former MCC Stockholders to anyone, except as permitted by law or as is necessary in order to service stockholder accounts (for example, to a transfer agent or third party administrator).

MCC restricts access to nonpublic personal information about MCC Stockholders to MCC Advisors’ employees with a legitimate business need for the information. MCC maintains physical, electronic and procedural safeguards designed to protect the nonpublic personal information of MCC Stockholders.

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures

MCC has delegated its proxy voting responsibility to MCC Advisors. The Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures of MCC Advisors are set forth below. The guidelines are reviewed periodically by MCC Advisors and the MCC Board’s independent directors, and, accordingly, are subject to change.

MCC Advisors is registered with the SEC as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act. As an investment adviser registered under the Advisers Act, MCC Advisors will have fiduciary duties to MCC. As part of this duty, MCC Advisors recognizes that it must vote client securities in a timely manner free of conflicts of interest and in MCC’s best interests and the best interests of MCC Stockholders. MCC Advisors’ Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures have been formulated to ensure decision-making consistent with these fiduciary duties.

These policies and procedures for voting proxies for its investment advisory clients are intended to comply with Section 206 of, and Rule 206(4)-6 under, the Advisers Act.

Proxy Policies

MCC Advisors evaluates routine proxy matters, such as proxy proposals, amendments or resolutions on a case-by-case basis. Routine matters are typically proposed by management and MCC Advisors will normally support such matters so long as they do not measurably change the structure, management control, or operation of the corporation and are consistent with industry standards as well as the corporate laws of the state of incorporation.

MCC Advisors also evaluates non-routine matters on a case-by-case basis. Non-routine proposals concerning social issues are typically proposed by MCC Stockholders who believe that the corporation's internally adopted policies are ill-advised or misguided. If MCC Advisors has determined that management is generally socially responsible, MCC Advisors will generally vote against these types of non-routine proposals. Non-routine proposals concerning financial or corporate issues are usually offered by management and seek to change a corporation's legal, business or financial structure. MCC Advisors will generally vote in favor of such proposals provided the position of current MCC Stockholders is preserved or enhanced. Non-routine proposals concerning stockholder rights are made regularly by both management and stockholders. They can be generalized as involving issues that transfer or realign board or stockholder voting power. MCC Advisors typically would oppose any proposal aimed solely at thwarting potential takeovers by requiring, for example, super-majority approval. At the same time, MCC Advisors believes stability and continuity promote profitability. MCC Advisors' guidelines in this area seek a balanced view and individual proposals will be carefully assessed in the context of their particular circumstances.

If a vote may involve a material conflict of interest, prior to approving such vote, MCC Advisors must consult with its Chief Compliance Officer to determine whether the potential conflict is material and if so, the appropriate method to resolve such conflict. If the conflict is determined not to be material, MCC Advisors' employees shall vote the proxy in accordance with MCC Advisors' proxy voting policy.

Other

Under the Investment Company Act, MCC is not generally able to issue and sell MCC Common Stock at a price below NAV per share. MCC may, however, issue and sell MCC Common Stock, at a price below the current NAV of the MCC Common Stock, or issue and sell warrants, options or rights to acquire such MCC Common Stock, at a price below the current NAV of the MCC Common Stock if the MCC Board determines that such sale is in MCC's best interest and in the best interests of MCC Stockholders, and MCC Stockholders have approved MCC's policy and practice of making such sales within the preceding 12 months. In any such case, the price at which MCC's securities are to be issued and sold may not be less than a price which, in the determination of the MCC Board, closely approximates the market value of such securities. However, MCC currently does not have the requisite stockholder approval, nor does it have any current plans to seek stockholder approval, to sell or issue shares of MCC Common Stock at a price below NAV per share.

In addition, at MCC's 2012 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, MCC received approval from MCC Stockholders to authorize MCC, with the approval of the MCC Board, to issue securities to, subscribe to, convert to, or purchase shares of the MCC Common Stock in one or more offerings, subject to certain conditions as set forth in the proxy statement. Such authorization has no expiration.

MCC expects to be periodically examined by the SEC for compliance with the Investment Company Act.

MCC is required to provide and maintain a bond issued by a reputable fidelity insurance company to protect MCC against larceny and embezzlement. Furthermore, as a BDC, MCC is prohibited from protecting any director or officer against any liability to it or MCC Stockholders arising from willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of such person's office.

MCC and MCC Advisors adopted written policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent violation of the federal securities laws, and will review these policies and procedures annually for their adequacy and the effectiveness of their implementation. MCC and MCC Advisors have designated a Chief Compliance Officer to be responsible for administering the policies and procedures.

Small Business Investment Company Regulations

On March 26, 2013, MCC's wholly owned subsidiary, the SBIC Subsidiary, a Delaware limited partnership, received a license from the SBA to operate as a SBIC under Section 301(c) of the Small Business Investment Company Act of 1958, as amended.

The SBIC license allows the SBIC Subsidiary to obtain leverage by issuing SBA-guaranteed debentures, subject to the issuance of a capital commitment by the SBA and other customary procedures. SBA-guaranteed debentures are non-recourse, interest only debentures with interest payable semi-annually and have a ten-year maturity. The principal amount of SBA-guaranteed debentures is not required to be paid prior to maturity but may be prepaid at any time without penalty. The interest rate of SBA-guaranteed debentures is fixed on a semi-annual basis at a market-driven spread over U.S. Treasury Notes with 10-year maturities. The SBA, as a creditor, will have a superior claim to the SBIC Subsidiary's assets over MCC Stockholders in the event MCC liquidates the SBIC Subsidiary or the SBA exercises its remedies under the SBA-guaranteed debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary upon an event of default.

SBICs are designed to stimulate the flow of private equity capital to eligible small businesses. Under SBA regulations, SBICs may make loans to eligible small businesses, invest in the equity securities of such businesses and provide them with consulting and advisory services. SBA regulations currently limit the amount that an SBIC may borrow up to a maximum of $150 million when it has at least $75 million in regulatory capital, receives a capital commitment from the SBA and has been through an examination by the SBA subsequent to licensing. In June 2018, the U.S. Senate passed the Small Business Investment Opportunity Act, which the President signed into law, that amended the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 by increasing the individual leverage limit from $150 million to $175 million, subject to SBA approvals.

Under present SBA regulations, eligible small businesses generally include businesses that (together with their affiliates) have a tangible net worth not exceeding $19.5 million and have average net income after U.S. federal income taxes not exceeding $6.5 million (average net income to be computed without benefit of any carryover loss) for the two most recent fiscal years. In addition, a SBIC must devote 25% of its investment activity to "smaller" concerns as defined by the SBA. A smaller concern generally includes businesses that have a tangible net worth not exceeding $6 million and have average annual net income after U.S. federal income taxes not exceeding $2 million (average net income to be computed without benefit of any net carryover loss) for the two most recent fiscal years. SBA regulations also provide alternative industry size standard criteria to determine eligibility for designation as an eligible small business or smaller concern, which criteria depend on the primary industry in which the business is engaged and are generally based on the number of employees or gross revenue. However, once an SBIC has invested in a company, it may continue to make follow-on investments in the company, regardless of the size of the company at the time of the follow-on investment, up to the time of the company's initial public offering, if any.

The SBA prohibits an SBIC from providing funds to small businesses for certain purposes, such as relending or investing outside the United States, to businesses engaged in a few prohibited industries and to certain "passive" (i.e., non-operating) companies. In addition, without prior SBA approval, an SBIC may not invest an amount equal to more than approximately 30% of the SBIC's regulatory capital in any one company and its affiliates.

The SBA places certain limitations on the financing terms of investments by SBICs in portfolio companies (such as limiting the permissible interest rate on debt securities held by an SBIC in a portfolio company). Although prior regulations prohibited an SBIC from controlling a small business concern except in limited circumstances, regulations adopted by the SBA in 2002 now allow a SBIC to exercise control over a small business for a period of up to seven years from the date on which the SBIC initially acquires its control position. This control period may be extended for an additional period of time with the SBA's prior written approval.

The SBA restricts the ability of an SBIC to provide financing to an "associate" as defined under the SBIC regulations, without a prior written exemption from the SBA. The SBA also prohibits, without prior SBA approval, a "change of control" of an SBIC or transfers that would result in any person (or a group of persons acting in concert) owning 10% or more of a class of capital stock of a licensed SBIC. A "change of control" is any event which would result in the transfer of the power, direct or indirect, to direct the management and policies of an SBIC, whether through ownership, contractual arrangements or otherwise.

An SBIC (or group of SBICs under common control) may generally have outstanding debentures guaranteed by the SBA in amounts up to twice the amount of the privately raised funds of the SBIC(s). Debentures guaranteed by the SBA have a maturity of ten years, require semi-annual payments of interest and do not require any principal payments prior to maturity. The SBA, as a creditor, will have a superior claim to the SBIC Subsidiary's assets over MCC Stockholders in the event MCC liquidates the SBIC Subsidiary or the SBA exercises its remedies under the SBA-guaranteed debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary upon an event of default.

SBICs must invest idle funds that are not being used to make loans in investments permitted under SBIC regulations in the following limited types of securities: (1) direct obligations of, or obligations guaranteed as to principal and interest by, the U.S. government, which mature within 15 months from the date of the investment; (2) repurchase agreements with federally insured institutions with a maturity of seven days or less (and the securities underlying the repurchase obligations must be direct obligations of or guaranteed by the federal government); (3) certificates of deposit with a maturity of one year or less, issued by a federally insured institution; (4) a deposit account in a federally insured institution that is subject to a withdrawal restriction of one year or less; (5) a checking account in a federally insured institution; or (6) a reasonable petty cash fund.

SBICs are periodically examined and audited by the SBA's staff to determine their compliance with SBA regulations and are periodically required to file certain forms with the SBA. If an SBIC fails to comply with applicable SBA regulations, the SBA could, depending on the severity of the violation, limit or prohibit the SBIC's use of debentures, declare outstanding debentures immediately due and payable, and/or limit the SBIC from making new investments. In addition, the SBIC may also be limited in its ability to make distributions to MCC if it does not have sufficient capital in accordance with SBA regulations. Such actions by the SBA would, in turn, negatively affect MCC because the SBIC Subsidiary is MCC's wholly owned subsidiary.

Neither the SBA nor the U.S. government or any of its agencies or officers has approved any ownership interest to be issued by MCC or any obligation that MCC or any of its subsidiaries may incur.

Election to be Taxed as a RIC

As a BDC, MCC has elected and qualified to be treated as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code. As a RIC, MCC generally will not have to pay corporate-level U.S. federal income taxes on any net ordinary income or capital gains that it timely distributes to MCC Stockholders as dividends. To qualify as a RIC, MCC must, among other things, meet certain source-of-income and asset diversification requirements (as described below). In addition, MCC must distribute to MCC Stockholders, for each taxable year, at least 90% of its "investment company taxable income," which is generally its net ordinary income plus the excess of realized net short-term capital gains over realized net long-term capital losses (the "Distribution Requirement"). The SBIC Subsidiary may be limited by the Small Business Investment Act of 1958, and SBA regulations governing SBICs, from making certain distributions to MCC that may be necessary to enable MCC to maintain its status as a RIC. MCC may have to request a waiver of the SBA's restrictions for the SBIC Subsidiary to make certain distributions to maintain its RIC tax treatment. MCC cannot assure you that the SBA will grant such a waiver.

Taxation as a RIC

As a RIC, if MCC satisfies the Distribution Requirement, it will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on the portion of its investment company taxable income and net capital gain, defined as net long-term capital gains in excess of net short-term capital losses, MCC distributes to MCC Stockholders. MCC will be subject to U.S. federal income tax at regular corporate rates on any net income or net capital gain not distributed to MCC Stockholders.

MCC will be subject to a nondeductible U.S. federal excise tax of 4% on undistributed income if it does not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income in any calendar year and 98.2% of its capital gain net income for each one-year period ending on October 31. Depending on the level of investment company taxable income (“ICTI”) earned in a tax year, MCC may choose to carry forward ICTI in excess of current year dividend distributions into the next tax year. Any such carryover ICTI must be distributed before the end of that next tax year through a dividend declared prior to filing the final tax return related to the year which generated such ICTI. To the extent that MCC determines that its estimated current year annual taxable income will be in excess of estimated current year dividend distributions for excise tax purposes, MCC accrues excise tax, if any, on estimated excess taxable income as taxable income is earned.

In order to qualify as a RIC for U.S. federal income tax purposes, MCC must, among other things:

- qualify to be treated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act at all times during each taxable year;
- derive in each taxable year at least 90% of its gross income from dividends, interest, payments with respect to certain securities loans, gains from the sale of stock or other securities, or other income derived with respect to its business of investing in such stock or securities, and net income derived from interests in “qualified publicly traded partnerships” (partnerships that are traded on an established securities market or tradable on a secondary market, other than partnerships that derive 90% of their income from interest, dividends and other permitted RIC income) (the “90% Income Test”); and
- diversify its holdings so that at the end of each quarter of the taxable year:
 - at least 50% of the value of its assets consists of cash, cash equivalents, U.S. government securities, securities of other RICs, and other securities if such other securities of any one issuer do not represent more than 5% of the value of its assets or more than 10% of the outstanding voting securities of the issuer; and
 - no more than 25% of the value of its assets is invested in the securities, other than U.S. government securities or securities of other RICs, of one issuer or of two or more issuers that are controlled, as determined under applicable tax rules, by MCC and that are engaged in the same or similar or related trades or businesses or in the securities of one or more qualified publicly traded partnerships (the “Diversification Tests”).

MCC may invest in partnerships, including qualified publicly traded partnerships, which may result in its being subject to state, local or foreign income and franchise or withholding liabilities.

Any underwriting fees paid by MCC are not deductible. MCC may be required to recognize taxable income in circumstances in which MCC does not receive cash. For example, if MCC holds debt obligations that are treated under applicable tax rules as having original issue discount (such as debt instruments with PIK interest or, in certain cases, with increasing interest rates or issued with warrants), MCC must include in income each year a portion of the original issue discount that accrues over the life of the obligation, regardless of whether cash representing such income is received by MCC in the same taxable year. Because any original issue discount accrued will be included in its investment company taxable income for the year of accrual, MCC may be required to make a distribution to MCC Stockholders in order to satisfy the Distribution Requirement, even though MCC will not have received any corresponding cash amount.

Certain of MCC's investment practices may be subject to special and complex U.S. federal income tax provisions that may, among other things, (1) treat dividends that would otherwise constitute qualified dividend income as non-qualified dividend income, (2) treat dividends that would otherwise be eligible for the corporate dividends received deduction as ineligible for such treatment, (3) disallow, suspend or otherwise limit the allowance of certain losses or deductions, (4) convert lower-taxed long term capital gain into higher-taxed short-term capital gain or ordinary income, (5) convert an ordinary loss or a deduction into a capital loss (the deductibility of which is more limited), (6) cause MCC to recognize income or gain without a corresponding receipt of cash, (7) adversely affect the time as to when a purchase or sale of stock or securities is deemed to occur, (8) adversely alter the characterization of certain complex financial transactions and (9) produce income that will not be qualifying income for purposes of the 90% Income Test. MCC intends to monitor its transactions and may make certain tax elections to mitigate the effect of these provisions and prevent its disqualification as a RIC.

Gains or losses realized by MCC from warrants acquired as well as any loss attributable to the lapse of such warrants generally will be treated as capital gain or loss. Such gain or loss generally will be long term or short term, depending on how long MCC held a particular warrant.

Although MCC does not presently expect to do so, MCC is authorized to borrow funds and to sell assets in order to satisfy the Distribution Requirement or the excise tax requirement. However, under the Investment Company Act, MCC is not permitted to make distributions to MCC Stockholders while its debt obligations and other senior securities are outstanding unless certain "asset coverage" tests are met. See "— Senior Securities" above. Moreover, MCC's ability to dispose of assets to meet its distribution requirements may be limited by (1) the illiquid nature of its portfolio and/or (2) other requirements relating to its qualification as a RIC, including the Diversification Tests. If MCC disposes of assets in order to meet the Distribution Requirement or the excise tax requirement, MCC may make such dispositions at times that, from an investment standpoint, are not advantageous.

Some of the income and fees that MCC may recognize will not satisfy the 90% Income Test. In order to ensure that such income and fees do not disqualify MCC as a RIC for a failure to satisfy the 90% Income Test, MCC may be required to recognize such income and fees indirectly through one or more entities treated as corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Such corporations will be required to pay U.S. corporate income tax on their earnings, which ultimately will reduce its return on such income and fees.

Failure to Qualify as a RIC

If MCC were unable to continue to qualify for treatment as a RIC, MCC would be subject to tax on all of its taxable income at regular corporate rates. MCC would not be able to deduct distributions to stockholders, nor would they be required to be made. Distributions, including distributions of net long-term capital gain, would generally be taxable to MCC Stockholders as ordinary dividend income to the extent of its current and accumulated earnings and profits. Subject to certain limitations under the Code, corporate distributees would be eligible for the dividends received deduction. Distributions in excess of its current and accumulated earnings and profits would be treated first as a return of capital to the extent of the stockholder's tax basis, and any remaining distributions would be treated as a capital gain. If MCC fails to qualify as a RIC for a period greater than two taxable years, to qualify as a RIC in a subsequent year MCC may be subject to regular corporate tax on any net built-in gains with respect to certain of its assets (i.e., the excess of the aggregate gains, including items of income, over aggregate losses that would have been realized with respect to such assets if MCC had been liquidated) that MCC elects to recognize on requalification or when recognized over the next ten years.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS OF MCC

The information contained in this section should be read in conjunction with the "Selected Financial and Other Data of MCC," the "Unaudited Selected Pro Forma Consolidated Financial Data," the "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements" and MCC's, Sierra's, and MDLY's financial statements and notes thereto appearing elsewhere in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

MCC cannot assure you that the MCC Merger will be completed as scheduled, or at all. See "Special Factors" and the "Description of the MCC Merger Agreement," "Description of the MDLY Merger Agreement," and "Risk Factors" for a description of the principal risks relating to the Mergers, the Combined Company following the successful completion of the Mergers, Sierra, MCC, and MDLY.

Overview

MCC is an externally-managed, non-diversified closed-end management investment company that has elected to be regulated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act. In addition, MCC has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code.

MCC commenced operations and completed its initial public offering on January 20, 2011. MCC's investment activities are managed by MCC Advisors and supervised by the MCC Board, of which a majority of its members are independent.

MCC's investment objective is to generate current income and capital appreciation by lending to privately-held middle market companies, primarily through directly originated transactions, to help these companies fund acquisitions, growth or refinancing. MCC's portfolio generally consists of senior secured first lien term loans and senior secured second lien term loans. Occasionally, MCC receives warrants or other equity participation features, which MCC believes will increase the total investment returns.

On January 26, 2018, MCC priced a debt offering in Israel of $121.3 million Series A Notes (the "2024 Notes"). The 2024 Notes will mature on February 27, 2024 and the principal will be payable in four annual installments, of which 25% will be payable on each February 27 for the years 2021 through 2024. The 2024 Notes are listed on the TASE and denominated in New Israeli Shekels, but linked to the US Dollar at a fixed exchange rate which mitigates any currency exposure to MCC. The 2024 Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration under the Securities Act or in transactions exempt from, or not subject to, such registration requirements. In connection with this offering, MCC dual listed MCC Common Stock on TASE.

As a BDC, MCC is required to comply with certain regulatory requirements. For instance, MCC generally has to invest at least 70% of its total assets in "qualifying assets," including securities of private or thinly traded public U.S. companies, cash, cash equivalents, U.S. government securities and high-quality debt investments that mature in one year or less. In addition, MCC is only allowed to borrow money such that its asset coverage, as defined in the Investment Company Act, equals at least 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to recent legislation, certain requirements are met) after such borrowing, with certain limited exceptions. To maintain its RIC tax treatment, MCC must meet specified source-of-income and asset diversification requirements. To maintain its RIC tax treatment under Subchapter M for U.S. federal income tax purposes, MCC must timely distribute at least 90% of its net ordinary income and realized net short-term capital gains in excess of realized net long-term capital losses, if any, for the taxable year.

Agreements and Plan of Mergers

On August 9, 2018, MCC entered into a definitive agreement to merge with Sierra. Pursuant to the MCC Merger Agreement, by and between MCC and Sierra, MCC will merge with and into Sierra, with Sierra as the surviving entity in the MCC Merger. Under the MCC Merger, each share of MCC Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MCC Merger Effective Time, other than shares of MCC Common Stock held by MCC, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive 0.8050 shares of Sierra Common Stock. Simultaneously, pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement, MDLY will merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company in the MDLY Merger, and MDLY's existing asset management business will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company. In the MDLY Merger, each share of MDLY Class A Common Stock, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MDLY Merger Effective Time, other than Dissenting Shares (as defined in the MDLY Merger Agreement) and shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by MDLY, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive (i) 0.3836 shares of Sierra Common Stock; plus (ii) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per share. In addition, MDLY Stockholders will have the right to receive certain dividends and/or other payments. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, Sierra Common Stock will be listed on the NYSE under the symbol "SRA" and the TASE, with such listings expected to be effective as of the closing date of the Mergers. Upon completion of the Mergers, the investment portfolios of MCC and Sierra would be combined, Merger Sub, as a successor to MDLY, would be a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company, and the Combined Company would be internally managed by its wholly controlled adviser subsidiary. Set forth below are certain risks relating to the Mergers.

The Mergers are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of closing conditions, including, but not limited to: (a) the approval of the MCC Merger and the MDLY Merger by Sierra Stockholders by the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all its stockholders, the approval of the adoption of the MCC Merger Agreement by MCC Stockholders, and the approval of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement by MDLY Stockholders, voting separately at their respective special meetings; (b) the receipt of an exemptive order from the SEC, an exemptive application for which has been filed by Sierra, MCC and MDLY and certain of their subsidiaries; and (c) the approval by the SBA relating to the transfer of MCC's SBIC license. No assurance can be given that such SEC exemptive order will be issued or SBA approval will be received or that any of the other closing conditions will be satisfied or waived.

Revenues

MCC generates revenue in the form of interest income on the debt that it holds and capital gains, if any, on warrants or other equity interests that MCC may acquire in portfolio companies. MCC invests its assets primarily in privately held companies with enterprise or asset values between $25 million and $250 million and focuses on investment sizes of $10 million to $50 million. MCC believes that pursuing opportunities of this size offers several benefits including reduced competition, a larger investment opportunity set and the ability to minimize the impact of financial intermediaries. MCC expects its debt investments to bear interest at either a fixed or floating rate. Interest on debt will be payable generally either monthly or quarterly. In some cases MCC's debt investments may provide for a portion of the interest to be PIK. To the extent interest is PIK, it will be payable through the increase of the principal amount of the obligation by the amount of interest due on the then-outstanding aggregate principal amount of such obligation. The principal amount of the debt and any accrued but unpaid interest will generally become due at the maturity date. In addition, MCC may generate revenue in the form of commitment, origination, structuring or diligence fees, fees for providing managerial assistance or investment management services and possibly consulting fees. Any such fees will be generated in connection with MCC's investments and recognized as earned.

Expenses

MCC's primary operating expenses include the payment of management and incentive fees pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement it has with MCC Advisors and overhead expenses, including MCC's allocable portion of its administrator's overhead under the MCC Administration Agreement. MCC's management and incentive fees compensate MCC Advisors for its work in identifying, evaluating, negotiating, closing and monitoring its investments. MCC bears all other costs and expenses of its operations and transactions, including those relating to:

- MCC's organization and continued corporate existence;
- calculating its NAV (including the cost and expenses of any independent valuation firms);
- expenses incurred by MCC Advisors payable to third parties, including agents, consultants or other advisers, in monitoring MCC's financial and legal affairs and in monitoring its investments and performing due diligence on its prospective portfolio companies;
- interest payable on debt, if any, incurred to finance its investments;
- the costs of all offerings of common stock and other securities, if any;
- the base management fee and any incentive fee;
- distributions on its shares;
- administration fees payable under the MCC Administration Agreement;
- the allocated costs incurred by MCC Advisors in providing managerial assistance to those portfolio companies that request it;
- amounts payable to third parties relating to, or associated with, making investments;
- transfer agent and custodial fees;
- registration fees and listing fees;
- U.S. federal, state and local taxes;
- independent director fees and expenses;

Table of Contents

- costs of preparing and filing reports or other documents with the SEC or other regulators;
- the costs of any reports, proxy statements or other notices to MCC Stockholders, including printing costs;
- MCC's fidelity bond;
- directors and officers/errors and omissions liability insurance, and any other insurance premiums;
- indemnification payments;
- direct costs and expenses of administration, including audit and legal costs; and
- all other expenses reasonably incurred by MCC or MCC Advisors in connection with administering MCC's business, such as the allocable portion of overhead under its administration agreement, including rent and other allocable portions of the cost of its Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staffs (including travel expenses).

Portfolio and Investment Activity

As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC's portfolio had a fair market value of approximately $655.4 million and $837.0 million, respectively. The following table summarizes MCC's portfolio and investment activity during the fiscal years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 (dollars in thousands):

As of September 30, 2018, MCC's income-bearing investment portfolio, which represented 73.7% of its total portfolio, had a weighted average yield based upon cost of its portfolio investments of approximately 9.9%, and 80.5% of its income-bearing investment portfolio bore interest based on floating rates, such as the LIBOR, while 19.5% of its income-bearing investment portfolio bore interest at fixed rates. As of September 30, 2018, the weighted average yield based upon cost of MCC's total portfolio was approximately 6.2%. The weighted average yield of MCC's total portfolio does not represent the total return to MCC Stockholders.

MCC Advisors regularly assesses the risk profile of each MCC investment and rates each of them based on the following categories, which MCC refers to as MCC Advisors' investment credit rating:

Credit Rating Definition

1	Investments that are performing above expectations.
2	Investments that are performing within expectations, with risks that are neutral or favorable compared to risks at the time of origination. All new loans are rated '2'.
3	Investments that are performing below expectations and that require closer monitoring, but where no loss of interest, dividend or principal is expected. Companies rated '3' may be out of compliance with financial covenants, however, loan payments are generally not past due.
4	Investments that are performing below expectations and for which risk has increased materially since origination. Some loss of interest or dividend is expected but no loss of principal. In addition to the borrower being generally out of compliance with debt covenants, loan payments may be past due (but generally not more than 180 days past due).
5	Investments that are performing substantially below expectations and whose risks have increased substantially since origination. Most or all of the debt covenants are out of compliance and payments are substantially delinquent. Some loss of principal is expected.

The following table shows the distribution of MCC's investments on the 1 to 5 investment performance rating scale at fair value as of September 30, 2017 and 2016 (dollars in thousands):

Investment Income

For the year ended September 30, 2018, investment income totaled $66.8 million, of which $62.3 million was attributable to portfolio interest and dividend income, and $4.5 million to fee income.

For the year ended September 30, 2017, investment income totaled $96.3 million, of which $89.7 million was attributable to portfolio interest and dividend income, and $6.6 million to fee income.

For the year ended September 30, 2016, investment income totaled $120.7 million, of which $113.2 million was attributable to portfolio interest and dividend income, and $7.5 million to fee income.

Operating Expenses

Operating expenses for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016 are as follows (dollars in thousands):

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016

Expenses, net of management and incentive fee waivers	$ 54,258	$ 59,619	$ 67,158

For the year ended September 30, 2018, total operating expenses before management and incentive fee waivers decreased by $5.1 million, or 8.5%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2017.

For the year ended September 30, 2017, total operating expenses before management and incentive fee waivers decreased by $11.1 million, or 15.7%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2016.

Interest and Financing Expenses

Interest and financing expenses for the year ended September 30, 2018 decreased by $3.5 million, or 11.1%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2017. The decrease in interest and financing expenses was primarily due to the $102.0 million repayment of the Senior Secured Term Loan Credit Facility (the “Term Loan Facility”), the reduction of the Senior Secured Revolving Credit Facility (the “MCC Revolving Credit Facility”) commitment to $150.0 million from $200.0 million, the repayment of the 7.125% unsecured notes (the “2019 Notes”) in February 2017, the redemption of $13.0 million of 6.125% unsecured notes that mature on March 30, 2023 (the “2023 Notes”), and the $15.0 million repayment of the SBA-guaranteed debentures (the “SBA Debentures”), partially offset by an increase in LIBOR rates and the pricing of the 2024 Notes.

Interest and financing expenses for the year ended September 30, 2017 increased by $1.1 million, or 3.7%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2016. The increase in interest and financing expenses was primarily due to the increase in LIBOR rates, the issuance of an additional $39.4 million of the 2023 Notes as well as an acceleration of debt issuance costs in the amount of $1.3 million related to the reduction of the MCC Revolving Credit Facility commitment to $200.0 million from $343.5 million, offset by the repayment of the 2019 Notes in February 2017.

Base Management Fees and Incentive Fees

Base management fees for the year ended September 30, 2018 decreased by $3.0 million, or 17.2%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2017 due to the decline in the portfolio in the period. Incentives fees for the year ended September 30, 2018 decreased by $0.9 million, or 100%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2017 due to the decrease in pre-incentive fee net investment income.

Base management fees for the year ended September 30, 2017 decreased by $1.7 million, or 8.7%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2016 due to the decline in the portfolio in the period. Incentives fees for the year ended September 30, 2017 decreased by $10.6 million, or 92.2%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2016 due to the decrease in pre-incentive fee net investment income. Additionally, both base management and incentive fees declined due to the effect of the Fee Waiver Agreement described in the “Investment Management Agreement” section.

Professional Fees and Other General and Administrative Expenses

Professional fees and general and administrative expenses for the year ended September 30, 2018 increased by $2.4 million, or 24.4%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2017 primarily due to an increase in legal expenses, directors expenses, insurance expenses, and audit expenses, in connection with the Mergers, offset by a decrease in general administrative expenses, administrator expenses, and valuation expenses.

Professional fees and general and administrative expenses for the year ended September 30, 2017 increased by $0.1 million, or 0.8%, compared to the year ended September 30, 2016 primarily due to an increase in legal expenses, directors expenses and general administrative expenses offset by a decrease in audit expenses, administrator expenses, insurance expenses and valuation expenses.

Net Realized Gains/Losses from Investments

MCC measures realized gains or losses by the difference between the net proceeds from the disposition and the amortized cost basis of an investment, without regard to unrealized gains or losses previously recognized.

During the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC recognized $89.2 million of realized losses on its portfolio investments. The realized losses were primarily due to the non-cash restructuring transactions of three investments, as well as the sale of one of its investments.

During the year ended September 30, 2017, MCC recognized $73.1 million of realized losses on its portfolio investments. The realized losses were primarily due to the non-cash restructuring transactions of three investments, the liquidation of one investment as well as the write off of certain investments offset by the non-cash exchange of one equity investment.

During the year ended September 30, 2016, MCC recognized $39.4 million of realized losses on its portfolio investments. The realized losses were primarily due to the non-cash restructuring transactions of two investments and the write off of one investment offset by a realized gain on the sale of one equity investment.

Realized loss on extinguishment of debt

In the event that MCC modifies or extinguishes its debt prior to maturity, MCC accounts for it in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, in which it measures the difference between the reacquisition price of the debt and the net carrying amount of the debt, which includes any unamortized debt issuance costs.

During the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC recognized a loss on extinguishment of debt of $2.4 million from the payment of the remaining $102.0 million outstanding under the Term Loan Facility, the $13.0 million partial redemption of the 2023 Notes, the $15.0 million repayment of the SBA Debentures, and the voluntary satisfaction and termination of its MCC Revolving Credit Facility in accordance with its terms.

During the year ended September 30, 2017, MCC recognized a loss on extinguishment of debt of $1.1 million from the redemption of the 2019 Notes as well as the paydown of the Term Loan Facility.

There was no loss on extinguishment of debt during the year ended September 30, 2016.

Net Unrealized Appreciation/Depreciation on Investments

Net change in unrealized appreciation or depreciation on investments reflects the net change in the fair value of MCC's investment portfolio. For the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC had $32.2 million of net unrealized depreciation on investments. For the year ended September 30, 2017, MCC had $21.6 million of net unrealized appreciation on investments. For the years ended September 30, 2016, MCC had $42.3 million of net unrealized depreciation on investments.

Provision for Deferred Taxes on Unrealized Depreciation on Investments

Certain consolidated subsidiaries of MCC are subject to U.S. federal and state income taxes. These taxable subsidiaries are not consolidated with MCC for income tax purposes, but are consolidated for GAAP purposes, and may generate income tax liabilities or assets from temporary differences in the recognition of items for financial reporting and income tax purposes at the subsidiaries. For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the change in provision for deferred taxes on the unrealized depreciation on investments was $0.5 million, $1.1 million and $0.1 million, respectively.

Changes in Net Assets from Operations

For the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC recorded a net decrease in net assets resulting from operations of $110.9 million compared to a net decrease in net assets resulting from operations of $15.1 million for the year ended September 30, 2017, and a net decrease in net assets resulting from operations of $28.0 million for the year ended September 30, 2016 as a result of the factors discussed above. Based on 54,474,211, 54,474,211, and 55,399,646 weighted average common shares outstanding for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, respectively, MCC's per share net decrease in net assets resulting from operations was $2.04, $0.28 and $0.50 for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017, and 2016, respectively.

Financial Condition, Liquidity and Capital Resources

As a RIC, MCC distributes substantially all of its net income to MCC Stockholders and has an ongoing need to raise additional capital for investment purposes. To fund growth, MCC has a number of alternatives available to increase capital, including raising equity, increasing debt, and funding from operational cash flow.

MCC's liquidity and capital resources have been generated primarily from the net proceeds of public offerings of common stock, advances from the MCC Revolving Credit Facility and net proceeds from the issuance of notes as well as cash flows from operations.

As of September 30, 2018, MCC had $75.7 million in cash and cash equivalents, of which $47.1 million was held in the SBIC Subsidiary. In the future, MCC may generate cash from future offerings of securities, future borrowings and cash flows from operations, including interest earned from the temporary investment of cash in U.S. government securities and other high-quality debt investments that mature in one year or less. MCC's primary use of funds is investments in its targeted asset classes, cash distributions to MCC Stockholders, and other general corporate purposes.

In order to continue to qualify as a RIC under the Code, MCC intends to distribute to MCC Stockholders substantially all of its taxable income, but it may also elect to periodically spill over certain excess undistributed taxable income from one tax year into the next tax year. In addition, as a BDC, for each taxable year MCC generally is required to meet a coverage ratio of total assets to total senior securities, which include borrowings and any preferred stock it may issue in the future, of at least 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to the Investment Company Act, certain requirements are met). This requirement limits the amount that MCC may borrow.

Credit Facility

Term Loan Facility

MCC had a Term Loan Facility which was scheduled to mature on July 28, 2020.

On September 1, 2017, MCC reduced the Term Loan Facility commitment to $102.0 million from $174.0 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.6 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On January 31, 2018, MCC voluntarily prepaid the remaining $102.0 million outstanding on the Term Loan Facility. The payment was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.9 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

Revolving Credit Facility

MCC had a Revolving Credit Facility with ING Capital LLC, as Administrative Agent, in order to borrow funds to make additional investments.

The MCC Revolving Credit Facility had a revolving period that was to end July 28, 2019, followed by a one year amortization period and a final maturity on July 28, 2020.

On February 14, 2017, MCC elected to reduce the total commitment of the MCC Revolving Credit Facility to $200.0 million from $343.5 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt modification to a line-of credit or revolving-debt arrangement in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which attributed to an acceleration of debt issuance costs in the amount of $1.3 million and recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a component of interest and financing expenses.

On February 12, 2018, MCC elected to reduce the total commitment of the MCC Revolving Credit Facility to $150.0 million from $200.0 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt modification to a line-of credit or revolving-debt arrangement in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which attributed to an acceleration of debt issuance costs in the amount of $0.4 million and recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a component of interest and financing expenses.

On September 28, 2018, MCC voluntarily satisfied and terminated the commitments under the MCC Revolving Credit Facility in accordance with its terms. The termination was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $1.0 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On March 21, 2012, MCC issued $40.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2019 Notes. The 2019 Notes bore interest at a rate of 7.125% per year, and were payable quarterly on March 30, June 30, September 30 and December 30 of each year, beginning June 30, 2012. The 2019 Notes were listed on the NYSE and traded thereon under the trading symbol "MCQ". On February 22, 2017, the 2019 Notes were redeemed at par plus accrued and unpaid interest. The redemption was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.5 million.

On December 17, 2015, MCC issued $70.8 million in aggregate principal amount of 6.50% unsecured notes that mature on January 30, 2021 (the “2021 Notes”). On January 14, 2016, MCC closed an additional $3.25 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2021 Notes, pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ option to purchase additional notes. The 2021 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at any time or from time to time at MCC’s option on or after January 30, 2019. The 2021 Notes bear interest at a rate of 6.50% per year, payable quarterly on January 30, April 30, July 30 and October 30 of each year, beginning January 30, 2016. The 2021 Notes are listed on the NYSE and trade thereon under the trading symbol “MCX”.

On March 18, 2013, MCC issued $60.0 million in aggregate principal amount of 2023 Notes. As of March 30, 2016, the 2023 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at any time or from time to time at MCC’s option. On March 26, 2013, MCC closed an additional $3.5 million in aggregate principal amount of 2023 Notes, pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ option to purchase additional notes. The 2023 Notes bear interest at a rate of 6.125% per year, payable quarterly on March 30, June 30, September 30 and December 30 of each year, beginning June 30, 2013. The 2023 Notes are listed on the NYSE and trade thereon under the trading symbol “MCV”.

On December 12, 2016, MCC entered into an ATM debt distribution agreement with FBR Capital Markets & Co., through which MCC could offer for sale, from time to time, up to $40.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes. MCC sold 1,573,872 of the 2023 Notes at an average price of $25.03 per note, and raised $38.6 million in net proceeds, since inception of the ATM debt distribution agreement.

On March 10, 2018, MCC redeemed $13.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes. The redemption was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.4 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On January 26, 2018, MCC priced a debt offering in Israel of $121.3 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2024 Notes that mature on February 27, 2024 and the principal will be payable in four annual installments, of which 25% will be payable on each February 27 for the years 2021 through 2024. As of March 27, 2018, the 2024 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at any time or from time to time at MCC’s option. The 2024 Notes bear interest at a rate of 5.30% per year, payable semi-annually on February 27 and August 27 of each year, beginning August 27, 2018.

The deed of trust governing the 2024 Notes includes certain customary covenants, including minimum equity requirements, and events of default. The 2024 Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration under the Securities Act of 1933 or in transactions exempt from, or not subject to, such registration requirements. The 2024 Notes are listed for trading on the TASE and denominated in New Israeli Shekels, but linked to the US Dollar at a fixed exchange rate which mitigates any currency exposure to MCC. In connection with this offering, MCC dual listed its MCC Common Stock on the TASE.

On June 5, 2018, MCC announced that on June 1, 2018, the MCC Board authorized MCC to repurchase and retire up to $20 million of MCC’s outstanding 2024 Notes on TASE. Execution of the repurchase plan is subject to an open trading window for MCC and continued liquidity at that time and is expected to continue until the full authorized amount is purchased or market conditions change. The repurchase of the 2024 Notes is not expected to result in any material tax consequences to MCC or its note holders. As of September 30, 2018, MCC has not repurchased any of the 2024 Notes.

SBA Debentures

On March 26, 2013, MCC’s wholly-owned subsidiary, the SBIC Subsidiary received a SBIC license from the SBA under Section 301(c) of the Small Business Investment Company Act of 1958, as amended.

The SBIC license allows the SBIC Subsidiary to obtain leverage by issuing SBA-guaranteed debentures (“SBA Debentures”), subject to the issuance of a capital commitment by the SBA and other customary procedures. SBA Debentures are non-recourse, interest only debentures with interest payable semi-annually and have a ten year maturity. The principal amount of SBA Debentures is not required to be paid prior to maturity but may be prepaid at any time without penalty. The interest rate of SBA Debentures is fixed on a semi-annual basis at a market-driven spread over U.S. Treasury Notes with 10-year maturities. The SBA, as a creditor, will have a superior claim to the SBIC Subsidiary’s assets over MCC Stockholders in the event MCC liquidates the SBIC Subsidiary or the SBA exercises its remedies under the SBA Debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary upon an event of default.

SBA regulations currently limit the amount that the SBIC Subsidiary may borrow to a maximum of $150.0 million when it has at least $75.0 million in regulatory capital, receives a capital commitment from the SBA and has been through an examination by the SBA subsequent to licensing. In June 2018, the U.S. Senate passed the Small Business Investment Opportunity Act, which the President signed into law, that amended the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 by increasing the individual leverage limit from $150 million to $175 million, subject to SBA approvals.

On November 16, 2012, MCC obtained an exemptive order from the SEC to permit it to exclude the debt of the SBIC Subsidiary guaranteed by the SBA from MCC's 200% asset coverage test under the Investment Company Act. The exemptive order provides MCC with increased flexibility under the 200% asset coverage test by permitting the SBIC Subsidiary to borrow up to $150.0 million more than it would otherwise be able to absent the receipt of this exemptive order.

On September 1, 2018, MCC repaid $15.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the SBA Debentures. The repayment was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.2 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

As of September 30, 2018 the SBIC Subsidiary had $75.0 million in regulatory capital and had $135.0 million SBA Debentures outstanding that mature between March 2024 and September 2025.

Contractual Obligations and Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

MCC has a guarantee to issue up to $7.0 million in standby letters of credit through a financial intermediary on behalf of a certain portfolio company. Under this arrangement, if the standby letters of credit were to be issued, MCC would be required to make payments to third parties if the portfolio company was to default on its related payment obligations. The guarantee will renew annually until cancellation. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC had not issued any standby letters of credit under the commitment on behalf of the portfolio company.

As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC had commitments under loan and financing agreements to fund up to $36.1 million to 17 portfolio companies and $23.7 million to 15 portfolio companies, respectively. These commitments are primarily composed of senior secured term loans and revolving, and an analysis of their fair value is included in the Consolidated Schedule of Investments. The commitments are generally subject to the borrowers meeting certain criteria such as compliance with covenants and certain operational metrics. The terms of the borrowings and financings subject to commitment are comparable to the terms of other loan and equity securities in MCC's portfolio. A summary of the composition of the unfunded commitments as of September 30, 2018 and 2017 is shown in the table below (dollars in thousands):

MCC has certain contracts under which it has material future commitments. MCC has entered into the MCC Investment Management Agreement with MCC Advisors in accordance with the Investment Company Act. The MCC Investment Management Agreement became effective upon the pricing of MCC's initial public offering. Under the MCC Investment Management Agreement, MCC Advisors has agreed to provide MCC with investment advisory and management services. For these services, MCC agreed to pay a base management fee equal to a percentage of its gross assets and an incentive fee based on its performance.

MCC has also entered into the MCC Administration Agreement with MCC Advisors as its administrator. The MCC Administration Agreement became effective upon the pricing of MCC's initial public offering. Under the MCC Administration Agreement, MCC Advisors has agreed to furnish MCC with office facilities and equipment, provide it clerical, bookkeeping and record keeping services at such facilities and provide it with other administrative services necessary to conduct its day-to-day operations. MCC Advisors will also provide on MCC's behalf significant managerial assistance to those portfolio companies to which it is required to provide such assistance.

The following table shows MCC's payment obligations for repayment of debt and other contractual obligations at September 30, 2018 (dollars in thousands):

	Payment Due by Period
	Total	Less than 1 year	1 - 3 years	3 - 5 years	More than 5 years
2021 Notes	74,013	—	74,013	—	—
2023 Notes	89,847	—	—	89,847	—

Total contractual obligations	$ 420,136	$ —	$ 74,013	$ 89,847	$ 256,276

If any of the contractual obligations discussed above are terminated, MCC's costs under any new agreements that it enters into may increase. In addition, MCC would likely incur significant time and expense in locating alternative parties to provide the services MCC expects to receive under the MCC Investment Management Agreement and the MCC Administration Agreement. Any new investment management agreement would also be subject to approval by MCC Stockholders.

On March 27, 2015, MCC and Great American Life Insurance Company ("GALIC") entered into a limited liability company operating agreement to co-manage MCC Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC ("MCC JV"). MCC and GALIC have committed to provide $100 million of equity to MCC JV, with MCC providing $87.5 million and GALIC providing $12.5 million. MCC JV commenced operations on July 15, 2015. On August 4, 2015, MCC JV entered into a senior secured revolving credit facility (the "JV Facility") led by Credit Suisse, AG with commitments of $100 million. On March 30, 2017, MCC amended the JV Facility previously administered by CS and facilitated the assignment of all rights and obligations of CS under the JV Facility to Deutsche Bank AG, New York Branch, ("DB") and increased the total loan commitments to $200 million. As of September 30, 2018, MCC JV has drawn approximately $179.3 million on the JV Facility. As of September 30, 2018, MCC JV had total investments at fair value of $251.9 million. As of September 30, 2018, MCC JV's portfolio was comprised of senior secured first lien term loans to 56 different borrowers. As of September 30, 2018, certain investments in one portfolio company were on non-accrual status.

MCC has determined that MCC JV is an investment company under ASC 946, however in accordance with such guidance, MCC will generally not consolidate its investment in a company other than a wholly owned investment company subsidiary or a controlled operating company whose business consists of providing services to MCC. Accordingly, MCC does not consolidate its interest in MCC JV.

Distributions

MCC has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code. As a RIC, in any taxable year with respect to which MCC timely distributes at least 90 percent of the sum of its (i) investment company taxable income (which is generally MCC's net ordinary income plus the excess of realized net short-term capital gains over realized net long-term capital losses) determined without regard to the deduction for dividends paid and (ii) net tax exempt interest income (which is the excess of MCC's gross tax exempt interest income over certain disallowed deductions), MCC (but not MCC Stockholders) generally will not be subject to U.S. federal income tax on investment company taxable income and net capital gains that it distributes to MCC Stockholders. MCC intends to distribute annually all or substantially all of such income, but it may also elect to periodically spill over certain excess undistributed taxable income from one tax year to the next tax year. To the extent that MCC retains its net capital gains or any investment company taxable income, MCC will be subject to U.S. federal income tax. MCC may choose to retain its net capital gains or any investment company taxable income, and pay the associated federal corporate income tax, including the federal excise tax described below.

Amounts not distributed on a timely basis in accordance with a calendar year distribution requirement are subject to a nondeductible 4% U.S. federal excise tax payable by MCC. To avoid this tax, MCC must distribute (or be deemed to have distributed) during each calendar year an amount equal to the sum of:

- 1) at least 98.0 percent of MCC's ordinary income (not taking into account any capital gains or losses) for the calendar year;
- 2) at least 98.2 percent of the amount by which MCC's capital gains exceed its capital losses (adjusted for certain ordinary losses) for a one-year period ending on October 31st of the calendar year; and

- 3) income realized, but not distributed, in preceding years and on which MCC did not pay federal income tax.

While MCC intends to distribute any income and capital gains in the manner necessary to minimize imposition of the 4% U.S. federal excise tax, sufficient amounts of its taxable income and capital gains may not be distributed to avoid entirely the imposition of the tax. In that event, MCC will be liable for the tax only on the amount by which it does not meet the foregoing distribution requirement.

MCC intends to pay quarterly dividends to MCC Stockholders out of assets legally available for distribution. MCC cannot assure you that it will achieve investment results that will allow it to pay a specified level of dividends or year-to-year increases in dividends. In addition, the inability to satisfy the asset coverage test applicable to MCC as a BDC could limit its ability to pay dividends. All dividends will be paid at the discretion of the MCC Board and will depend on MCC's earnings, its financial condition, maintenance of its RIC status, compliance with applicable BDC regulations and such other factors as the MCC Board may deem relevant from time to time. MCC cannot assure you that it will pay dividends to MCC Stockholders in the future.

To the extent MCC's taxable earnings fall below the total amount of its distributions for a taxable year, a portion of those distributions may be deemed a return of capital to MCC Stockholders for U.S. federal income tax purposes. MCC Stockholders should read any written disclosure accompanying a distribution carefully and should not assume that the source of any distribution is MCC's ordinary income or gains.

MCC has adopted an "opt out" dividend reinvestment plan for its MCC Common Stockholders. As a result, if MCC declares a cash dividend or other distribution, each MCC Stockholder that has not "opted out" of MCC's dividend reinvestment plan will have their dividends automatically reinvested in additional shares of MCC Common Stock rather than receiving cash dividends. MCC Stockholders who receive distributions in the form of shares of MCC Common Stock will be subject to the same federal, state and local tax consequences as if they received cash distributions.

Date Declared	Record Date	Payment Date	Amount Per Share

Stock Repurchase Program

MCC had a share repurchase program from February 5, 2015 to December 31, 2017. Under the share repurchase program, MCC repurchased an aggregate of 4,259,073 shares of MCC Common Stock at an average price of $8.00 per share with a total cost of approximately $34.1 million, and MCC's NAV per share was increased by approximately $0.23 as a result of the share repurchases.

The following table summarizes MCC's share repurchases under its stock repurchase program for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017, and 2016 (dollars in thousands, except share and per share amounts):

- (1) MCC did not repurchase any shares during the years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

Related Party Transactions

Concurrent with the pricing of MCC's IPO, MCC entered into a number of business relationships with affiliated or related parties, including the following:

- MCC entered into the MCC Investment Management Agreement with MCC Advisors. Mr. Brook Taube, MCC's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, is a managing partner and senior portfolio manager of MCC Advisors, and Mr. Seth Taube, one of MCC's directors, is a managing partner of MCC Advisors.
- MCC Advisors provides MCC with the office facilities and administrative services necessary to conduct day-to-day operations pursuant to the MCC Administration Agreement. MCC reimburses MCC Advisors for the allocable portion (subject to the review and approval of the MCC Board) of overhead and other expenses incurred by it in performing its obligations under the MCC Administration Agreement, including rent, the fees and expenses associated with performing compliance functions, and MCC's allocable portion of the cost of its Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staffs.
- MCC has entered into a license agreement with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC has granted MCC a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Medley."
- Certain affiliates of MCC Advisors, Medley Capital LLC, their respective affiliates and some of their employees purchased in the IPO an aggregate of 833,333 shares of MCC Common Stock at the IPO price per share of $12.00. MCC received the full proceeds from the sale of these shares, and no underwriting discounts or commissions were paid in respect of these shares.

On August 9, 2018, MCC entered into the MCC Merger Agreement pursuant to which MCC will, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MCC Merger Agreement, merge with and into Sierra, with Sierra as the surviving company in the MCC Merger Agreement. Under the MCC Merger, each share of MCC Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MCC Merger Effective Time, other than shares of MCC Common Stock held by MCC, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive 0.8050 shares of Sierra Common Stock. In addition, pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement, MDLY will on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MDLY Merger Agreement, merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company in the MDLY Merger Agreement. In the MDLY Merger, each share of MDLY Class A Common Stock, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MDLY Merger Effective Time, other than Dissenting Shares (as defined in the MDLY Merger Agreement) and shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by MDLY, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive (i) 0.3836 shares of Sierra Common Stock; plus (ii) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per share. In addition, MDLY Stockholders will have the right to receive certain dividends and/or other payments. The Mergers will occur simultaneously and, as a result of the foregoing, the investment management function relating to the operation of the Sierra, as the surviving company in the Mergers, will be internalized. The Mergers are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of closing conditions, including, but not limited to: (a) the approval of the MCC Merger and the MDLY Merger by Sierra Stockholders by the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all its stockholders, the approval of the adoption of the MCC Merger Agreement by MCC Stockholders, and the approval of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement by MDLY Stockholders, voting separately at their respective special meetings; (b) the receipt of an exemptive order from the SEC, an exemptive application for which has been filed by Sierra, MCC and MDLY and certain of their subsidiaries; and (c) the approval by the SBA relating to the transfer of MCC's SBIC license. No assurance can be given that such SEC exemptive order will be issued or SBA approval will be received or that any of the other closing conditions will be satisfied or waived.

MCC Advisors and its affiliates may in the future manage other accounts that have investment mandates that are similar, in whole and in part, with MCC. MCC Advisors and its affiliates may determine that an investment is appropriate for MCC and for one or more of those other accounts. In such event, depending on the availability of such investment and other appropriate factors, and pursuant to MCC Advisors' allocation policy, MCC Advisors or its affiliates may determine that MCC should invest side-by-side with one or more other accounts. MCC will not make any investments if they are not permitted by applicable law and interpretive positions of the SEC and its staff, the exemptive order granted by the SEC, or if they are inconsistent with MCC Advisors' allocation procedures. Further, any investments made by related parties will be made in accordance with MCC Advisors' related party transaction procedures.

On November 25, 2013, MCC obtained an exemptive order from the SEC that permits it to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates, each of whose investment adviser is Medley, LLC or an investment adviser controlled by Medley, LLC in a manner consistent with MCC's investment objective, strategies and restrictions, as well as regulatory requirements and other pertinent factors (the "Prior Exemptive Order"). On March 29, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the "Exemptive Order") that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise have been prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder. On October 4, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain of MCC's affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the "Current Exemptive Order") and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly- or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, Sierra and certain of its affiliates will not be able to rely on the Current Exemptive Order. In this regard, on November 19, 2018, Sierra and certain of its affiliates submitted an exemptive application to the SEC that requests an exemptive order that would supersede the Current Exemptive Order and would permit the Combined Company to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates. For more information, see "Information about the Combined Company — Operational Plans of the Combined Company — Co-Investments."

In addition, MCC has adopted a formal code of ethics that governs the conduct of MCC and MCC Advisors' officers, directors and employees. MCC's officers and directors also remain subject to the duties imposed by both the Investment Company Act and the DGCL.

Investment Management Agreement

Under the terms of the MCC Investment Management Agreement, MCC Advisors:

- determines the composition of MCC's portfolio, the nature and timing of the changes to its portfolio and the manner of implementing such changes;
- identifies, evaluates and negotiates the structure of the investments MCC makes (including performing due diligence on its prospective portfolio companies); and
- executes, closes, monitors and administers the investments MCC makes, including the exercise of any voting or consent rights.

MCC Advisors' services under the MCC Investment Management Agreement are not exclusive, and it is free to furnish similar services to other entities so long as its services to MCC are not impaired.

Pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement, MCC pays MCC Advisors a fee for investment advisory and management services consisting of a base management fee and a two-part incentive fee.

On December 3, 2015, MCC Advisors recommended and, in consultation with the MCC Board, agreed to reduce fees under the MCC Investment Management Agreement. Beginning January 1, 2016, the base management fee was reduced to 1.50% on gross assets above $1 billion. In addition, MCC Advisors reduced its incentive fee from 20% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over an 8% hurdle, to 17.5% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over a 6% hurdle. Moreover, the revised incentive fee includes a netting mechanism and is subject to a rolling three-year look back from January 1, 2016 forward. Under no circumstances will the new fee structure result in higher fees to MCC Advisors than fees under the prior investment management agreement.

The following discussion of MCC's base management fee and two-part incentive fee reflects the terms of the fee waiver agreement executed by MCC Advisors on February 8, 2016 (the "Fee Waiver Agreement"). The terms of the Fee Waiver Agreement are effective as of January 1, 2016, and are a permanent reduction in the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income payable to MCC Advisors for the investment advisory and management services it provides under the MCC Investment Management Agreement. The Fee Waiver Agreement does not change the second component of the incentive fee, which is the incentive fee on capital gains.

Base Management Fee

For providing investment advisory and management services to MCC, MCC Advisors receives a base management fee. The base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% (0.4375% per quarter) of up to $1.0 billion of MCC's gross assets and 1.50% (0.375% per quarter) of any amounts over $1.0 billion of MCC's gross assets, and is payable quarterly in arrears. The base management fee will be calculated based on the average value of MCC's gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters and will be appropriately pro-rated for any partial quarter. On May 4, 2018, MCC Advisors voluntarily elected to waive $380,000 of the base management fee payable for the quarter ended March 31, 2018, which is shown on the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Incentive Fee

The incentive fee has two components, as follows:

Incentive Fee Based on Income

The first component of the incentive fee is payable quarterly in arrears and is based on MCC's pre-incentive fee net investment income earned during the calendar quarter for which the incentive fee is being calculated. MCC Advisors is entitled to receive the incentive fee on net investment income from MCC if its Ordinary Income (as defined below) exceeds a quarterly "hurdle rate" of 1.5%. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to MCC's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by MCC of its MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to its dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by MCC of the MCC Common Stock, and any dividends paid by MCC, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter.

Beginning with the calendar quarter that commenced on January 1, 2016, the incentive fee on net investment income is determined and paid quarterly in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter by reference to MCC's aggregate net investment income, as adjusted as described below, from the calendar quarter then ending and the eleven preceding calendar quarters (or if shorter, the number of quarters that have occurred since January 1, 2016). MCC refers to such period as the "Trailing Twelve Quarters."

The hurdle amount for the incentive fee on net investment income is determined on a quarterly basis, and is equal to 1.5% multiplied by MCC's NAV at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to MCC's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by MCC of the MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to MCC's dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by MCC of its own MCC Common Stock, and any dividends paid by MCC, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter. The incentive fee for any partial period will be appropriately pro-rated. Any incentive fee on net investment income will be paid to MCC Advisors on a quarterly basis, and will be based on the amount by which (A) aggregate net investment income ("Ordinary Income") in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters exceeds (B) the hurdle amount for such Trailing Twelve Quarters. The amount of the excess of (A) over (B) described in this paragraph for such Trailing Twelve Quarters is referred to as the "Excess Income Amount." For the avoidance of doubt, Ordinary Income is net of all fees and expenses, including the reduced base management fee but excluding any incentive fee on Pre-Incentive Fee net investment income or on MCC's capital gains.

Quarterly Incentive Fee Based on Income

The incentive fee on net investment income for each quarter is determined as follows:

- No incentive fee on net investment income is payable to MCC Advisors for any calendar quarter for which there is no Excess Income Amount;
- 100% of the Ordinary Income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle amount, but is less than or equal to an amount, which MCC refers to as the "Catch-up Amount," determined as the sum of 1.8182% multiplied by MCC's net assets at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, as adjusted as noted above, comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income; and
- 17.5% of the Ordinary Income that exceeds the Catch-up Amount is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income.

The amount of the incentive fee on net investment income that will be paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter will equal the excess of the incentive fee so calculated minus the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters but not in excess of the Incentive Fee Cap (as described below).

The incentive fee on net investment income that is paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter is subject to a cap (the “Incentive Fee Cap”). The Incentive Fee Cap for any quarter is an amount equal to (a) 17.5% of the Cumulative Net Return (as defined below) during the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (b) the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters.

“Cumulative Net Return” means (x) the Ordinary Income in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (y) any Net Capital Loss (as described below), if any, in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap is zero or a negative value, MCC will pay no incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is a positive value but is less than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors equal to the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is equal to or greater than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors, calculated as described above, for such quarter without regard to the Incentive Fee Cap.

“Net Capital Loss” in respect of a particular period means the difference, if positive, between (i) aggregate capital losses, whether realized or unrealized, and dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital actions, in such period and (ii) aggregate capital gains, whether realized or unrealized and accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital action, in such period.

Dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of MCC Common Stock, as the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to its dividend reinvestment plan), as the excess of the transaction price per share over the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to other capital action is calculated, in the case of repurchases by MCC of the MCC Common Stock, as the excess of the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share multiplied by the number of shares repurchased by MCC.

For the avoidance of doubt, the purpose of the new incentive fee calculation under the Fee Waiver Agreement is to permanently reduce aggregate fees payable to MCC Advisors by MCC, effective as of January 1, 2016. In order to ensure that MCC will pay MCC Advisors lesser aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated beginning January 1, 2016, MCC will, at the end of each quarter, also calculate the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income owed by MCC to MCC Advisors based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016. If, at any time beginning January 1, 2016, the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place after January 1, 2016, would be greater than the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016, MCC Advisors shall only be entitled to the lesser of those two amounts.

The second component of the incentive fee is determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year (or upon termination of the investment management agreement as of the termination date) and equals 20.0% of MCC’s cumulative aggregate realized capital gains less cumulative realized capital losses, unrealized capital depreciation (unrealized depreciation on a gross investment-by-investment basis at the end of each calendar year) and all capital gains upon which prior performance-based capital gains incentive fee payments were previously made to the investment adviser.

Under GAAP, MCC calculates the second component of the incentive fee as if MCC had realized all assets at their fair values as of the reporting date. Accordingly, when applicable, MCC accrues a provisional capital gains incentive fee taking into account any unrealized gains or losses. As the provisional capital gains incentive fee is subject to the performance of investments until there is a realization event, the amount of the provisional capital gains incentive fee accrued at a reporting date may vary from the capital gains incentive that is ultimately realized and the differences could be material.

Critical Accounting Policies

The preparation of financial statements and related disclosures in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements, and revenues and expenses during the periods reported. Actual results could materially differ from those estimates. MCC has identified the following items as critical accounting policies.

Valuation of Portfolio Investments

MCC values investments for which market quotations are readily available at their market quotations, which are generally obtained from an independent pricing service or multiple broker-dealers or market makers. MCC weighs the use of third-party broker quotes, if any, in determining fair value based on its understanding of the level of actual transactions used by the broker to develop the quote and whether the quote was an indicative price or binding offer. However, a readily available market value is not expected to exist for many of the investments in MCC's portfolio, and MCC values these portfolio investments at fair value as determined in good faith by the MCC Board under MCC's valuation policy and process. MCC may seek pricing information with respect to certain of its investments from pricing services or brokers or dealers in order to value such investments.

Valuation methods may include comparisons of financial ratios of the portfolio companies that issued such private equity securities to peer companies that are public, the nature and realizable value of any collateral, the portfolio company's ability to make payments and its earnings and discounted cash flows, the markets in which the portfolio company does business, and other relevant factors. When an external event such as a purchase transaction, public offering or subsequent equity sale occurs, MCC will consider the pricing indicated by the external event to corroborate the private equity valuation. Due to the inherent uncertainty of determining the fair value of investments that do not have a readily available market value, the fair value of the investments may differ significantly from the values that would have been used had a readily available market value existed for such investments, and the differences could be material.

The MCC Board is ultimately and solely responsible for determining the fair value of the investments in MCC's portfolio that are not publicly traded, whose market prices are not readily available on a quarterly basis or any other situation where portfolio investments require a fair value determination.

With respect to investments for which market quotations are not readily available, the MCC Board will undertake a multi-step valuation process each quarter, as described below:

- MCC's quarterly valuation process begins with each investment being initially valued by the investment professionals responsible for monitoring the portfolio investment.
- Preliminary valuation conclusions are then documented and discussed with senior management.
- Independent third-party valuation firms are also employed for all MCC investments for which there is not a readily available market value. At least twice annually, including at year end, the valuation for each portfolio investment is reviewed by an independent valuation firm.
- The audit committee of the MCC Board reviews the preliminary valuations of the investment professionals, senior management and independent valuation firms.
- MCC's audit committee reviews and the MCC Board approves the valuations and determines the fair value of each investment in MCC's portfolio in good faith based on the input of MCC Advisors, the respective independent valuation firms and the audit committee.

In following these approaches, the types of factors that are taken into account in fair value pricing investments include available current market data, including relevant and applicable market trading and transaction comparables; applicable market yields and multiples; security covenants; call protection provisions; information rights; the nature and realizable value of any collateral; the portfolio company's ability to make payments; the portfolio company's earnings and discounted cash flows; the markets in which the portfolio company does business; comparisons of financial ratios of peer companies that are public; comparable merger and acquisition transactions; and the principal market and enterprise values.

Determination of fair values involves subjective judgments and estimates made by management. The notes to MCC's financial statements refer to the uncertainty with respect to the possible effect of such valuations, and any change in such valuations, on its consolidated financial statements.

Revenue Recognition

MCC's revenue recognition policies are as follows:

Investments and Related Investment Income MCC accounts for investment transactions on a trade-date basis and interest income, adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is recorded on an accrual basis. For investments with contractual PIK interest, which represents contractual interest accrued and added to the principal balance that generally becomes due at maturity, MCC will not accrue PIK interest if the portfolio company valuation indicates that the PIK interest is not collectible. Origination, closing and/or commitment fees associated with investments in portfolio companies are recognized as income when the investment transaction closes. Other fees are capitalized as deferred revenue and recorded into income over the respective period. Prepayment penalties received by MCC for debt instruments paid back to MCC prior to the maturity date are recorded as income upon receipt. Realized gains or losses on investments are measured by the difference between the net proceeds from the disposition and the amortized cost basis of investment, without regard to unrealized gains or losses previously recognized. MCC reports changes in the fair value of investments that are measured at fair value as a component of the net change in unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments in MCC's Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Non-accrual MCC places loans on non-accrual status when principal and interest payments are past due by 90 days or more, or when there is reasonable doubt that MCC will collect principal or interest. Accrued interest is generally reversed when a loan is placed on non-accrual. Interest payments received on non-accrual loans may be recognized as income or applied to principal depending upon management's judgment. Non-accrual loans are restored to accrual status when past due principal and interest is paid and, in MCC's management's judgment, are likely to remain current. At September 30, 2018, certain investments in 9 portfolio companies held by MCC were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $48.1 million, or 7.3% of the fair value of its portfolio. At September 30, 2017, certain investments in six portfolio companies held by MCC were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $72.5 million, or 8.7% of the fair value of its portfolio. At September 30, 2016, certain investments in 9 portfolio companies held by MCC were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $55.9 million, or 6.1% of the fair value of MCC's portfolio.

Federal Income Taxes

MCC has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code, commencing with its first taxable year as a corporation, and it intends to operate in a manner so as to maintain its RIC tax treatment. As a RIC, among other things, MCC is required to meet certain source of income and asset diversification requirements. Once qualified as a RIC, MCC must timely distribute to MCC Stockholders at least 90% of the sum of investment company taxable income ("ICTI") including PIK, as defined by the Code, and net tax exempt interest income (which is the excess of MCC's gross tax exempt interest income over certain disallowed deductions) for each taxable year in order to be eligible for tax treatment under Subchapter M of the Code. MCC will be subject to a nondeductible U.S. federal excise tax of 4% on undistributed income if it does not distribute at least 98% of its net ordinary income for any calendar year and 98.2% of its capital gain net income for each one-year period ending on October 31 of such calendar year and any income realized, but not distributed, in preceding years and on which MCC did not pay federal income tax. Depending on the level of ICTI earned in a tax year, MCC may choose to carry forward ICTI in excess of current year dividend distributions into the next tax year and pay a 4% excise tax on such income, as required. To the extent that MCC determines that its estimated current year annual taxable income will be in excess of estimated current year dividend distributions for excise tax purposes, MCC accrues excise tax, if any, on estimated excess taxable income as taxable income is earned. Any such carryover ICTI must be distributed before the end of that next tax year through a dividend declared prior to filing the final tax return related to the year which generated such ICTI.

Because federal income tax regulations differ from GAAP, distributions in accordance with tax regulations may differ from net investment income and realized gains recognized for financial reporting purposes. Differences may be permanent or temporary. Permanent differences are reclassified among capital accounts in the consolidated financial statements to reflect their tax character. Temporary differences arise when certain items of income, expense, gain or loss are recognized at some time in the future. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes.

Recent Developments

On November 16, 2018, the MCC Board declared a quarterly dividend of $0.10 per share, payable on December 20, 2018, to MCC Stockholders of record at the close of business on December 5, 2018. The specific tax characteristics of the distribution will be reported to MCC Stockholders on Form 1099 after the end of the calendar year.

On November 30, 2018, MCC caused notices to be issued to the holders of the 2023 Notes regarding MCC's exercise of its option to redeem $12,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of the $89,846,800 in aggregate principal amount of issued and outstanding 2023 Notes on December 31, 2018.

- (1) Total amount of each class of senior securities outstanding at the end of the period presented.
- (2) The asset coverage ratio for a class of senior securities representing indebtedness is calculated as MCC's consolidated total assets, less all liabilities and indebtedness not represented by senior securities, divided by total senior securities representing indebtedness. This asset coverage ratio is multiplied by $1,000 to determine the Asset Coverage Per Unit.
- (3) The amount to which such class of senior security would be entitled upon the involuntary liquidation of the issuer in preference to any security junior to it.
- (4) Information that the SEC expressly does not require to be disclosed for certain types of senior securities.
- (5) Not applicable as these classes of securities are not registered for public trading.
- (6) As of December 14, 2018, $89.8 million, $74.0 million, and $121.3 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes, 2021 Notes, and the 2024 Notes, respectively, and $135.0 million in SBA debentures were outstanding (unaudited).

PORTFOLIO COMPANIES OF MCC

The following table sets forth certain information as of September 30, 2018, for each portfolio company in which MCC had an investment. Other than these Investments, MCC's only formal relationship with its portfolio companies is the managerial assistance that it provides upon request and the board observer or participation rights it may receive in connection with its investment.

The following is information concerning the business experience of the MCC Board and executive officers. MCC's directors have been divided into two groups - interested directors and independent directors. Interested directors are "interested persons" as defined in the Investment Company Act.

Interested Directors

Brook Taube is an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act due to his positions as Chief Executive Officer and President of MCC, Managing Partner of MCC Advisors and Senior Portfolio Manager of the private investment funds managed by Medley since 2007. In addition to serving on the MCC Board, Mr. Brook Taube currently serves on the Sierra Board and on the investment committee for SIC Advisors, the investment adviser to Sierra, as well as serves on the board of Sierra Total Return Fund and on the investment committee of STRF Advisors, the investment adviser to Sierra Total Return Fund. Mr. Taube’s intimate knowledge of the business and operations of MCC Advisors, extensive familiarity with the financial industry and the investment management process in particular, and experience as a director of another BDC not only gives the MCC Board valuable insight but also positions him well to continue to serve as the Chairman of the MCC Board. Mr. Taube’s positions as Chief Executive Officer of MCC, Managing Partner of MCC Advisors and member of its Investment Committee provides the MCC Board with a direct line of communication to, and direct knowledge of the operations of, MCC and MCC Advisors, respectively. Mr. Taube received a B.A. from Harvard University.

MCC believes that Mr. Taube’s broad and extensive experience in asset and credit management and finance industries and his service as portfolio manager for several Medley affiliates qualify him to serve as a member of the MCC Board.

Seth Taube is an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act due to his positions as a Managing Partner of MCC Advisors since its inception and Senior Portfolio Manager of the private investment funds managed by Medley LLC since 2007. In addition, Mr. Taube has served as Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Sierra Board, a non-traded BDC, since its inception on June 16, 2011, and previously served as its President. Mr. Taube also has served as the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the board of directors of Sierra Total Return Fund, a closed-end management investment company that is operated as an interval fund since its inception on August 18, 2016. Mr. Taube also serves as Chief Executive Officer of SIC Advisors, which serves as the investment adviser to Sierra, as well as serves on the board of Sierra Total Return Fund and on the investment committee of STRF Advisors, the investment adviser to Sierra Total Return Fund. In addition to serving on the MCC Board, Mr. Taube currently serves on the MDLY Board. Prior to forming Medley, Mr. Taube was a Partner with CN Opportunity Fund, T3 Group, and Griphon Capital Management. Mr. Taube previously worked with Tiger Management and Morgan Stanley & Co. Through his depth of experience in managerial positions in investment management, leveraged finance and financial services, as well as his intimate knowledge of the business and operations of MCC Advisors and the private investment funds managed by Medley, Mr. Taube brings extensive knowledge of private equity and investment banking. Mr. Taube’s previous service on the MCC Board also provides him with a specific understanding of MCC, its operations, and the business and regulatory issues facing BDCs. Mr. Taube’s position as Managing Partner of MCC Advisors provides the MCC Board with a direct line of communication to and valuable insight of an experienced financial manager with direct knowledge of the operations of MCC and MCC Advisors, respectively. Mr. Taube received a B.A. from Harvard University, an M.Litt. in Economics from St. Andrew’s University in Great Britain, where he was a Rotary Foundation Fellow, and an M.B.A. from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

MCC believes that Mr. Taube’s broad and extensive experience in asset and credit management and finance industries and his service as portfolio manager for several Medley affiliates qualify him to serve as a member of the MCC Board.

Jeff Tonkel. Mr. Tonkel has been a member of the MCC Board since February 2014. Mr. Tonkel joined MDLY in 2011 and has also served as President of Sierra since July 2013 and as President and a member of the MDLY Board since its formation. Prior to joining MDLY in 2011, Mr. Tonkel was a Managing Director with J.P. Morgan from January 2010 to November 2011, serving as Chief Financial Officer of a global financing and markets business. Prior to J.P. Morgan, Mr. Tonkel was a Managing Director of Principal Investments with Friedman Billings Ramsey, where he focused on merchant banking and corporate development investments in the specialty finance, real estate, energy and diversified industrial sectors. Mr. Tonkel began his investment career with Summit Partners. Mr. Tonkel received a B.A. from Harvard University and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School.

MCC believes that Mr. Tonkel’s broad and extensive experience in asset and credit management and tenure in the financial services industry qualify him to serve as a member of the MCC Board.

Independent Directors

Arthur S Ainsberg. Mr. Ainsberg is not an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act. Mr. Ainsberg has over 40 years of experience in the financial services industry and a deep understanding of public and accounting matters for financial service companies. Mr. Ainsberg served as a director, Chairman of the Audit Committee and member of the Compliance Committee of Nomura Securities International, Inc. (the U.S. based broker-dealer of The Nomura Group) from 1996 through December 2014. In September 2012, Mr. Ainsberg was named to the board of directors of Nomura Global Financial Products, Inc., and in July 2013, he was named to the board of directors of Nomura Holding America, Inc., and served on each board through December 2014. In May 2013, Mr. Ainsberg was named to the Board of Directors of AG Mortgage Investment Trust. AG is a NYSE company, structured as a REIT, investing in various types of mortgage investments. From July 2003 through May 2012, Mr. Ainsberg served as a director for National Financial Partners Corporation, an independent financial services distribution company. From August 2009 through June 2011, Mr. Ainsberg served as Chief Operating Officer of Lehman Brothers Inc. in liquidation, the largest and most complex bankruptcy in the United States. Prior to this engagement, Mr. Ainsberg served as the Independent Consultant for Morgan Stanley & Co. from December 2003 until July 2009, under the Global Research Analyst Settlement, and was responsible for selecting and monitoring the providers of independent research for the clients of Morgan Stanley. Previously, Mr. Ainsberg was Chief Operating Officer at two investment partnerships, Brahman Capital Corp. from 1996 to 2000 and Bessent Capital Corp. during 2001. He also served as Chairman of the New York State Board for Public Accountancy from 1999 to 2000 and was a member of that board from 1993 to 2001. From 1998 to 2000, he was also a member of the Board of District 10 of the National Association of Securities Dealers. Mr. Ainsberg is also the author of Shackleton: Leadership Lessons from Antarctica (2008) and the co-author of Breakthrough: Elizabeth Hughes, the Discovery of Insulin, and the Making of a Medical Miracle (2010). Mr. Arthur S. Ainsberg has extensive experience in the financial services industry and a deep understanding of public and financial accounting matters for financial services companies. He also brings to the MCC Board a valuable perspective from his experience as a board member of a large U.S. broker-dealer.

Karin Hirtler-Garvey. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey is not an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey has served as a Director of USAA Federal Savings Bank, a privately held consumer bank, where she has served as the Compensation Committee Chair since June 2018, and also served as the Risk Committee Chair from December 2013 to June 2018. She also has served as a Director of VA Capital Management, a publicly traded annuities firm, since August 2018, as well as a Director of Victory Capital Holdings, a privately held asset management firm, since October 2014, where she chairs the Audit Committee. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey has served as a Director of Western World Insurance Group since December 2006, and has chaired the Audit Committee since December 2009, and also served as a Member of its Compensation Committee and Pension Committee from April 2011 to September 2014. From August 2017 to August 2018, she served as a Director of Validus Holdings Ltd., the publicly-traded parent company of Western World. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey also served on the board of ARO Liquidation Inc., the successor company to Aeropostale, Inc., where she served as the Chairman of the Board of Directors from February 2012 to May 2016. Prior to being appointed, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey served on the board of Aeropostale since August 2005 where she was the lead independent director and served as a member of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and Chairperson of the Audit Committee. From May 2009 to December 2011, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey was the Chief Risk Executive for Ally Financial Inc. From June 2008 to June 2009, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey also served as a Director for Residential Capital LLC, a subsidiary of GMAC. From March 2005 to December 2008, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey was a principal in a start-up real estate development venture based in New Jersey. From 1995 to 2005, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey held various senior level management positions at Bank of America, including Chief Operating Officer, Global Markets, President of Trust and Credit Banking Products, and Chief Financial Officer/Chief Operating Officer for the Wealth and Investment Management division. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey is a C.P.A. MCC believes that Ms. Hirtler-Garvey’s tenure in the financial services industry and extensive experience in senior management positions will support her appointment to the MCC Board.

John E. Mack. Mr. Mack is not an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act. Mr. John E. Mack has over 40 years of international banking and financial business management experience. From November 2002 through September 2005, Mr. Mack served as Senior Managing Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer of Shinsei Bank, Limited of Tokyo, Japan. Prior to joining Shinsei Bank and for more than 25 years, Mr. Mack served in senior management positions at Bank of America and its predecessor companies, including 12 years as Corporate Treasurer of NationsBank Corporation and NCNB Corporation. From November 2011 through December 2013, Mr. Mack was a member of the board of directors of Residential Capital LLC, and from January 2010 through March 2015, Mr. Mack was Vice-Chairman and a director of Islandsbanki hf located in Reykjavik, Iceland, and, from September 2008 through January 2016, a member of the board of directors of Flowers National Bank. Mr. Mack is currently a member of the board of directors of Incapital Holdings LLC, Searchlight Minerals Corp., Tiptree Financial Inc. and GlobalMin Ventures Inc. Mr. Mack holds an M.B.A. from the University of Virginia, Darden School of Business and received his bachelor’s degree in Economics from Davidson College. Mr. Mack has served in senior management positions at large financial institutions and has extensive experience in finance, accounting and regulatory issues. In addition, his tenure in the financial services industry and service as a director of both public and private companies provide industry-specific knowledge and expertise to the MCC Board.

Mark Lerdal is not an “interested person” of MCC as defined in the Investment Company Act. Mr. Lerdal has been an active leader in the renewable energy business for more than 30 years as an executive, investor and attorney. Since April 2014, Mark Lerdal has been the Executive Chairman of Leaf Clean Energy Company, a closed-end fund focused on renewable energy investments. From 2009 to December 2015, he was a Managing Director of MP2 Capital, LLC, a developer, owner and operator of solar generation assets. Mr. Lerdal served as President of Hydrogen Energy California, a developer of carbon capture and sequestration facility, from September 2011 to February 2013. Prior to that time, he was a Managing Director at KKR Finance in its debt securities division. Mr. Lerdal served as an independent director and member of the Corporate Governance and Conflicts Committee of the Board of Directors of TerraForm Global, Inc. From the consummation of its initial public offering in August 2015 until November 20, 2015. Mr. Lerdal served as an independent director and member of the Corporate Governance and Conflicts Committee of the Board of Directors of TerraForm Power, Inc. from the consummation of its initial public offering in July 2014 until November 20, 2015. Mr. Lerdal also serves as a non-executive board member at Trading Emissions Plc and Onsite Energy Corporation, which provides energy services to industrial energy users. Mr. Lerdal graduated cum laude from Northwestern University School of Law and holds a bachelor’s degree in economics from Stanford University.

MCC believes that Mr. Lerdal’s tenure in the financial services industry and extensive experience will support his position on the MCC Board.

Executive Officers Who are not Directors

Richard T. Allorto, Jr. Mr. Allorto has served as the Chief Financial Officer and Secretary of MCC since its inception in 2011. Mr. Allorto has also served as the Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer and Secretary of Sierra from April 2012 until November 2016 and was re-appointed to such positions in July 2018, and as Chief Financial Officer of MDLY since July 2010. Mr. Allorto is also responsible for the financial operations of the various private funds managed by MDLY. Prior to joining Medley, Mr. Allorto held various accounting and finance positions at GSC Group, Inc., a registered investment adviser, including most recently as Chief Financial Officer of a publicly traded BDC that was externally managed by GSC Group. Prior to GSC Group, Mr. Allorto was an Audit Supervisor at Arthur Andersen. Mr. Allorto received a B.S. in Accounting from Seton Hall University and is a licensed CPA.

John D. Fredericks. Mr. Fredericks has served as the Chief Compliance Officer of MCC since February 2014. Mr. Fredericks has also served as the Chief Compliance Officer of Sierra since February 2014 and as General Counsel of MDLY since June 2013. Prior to joining MDLY, Mr. Fredericks was a partner with Winston & Strawn, LLP from February 2003 to May 2013, where he was a member of the firm's restructuring and insolvency and corporate lending groups. Before joining Winston & Strawn, LLP, Mr. Fredericks was a partner with Murphy Sheneman Julian & Rogers from 2000 to 2003 and an associate at Murphy, Weir & Butler from 1993 to 2000. Mr. Fredericks was admitted to the California State Bar in 1993. Mr. Fredericks received a B.A. from the University of California Santa Cruz and a J.D. from University of San Francisco.

Director Independence

In accordance with rules of the NYSE, the MCC Board annually determines each director's independence. MCC does not consider a director independent unless the MCC Board has determined that he or she has no material relationship with MCC. MCC monitors the relationships of its directors and officers through the activities of its Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and through a questionnaire each director completes no less frequently than annually and updates periodically as information provided in the most recent questionnaire changes.

MCC's governance guidelines require any director who has previously been determined to be independent to inform the Chairman of the MCC Board and the Chairman of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee of any change in circumstance that may cause his or her status as an independent director to change. The MCC Board limits membership on the Audit Committee, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, the Compensation Committee, and the Sierra Special Committee to independent directors.

In order to evaluate the materiality of any such relationship, the MCC Board uses the definition of director independence set forth in the NYSE Listed Company Manual. Section 303A.00 of the NYSE Listed Company Manual provides that BDCs, such as MCC, are required to comply with all of the provisions of Section 303A applicable to domestic issuers other than Sections 303A.02, the section that defines director independence. Section 303A.00 provides that a director of a BDC shall be considered to be independent if he or she is not an "interested person" of MCC, as defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act. Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act defines an "interested person" to include, among other things, any person who has, or within the last two years had, a material business or professional relationship with MCC.

The MCC Board has determined that each of the directors is independent and has no material relationship with MCC, except as a director and MCC Stockholder, with the exception of Brook Taube, Seth Taube and Jeff Tonkel. Messrs. Brook Taube, Seth Taube and Jeff Tonkel are interested persons of MCC due to their positions as members of management of MCC Advisors.

Board Leadership Structure

The MCC Board monitors and performs an oversight role with respect to the business and affairs of MCC, including with respect to investment practices and performance, compliance with regulatory requirements and the services, expenses and performance of service providers to MCC. Among other things, the MCC Board approves the appointment of MCC Advisors and officers, reviews and monitors the services and activities performed by MCC Advisors and executive officers and approves the engagement, and reviews the performance of, its independent registered public accounting firm.

Under the MCC Bylaws, the MCC Board may designate a Chairman to preside over the meetings of the MCC Board and meetings of the MCC Stockholders and to perform such other duties as may be assigned to him or her by the MCC Board. MCC does not have a fixed policy as to whether the Chairman of the MCC Board should be an independent director and believes that MCC should maintain the flexibility to select the Chairman and reorganize the leadership structure, from time to time, based on the criteria that is in the best interests of MCC and MCC Stockholders at such times. Presently, Mr. Brook Taube serves as the Chairman of the MCC Board. Mr. Brook Taube is an “interested person” of MCC as defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act because he is Chief Executive Officer of MCC, serves on the Investment Committee and is the Managing Member of MCC Advisors. MCC believes that Mr. Taube’s history with MCC, familiarity with its investment platform, and extensive knowledge of the financial services industry qualify him to serve as the Chairman of the MCC Board. MCC believes that it is best served through this existing leadership structure, as Mr. Taube’s relationship with MCC Advisors provides an effective bridge and encourages an open dialogue between management and the MCC Board, ensuring that both groups act with a common purpose.

The MCC Board’s designated lead independent director is Arthur Ainsberg. MCC is aware of the potential conflicts that may arise when a non-independent director is Chairman of the MCC Board, but believes these potential conflicts are offset by MCC’s strong corporate governance policies. MCC’s corporate governance policies include regular meetings of the independent directors in executive session without the presence of interested directors and management, the establishment of the Audit Committee, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, the Compensation Committee, and the MCC Special Committee comprised solely of independent directors and the appointment of a Chief Compliance Officer, with whom the independent directors meet regularly without the presence of interested directors and other members of management, for administering MCC’s compliance policies and procedures.

MCC recognizes that different board leadership structures are appropriate for companies in different situations. MCC re-examines its corporate governance policies on an ongoing basis to ensure that they continue to meet MCC’s needs.

Board of Directors Role in Risk Oversight

The MCC Board performs its risk oversight function primarily through (a) its four standing committees, which report to the entire MCC Board and are comprised solely of independent directors, and (b) active monitoring of MCC’s Chief Compliance Officer and compliance policies and procedures.

As described below in more detail under “Committees of the Board of Directors,” the Audit Committee and the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee assist the MCC Board in fulfilling its risk oversight responsibilities. The Audit Committee’s risk oversight responsibilities include overseeing MCC’s accounting and financial reporting processes, MCC’s systems of internal controls regarding finance and accounting, and audits of MCC’s financial statements. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee’s risk oversight responsibilities include selecting, researching and nominating directors for election by MCC Stockholders, developing and recommending to the MCC Board a set of corporate governance principles and overseeing the evaluation of the MCC Board and MCC’s management.

The MCC Board also performs its risk oversight responsibilities with the assistance of the Chief Compliance Officer. Every quarter, the MCC Board reviews a written report from the Chief Compliance Officer discussing the adequacy and effectiveness of the compliance policies and procedures of MCC and its service providers. The Chief Compliance Officer’s quarterly report addresses the following: (a) the operation of the compliance policies and procedures of MCC and its service providers since the last report; (b) any material changes to such policies and procedures since the last report; (c) any recommendations for material changes to such policies and procedures as a result of the Chief Compliance Officer’s quarterly review; and (d) any compliance matter that has occurred since the date of the last report about which the MCC Board would reasonably need to know to oversee MCC’s compliance activities and risks. In addition, the Chief Compliance Officer meets separately in executive session with the independent directors at least once each year.

MCC believes that the MCC Board's role in risk oversight is effective and appropriate given the extensive regulation to which MCC is already subject as a BDC. As a BDC, MCC is required to comply with certain regulatory requirements that control the levels of risk in its business and operations. For example, MCC's ability to incur indebtedness is limited such that its asset coverage must equal at least 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to the Investment Company Act, certain requirements are met) immediately after each time MCC incurs indebtedness, MCC generally has to invest at least 70% of its total assets in "qualifying assets" and MCC is not generally permitted to invest in any portfolio company in which one of its affiliates currently has an investment. MCC recognizes that different MCC Board roles in risk oversight are appropriate for companies in different situations. MCC re-examines the manners in which the MCC Board administers its oversight function on an ongoing basis to ensure that it continues to meet MCC's needs.

Committees of the Board of Directors

An Audit Committee, a Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, a Compensation Committee, and the MCC Special Committee have been established by the MCC Board. During the fiscal year of 2018, the MCC Board held eight board meetings, five Audit Committee meetings, two Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee meetings, one Compensation Committee meeting, and 15 MCC Special Committee meetings. All directors attended at least 75% of the aggregate number of meetings of the MCC Board and of the respective committees on which they serve. MCC requires each director to make a diligent effort to attend all board and committee meetings as well as each annual meeting of MCC Stockholders.

Audit Committee. The Audit Committee operates pursuant to a charter approved by the MCC Board, a copy of which is available on MCC's website at <http://www.medleycapitalcorp.com>. The charter sets forth the responsibilities of the Audit Committee. The Audit Committee's responsibilities include selecting the independent registered public accounting firm for MCC, reviewing with such independent registered public accounting firm the planning, scope and results of its audit of MCC's financial statements, pre-approving the fees for services performed, reviewing with the independent registered public accounting firm the adequacy of internal control systems, reviewing MCC's annual financial statements and periodic filings and receiving MCC's audit reports and financial statements. The Audit Committee also establishes guidelines and makes recommendations to the MCC Board regarding the valuation of MCC's investments. The Audit Committee is responsible for aiding the MCC Board in determining the fair value of debt and equity securities that are not publicly traded or for which current market values are not readily available. The MCC Board and the Audit Committee utilize the services of nationally recognized third-party valuation firms to help determine the fair value of these securities. The Audit Committee is currently composed of Messrs. John E. Mack, Arthur S. Ainsberg and Mark Lerdal and Ms. Karin Hirtler-Garvey. All of them are considered independent under the rules of the NYSE corporate governance listing standards and are not "interested persons" of MCC as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act. Mr. Mack serves as Chairman of the Audit Committee. The MCC Board has determined that Mr. Mack is an "audit committee financial expert" as that term is defined under Item 407 of Regulation S-K, as promulgated under the Exchange Act. Mr. Mack meets the current independence and experience requirements of Rule 10A-3 of the Exchange Act.

Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee operates pursuant to a charter approved by the MCC Board, a copy of which is available on MCC's website at <http://www.medleycapitalcorp.com>. The members of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee are Messrs. Arthur Ainsberg, John E. Mack and Ms. Karin Hirtler-Garvey. All members of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee are considered independent under the rules of the NYSE and are not "interested persons" of MCC as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act. Mr. Ainsberg serves as Chairman of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee is responsible for selecting, researching and nominating directors for election by MCC Stockholders, selecting nominees to fill vacancies on the MCC Board or a committee thereof, developing and recommending to the MCC Board a set of corporate governance principles and overseeing the evaluation of the MCC Board and MCC's management. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee currently does not consider nominees recommended by MCC Stockholders.

The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee seeks candidates who possess the background, skills and expertise to make a significant contribution to the MCC Board, MCC and MCC Stockholders. In considering possible candidates for election as a director, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee takes into account, in addition to such other factors as it deems relevant, the desirability of selecting directors who:

- are of high character and integrity;
- are accomplished in their respective fields, with superior credentials and recognition;
- have relevant expertise and experience upon which to be able to offer advice and guidance to management;
- have sufficient time available to devote to the affairs of MCC;
- are able to work with the other members of the MCC Board and contribute to the success of MCC;
- can represent the long-term interests of MCC Stockholders as a whole; and
- are selected such that with the other members of the MCC Board represent a range of backgrounds and experience.

The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee has not adopted a formal policy with regard to the consideration of diversity in identifying director nominees. In determining whether to recommend a director nominee, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee considers and discusses diversity, among other factors, with a view toward the needs of the MCC Board as a whole. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee generally conceptualizes diversity expansively to include, without limitation, concepts such as race, gender, national origin, differences of viewpoint, professional experience, education, skill and other qualities that contribute to the MCC Board, when identifying and recommending director nominees. The Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee believes that the inclusion of diversity as one of many factors considered in selecting director nominees is consistent with the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee's goal of creating a board of directors that best serves the needs of MCC and the interest of the MCC Stockholders.

Compensation Committee. The Compensation Committee operates pursuant to a charter approved by the MCC Board, a copy of which is available on MCC's website at <http://www.medleycapitalcorp.com>. The Compensation Committee is responsible for reviewing and approving the reimbursement by MCC of the compensation of MCC's Chief Financial Officer and MCC's Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staff. The current members of the Compensation Committee are Ms. Karin Hirtler-Garvey and Messrs. John E. Mack and Mark Lerdal, each of whom is not an interested person of MCC for purposes of the Investment Company Act and is independent for purposes of the NYSE corporate governance listing standards. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey serves as the Chairman of the Compensation Committee. As discussed below, none of MCC's executive officers are compensated by MCC.

Special Committee. The MCC Special Committee was granted the authority to, among other things, evaluate and review the terms and conditions of the Mergers or any alternative thereto and determine whether the Mergers or any alternative thereto is advisable and is fair to, and in the best interests of, MCC and the MCC Stockholders (or any subset of the MCC Stockholders that the MCC Special Committee determines to be appropriate) in connection with the Mergers. The MCC Special Committee had the authority to select and retain, in its sole discretion, any advisers that they deemed appropriate, including their own independent financial and legal advisors. The current members of the MCC Special Committee are Ms. Karin Hirtler-Garvey and Messrs. Arthur S. Ainsberg, John E. Mack and Mark Lerdal, each of whom is not an interested person of MCC for purposes of the NYSE corporate governance listing standards. Arthur S. Ainsberg serves as the chair of the MCC Special Committee.

Code of Ethics

MCC has adopted a Code of Ethics which applies to, among others, MCC's senior officers, including its Chief Executive Officer and its Chief Financial Officer, as well as every officer, director, employee and access person (as defined within MCC's Code of Ethics) of MCC. MCC's Code of Ethics can be accessed via MCC's website at <http://www.medleycapitalcorp.com>. MCC intends to disclose any amendments to or waivers from any required provision of the Code of Ethics on Form 8-K.

Compensation of Directors

The following table sets forth compensation of MCC's directors, for the year ended September 30, 2018:

Name	Fees Earned or Paid in Cash ⁽¹⁾	Stock Awards ⁽²⁾	All Other Compensation	Total
Interested Directors
Brook Taube	—	—	—	—
Seth Taube	—	—	—	—
Jeff Tonkel	—	—	—	—
Independent Directors
Arthur S. Ainsberg	$ 299,000	—	—	$ 299,000
Karin Hirtler-Garvey	$ 267,500	—	—	$ 267,500
John E. Mack	$ 275,000	—	—	$ 275,000
Mark Lerdal	$ 252,500	—	—	$ 252,500

(1) For a discussion of the independent directors' compensation, see below.

(2) MCC does not maintain a stock or option plan, non-equity incentive plan or pension plan for its directors. However, MCC's independent directors have the option to receive all or a portion of the directors' fees to which they would otherwise be entitled in the form of shares of MCC Common Stock issued at a price per share equal to the greater of MCC's then current NAV per share or the market price at the time of payment. No shares were issued to any of MCC's independent directors in lieu of cash during 2018.

As compensation for serving on the MCC Board, each independent director receives an annual fee of $90,000. Independent directors also receive $3,000 plus reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board meeting and receive $2,500 plus reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each Audit Committee, Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, and Compensation Committee meeting. In addition, the Chairman of the Audit Committee receives an annual fee of $25,000 and each chairperson of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, and the Compensation Committee receives an annual fee of $10,000, and other members of the Audit Committee, the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, and the Compensation Committee receive an annual fee of $12,500, $6,000, and $6,000, respectively, for their additional services in these capacities. On January 26, 2018, the MCC Board expanded the scope of the MCC Special Committee comprised solely of its independent directors for the purpose of assessing the merits of various proposed strategic transactions. As compensation for serving on the MCC Special Committee, each independent director received a one-time retainer of $25,000 plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses, consistent with MCC's policies for reimbursement of members of the MCC Board. In addition, the chairman of the MCC Special Committee receives a monthly fee of $15,000 and other members receive a monthly fee of $10,000.

MCC's independent directors also have the option to receive all or a portion of the directors' fees to which they would otherwise be entitled in the form of shares of MCC Common Stock issued at a price per share equal to the greater of MCC's then current NAV per share or the market price at the time of payment. No shares were issued to any of MCC's independent directors in lieu of cash during the year ended September 30, 2018. In addition, no compensation was paid to directors who are "interested persons" of MCC as that term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act.

Indemnification Agreements

MCC has entered into indemnification agreements with its directors. The indemnification agreements are intended to provide MCC's directors the maximum indemnification permitted under Delaware law and the Investment Company Act. Each indemnification agreement provides that MCC shall indemnify the director who is a party to the agreement (an "Indemnitee"), including the advancement of legal expenses, if, by reason of his or her corporate status, the Indemnitee is, or is threatened to be, made a party to or a witness in any threatened, pending, or completed proceeding, to the maximum extent permitted by the DGCL and the Investment Company Act.

Compensation of Executive Officers

None of MCC's officers receive direct compensation from MCC. The compensation of MCC's Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer is paid by MCC's administrator, subject to reimbursement by MCC of an allocable portion of such compensation for services rendered by him or her to MCC.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS OF MCC

MCC has entered into the MCC Investment Management Agreement with MCC Advisors, its investment adviser. Mr. Brook Taube, MCC's Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, is a Managing Partner of, and has financial and controlling interests in, MCC Advisors. In addition, Messrs. Seth Taube and Jeff Tonkel, members of the MCC Board, and Mr. Richard T. Allorto, Jr., MCC's Chief Financial Officer, serve as Managing Partners and Chief Financial Officer, respectively, for MCC Advisors. Messrs. Seth Taube and Jeff Tonkel also have financial interests in MCC Advisors.

MCC Advisors and its affiliates may also manage other funds in the future that may have investment mandates that are similar, in whole or in part, with MCC's. MCC Advisors also focuses on investing primarily in senior secured loans, including first lien, unitranche and second lien debt instruments. MCC Advisors and its affiliates may determine that an investment is appropriate for MCC and for one or more of its affiliated funds. In such event, depending on the availability of such investment and other appropriate factors, MCC Advisors or its affiliates may determine that MCC should co-invest with one or more other funds. Any such investments will be made only to the extent permitted by applicable law and interpretive positions of the SEC and its staff, and consistent with the allocation procedures of MCC Advisors.

Co-Investment Opportunities

The Investment Company Act generally prohibits MCC from making certain negotiated co-investments with certain affiliates unless MCC receives an exemptive order from the SEC permitting it to do so. On November 25, 2013, MCC received an exemptive order from the SEC that permits it to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates, each of whose investment adviser is Medley LLC or an investment adviser controlled by Medley LLC in a manner consistent with MCC's investment objective, strategies and restrictions, as well as regulatory requirements and other pertinent factors (the "Prior Exemptive Order"). On March 29, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the "Exemptive Order") for a co-investment order that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise be prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) and Rule 17d-1. On October 4, 2017, MCC, MCC Advisors and certain of MCC's affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the "Current Exemptive Order") and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly- or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with MCC that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act. The terms of the Current Exemptive Order are otherwise substantially similar to the Exemptive Order. Co-investment under the Current Exemptive Order is subject to certain conditions therein, including the condition that, in the case of each co-investment transaction, the MCC Board determines that it would be in MCC's best interest to participate in the transaction. However, neither MCC nor the affiliated funds are obligated to invest or co-invest when investment opportunities are referred to MCC or them.

MCC may, nonetheless, invest alongside its affiliates in certain circumstances where doing so is consistent with applicable law and SEC staff interpretations. For example, MCC may invest alongside such other clients' accounts consistent with guidance promulgated by the SEC staff permitting it and such other clients' accounts to purchase interests in a single class of privately placed securities so long as certain conditions are met, including that no investment adviser, acting on MCC's behalf or on behalf of other clients, negotiates any term other than price. MCC may also invest alongside such affiliates as otherwise permissible under regulatory guidance, applicable regulations and MCC Advisors' allocation policies.

Material Nonpublic Information

MCC's senior management, members of MCC Advisors' investment committee and other investment professionals from MCC Advisors may serve as directors of, or in a similar capacity with, companies in which MCC invests or in which it is considering making an investment. Through these and other relationships with a company, these individuals may obtain material non-public information that might restrict MCC's ability to buy or sell the securities of such company under the policies of the company or applicable law.

License Agreement

MCC has entered into a License Agreement with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC has agreed to grant MCC a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Medley." In addition, pursuant to the terms of the MCC Administration Agreement, MCC Advisors provides MCC with the office space and administrative services necessary to conduct its day-to-day operations.

CONTROL PERSONS AND PRINCIPAL HOLDERS OF MCC COMMON STOCK

The following table sets forth, as of December 14, 2018 the beneficial ownership of:

- each current director, the nominees for director, and MCC executive officers,
- each person known to MCC to beneficially own 5% or more of the outstanding shares of MCC Common Stock, and
- the executive officers and directors as a group.

Beneficial ownership is determined in accordance with the rules of the SEC and includes voting or investment power with respect to the securities. Ownership information for those persons who beneficially own 5% or more of MCC Common Stock is based upon reports filed by such persons with the SEC and other information obtained from such persons, if available.

Unless otherwise indicated, MCC believes that each beneficial owner set forth in the table below has sole voting and investment power and has the same address as MCC. MCC directors are divided into two groups — interested directors and independent directors. Interested directors are “interested persons” of MCC as defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act. Unless otherwise indicated, the address of all executive officers and directors is c/o Medley Capital Corporation, 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017.

MCC COMMON STOCK PERFORMANCE GRAPH

The graph below compares the stockholder return on the MCC Common Stock from January 20, 2011 (IPO) to September 30, 2018 with that of the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index and the Russell 2000 Financial Services Index. This graph assumes that on January 20, 2011, $100 was invested in MCC Common Stock, the S&P 500 Index, and the Russell 2000 Financial Services Index. The graph also assumes the reinvestment of all cash dividends prior to any tax effect. The stock price performance included in the below graph is not necessarily indicative of future stock performance.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE ABOUT MARKET RISKS OF MCC

MCC is subject to financial market risks, including changes in interest rates. Changes in interest rates may affect both MCC's cost of funding and its interest income from portfolio investments and cash and cash equivalents. MCC's investment income will be affected by changes in various interest rates, including LIBOR, to the extent its debt investments include floating interest rates. In the future, MCC expects other loans in its portfolio will have floating interest rates. MCC may hedge against interest rate fluctuations by using standard hedging instruments such as futures, options and forward contracts subject to the requirements of the Investment Company Act. For the year ended September 30, 2018, MCC did not engage in hedging activities.

As of September 30, 2018, 80.5% of MCC's income-bearing investment portfolio bore interest based on floating rates. The composition of its floating rate debt investments by cash interest rate LIBOR floor as of September 30, 2018 was as follows (dollars in thousands):

LIBOR Floor	September 30, 2018
	Fair Value	% of Floating Rate Portfolio
Under 1%	$ 9,418	2.4%
1% to under 2%	364,194	93.7
2% to under 3%	15,113	3.9
Total	$ 388,725	100.0%

Based on MCC's Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities as of September 30, 2018, the following table (dollars in thousands) shows the approximate increase/(decrease) in components of net assets resulting from operations of hypothetical LIBOR base rate changes in interest rates, assuming no changes in MCC's investment and capital structure.

BUSINESS OF MDLY

Overview

MDLY is an alternative asset management firm offering yield solutions to retail and institutional investors. MDLY focuses on credit-related investment strategies, primarily originating senior secured loans to private middle market companies in the U.S. that have revenues between $50 million and $1 billion. MDLY generally holds these loans to maturity. MDLY’s national direct origination franchise provides capital to the middle market in the U.S. For over 15 years, MDLY has provided capital to over 400 companies across 35 industries in North America.

MDLY manages three permanent capital vehicles, two of which are BDCs, and a credit interval fund, as well as long-dated private funds and SMAs, with a primary focus on senior secured credit. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY had $4.8 billion of AUM in two BDCs, MCC and Sierra, as well as private investment vehicles. MDLY’s compounded annual AUM growth rate from December 31, 2010 through September 30, 2018 was 22%, and MDLY’s compounded annual Fee Earning AUM growth rate was 16%, which have both been driven in large part by the growth in its permanent capital vehicles. Since September 2015, MDLY received over $1.4 billion of new institutional capital commitments, bringing AUM to $4.8 billion. Typically the investment periods of MDLY’s institutional commitments range from 18 to 24 months and it expects its Fee Earning AUM to increase as capital commitments included in AUM are invested.

In general, MDLY’s institutional investors do not have the right to withdraw capital commitments and, to date, MDLY has not experienced any withdrawals of capital commitments. For a description of the risk factor associated with capital commitments, see “Risk Factors — Risks relating to MDLY — Third-party investors in MDLY’s private funds may not satisfy their contractual obligation to fund capital calls when requested, which could adversely affect a fund’s operations and performance.”

The diagram below presents the historical correlation between growth in MDLY’s AUM, fee earning AUM and management fees.

(1) Presented on a standalone basis.

Table of Contents

Direct origination, credit structuring and active monitoring of the loan portfolios MDLY manages are important success factors in its business, which can be adversely affected by difficult market and political conditions, such as the turmoil in the global capital markets from 2007 to 2009. Since MDLY's inception in 2006, it has adhered to a disciplined investment process that employs these principles with the goal of delivering strong risk-adjusted investment returns while protecting investor capital. MDLY's focus on protecting investor capital is reflected in its investment strategy; at September 30, 2018, approximately 76% of the combined portfolios investments were in first lien positions. MDLY believes that its ability to directly originate, structure and lead deals enables it to consistently lend at higher yields with better terms. In addition, the loans MDLY manages generally have a contractual maturity between three and seven years and are typically floating rate (at September 30, 2018, approximately 13% of the loans MDLY manages, based on aggregate principal amount, bore interest at floating rates), which it believes positions its business well for rising interest rates.

MDLY's Funds

MDLY provides its credit-focused investment strategies through various funds and products that meet the needs of a wide range of retail and institutional investors.

MDLY's permanent capital vehicles, MCC and Sierra, offer investors compelling risk-adjusted yield opportunities. Given their permanent capital nature and focus on senior credit, they provide a high degree of base management fee visibility. Additionally, MDLY has a strong institutional investor base for its long-dated private funds and SMAs, which have been an important source of diversified capital for its business.

Except as otherwise described herein with respect to MDLY's BDCs, its investment funds themselves do not register as investment companies under the Investment Company Act, in reliance on Section 3(c)(1), Section 3(c)(7) or Section 7(d) thereof. Section 3(c)(7) of the Investment Company Act exempts from the Investment Company Act's registration requirements investment funds privately placed in the United States whose securities are owned exclusively by persons who, at the time of acquisition of such securities, are "qualified purchasers" as defined under the Investment Company Act. Section 3(c)(1) of the Investment Company Act exempts from the Investment Company Act's registration requirements privately placed investment funds whose securities are beneficially owned by not more than 100 persons. In addition, under certain current interpretations of the SEC, Section 7(d) of the Investment Company Act exempts from registration any non-U.S. investment fund all of whose outstanding securities are beneficially owned either by non-U.S. residents or by U.S. residents that are qualified purchasers and purchase their interests in a private placement. Certain subsidiaries of Medley LLC typically serve as an investment adviser for MDLY's funds and are registered under the Advisers Act. MDLY's funds' investment advisers or one of their affiliates are entitled to management fees, performance fees and/or incentive fees from each investment fund to which they serve as investment advisers. For a discussion of the fees to which MDLY's funds' investment advisers are entitled across its various types of funds, please see "Fee Structure" below.

Medley Capital Corporation

MDLY launched MCC (NYSE: MCC) (TASE:MCC), its first permanent capital vehicle, in 2011 as a BDC. MCC has grown to become a BDC with approximately $0.7 billion in AUM as of September 30, 2018. MCC has demonstrated a 17.9% compounded annual growth rate of AUM from inception through September 30, 2018.

Sierra Income Corporation

MDLY launched Sierra, its first public non-traded permanent capital vehicle, in 2012 as a BDC. During the nine months ended September 30, 2018, Sierra decreased AUM to $1.1 billion, a 13.1% decrease year over year.

Sierra Total Return Fund

MDLY launched Sierra Total Return Fund ("STRF") (NASDAQ:SRNTX), its first interval fund, in January 2017. STRF is a continuously offered, non-diversified, closed-end investment management company that is operated as an interval fund. The fund commenced investment operations in June 2017.

Long-Dated Private Funds

MDLY launched Medley Opportunity Fund I (“MOF I”), its first long-dated private fund, in 2006, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP (“MOF II”), its second long-dated private fund, in 2010, Medley Opportunity Fund III LP (“MOF III”), its third long-dated private fund, in 2014, and, in 2016, Medley Credit Opportunity Fund LP (“MCOF”) and Aspect-Medley Investment Platform A LP (“Aspect”), its fourth and fifth long-dated private funds, respectively. In 2017, MDLY launched Medley Opportunity Fund Offshore III LP (“MOF III Offshore”). MDLY’s long-dated private funds are managed through partnership structures, in which limited partnerships organized by it accept commitments or funds for investment from institutional investors and high net worth individuals, and a general partner makes all policy and investment decisions, including selection of investment advisers. Affiliates of Medley LLC serve as the general partners and investment advisers to MDLY’s long-dated private funds. The limited partners of MDLY’s long-dated private funds take no part in the conduct or control of the business of such funds, have no right or authority to act for or bind such funds and have no influence on the voting or disposition of the securities or assets held by such funds, although limited partners often have the right to remove the general partner or cause an early liquidation by super-majority vote. As MDLY’s long-dated private funds are closed-ended, once an investor makes an investment, the investor is generally not able to withdraw or redeem its interest, except in very limited circumstances.

Separately Managed Accounts (SMAs)

MDLY launched its first SMA in 2010 and currently manages ten SMAs. In the case of its SMAs, the investor, rather than MDLY, dictates the risk tolerances and target returns of the account. MDLY acts as an investment adviser registered with the SEC under the Advisers Act for these accounts. The accounts offer customized solutions for liability driven investors such as insurance companies and typically offer attractive returns on risk-based capital.

Fee Structure

MDLY earns management fees at an annual rate of 0.75% to 2.00% and may earn performance fees, which may be in the form of an incentive fee or carried interest, in the event that specified investment returns are achieved by the fund or SMA. Management fees are generally based on a defined percentage of (1) average or total gross assets, including assets acquired with leverage, (2) total commitments, (3) net invested capital (4) NAV, or (5) lower of cost or market value of a fund’s portfolio investments. Management fees are calculated quarterly and are paid in cash in advance or in arrears depending on each specific fund or SMA. MDLY earns incentive fees on its permanent capital vehicles and earns incentive fees on certain of its long-dated private funds. In addition, MDLY may earn additional carried interest performance fees on its long-dated private funds and SMAs that are typically 15% to 20% of the total return over a 6% to 8% annualized preferred return.

Medley Capital Corporation

Pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement between MCC and MDLY’s affiliate, MCC Advisors, MCC Advisors receives a base management fee and a two-part incentive fee. Effective January 1, 2016, pursuant to a fee waiver executed by MCC Advisors on February 8, 2016, the base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of MCC’s gross assets up to $1.0 billion and 1.50% on MCC’s gross assets over $1.0 billion, and is payable quarterly in arrears (the “Reduced Base Management Fee”). The Reduced Base Management Fee is calculated based on the average value of MCC’s gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters and will be appropriately pro-rated for any partial quarter. Prior to January 1, 2016, the MCC base management fee was calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of MCC’s gross assets. The base management fee was calculated based on the average value of MCC’s gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters.

The two components of the MCC incentive fee are described below.

- The first component of the MCC incentive fee is the Part I incentive fee. Effective January 1, 2016, the incentive fee based on net investment income is reduced from 20.0% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over a fixed hurdle rate of 2.0% per quarter, to 17.5% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over a fixed hurdle rate of 1.5% per quarter. Moreover, the incentive fee based on net investment income is determined and paid quarterly in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter by reference to MDLY's aggregate net investment income, as adjusted, as described below (the "Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income"), from the calendar quarter then ending and the eleven preceding calendar quarters (or if shorter, the number of quarters that have occurred since January 1, 2016). MDLY refers to such period as the "Trailing Twelve Quarters." The hurdle amount for the Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income is determined on a quarterly basis, and is equal to 1.5% multiplied by MCC's net assets at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to MCC's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by MCC of MCC Common Stock (including issuances pursuant to MCC's dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by MCC of MCC Common Stock, and any dividends paid by MCC, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter. Any Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income is paid to MCC Advisors on a quarterly basis, and is based on the amount by which (A) aggregate net investment income ("Ordinary Income") in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters exceeds (B) the hurdle amount for such Trailing Twelve Quarters. The amount of the excess of (A) over (B) described in this paragraph for such Trailing Twelve Quarters is referred to as the "Excess Income Amount." For the avoidance of doubt, Ordinary Income is net of all fees and expenses, including the Reduced Base Management Fee but excluding any incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income or on MCC's capital gains.

The Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income for each quarter is determined as follows:

- No incentive fee based on net investment income is payable to MCC Advisors for any calendar quarter for which there is no Excess Income Amount;
- 100% of the Ordinary Income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle amount, but is less than or equal to an amount, which MCC refers to as the "Catch-up Amount," determined as the sum of 1.8182% multiplied by MCC's net assets at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, as adjusted as noted above, comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters is included in the calculation of the Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income; and
- 17.5% of the Ordinary Income that exceeds the Catch-up Amount is included in the calculation of the Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income.

The amount of the Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income that is paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter equals the excess of the incentive fee so calculated minus the aggregate incentive fees based on income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters but not in excess of the Incentive Fee Cap (as described below).

The Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income that is paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter is subject to a cap (the "Incentive Fee Cap"). The Incentive Fee Cap for any quarter is an amount equal to (a) 17.5% of the Cumulative Net Return (as defined below) during the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (b) the aggregate incentive fees based on net investment income that was paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or a portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters.

"Cumulative Net Return" means (X) the Ordinary Income in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (Y) any Net Capital Loss (as defined below), if any, in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap is zero or a negative value, MCC pays no incentive fee based on net investment income to MCC Advisors for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is a positive value but is less than the Reduced Incentive Fee based on Net Investment Income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC pays a Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income to MCC Advisors equal to the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is equal to or greater than the Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, MCC pays a Reduced Incentive Fee on Net Investment Income to MCC Advisors, calculated as described above, for such quarter without regard to the Incentive Fee Cap.

“Net Capital Loss” in respect of a particular period means the difference, if positive, between (i) aggregate capital losses, whether realized or unrealized, and dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital actions, in such period and (ii) aggregate capital gains, whether realized or unrealized and accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising or capital action, in such period.

Dilution to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of common stock, as the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of common stock (including issuances pursuant to its dividend reinvestment plan), as the excess of the transaction price per share over the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to MCC’s net assets due to other capital action is calculated, in the case of repurchases by MCC of its own common stock, as the excess of the amount by which the NAV per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share multiplied by the number of shares repurchased by MCC.

For the avoidance of doubt, the purpose of changing MDLY’s fee structure was to permanently reduce aggregate fees payable to MCC Advisors by MCC. Beginning January 1, 2016, in order to ensure that MCC pays MCC Advisors aggregate fees on a cumulative basis under the new fee structure that are less than the aggregate fees otherwise due under the management agreement, at the end of each quarter, MCC Advisors calculates aggregate base management fees and incentive fees on net investment income under both the new fee structure and the fee structure under the management agreement, and if, at any time after January 1, 2016, the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis under the new fee structure would be greater than the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis under the fee structure under the management agreement, MCC Advisors is only entitled to the lesser of those two amounts. Since the hurdle rate is fixed, if and as interest rates rise, it will be more likely that MDLY will surpass the hurdle rate and receive an incentive fee based on net investment income.

Prior to January 1, 2016, the Part I incentive fee was payable quarterly in arrears and was 20.0% of MCC’s pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding calendar quarter subject to a 2.0% (which was 8.0% annualized) hurdle rate and a “catch-up” provision measured as of the end of each calendar quarter. Under the hurdle rate and catch-up provisions, in any calendar quarter, MDLY received no incentive fee until MCC’s net investment income equaled the hurdle rate of 2.0%, but then received, as a “catch-up”, 100% of MCC’s pre-incentive fee net investment income with respect to that portion of such pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeded the hurdle rate but was less than 2.5%. The effect of this provision was that, if pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeded 2.5% in any calendar quarter, MCC Advisors would receive 20.0% of MCC’s pre-incentive fee net investment income as if the hurdle rate did not apply. For this purpose, pre-incentive fee net investment income meant interest income, dividend income and any other income including any other fees (other than fees for providing managerial assistance), such as commitment, origination, structuring, due diligence and consulting fees or other fees that MCC received from portfolio companies accrued during the calendar quarter, minus MCC’s operating expenses for the quarter including the base management fee, expenses payable to MCC Advisors, and any interest expense and any dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the incentive fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income included, in the case of investments with a deferred interest feature (such as original issue discount, debt instruments with PIK interest and zero coupon securities), accrued income that MDLY had not yet received in cash.

- The second component of the MCC incentive fee, the Part II incentive fee, is determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year (or upon termination of the investment management agreement as of the termination date), and equals 20.0% of MCC’s cumulative aggregate realized capital gains less cumulative realized capital losses, unrealized capital depreciation (unrealized depreciation on a gross investment-by-investment basis at the end of each calendar year) and all capital gains upon which prior performance-based capital gains incentive fee payments were previously made to MCC Advisors.

Entities controlled by former employees held limited liability company interests in MCC Advisors that entitled them to approximately 4.86% of the net incentive fee income through October 29, 2015 and an additional 5.75% of the net incentive fee income through August 20, 2016 from MCC Advisors. Since August 20, 2016 and going forward, MDLY is entitled to all of the management fees paid to MCC Advisors. MDLY may have similar arrangements with respect to the ownership of the entities that advise its BDCs in the future.

Sierra Income Corporation

Pursuant to the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement between Sierra and MDLY's affiliate, SIC Advisors, SIC Advisors receives a base management fee and a two-part incentive fee. The Sierra base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of Sierra's gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter and is payable quarterly in arrears.

The two components of the Sierra incentive fee are as follows.

- The first, the Part I incentive fee (which is also referred to as a subordinated incentive fee), payable quarterly in arrears, is 20.0% of Sierra's pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding calendar quarter subject to a 1.75% (which is 7.0% annualized) hurdle rate and a "catch-up" provision measured as of the end of each calendar quarter. Under the hurdle rate and catch-up provisions, in any calendar quarter, SIC Advisors receives no incentive fee until Sierra's pre-incentive fee net investment income equals the hurdle rate of 1.75%, but then receives, as a "catch-up", 100% of Sierra's pre-incentive fee net investment income with respect to that portion of such pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle rate but is less than 2.1875%. The effect of this provision is that, if pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% in any calendar quarter, SIC Advisors will receive 20.0% of Sierra's pre-incentive fee net investment income as if the hurdle rate did not apply. For this purpose, pre-incentive fee net investment income means interest income, dividend income and any other income including any other fees (other than fees for providing managerial assistance), such as commitment, origination, structuring, due diligence and consulting fees or other fees that Sierra receives from portfolio companies accrued during the calendar quarter, minus Sierra's operating expenses for the quarter including the base management fee, expenses payable to SIC Advisors or to MDLY, and any interest expense and any dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the incentive fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income includes, in the case of investments with a deferred interest feature (such as original issue discount, debt instruments with PIK interest and zero coupon securities), accrued income that Sierra has not yet received in cash. Since the hurdle rate is fixed, if interest rates rise, it will be easier for MDLY to surpass the hurdle rate and receive an incentive fee based on pre-incentive fee net investment income.
- The second, the Part II incentive fee, is determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year (or upon termination of the investment management agreement as of the termination date), and equals 20.0% of Sierra's cumulative aggregate realized capital gains less cumulative realized capital losses, unrealized capital depreciation (unrealized depreciation on a gross investment-by-investment basis at the end of each calendar year) and all capital gains upon which prior performance-based capital gains incentive fee payments were previously made to SIC Advisors.

Strategic Capital Advisory Services, LLC owned 20% of SIC Advisors and was entitled to receive distributions of up to 20% of the gross cash proceeds received by SIC Advisors from the management and incentive fees payable by Sierra to SIC Advisors, net of certain expenses. On August 9, 2018, Medley LLC exercised its right to redeem Strategic Partners interests in SIC Advisors. As payment of the purchase price for these interests, through June 30, 2022, SIC Advisors is obligated to pay to Strategic Capital an amount equal to up to 20% of the gross cash proceeds received by SIC Advisors from the management and incentive fees payable by Sierra net of certain expenses. MDLY may have similar arrangements with respect to the ownership of the entities that advise its BDCs in the future.

Sierra Total Return Fund

Pursuant to the investment management agreement between STRF and MDLY's affiliate, STRF Advisors LLC, STRF Advisors LLC will be entitled to a base management fee and an incentive fee. The STRF base management fee will be calculated and payable monthly in arrears at an annual rate of 1.50% of STRF's average daily total assets during such period.

The incentive fee will be calculated and payable quarterly in arrears in an amount equal to 15.0% of STRF's pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding quarter, and will be subject to a hurdle rate, expressed as a rate of return on STRF's adjusted capital, equal to 1.50% per quarter, subject to a "catch-up" feature, which will allow STRF Advisors LLC to recover foregone incentive fees that were previously limited by the hurdle rate. Under the hurdle rate and catch-up provisions, in any calendar quarter, STRF Advisors LLC will not receive any incentive fee until STRF's pre-incentive fee net investment income equals the hurdle rate of 1.50%, but then will receive, as a "catch-up," 100% of STRF's pre-incentive fee net investment income with respect to that portion of such pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle rate but is less than or equal to 1.76%. The effect of this provision is that, if pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 1.76% in any calendar quarter, STRF Advisors LLC will receive 15.0% of STRF's pre-incentive fee net investment income as if the hurdle rate did not apply. For this purpose, pre-incentive fee net investment income means interest income, dividend income and any other income accrued during the calendar quarter, minus STRF's operating expenses for the quarter (including the management fee, expenses reimbursed to STRF Advisors LLC and any interest expenses and distributions paid on any issued and outstanding preferred shares, but excluding the incentive fee). For this purpose, adjusted capital means the cumulative gross proceeds received by STRF from the sale of shares (including pursuant to STRF's distribution reinvestment plan), reduced by amounts paid in connection with purchases of shares pursuant to STRF's mandatory repurchases and discretionary repurchases. There is no accumulation of amounts on the hurdle rate from quarter to quarter, and accordingly there is no clawback of amounts previously paid to STRF Advisors LLC if subsequent quarters are below the quarterly hurdle rate, and there is no delay of payment to STRF Advisors LLC if prior quarters are below the quarterly hurdle rate.

Long-Dated Private Funds and SMAs

Pursuant to the respective underlying agreements of MDLY's long-dated private funds and SMAs, MDLY receives an annual management fee and may earn incentive or performance fees. In general, management fees are calculated at an annual rate of 0.75% to 2.00% calculated on the value of the capital accounts or the value of the investments held by each limited partner, fund or account. MDLY may also receive transaction and advisory fees from a funds' underlying portfolio investment. In certain circumstances, MDLY is required to offset its management fees earned by 50% to 100% of transaction and advisory fees earned. In addition, MDLY receives performance fees or carried interest in an amount equal to 15.0% to 20.0% of the realized cash derived from an investment, subject to a cumulative annualized preferred return to the investor of 6.0% to 8.0%, which is in turn subject to a 50% to 100% catch-up allocation to it.

For certain long-dated private funds, MDLY may also earn a two-part incentive fee. The first, the Part I incentive fee, is calculated and payable quarterly in an amount equal to 15.0% to 20.0% of the net investment income, subject to a hurdle rate equal to 1.5% to 2.0% per quarter, which is in turn subject to a 50% to 100% catch-up provision measured as of the end of each calendar quarter. The second, the Part II incentive fee, is calculated and payable annually in an amount equal to 15.0% to 20.0% of cumulative realized capital gains.

In order to better align the interests of MDLY's senior professionals and the other individuals who manage MDLY's long-dated private funds with its own interests and with those of the investors in such funds, such individuals may be allocated directly a portion of the performance fees in such funds. These interests entitle the holders to share the performance fees earned from MOF II. MDLY may make similar arrangements with respect to allocation of performance or incentive fees with respect to MOF III, MCOF, Aspect or other long-dated private funds that it may advise in the future.

As noted above, in connection with raising new funds or securing additional investments in existing funds, MDLY negotiates terms for such funds and investments with existing and potential investors. The outcome of such negotiations could result in its agreement to terms that are materially less favorable to MDLY than for prior funds it has advised or funds advised by its competitors. See "Risk Factors — Risks Relating to MDLY — Risks Relating to MDLY's Business and Industry — MDLY may not be able to maintain its current fee structure as a result of industry pressure from fund investors to reduce fees, which could have an adverse effect on its profit margins and results of operations."

Investor Relations

MDLY's fundraising efforts historically have been spread across distribution channels and have not been dependent on the success of any single channel. MDLY distributes its investment products through two primary channels: (1) permanent capital vehicles and (2) long-dated private funds and SMAs. MDLY believes that each of these channels offers unique advantages to investors and allows it to continue to raise and deploy capital opportunistically in varying market environments.

Permanent Capital Vehicles

MDLY distributes its permanent capital vehicles through three sub-channels:

- MCC is MDLY's publicly traded vehicle. It offers retail and institutional investors liquid access to an otherwise illiquid asset class (middle market credit). In addition to equity capital, MCC also raises debt capital in the private and public markets which is an alternative source of capital in challenging operating environments.
- Sierra is MDLY's non-traded public vehicle. It offers retail and institutional investors access to an otherwise illiquid asset class (middle market credit) without exposure to public market trading volatility. It allows MDLY to continue to raise capital continually during more challenging operating environments when publicly listed vehicles may be trading below NAV, which it believes is valuable during times of market volatility. MDLY believes this is a competitive advantage allowing it to make opportunistic investments, while peers may be more limited during times of market volatility.
- STRF is MDLY's non-traded interval vehicle. It offers retail and institutional investors investments in the debt and equity of fixed-income and fixed-income related securities. STRF is a continuously offered, non-diversified, closed-end investment management company that is operated as an interval fund.

Long-Dated Private Funds and SMAs

MDLY distributes its long-dated private funds and SMAs through two sub-channels:

- Long-dated private funds: MDLY's long-dated private funds offer institutional investors attractive risk-adjusted returns. MDLY believes this channel is an important element of its capital raising efforts given institutional investors are more likely to remain engaged in higher yielding private credit assets during periods of market turbulence.
- Separately managed accounts: MDLY's SMAs provide investors with customized investment solutions. This is particularly attractive for liability driven investors such as insurance companies that invest over long-time horizons.

MDLY believes that its deep and long-standing investor relationships, founded on its strong performance, disciplined management of its investors' capital and diverse product offering, have facilitated the growth of its existing business and will assist it with the development of additional strategies and products, thereby increasing its fee earning AUM in the future. MDLY has dedicated in-house capital markets, investor relations and marketing specialists. MDLY has frequent discussions with its investors and is committed to providing them with the highest quality service. MDLY believes its service levels, as well as its emphasis on transparency, inspire loyalty and support its efforts to continue to attract investors across its investment platform.

Investment Process

Direct Origination.

MDLY focuses on lending directly to companies that are underserved by the traditional banking system and generally seek to avoid broadly marketed investment opportunities. MDLY sources investment opportunities through a variety of channels including direct relationships with companies, financial intermediaries such as national, regional and local bankers, accountants, lawyers and consultants, as well as through financial sponsors. Historically, as much as half of MDLY's annual origination volume has been derived from either repeat or referred borrowers or repeat sponsors. The other half of MDLY's annual origination volume has been sourced through a variety of channels including direct relationships with companies, financial intermediaries such as national, regional and local bankers, accountants, lawyers and consultants, as well as through other financial sponsors. Medley investments are well diversified across 35 industries. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY's industry exposure in excess of 10% was 15% in business services and 12% in healthcare and pharmaceuticals. Medley has a highly selective, three step underwriting process that is governed by an investment committee. This comprehensive process narrows down the investment opportunities from generally over 1,000 a year to approximately 1% to 3% originated borrowers in a year. For the nine months ended September 30, 2018, MDLY closed on 106 investments across 36 borrowers and approximately $410.3 million of invested capital. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY's funds had 1,055 investments across 452 borrowers.

Disciplined Underwriting.

MDLY performs thorough due diligence and focuses on several key criteria in its underwriting process, including strong underlying business fundamentals, a meaningful equity cushion, experienced management, conservative valuation and the ability to deleverage through cash flows. MDLY is often the agent for the loans it originates and accordingly controls the loan documentation and negotiation of covenants, which allows it to maintain consistent underwriting standards. MDLY invests across a broad range of industries and its disciplined underwriting process also involves engagement of industry experts and third-party consultants. This disciplined underwriting process is essential as MDLY's funds have historically invested primarily in privately held companies, for which public financial information is generally unavailable. Since MDLY's inception, it has experienced annualized realized losses for 0.3% of that capital through September 30, 2018. MDLY believes its disciplined underwriting culture is a key factor to its success and its ability to expand its product offerings.

Prior to making an investment, the investment team subjects each potential borrower to an extensive credit review process, which typically begins with an analysis of the market opportunity, business fundamentals, company operating metrics and historical and projected financial analysis. MDLY also compares liquidity, operating margin trends, leverage, free cash flow and fixed charge coverage ratios for each potential investment to industry metrics. Areas of additional underwriting focus include management or sponsor (typically a private equity firm) experience, management compensation, competitive landscape, regulatory environment, pricing power, defensibility of market share and tangible asset values. Background checks are conducted and tax compliance information may also be requested on management teams and key employees. In addition, the investment team contacts customers, suppliers and competitors and performs on-site visits as part of a routine business due diligence process.

MDLY's disciplined underwriting process also involves the engagement of industry experts and third-party consultants. The investment team routinely uses third-party consultants and market studies to corroborate valuation and industry specific due diligence, as well as provide quality of earnings analysis. Experienced legal counsel is engaged to evaluate and mitigate regulatory, insurance, tax or other company-specific risks.

After the investment team completes its final due diligence, each proposed investment is presented to MDLY's investment committee and subjected to extensive discussion and follow-up analysis, if necessary. A formal memorandum for each investment opportunity typically includes the results of business due diligence, multi-scenario financial analysis, risk-management assessment, results of third-party consulting work, background checks (where applicable) and structuring proposals. MDLY's investment committee requires a majority vote to approve any investment.

Active Credit Management.

MDLY employs active credit management. Its process includes frequent interaction with management, monthly or quarterly reviews of financial information and, typically, attendance at board of directors' meetings as observers. Investment professionals with deep restructuring and workout experience support MDLY's credit management effort. The investment team also evaluates financial reporting packages provided by portfolio companies that detail operational and financial performance. Data is entered in Black Mountain, an investment management software program. Black Mountain creates a centralized, dynamic electronic repository for all of MDLY's portfolio company data and generates comprehensive, standardized reports and dashboards which aggregate operational updates, portfolio company financial performance, asset valuations, macro trends, management call notes and account history.

Investment Operations and Information Technology

In addition to MDLY's investment team, it has a finance, accounting and operations team that supports its public and private vehicles team by providing infrastructure and administrative support in the areas of accounting/finance, valuation, capital markets and treasury functions, operations/information technology, strategy and business development, legal/compliance and human resources.

Regulatory and Compliance Matters

MDLY's business, as well as the financial services industry generally, is subject to extensive regulation in the U.S. and elsewhere. The SEC and other regulators around the world have in recent years significantly increased their regulatory activities with respect to alternative asset management firms. MDLY's business is subject to compliance with laws and regulations of U.S. federal and state governments, their respective agencies and/or various self-regulatory organizations or exchanges, and any failure to comply with these regulations could expose it to liability and/or reputational damage. MDLY's business has been operated for a number of years within a legal framework that requires it being able to monitor and comply with a broad range of legal and regulatory developments that affect its activities. However, additional legislation, changes in rules promulgated by regulators or changes in the interpretation or enforcement of existing laws and rules, either in the U.S. or elsewhere, may directly affect MDLY's mode of operation and profitability.

Certain MDLY subsidiaries are registered as investment advisers with the SEC. Registered investment advisers are subject to the requirements and regulations of the Advisers Act. Such requirements relate to, among other things, fiduciary duties to advisory clients, maintaining an effective compliance program, solicitation agreements, conflicts of interest, recordkeeping and reporting requirements, disclosure requirements, limitations on agency cross and principal transactions between an adviser and advisory clients and general anti-fraud prohibitions. The SEC requires investment advisers registered or required to register with the SEC under the Advisers Act that advise one or more private funds and have at least $150.0 million in private fund assets under management to periodically file reports on Form PF. MDLY has filed, and will continue to file, quarterly reports on Form PF, which has resulted in increased administrative costs and requires a significant amount of attention and time to be spent by its personnel. In addition, MDLY's investment advisers are subject to routine periodic examinations by the staff of the SEC. MDLY's investment advisers also have not been subject to any regulatory or disciplinary actions by the SEC.

MCC and Sierra are BDCs. A BDC is a special category of investment company under the Investment Company Act that was added by Congress to facilitate the flow of capital to private companies and small public companies based in the U.S. that do not have efficient or cost-effective access to public capital markets or other conventional forms of corporate financing. BDCs make investments in private or thinly traded public companies in the form of long-term debt and/or equity capital, with the goal of generating current income or capital growth.

BDCs are closed-end management investment companies that elect to be regulated as BDCs under the Investment Company Act. As such, BDCs are subject to only certain provisions of the Investment Company Act, as well as the Securities Act and the Exchange Act. BDCs are provided greater flexibility under the Investment Company Act than are other investment companies that are registered under the Investment Company Act in dealing with their portfolio companies, issuing securities, and compensating their managers. BDCs can be internally or externally managed and may qualify to elect to be taxed as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code, and the regulations thereunder, for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Investment Company Act contains prohibitions and restrictions relating to transactions between BDCs and their affiliates, principal underwriters, and affiliates of those affiliates or underwriters. The Investment Company Act requires that a majority of a BDC's directors be persons other than "interested persons," as that term is defined in the Investment Company Act. In addition, the Investment Company Act provides that a BDC may not change the nature of its business so as to cease to be, or withdraw its election to be regulated as a BDC unless approved by a majority of its outstanding voting securities. The Investment Company Act defines "a majority of the outstanding voting securities" as the lesser of: (1) 67% or more of the voting securities present at a meeting if the holders of more than 50% of its outstanding voting securities are present or represented by proxy or (2) more than 50% of its voting securities.

Generally, BDCs are prohibited under the Investment Company Act from knowingly participating in certain transactions with their affiliates without the prior approval of their board of directors who are not interested persons and, in some cases, prior approval by the SEC. The SEC has interpreted the prohibition on transactions with affiliates broadly to prohibit "joint transactions" among entities that share a common investment adviser.

On October 4, 2017, MDLY received an amended exemptive order from the SEC that expanded its ability to negotiate the terms of co-investment transactions among its BDCs and other funds managed by it (the “Current Exemptive Order”), subject to the conditions included therein. In addition, the Current Exemptive Order allows Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with such funds, subject to certain conditions. Under the terms of the Current Exemptive Order, a “required majority” (as defined in Section 57(o) of the Investment Company Act) of the independent directors of the board of directors participating in the transaction determine that it would be in the fund’s best interest to participate in the transaction. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Combined Company and certain of its affiliates will not be able to rely on the Current Exemptive Order. In this regard, on November 19, 2018, Sierra and certain of its affiliates submitted an exemptive application to the SEC that requests an exemptive order that would supersede the Current Exemptive Order and would permit the Combined Company to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates. For more information, see “Information about the Combined Company — Operational Plans of the Combined Company — Co-Investments.”

In situations where co-investment with other funds managed by MDLY is not permitted or appropriate, such as when there is an opportunity to invest in different securities of the same issuer or where the different investments could be expected to result in a conflict between MDLY’s interests and those of its other clients, MDLY will need to decide which client will proceed with the investment. MDLY will make these determinations based on its policies and procedures, which generally require that such opportunities be offered to eligible accounts on an alternating basis that will be fair and equitable over time. Moreover, except in certain circumstances, MDLY’s BDCs will be unable to invest in any issuer in which another of its funds holds an existing investment. Similar restrictions limit MDLY’s BDCs’ ability to transact business with its officers or directors or their affiliates.

MDLY’s BDCs have elected to be treated as RICs under Subchapter M of the Code. As RICs, BDCs generally do not have to pay corporate-level U.S. federal income taxes on any income that is distributed to its stockholders from its tax earnings and profits. To maintain qualification as a RIC, MDLY’s BDCs must, among other things, meet certain source-of-income and asset diversification requirements (as described below). In addition, in order to obtain and maintain RIC tax treatment, the BDCs must distribute to their stockholders, for each taxable year, at least 90% of their “investment company taxable income,” which is generally its net ordinary income plus the excess, if any, of realized net short-term capital gains over realized net long-term capital losses.

In July 2010, President Obama signed into law the Dodd-Frank Act. The Dodd-Frank Act, among other things, imposes significant new regulations on nearly every aspect of the U.S. financial services industry, including oversight and regulation of systemic market risk (including the power to liquidate certain institutions); authorizing the Federal Reserve to regulate nonbank institutions that are deemed systemically important; generally prohibiting insured banks or thrifts, any bank holding company or savings and loan holding company, any non-U.S. bank with a U.S. branch, agency or commercial lending company and any subsidiaries and affiliates of any of these types of entities, regardless of geographic location, from conducting proprietary trading or investing in or sponsoring a “covered fund,” which includes private equity funds and hedge funds (i.e., the Volcker Rule); and imposing new registration, recordkeeping and reporting requirements on private fund investment advisers. Importantly, while several key aspects of the Dodd-Frank Act have been defined through final rules, many aspects will be implemented by various regulatory bodies over the next several years.

The Dodd-Frank Act requires the CFTC, the SEC and other regulatory authorities to promulgate certain rules relating to the regulation of the derivatives market. Such rules require or will require the registration of certain market participants, the clearing of certain derivatives contracts through central counterparties, the execution of certain derivatives contracts on electronic platforms, as well as reporting and recordkeeping of derivatives transactions. Certain MDLY funds may from time to time, directly or indirectly, invest in instruments that meet the definition of a “swap” under the Commodity Exchange Act and the CFTC’s rules promulgated thereunder. As a result, such funds may qualify as commodity pools, and the operators of such funds may need to register as commodity pool operators (“CPOs”) unless an exemption applies. Additionally, pursuant to a rule finalized by the CFTC in December 2012, certain classes of interest rate swaps and certain classes of index credit default swaps are now subject to mandatory clearing, unless an exemption applies. As of February 2014, many of these interest rate swaps and index credit default swaps are also now subject to mandatory trading on designated contract markets or swap execution facilities. The Dodd-Frank Act also provides expanded enforcement authority to the CFTC and SEC. While certain rules have been promulgated and are already in effect, the rulemaking and implementation process is still ongoing. In particular, the CFTC has finalized most of its rules under the Dodd-Frank Act, and the SEC has proposed several rules regarding security-based swaps but has only finalized a small number of these rules.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, MDLY is involved in various legal proceedings, lawsuits and claims incidental to the conduct of its business. MDLY's businesses are also subject to extensive regulation, which may result in regulatory proceedings against it. Except as described below, MDLY is not currently a party to any material legal proceedings.

On August 29, 2016, MVF Holdings, Inc. filed a lawsuit naming MDLY among others as defendants, captioned Modern Videofilm Holdings, LLC, derivatively on behalf of Modern Videofilm, Inc. v. MCC, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, MCC Advisors, Richard Craybas, James Feeley, Congruent Credit Opportunities Fund II, LP, Congruent Investment Partners, LLC, Preston Massey, Main Street Capital Corporation, Charles Sweet, Managease, Inc., Christina Woodward, in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 631888 (the "Derivative Action"). The plaintiff in the Derivative Action asserts claims derivatively on behalf of Modern VideoFilm LLC against the defendants for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, unfair competition, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, interference with prospective economic advantage, fraud, and declaratory relief. MDLY and the other defendants believe the causes of action asserted in the Derivative Action are without merit and all defendants intend to continue to assert a vigorous defense. On May 16, 2018, Modern VideoFilm LLC filed for bankruptcy in the United States Bankruptcy Court, Central District, As a result of the bankruptcy filing of Modern VideoFilm LLC's, all matters in the Derivative Action have been stayed.

Medley LLC, MCC, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube were named as defendants, along with other various parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned as Royce Solomon, Jodi Belleci, Michael Littlejohn, and Giulianna Lomaglio v. American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Mark Curry, MacFarlane Group, Inc., Sol Partners, Medley Opportunity Fund, II, LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube, DHI Computing Service, Inc., Middlemarch Partners, and John Does 1-100, filed on December 15, 2017 and amended on March 9, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:17-cv-145 (hereinafter, "Class Action 1"). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned George Hengle and Lula Williams v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and MCC, filed February 13, 2018, in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Richmond Division, as Case No. 3:18-cv-100 ("Class Action 2"). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned John Glatt, Sonji Grandy, Heather Ball, Dashawn Hunter, and Michael Corona v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and MCC, filed August 9, 2018 in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:18-cv-101 ("Class Action 3") (together with Class Action 1 and Class Action 2, the "Virginia Class Actions"). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP was also named as a defendant, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned Christina Williams and Michael Stermel v. Red Stone, Inc. (as successor in interest to MacFarlane Group, Inc.), Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Mark Curry, Brian McGowan, Vincent Ney, and John Doe entities and individuals, filed June 29, 2018 and amended July 26, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, as Case No. 2:18-cv-2747 (the "Pennsylvania Class Action") (together with the Virginia Class Actions, the "Class Action Complaints"). The plaintiffs in the Class Action Complaints filed their putative class actions alleging claims under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, and various other claims arising out of the alleged payday lending activities of American Web Loan. The claims against Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube (in Class Action 1, as amended); Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC (in Class Action 2 and Class Action 3); and Medley Opportunity Fund II LP (in the Pennsylvania Class Action), allege that those defendants in each respective action exercised control over, or improperly derived income from, and/or obtained an improper interest in, American Web Loan's payday lending activities as a result of a loan to American Web Loan. The loan was made by Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in 2011. American Web Loan repaid the loan from Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in full in February of 2015, more than 1 year and 10 months prior to any of the loans allegedly made by American Web Loan to the alleged class plaintiff representatives in Class Action 1. In Class Action 2, the alleged class plaintiff representatives have not alleged when they received any loans from American Web Loan. In Class Action 3, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan at various times from February 2015 through April 2018. In the Pennsylvania Class Action, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan in 2017. By orders dated August 7, 2018 and September 17, 2018, the Court presiding over the Virginia Class Actions consolidated those cases for all purposes. On October 12, 2018, Plaintiffs in Class Action 3 filed a notice of voluntary dismissal of their claims, without prejudice, against Medley Opportunity Fund II, LP and MCC. On October 22, 2018, the parties to Class Action 2 settled. On October 29, 2018, the plaintiffs in Class Action 2 stipulated to the dismissal of their claims against all defendants in Class Action 2 (including Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and MCC), with prejudice. Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube never made any loans or provided financing to, or had any other relationship with, American Web Loan. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube are seeking indemnification from American Web Loan, various affiliates, and other parties with respect to the claims in the Class Action Complaints. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, MCC, MDLY, Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube believe the alleged claims in the Class Action Complaints are without merit and they intend to defend these lawsuits vigorously.

Competition

The investment management industry is intensely competitive, and MDLY expects it to remain so. MDLY faces competition both in the pursuit of outside investors for its funds and in acquiring investments in attractive investee companies and making other investments. MDLY competes for outside investors based on a variety of factors, including:

- investment performance;
- investor perception of investment managers' drive, focus and alignment of interest;
- quality of service provided to and duration of relationship with investors;
- business reputation; and
- the level of fees and expenses charged for services.

MDLY faces competition in its lending and other investment activities primarily from other credit-focused funds, specialized funds, BDCs, real estate funds, hedge fund sponsors, other financial institutions and other parties. Many of these competitors in some of its business are substantially larger and have considerably greater financial, technical and marketing resources than are available to MDLY. Many of these competitors have similar investment objectives to MDLY, which may create additional competition for investment opportunities. Some of these competitors may also have a lower cost of capital and access to funding sources that are not available to MDLY, which may create competitive disadvantages for MDLY with respect to investment opportunities. In addition, some of these competitors may have higher risk tolerances, different risk assessments or lower return thresholds, which could allow them to consider a wider variety of investments and to bid more aggressively than MDLY for investments that it wants to make. Lastly, institutional and individual investors are allocating increasing amounts of capital to alternative investment strategies. Several large institutional investors have announced a desire to consolidate their investments in a more limited number of managers. MDLY expects that this will cause competition in its industry to intensify and could lead to a reduction in the size and duration of pricing inefficiencies.

Competition is also intense for the attraction and retention of qualified employees. MDLY's ability to continue to compete effectively in its business will depend upon its ability to attract new employees and retain and motivate its existing employees.

For additional information concerning the competitive risks that MDLY faces, see "Risk Factors — Risks Relating to MDLY — Risks Related to MDLY's Business and Industry — The investment management business is competitive."

Employees

As of September 30, 2018, MDLY employed 72 individuals, including 38 investment, origination and credit management professionals, located in MDLY's New York office.

Corporate Information

MDLY was incorporated as a Delaware corporation on June 13, 2014, and its sole asset is a controlling equity interest in Medley LLC. Pursuant to the Reorganization consummated in connection with MDLY's IPO, MDLY became a holding corporation and the sole managing member of Medley LLC, operating and controlling all of the business and affairs of Medley LLC and, through Medley LLC and its subsidiaries, conducts its business. MDLY's principal executive office is located at 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017. MDLY's telephone number is (212) 759-0777.

MANAGEMENT'S DISCUSSION AND ANALYSIS OF FINANCIAL CONDITION AND RESULTS OF OPERATIONS OF MDLY

The information contained in this section should be read in conjunction with the "Selected Financial and Other Data of MDLY," the "Unaudited Selected Pro Forma Consolidated Financial Data," the "Unaudited Pro Forma Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements" and MDLY's, Sierra's, and MCC's financial statements and notes thereto appearing elsewhere in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

See "Special Factors" and the "Description of the MCC Merger Agreement," "Description of the MDLY Merger Agreement," and "Risk Factors" for a description of the principal risks relating to the Mergers, the Combined Company following the successful completion of the Mergers, Sierra, MCC, and MDLY.

Overview

MDLY is an alternative asset management firm offering yield solutions to retail and institutional investors. MDLY focuses on credit-related investment strategies, primarily originating senior secured loans to private middle market companies in the U.S. that have revenues between $50 million and $1 billion. MDLY generally holds these loans to maturity. MDLY's national direct origination franchise provides capital to the middle market in the U.S. Over the past 16 years, MDLY has provided capital to over 400 companies across 35 industries in North America.

MDLY manages three permanent capital vehicles, two of which are BDCs and one interval fund, as well as long-dated private funds and SMAs, focusing on senior secured credit.

- Permanent capital vehicles: MCC, Sierra and STRF, have a total AUM of $2.0 billion as of September 30, 2018.
- Long-dated private funds and SMAs: MOF II, MOF III, MOF III Offshore, MCOF, Aspect, Aspect B, MCC JV, SIC JV and SMAs, have a total AUM of $2.8 billion as of September 30, 2018.

As of September 30, 2018, MDLY had $4.8 billion of AUM, $2.0 billion in permanent capital vehicles and $2.8 billion in long-dated private funds and SMAs. MDLY's AUM as of September 30, 2018 declined by 9% year over year which was driven primarily by the termination of MCC's revolver commitment with ING, distributions and changes in fund values. MDLY's compounded annual AUM growth rate from December 31, 2010 through September 30, 2018 was 22% and its compounded annual Fee Earning AUM growth rate was 16%, both of which have been driven in large part by the growth in MDLY's permanent capital vehicles. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY had $2.9 billion of Fee Earning AUM which consisted of $1.8 billion in permanent capital vehicles and $1.1 billion in long-dated private funds and SMAs. Typically the investment periods of MDLY's institutional commitments range from 18 to 24 months and MDLY expects its Fee Earning AUM to increase as capital commitments included in AUM are invested.

In general, MDLY's institutional investors do not have the right to withdraw capital commitments and, to date, MDLY has not experienced any withdrawals of capital commitments. For a description of the risk factor associated with capital commitments, see "Risk Factors – Third-party investors in MDLY's private funds may not satisfy their contractual obligation to fund capital calls when requested, which could adversely affect a fund's operations and performance" included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

Direct origination, careful structuring and active monitoring of the loan portfolios MDLY manages are important success factors in MDLY's business, which can be adversely affected by difficult market and political conditions. Since MDLY's inception in 2006, MDLY has adhered to a disciplined investment process that employs these principles with the goal of delivering strong risk-adjusted investment returns while protecting investor capital. MDLY believes that its ability to directly originate, structure and lead deals enables MDLY to achieve these goals. In addition, the loans MDLY manages generally have a contractual maturity of between three and seven years and are typically floating rate, which MDLY believes positions its business well for rising interest rates.

The significant majority of MDLY's revenue is derived from management fees, which includes base management fees earned on all of MDLY's investment products as well as Part I incentive fees earned from MDLY's permanent capital vehicles and certain of MDLY's long-dated private funds. MDLY's base management fees are generally calculated based upon fee earning assets and paid quarterly in cash. MDLY's Part I incentive fees are typically calculated based upon net investment income, subject to a hurdle rate, and are also paid quarterly in cash.

MDLY also may earn carried interest from MDLY's long-dated funds and contractual performance fees from its SMAs. Typically, these fees are 15.0% to 20.0% of the total return above a hurdle rate. Carried interest represent fees that are a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager, are accrued quarterly and paid after the return of all invested capital and an amount sufficient to achieve the hurdle rate of return.

MDLY also may receive incentive fees related to realized capital gains in its permanent capital vehicles and certain of its long-dated private funds that MDLY refers to as Part II incentive fees. Part II incentive fees are payable annually and are calculated at the end of each applicable year by subtracting (i) the sum of cumulative realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation from (ii) cumulative aggregate realized capital gains. If the amount calculated is positive, then the Part II incentive fee for such year is equal to 20% of such amount, less the aggregate amount of Part II incentive fees paid in all prior years. If such amount is negative, then no Part II incentive fee will be payable for such year. As MDLY's investment strategy is focused on generating yield from senior secured credit, historically it has not generated Part II incentive fees.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, 83% of MDLY's revenues were generated from management fees and carried interest derived primarily from net interest income on senior secured loans.

MDLY's primary expenses are compensation to MDLY's employees and general, administrative and other expenses. Compensation includes salaries, discretionary bonuses, stock-based compensation and benefits paid and payable to MDLY's employees. Performance fee compensation is related to performance fees, generally consisting of incentive allocations in MDLY's long-dated private funds that it grants to certain of its professionals. General and administrative expenses include costs primarily related to professional services, office rent and related expenses, depreciation and amortization, travel and related expenses, information technology, communication and information services, placement fees and third-party marketing expenses and other general operating items.

Reorganization and Initial Public Offering

MDLY was incorporated on June 13, 2014 and commenced operations on September 29, 2014 upon the completion of its IPO of MDLY Class A Common Stock. MDLY raised $100.4 million, net of underwriting discounts, through the issuance of 6,000,000 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock at a public offering price of $18.00 per share. The offering proceeds were used to purchase 6,000,000 newly issued Medley LLC Units from Medley LLC. Prior to the IPO, MDLY had not engaged in any business or other activities except in connection with its formation and IPO.

In connection with the IPO, MDLY issued 100 shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock to Medley Group LLC ("Medley Group"), an entity wholly owned by the pre-IPO members of Medley LLC. For so long as the pre-IPO members and then-current Medley personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units (excluding those Medley LLC Units held by MDLY) then outstanding, the MDLY Class B Common Stock entitles Medley Group to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of membership units held by such holder.

In connection with the IPO, Medley LLC amended and restated its limited liability agreement to modify its capital structure by reclassifying the 23,333,333 interests held by the pre-IPO members into a single new class of units. The pre-IPO members also entered into the Exchange Agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees thereof) have the right, subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement, to exchange their Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock on a one-for-one basis, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications. In addition, pursuant to the amended and restated limited liability agreement, MDLY became the sole managing member of Medley LLC.

MDLY's Structure

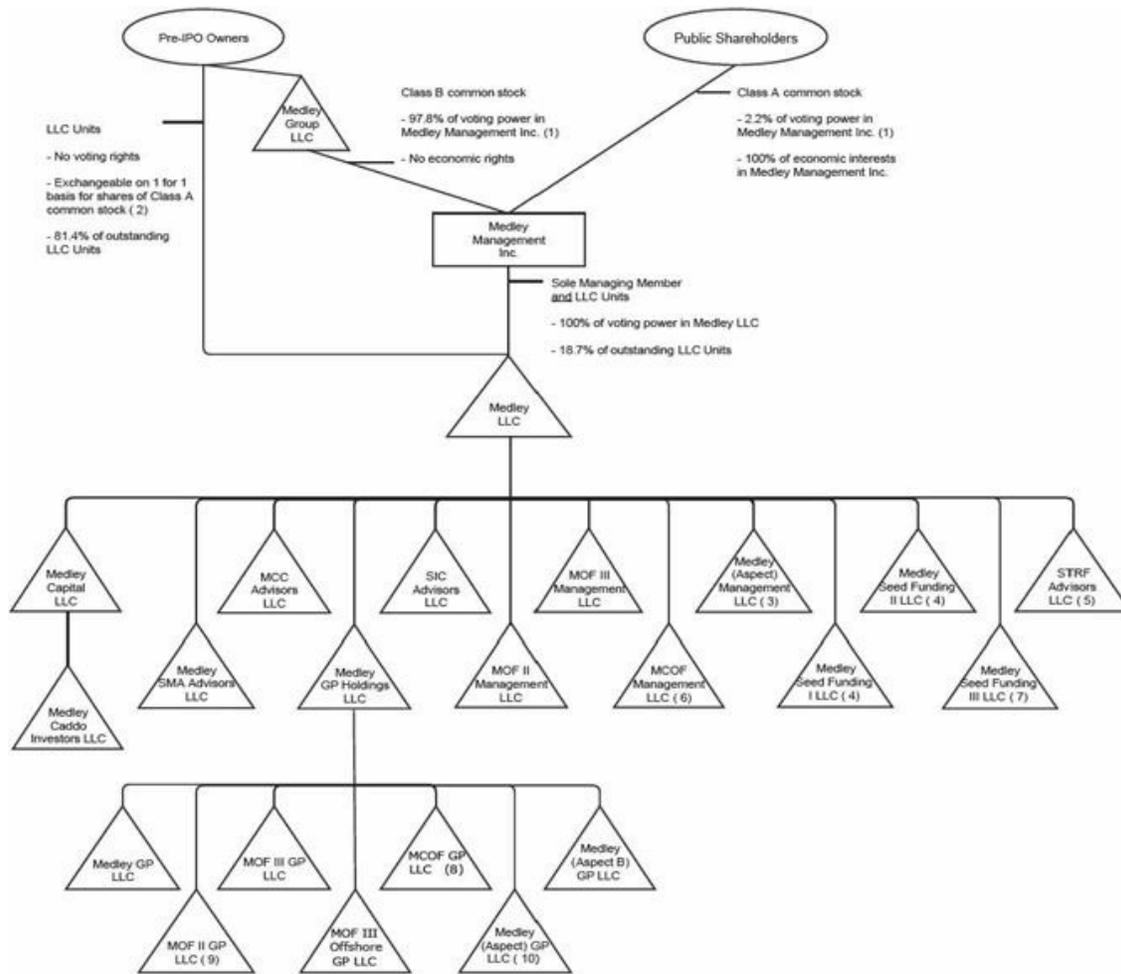

MDLY is a holding company and its sole material asset is a controlling equity interest in Medley LLC. MDLY operates and controls all of the business and affairs and consolidates the financial results of Medley LLC and its subsidiaries. MDLY and its pre-IPO owners have also entered into the Exchange Agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees) have the right (subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement), to exchange their Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock on a one-for-one basis, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications.

Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly owned by MDLY pre-IPO owners, holds all 100 issued and outstanding shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock. For so long as MDLY's pre-IPO owners and then-current Medley personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units (excluding Medley LLC Units held by MDLY), which MDLY refers to as the "Substantial Ownership Requirement," the MDLY Class B Common Stock entitles Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder. For purposes of calculating the Substantial Ownership Requirement, (1) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock deliverable to MDLY's pre-IPO owners and then-current Medley personnel pursuant to outstanding equity awards will be deemed then outstanding and (2) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units held by any estate, trust, partnership or limited liability company or other similar entity of which any pre-IPO owner or then-current Medley personnel, or any immediate family member thereof, is a trustee, partner, member or similar party will be considered held by such pre-IPO owner or other then-current Medley personnel. From and after the time that the Substantial Ownership Requirement is no longer satisfied, the MDLY Class B Common Stock will entitle Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder. At the completion of MDLY's IPO, its pre-IPO owners were comprised of all of the non-managing members of Medley LLC. However, Medley LLC may in the future admit additional non-managing members that would not constitute pre-IPO owners. If at any time the ratio at which Medley LLC Units are exchangeable for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock changes from one-for-one as set forth in the Exchange Agreement, the number of votes to which MDLY Class B Common Stockholders are entitled will be adjusted accordingly. Holders of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock will vote together with holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock as a single class on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders are entitled to vote generally, except as otherwise required by law.

Other than MDLY, the Medley LLC Unitholders, including MDLY's pre-IPO owners, are, subject to limited exceptions, prohibited from transferring any Medley LLC Units held by them upon consummation of MDLY's IPO, or any shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock received upon exchange of such Medley LLC Units, until the third anniversary of MDLY's IPO without its consent. Thereafter and prior to the fourth and fifth anniversaries of MDLY's IPO, such holders may not transfer more than 33 1/3% and 66 2/3%, respectively, of the number of Medley LLC Units held by them upon consummation of MDLY's IPO, together with the number of any shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock received by them upon exchange therefor, without MDLY's consent. While this agreement could be amended or waived by MDLY, MDLY's pre-IPO owners have advised MDLY that they do not intend to seek any waivers of these restrictions.

The diagram below depicts MDLY’s organizational structure (excluding those operating subsidiaries with no material operations or assets) as of November 6, 2018:

- (1) MDLY Class B Common Stock provides Medley Group LLC with a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC. From and after the time that the Substantial Ownership Requirement is no longer satisfied, the MDLY Class B Common Stock will provide Medley Group LLC with a number of votes that is equal to the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock.
- (2) If MDLY’s pre-IPO owners exchanged all of their vested Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, they would hold 81.4% of the outstanding shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, entitling them to an equivalent percentage of economic interests and voting power in MDLY, Medley Group LLC would hold no voting power or economic interests in MDLY and MDLY would hold 100% of outstanding Medley LLC Units and 100% of the voting power in Medley LLC.
- (3) Medley LLC holds 96.5% of the Class B economic interests in Medley (Aspect) Management LLC.
- (4) Medley LLC holds 100% of the outstanding Common Interest, and DB MED Investor I LLC holds 100% of the outstanding Preferred Interest in each of Medley Seed Funding I LLC and Medley Seed Funding II LLC.
- (5) Medley Seed Funding III LLC holds 100% of the senior preferred interest, Strategic Capital Advisory Services, LLC holds 100% of the junior preferred interest, and Medley LLC holds 100% of the common interest in STRF Advisors LLC.
- (6) Medley LLC holds 95.5% of the Class B economic interests in MCOF Management LLC.

- (7) Medley LLC holds 100% of the outstanding Common Interest, and DB MED Investor II LLC holds 100% of the outstanding Preferred Interest in Medley Seed Funding III LLC.
- (8) Medley GP Holdings LLC holds 95.5% of the Class B economic interests in MCOF GP LLC.
- (9) Certain employees, former employees and former members of Medley LLC hold approximately 40% of the limited liability company interests in MOF II GP LLC, the entity that serves as general partner of MOF II, entitling the holders to share the performance fees earned from MOF II.
- (10) Medley GP Holdings LLC holds 96.5% of the Class B economic interests in Medley (Aspect) GP LLC.

Agreement and Plan of Merger

On August 9, 2018 MDLY entered into a definitive agreement to merge with Sierra. Pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement, MDLY will merge with and into Merger Sub, and MDLY's existing asset management business will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of Sierra. Holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock will receive 0.3836 shares of Sierra Common Stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.65 per share in special cash dividends for each share of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by them. Medley LLC Unitholders will convert their Medley LLC Units into shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and will receive 0.3836 shares of Sierra Common Stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.35 per share in a special cash dividend for each share of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by them. Each share of MDLY Class B Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective date of the MDLY Merger will be canceled without consideration therefor.

Simultaneously, pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement, MCC will merge with and into Sierra, with Sierra as the surviving entity. MCC Stockholders will receive 0.805 shares of Sierra Common Stock for each share of MCC Common Stock they hold.

As a condition to closing, Sierra Common Stock will be listed to trade on the NYSE. The Mergers are cross conditioned upon each other and are subject to approval by MDLY Stockholders, MCC and Sierra, regulators, including the SEC, other customary closing conditions and third party consents. While there can be no assurances as to the exact timing, or that the Merger will be completed at all, MDLY expects the Merger to be completed as early as the first quarter of 2019.

Transaction expenses, primarily consisting of professional fees, related to the pending Merger are included in general, administrative and other expenses and were approximately $2.1 million and $3.9 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, respectively.

For additional information related to the Merger, please refer to MDLY's transaction statement on Schedule 13E-3 filed with the SEC on November 7, 2018 and the Preliminary Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus of Sierra on Form N-14 filed with the SEC on November 6, 2018.

Trends Affecting MDLY's Business

MDLY's results of operations, including the fair value of its AUM, are affected by a variety of factors, including conditions in the global financial markets as well as economic and political environments, particularly in the U.S.

During the nine months ended September 30, 2018, the domestic economy exhibited continued growth, and key financial market indicators generated positive readings. Coincident with improving economic growth, LIBOR rates have increased, while credit spreads have tightened. Across the lending spectrum, year over year loan issuance has increased, driven by several factors, including robust merger and acquisition activity, as well as significant refinance activity. MDLY's platform provides it the ability to lend across the capital structure and at varying interest rates providing the firm access to a larger borrower subset over time.

In addition to these macroeconomic trends and market factors, MDLY's future performance is dependent on its ability to attract new capital. MDLY believes the following factors will influence its future performance:

- The extent to which investors favor directly originated private credit investments. MDLY's ability to attract additional capital is dependent on investors' views of directly originated private credit investments relative to traditional assets. MDLY believes fundraising efforts will continue to be impacted by certain fundamental asset management trends that include: (i) the increasing importance of directly originated private credit investment strategies for institutional investors; (ii) increasing demand for directly originated private credit investments from retail investors; (iii) recognition by the consultant channel, which serves endowment and pension fund investors, that directly originated private credit is an important component of asset allocation; (iv) increasing demand from insurance companies seeking alternatives to investing in the liquid credit markets; and (v) de-leveraging of the global banking system, bank consolidation and increased bank regulatory requirements.
- MDLY's ability to generate strong, stable returns and retain investor capital throughout market cycles. The capital MDLY is able to attract and retain drives the growth of its AUM, fee earning AUM and management fees. MDLY believes it is well positioned to invest through market cycles given its AUM is in either permanent capital vehicles or long-dated private funds and SMAs.
- MDLY's ability to source investments with attractive risk-adjusted returns. MDLY's ability to grow its revenue is dependent on its continued ability to source attractive investments and deploy the capital that it has raised. MDLY believes that the current economic environment provides attractive investment opportunities. MDLY's ability to identify attractive investments and execute on those investments is dependent on a number of factors, including the general macroeconomic environment, valuation, size and the liquidity of these investment opportunities. A significant decrease in the quality or quantity of investment opportunities in the directly originated private credit market, a substantial increase in corporate default rates, an increase in competition from new entrants providing capital to the private debt market and a decrease in recovery rates of directly originated private credit could adversely affect MDLY's ability to source investments with attractive risk-adjusted returns.
- The attractiveness of MDLY's product offering to investors. MDLY believes defined contribution plans, retail investors, public institutional investors, pension funds, endowments, sovereign wealth funds and insurance companies are increasing exposure to directly originated private credit investment products to seek differentiated returns and current yield. MDLY's permanent capital vehicles and long-dated private funds and SMAs benefit from this demand by offering institutional and retail investors the ability to invest in MDLY's private credit investment strategy. MDLY believes that the breadth, diversity and number of investment vehicles it offers allows it to maximize its reach with investors.
- The strength of MDLY's investment process, operating platform and client servicing capabilities. Following the most recent financial crisis, investors in alternative investments, including those managed by MDLY, have heightened their focus on matters such as manager due diligence, reporting transparency and compliance infrastructure. Since inception, MDLY has invested heavily in its investment monitoring systems, compliance and enterprise risk management systems to proactively address investor expectations and the evolving regulatory landscape. MDLY believes these investments in operating infrastructure will continue to support its growth in AUM.

Components of MDLY's Results of Operations

Revenues

Management Fees. Management fees include both base management fees as well as Part I incentive fees.

- Base Management Fees. Base management fees are generally based on a defined percentage of (i) average or total gross assets, including assets acquired with leverage, (ii) total commitments, (iii) net invested capital, (iv) NAV or (v) lower of cost or market value of a fund's portfolio investments. These fees are calculated quarterly and are paid in cash in advance or in arrears. Base management fees are recognized as revenue in the period advisory services are rendered, subject to MDLY's assessment of collectability.

In addition, MDLY also receives non asset-based management fees that may include special fees such as origination fees, transaction fees and similar fees paid to MDLY in connection with portfolio investments of its funds. These fees are specific to particular transactions and the contractual terms of the portfolio investments, and are recognized when earned.

- Part I Incentive Fees. MDLY also includes Part I incentive fees that it receives from its permanent capital vehicles and certain of MDLY's long-dated private funds in management fees. Part I incentive fees are paid quarterly, in cash, and are driven primarily by net interest income on senior secured loans. As it relates to MCC, these fees are subject to netting against realized and unrealized losses. MDLY is primarily an asset manager of yield-oriented products and its incentive fees are primarily derived from spread income rather than trading or capital gains. In addition, MDLY also carefully manages interest rate risk. MDLY is generally positioned to benefit from a raising rate environment, which should benefit fees paid to MDLY from its vehicles and funds.

Performance Fees. Performance fees are contractual fees which do not represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager that are earned based on the performance of certain funds, typically MDLY's separately managed accounts. Performance fees are earned based on the fund performance during the period, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's investment management agreement.

Prior to the adoption of the new revenue recognition standard on January 1, 2018, MDLY accounted for contractual based performance fees under Method 2 of ASC 605, Revenue Recognition, for revenue based on a formula. Under this method, performance fees for any period were based upon an assumed liquidation of the underlying fund's net assets on the reporting date and were subject to reversal to the extent that cumulative previously recognized performance fees exceeded the amount due to the general partner or investment manager based on a fund's cumulative investment returns. Effective January 1, 2018, MDLY accounted for such performance fees in accordance with ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, and will only recognize contractual based performance fees when it is probable that a significant reversal of such fees will not occur in the future.

The timing and amount of performance fees generated by MDLY's funds is uncertain. If MDLY is to have a realization event in a particular quarter or year, it may have a significant impact on MDLY's results for that particular quarter or year that may not be replicated in subsequent periods. Refer to "Risk Factors — Risks Related to MDLY's Business and Industry" included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

- Part II Incentive Fees. For MDLY's permanent capital vehicles and certain of its long-dated private funds, Part II incentive fees generally represent 20.0% of each fund's cumulative realized capital gains (net of realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation). MDLY has not received these fees historically, and do not expect such fees to be material in the future given MDLY's focus on senior secured lending.

Other Revenues and Fees. MDLY provides administrative services to certain of its vehicles that are reported as other revenues and fees. Such fees are recognized as revenue in the period that administrative services are rendered. These fees are generally based on expense reimbursements for the portion of overhead and other expenses incurred by certain professionals directly attributable to each respective fund. MDLY also acts as the administrative agent on certain deals for which MDLY may earn loan administration fees and transaction fees. Additionally, this line item includes reimbursable origination and deal expenses as well as reimbursable entity formation and organizational expenses.

Carried Interest. Carried interest are performance based fees that represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager. Carried interest is allocated to MDLY based on cumulative fund performance to date, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's governing documents.

Prior to January 1, 2018, MDLY accounted for carried interest under Method 2 of ASC 605, as previously described above. Upon adoption of the new revenue recognition standard, MDLY reassessed its accounting policy for carried interest, and determined that carried interest is within the scope of the accounting for equity method investments, and, as such, is not within the scope of the new revenue recognition guidance. Under the equity method of accounting, MDLY will record carried interest in a consistent manner as it historically had which is based upon an assumed liquidation of that fund's net assets as of the reporting date, regardless of whether such amounts have been realized. For any given period, carried interest on MDLY's condensed consolidated statements of operations may include reversals of previously recognized carried interest due to a decrease in the value of a particular fund that results in a decrease of cumulative carried interest earned to date. Since fund return hurdles are cumulative, previously recognized fees also may be reversed in a period of appreciation that is lower than the particular fund's hurdle rate.

Carried interest received in prior periods may be required to be returned by MDLY in future periods if the funds' investment performance declines below certain levels. Each fund is considered separately in this regard and, for a given fund, carried interest can never be negative over the life of a fund. If upon a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values, previously recognized and distributed carried interest would be required to be returned, a liability is established for the potential clawback obligation. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY has not received any carried interest distributions, except for tax distributions related to its allocation of net income, which included an allocation of carried interest. Pursuant to the organizational documents of each respective fund, a portion of these tax distributions may be subject to clawback. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY has accrued $7.2 million for clawback obligations that would need to be paid if the funds were liquidated at fair value as of the end of the reporting period. MDLY's actual obligation, however, would not become payable or realized until the end of a fund's life.

Other Investment Income. Other investment income is comprised of unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value of MDLY equity method investments in addition to the income/expense allocations from such investments.

In certain cases, the entities that receive management and incentive fees from MDLY's funds are owned by Medley LLC together with other persons. See "Critical Accounting Policies" and Note 2, "Summary of Significant Accounting Policies," to MDLY's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus for additional information regarding the manner in which management fees, performance fees, investment income and other fees are generated.

Expenses

Compensation and Benefits. Compensation and benefits consists primarily of salaries, discretionary bonuses and benefits paid and payable to MDLY's employees and stock-based compensation associated with the grants of equity-based awards to MDLY's employees. Compensation expense relating to equity based awards are measured at fair value as of the grant date, reduced for actual forfeitures when they occur, and expensed over the vesting period on a straight-line basis. Bonuses are accrued over the service period to which they relate.

Guaranteed payments made to MDLY's senior professionals who are members of Medley LLC are recognized as compensation expense. The guaranteed payments to MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officers are performance based and periodically set subject to maximums based on MDLY's total assets under management. Such maximums aggregated to $0.6 million for each of the MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officers for the three months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017 and $1.9 million for the nine months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017. During the three and nine months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017, neither of MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officers received any guaranteed payments.

Performance Fee Compensation. Performance fee compensation includes compensation related to performance fees and carried interest, which generally consists of profit interests that MDLY grants to certain of its employees. Depending on the nature of each fund, the performance fee participation is generally structured as a fixed percentage or as an annual award. The liability is recorded subject to the vesting of the profit interests granted and is calculated based upon the net present value of the projected performance fees or carried interest to be received. Payments to profit interest holders are payable when the performance fees or carried interest are paid to Medley LLC by the respective fund. It is possible that MDLY may record performance fee compensation during a period in which MDLY does not record any performance fee related revenue or MDLY has a reversal of previously recognized performance fee related revenue.

General, Administrative and Other Expenses. General and administrative expenses include costs primarily related to professional services, office rent, depreciation and amortization, general insurance, recruiting, travel and related expenses, information technology, communication and information services and other general operating items.

Other Income (Expense)

Dividend Income. Dividend income consists of dividends associated with MDLY's investments in Sierra and MCC. Dividends are recognized on an accrual basis to the extent that such amounts are declared and expected to be collected.

Interest Expense. Interest expense consists primarily of interest expense relating to debt incurred by MDLY.

Other Income (Expenses), Net. Other income (expenses), net consists primarily of expenses associated with MDLY's revenue share payable and unrealized gains (losses) from MDLY's investment in MCC.

Provision for Income Taxes. MDLY is subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes on its allocable portion of taxable income from Medley LLC at prevailing corporate tax rates. Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are not subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes since all of its income or losses are passed through to its members. However, Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are subject to New York City's unincorporated business tax on its taxable income allocated to New York City. MDLY's effective income tax rate is dependent on many factors, including the impact of nondeductible items, the need for or changes in the valuation allowance on deferred tax assets, and a rate benefit attributable to the fact that a portion of MDLY's earnings are not subject to corporate level taxes.

Deferred tax assets and liabilities are recognized for the future tax consequences attributable to differences between the financial statements carrying amounts of existing assets and liabilities and their respective tax basis. Deferred tax assets and liabilities are measured using enacted tax rates expected to apply to taxable income in the years in which those temporary differences are expected to be recovered or settled. To the extent it is more likely than not that the deferred tax assets will not be recognized, a valuation allowance is provided to offset their benefit.

MDLY recognizes the benefit of an income tax position only if it is more likely than not that the tax position will be sustained upon tax examination, based solely on the technical merits of the tax position. Otherwise, no benefit is recognized. The tax benefits recognized are measured based on the largest benefit that has a greater than 50% percent likelihood of being realized upon ultimate settlement. Interest expense and penalties related to income tax matters are recognized as a component of the provision for income taxes.

On December 22, 2017, the U.S. government enacted the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "Tax Act"). The Tax Act includes significant changes to the U.S. corporate income tax system including: a federal corporate rate reduction from 34% to 21%; limitations on the deductibility of interest expense and executive compensation; and the transition of U.S. international taxation from a worldwide tax system to a modified territorial tax system. Changes under the Tax Act were effective for MDLY as of January 1, 2018.

Net (Loss) Income Attributable to Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests and Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries. Net income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests and non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries represents the ownership interests that third parties hold in certain consolidated subsidiaries.

Net (Loss) Income Attributable to Non-Controlling Interests in Medley LLC. Net income attributable to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC represents the ownership interests that non-managing members' hold in Medley LLC.

MDLY's private funds are closed-end funds, and accordingly do not permit investors to redeem their interests other than in limited circumstances that are beyond MDLY's control, such as instances in which retaining the limited partnership interest could cause the limited partner to violate a law, regulation or rule. In addition, SMAs for a single investor may allow such investor to terminate the investment management agreement at the discretion of the investor pursuant to the terms of the applicable documents. MDLY manages assets for MCC and Sierra, both of which are BDCs. The capital managed by MCC and Sierra is permanently committed to these funds and cannot be redeemed by investors.

Managing Business Performance

Non-GAAP Financial Information

In addition to analyzing MDLY's results on a GAAP basis, management also makes operating decisions and assesses business performance based on the financial and operating metrics and data that are presented without the consolidation of any fund(s). Core Net Income, Core EBITDA, Core Net Income Per Share and Core Net Income Margin are non-GAAP financial measures that are used by management to assess the performance of MDLY's business. There are limitations associated with the use of non-GAAP financial measures as compared to the use of the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP financial measure and these measures supplement and should be considered in addition to and not in lieu of the results of operations discussed further under "Results of Operations," which are prepared in accordance with GAAP. Furthermore, such measures may be inconsistent with measures presented by other companies. For a reconciliation of these measures to the most comparable measure in accordance with U.S. GAAP, see "Reconciliation of Certain Non-GAAP Performance Measures to Consolidated U.S. GAAP Financial Measures."

Core Net Income. Core Net Income is an income measure that is used by management to assess the performance of MDLY's business through the removal of non-core items, as well as non-recurring expenses associated with MDLY's IPO. It is calculated by adjusting net income attributable to MDLY and net income attributable to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC to exclude reimbursable expenses associated with the launch of funds, amortization of stock-based compensation expense associated with grants of Medley LLC Restricted Units at the time of MDLY's IPO, other non-core items and the income tax impact of these adjustments.

Core Earnings Before Interest, Income Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization (Core EBITDA). Core EBITDA is an income measure also used by management to assess the performance of MDLY's business. Core EBITDA is calculated as Core Net Income before interest expense, income taxes, depreciation and amortization.

Pro-Forma Weighted Average Shares Outstanding. The calculation of Pro-Forma Weighted Average Shares Outstanding assumes the conversion by the pre-IPO holders of up to 24,639,302 vested and unvested Medley LLC Units for 24,639,302 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock at the beginning of each period presented.

Core Net Income Per Share. Core Net Income Per Share is Core Net Income adjusted for corporate income taxes assuming that all of MDLY's pre-tax earnings are subject to federal, state and local corporate income taxes, divided by Pro-Forma Weighted Average Shares Outstanding (as defined above). In determining corporate income taxes MDLY used an annual effective corporate tax rate of 43.0% for 2017 and 33.0% for 2018. Please refer to the calculation of Core Net Income Per Share in "Reconciliation of Certain Non-GAAP Performance Measures to Consolidated U.S. GAAP Financial Measures."

Core Net Income Margin. Core Net Income Margin equals Core Net Income Per Share divided by total revenue per share.

(1) Net Income (Loss) Margin equals Net income attributable to MDLY and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC divided by total revenue.

AUM

AUM refers to the assets of MDLY's funds. MDLY views AUM as a metric to measure its investment and fundraising performance as it reflects assets generally at fair value plus available uncalled capital. For MDLY's funds, its AUM equals the sum of the following:

- Gross asset values or NAV of such funds;
- the drawn and undrawn debt (at the fund-level, including amounts subject to restrictions); and
- uncalled committed capital (including commitments to funds that have yet to commence their investment periods).

The table below provides the roll forward of AUM for the three months ending September 30, 2018.

- (1) With respect to permanent capital vehicles, represents decreases during the period through debt repayments offset, in part, by equity offerings. With respect to long-dated private funds and SMAs, represents new commitments or gross inflows, respectively, as well as any increases in available undrawn borrowings.
- (2) With respect to permanent capital vehicles, represents distributions of income. With respect to long-dated private funds and SMAs, represents return of capital, given MDLY's funds' stage in their respective life cycle and the prioritization of capital distributions.
- (3) Includes interest income, realized and unrealized gains (losses), fees and/or expenses.

AUM was $4.8 billion as of September 30, 2018 compared to $5.0 billion of AUM as of June 30, 2018. MDLY's permanent capital vehicles decreased by $217.0 million as of September 30, 2018, primarily due to the reduction in committed debt as a result of the termination of MCC's revolver commitment with ING. MDLY's long-dated private funds and SMAs decreased AUM by $23.0 million.

The table below provides the roll forward of AUM for the nine months ending September 30, 2018.

	Permanent Capital Vehicles	Long-dated Private Funds and SMAs	Total	% of AUM
				Permanent Capital Vehicles	Long-dated Private Funds and SMAs

- (3) Includes interest income, realized and unrealized gains (losses), fees and/or expenses.

AUM was $4.8 billion as of September 30, 2018 compared to $5.2 billion of AUM as of December 31, 2017. MDLY's permanent capital vehicles decreased by $362.0 million as of September 30, 2018, primarily due to the termination of MCC's revolver commitment with ING. MDLY's long-dated private funds and SMAs decreased AUM by $40.0 million.

Fee Earning AUM

Fee earning AUM refers to assets under management on which MDLY directly earns base management fees. MDLY views fee earning AUM as a metric to measure changes in the assets from which MDLY earns management fees. MDLY's fee earning AUM is the sum of all the individual fee earning assets of MDLY's funds that contribute directly to MDLY's management fees and generally equals the sum of:

- for MDLY's permanent capital vehicles, the average or total gross asset value, including assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage (see "Fee earning AUM based on gross asset value" in the "Components of Fee Earning AUM" table below for the amount of this component of fee earning AUM as of each period);
- for certain funds within the investment period in the long-dated private funds, the amount of limited partner capital commitments (see "Fee earning AUM based on capital commitments" in the "Components of Fee Earning AUM" table below for the amount of this component of fee earning AUM as of each period); and

- for the aforementioned funds beyond the investment period and certain managed accounts within their investment period, the amount of limited partner invested capital or the NAV of the fund (see “Fee earning AUM based on invested capital or NAV” in the “Components of Fee Earning AUM” table below for the amount of this component of fee earning AUM as of each period).

MDLY’s calculations of fee earning AUM and AUM may differ from the calculations of other asset managers and, as a result, this measure may not be comparable to similar measures presented by others. In addition, MDLY’s calculations of fee earning AUM and AUM may not be based on any definition of fee earning AUM or AUM that is set forth in the agreements governing the investment funds that MDLY advises.

Components of Fee Earning AUM

	As of
	September 30, 2018	December 31, 2017
	(Amounts in millions)
Fee earning AUM based on gross asset value	$ 1,814	$ 2,090
Fee earning AUM based on capital commitments	20	126
Fee earning AUM based on invested capital or NAV	1,057	942
Total fee earning AUM	$ 2,891	$ 3,158

As of September 30, 2018, fee earning AUM based on gross asset value decreased by $276.0 million, compared to December 31, 2017. The decrease in fee earning AUM based on gross asset value was primarily due to a decrease in the gross asset fair values and a decrease in leverage in the permanent capital vehicles.

As of September 30, 2018, fee earning AUM based on capital commitments decreased $106.0 million, compared to December 31, 2017. The decrease in fee earning AUM based on capital commitments was due to one of MDLY’s long-dated funds, whose fee earning AUM was based on its capital commitments during its investment period, exiting its investment period.

As of September 30, 2018, fee earning AUM based on invested capital or NAV increased by $115.0 million, compared to December 31, 2017. The increase in fee earning AUM based on invested capital or NAV was due to one of MDLY’s long-dated funds, whose fee earning AUM was previously based on its capital commitments during its investment period, is now based on invested capital.

The table below presents the roll forward of fee earning AUM for the three months ended September 30, 2018.

	Permanent Capital Vehicles	Long-dated Private Funds and SMAs	Total	% of Fee Earning AUM
				Permanent Capital Vehicles	Long-dated Private Funds and SMAs

Ending Balance, September 30, 2018	$ 1,814	$ 1,077	$ 2,891	63%	37%

(1) With respect to permanent capital vehicles, represents increases or temporary reductions during the period through equity and debt offerings, as well as any increases in capital commitments. With respect to long-dated private funds and SMAs, represents new commitments or gross inflows, respectively.

(2) Represents distributions of income, return of capital and return of portfolio investment capital to the fund.

(3) Includes interest income, realized and unrealized gains (losses), fees and/or expenses.

Total fee earning AUM decreased by $69.0 million, or 2%, to $2.9 billion as of September 30, 2018 compared to June 30, 2018, primarily due to changes in fund value.

(3) Includes interest income, realized and unrealized gains (losses), fees and/or expenses.

Total fee earning AUM decreased by $267.0 million, or 8%, to $2.9 billion as of September 30, 2018 compared to December 31, 2017, primarily due to changes in fund value and distributions.

Returns

The following section sets forth historical performance for MDLY's active funds.

Sierra Income Corporation (Sierra)

MDLY launched Sierra, MDLY's first public non-traded permanent capital vehicle, in April 2012. Sierra primarily focuses on direct lending to middle market borrowers in the U.S. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 391 investments and have invested a total of $2.3 billion. As of September 30, 2018, the fee earning AUM was $1.1 billion. The performance for Sierra as of September 30, 2018 is summarized below:

Annualized Net Total Return ⁽¹⁾ :	4.7%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	1.4%
Average Recovery ⁽³⁾ :	61.7%

Medley Capital Corporation (MCC)

MDLY launched MCC, MDLY's first permanent capital vehicle in January 2011. MCC primarily focuses on direct lending to private middle market borrowers in the U.S. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 230 investments and has invested a total of $2.2 billion. As of September 30, 2018, excluding the SBIC Subsidiary, the fee earning AUM was $530 million. The performance for MCC as of September 30, 2018 is summarized below:

Annualized Net Total Return ⁽²⁾ :	1.6%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	2.8%
Average Recovery ⁽³⁾ :	41.2%

Medley SBIC LP (the SBIC Subsidiary)

MDLY launched the SBIC Subsidiary in March 2013 as a wholly owned subsidiary of MCC. The SBIC Subsidiary lends to smaller middle market private borrowers that MDLY otherwise would not target in its other funds, primarily due to size. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 49 investments and have invested a total of $472 million. As of September 30, 2018, the fee earning AUM was $212 million. The performance for the SBIC Subsidiary fund as of September 30, 2018 is summarized below:

Gross Portfolio Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁴⁾ :	10.0%
Net Investor Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁵⁾ :	5.6%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	1.8%
Average Recovery:	26.3%

Medley Opportunity Fund II LP (MOF II)

MOF II is a long-dated private investment fund that MDLY launched in December 2010. MOF II lends to middle market private borrowers, with a focus on providing senior secured loans. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 86 investments and have invested a total of $963 million. As of September 30, 2018, the fee earning AUM was $225 million. MOF II is currently fully invested and actively managing its assets. The performance for MOF II as of September 30, 2018, is summarized below:

Gross Portfolio Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁴⁾ :	8.3%
Net Investor Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁶⁾ :	4.1%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	2.4%
Average Recovery ⁽³⁾ :	36.7%

Medley Opportunity Fund III LP (MOF III)

MOF III is a long-dated private investment fund that MDLY launched in December 2014. MOF III lends to middle market private borrowers in the U.S., with a focus on providing senior secured loans. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 45 investments and have invested a total of $203 million. As of September 30, 2018, the fee earning AUM was $114 million. The performance for MOF III as of September 30, 2018 is summarized below:

Gross Portfolio Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁴⁾ :	10.5%
Net Investor Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁶⁾ :	5.8%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	—%
Average Recovery:	N/A

Other Long-Dated Private Funds and Permanent Capital Vehicles

MDLY launched Sierra Total Return Fund (“STRF”), a public non-traded permanent capital vehicle, in June 2017. STRF seeks to provide a total return through a combination of current income and long-term capital appreciation by investing in a portfolio of debt securities and fixed-income related equity securities.

MDLY launched Medley Opportunity Fund Offshore III LP (“MOF III Offshore”) in May 2017. MOF III Offshore invests in senior secured loans made to middle market private borrowers in the US.

MDLY launched Aspect-Medley Investment Platform A LP (“Aspect”) in November 2016 and Aspect-Medley Investment Platform B LP (“Aspect-B”) in May 2018 to meet the current demand for equity capital solutions in the traditional corporate debt-backed collateralized loan obligation (“CLO”) market. Its investment objective is to generate current income, and also to generate capital appreciation through investing in CLO equity, as well as, equity and junior debt tranches trading in the secondary market.

MDLY launched Medley Credit Opportunity Fund (“MCOF”) in July 2016 to meet the current demand for equity capital solutions in the traditional corporate debt-backed CLO market. Its investment objective is to generate current income, and also to generate capital appreciation through investing in CLO equity, as well as, equity and junior debt tranches trading in the secondary market.

The performance of STRF, MOF III Offshore, Aspect, and MCOF as of September 30, 2018 is not meaningful given the funds' limited operations and capital invested to date.

Separately Managed Accounts (SMAs)

In the case of MDLY's separately managed accounts, the investor, rather than MDLY, may control the assets or investment vehicle that holds or has custody of the related investments. Certain subsidiaries of Medley LLC serve as the investment adviser for MDLY's SMAs. Since inception, MDLY has provided capital for a total of 211 investments and has invested a total of $1.2 billion. As of September 30, 2018, the fee earning AUM in MDLY's SMAs was $614 million. The aggregate performance of MDLY's SMAs as of September 30, 2018, is summarized below:

Gross Portfolio Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁴⁾ :	7.6%
Net Investor Internal Rate of Return ⁽⁷⁾ :	6.2%
Annualized Realized Losses on Invested Capital:	1.9%
Average Recovery ⁽³⁾ :	34.4%

- (1) Annualized Net Total Return for Sierra represents the annualized return assuming an investment at the initial public offering price, reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan and selling at the NAV as of the measurement date.
- (2) Annual Net Total Return for MCC, including the SBIC Subsidiary, represents the annualized return assuming an investment at the initial public offering price, reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan and selling at NAV as of the measurement date.
- (3) Average Recovery includes only those realized investments in which MDLY experiences a loss of principal on a cumulative cash flow basis and is calculated by dividing the total actual cash inflows for each respective investment, including all interest, principal and fee note repayments, dividends and transactions fees, if applicable, by the total actual cash outflows for each respective investment.
- (4) For the SBIC Subsidiary, MOF II, MOF III, and SMAs, the Gross Internal Rate of Return represents the cumulative investment performance from inception of each respective fund through September 30, 2018. The Gross Internal Rate of Return includes both realized and unrealized investments and excludes the impact of base management fees, incentive fees and other fund related expenses. For realized investments, the investment returns were calculated based on the actual cash outflows and inflows for each respective investment and include all interest, principal and fee note repayments, dividends and transactions fees, if applicable. For unrealized investments, the investment returns were calculated based on the actual cash outflows and inflows for each respective investment and include all interest, principal and fee note repayments, dividends and transactions fees, if applicable. The investment return assumes that the remaining unrealized portion of the investment is realized at the investment's most recent fair value, as calculated in accordance with GAAP. There can be no assurance that the investments will be realized at these fair values and actual results may differ significantly.
- (5) Earnings from the SBIC Subsidiary are paid to MCC. The Net Internal Rate of Return for the SBIC Subsidiary was calculated based upon i) the actual cash contribution and distributions to/from MCC and the SBIC Subsidiary ii) an allocable portion of MCC's management and incentive fees and general fund related expenses and iii) assumes the NAV as of the measurement date is distributed to MCC. As of September 30, 2018, the SBIC Subsidiary Net Internal Rate of Return as described above assuming only the inclusion of management fees was 13.6%.
- (6) Net Internal Rate of Return for MOF II and MOF III was calculated net of all management fees and carried interest allocation since inception and was computed based on the actual dates of capital contributions and the ending aggregate partners' capital at the end of the period.
- (7) Net Internal Rate of Return for MDLY's SMAs was calculated using the Gross Internal Rate of Return, as described in note 4, and includes the actual management fees, incentive fees and general fund related expenses.

Results of Operations

The following table and discussion sets forth information regarding MDLY's condensed consolidated results of operations for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017. The unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements of MDLY have been prepared on substantially the same basis for all historical periods presented.

MDLY's ratio of earnings to fixed charges for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2017 and 2018 and the nine months ended September 30, 2018 is as follows:

(1) During the nine months ended September 30, 2018, MDLY incurred $2.3 million in severance costs relating to the consolidation of our business activities to its New York Office, $3.9 million in strategic initiatives expenses, including expenses related to the MDLY Merger, and $10.8 million of unrealized losses on shares held of MCC.

Three Months Ended September 30, 2018 Compared to Three Months Ended September 30, 2017

Management Fees. Total management fees decreased by $2.5 million, or 17%, to $12.3 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the three months ended September 30, 2017.

- MDLY's management fees from permanent capital vehicles decreased by $2.5 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to lower base management fees from both Sierra and MCC as a result of a decrease in fee earning assets under management.
- MDLY's management fees from long-dated private funds and SMAs were relatively consistent during the three months ended September 30, 2018, compared to the same period in 2017.

Performance Fees. MDLY did not recognize any performance fees during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to a reversal of performance fees of $0.2 million during the same period 2017. As a result of the adoption of the new revenue recognition standard on January 1, 2018, MDLY did not recognize any performance fees in 2018 as MDLY determined that it was not probable that a significant reversal of such fees would not occur in the future.

Other Revenues and Fees. Other revenues and fees increased by $0.8 million to $2.8 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to reimbursable origination and deal related expenses which were recognized in 2018 as a result of the adoption of the new revenue recognition standard on January 1, 2018. Depending on whether MDLY is acting as the principal or as an agent, certain reimbursable expenses that were previously recorded net are now presented on a gross basis on MDLY's condensed consolidated statements of operations (See Note 2 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements).

Investment Income. Investment income decreased by approximately $0.6 million to a loss of $0.7 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to lower carried interest from MDLY's private long dated funds and unrealized losses from its equity method investments.

Expenses

Compensation and Benefits. Compensation and benefits expenses of $6.3 million for the three months ended September 30, 2018 remained relatively consistent with the comparative period in 2017.

Performance Fee Compensation. Performance fee compensation remained relatively consistent and was less than $0.1 million during each of the three months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

General, Administrative and Other Expenses. General, administrative and other expenses increased by $2.7 million to $6.2 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to a $2.9 million increase in professional fees. The increase in professional fees was primarily attributed to fees incurred in connection with the MDLY Merger.

Other Income (Expense)

Dividend Income. Dividend income decreased by $0.5 million to $1.0 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to a reduction in dividend income from MDLY's investment in shares of MCC.

Interest Expense. Interest expense remained consistent at $2.7 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017.

Other Income (Expenses), net. Other income (expenses), net increased by $2.9 million to $2.7 million during the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was due primarily to $2.7 million of unrealized gains relating to one of MDLY's investments. The $2.7 million of unrealized gains were allocated to non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries which did not have any impact on the income attributed to MDLY and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC.

Provision for Income Taxes

MDLY's effective income tax rate was 15.7% and 12.5% for the three months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. MDLY's tax rate is affected by recurring items, such as permanent differences and income allocated to certain redeemable non-controlling interests which is not subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes. MDLY's effective tax rate is also impacted by discrete items that may occur in any given period, but are not consistent from period to period. The increase in MDLY's effective tax rate is attributed primarily to losses allocated to redeemable non-controlling interests that are not subject to income taxes which result in no tax benefit being recorded in MDLY's provision and a return to provision true up of the 2017 income tax provision, offset in part by the reduction in the federal corporate tax rate from 34% to 21%, effective January 1, 2018, as a result of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act.

Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests and Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries

Net income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests and non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries increased by $1.9 million to $3.9 million for the three months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to the allocation of an unrealized gain on shares of MCC to DB MED Investor I LLC, a third party, based on its preferred ownership interests held in one of MDLY's consolidated subsidiaries.

Nine Months Ended September 30, 2018 Compared to the Nine Months Ended September 30, 2017

Management Fees. Total management fees decreased by $5.5 million, or 13%, to $36.4 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the nine months ended September 30, 2017.

- MDLY's management fees from permanent capital vehicles decreased by $5.9 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to lower base management fees from both Sierra and MCC as a result of a decrease in fee earning assets under management.
- MDLY's management fees from long-dated private funds and SMAs increased by $0.4 million to $11.1 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018, compared to the same period in 2017.

Performance Fees. MDLY did not recognize any performance fees during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to a reversal of $2.0 million of performance fees during the same period in 2017. As a result of the adoption of the new revenue recognition standard on January 1, 2018, MDLY did not recognize any performance fees in 2018 as MDLY determined that it was not probable that a significant reversal of such fees would not occur in the future. The reversal of previously recognized performance fees in 2017 was a result of declines in the underlying fund values of MDLY's SMAs.

Other Revenues and Fees. Other revenues and fees increased by $1.1 million to $8.1 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to reimbursable origination and deal expenses which were recognized in 2018 as a result of the adoption of the new revenue recognition standard on January 1, 2018. Depending on whether MDLY is acting as the principal or as an agent, certain reimbursable expenses that were previously recorded net are now presented on a gross basis on MDLY's condensed consolidated statement of operations (see Note 2 to the Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements).

Investment Income. Investment income decreased by $0.6 million to a loss of $0.6 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to losses from MDLY's equity method investments partially offset by higher carried interest from its private long dated funds.

Expenses

Compensation and Benefits. Compensation and benefits increased by $4.1 million, or 23% to $22.0 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to 2017. The variance was primarily due to a $1.1 million increase in severance expense associated with the consolidation of MDLY's business activities to MDLY's New York office, a $2.1 million increase in stock-based compensation and a $1.4 million increase in employee bonus expense. The increase in stock-based compensation was attributed to an increase in the number of outstanding awards and the impact of forfeitures that occurred period over period. Bonuses are at MDLY's discretion and will vary based on individual and overall performance as well the timing of new hires and employee departures during each of the comparative periods.

Performance Fee Compensation. There was a reversal in performance fee compensation of $0.1 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to a reversal of performance fee compensation of $0.8 million during 2017. The variance in performance fee compensation was primarily due to changes in projected future payments for which the performance fee compensation is based on.

General, Administrative and Other Expenses. General, administrative and other expenses increased by $6.2 million to $15.1 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to a $5.4 million increase in professional fees and a $0.4 million increase in expenses related to MDLY's consolidated fund, STRF. The increase in professional fees relates to strategic initiatives including the MDLY Merger. The increase in STRF expenses is primarily attributed to STRF commencing operations in June 2017, as a result there were nine months of operating expenses in 2018 versus four months in 2017.

Dividend Income. Dividend income increased by $0.5 million to $3.4 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The increase was primarily due to dividend income from MDLY's investment in MCC shares attributed to an increase in average shares held in 2018 compared to 2017.

Interest Expense. Interest expense decreased by $1.0 million, or 11%, to $8.1 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The higher expense in 2017 was primarily due to an acceleration of amortization of debt issuance costs and discount relating to prepayments made on MDLY's Term Loan Facility as a result of the refinancing of MDLY's indebtedness from the issuance of senior unsecured debt. In addition, MDLY's average debt outstanding during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 was $132.6 million and $126.5 million, respectively.

Other Income (Expenses), net. Other income (expenses), net decreased by $12.5 million to $(11.1) million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to a $10.9 million unrealized loss incurred during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 related to MDLY's investment in shares of MCC. Of the $10.9 million of unrealized losses, $7.3 million was allocated to non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries which did not have any impact on the net income attributed to MDLY and income attributed to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC. During 2017, any unrealized gains or losses attributed to MDLY's investment in shares of MCC were recorded in other comprehensive income and not part of other income (expense).

Provision for Income Taxes

MDLY's effective income tax rate was (9.4)% and 9.2% for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. MDLY's tax rate is affected by recurring items, such as permanent differences and income allocated to certain redeemable non-controlling interests which is not subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes. The variance in the effective tax rate during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 as compared to the same period in 2017 was primarily due to the reduction in the federal corporate tax rate from 34% to 21%, effective January 1, 2018, as a result of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act offset by the establishment of a $0.7 million valuation allowance against MDLY's deferred tax asset associated with the cumulative unrealized losses in shares of MCC and Sierra, losses allocated to redeemable non-controlling interests that are not subject to income taxes and, during the three months ended September 30, 2018, a return to provision true up of the 2017 income tax provision.

Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests and Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries

Net income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests and non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries decreased by $7.8 million to a loss of $3.1 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the same period in 2017. The decrease was primarily due to the allocation of unrealized loss in shares of MCC to DB MED Investor I LLC, a third party, based on its preferred ownership interests held in one of MDLY's consolidated subsidiaries.

Reconciliation of Certain Non-GAAP Performance Measures to Consolidated U.S. GAAP Financial Measures

In addition to analyzing MDLY's results on a GAAP basis, management also makes operating decisions and assesses business performance based on the financial and operating metrics and data that are presented in the table below. Management believes that these measures provide analysts, investors and management with helpful information regarding MDLY's underlying operating performance and MDLY's business, as they remove the impact of items management believes are not reflective of underlying operating performance. These non-GAAP measures are also used by management for planning purposes, including the preparation of internal budgets; and for evaluating the effectiveness of operational strategies. Additionally, MDLY believes these non-GAAP measures provide another tool for investors to use in comparing MDLY's results with other companies in its industry, many of whom use similar non-GAAP measures. There are limitations associated with the use of non-GAAP financial measures as compared to the use of the most directly comparable U.S. GAAP financial measure and these measures supplement and should be considered in addition to and not in lieu of the results of operations discussed below. Furthermore, such measures may be inconsistent with measures presented by other companies.

Net income attributable to MDLY and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC is the U.S. GAAP financial measure most comparable to Core Net Income and Core EBITDA.

- (1) Assumes that all of MDLY's pre-tax earnings are subject to federal, state and local corporate income taxes. In determining corporate income taxes, MDLY used a combined effective corporate tax rate of 33.0% for 2018 and 43.0% for 2017. The lower effective corporate tax rate was primarily the result of the enactment of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act which reduced the federal corporate tax rate from 34.0% to 21.0% effective January 1, 2018.

Net Income Margin is the GAAP financial measure most comparable to Core Net Income Margin. Net Income margin is equal to Net income attributable to MDLY and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC divided by total revenue. Year Ended December 31, 2017 Compared to Year Ended December 31, 2016

Management Fees. Total management fees decreased by $7.4 million, or 11%, to $58.1 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to the year ended December 31, 2016.

- MDLY's management fees from permanent capital vehicles decreased by $9.4 million during the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The decrease was due primarily to a decline in Part I incentive fees of $4.6 million from SIC and $4.9 million from MCC, offset in part, by an increase in base management fees from SIC.

- MDLY's management fees from long-dated private funds and SMAs increased by $2.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2017, compared to 2016. The increase was due primarily to an increase in base management fees from MDLY's SMAs.

Performance Fees. There was a reversal of performance fees of $2.0 million during the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to an accrual of performance fees revenue of $2.4 million in 2016. The variance was attributed primarily to reversals of previously recognized performance fees as a result of declines in the underlying fund values of MDLY's SMAs.

Other Revenues and Fees. Other revenues and fees increased by $1.1 million, or 13%, to $9.2 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The increase was due primarily to an increase in loan administrative and transaction fees as well as administrative fees from MDLY's permanent capital vehicles and other private funds.

Investment Income. Investment income decreased by approximately $0.2 million to a loss of $0.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to the same period in 2016. The decrease was due primarily to losses from MDLY's equity method investments, partially offset with higher carried interest from MDLY's private long dated funds.

Compensation and Benefits. Compensation and benefits decreased by $0.4 million, or 1% to $27.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The variance was due primarily to a decrease in stock compensation expense of $1.1 million as a result of forfeited RSUs as well as lower discretionary compensation accruals of $0.3 million, partly offset by an increase in severance charges of $1.0 million.

Performance Fee Compensation. There was a reversal in performance fee compensation of $0.9 million during the year ended December 31, 2017 as compared to a reversal of performance fee compensation of $0.3 million during 2016. The variance in performance fee compensation was due primarily to changes in projected future payments of $0.9 million.

General, Administrative and Other Expenses. General, administrative and other expenses decreased by $15.5 million to $13.0 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The decrease was due primarily to a $16.1 million decrease in expense support agreement expenses related to SIC and $0.5 million decrease in professional fees. The expense support agreement with SIC expired on December 31, 2016, as such, MDLY is no longer responsible for expenses under the expense support agreement relating to SIC. The decreases in these expenses were offset, in part, by expenses related to MDLY's consolidated fund, STRF.

Other Income (Expense)

Dividend Income. Dividend income increased by $3.0 million to $4.3 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The increase was due primarily to dividend income from MDLY's investment in available sale securities attributed to additional purchases made during 2017.

Interest Expense. Interest expense increased by $2.6 million, or 28%, to $11.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to the same period in 2016. The increase was primarily due to an acceleration of amortization of debt issuance costs and discount relating to prepayments made on MDLY's Term Loan Facility as a result of the refinancing of MDLY's indebtedness from the issuance of senior unsecured debt. In addition, MDLY's average debt outstanding during the year ended December 31, 2017 and 2016 was $127.8 million and $106.0 million, respectively.

Other Income (Expenses), net. Other income (expenses), net increased by $2.3 million to $1.4 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The increase was due primarily to the impact of revaluation of MDLY's revenue share payable.

Provision for Income Taxes

MDLY's effective income tax rate was 10.2% and 9.7% for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively. MDLY's tax rate is affected by recurring items, such as permanent differences and income allocated to certain redeemable non-controlling interests which is not subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes. The increase in the effective tax rate during the year ended December 31, 2017 as compared to 2016 was due primarily to the impact of discrete items associated with the vesting and forfeiture of RSUs as well as the re-measurement of MDLY's deferred tax asset balance as a result the enactment of the Tax Act offset, in part, by an increase in taxable income allocable to certain redeemable non-controlling interests which is not subject to corporate level income taxes.

Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests and Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries

Net income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests and non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries increased by $4.2 million to $6.7 million for the year ended December 31, 2017 compared to 2016. The increase was due primarily to an increase in dividend income earned and allocated to DB MED Investor I LLC, a third party, based on its preferred ownership interests held in one of MDLY's consolidated subsidiaries as well as income allocated to SC Distributors LLC for its interests in SIC Advisors.

Liquidity and Capital Resources

MDLY's primary cash flow activities involve: (i) generating cash flow from operations, which largely includes management fees; (ii) making distributions to MDLY's members and redeemable non-controlling interests; (iii) paying dividends and (iv) borrowings, interest payments and repayments under MDLY's debt facilities. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY had $21.5 million in cash and cash equivalents.

MDLY's material source of cash from its operations is management fees, which are collected quarterly. MDLY primarily uses cash flows from operations to pay compensation and benefits, general, administrative and other expenses, federal, state and local corporate income taxes, debt service costs and distributions to MDLY's owners. MDLY's cash flows, together with the proceeds from equity and debt issuances, are also used to fund investments in limited partnerships, purchase publicly traded securities, purchase fixed assets and other capital items. If cash flows from operations were insufficient to fund distributions, MDLY expects that it would suspend paying such distributions.

On January 18, 2017, Medley LLC completed a registered public offering of $34.5 million in aggregate principal amount of 7.25% senior notes due 2024 (the "2024 Notes"). On February 22, 2017, Medley LLC completed a registered public offering of an additional $34.5 million in aggregate principal amount of 2024 Notes. The 2024 Notes mature on January 30, 2024.

As of September 30, 2018, the outstanding senior unsecured debt balance was $117.4 million, and is reflected net of unamortized discount, premium and debt issuance costs of $5.2 million.

See Note 7, "Senior Unsecured Debt", to MDLY's condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus for additional information on the 2026 Notes and the 2024 Notes.

Revolving Credit Facility

On August 19, 2014, MDLY entered into a $15.0 million senior secured revolving credit facility with City National Bank (as amended, the "Revolving Credit Facility"), as administrative agent and collateral agent thereunder, and the lenders from time to time party thereto. On September 22, 2017 MDLY amended the Revolving Credit Facility to, among other things, extend the maturity date until March 31, 2020 and provide for an incremental facility in an amount up to $10.0 million upon the satisfaction of certain customary conditions. MDLY intends to use any proceeds of borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility for general corporate purposes, including funding its working capital needs. MDLY has not incurred any borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility through September 30, 2018.

Interest Rate and Fees

Borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility bear interest, at MDLY's option, either (i) at ABR, plus an applicable margin not to exceed 0.25 percentage points, or (ii) at an adjusted LIBOR plus an applicable margin not to exceed 2.50 percentage points. In addition to paying interest on any outstanding principal under the Revolving Credit Facility, MDLY is required to pay an unused line fee on the first day of the second month following each fiscal quarter in an amount equal to (i) if the average daily balance for the applicable fiscal quarter was less than $9.0 million, 0.50% per annum, or (ii) if the average daily balance for the applicable fiscal quarter was equal to or greater than $9.0 million, 0.25% per annum.

Guarantees and Collateral

Any obligations under the Revolving Credit Facility are unconditionally and irrevocably guaranteed by certain of Medley LLC's subsidiaries. In addition, any outstanding borrowings are collateralized by first priority or equivalent security interests in (i) all the capital stock of, or other equity interests in, the borrower and each of the borrower's and credit agreement guarantors' direct or indirect domestic subsidiaries and 65% of the capital stock of, or other equity interests in, each of the borrower's or any subsidiary guarantors' direct wholly owned first-tier restricted foreign subsidiaries, and (ii) certain tangible and intangible assets of the borrower and the credit agreement guarantors (subject to certain exceptions and qualifications).

None of MDLY's non-wholly owned domestic subsidiaries are obligated to guarantee the Revolving Credit Facility.

Certain Covenants and Events of Default

The Revolving Credit Facility contains a number of significant affirmative and negative covenants and customary events of default. Such covenants, among other things, will limit or restrict, subject to certain exceptions, the ability of the borrower and its restricted subsidiaries to:

- incur additional indebtedness, make guarantees and enter into hedging arrangements;
- create liens on assets;
- enter into sale and leaseback transactions;
- engage in mergers or consolidations;
- make fundamental changes;
- pay dividends and distributions or repurchase MDLY's capital stock;
- make investments, loans and advances, including acquisitions;
- engage in certain transactions with affiliates;
- make changes in the nature of their business; and
- make prepayments of junior debt.

In addition, the credit agreement governing the Revolving Credit Facility contains financial covenants that requires MDLY to maintain a Maximum Net Leverage Ratio of not greater than 5.0 to 1.0, a Total Leverage Ratio of not greater than 7.0 to 1.0, and Core EBITDA of not less than $15.0 million. These ratios are calculated on a trailing twelve months basis and are calculated using MDLY's standalone financial results and include adjustments to calculate Core EBITDA. In September 2018, MDLY requested and received a waiver from City National Bank that permits MDLY to exclude the Maximum Net Leverage Ratio with respect to the fiscal periods ending on each of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2018.

The Revolving Credit Facility contains certain customary representations and warranties, affirmative covenants and events of default. If an event of default occurs, the lender under the Revolving Credit Facility will be entitled to take various actions, including the acceleration of any amounts due under the Revolving Credit Facility and all actions permitted to be taken by a secured creditor.

Non-Recourse Promissory Notes

In April 2012, MDLY borrowed $5.0 million under a non-recourse promissory note with a foundation, and $5.0 million under a non-recourse promissory note with a trust. These notes are scheduled to mature in March 2019.

See Note 8 “Loans Payable” to MDLY’s condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus for additional information regarding the promissory notes.

Cash Flows

The significant captions and amounts from MDLY’s consolidated statements of cash flows are summarized below. Negative amounts represent a net outflow, or use of cash.

	For the Nine Months Ended September 30,
	2018	2017
	(Amounts in thousands)
Statements of cash flows data
Net cash provided by operating activities	$ 12,238	$ 6,600
Net cash used in investing activities	(1,591)	(35,224)
Net cash (used in) provided by financing activities	(25,459)	14,542
Net decrease in cash and cash equivalents	$ (14,812)	$ (14,082)

Operating Activities

MDLY’s net cash flow provided by operating activities was $12.2 million and $6.6 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. During the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, net cash flow provided by operating activities was attributed to net (loss) income of $(9.7) million and $14.7 million, respectively, non-cash adjustments of $15.1 million and $5.8 million, respectively, and changes in operating assets and liabilities of $6.8 million and $(13.9) million, respectively.

Investing Activities

MDLY’s investing activities generally reflect cash used to acquire fixed assets, purchase investments, and make capital contributions to MDLY’s equity method investments. Cash provided by MDLY’s investing activities generally reflect return of capital distributions received from its equity method investments. Purchases of fixed assets were less than $0.1 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017. Capital contributions to equity method investments represented a use of cash of $1.5 million and $0.2 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Excluding the investments held by MDLY’s consolidated fund, purchases of investments were $35.0 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2017.

Financing Activities

Dividends paid were $4.3 million and $4.4 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Distributions to non-controlling interests and redeemable non-controlling interests were $20.5 million and $21.3 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Capital contributions from non-controlling interests and redeemable non-controlling interests resulted in an inflow of cash of less than $0.1 million and $23.0 million for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. Repurchases of MDLY Class A Common Stock represented a use of cash from financing activities of $3.6 million during the nine months ended September 30, 2017. There were no repurchases of MDLY Class A Common Stock during the nine months ended September 30, 2018. Payments of tax withholdings related to net share settlement of restricted stock units represented outflows of $0.7 million for each of the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

Table of Contents

On August 9, 2016, Medley LLC completed its first registered public offering of senior unsecured debt and on October 18, 2016, January 18, 2017, and February 22, 2017 Medley LLC completed additional registered public offerings of senior unsecured debt. The proceeds from these offerings, net of offering expenses paid by MDLY, amounted to $116.2 million. The net proceeds from the offerings were used to pay-down the outstanding indebtedness under the Term Loan Facility with the remaining amount to be used for working capital purposes. During the nine months ended September 30, 2017, repayments of loans payable resulted in an outflow of cash of $44.8 million and proceeds from the issuance of debt obligations provided an inflow of cash of $69.1 million.

MDLY's sources of liquidity are (i) cash on hand, (ii) net working capital, (iii) cash flows from operations, (iv) realizations on its investments, (v) net proceeds from borrowings under the MDLY Revolving Credit Facility and issuances of publicly-registered debt and (vi) other potential financings. MDLY believes that these sources of liquidity will be sufficient to fund MDLY's working capital requirements and to meet MDLY's commitments in the foreseeable future. MDLY expects that its primary liquidity needs will be comprised of cash to (i) provide capital to facilitate the growth of MDLY's existing investment management business, (ii) fund MDLY's commitments to funds that it advises, (iii) provide capital to facilitate MDLY's expansion into businesses that are complementary to its existing investment management business, (iv) pay operating expenses, including cash compensation to MDLY's employees and payments under the TRA, (v) fund capital expenditures, (vi) pay income taxes, and (vii) make distributions to the MDLY Stockholders in accordance with MDLY's dividend policy.

MDLY intends to use a portion of its available liquidity to fund cash dividends to MDLY Stockholders on a quarterly basis. MDLY's ability to fund cash dividends to MDLY Stockholders is dependent on a myriad of factors, including among others: general economic and business conditions; MDLY's strategic plans and prospects; MDLY's business and investment opportunities; timing of capital calls by MDLY's funds in support of its commitments; MDLY's financial condition and operating results; working capital requirements and other anticipated cash needs; contractual restrictions and obligations; legal, tax and regulatory restrictions; restrictions on the payment of distributions by MDLY's subsidiaries to it; and other relevant factors.

Critical Accounting Policies

MDLY prepares its consolidated financial statements in accordance with GAAP. In applying many of these accounting principles, MDLY needs to make assumptions, estimates or judgments that affect the reported amounts of assets, liabilities, revenues and expenses in its consolidated financial statements. MDLY bases its estimates and judgments on historical experience and other assumptions that it believes are reasonable under the circumstances. These assumptions, estimates or judgments, however, are both subjective and subject to change, and actual results may differ from MDLY's assumptions and estimates. If actual amounts are ultimately different from MDLY's estimates, the revisions are included in MDLY's results of operations for the period in which the actual amounts become known. MDLY believes the following critical accounting policies could potentially produce materially different results if MDLY were to change underlying assumptions, estimates or judgments. See Note 2, "Summary of Significant Accounting Policies," to MDLY's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus for a summary of its significant accounting policies.

Principles of Consolidation

In accordance with ASC 810, Consolidation, MDLY consolidates those entities where MDLY has a direct and indirect controlling financial interest based on either a variable interest model or voting interest model. As such, MDLY consolidates entities that it concludes are VIEs, for which MDLY is deemed to be the primary beneficiary and entities in which MDLY holds a majority voting interest or has majority ownership and control over the operational, financial and investing decisions of that entity.

For legal entities evaluated for consolidation, MDLY must determine whether the interests that it holds and fees paid to it qualify as a variable interest in an entity. This includes an evaluation of the management fees and performance fees paid to MDLY when acting as a decision maker or service provider to the entity being evaluated. Fees received by MDLY that are customary and commensurate with the level of services provided, and MDLY does not hold other economic interests in the entity that would absorb more than an insignificant amount of the expected losses or returns of the entity, would not be considered a variable interest. MDLY factors in all economic interests including proportionate interests through related parties, to determine if fees are considered a variable interest.

An entity in which MDLY holds a variable interest is a VIE if any one of the following conditions exist: (a) the total equity investment at risk is not sufficient to permit the legal entity to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support, (b) the holders of equity investment at risk have the right to direct the activities of the entity that most significantly impact the legal entity's economic performance, (c) the voting rights of some investors are disproportionate to their obligation to absorb losses or rights to receive returns from a legal entity. For limited partnerships and other similar entities, non-controlling investors must have substantive rights to either dissolve the fund or remove the general partner ("kick-out rights") in order to qualify as a VIE.

For those entities that qualify as a VIE, the primary beneficiary is generally defined as the party who has a controlling financial interest in the VIE. MDLY is generally deemed to have a controlling financial interest if MDLY has the power to direct the activities of a VIE that most significantly impacts the VIE's economic performance, and the obligation to absorb losses or receive benefits from the VIE that could potentially be significant to the VIE. MDLY determines whether it is the primary beneficiary of a VIE at the time it becomes initially involved with the VIE and it reconsiders that conclusion continuously. The primary beneficiary evaluation is generally performed qualitatively on the basis of all facts and circumstances. However, quantitative information may also be considered in the analysis, as appropriate. These assessments require judgments. Each entity is assessed for consolidation on a case-by-case basis.

For those entities evaluated under the voting interest model, MDLY consolidates the entity if it has a controlling financial interest. MDLY has a controlling financial interest in a voting interest entity ("VOE") if MDLY owns a majority voting interest in the entity.

Performance Fees

Performance fees are contractual fees which do not represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager that are earned based on the performance of certain funds, typically, MDLY's separately managed accounts. Performance fees are earned based on the fund performance during the period, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's investment management agreement. MDLY accounts for performance fees in accordance with the new revenue standard, ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, and MDLY will only recognize performance fees when it is probable that a significant reversal of such fees will not occur in the future.

Carried Interest

Carried interest are performance based fees that represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager. Carried interest is allocated to MDLY based on cumulative fund performance to date, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's governing documents.

Effective January 1, 2018, MDLY accounts for carried interest under ASC 323, Investments-Equity Method and Joint Ventures. Under this standard, MDLY records carried interest in a consistent manner as MDLY historically had which is based upon an assumed liquidation of that fund's net assets as of the reporting date, regardless of whether such amounts have been realized. For any given period, carried interest on MDLY's condensed consolidated statements of operations may include reversals of previously recognized carried interest due to a decrease in the value of a particular fund that results in a decrease of cumulative fees earned to date. Since fund return hurdles are cumulative, previously recognized carried interest also may be reversed in a period of appreciation that is lower than the particular fund's hurdle rate.

Carried interest received in prior periods may be required to be returned by MDLY in future periods if the funds' investment performance declines below certain levels. Each fund is considered separately in this regard and, for a given fund, carried interest can never be negative over the life of a fund. If upon a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values, previously recognized and distributed carried interest would be required to be returned, a liability is established for the potential clawback obligation. MDLY's actual obligation, however, would not become payable or realized until the end of a fund's life.

Income Taxes

MDLY accounts for income taxes using the asset and liability approach, which requires the recognition of tax benefits or expenses for temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax basis of assets and liabilities. A valuation allowance is established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amounts expected to be realized. MDLY also recognizes a tax benefit from uncertain tax positions only if it is "more likely than not" that the position is sustainable based on its technical merits. MDLY's policy is to recognize interest and penalties on uncertain tax positions and other tax matters as a component of income tax expense. For interim periods, MDLY accounts for income taxes based on its estimate of the effective tax rate for the year. Discrete items and changes in MDLY's estimate of the annual effective tax rate are recorded in the period they occur.

MDLY is subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes on its allocable portion of taxable income from Medley LLC at prevailing corporate tax rates, which are reflected in MDLY's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this document. Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are not subject to federal, state and local corporate income taxes since all income, gains and losses are passed through to its members. However, Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are subject to New York City's unincorporated business tax, which is included in MDLY's provision for income taxes.

MDLY analyzes its tax filing positions in all of the U.S. federal, state and local tax jurisdictions where MDLY is required to file income tax returns, as well as for all open tax years in these jurisdictions. If, based on this analysis, MDLY determines that uncertainties in tax positions exist, a liability is established.

Stock-based Compensation

MDLY accounts for stock-based compensation in accordance with ASC 718, Compensation – Stock Compensation. Under the fair value recognition provision of this guidance, share-based compensation cost is measured at the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized as expense over the requisite service period and reduced for actual forfeitures in the period they occur. Stock-based compensation is included as a component of compensation and benefits in MDLY's consolidated statements of operations.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

Information regarding recent accounting pronouncements and their impact on MDLY can be found in Note 2, "Summary of Significant Accounting Policies," to MDLY's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus.

Off-Balance Sheet Arrangements

In the normal course of business, MDLY may engage in off-balance sheet arrangements, including transactions in guarantees, commitments, indemnifications and potential contingent repayment obligations.

See Note 10, "Commitments and Contingencies," to MDLY's unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus for a discussion of MDLY's commitments and contingencies.

Contractual Obligations

The following table sets forth information relating to MDLY's contractual obligations as of September 30, 2018.

	Less than 1 year	1 - 3 years	4 - 5 years	More than 5 years	Total
	(Amounts in thousands)
Medley Obligations
Operating lease obligations ⁽¹⁾	$ 2,708	$ 5,333	$ 4,862	$ —	$ 12,903

Total	$ 19,392	$ 14,327	$ 4,862	$ 122,595	$ 161,176

- (1) MDLY leases office space in New York and San Francisco under non-cancelable lease agreements. The amounts in this table represent the minimum lease payments required over the term of the lease, and include operating leases for office equipment.
- (2) MDLY has included all loans described in Note 8, "Loans Payable," to its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this document.
- (3) MDLY has included all its obligations described in Note 7, "Senior Unsecured Debt," to its unaudited condensed consolidated financial statements included in this document. In addition to the principal amounts above, MDLY is required to make quarterly interest payments of $1.2 million related to the 2024 Notes and $0.9 million related to the 2026 Notes.
- (4) Represents equity commitments by MDLY to certain long-dated private funds managed by it. These amounts are generally due on demand and are therefore presented in the less than one year category.

Indemnifications

In the normal course of business, MDLY enters into contracts that contain indemnities for its affiliates, persons acting on its behalf or such affiliates and third parties. The terms of the indemnities vary from contract to contract and the maximum exposure under these arrangements, if any, cannot be determined and has neither been recorded in MDLY's consolidated financial statements. As of September 30, 2018, MDLY has not had prior claims or losses pursuant to these contracts and expect the risk of loss to be remote.

Contingent Obligations

The partnership documents governing MDLY's funds generally include a clawback provision that, if triggered, may give rise to a contingent obligation that may require the general partner to return amounts to the fund for distribution to investors. Therefore, carried interest, generally, is subject to reversal in the event that the funds incur future losses. These losses are limited to the extent of the cumulative carried interest recognized in income to date, net of a portion of taxes paid. Due in part to its investment performance and the fact that its carried interest is generally determined on a liquidation basis, as of September 30, 2018, MDLY accrued $7.2 million for clawback obligations that would need to be paid had the funds been liquidated as of that date. There can be no assurance that MDLY will not incur additional clawback obligations in the future. If all of the existing investments were valued at $0, the amount of cumulative carried interest that has been recognized would be reversed. MDLY believes that the possibility of all of the existing investments becoming worthless is remote. At September 30, 2018, had MDLY assumed all existing investments were valued at $0, the net amount of carried interest subject to additional reversal would have been approximately $0.5 million.

Carried interest is also affected by changes in the fair values of the underlying investments in the funds that MDLY advises. Valuations, on an unrealized basis, can be significantly affected by a variety of external factors including, but not limited to, bond yields and industry trading multiples. Under the governing agreements of certain of MDLY's funds, MDLY may have to fund additional amounts on account of clawback obligations beyond what MDLY received in performance fee compensation on account of distributions of performance fee payments made to current or former professionals from such funds if they do not fund their respective shares of such clawback obligations. MDLY will generally retain the right to pursue any remedies that it has under such governing agreements against those carried interest recipients who fail to fund their obligations.

Additionally, at the end of the life of the funds, there could be a payment due to a fund by MDLY if it has recognized more carried interest than was ultimately earned. The general partner obligation amount, if any, will depend on final realized values of investments at the end of the life of the fund.

Mr. Fredericks was admitted to the California State Bar in 1993. Mr. Fredericks received a B.A. from the University of California Santa Cruz and a J.D. from University of San Francisco.

Board Structure

The MDLY Board does not have a policy on whether or not the roles of the Chief Executive Officer and Chairman should be separate. The MDLY Board evaluates relevant factors and determines the best leadership structure for MDLY's operating and governance environment at the time. The MDLY Board believes that having combined Co-Chairmen and Co-Chief Executive Officers is the appropriate leadership structure for MDLY at this time. As the Co-Chairmen and Co-Chief Executive Officers, Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube are able to draw on their knowledge and expertise related to MDLY's daily operations, industry and competitive developments to set the agenda for the MDLY Board and ensure the appropriate focus on issues of concern to MDLY. Furthermore, the MDLY Board believes that combining these roles enables decisive leadership, ensures clear accountability and facilitates information flow between management and the MDLY Board, all of which are essential to effective governance. The MDLY Board has not formally designated a lead independent director.

Controlled Company Status

Medley Group LLC, an entity owned by MDLY's pre-IPO owners, holds more than a majority of the voting power of its common stock eligible to vote in the election of MDLY's directors. As a result, MDLY is a "controlled company" within the meaning of the NYSE's corporate governance standards. Under these corporate governance standards, a company of which more than 50% of the voting power is held by an individual, group or another company entitled to vote for the election of directors is a "controlled company" and may elect not to comply with certain corporate governance standards, including the requirements (1) that a majority of the board of directors consist of independent directors, (2) that the board of directors have a compensation committee that is comprised entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibilities and (3) that the board of directors have a nominating and corporate governance committee that is comprised entirely of independent directors with a written charter addressing the committee's purpose and responsibilities. MDLY is utilizing these exemptions. As a result, the majority of MDLY's directors on the MDLY Board are not independent and the MDLY Compensation Committee and the MDLY Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee are not comprised entirely of independent directors. Accordingly, MDLY Stockholders do not have the same protections afforded to stockholders of companies that are subject to all of these corporate governance requirements. In the event that MDLY ceases to be a "controlled company" and its shares continue to be listed on the NYSE, MDLY will be required to comply with these provisions within the applicable transition periods.

Family Relationships of Directors and Executive Officers

Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube, each a Co-Chief Executive Officer and Co-Chairman of the MDLY Board, are brothers. There are no other family relationships among any of MDLY's directors or executive officers.

Board of Directors' Role in Risk Oversight

The MDLY Board has overall responsibility for risk oversight, including, as part of regular MDLY Board and committee meetings, general oversight of executives' management of risks relevant to MDLY. A fundamental part of risk oversight is not only understanding the material risks a company faces and the steps management is taking to manage those risks, but also understanding what level of risk is appropriate for MDLY. Each quarter, the MDLY Board receives presentations from senior management on matters involving MDLY's operations and considers the risks related to strategies and business plans.

In addition, the MDLY Board committees consider the risks within their respective areas of responsibility. The MDLY Audit Committee assists the MDLY Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities with respect to risk management in the areas of financial reporting, internal controls and compliance with legal and regulatory requirements, and, in accordance with NYSE requirements, discusses with management policies with respect to risk assessment and risk management. The MDLY Compensation Committee assists the MDLY Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities with respect to the management of risks arising from MDLY's compensation policies and programs and reviews and discusses with management MDLY's compensation policies and practices and management's assessment of whether any risks arising from such policies and practices are reasonably likely to have a material adverse effect on MDLY. The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee assists the MDLY Board in fulfilling its oversight responsibilities with respect to the management of risks associated with the MDLY Board and MDLY Board committee organization, membership and structure, succession planning and corporate governance matters.

The MDLY Board believes that this role in risk oversight is appropriate. MDLY believes that it has robust internal processes in place and a strong internal control environment to identify and manage risks. However, not all risks that may affect MDLY can be identified or eliminated and some risks are beyond the control of MDLY and its service providers.

MDLY recognizes that different board roles in risk oversight are appropriate for companies in different situations. MDLY re-examines the manners in which the MDLY Board administers its oversight function on an ongoing basis to ensure that it continues to meet MDLY's needs.

Board Committees and Meetings

The following table summarizes the current membership of each of the MDLY Board's committees.

	Audit Committee	Compensation Committee	Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee	MDLY Special Committee
Brook Taube		X	X
Seth Taube		X	X
Jeffrey T. Leeds	Chair	Chair		Chair
Guy Rounsaville, Jr.	X		Chair	X
James G. Eaton	X		X	X
Jeffrey Tonkel

All directors are expected to make every effort to attend all meetings of the MDLY Board, meetings of the committees of which they are members. During the year ended December 31, 2017, the MDLY Board held six meetings, the Audit Committee held four meetings, the Compensation Committee held two meetings and the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee held one meeting. In 2017, except for Mr. James G. Eaton, each of MDLY's directors attended at least 75% of the meetings of the MDLY Board and committees that occurred during the time in which he served as a member of the MDLY Board or such committee. Mr. Eaton attended five out of the seven board and committee meetings in which he served as a member of the MDLY Board or such committee. Each MDLY director is strongly encouraged, but is not required, to attend the MDLY annual meeting of MDLY Stockholders. All of MDLY's directors attended MDLY's 2017 annual meeting of stockholders.

Committee Charters and Corporate Governance Guidelines

MDLY's commitment to good corporate governance is reflected in MDLY Corporate Governance Guidelines, which describe the MDLY Board's views on a wide range of governance topics. These MDLY Corporate Governance Guidelines are reviewed from time to time by the MDLY Board and, to the extent deemed appropriate in light of emerging practices, revised accordingly, upon recommendation to and approval by the MDLY Board.

MDLY's Corporate Governance Guidelines, the Audit Committee, the Compensation and Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee charters and other corporate governance information are available on the Corporate Governance page of the Investor Relations section on MDLY's website at www.mdly.com. Any MDLY Stockholder also may request them in print, without charge, by contacting the General Counsel and Secretary, MDLY, 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017.

Committee Membership

Audit Committee - All members of the Audit Committee have been determined to be "independent," consistent with the Audit Committee Charter, Corporate Governance Guidelines and the NYSE listing standards applicable to boards of directors in general and audit committees in particular. The MDLY Board also has determined that each of the members of the Audit Committee is "financially literate" within the meaning of the listing standards of the NYSE. In addition, the MDLY Board has determined that Jeffrey T. Leeds qualifies as an "audit committee financial expert" as defined by applicable SEC regulations.

Table of Contents

The duties and responsibilities of the Audit Committee are set forth in its charter, which may be found at www.mdly.com under Investor Relations: Corporate Governance: Committee Charters: Audit, and include among duties and responsibilities:

- selecting and hiring MDLY’s independent auditors, and approving the audit and non-audit services to be performed by its independent auditors;
- assisting the MDLY Board in evaluating the qualifications, performance and independence of its independent auditors;
- assisting the MDLY Board in monitoring the quality and integrity of MDLY’s financial statements and its accounting and financial reporting;
- assisting the MDLY Board in monitoring MDLY’s compliance with legal and regulatory requirements;
- reviewing the adequacy and effectiveness of MDLY’s internal control over financial reporting processes;
- assisting the MDLY Board in monitoring the performance of MDLY’s internal audit function;
- monitoring the performance of MDLY’s internal audit function;
- reviewing with management and MDLY’s independent auditors its annual and quarterly financial statements; and
- reviewing and evaluating complaints received by MDLY regarding accounting, internal accounting controls or auditing matters and the confidential, anonymous submission by MDLY’s employees of concerns regarding questionable accounting or auditing matters.

With respect to MDLY’s reporting and disclosure matters, the responsibilities and duties of the MDLY Audit Committee include reviewing and discussing with management and the independent registered public accounting firm its annual audited financial statements prior to inclusion in its Annual Report on Form 10-K, its quarterly financial statements and other public filings in accordance with applicable rules and regulations of the SEC and the MDLY Audit Committee Charter.

On behalf of the MDLY Board, the Audit Committee plays a key role in the oversight of MDLY’s risk management policies and procedures. See “— Board of Directors’ Role in Risk Oversight” above.

Compensation Committee - Mr. Jeffrey T. Leeds has been determined to be “independent” as defined by Corporate Governance Guidelines and the NYSE listing standards applicable to boards of directors generally and compensation committees specifically. The other members of the Compensation Committee, Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube have not been determined by the MDLY Board to be independent.

The duties and responsibilities of the Compensation Committee are set forth in its charter, which may be found at www.mdly.com under Investor Relations: Corporate Governance: Committee Charters: Compensation, and include, among other duties and responsibilities:

- reviewing and approving corporate goals and objectives relevant to the compensation of MDLY’s Co-Chief Executive Officers, evaluating its Co-Chief Executive Officers’ performance in light of those goals and objectives, and, either as a committee or together with the other independent directors (as directed by the board of directors), determining and approving its Co-Chief Executive Officers’ compensation level based on such evaluation;

- reviewing and approving, or making recommendations to the board of directors with respect to, the compensation of MDLY's other executive officers, including annual base salary, bonus and equity-based incentives and other benefits;
- reviewing and recommending the compensation of MDLY's directors; and
- reviewing and making recommendations with respect to MDLY's equity compensation plans.

With respect to MDLY's reporting and disclosure matters, the responsibilities and duties of the Compensation Committee include overseeing the preparation of the Compensation Discussion and Analysis, to the extent applicable, for inclusion in MDLY's Annual Proxy Statement and Annual Report on Form 10-K in accordance with applicable rules and regulations of the SEC. The charter of the Compensation Committee permits the committee to delegate any or all of its authority to one or more subcommittees and to delegate to one or more of MDLY's officers the authority to make awards to employees other than any Section 16 officer under MDLY's incentive compensation or other equity-based plan, subject to compliance with the plan and the laws of its state of jurisdiction.

The Compensation Committee has the authority under its charter to retain outside consultants or advisors, as it deems necessary or advisable.

Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee - Mr. Rounsaville is a member of the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee who has been determined to be "independent" as defined by the Corporate Governance Guidelines and the NYSE listing standards. The other members of the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee, Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube, have not been determined by the MDLY Board to be independent.

The duties and responsibilities of the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee are set forth in its charter, which may be found at www.mdly.com under Investor Relations: Corporate Governance: Committee Charters: Corporate Governance and Nominating, and include, among other duties and responsibilities:

- assisting the MDLY Board in identifying prospective director nominees and recommending nominees to the MDLY Board;
- overseeing the evaluation of the MDLY Board and management;
- reviewing developments in corporate governance practices and developing and making recommendations to the MDLY Board with respect to MDLY's corporate governance guidelines; and
- recommending members for each committee of the MDLY Board.

Director Nomination Process

The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee weighs the characteristics, experience, independence and skills of potential candidates for election to the MDLY Board and recommends nominees for director to the MDLY Board for election. In considering candidates for the MDLY Board, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee also assesses the size, composition and combined expertise of the MDLY Board. As the application of these factors involves the exercise of judgment, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee does not have a standard set of fixed qualifications that is applicable to all director candidates, although the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee does at a minimum assess each candidate's strength of character, judgment, industry knowledge or experience, his or her ability to work collegially with the other members of the MDLY Board and his or her ability to satisfy any applicable legal requirements or listing standards. In addition, although the MDLY Board considers diversity of viewpoints, background and experiences, the MDLY Board does not have a formal diversity policy. In identifying prospective director candidates, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee may seek referrals from other members of the MDLY Board, management, MDLY Stockholders and other sources, including third party recommendations. The Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee also may, but need not, retain a search firm in order to assist it in identifying candidates to serve as directors of MDLY. The MDLY Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee utilizes the same criteria for evaluating candidates regardless of the source of the referral. When considering director candidates, the Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee seeks individuals with backgrounds and qualities that, when combined with those of MDLY's incumbent directors, provide a blend of skills and experience to further enhance MDLY Board's effectiveness.

In connection with its annual recommendation of a slate of nominees, the MDLY Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee also may assess the contributions of those directors recommended for re-election in the context of the MDLY Board evaluation process and other perceived needs of the MDLY Board.

When considering whether the directors and nominees have the experience, qualifications, attributes and skills, taken as a whole, to enable the MDLY Board to satisfy its oversight responsibilities effectively in light of MDLY's business and structure, the MDLY Board focused primarily on the information discussed in each of the MDLY Board member's biographical information set forth above. MDLY believes that its directors provide an appropriate mix of experience and skills relevant to the size and nature of its business. In particular, the members of the MDLY Board considered the following important characteristics:

- Messrs. Brook Taube and Seth Taube — MDLY considered that these two individuals have played an integral role in its firm's successful growth, and that each has developed a unique and in-depth understanding of its business. MDLY also noted that these two individuals are its largest equity owners and, as a consequence of such alignment of interest with its other equity owners, each has additional motivation to diligently fulfill his oversight responsibilities as a member of the MDLY Board.
- Mr. Tonkel — MDLY considered his extensive experience in various senior leadership roles in the financial services industry, including his role as a Managing Director with JPMorgan where he was the Chief Financial Officer of a global financing and markets business, as well as his familiarity with MDLY business and operations as President of Medley and Sierra and a member of the MCC Board.
- Mr. Jeffrey T. Leeds — MDLY considered his extensive experience in private equity investing, investment banking and law, along with his prior experience as a board member of various institutions.

- Mr. Guy Rounsaville, Jr. — MDLY considered his background in law, banking and lending, including his extensive experience serving in general counsel, corporate secretary and board member roles at several financial institutions.
- Mr. James G. Eaton — MDLY considered his background in finance and financial services, owing to his extensive experience as president of a private holding company and investment adviser and board member roles.

The MDLY Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee will consider director candidates recommended by MDLY Stockholders. Any recommendation submitted to the Secretary of MDLY should be in writing and should include any supporting material the MDLY Stockholder considers appropriate in support of that recommendation, but must include information that would be required under the rules of the SEC to be included in a proxy statement soliciting proxies for the election of such candidate and a written consent of the candidate to serve as one of MDLY's directors if elected. MDLY Stockholders wishing to propose a candidate for consideration may do so by submitting the above information to the attention of the General Counsel and Secretary, Medley Management Inc., 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017. All recommendations for nomination received by the General Counsel and Secretary that satisfy the MDLY Bylaws requirements relating to such director nominations will be presented to the MDLY Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee for its consideration. MDLY Stockholders also must satisfy the notification, timeliness, consent and information requirements set forth in the MDLY Bylaws.

MDLY Special Committee

The MDLY Special Committee was granted the authority to, among other things, evaluate and review the terms and conditions of the Mergers or any alternative thereto and determine whether the Mergers or any alternative thereto is advisable and is fair to, and in the best interests of, MDLY and the MDLY Stockholders (or any subset of the MDLY Stockholders that the MDLY Special Committee determines to be appropriate) in connection with the Mergers. The MDLY Special Committee had the authority to select and retain, in its sole discretion, any advisers that they deemed appropriate, including their own independent financial and legal advisors. The current members of the MDLY Special Committee are Jeffrey T. Leeds, Guy Rounsaville, Jr., and James G. Eaton, each of whom is not an interested person of MDLY for purposes of the NYSE corporate governance listing standards. Jeffrey T. Leeds serves as the chair of the MDLY Special Committee.

Communications with the Board

As described in the MDLY Corporate Governance Guidelines, MDLY Stockholders and other interested parties who wish to communicate with a member or members of the MDLY Board, including the chairperson of the Audit Committee, Compensation Committee, Corporate Governance and Nominating Committee, or the MDLY Special Committee or to the non-management or independent directors as a group, may do so by addressing such communications or concerns to the General Counsel of MDLY, at Medley Management Inc., 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017, who will forward such communication to the appropriate party.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

During the 2017 fiscal year, the members of the Compensation Committee were Mr. Leeds, Mr. Brook Taube (MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officer) and Mr. Seth Taube (MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officer). None of MDLY's executive officers serve as a member of the MDLY Board or the Compensation Committee (or other committee performing equivalent functions) of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving on the MDLY Board or the Compensation Committee.

Section 16 Beneficial Ownership Reporting Compliance

Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act requires executive officers and directors, a company's chief accounting officer and persons who beneficially own more than 10% of a company's common stock, to file initial reports of ownership and reports of changes in ownership with the SEC and the NYSE. Executive officers, directors, the chief accounting officer and beneficial owners with more than 10% of MDLY Class A Common Stock are required by SEC regulations to furnish MDLY with copies of all Section 16(a) forms they file.

Based solely on MDLY's review of copies of such reports and written representations from MDLY executive officers and directors, except as set forth below, MDLY believes that its executive officers and directors complied with all other Section 16(a) filing requirements during 2017.

Each of Mr. Leeds and Mr. Rounsaville had Medley LLC Restricted Units vest on September 29, 2017, which triggered a Form 4 filing. Such Form 4 filings were due on October 3, 2017 and were filed with the SEC on October 12, 2017.

Code of Conduct and Ethics

MDLY maintains a Code of Business Conduct and Ethics that is applicable to all of its directors, officers and employees, including its Co-Chairmen and Co-Chief Executive Officers, Chief Financial Officer and other senior financial officers. The Code of Business Conduct and Ethics sets forth its policies and expectations on a number of topics, including conflicts of interest, compliance with laws, use of MDLY's assets and business conduct and fair dealing. This Code of Business Conduct and Ethics also satisfies the requirements for a code of ethics, as defined by Item 406 of Regulation S-K promulgated by the SEC. MDLY will disclose within four business days any substantive changes in or waivers of the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics granted to MDLY's principal executive officer, principal financial officer, principal accounting officer or controller, or persons performing similar functions, by posting such information on MDLY's website as set forth above rather than by filing a Form 8-K. In the case of a waiver for an executive officer or a director, the required disclosure also will be made available on MDLY's website within four business days of the date of such waiver.

The Code of Business Conduct and Ethics may be found on MDLY's website at www.mdly.com under Investor Relations: Corporate Governance: Governance Documents: Code of Business Conduct and Ethics.

EXECUTIVE COMPENSATION OF MDLY

Emerging Growth Company Status

MDLY qualifies as an “emerging growth company” under the Jumpstart Our Business Startups Act of 2012, also known as the JOBS Act. As a result, MDLY is permitted to, and relies on exemptions from certain disclosure requirements that are applicable to other companies that are not emerging growth companies. Accordingly, MDLY has not included a compensation discussion and analysis of MDLY’s executive compensation programs and has excluded tabular compensation information. However, in the interest of providing more fulsome disclosure, MDLY has included compensation information for MDLY’s Co-Chief Executive Officers, MDLY’s Chief Financial Officer and its two next most highly compensated executive officers serving at the end of the fiscal year (collectively referred to herein as MDLY’s “named executive officers”).

In addition to the foregoing described reduced compensation disclosure, for so long as MDLY is an emerging growth company, MDLY will not be required to submit certain executive compensation matters to MDLY Stockholder advisory votes, such as “say-on-pay,” “say-on-frequency” and “say-on-golden parachute” compensation. MDLY will remain an emerging growth company until the earliest to occur of: (i) December 31, 2019; (ii) the first fiscal year after its annual gross revenues are $1.0 billion or more; (iii) the date on which it has, during the previous three-year period, issued more than $1.0 billion in non-convertible debt securities; or (iv) the end of any fiscal year in which it becomes a “large accelerated filer,” which means that it has been public for at least 12 months, has filed at least one annual report and the market value of its voting and non-voting common equity held by non-affiliates exceeds $700 million as of the last day of its then most recently completed second fiscal quarter.

MDLY’s named executive officers for 2017 are:

- Brook Taube, Co-Chief Executive Officer;
- Seth Taube, Co-Chief Executive Officer;

(1) Stock awards consist of Medley LLC Units granted on February 22, 2017 and March 17, 2016. The Medley LLC Units vest in three equal annual installments on each of the third, fourth and fifth anniversaries of the grant date, subject to the executive's continued employment on the applicable vesting date. The market value of the RSUs was computed using MDLY's closing price of $6.50 per share as of December 29, 2017.

Narrative Disclosure to Summary Compensation Table

MDLY's named executive officers are generally compensated through a combination of annual guaranteed distributions on membership interests and annual discretionary bonuses in the form of cash, equity-based awards and/or profit interests in MDLY's adviser entities.

Guaranteed Distributions on Membership Interests

Each of MDLY's named executive officers owns, directly or indirectly, membership interests in Medley LLC. The payments to MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officers, Brook and Seth Taube, are performance based periodically set subject to maximums based on MDLY's total assets under management. During the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, neither MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officers received any guaranteed payments. This is expected to continue through December 31, 2018. In addition, MDLY pays to each of Messrs. Tonkel, Allorto and Fredericks a $25,000 monthly cash payment, included under Salary in the Summary Compensation Table. During the three months ended December 31, 2017, Mr. Tonkel elected not receive any guaranteed payments.

As a condition to receiving membership interests in Medley LLC, each executive was required to become party to the limited liability company agreement of Medley LLC. The limited liability company agreement of Medley LLC, the unit award agreements evidencing such membership interests and the agreement described above relating to guaranteed payments, generally govern the rights and obligations of the executives.

Annual Discretionary Bonus

In March 2018, each of Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks was awarded an annual discretionary bonus for services rendered in 2017, which consisted of 70,000 Medley LLC Units granted under the MDLY Incentive Plan. The Medley LLC Units vest in three equal annual installments commencing on January 1, 2021, subject to the executive's continued employment on the applicable vesting date. Each vested Medley LLC Unit may be exchanged for one share of MDLY Class A Common Stock. The grant date fair market value of the Medley LLC Units will be included in the Summary Compensation Table in MDLY's proxy statement for the 2019 annual meeting of stockholders.

In February 2017, each of Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks was awarded an annual discretionary bonus for services rendered in 2016, which consisted of 50,000 Medley LLC Units granted under the MDLY Incentive Plan. The Medley LLC Units vest in three equal annual installments on each of the third, fourth and fifth anniversaries of the grant date, subject to the executive's continued employment on the applicable vesting date. Each vested Medley LLC Unit may be exchanged for one share of MDLY Class A Common Stock. The grant date fair market value of the Medley LLC Units will be included in the Summary Compensation Table above.

In March 2016, each of Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks was awarded an annual discretionary bonus for services rendered in 2015, which consisted of (1) 50,000 RSUs granted under the MDLY Incentive Plan and (2) the right to receive cash-settled carried interest payments in an amount tied to the performance of one of MDLY's funds. The RSUs vest in three equal annual installments on each of the third, fourth and fifth anniversaries of the grant date, subject to the executive's continued employment on the applicable vesting date. The carry interest awards entitle each of Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks to receive a cash distribution equal to 0.258% of the carried interest received by MOF II GP LLC from Medley Opportunity Fund II LP. Eligibility to receive a carry interest payment is based on the executive's continued employment and ceases automatically upon termination of employment. The grant date fair market value of the RSUs is included in the Summary Compensation Table above. Subsequently, in February 2017, these RSU grants were canceled and in return the holders thereof were granted 50,000 Medley LLC Units under the MDLY Incentive Plan, which had the equivalent grant date fair market value. The Medley LLC Units vest annually in three equal installments commencing March 16, 2019, subject to the executive's continued employment on the applicable vesting date. Each vested Restricted LLC Unit may be exchanged for one share of MDLY Class A Common Stock. In accordance with SEC rules, the carry interest awards have not been included in the Summary Compensation Table above since the performance criteria has not been met.

Restrictive Covenants

Under the terms of their respective confidentiality, non-interference and invention assignment agreements, each of the named executive officers is subject to covenants restricting his (i) use and disclosure of confidential information while employed and at all times thereafter, (ii) ability to engage in any business activities that directly or indirectly competes with MDLY while employed and for six months thereafter and (iii) solicitation of MDLY's employees and consultants while employed and for twelve months thereafter and solicitation of MDLY's customers and clients while employed and for six months thereafter.

Retirement Plan

MDLY maintains a qualified contributory retirement plan that is intended to qualify as a deferred salary arrangement under Section 401(k) of the Code. The plan covers all employees, including MDLY's named executive officers, who may contribute up to 96% of their eligible compensation, subject to statutory limits imposed by the Code. MDLY is also permitted to provide for, but MDLY currently does not provide any, matching contributions. In addition, MDLY makes nonelective contributions under the 401(k) plan equal to 3% of each employee's eligible earnings, subject to statutory limits imposed by the Code.

Compensation of Directors

MDLY's employees who serve as directors receive no separate compensation for their service on the MDLY Board or on committees thereof.

For 2017, each of MDLY's non-employee directors was entitled to receive annual compensation consisting of:

- An annual cash retainer in the amount of $35,000, payable in quarterly installments;
- restricted stock units ("RSUs") having a fair market value on the date of grant of $35,000; provided, however, that each non-employee director has the option to elect to receive 100% of his annual compensation in RSUs, having a fair market value on the date of grant of $70,000 and subject to vesting terms as set forth in the applicable award agreement; and
- as to the chairperson of the Audit Committee, an additional annual RSU award having a fair market value on the date of grant of $15,000.

Each of MDLY's directors is entitled to be reimbursed for reasonable travel and related expenses associated with attendance at MDLY Board or committee meetings, although they will not be paid additional fees for attending meetings or for serving on MDLY Board committees.

In September 2016, MDLY granted each of MDLY's non-employee directors RSUs in an amount representing the director's annual equity award, or total compensation if the director elected to receive the entire compensation in the form of RSUs, for the annual period from September 2016 to September 2017. In March 2017, MDLY revised its non-employee director compensation program such that going forward, RSUs would be granted on the date of the annual meeting each year which aligns the grant with the annual term. In March 2017, the MDLY Board approved an amendment to the RSUs granted in September 2016 to each of Mr. Leeds and Rounsaville, Jr., such that two-thirds of such RSUs vest on May 10, 2017, the date of the 2017 Annual Meeting, and the remainder vest on September 29, 2017. The MDLY Board also approved an amendment to the RSUs granted in September 2016 to Mr. Ryan such that a pro-rated portion of such RSUs will vest on March 17, 2017. At the same meeting, the MDLY Board approved pro-rated annual awards for the continuing non-employee directors for the period from September 30, 2017 until the next annual meeting and a full annual award for the new non-employee director.

The table below sets forth information regarding non-employee director compensation for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2017.

Name	Fees Earned or Paid in Cash ($)(1)	Stock Awards ($)(2)	All Other Compensation ($)	Total ($)	Total Number of Outstanding Unvested Equity Awards #(3)
Jeffrey T. Leeds	$ —	$ 82,000	$ —	$ 82,000	9,788
Guy Rounsaville, Jr.	$ 35,000	$ 35,000	$ —	$ 70,000	3,703
James G. Eaton	$ —	$ 56,700	$ —	$ 56,700	11,111

(1) Represents the annual cash retainer earned for services rendered in 2017.

(2) Represents the aggregate grant date fair value of the RSU awards computed in accordance with ASC Topic 718.

(3) Represents the aggregate number of unvested RSUs held by each non-employee director as of the fiscal year end.

Narrative to Director Compensation Table

Eligible non-employee directors are awarded equity under the MDLY Incentive Plan. The directors' RSUs granted in 2017 vest in full one year from the date of grant, subject to the director's continued service on the Board on the applicable vesting date. If the director ceases to be a member of the Board for any reason, all of his then unvested RSUs will be forfeited, and upon a change in control (as defined in the MDLY Incentive Plan), all of the director's unvested RSUs will fully vest.

Compensation Committee Interlocks and Insider Participation

During the 2017 fiscal year, the members of MDLY's Compensation Committee were Mr. Jeffrey Leeds, Mr. Brook Taube (MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officer) and Mr. Seth Taube (MDLY's Co-Chief Executive Officer). None of MDLY's executive officers serve as a member of the MDLY Board or MDLY's Compensation Committee (or other committee performing equivalent functions) of any entity that has one or more executive officers serving on the MDLY Board or MDLY's Compensation Committee.

CERTAIN RELATIONSHIPS AND RELATED TRANSACTIONS OF MDLY

Transactions with Related Persons

Exchange Agreement

In September 2014, MDLY entered into the Exchange Agreement with the Medley LLC Unitholders pursuant to which each holder of Medley LLC Units (and certain permitted transferees thereof) may, from and after the first anniversary of the date of the IPO (subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement) exchange their Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock on a one-for-one basis, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications. The Exchange Agreement also provides that a holder of Medley LLC Units will not have the right to exchange Medley LLC Units if MDLY determines that such exchange would be prohibited by law or regulation or would violate other agreements with MDLY or its subsidiaries to which such holder may be subject. MDLY may impose additional restrictions on exchange that it determines to be necessary or advisable so that Medley LLC is not treated as a “publicly traded partnership” for U.S. federal income tax purposes. As a holder exchanges Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, the number of Medley LLC Units held by MDLY is correspondingly increased as it acquires the exchanged Medley LLC Units. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Exchange Agreement will be void. See “Description of the MDLY Merger Agreement — Other Agreements.”

Registration Rights Agreement

In September 2014, MDLY entered into a registration rights agreement with its pre-IPO owners pursuant to which MDLY will grant them, their affiliates and certain of their transferees the right, under certain circumstances and subject to certain restrictions, to require it to register under the Securities Act shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock delivered in exchange for Medley LLC Units. Under the registration rights agreement, MDLY has agreed to register the exchange of Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock by its pre-IPO owners. In addition, Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly owned by MDLY pre-IPO owners, will have the right to request that MDLY register the sale of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by MDLY’s pre-IPO owners an unlimited number of times and may require it to make available shelf registration statements permitting sales of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock into the market from time to time over an extended period. Medley Group LLC will also have the ability to exercise certain piggyback registration rights in respect of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock held by MDLY’s pre-IPO owners in connection with registered offerings requested by other registration rights holders or initiated by MDLY. Under the registration rights agreement, MDLY will be liable for and pay all registration expenses in connection with each of the foregoing registrations.

Tax Receivable Agreement

The Medley LLC Unitholders (other than MDLY) may, subject to certain conditions, from and after the first anniversary of the date of the completion of the IPO (subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement), exchange their Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock on a one-for-one basis. Medley LLC intends to make an election under Section 754 of the Code effective for each taxable year in which an exchange of Medley LLC Units for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock occurs, which is expected to result in increases to the tax basis of the assets of Medley LLC at the time of an exchange of Medley LLC Units. The exchanges are expected to result in increases in the tax basis of the tangible and intangible assets of Medley LLC. These increases in tax basis may reduce the amount of tax that MDLY would otherwise be required to pay in the future. These increases in tax basis may also decrease gains (or increase losses) on future dispositions of certain capital assets to the extent tax basis is allocated to those capital assets. The IRS may challenge all or part of the tax basis increase and increased deductions, and a court could sustain such a challenge.

In September 2014, MDLY entered into the Tax Receivable Agreement with the Medley LLC Unitholders that provides for the payment by MDLY to exchanging Medley LLC Unitholders of 85% of the benefits, if any, that MDLY is deemed to realize as a result of these increases in tax basis and of certain other tax benefits related to entering into the Tax Receivable Agreement, including tax benefits attributable to payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement. This payment obligation is an obligation of MDLY and not of Medley LLC. MDLY expects to benefit from the remaining 15% of cash tax savings, if any, in income tax it realizes. For purposes of the Tax Receivable Agreement, the cash tax savings in income tax will be computed by comparing the actual income tax liability of MDLY (calculated with certain assumptions) to the amount of such taxes that MDLY would have been required to pay had there been no increase to the tax basis of the assets of Medley LLC as a result of the exchanges and had MDLY not entered into the Tax Receivable Agreement. The term of the Tax Receivable Agreement will continue until all such tax benefits have been utilized or expired, unless MDLY exercises its right to terminate the Tax Receivable Agreement for an amount based on the agreed payments remaining to be made under the Tax Receivable Agreement (as described in more detail below) or MDLY breaches any of its material obligations under the Tax Receivable Agreement in which case all obligations generally will be accelerated and due as if MDLY had exercised its right to terminate the Tax Receivable Agreement. Estimating the amount of payments that may be made under the Tax Receivable Agreement is by its nature imprecise, insofar as the calculation of amounts payable depends on a variety of factors. The actual increase in tax basis, as well as the amount and timing of any payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement, will vary depending upon a number of factors, including:

- the timing of exchanges — for instance, the increase in any tax deductions will vary depending on the fair market value, which may fluctuate over time, of the depreciable or amortizable assets of Medley LLC at the time of each exchange;
- the price of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock at the time of the exchange — the increase in any tax deductions, as well as the tax basis increase in other assets, of Medley LLC, is directly proportional to the price of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock at the time of the exchange;
- the extent to which such exchanges are taxable — if an exchange is not taxable for any reason, increased deductions will not be available; and
- the amount and timing of MDLY's income — MDLY will be required to pay 85% of the cash tax savings as and when realized, if any. If MDLY does not have taxable income, MDLY is not required (absent circumstances requiring an early termination payment) to make payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement for that taxable year because no cash tax savings will have been realized. However, any cash tax savings that do not result in realized benefits in a given tax year will likely generate tax attributes that may be utilized to generate benefits in previous or future tax years. The utilization of such tax attributes will result in payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement.

MDLY anticipates that it will account for the effects of these increases in tax basis and associated payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement arising from future exchanges as follows:

- it will record an increase in deferred tax assets for the estimated income tax effects of the increases in tax basis based on enacted federal and state tax rates at the date of the exchange;
- to the extent it estimates that it will not realize the full benefit represented by the deferred tax asset, based on an analysis that will consider, among other things, its expectation of future earnings, it will reduce the deferred tax asset with a valuation allowance; and
- it will record 85% of the estimated realizable tax benefit (which is the recorded deferred tax asset less any recorded valuation allowance) as an increase to the liability due under the Tax Receivable Agreement and the remaining 15% of the estimated realizable tax benefit as an increase to additional paid-in capital.

All of the effects of changes in any of MDLY's estimates after the date of the exchange will be included in net income. Similarly, the effect of subsequent changes in the enacted tax rates will be included in net income.

MDLY expects that as a result of the size of the increases in the tax basis of the tangible and intangible assets of Medley LLC, the payments that it makes under the Tax Receivable Agreement will be substantial. There may be a material negative effect on MDLY's liquidity if, as a result of timing discrepancies or otherwise, the payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement exceed the actual cash tax savings that MDLY realizes in respect of the tax attributes subject to the Tax Receivable Agreement and/or distributions to MDLY by Medley LLC are not sufficient to permit MDLY to make payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement after it has paid taxes. Late payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement generally will accrue interest at an uncapped rate equal to LIBOR plus 500 basis points. The payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement are not conditioned upon continued ownership of MDLY by the Medley LLC Unitholders.

In addition, the Tax Receivable Agreement provides that upon certain changes of control, MDLY's (or its successor's) obligations with respect to exchanged or acquired Medley LLC Units (whether exchanged or acquired before or after such transaction) would be based on certain assumptions, including MDLY would have sufficient taxable income to fully utilize the deductions arising from the increased tax deductions and tax basis and other benefits related to entering into the Tax Receivable Agreement.

Furthermore, MDLY may elect to terminate the Tax Receivable Agreement early by making an immediate payment equal to the present value of the anticipated future cash tax savings. In determining such anticipated future cash tax savings, the Tax Receivable Agreement includes several assumptions, including (i) that any Medley LLC Units that have not been exchanged are deemed exchanged for the market value of the shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock at the time of termination, (ii) MDLY will have sufficient taxable income in each future taxable year to fully realize all potential tax savings, (iii) the tax rates for future years will be those specified in the law as in effect at the time of termination and (iv) certain non-amortizable assets are deemed disposed of within specified time periods. In addition, the present value of such anticipated future cash tax savings are discounted at a rate equal to LIBOR plus 100 basis points.

As a result of the change in control provisions and the early termination right, MDLY could be required to make payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement that are greater than or less than the specified percentage of the actual cash tax savings that MDLY realizes in respect of the tax attributes subject to the Tax Receivable Agreement. In these situations, MDLY's obligations under the Tax Receivable Agreement could have a substantial negative impact on its liquidity.

Decisions made by MDLY's pre-IPO owners in the course of running MDLY's business may influence the timing and amount of payments that are received by an exchanging or selling existing owner under the Tax Receivable Agreement. For example, the earlier disposition of assets following an exchange or acquisition transaction generally will accelerate payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement and increase the present value of such payments, and the disposition of assets before an exchange or acquisition transaction will increase an existing owner's tax liability without giving rise to any rights of an existing owner to receive payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement. Payments under the Tax Receivable Agreement are based on the tax reporting positions that MDLY will determine. MDLY will not be reimbursed for any payments previously made under the Tax Receivable Agreement if a tax basis increase is successfully challenged by the IRS. As a result, in certain circumstances, payments could be made under the Tax Receivable Agreement in excess of MDLY's cash tax savings.

If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Tax Receivable Agreement will be terminated. See "Description of the MDLY Merger Agreement — Other Agreements."

Medley LLC Limited Liability Company Agreement

MDLY holds Medley LLC Units in Medley LLC and is the sole managing member of Medley LLC. Accordingly, MDLY will operate and control all of the business and affairs of Medley LLC and, through Medley LLC and its operating entity subsidiaries, conduct MDLY's business.

Pursuant to the limited liability company agreement of Medley LLC, MDLY has the right to determine when distributions will be made to the Medley LLC Unitholders and the amount of any such distributions. If a distribution is authorized, such distribution will be made to the Medley LLC Unitholders pro rata in accordance with the percentages of their respective limited liability company interests.

The Medley LLC Unitholders, including MDLY, will incur U.S. federal, state and local income taxes on their proportionate share of any taxable income of Medley LLC. Net profits and net losses of Medley LLC will generally be allocated to its holders (including MDLY) pro rata in accordance with the percentages of their respective limited liability company interests, except as otherwise required by law. The limited liability company agreement of Medley LLC will provide for cash distributions, which MDLY refers to as “tax distributions”, to the holders of the Medley LLC Units if MDLY, as the sole managing member of Medley LLC, determines that the taxable income of Medley LLC will give rise to taxable income for the Medley LLC Unitholders to the extent that other distributions made by Medley LLC for such year were otherwise insufficient to cover such tax liabilities. Generally, these tax distributions will be computed based on MDLY’s estimate of the net taxable income of Medley LLC multiplied by an assumed tax rate equal to the highest effective marginal combined United States federal, state and local income tax rate (including the “Medicare” tax imposed under the Code) prescribed for an individual or corporate resident in New York, New York or California (taking into account the non-deductibility of certain expenses and the character of MDLY’s income) and the character of the applicable income, but not taking into account the deductibility of state and local income taxes for U.S. federal income tax purposes and without regard to certain basis adjustments that may have the effect of reducing a particular holders net taxable income.

The limited liability company agreement of Medley LLC also provides that substantially all expenses incurred by or attributable to MDLY in connection with operating MDLY’s business, but not including obligations incurred under the Tax Receivable Agreement by MDLY, income tax expenses of MDLY and payments on indebtedness incurred by MDLY, will be borne by Medley LLC.

Other than MDLY, the Medley LLC Unitholders, including MDLY’s pre-IPO owners, will, subject to limited exceptions, be prohibited from transferring any Medley LLC Units held by them upon consummation of the IPO, or any shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock received upon exchange of such Medley LLC Units, until the third anniversary of the IPO without MDLY’s consent. Thereafter and prior to the fourth and fifth anniversaries of the IPO, such holders may not transfer more than 33 1/3% and 66 2/3%, respectively, of the number of Medley LLC Units held by them upon consummation of the IPO, together with the number of any shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock received by them upon exchange therefor, without MDLY’s consent. While this agreement could be amended or waived by MDLY, its pre-IPO owners have advised MDLY that they do not intend to seek any waivers of these restrictions.

Other Transactions

Christopher Taube, MDLY’s Senior Managing Director, Head of Institutional Fund Raising, is the brother of Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube, MDLY’s Co-Chief Executive Officers and Co-Chairmen of the MDLY Board. In connection with his employment, Mr. Chris Taube is entitled to a guaranteed annual payment related to his ownership interest in Medley LLC, as well as an annual discretionary bonus which may be in the form of cash, equity based awards and/or profits interests in MDLY’s adviser entities. Mr. Chris Taube received total compensation valued at $1.2 million, in respect of his 2017 services, which included the guaranteed annual payments. His compensation is commensurate with that of a similarly situated employee in his position.

Statement of Policy Regarding Transactions with Related Persons

The MDLY Board recognizes the fact that transactions with related persons present a heightened risk of conflicts of interests and/or improper valuation (or the perception thereof). The MDLY Board has adopted a written policy on transactions with related persons that is in conformity with the requirements for issuers having publicly-held common stock that is listed on the NYSE.

This related person policy requires that a “related person” (as defined as in Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K) must promptly disclose to MDLY’s General Counsel any “related person transaction” (defined as any transaction that is anticipated would be reportable by MDLY under Item 404(a) of Regulation S-K in which MDLY was or is to be a participant and the amount involved exceeds $120,000 and in which any related person had or will have a direct or indirect material interest) and all material facts with respect thereto. The General Counsel will then promptly communicate that information to the MDLY Board. No related person transaction will be executed without the approval or ratification of the MDLY Board or a duly authorized committee of the MDLY Board. It is MDLY’s policy that directors interested in a related person transaction will recuse themselves from any vote on a related person transaction in which they have an interest.

Family Relationships of Directors and Executive Officers

Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube, each a Co-Chief Executive Officer and Co-Chairman of the MDLY Board, are brothers. There are no other family relationships among any of the other directors or executive officers.

Director Independence and independence Determinations

Under MDLY's Corporate Governance Guidelines and NYSE rules, a director is not independent unless the MDLY Board affirmatively determines that he or she does not have a direct or indirect material relationship with MDLY or any of MDLY's subsidiaries. In addition, the director must meet the bright-line test for independence set forth by the NYSE rules.

MDLY's Corporate Governance Guidelines define independence in accordance with the independence definition in the current NYSE corporate governance rules for listed companies. MDLY's Corporate Governance Guidelines require the MDLY Board to review the independence of all directors at least annually.

In the event a director has a relationship with MDLY that is relevant to his or her independence and is not addressed by the objective tests set forth in the NYSE independence definition, the MDLY Board will determine, considering all relevant facts and circumstances, whether such relationship is material.

The MDLY Board has affirmatively determined that each of Messrs. Eaton, Leeds and Rounsaville, Jr. is independent under the guidelines for director independence set forth in the Corporate Governance Guidelines and under all applicable NYSE guidelines, including with respect to committee membership. The MDLY Board also has determined that each of Messrs. Eaton, Leeds and Rounsaville is "independent" for purposes of Section 10A(m)(3) of the Exchange Act.

(1) Subject to the terms of the Exchange Agreement, the Medley LLC Units are exchangeable for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock on a one-for-one basis. See “Certain Relationships and Related Person Transactions of MDLY— Exchange Agreement.” Beneficial ownership of Medley LLC Units reflected in this table does not include beneficial ownership of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock for which such Medley LLC Units may be exchanged. Percentage of MDLY Class A Common Stock beneficially owned as reflected in this table is based on 5,701,008 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock outstanding as of December 14, 2018. Percentage of Medley LLC Units beneficially owned as reflected in this table treats Medley LLC Units held by MDLY as outstanding.

(2) Holders of MDLY Class B Common Stock are entitled to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of Medley LLC Units and Medley LLC Restricted Units held by such holder, regardless of the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such holder. Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly owned by MDLY pre-IPO owners, holds all 100 issued and outstanding shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock, and the MDLY Class B Common Stock provides Medley Group LLC with a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units and Medley LLC Restricted Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC. As of December 14, 2018, the non-managing members of Medley LLC held 23,333,333 and 1,081,969 Medley LLC Units and Medley LLC Restricted Units, respectively, entitling Medley Group LLC to 244,153,020 votes.

Messrs. Brook and Seth Taube may be deemed to have beneficial ownership of the shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by Medley Group LLC.

(3) Represents percentage of voting power of MDLY Class A Common Stock and MDLY Class B Common Stock voting together as a single class, based upon an aggregate of 5,701,008 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock outstanding as of December 14, 2018, which carry a total of 5,701,008 votes, and 100 shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock outstanding as of December 14, 2018, which carry a total of 244,153,020 votes.

(2) The weighted average exercise price does not include outstanding equity awards that are received or exercised for no consideration.

MDLY CLASS A COMMON STOCK PERFORMANCE GRAPH

The graph below compares the cumulative stockholder return from September 24, 2014, the date the MDLY Class A Common Stock began trading on the NYSE, through September 30, 2018, with that of the Standard & Poor's 500 Stock Index and the Russell 2000 Financial Services Index. The graph assumes that the value of the investment in the MDLY Class A Common Stock and each index was $100 on September 24, 2014 and that all dividends and other distributions were reinvested.

QUANTITATIVE AND QUALITATIVE DISCLOSURE ABOUT MARKET RISK OF MDLY

MDLY's primary exposure to market risk is related to its role as general partner or investment adviser to MDLY's investment funds and the sensitivity to movements in the fair value of their investments, including the effect on management fees, performance fees and investment income.

The market price of investments may significantly fluctuate during the period of investment. Investments may decline in value due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries represented in the securities markets. The value of an investment may decline due to general market conditions which are not specifically related to such investment, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. They may also decline due to factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.

Effect on Management Fees

Management fees are generally based on a defined percentage of gross asset values, total committed capital, net invested capital and NAV of the investment funds managed by MDLY as well as a percentage of net interest income over a performance hurdle. Management fees calculated based on fair value of assets or net investment income are affected by short-term changes in market values.

The overall impact of a short-term change in market value may be mitigated by fee definitions that are not based on market value including invested capital and committed capital, market value definitions that exclude the impact of realized and/or unrealized gains and losses, market value definitions based on beginning of the period values or a form of average market value including daily, monthly or quarterly averages, as well as monthly or quarterly payment terms.

As such, based on an incremental 10% short-term increase in fair value of the investments in MDLY's permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and SMAs as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated approximately a $0.6 million and $2.1 million increase in management fees for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, respectively. In the case of a 10% short-term decline in fair value of the investments in MDLY's permanent capital, long-dated funds and SMAs as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated approximately a $0.9 million and $2.8 million decrease in management fees for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, respectively.

Effect on Performance Fees

Performance fees are based on certain specific hurdle rates as defined in the funds' applicable investment management or partnership agreements. Performance fees for any period are based upon the probability that there will not be a significant future revenue reversal of such fees in the future. MDLY exercises significant judgments when determining if any performance fees should be recognized in a given period including the below.

- whether the fund is near final liquidation
- whether the fair value of the remaining assets in the fund is significantly in excess of the threshold at which MDLY would earn an incentive fee
- the probability of significant fluctuations in the fair value of the remaining assets
- the SMA's remaining investments are under contract for sale with contractual purchase prices that would result in no clawback and it is highly likely that the contracts will be consummated

Short-term changes in the fair values of funds' investments usually do not impact accrued performance fees. The overall impact of a short-term change in market value may be mitigated by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the way in which carried interest performance fees are calculated, which is not ultimately dependent on short-term moves in fair market value, but rather realize cumulative performance of the investments through the end of the long-dated private funds, and SMAs' lives.

MDLY has not recognized any performance fees for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018. As such, MDLY would not be impacted by an incremental 10% short-term increase or decrease in fair value of the investments in its separately managed accounts.

Effect on Part I and Part II Incentive Fees

Incentive fees are based on certain specific hurdle rates as defined in MDLY's permanent capital vehicles' applicable investment management agreements. The Part II incentive fees are based upon realized gains netted against cumulative realized and unrealized losses. The Part I incentive fees are not subject to clawbacks as MDLY's carried interest performance fees are.

Short-term changes in the fair values of the investments of MDLY's permanent capital vehicles may materially impact Part II incentive fees depending on the respective vehicle's performance relative to applicable hurdles to the extent there were realized gains that MDLY would otherwise earn Part II incentive fees on.

As such, based on an incremental 10% short-term increase in fair value of the investments in MDLY's permanent capital vehicles as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated a $0.4 million decrease in Part I and II incentive fees for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018. In the case of a 10% short-term decline in fair value of the investments in MDLY's permanent capital vehicles as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated a $0.4 million increase in Part I incentive fees for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018.

Effect on Carried Interest

Carried interest are performance based fees that represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager. Carried interest are allocated to MDLY based on cumulative fund performance to date, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's governing documents.

Short-term changes in the fair values of funds' investments may materially impact accrued carried interest depending on the respective funds' performance relative to applicable return levels. The overall impact of a short-term change in market value may be mitigated by a number of factors including, but not limited to, the way in which carried interest are calculated, which is not ultimately dependent on short-term moves in fair market value, but rather realized cumulative performance of the investments through the end of the long-dated private funds' lives. However, short-term moves can meaningfully impact MDLY's ability to accrue carried interest and receive cash payments in any given period.

As such, based on an incremental 10% short-term increase in fair value of the investments in MDLY's long-dated private funds as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated approximately a $6.6 million increase in carried interest for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018. In the case of a 10% short-term decline in fair value of investments in MDLY's long-dated private funds as of September 30, 2018, MDLY calculated approximately a $0.5 million decrease in carried interest for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018.

Interest Rate Risk

As of September 30, 2018, MDLY had $127.2 million of debt outstanding, net of unamortized discount, premium, and issuance costs, presented as loans payable and senior unsecured debt in MDLY's audited financial statements included elsewhere in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. MDLY's debt bears interest at fixed rates, and therefore is not subject to interest rate fluctuation risk.

As credit-oriented investors, MDLY is also subject to interest rate risk through the securities it holds in its funds. A 100 basis point increase in interest rates would be expected to negatively affect prices of securities that accrue interest income at fixed rates and therefore negatively impact net change in unrealized appreciation on the funds' investments. The actual impact is dependent on the average duration of such holdings. Conversely, securities that accrue interest at variable rates would be expected to benefit from a 100 basis points increase in interest rates because these securities would generate higher levels of current income and therefore positively impact interest and dividend income, subject to LIBOR. In the cases where MDLY's funds pay management fees based on NAV, MDLY would expect management fees to experience a change in direction and magnitude corresponding to that experienced by the underlying portfolios.

Credit Risk

MDLY is a party to agreements providing for various financial services and transactions that contain an element of risk in the event that the counterparties are unable to meet the terms of such agreements. In such agreements, MDLY depends on the respective counterparty to make payment or otherwise perform. MDLY generally endeavors to minimize its risk of exposure by limiting to reputable financial institutions the counterparties with which it enters into financial transactions. In other circumstances, availability of financing from financial institutions may be uncertain due to market events, and MDLY may not be able to access these financing markets.

DESCRIPTION OF SIERRA'S CAPITAL STOCK

General

Under the terms of the Sierra Charter, Sierra's authorized capital stock consists solely of 250,000,000 shares of Sierra Common Stock, par value $0.001 per share, of which 98,182,586 shares were outstanding as of December 14, 2018. Under the terms of the Sierra Charter, the Sierra Board is authorized to classify and reclassify any unissued shares of stock into other classes or series of stock, and to cause the issuance of such shares, without obtaining stockholder approval. In addition, as permitted by the MGCL, but subject to the Investment Company Act, the Sierra Charter provides that the Sierra Board, without any action by the Sierra Stockholders, may amend the Sierra Charter from time to time to increase or decrease the aggregate number of shares of stock or the number of shares of stock of any class or series that Sierra has authority to issue. Under the MGCL, Sierra Stockholders generally are not personally liable for Sierra's debts or obligations.

There is currently no market for Sierra Common Stock, and Sierra can offer no assurances that a market for shares of Sierra Common Stock will develop in the future. There are no outstanding options or warrants to purchase Sierra Common Stock. No Sierra Common Stock has been authorized for issuance under any equity compensation plan.

All policies shall be equally applicable and enforceable to each Sierra Stockholder, including but not limited to those pertaining to liquidation, conversion and redemption rights. No shares of Sierra Common Stock are subject to further calls or to assessments, sinking fund provisions, obligations of Sierra or potential liabilities associated with ownership of the security (not including investment risks).

Outstanding Securities

Set forth below is a chart describing classes of securities outstanding as of December 14, 2018.

Title of Class	Amount Authorized	Amount Held by Company or for its Account	Amount Outstanding
Sierra Common Stock	250,000,000	—	98,182,586

Sierra Common Stock

Under the terms of the Sierra Charter, all shares of Sierra Common Stock, when they are issued, will be duly authorized, validly issued, fully paid and nonassessable. Distributions may be paid to the holders of Sierra Common Stock, as and when authorized by the Sierra Board and declared by the Sierra Board out of funds legally available therefor. Except as may be provided by the Sierra Board in setting the terms of classified or reclassified stock, shares of Sierra Common Stock will have no preemptive, exchange, conversion or redemption rights and will be freely transferable, except where their transfer is restricted by federal and state securities laws or by contract. In the event of Sierra's liquidation, dissolution or winding up, each share of a class of Sierra Common Stock would be entitled to be paid, out of the assets of Sierra that are legally available for distribution to Sierra Stockholders after Sierra pays or makes reasonable provisions for the payment of all claims and obligations and subject to any preferential rights of holders of Sierra preferred stock, if any Sierra preferred stock is outstanding at such time. Each share of Sierra Common Stock is entitled to one vote on all matters submitted to a vote of Sierra Stockholders, including the election of directors, and subject to the express terms of any class or series of preferred stock, holders of Sierra Common Stock shall have the exclusive right to vote on all matters as to which a Sierra Stockholder is entitled to vote pursuant to applicable law at all meetings of Sierra Stockholders provided, however, that the holders of Sierra Common Stock will have exclusive voting rights on an amendment to the Sierra Charter that would alter only the contract rights, as expressly set forth in the Sierra Charter. There will be no cumulative voting in the election of directors, which means that holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of Sierra Common Stock will be able to elect all of Sierra directors, provided that there are no shares of any other class or series of preferred stock outstanding entitled to vote in the election of directors, and holders of less than a majority of such shares will be unable to elect any director.

Preferred Stock

Sierra's offering, which was terminated effective as of July 31, 2018, did not include an offering of preferred stock. However, under the terms of the Sierra Charter, the Sierra Board is authorized to issue shares of preferred stock in one or more series without Sierra Stockholder approval. A majority of Sierra's independent directors must approve any issuance of preferred stock and will have access, at Sierra's expense, to Sierra's legal counsel or to independent legal counsel. The Sierra Board has discretion to determine the rights, preferences, privileges, and restrictions, including voting rights, dividend rights, conversion rights, redemption privileges, and liquidation preferences of each series of preferred stock. The purpose of authorizing the Sierra Board to issue preferred stock and determine its rights and preferences is to eliminate delays associated with a Sierra Stockholder vote on specific issuances. In the event Sierra issues preferred stock, Sierra will supplement its prospectus accordingly.

Preferred stock could be issued with rights and preferences that would adversely affect the holders of Sierra Common Stock. Preferred stock could also be used as an anti-takeover device. Every issuance of preferred stock will be required to comply with the applicable requirements of the Investment Company Act. The Investment Company Act requires that: (1) immediately after issuance and before any distribution is made with respect to Sierra Common Stock and before any purchase of Sierra Common Stock is made, such preferred stock together with all other senior securities must not exceed an amount equal to 50% of Sierra's total assets after deducting the amount of such distribution or purchase price, as the case may be, and (2) the holders of shares of preferred stock, if any are issued, must be entitled as a class to elect two directors at all times and to elect a majority of the directors if distributions on such preferred stock are in arrears by two years or more. Certain matters under the Investment Company Act require the separate vote of the holders of any issued and outstanding preferred stock. Sierra believes that the availability for issuance of preferred stock will provide Sierra with increased flexibility in structuring future financings and acquisitions.

Limitation on Liability of Directors and Officers; Indemnification and Advance of Expenses

Maryland law permits a Maryland corporation to include in its charter a provision limiting the liability of its directors and officers to the corporation and its stockholders for money damages except for liability resulting from (a) actual receipt of an improper benefit or profit in money, property or services or (b) active and deliberate dishonesty established by a final judgment and which is material to the cause of action.

Despite the above provisions of Maryland law, and in accordance with guidelines adopted by the North American Securities Administrators Association, the Sierra Charter provides that (i) any present or former director or officer; (ii) any individual who, while a director or officer and at Sierra's request, serves or has served another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise as a director, officer, or partner; or (iii) SIC Advisors or any of its affiliates acting as an agent for Sierra (each such person, an "Indemnitee") shall not be entitled to indemnification (including reasonable attorneys' fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) for any liability or loss suffered by Sierra, nor shall an Indemnitee be held harmless for any loss or liability suffered by Sierra, unless each of the following conditions are met: (1) the Indemnitee has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct which caused the loss or liability was in Sierra's best interests, (2) the Indemnitee was acting on behalf of or performing services for Sierra, (3) the liability or loss suffered was not the result of (A) negligence or misconduct, in the case that the Indemnitee is SIC Advisors or an affiliate thereof acting as Sierra's agent, or an officer of Sierra, or (B) gross negligence or willful misconduct, in the case that the Indemnitee is a director of Sierra (and is not also an officer of Sierra, SIC Advisors or an affiliate thereof) and (4) the indemnification or agreement to hold harmless is only recoverable out of Sierra's net assets and not from Sierra Stockholders. If Sierra Charter Amendment Proposal A(ix) is approved, the restrictions in the forgoing sentence will be deleted from the Sierra Charter. In accordance with the Investment Company Act, Sierra will not indemnify any person for any liability to which such person would be subject by reason of such person's willful misconduct, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of his office.

Maryland law requires a corporation (unless its charter provides otherwise, which the Sierra Charter does not) to indemnify a director or officer who has been successful in the defense of any proceeding to which he or she is made a party by reason of his or her service in that capacity against reasonable expenses incurred in the proceeding in which the director or officer was successful. Maryland law permits a corporation to indemnify its present and former directors and officers, among others, against judgments, penalties, fines, settlements and reasonable expenses actually incurred by them in connection with any proceeding to which they may be made a party by reason of their service in those or other capacities unless it is established that (a) the act or omission of the director or officer was material to the matter giving rise to the proceeding and (1) was committed in bad faith or (2) was the result of active and deliberate dishonesty, (b) the director or officer actually received an improper personal benefit in money, property or services or (c) in the case of any criminal proceeding, the director or officer had reasonable cause to believe that the act or omission was unlawful. However, under Maryland law, a Maryland corporation may not indemnify for an adverse judgment in a suit by or in the right of the corporation or for a judgment of liability on the basis that a personal benefit was improperly received, unless in either case a court orders indemnification, and then only for expenses. In addition, Maryland law permits a corporation to advance reasonable expenses to a director or officer upon the corporation's receipt of (a) a written affirmation by the director or officer of his or her good faith belief that he or she has met the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the corporation and (b) a written undertaking by him or her or on his or her behalf to repay the amount paid or reimbursed by the corporation if it is ultimately determined that the standard of conduct was not met.

Sierra's insurance policy does not currently provide coverage for claims, liabilities and expenses that may arise out of activities that the present or former directors or officers of SIC Advisors have performed for another entity at Sierra's request. There is no assurance that such entities will in fact carry such insurance. However, Sierra notes that Sierra does not expect to request the present or former directors or officers of SIC Advisors to serve another entity as a director, officer, partner or trustee unless Sierra can obtain insurance providing coverage for such persons for any claims, liabilities or expenses that may arise out of their activities while serving in such capacities.

Provisions of MGCL and the Sierra Charter and Sierra Bylaws

MGCL, the Sierra Charter and the Sierra Bylaws contain provisions that could make it more difficult for a potential acquirer to acquire Sierra by means of a tender offer, proxy contest or otherwise. These provisions are expected to discourage certain coercive takeover practices and inadequate takeover bids and to encourage persons seeking to acquire control of Sierra to negotiate first with the Sierra Board. Sierra believes that the benefits of these provisions outweigh the potential disadvantages of discouraging any such acquisition proposals because, among other things, the negotiation of such proposals may improve their terms.

Election of Directors

As permitted by MGCL, Sierra directors will be elected by a plurality of all votes cast by holders of the outstanding shares of stock entitled to vote at a meeting at which a quorum is present. Thus, Sierra Stockholders have the sole power to elect directors (except to fill vacancies, as discussed further below).

Classified Board of Directors

The Sierra Board is divided into three classes of directors serving staggered three-year terms. At each annual meeting of Sierra Stockholders, the successors to the class of directors whose term expires at such meeting will be elected to hold office for a term expiring at the annual meeting of Sierra Stockholders held in the third year following the year of their election. Each director holds office for the term to which he or she is elected and until his or her successor is duly elected and qualifies. Sierra believes that the longer time required to elect a majority of a classified board of directors will help to ensure the continuity and stability of Sierra management and policies.

Number of Directors; Vacancies; Removal

The Sierra Charter provides that the number of directors is five, and will be increased to six in connection with the Mergers, which number may be increased or decreased by the Sierra Board in accordance with the Sierra Bylaws. Sierra Bylaws provide that a majority of the Sierra Board may at any time increase or decrease the number of directors. Sierra Bylaws provide that the number of directors may never be less than three or more than twelve. Except as may be provided by the Sierra Board in setting the terms of any class or series of preferred stock, and pursuant to an election in the Sierra Charter, as permitted by Section 3-804(c) of the MGCL, any and all vacancies on the Sierra Board may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors in office, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum, and any director elected to fill a vacancy will serve for the remainder of the full term of the directorship in which the vacancy occurred and until a successor is elected and qualifies, subject to any applicable requirements of the Investment Company Act.

Under the mandatory provisions of MGCL, Sierra Stockholders may only remove a director with cause by the affirmative vote of a majority of all the votes entitled to be cast in the election of directors.

Sierra currently has a total of five members on the Sierra Board, three of whom are Sierra Independent Directors. The Sierra Charter provides that a majority of the Sierra Board must be Sierra Independent Directors except for a period of up to 60 days after the death, removal or resignation of a Sierra Independent Director pending the election of his or her successor.

Action by Sierra Stockholders

MGCL provides that stockholder action can be taken only at an annual or special meeting of stockholders or by unanimous consent in lieu of a meeting. These provisions, combined with the requirements of Sierra Bylaws regarding the calling of a Sierra Stockholder requested special meeting discussed below, may have the effect of delaying consideration of a Sierra Stockholder proposal until the next annual meeting.

Advance Notice Provisions for Sierra Stockholder Nominations and Sierra Stockholder Proposals

The Sierra Bylaws provide that with respect to an annual meeting of Sierra Stockholders, nominations of persons for election to the Sierra Board and the proposal of business to be considered by Sierra Stockholders may be made only (a) pursuant to Sierra's notice of the meeting, (b) by the Sierra Board or (c) by a Sierra Stockholder who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with the advance notice procedures of the Sierra Bylaws. With respect to a special meeting, only the business specified in the notice of the meeting may be brought before the meeting. Nominations of persons for election to the Sierra Board at a special meeting may be made only (a) pursuant to the notice of the meeting, (b) by the Sierra Board or (c) provided that the Sierra Board has determined that directors will be elected at the meeting, by a Sierra Stockholder who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with the advance notice provisions of the Sierra Bylaws.

The purpose of requiring Sierra Stockholders to give Sierra advance notice of nominations and other business is to afford the Sierra Board a meaningful opportunity to consider the qualifications of the proposed nominees and the advisability of any other proposed business and, to the extent deemed necessary or desirable by the Sierra Board, to inform Sierra Stockholders and make recommendations about such qualifications or business, as well as to provide a more orderly procedure for conducting meetings of Sierra Stockholders. Although the Sierra Bylaws do not give the Sierra Board any power to disapprove Sierra Stockholder nominations for the election of directors or proposals recommending certain action, they may have the effect of precluding a contest for the election of directors or the consideration of Sierra Stockholder proposals if proper procedures are not followed and of discouraging or deterring a third party from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect its own slate of directors or to approve its own proposal without regard to whether consideration of such nominees or proposals might be harmful or beneficial to Sierra and Sierra Stockholders.

Calling of a Sierra Special Meeting

The Sierra Bylaws provide that a special meeting may be called by the Sierra Board and certain Sierra officers. In addition, the Sierra Charter and the Sierra Bylaws provide that, subject to the satisfaction of certain procedural and informational requirements by the Sierra Stockholders requesting the meeting, a special meeting will be called by the secretary of the corporation upon the written request of Sierra Stockholders entitled to cast 10% or more of the votes entitled to be cast at the meeting.

Access to Records

Any Sierra Stockholder will be permitted access to all of Sierra's records to which they are entitled under applicable law at all reasonable times and may inspect and copy any of them for a reasonable copying charge. Inspection of Sierra records by the office or agency administering the securities laws of a jurisdiction will be provided upon reasonable notice and during normal business hours.

Under the MGCL, Sierra Stockholders are entitled to inspect and copy, upon written request during usual business hours, the following corporate documents: (i) the Sierra Charter, (ii) the Sierra Bylaws, (iii) minutes of the proceedings of Sierra Stockholders, (iv) annual statements of affairs, and (v) any voting trust agreements. A Sierra Stockholder may also request access to any other corporate records, which may be evaluated solely in the discretion of the Sierra Board.

Additionally, under the Sierra Charter and the Sierra Bylaws, an alphabetical list of the names, addresses and telephone numbers of Sierra Stockholders, along with the number of shares of Sierra Common Stock held by each of them, will be maintained as part of Sierra's books and records and will be available for inspection by any Sierra Stockholder or by a Sierra Stockholder's designated agent at the Sierra office. A Sierra Stockholder may request a copy of the Sierra Stockholder list in connection with matters relating to voting rights and the exercise of Sierra Stockholder rights under federal proxy laws. A Sierra Stockholder requesting a list will be required to pay reasonable costs of postage and duplication. If Charter Amendment Proposal A(x) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, these provision affording Sierra Stockholders additional rights will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

In addition to the foregoing, Sierra Stockholders have rights under Rule 14a-7 under the Exchange Act, which provides that, upon the request of investors and the payment of the expenses of the distribution, Sierra is required to distribute specific materials to Sierra Stockholders in the context of the solicitation of proxies for voting on matters presented to Sierra Stockholders or, at Sierra's option, provide requesting Sierra Stockholders with a copy of the list of Sierra Stockholders so that the requesting Sierra Stockholders may make the distribution of proxies themselves. A Sierra Stockholder may also request access to any other corporate records. If a proper request for the Sierra Stockholder list or any other corporate records is not honored, then the requesting Sierra Stockholder will be entitled to recover certain costs incurred in compelling the production of the list or other requested corporate records as well as actual damages suffered by reason of the refusal or failure to produce the list. However, a Sierra Stockholder will not have the right to, and Sierra may require a requesting Sierra Stockholder to represent that it will not, secure the Sierra Stockholder list or other information for the purpose of selling or using the list for a commercial purpose not related to the requesting Sierra Stockholder's interest in Sierra affairs. Sierra may also require such Sierra Stockholder sign a confidentiality agreement in connection with the request.

Approval of Extraordinary Corporate Action; Amendment of the Sierra Charter and Sierra Bylaws

Under the mandatory provisions of MGCL, a Maryland corporation generally cannot dissolve, amend its charter, merge, sell all or substantially all of its assets, engage in a share exchange or engage in similar transactions outside the ordinary course of business, unless first declared advisable by the board of directors and approved by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast at least two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter. However, a Maryland corporation may provide in its charter for approval of these matters by a lesser percentage, but not less than a majority of all of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter. Thus, under the mandatory provisions of Maryland law, Sierra Stockholders are not permitted to vote on (1) amending the Sierra Charter, (2) causing the dissolution or termination of Sierra, or (3) selling or substantially all of Sierra's assets other than in the ordinary course business or causing the merger or other reorganization of Sierra, unless the Sierra Board has first declared such matters advisable. However, the Sierra Board is also required to obtain, as a matter of law, the approval of Sierra Stockholders before Sierra may engage in any such transactions.

Generally, under the Sierra Charter, an action that requires approval of a majority of Sierra Stockholders includes:

- Amending the Sierra Charter;
- Amending the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement;
- Amending the Sierra Administration Agreement;
- Approving or disapproving the sale of all or substantially all of Sierra's assets when such sale is to be made other than in the ordinary course of Sierra's business;
- Causing a merger or other reorganization of Sierra;
- Dissolving Sierra; and
- Removing SIC Advisors and electing a new investment adviser.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, amendments to the Sierra Charter to make Sierra Common Stock a "redeemable security" or to convert Sierra, whether by merger or otherwise, from a closed-end company to an open-end company must be approved by the affirmative vote of Sierra Stockholders entitled to cast at least two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

The Sierra Charter also provides that the Sierra Board will have the exclusive power to make, alter, amend or repeal any provision of Sierra Bylaws. If Charter Amendment Proposal D is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, the Sierra Stockholders will also be permitted to make, alter, amend or repeal any provision of Sierra Bylaws, subject to certain limitations

Without the approval of a majority of Sierra Stockholders, SIC Advisors may not:

- Amend the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement except for amendments that would not adversely affect the interests of Sierra Stockholders;
- Voluntarily withdraw as SIC Advisors unless such withdrawal would not affect Sierra's tax status and would not materially adversely affect Sierra Stockholders;
- Appoint a new investment adviser;
- Sell all or substantially all of Sierra's assets other than in the ordinary course of business; and
- Cause the merger or any other reorganization of Sierra.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(i) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, these provisions affording Sierra Stockholders voting rights will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Sierra Charter also provides certain voting rights for Sierra Stockholders, including the right to direct that the Sierra Board to cause Sierra to (i) amend the Sierra Charter, (ii) dissolve Sierra, (iii) approve the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of Sierra, or (iv) cause the merger or other reorganization of Sierra. If Charter Amendment Proposals B and C are approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, these provisions affording the Sierra Stockholders voting rights will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

No Appraisal Rights

In certain extraordinary transactions, MGCL provides the right to dissenting stockholders to demand and receive the fair value of their shares, subject to certain procedures and requirements set forth in the statute. Those rights are commonly referred to as appraisal rights. Except with respect to appraisal rights arising in connection with the Control Share Acquisition Act, defined and discussed below, as permitted by MGCL, and similar rights in connection with a proposed roll-up transaction, the Sierra Charter provides that Sierra Stockholders will not be entitled to exercise appraisal rights. See "Certain Relationships and Related Party Transactions of Sierra — Appraisal and Compensation." If Charter Amendment Proposal A(viii) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, these rights in connection with a proposed roll-up transaction will be deleted.

Control Share Acquisitions

MGCL provides that control shares of a Maryland corporation acquired in a control share acquisition have no voting rights except to the extent approved by a vote of two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter, referred to as the Control Share Acquisition Act. Shares owned by the acquirer, or by officers or directors who are employees of the corporation, are excluded from shares entitled to vote on the matter. Control shares are voting shares of stock which, if aggregated with all other shares of stock owned by the acquirer or in respect of which the acquirer is able to exercise or direct the exercise of voting power (except solely by virtue of a revocable proxy), would entitle the acquirer to exercise voting power in electing directors within one of the following ranges of voting power:

- one-tenth or more but less than one-third;
- one-third or more but less than a majority; or
- a majority or more of all voting power.

The requisite stockholder approval must be obtained each time an acquirer crosses one of the thresholds of voting power set forth above. Control shares do not include shares the acquiring person is then entitled to vote as a result of having previously obtained stockholder approval. A control share acquisition means the acquisition of control shares, subject to certain exceptions.

A person who has made or proposes to make a control share acquisition may compel the board of directors of the corporation to call a special meeting of stockholders to be held within 50 days of demand to consider the voting rights of the shares. The right to compel the calling of a special meeting is subject to the satisfaction of certain conditions, including an undertaking to pay the expenses of the meeting. If no request for a meeting is made, the corporation may itself present the question at any stockholders meeting.

If voting rights are not approved at the meeting or if the acquiring person does not deliver an acquiring person statement, as required by the statute, then the corporation may repurchase for fair value any or all of the control shares, except those for which voting rights have previously been approved. The right of the corporation to repurchase control shares is subject to certain conditions and limitations, including, as provided in the Sierra Bylaws, compliance with the Investment Company Act. Fair value is determined, without regard to the absence of voting rights for the control shares, as of the date of the last control share acquisition by the acquirer or of any meeting of stockholders at which the voting rights of the shares are considered and not approved. If voting rights for control shares are approved at a stockholders meeting and the acquirer becomes entitled to vote a majority of the shares entitled to vote, all other stockholders may exercise appraisal rights. The fair value of the shares as determined for purposes of appraisal rights may not be less than the highest price per share paid by the acquirer in the control share acquisition.

The Control Share Acquisition Act does not apply (a) to shares acquired in a merger, consolidation or share exchange if the corporation is a party to the transaction or (b) to acquisitions approved or exempted by the charter or bylaws of a corporation.

The Sierra Bylaws contain a provision exempting from the Control Share Acquisition Act any and all acquisitions by any person of shares of Sierra Common Stock. There can be no assurance that such provision will not be amended or eliminated at any time in the future. However, Sierra will amend the Sierra Bylaws to be subject to the Control Share Acquisition Act only if the Sierra Board determines that it would be in Sierra's best interest and if the SEC staff does not object to Sierra's determination that being subject to the Control Share Acquisition Act does not conflict with the Investment Company Act.

Business Combinations

Under Maryland law, certain "business combinations" between a Maryland corporation and an interested stockholder or an affiliate of an interested stockholder are prohibited for five years after the most recent date on which the interested stockholder becomes an interested stockholder, which is referred to as the Business Combination Act. These business combinations include a merger, consolidation, share exchange or, in circumstances specified in the statute, an asset transfer or issuance or reclassification of equity securities. An interested stockholder is defined as:

- any person who beneficially owns 10% or more of the voting power of the corporation's shares; or
- an affiliate or associate of the corporation who, at any time within the two-year period prior to the date in question, was the beneficial owner of 10% or more of the voting power of the then outstanding voting stock of the corporation.

A person is not an interested stockholder under this statute if the board of directors approved in advance the transaction by which he otherwise would have become an interested stockholder. However, in approving a transaction, the board of directors may provide that its approval is subject to compliance, at or after the time of approval, with any terms and conditions determined by the board.

After the five-year prohibition, any business combination between the Maryland corporation and an interested stockholder generally must be recommended by the board of directors of the corporation and approved by the affirmative vote of at least:

- 80% of the votes entitled to be cast by holders of outstanding shares of voting stock of the corporation; and
- two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast by holders of voting stock of the corporation other than shares held by the interested stockholder with whom or with whose affiliate the business combination is to be effected or held by an affiliate or associate of the interested stockholder.

These super-majority vote requirements do not apply if the corporation's common stockholders receive a minimum price, as defined under Maryland law, for their shares in the form of cash or other consideration in the same form as previously paid by the interested stockholder for its shares.

The statute permits various exemptions from its provisions, including business combinations that are exempted by the board of directors before the time that the interested stockholder becomes an interested stockholder.

The Sierra Board has adopted a resolution that any business combination between Sierra and any other person is exempted from the provisions of the Business Combination Act, provided that the business combination is first approved by the Sierra Board, including a majority of the directors who are not interested persons as defined in the Investment Company Act. This resolution, however, may be altered or repealed in whole or in part at any time. If this resolution is repealed, or the Sierra Board does not otherwise approve a business combination, the statute may discourage others from trying to acquire control of Sierra and increase the difficulty of consummating any offer.

Additional Provisions of Maryland Law

Maryland law provides that a Maryland corporation that is subject to the Exchange Act and has at least three outside directors can elect by resolution of the board of directors to be subject to some corporate governance provisions that may be inconsistent with the corporation's charter and bylaws. Under the applicable statute, a board of directors may classify itself without the vote of stockholders. A board of directors classified in that manner cannot be altered by amendment to the charter of the corporation. Further, the board of directors may, by electing into applicable statutory provisions and notwithstanding the articles of incorporation or bylaws:

- reserve for itself the right to fix the number of directors;
- provide that a director may be removed only by the vote of the holders of two-thirds of the stock entitled to vote;
- retain for itself sole authority to fill vacancies created by the death, removal or resignation of a director; and
- provide that all vacancies on the board of directors may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors, in office, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum.

In addition, if the board is classified, a director elected to fill a vacancy under this provision will serve for the balance of the unexpired term instead of until the next annual meeting of stockholders. A board of directors may implement all or any of these provisions without amending the articles of incorporation or bylaws and without stockholder approval. A corporation may be prohibited by its charter or by resolution of its board of directors from electing any of the provisions of the statute. Sierra is not prohibited from implementing any or all of the statute.

Pursuant to the Sierra Charter, Sierra has elected to be subject to a specific provision of the statute such that, at all times that Sierra is eligible to make that election, all vacancies on the Sierra Board resulting from an increase in the size of the board or the death, resignation or removal of a director may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum. That election by the Sierra Board is subject to applicable requirements of the Investment Company Act and subject to any provisions of a class or series of preferred stock established by the Sierra Board, and provided that Sierra Independent Directors shall nominate replacements for any vacancies among the Sierra Independent Directors' positions. While certain other of the provisions available for election under the statute are already contemplated by the Sierra Charter and Sierra Bylaws, the law would permit the Sierra Board to override further changes to the Sierra Charter or Sierra Bylaws.

Limited Repurchase Rights

The Sierra Charter contains provisions governing Sierra's share repurchase program (the "Sierra Share Repurchase Program") and Sierra's repurchase of shares upon the death or disability of a Sierra Stockholder. These repurchase obligations terminate, among other times, on the date that the Sierra Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange. If Charter Amendment Proposal A(vi) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, these provisions concerning Sierra's share repurchase program and Sierra's repurchase of shares upon death or disability of a Sierra Stockholder will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

Sierra Share Repurchase Program

Beginning in the third quarter of 2013 until the second quarter of 2018, pursuant to the Sierra Share Repurchase Plan, Sierra conducted quarterly share repurchases of up to 2.5% of the weighted average number of outstanding shares of Sierra Common Stock in the prior four calendar quarters or 10% of the weighted average number of Sierra outstanding shares in the prior 12-month periods. The purpose of the Sierra Share Repurchase Program was to allow Sierra Stockholders to sell their shares back to Sierra at a price equal to the most recently disclosed NAV per share of Sierra Common Stock immediately prior to the date of repurchase. Shares were purchased from Sierra Stockholders participating in the program on a pro rata basis. In connection with the Mergers, Sierra suspended the Sierra Share Repurchase Program.

Unless the Sierra Board determines otherwise, Sierra limited the number of shares to be repurchased during any calendar year to the number of shares Sierra can repurchase with the proceeds Sierra receives from the sale of shares of Sierra Common Stock under Sierra's distribution reinvestment plan. See "Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan." At the sole discretion of the Sierra Board, Sierra may also use cash on hand, cash available from borrowings and cash from liquidation of investments as of the end of the applicable period to repurchase shares. In addition, Sierra limited repurchases in each quarter to 2.5% of the weighted average number of shares of Sierra Common Stock outstanding in the prior four calendar quarters. Under the Sierra Share Repurchase Program, Sierra Stockholders may request that Sierra repurchase all of the shares of Sierra Common Stock that they own.

The Sierra Board has the right to suspend or terminate the Sierra Share Repurchase Program to the extent that it determines that it is in Sierra's best interest to do so. Sierra will promptly notify Sierra Stockholders of any changes to the Sierra Share Repurchase Program, including any suspension or termination of it in Sierra's periodic or current reports or by means of a separate mailing to the Sierra Stockholders. Moreover, the Sierra Share Repurchase Program will terminate on the date that Sierra Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange, are included for quotation in a national securities market or, in the sole determination of the Sierra Board, a secondary trading market for the shares otherwise develops. All shares to be repurchased under the Sierra Share Repurchase Program must be (i) fully transferable and not be subject to any liens or other encumbrances and (ii) free from any restrictions on transfer. If Sierra determines that a lien or other encumbrance or restriction exists against the shares requested to be repurchased, Sierra will not repurchase any such shares.

Repurchase Upon Death or Disability

In the event of the death or disability of a Sierra Stockholder, Sierra will repurchase the shares of Sierra Common Stock held by such Sierra Stockholder, upon such shares being under the Sierra Share Repurchase Program, presented to Sierra for repurchase, at a price equal to the NAV per share of shares of Sierra Common Stock as disclosed in the most recently filed periodic report filed with the SEC immediately following the death or disability of such Sierra Stockholder. However, Sierra will not be obligated to repurchase shares if more than 360 days have elapsed since the date of the death or disability of the Sierra Stockholder and, in the case of disability, if the Sierra Stockholder fails to provide an opinion of a qualified independent physician. For purposes of this repurchase right, a disability will be deemed to have occurred when a Sierra Stockholder suffers a disability for a period of time, as determined by the Sierra Board and confirmed by a qualified independent physician. The Sierra Board will have no obligation to repurchase shares if it would cause Sierra to violate federal law or Maryland law. Moreover, the Sierra Board has the right to suspend or terminate this repurchase right to the extent that it determines that it is in Sierra's best interest to do so. Finally, this repurchase right will terminate on the date that Sierra Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange or are included for quotation in a national securities market. All shares to be repurchased under the Sierra Share Repurchase Program must be (i) fully transferable and not be subject to any liens or other encumbrances and (ii) free from any restrictions on transfer. If Sierra determines that a lien or other encumbrance or restriction exists against the shares requested to be repurchased, Sierra will not repurchase any such shares.

Conflict with the Investment Company Act

Sierra Bylaws provide that, if and to the extent that any provision of MGCL, including the Control Share Acquisition Act (if Sierra amends the Sierra Bylaws to be subject to such Act) and the Business Combination Act, or any provision of the Sierra Charter or Sierra Bylaws conflicts with any provision of the Investment Company Act, the applicable provision of the Investment Company Act will control.

DESCRIPTION OF MCC'S CAPITAL STOCK

General

Under the terms of the MCC Certificate, authorized capital stock will consist solely of 100,000,000 shares of MCC Common Stock, par value $0.001 per share, of which 54,474,211 shares of MCC Common Stock were outstanding as of December 14, 2018, and 100,000,000 shares of MCC's preferred stock, par value $0.001 per share (the "MCC Preferred Stock"), of which no shares are outstanding as of the date hereof.

Common Stock

Under the terms of the MCC Certificate, holders of MCC Common Stock are entitled to one vote for each share held on all matters submitted to a vote of MCC Stockholders and do not have cumulative voting rights. Accordingly, holders of a majority of the shares of MCC Common Stock entitled to vote in any election of directors may elect all of the directors standing for election. Holders of MCC Common Stock are entitled to receive proportionately any dividends declared by the MCC Board, subject to any preferential dividend rights of outstanding MCC Preferred Stock. Upon MCC's liquidation, dissolution or winding up, the holders of MCC Common Stock are entitled to receive ratably MCC's net assets available after the payment of all debts and other liabilities and subject to the prior rights of any outstanding MCC Preferred Stock. Holders of MCC Common Stock have no preemptive, subscription, redemption or conversion rights. The rights, preferences and privileges of holders of MCC Common Stock are subject to the rights of the holders of any series of MCC Preferred Stock, which MCC may designate and issue in the future. In addition, holders of MCC Common Stock may participate in the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan.

Preferred Stock

Under the terms of the MCC Certificate, the MCC Board is authorized to issue shares of MCC Preferred Stock in one or more series without MCC Stockholder approval. The MCC Board has discretion to determine the rights, preferences, privileges and restrictions, including voting rights, dividend rights, conversion rights, redemption privileges and liquidation preferences of each series of MCC Preferred Stock. The Investment Company Act limits MCC's flexibility as to certain rights and preferences of the MCC Preferred Stock that the MCC Certificate may provide and requires, among other things, that immediately after issuance and before any distribution is made with respect to MCC Common Stock, MCC meet a coverage ratio of total assets to total senior securities, which include all of MCC borrowings and MCC Preferred Stock, of at least 200% (or 150% if, pursuant to the Investment Company Act, certain requirements are met), and the holders of shares of MCC Preferred Stock, if any are issued, must be entitled as a class to elect two directors at all times and to elect a majority of the directors if and for so long as dividends on the MCC Preferred Stock are unpaid in an amount equal to two full years of dividends on the MCC Preferred Stock. The features of MCC Preferred Stock will be further limited by the requirements applicable to RIC under the Code. The purpose of authorizing the MCC Board to issue MCC Preferred Stock and determine its rights and preferences is to eliminate delays associated with a MCC Stockholder vote on specific issuances. The issuance of MCC Preferred Stock, while providing desirable flexibility in connection with providing leverage for MCC's investment program, possible acquisitions and other corporate purposes, could make it more difficult for a third party to acquire, or could discourage a third party from acquiring, a majority of MCC's outstanding voting stock.

Delaware Law and Certain MCC Certificate and MCC Bylaw Provisions; Anti-Takeover Measures

MCC is subject to the provisions of Section 203 of DGCL. In general, the statute prohibits a publicly held Delaware corporation from engaging in a “business combination” with “interested stockholders” for a period of three years after the date of the transaction in which the person became an interested stockholder, unless the business combination is approved in a prescribed manner. A “business combination” includes certain mergers, asset sales and other transactions resulting in a financial benefit to the interested stockholder. Subject to exceptions (including an exception for MCC Advisors and certain of its affiliates), an “interested stockholder” is a person who, together with his affiliates and associates, owns, or within three years did own, 15% or more of the corporation’s voting stock. The MCC Certificate and the MCC Bylaws provide that:

- the MCC Board be divided into three classes, as nearly equal in size as possible, with staggered three-year terms;
- directors may be removed only for cause by the affirmative vote of the holders of 75% of the then outstanding shares of MCC’s capital stock entitled to vote; and
- subject to the rights of any holders of MCC Preferred Stock, any vacancy on the MCC Board, however the vacancy occurs, including a vacancy due to an enlargement of the MCC Board, may only be filled by vote a majority of the directors then in office.

The classification of the MCC Board and the limitations on removal of directors and filling of vacancies could have the effect of making it more difficult for a third party to acquire MCC, or of discouraging a third party from acquiring MCC. The MCC Certificate and the MCC Bylaws also provide that special meetings of MCC Stockholders may only be called by the MCC Board, its Chairman or its Chief Executive Officer.

DGCL provides generally that the affirmative vote of a majority of the shares entitled to vote on any matter is required to amend a corporation’s certificate of incorporation or bylaws, unless a corporation’s certificate of incorporation or bylaws requires a greater percentage. The MCC Certificate permits the MCC Board to amend or repeal the MCC Bylaws. The MCC Bylaws generally can be amended by approval of at least 66 2/3 % of the total number of authorized directors subject to certain exceptions, including provisions relating to the size of the MCC Board, and certain actions requiring MCC Board approval, which provisions will require the vote of 75% of the MCC Board to be amended. The affirmative vote of the holders of at least 66 2/3 % of the shares of MCC’s capital stock entitled to vote is required to amend or repeal any of the provisions of the MCC Bylaws.

Limitations of Liability and Indemnification

Under the MCC Certificate, MCC will fully indemnify any person who was or is involved in any actual or threatened action, suit or proceeding by reason of the fact that such person is or was one of MCC’s directors or officers. So long as MCC is regulated under the Investment Company Act, the above indemnification and limitation of liability is limited by the Investment Company Act or by any valid rule, regulation or order of the SEC thereunder. The Investment Company Act provides, among other things, that a company may not indemnify any director or officer against liability to it or its security holders to which he or she might otherwise be subject by reason of his or her willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of his or her office unless a determination is made by final decision of a court, by vote of a majority of a quorum of directors who are disinterested, non-party directors or by independent legal counsel that the liability for which indemnification is sought did not arise out of the foregoing conduct.

Delaware law also provides that indemnification permitted under the law shall not be deemed exclusive of any other rights to which the directors and officers may be entitled under the corporation’s bylaws, any agreement, a vote of stockholders or otherwise.

MCC has obtained liability insurance for its officers and directors.

Anti-Takeover Provisions

The MCC Certificate includes provisions that could have the effect of limiting the ability of other entities or persons to acquire control of MCC or to change the composition of the MCC Board. This could have the effect of depriving MCC Stockholders of an opportunity to sell their shares at a premium over prevailing market prices by discouraging a third party from seeking to obtain control over MCC. Such attempts could have the effect of increasing MCC’s expenses and disrupting MCC’s normal operation. One of these provisions is that the MCC Board will be divided into three classes, with the term of one class expiring at each annual meeting of MCC Stockholders. At each annual meeting, one class of directors is elected to a three-year term. This provision could delay for up to two years the replacement of a majority of the MCC Board. A director may be removed from office by a vote of the holders of at least 75% of the shares then entitled to vote for the election of the respective director.

DESCRIPTION OF MDLY'S CAPITAL STOCK

The following is a description of the material terms of, and is qualified in its entirety by, the MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws as currently in effect.

MDLY's purpose is to engage in any lawful act or activity for which corporations may now or hereafter be organized under the DGCL. MDLY's authorized capital stock will consist of 3,000,000,000 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, 1,000,000 shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, and 300,000,000 shares of MDLY's Preferred Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the "MDLY Preferred Stock"). Unless the MDLY Board determines otherwise, MDLY will issue all shares of its capital stock in uncertificated form.

Common Stock

MDLY Class A Common Stock

Holders of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock are entitled to one vote for each share held of record on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders are entitled to vote generally, including the election or removal of directors. The holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock do not have cumulative voting rights in the election of directors.

Holders of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock are entitled to receive dividends when and if declared by the MDLY Board out of funds legally available therefor, subject to any statutory or contractual restrictions on the payment of dividends and to any restrictions on the payment of dividends imposed by the terms of any outstanding MDLY Preferred Stock.

Upon MDLY's liquidation, dissolution or winding up and after payment in full of all amounts required to be paid to creditors and to the holders of MDLY Preferred Stock having liquidation preferences, if any, the holders of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock will be entitled to receive pro rata its remaining assets available for distribution.

All shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock that are currently outstanding as of the date hereof are fully paid and non-assessable. The MDLY Class A Common Stock will not be subject to further calls or assessments by MDLY. Holders of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock do not have preemptive, subscription, redemption or conversion rights. There will be no redemption or sinking fund provisions applicable to the MDLY Class A Common Stock. The rights powers and privileges of MDLY Class A Common Stock will be subject to those of the holders of any shares of MDLY Preferred Stock or any other series or class of stock it may authorize and issue in the future.

MDLY Class B Common Stock

For so long as MDLY pre-IPO owners and then-current Medley personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units (excluding those Medley LLC Units held by MDLY) then outstanding, which MDLY refers to as the "Substantial Ownership Requirement," the MDLY Class B Common Stock will entitle Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock times the Exchange Rate (as defined in the Exchange Agreement), which is currently one-for-one, and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder times the Exchange Rate, in each case, on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders generally are entitled to vote. For purposes of calculating the Substantial Ownership Requirement, (1) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock deliverable to MDLY's pre-IPO owners and then-current Medley personnel pursuant to outstanding equity awards will be deemed then outstanding and (2) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units held by any estate, trust, partnership or limited liability company or other similar entity of which any pre-IPO owner or then-current Medley personnel is a trustee, partner, member or similar party will be considered held by such pre-IPO owner or other then-current Medley personnel. From and after the time that the Substantial Ownership Requirement is no longer satisfied, the MDLY Class B Common Stock will entitle Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock times the Exchange Rate and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder times the Exchange Rate, in each case, on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders are entitled to vote generally. If at any time the Exchange Rate, which is the ratio at which Medley LLC Units are exchangeable for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock changes from one-for-one, as described under "Certain Relationships and Related Person Transactions of MDLY — Exchange Agreement," the number of votes to which MDLY Class B Common Stockholders are entitled will be adjusted accordingly. However, if the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Exchange Agreement will be void. The holders of MDLY Class B Common Stock do not have cumulative voting rights in the election of directors.

Table of Contents

Holders of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock will vote together with holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock as a single class on all matters on which stockholders are entitled to vote generally, except as otherwise required by law.

Holders of MDLY Class B Common Stock do not have any right to receive dividends or to receive a distribution upon a liquidation or winding up of MDLY.

The MDLY Certificate does not provide for any restrictions on transfer of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock.

Preferred Stock

No shares of MDLY Preferred Stock are currently outstanding as of the date hereof. The MDLY Certificate authorizes the MDLY Board to establish one or more series of MDLY Preferred Stock (including convertible MDLY Preferred Stock). Unless required by law or any stock exchange, the authorized shares of MDLY Preferred Stock will be available for issuance without further action by holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock or MDLY Class B Common Stock. The MDLY Board is able to determine, with respect to any series of MDLY Preferred Stock, the powers (including voting powers), preferences and relative, participating, optional or other special rights, and the qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, including, without limitation:

- the designation of the series;
- the number of shares of the series, which the MDLY Board may, except where otherwise provided in the preferred stock designation, increase (but not above the total number of authorized share of the class) or decrease (but not below the number of shares then outstanding);
- whether dividends, if any, will be cumulative or non-cumulative and the dividend rate of the series;
- the dates at which dividends, if any, will be payable;
- the redemption rights and price or prices, if any, for shares of the series;
- the terms and amounts of any sinking fund provided for the purchase or redemption of shares of the series;
- the amounts payable on shares of the series in the event of any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding-up of the affairs of MDLY;
- whether the shares of the series will be convertible into shares of any other class or series, or any other security, of MDLY or any other entity, and, if so, the specification of the other class or series or other security, the conversion price or prices or rate or rates, any rate adjustments, the date or dates as of which the shares will be convertible and all other terms and conditions upon which the conversion may be made;
- restrictions on the issuance of shares of the same series or of any other class or series; and
- the voting rights, if any, of the holders of the series.

MDLY could issue a series of MDLY Preferred Stock that could, depending on the terms of the series, impede or discourage an acquisition attempt or other transaction that some, or a majority, of the holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock might believe to be in their best interests or in which the holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock might receive a premium over the market price of the shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock. Additionally, the issuance of MDLY Preferred Stock may adversely affect the holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock by restricting dividends on the MDLY Class A Common Stock, diluting the voting power of the MDLY Class A Common Stock or subordinating the liquidation rights of the MDLY Class A Common Stock. As a result of these or other factors, the issuance of MDLY Preferred Stock could have an adverse impact on the market price of MDLY Class A Common Stock.

Authorized but Unissued Capital Stock

Delaware law does not require stockholder approval for any issuance of authorized shares. However, the listing requirements of the NYSE, which would apply so long as the shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock remains listed on the NYSE, require MDLY Stockholder approval of certain issuances equal to or exceeding 20% of the then outstanding voting power or the then outstanding number of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock (MDLY believes the position of the NYSE is that the calculation in this latter case treats as outstanding shares issuable upon exchange of outstanding Medley LLC Units not held by MDLY). These additional shares may be used for a variety of corporate purposes, including future public offerings, to raise additional capital or to facilitate acquisitions.

One of the effects of the existence of unissued and unreserved MDLY Class A Common Stock, MDLY Class B Common Stock, and MDLY Preferred Stock may be to enable the MDLY Board to issue shares to persons friendly to current management, which issuance could render more difficult or discourage an attempt to obtain control of MDLY by means of a merger, tender offer, proxy contest or otherwise, and thereby protect the continuity of MDLY management and possibly deprive the MDLY Stockholders of opportunities to sell their shares at prices higher than prevailing market prices.

Dividends

The DGCL permits a corporation to declare and pay dividends out of “surplus” or, if there is no “surplus,” out of its net profits for the fiscal year in which the dividend is declared and/or the preceding fiscal year. “Surplus” is defined as the excess of the net assets of the corporation over the amount determined to be the capital of the corporation by its board of directors. The capital of the corporation is typically calculated to be (and cannot be less than) the aggregate par value of all issued shares of capital stock. Net assets equals the fair value of the total assets minus total liabilities. The DGCL also provides that dividends may not be paid out of net profits if, after the payment of the dividend, remaining capital would be less than the capital represented by the outstanding stock of all classes having a preference upon the distribution of assets. Declaration and payment of any dividend will be subject to the discretion of the MDLY Board.

MDLY Stockholder Meetings

The MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws provide that annual MDLY Stockholder meetings will be held at a date, time and place, if any, as exclusively selected by the MDLY Board. The MDLY Bylaws provide that special meetings of the MDLY Stockholders may be called only by or at the direction of the MDLY Board, the Chairman of the MDLY Board or the MDLY Chief Executive Officer. To the extent permitted under applicable law, MDLY may conduct meetings by remote communications, including by webcast.

Anti-Takeover Effects of the MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws and Certain Provisions of Delaware Law

Undesignated Preferred Stock

The ability to authorize undesignated MDLY Preferred Stock will make it possible for the MDLY Board to issue MDLY Preferred Stock with super majority voting, special approval, dividend or other rights or preferences on a discriminatory basis that could impede the success of any attempt to acquire MDLY or otherwise effect a change in control of MDLY. These and other provisions may have the effect of deferring, delaying or discouraging hostile takeovers, or changes in control or management of MDLY.

Requirements for Advance Notification of Stockholder Meetings, Nominations and Proposals

The MDLY Bylaws establish advance notice procedures with respect to MDLY Stockholder proposals and the nomination of candidates for election as directors, other than nominations made by or at the direction of the MDLY Board or a committee of the MDLY Board. For any matter to be “properly brought” before a meeting, an MDLY Stockholder will have to comply with advance notice requirements and provide MDLY with certain information. Additionally, vacancies and newly created directorships may be filled only by a vote of a majority of the directors then in office, even though less than a quorum, and not by the MDLY Stockholders. The MDLY Bylaws allow the presiding officer at a meeting of the MDLY Stockholders to adopt rules and regulations for the conduct of meetings which may have the effect of precluding the conduct of certain business at a meeting if the rules and regulations are not followed. These provisions may also defer, delay or discourage a potential acquirer from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect the acquirer’s own slate of directors or otherwise attempting to influence or obtain control of MDLY.

The MDLY Certificate provides that the MDLY Board is expressly authorized to make, alter, or repeal the MDLY Bylaws and that MDLY Stockholders may only amend the MDLY Bylaws with the approval of 80% or more of all of the outstanding shares of MDLY’s capital stock entitled to vote.

No Cumulative Voting

The DGCL provides that MDLY Stockholders are not entitled to the right to cumulate votes in the election of directors unless the MDLY Certificate provides otherwise. The MDLY Certificate does not provide for cumulative voting.

Stockholder Action by Written Consent

Pursuant to Section 228 of the DGCL, any action required to be taken at any annual or special meeting of the MDLY Stockholders may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, is signed by the holders of outstanding stock having not less than the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize or take such action at a meeting at which all shares of MDLY’s stock entitled to vote thereon were present and voted, unless the MDLY Certificate provides otherwise. The MDLY Certificate does not permit MDLY Class A Common stockholders to act by consent in writing unless such action is recommended by all directors then in office, but does permit MDLY Class B Common stockholders to act by consent in writing without requiring any such recommendation by the directors then in office.

Delaware Anti-Takeover Statute

MDLY is subject to Section 203 of the DGCL. Section 203 provides that, subject to certain exceptions specified in the law, a publicly-held Delaware corporation shall not engage in certain “business combinations” with any “interested stockholder” for a three-year period after the date of the transaction in which the person became an interested stockholder. These provisions generally prohibit or delay the accomplishment of mergers, assets or stock sales or other takeover or change-in-control attempts that are not approved by a company’s board of directors.

In general, Section 203 prohibits a publicly-held Delaware corporation from engaging, under certain circumstances, in a business combination with an interested stockholder for a period of three years following the date the person became an interested stockholder unless:

- prior to the time the person became an interested stockholder, the board of directors of the corporation approved either the business combination or the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder;
- upon completion of the transaction that resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the stockholder owned at least 85% of the voting stock of the corporation outstanding at the time the transaction commenced, excluding for purposes of determining the number of shares outstanding (1) shares owned by persons who are directors and also officers and (2) shares owned by employee stock plans in which employee participants do not have the right to determine confidentially whether shares held subject to the plan will be tendered in a tender or exchange offer; or
- At or subsequent to the time the person became an interested stockholder, the business combination is approved by the board of directors and authorized at an annual or special meeting of stockholders, and not by written consent, by the affirmative vote of at least 66 2/3% of the outstanding voting stock which is not owned by the interested stockholder.

Generally, a business combination includes a merger, asset or stock sale, or other transaction resulting in a financial benefit to the interested stockholder (except proportionally as a stockholder of MDLY). An interested stockholder is generally, and subject to certain exceptions, a person who, together with affiliates and associates, owns (or, under certain circumstances, has owned within the prior years) 15% or more of the corporation's outstanding voting stock.

Under certain circumstances, Section 203 makes it more difficult for a person who would be an "interested stockholder" to effect various business combinations with a corporation for a three-year period. Accordingly, Section 203 could have an anti-takeover effect with respect to certain transactions the MDLY Board does not approve in advance. The provisions of Section 203 may encourage companies interested in acquiring MDLY to negotiate in advance with the MDLY Board because the MDLY Stockholder approval requirement would be avoided if the MDLY Board approves either the business combination or the transaction that results in the MDLY Stockholder becoming an MDLY interested stockholder. However, Section 203 also could discourage attempts that might result in a premium over the market price for the shares held by MDLY Stockholders. These provisions also may make it more difficult to accomplish transactions that MDLY Stockholders may otherwise deem to be in their best interests.

Dissenters' Rights of Appraisal and Payment

Under the DGCL, stockholders who properly demand and perfect appraisal rights in connection with a merger or consolidation of MDLY may have the right to receive payment of the fair value of their stock in cash as appraised by the Delaware Court of Chancery. Subject to certain exceptions, the DGCL provides that appraisal rights are not available to any class of stock listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 stockholders, unless, in either case, such stockholders are required in the merger to accept in exchange for their shares anything other than (a) shares of the surviving corporation, (b) shares of stock of another corporation which is listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 holders, (c) cash in lieu of fractional shares of such corporations, or (d) any combination of the above.

Stockholders' Derivative Actions

Under the DGCL, any MDLY Stockholder may bring an action in MDLY's name to procure a judgment in favor of MDLY, also known as a derivative action, provided that the MDLY Stockholder bringing the action is a holder of MDLY's shares at the time of the transaction to which the action relates or such MDLY Stockholder's stock thereafter devolved upon such stockholder by operation of law.

Exclusive Forum

The MDLY Certificate provides that unless MDLY consents to the selection of an alternative forum, the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be the sole and exclusive forum for any (1) derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of MDLY, (2) action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any director, officer or other employee of MDLY to MDLY or MDLY Stockholders, (3) action asserting a claim against MDLY or any director or officer of MDLY arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL or the MDLY Certificate or the MDLY Bylaws, or (4) action asserting a claim governed by the internal affairs doctrine. Any person or entity purchasing or otherwise acquiring any interest in shares of capital stock of MDLY shall be deemed to have notice of and consented to the forum provisions in the MDLY Certificate. However, it is possible that a court could find the MDLY forum selection provision to be inapplicable or unenforceable.

Limitations on Liability and Indemnification of Officers and Directors

The DGCL authorizes corporations to limit or eliminate the personal liability of directors to corporations and their stockholders for monetary damages for breaches of directors' fiduciary duties, subject to certain exceptions. The MDLY Certificate includes a provision that eliminates the personal liability of directors for monetary damages for any breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except to the extent such exemption from liability or limitation thereof is not permitted under the DGCL. The effect of these provisions is to limit the rights of MDLY and MDLY Stockholders, through MDLY Stockholders' derivative suits on behalf of MDLY, to recover monetary damages from a director for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, including breaches resulting from grossly negligent behavior. However, exculpation does not apply to (i) any breach of the director's duty of loyalty to MDLY or its stockholders; (ii) for acts or omissions not in good faith or which involve intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law; (iii) in connection with the unlawful payment of dividends or unlawful stock purchase or redemption; or (iv) for any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit.

Subject to certain limitations set forth in the MDLY Bylaws, the MDLY Bylaws provide that MDLY must indemnify and advance expenses to MDLY directors and officers to the fullest extent authorized by the DGCL. MDLY is also expressly authorized to carry directors' and officers' liability insurance providing indemnification for MDLY directors, officers and certain employees for some liabilities. MDLY believes that these indemnification and advancement provisions and insurance are useful to attract and retain qualified directors and executive officers.

The limitation of liability, indemnification and advancement provisions in the MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws may discourage MDLY Stockholders from bringing a lawsuit against directors for breach of their fiduciary duty. These provisions also may have the effect of reducing the likelihood of derivative litigation against directors and officers, even though such an action, if successful, might otherwise benefit MDLY and MDLY Stockholders. In addition, your investment may be adversely affected to the extent MDLY pays the costs of settlement and damage awards against directors and officers pursuant to these indemnification provisions.

There is currently no pending material litigation or proceeding involving any of MDLY's directors, officers or employees for which indemnification is sought.

SIERRA DISTRIBUTION REINVESTMENT PLAN

In connection with the Mergers, the Sierra Board amended the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan (the "Amended Sierra DRIP") to, among other things, modify the terms pursuant to which shares are issued under the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan. Under the Amended Sierra DRIP, if the Combined Company Common Stock is trading at or above NAV, the number of shares of Combined Company Common Stock to be issued to a stockholder will be determined by dividing the total dollar amount of the distribution payable to such stockholder by the greater of (i) NAV per share, and (ii) 95% of the market price per share of Combined Company Common Stock at the close of regular trading on the NYSE on the payment date fixed by the Combined Company Board for such distribution. The market price per share on that date shall be the closing price for such shares on the NYSE or, if no sale is reported for such day, at the average of their electronically-reported bid and asked prices. If, on the other hand, the Combined Company Common Stock is trading below NAV, the plan administrator may be instructed not to credit accounts with newly-issued shares and instead to buy shares in the market (in which case there would be no discount available to stockholders) if (1) the price at which newly-issued shares are to be credited does not exceed 110% of the last determined NAV per share; or (2) the Combined Company advises the plan administrator that since such NAV was last determined, the Combined Company has become aware of events that indicate the possibility of a material change in per share NAV as a result of which the NAV of the shares on the payment date might be higher than the price at which the plan administrator would credit newly-issued shares to stockholders.

Set forth below is a description of the current Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan.

Sierra has adopted an "opt-in" distribution reinvestment plan pursuant to which you may elect to have the full amount of Sierra Stockholder's cash distributions reinvested in additional shares of Sierra Common Stock. There will be no selling commissions, dealer manager fees or other sales charges to you if you elect to participate in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan. Sierra will pay the reinvestment agent's fees under the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan.

Participation in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan will commence with the next distribution paid after receipt of an investor's written election to participate in the plan and to all other calendar months thereafter, provided such election is received at least 15 business days prior to the last day of the calendar month.

A Sierra Stockholder may elect to receive an entire distribution in cash by notifying DST Systems, Inc. ("DST Systems"), the reinvestment agent and Sierra's transfer agent and registrar, in writing so that such notice is received by DST Systems no later than the record date for distributions to Sierra Stockholders.

Any purchases of Sierra Common Stock pursuant to the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan are dependent on the continued registration of Sierra's securities or the availability of an exemption from registration in the recipient's home state. Participants in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan are free to elect or revoke reinstatement in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan within a reasonable time as specified in the plan. If you do not elect to participate in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan you will automatically receive any distributions Sierra declares in cash. For example, if the Sierra Board authorizes, and Sierra declares, a cash distribution, then if you have "opted in" to the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan you will have your cash distributions reinvested in additional shares of Sierra Common Stock, rather than receiving the cash distributions.

Your reinvestment purchase price will be 94.5% of the NAV per share of Sierra Common Stock on the distribution date. Shares issued pursuant to the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan will have the same voting rights as shares of Sierra Common Stock issued pursuant to the offering.

If you wish to receive your distribution in cash, no action will be required on your part to do so. If you are a registered Sierra Stockholder, you may elect to have your entire distribution reinvested in shares of additional Sierra Common Stock by notifying DST Systems in writing so that such notice is received by DST Systems no later than the record date for distributions to Sierra Stockholders. If you elect to reinvest your distributions in additional shares of Sierra Common Stock, DST Systems will set up an account for shares you acquire through the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan and will hold such shares in non-certificated form. If your shares are held by a broker-dealer or other financial intermediary, you may "opt-in" to the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan by notifying your broker-dealer or other financial intermediary of your election.

During each quarter, but in no event later than 30 days after the end of each calendar quarter, DST Systems will mail and/or make electronically available to each participant in the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan, a statement of account describing, as to such participant, the distributions received during such quarter, the number of shares of Sierra Common Stock purchased during such quarter, and the per share purchase price for such shares. At least annually, Sierra will include tax information for income earned on shares under the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan on a Form 1099-DIV that is mailed to you. Sierra reserves the right to amend, suspend or terminate the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan. Any distributions reinvested through the issuance of shares through the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan will increase Sierra's gross assets on which the management fee and the incentive fee are determined and paid under the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement.

Additional information about the Sierra Distribution Reinvestment Plan may be obtained by contacting stockholder services for Sierra at (212) 759-0777.

MCC DIVIDEND REINVESTMENT PLAN

MCC has adopted an “opt out” MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan for MCC Common Stockholders. As a result, if MCC declares a cash dividend or other distribution, each MCC Stockholder that has not “opted out” of the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan will have their dividends automatically reinvested in additional shares of MCC Common Stock, rather than receiving cash dividends. MCC Stockholders who receive distributions in the form of MCC Common Stock will be subject to the same federal, state, and local tax consequences as if they received cash distributions.

No action is required on the part of a MCC Stockholder to have their cash dividend or other distribution reinvested in shares of MCC Common Stock. A MCC Stockholder may elect to receive an entire distribution in cash by notifying American Stock Transfer & Trust Company, the transfer agent and MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan Administrator, in writing so that such notice is received by the plan administrator no later than the record date for distributions to MCC Stockholders. The plan administrator will set up an account for shares acquired through the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan for each MCC Stockholder who has not elected to receive dividends or other distributions in cash and hold such shares in non-certificated form. Upon request by a MCC Stockholder participating in the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan, received in writing not less than 10 days prior to the record date, the plan administrator will, instead of crediting shares to the participant’s account, issue a certificate registered in the participant’s name for the number of whole shares of MCC Common Stock and a check for any fractional share of MCC Common Stock.

Those MCC Stockholders whose shares are held by a broker or other financial intermediary may receive dividends in cash by notifying their broker or other financial intermediary of their election.

MCC intends to use only newly issued shares to implement the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan if MCC Common Stock is trading at or above NAV. Under such circumstances, the number of shares of MCC Common Stock to be issued to a MCC Stockholder is determined by dividing the total dollar amount of the distribution payable to such MCC Stockholder by the greater of (i) NAV per share, and (ii) 95% of the market price per share of MCC Common Stock at the close of regular trading on the NYSE on the payment date fixed by the MCC Board for such distribution. The market price per share on that date shall be the closing price for such shares on the NYSE or, if no sale is reported for such day, at the average of their electronically-reported bid and asked prices. The number of shares of MCC Common Stock to be outstanding after giving effect to payment of the dividend cannot be established until the value per share at which additional shares will be issued has been determined and elections of MCC Stockholders have been tabulated.

If MCC declares a distribution to MCC Stockholders, the plan administrator may be instructed not to credit accounts with newly-issued shares and instead to buy shares in the market (in which case there would be no discount available to MCC Stockholders) if (1) the price at which newly-issued shares are to be credited does not exceed 110% of the last determined NAV per share; or (2) MCC advises the plan administrator that since such NAV was last determined, MCC has become aware of events that indicate the possibility of a material change in per share NAV as a result of which the NAV of the shares on the payment date might be higher than the price at which the plan administrator would credit newly-issued shares to MCC Stockholders. Shares purchased in open market transactions by the plan administrator shall be allocated to each MCC Stockholder participating based upon the average purchase price, excluding any brokerage charges or other charges, of all shares of MCC Common Stock purchased with respect to the applicable distribution.

The plan administrator’s fees under the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan will be paid by MCC. If a participant elects by written notice to the plan administrator to have the plan administrator sell part or all of the shares held by the plan administrator in the participant’s account and remit the proceeds to the participant, the plan administrator is authorized to deduct a $15.00 transaction fee plus a $0.10 per share brokerage commission from the proceeds.

MCC Stockholders who receive dividends in the form of stock are subject to the same U.S. federal, state and local tax consequences as are MCC Stockholders who elect to receive their dividends in cash. A MCC Stockholder receiving dividends in the form of stock will be treated as receiving a distribution equal to the fair market value of the stock received through the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan. A MCC Stockholder’s basis for determining gain or loss upon the sale of stock received in a dividend from MCC will be equal to the amount treated as a distribution for federal tax purposes. Any MCC Common Stock received in a dividend will have a new holding period for tax purposes commencing on the day following the day on which the shares are credited to the U.S. stockholder’s account.

Participants may terminate their accounts under the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan by notifying the plan administrator via its website at www.amstock.com, by filling out the transaction request form located at bottom of their statement and sending it to the plan administrator at the address below.

The MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan may be terminated by MCC upon notice in writing mailed to each participant at least 30 days prior to any record date for the payment of any dividend by MCC. All correspondence concerning the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan should be directed to the plan administrator by mail at American Stock Transfer & Trust Company, LLC, P.O. Box 922, Wall Street Station, New York, New York 10269, or by the Plan Administrator’s Interactive Voice Response System at (888) 777-0324.

If you withdraw or the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan is terminated, you will receive the number of whole shares in your account under the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan and a cash payment for any fraction of a share in your account.

If you hold your MCC Common Stock with a brokerage firm that does not participate in the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan, you will not be able to participate in the MCC Dividend Reinvestment Plan and any dividend reinvestment may be effected on different terms than those described above. Consult your financial advisor for more information.

COMPARISON OF STOCKHOLDER RIGHTS

The following is a summary of the material differences between the rights of Sierra Stockholders, MCC Stockholders and MDLY Stockholders, but does not purport to be a complete description of those differences or a complete description of the specific rights of such stockholders. Furthermore, the identification of some of the differences in the rights of MDLY Stockholders, MCC Stockholders and Sierra Stockholders as material is not intended to indicate that other differences that may be equally important do not exist. The following discussion is qualified by reference to the Sierra Charter and the Sierra Bylaws, the MCC Certificate and the MCC Bylaws, the MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws, the MGCL and the DGCL. These documents are incorporated by reference in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and will be sent to MCC Stockholders and MDLY Stockholders upon request. See “Where You Can Find More Information.”

As set forth in greater detail above, MCC Stockholders and MDLY Stockholders will receive shares of Sierra Common Stock in the Mergers. See “Description of the MCC Merger Agreement” and “Description of the MDLY Merger Agreement.” As a Maryland corporation, Sierra is subject to the MGCL. As Delaware corporations, MCC and MDLY are subject to the DGCL. Although the MGCL and the DGCL are similar in most respects, there are a number of differences between the two statutes, many (but not all) of which are summarized below. In addition, there is a substantial body of case law in Delaware interpreting the corporation laws of that state. A comparable body of judicial interpretation does not exist in Maryland such that there may be less certainty as to the outcome of matters governed by Maryland corporation law than would be the case under Delaware corporation law. Further, as set forth in greater detail above, Sierra Stockholders are being asked to consider and approve proposals to amend and restate the Sierra Charter to reflect amendments described in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, which, if approved, will become effective immediately after the Mergers (the “Charter Amendment Proposals”). See “Sierra Proposal #5: Adoption of Sierra Charter Amendments.” The following discussion indicates, as appropriate, which Charter Amendment Proposals, if approved, would alter the rights of Sierra Stockholders following the Mergers and how those rights would be altered.

Authorized Stock
Sierra is authorized to issue 250,000,000 shares of common stock, $0.001 par value per share. Pursuant to the Sierra Charter, a majority of the Sierra Board may amend the Sierra Charter from time to time to increase or decrease the aggregate number of shares of stock or the number of shares of stock of any class or series without stockholder approval. The Sierra Charter authorizes the Sierra Board to classify and reclassify any unissued shares of stock into other classes or series of stock, including preferred stock. On December 14, 2018 there were 98,128,586 shares of Sierra Common Stock outstanding.	MCC is authorized to issue 200,000,000 shares of stock, consisting of 100,000,000 shares of voting common stock, $0.001 par value per share, and 100,000,000 shares of preferred stock, $0.001 par value per share. The MCC Certificate permits the MCC Board to authorize the issuance of one or more classes of preferred stock and, with respect to each such class, to fix by resolution or resolutions the voting powers, full or limited, if any, of the shares of such class and the designations, preferences and relative, participating, optional or other special rights, and qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof. On December 14, 2018, there were 54,474,211 shares of MCC Common Stock outstanding and no shares of MCC preferred stock issued.	MDLY is authorized to issue 3,301,000,000 shares of stock, consisting of (i) 3,000,000,000 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, (ii) 1,000,000 shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock, $0.01 par value per share, (iii) and 300,000,000 shares of MDLY Preferred Stock, $0.01 par value per share. The MDLY Certificate permits the MDLY Board to authorize the issuance of one or more series of MDLY Preferred Stock out of the unissued shares of MDLY Preferred Stock and, with respect to each such series, to fix by resolution or resolutions the number of shares constituting such series and the designation of such series, the voting powers (if any) of the shares of such series, and the powers, preferences and relative, participating, optional or other special rights, if any, and any qualifications, limitations or restrictions thereof, of the shares of such series. On December 14, 2018, there were 5,701,008 shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock outstanding, 100 shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock outstanding, and no shares of MDLY Preferred Stock issued.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Each holder of Sierra Common Stock is entitled to one vote per share on all matters upon which stockholders are entitled to vote.

Except as described below with regard to the election of directors, the Sierra Bylaws provide that, unless a greater or lesser vote is required by law (including the Investment Company Act) or by the Sierra Charter, a majority of the votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called and at which a quorum is present shall be sufficient to approve any matter which may properly come before such meeting.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Voting Rights

Each holder of MCC Common Stock is entitled to one vote per share on all matters upon which stockholders are entitled to vote.

Except as described below with regard to the election of directors, MCC Bylaws provide that, a majority of votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called and at which a quorum is present decides all matters except as otherwise required by the DGCL or as provided for in the MCC Certificate.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Certificate provides that each holder of MDLY Class A Common Stock shall be entitled to one vote for each share of MDLY Class A Common Stock held of record by such holder, provided, however, that, to the fullest extent permitted by law, each holder of MDLY Class A Common Stock shall have no voting power with respect to any amendment to the MDLY Certificate that relates solely to the terms of the MDLY Preferred Stock.

For so long as MDLY's pre-IPO owners and then-current MDLY personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units (excluding those Medley LLC Units held by MDLY) then outstanding, which is referred to as the "Substantial Ownership Requirement," the MDLY Class B Common Stock will entitle Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock times the Exchange Rate (as defined in the Exchange Agreement), which is currently one-for-one, and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to ten times the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder times the Exchange Rate, in each case, on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders generally are entitled to vote. For purposes of calculating the Substantial Ownership Requirement, (1) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock deliverable to MDLY's pre-IPO owners and then-current MDLY personnel pursuant to outstanding equity awards will be deemed then outstanding and (2) shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock and Medley LLC Units held by any estate, trust, partnership or limited liability company or other similar entity of which any pre-IPO owner or then-current MDLY personnel is a trustee, partner, member or similar party will be considered held by such pre-IPO owner or other then-current MDLY personnel.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

From and after the time that the Substantial Ownership Requirement is no longer satisfied, the MDLY Class B Common Stock will entitle Medley Group LLC, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by it, to a number of votes that is equal to the aggregate number of Medley LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock times the Exchange Rate and entitle each other holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock, without regard to the number of shares of MDLY Class B Common Stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to the number of Medley LLC Units held by such holder times the Exchange Rate, in each case, on all matters on which MDLY Stockholders generally are entitled to vote.

If at any time the Exchange Rate, which is the ratio at which Medley LLC Units are exchangeable for shares of MDLY Class A Common Stock, changes from one-for-one, the number of votes to which holders of MDLY Class B Common Stock are entitled will be adjusted accordingly.

To the fullest extent permitted by law, each holder of MDLY Class B Common Stock shall have no voting power with respect to any amendment to the MDLY Certificate that relates solely to the terms of the MDLY Preferred Stock.

Holders of a series of MDLY Preferred Stock shall only be entitled to voting rights as expressly granted by the MDLY Certificate (including any certificate of designations relating to such series).

Except as provided in the MDLY Certificate or required by applicable law, the holders of MDLY Common Stock vote together as a single class (or if the holders of one or more series of MDLY Preferred Stock are entitled to vote together with the holders of MDLY Common Stock, as a single class with the holders of such other series of MDLY Preferred Stock) on all matters submitted to a vote of the MDLY Stockholders generally.

The MDLY Bylaws provide that the vote of the holders of a majority of votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called and at which a quorum is present decides all matters except as otherwise required by the MDLY Certificate, the MDLY Bylaws or the DGCL.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

The Sierra Bylaws provide that a quorum for a stockholder meeting consists of the presence, in person or by proxy, of the holders of shares entitled to cast a majority of votes entitled to be cast, except with respect to any matter that, under applicable statutes or regulatory requirements, requires approval by a separate vote of one or more classes of stock, in which case the presence, in person or by proxy, of the holders of shares entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast by each such class on such a matter will constitute a quorum.

A majority of the entire Sierra Board may establish, increase or decrease the number of directors, provided that the number of directors will never be less than three nor more than twelve.

The Sierra Board is currently comprised of five members. If the Mergers are approved, the Sierra Board will be expanded and then will be comprised of six members.

The MGCL provides that a Maryland corporation may divide the directors into classes and may provide for a term of office which may not be more than five years, provided that the term of at least one class of directors must expire each year.

Sierra's directors are classified, with respect to the terms for which they severally hold office, into three classes, as nearly equal in number as possible as determined by the Sierra Board. At each annual meeting of stockholders, the successors to the class of directors whose term expires at such meeting are elected to hold office for a term expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders held in the third year following the year of their election and until their successors are duly elected and qualify.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Quorum

The MCC Bylaws provide that a quorum consists of the holders of at least a majority of the votes entitled to be cast by the issued MCC stock entitled to vote on the matters at issue, present in person or represented by proxy, except as otherwise required by the DGCL.

Number of Directors

The number of directors will be as authorized from time to time either by resolution or bylaw adopted by a majority vote of the members of the board of directors then in office.

The MCC Board is currently comprised of seven members.

Classification of Directors

The DGCL permits a classified board of directors, pursuant to which the directors can be divided into two or three classes with staggered terms of office, with only one class of directors standing for election each year.

The MCC Bylaws provide for a classified board of directors, with its directors being divided into three classes with staggered terms of office and only one class of directors standing for election each year.

Each class of MCC's directors are elected by the stockholders at each annual meeting for a three-year term. Each director holds office until such director's term expires and a successor has been duly elected and qualified.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Bylaws provide that a quorum consists of the holders of a majority in voting power of the capital stock of MDLY issued and outstanding and entitled to vote at a meeting of stockholders, present in person or represented by proxy, except as otherwise provided by the MDLY Bylaws, by the MDLY Certificate or by the DGCL.

Subject to the MDLY Certificate, the number of directors will be as fixed from time to time exclusively by resolution adopted by the MDLY Board. A majority of the total number of directors then in office, but not less than 1/3 of the total number of directors constituting the entire MDLY Board, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

The MDLY Board is currently comprised of six members.

The DGCL permits a classified board of directors, pursuant to which the directors can be divided into two or three classes with staggered terms of office, with only one class of directors standing for election each year.

MDLY does not have a classified board of directors. MDLY's directors are elected by the stockholders at each annual meeting. Each director holds office for a one-year term ending at the next annual meeting of stockholders and until such director's successor has been duly elected and qualified or until such director's earlier resignation or removal.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

The Sierra Bylaws provide that directors are elected by a plurality of all of the votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called at which a quorum is present.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Vote Required for Director Election

The MCC Bylaws provide that each director is elected by a plurality of the votes cast with respect to the director.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Bylaws provide that each director is elected by a plurality of the votes cast by the holders of shares present in person or represented by proxy at the meeting and entitled to vote on the election of directors.

Removal of Directors

Pursuant to the MGCL, any director or the entire board of directors of a classified board of directors may be removed from office, but only for cause and by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast generally in the election of directors. If the Sierra Board were not classified, the Sierra Stockholders would be entitled to remove any director with or without cause by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast generally in the election of directors.

The MCC Bylaws provide that, any director or the entire MCC Board may be removed from office at any time with cause by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 75% of the voting power of all of the shares of capital stock of MCC then entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

Pursuant to the DGCL, any director or the entire board of directors may be removed, with or without cause, by the holders of a majority of the shares then entitled to vote at an election of directors, except that: (1) unless the certificate of incorporation otherwise provides, in the case of a classified board, stockholders may effect such removal only for cause; or (2) in the case of a corporation having cumulative voting, if less than the entire board is to be removed, no director may be removed without cause if the votes cast against such director's removal would be sufficient to elect such director if then cumulatively voted at an election of the entire board of directors, or, if there be classes of directors, at an election of the class of directors of which such director is a part.

The MDLY Certificate and the MDLY Bylaws do not provide for a classified board or cumulative voting.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Pursuant to the MGCL, no contract or transaction between a corporation and any of its directors (or any entity in which a director is a director or has a material financial interest) is void or voidable solely because of the common directorship or interest, or because such director is present at the meeting at which the matter is ratified or votes for such matter at said meeting, if: (i) the fact of the common directorship or interest is disclosed or made known to the other directors and the contract or transaction is approved by a majority of disinterested directors although less than a quorum; (ii) the fact of the common directorship or interest is disclosed or made known to stockholders entitled to vote and the contract or transaction is approved by a majority of votes cast by disinterested stockholders, even if less than a quorum; or (iii) the contract or transaction is fair and reasonable to the corporation. The MGCL also provides that directors of “investment companies” (as defined in the Investment Company Act) making any decision or taking any action as directors are deemed independent and disinterested unless they fit the definition of “interested person” under the Investment Company Act. The Investment Company Act specifically provides that a person is not interested solely by reason of being a director, owner of securities or family member of a director or owner of securities.

The Sierra Charter prohibits certain affiliated transactions or conflicts of interest between Sierra and its investment adviser or any affiliate thereof. In general, these provisions require that such transactions be approved either by a majority of Sierra’s directors (including a majority of the Independent Directors) or a majority of votes entitled to be cast by the Sierra Stockholders. These provisions address a number of transactions, including joint ventures, sales and leases to and from Sierra, loans to and from Sierra, as well as general restrictions on affiliated transactions with Sierra’s investment advisers and their respective affiliates.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(ii) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision concerning conflicts of interest will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Transactions with Directors

The DGCL provides that no contract or transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or officers (or any entity in which a director or officer is a director or officer or has a financial interest) shall be void or voidable solely for that reason, or solely because the director or officer is present at or participates in the meeting of the board of directors or committee thereof which authorizes the contract or transaction, or solely because any such director’s votes are counted for such purpose, if: (i) the material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the transaction are disclosed or are known to the board of directors or a committee thereof, and the board of directors or committee in good faith authorizes the transaction by the affirmative vote of a majority of the disinterested directors, even though the disinterested directors represent less than a quorum; (ii) the material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the stockholders entitled to vote thereon and the transaction is specifically approved in good faith by vote of the stockholders; or (iii) the contract or transaction is fair to the corporation as of the time it is authorized, approved, or ratified, by the board of directors, a committee of the board of directors, or the stockholders. Interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or of a committee of the board of directors which authorizes the corporation’s entrance into any such transaction or contract.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The DGCL provides that no contract or transaction between a corporation and one or more of its directors or officers (or between a corporation and any other corporation, partnership, association, or other organization in which one or more of its directors or officers, are directors or officers, or have a financial interest) shall be void or voidable solely for this reason, or solely because the director or officer is present at or participates in the meeting of the board of directors or committee thereof which authorizes the contract or transaction, or solely because any such director’s or officer’s votes are counted for such purpose, if: (i) the material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the board of directors or a committee thereof, and the board of directors or committee in good faith authorizes the contract or transaction by the affirmative votes of a majority of the disinterested directors, even though the disinterested directors be less than a quorum; or (ii) the material facts as to the director’s or officer’s relationship or interest and as to the contract or transaction are disclosed or are known to the stockholders entitled to vote thereon and the contract or transaction is specifically approved in good faith by vote of the stockholders of MDLY; or (iii) the contract or transaction is fair as to the corporation as of the time it is authorized, approved, or ratified, by the board of directors, a committee of the board of directors, or the stockholders. Common or interested directors may be counted in determining the presence of a quorum at a meeting of the board of directors or of a committee of the board of directors which authorizes the corporation’s entrance into any such transaction or contract.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Pursuant to Subtitle 8 of Title 3 of the MGCL, Sierra has elected to provide that any vacancy may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors in office, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum, and any director elected to fill a vacancy will serve for the remainder of the full term of the class in which the vacancy occurred and until a successor is duly elected and qualifies.

The Sierra Bylaws require advance written notice for stockholders to nominate a director or bring other business before a meeting of stockholders. For an annual meeting, a stockholder must deliver notice to the secretary of Sierra not earlier than the 120th day and not later than the close of business on the 90th day prior to the first anniversary of the date the proxy statement for the previous year's annual meeting was released to stockholders. However, if the date of the annual meeting is advanced or delayed by more than 30 days from the first anniversary of the date on which the proxy statement for the previous year's annual meeting was mailed to stockholders, notice by the stockholder must be given not earlier than the 120th day prior to the date of such meeting and not later than the close of business on the 90th day prior to the date of the mailing of such notice or the tenth day following the day on which public announcement of the date of such meeting is first made. For a special meeting at which directors are to be elected, a stockholder must deliver notice to the secretary of Sierra not earlier than the 120th day prior to the date of such meeting and not later than the close of business on the 90th day prior to the meeting or the tenth day following the day on which public announcement of the date of the meeting is made.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Vacancies on the Board of Directors

Any vacancies on the MCC Board for any reason and any newly created directorships resulting by reason of any increase in the number of directors may be filled only by the board of directors, acting by a majority of the remaining directors then in office, although less than a quorum, or by a sole remaining director, and any directors so appointed will hold office until their successors are elected and qualified.

Advance Notice of Director Nominations and New Business

The MCC Bylaws require advance written notice for stockholders to nominate a director or bring other business before a meeting of stockholders. For a nomination or other business to be brought before an annual meeting, a stockholder must deliver notice to the secretary of MCC not less than 120 nor more than 180 days prior to the first anniversary of the date on which MCC first mailed its proxy materials or notice for the previous year's meeting. However, if MCC did not hold an annual meeting the previous year, or if the date of the annual meeting is more than 30 days before or after the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting, notice by the stockholders must be delivered no later than the close of business on the later of the 90th day prior to such annual meeting, or the 15th day following public announcement of the date of such meeting. For a special meeting, a stockholder must deliver notice to the secretary of MCC not less than 10 nor more than 60 days before the date of the meeting.

Director nominations by MCC Stockholders shall be made by written notice, or a "nomination notice," which shall set forth (i) as to each individual nominated, (A) the name, age, business and residence address of such individual; (B) the principal occupation and/or employment of such person; (C) the class and number of shares of MCC which are beneficially owned by the person; and (D) any other information relating to the person that is required to be disclosed pursuant to Regulation 14A under the Exchange Act; (ii) as to the stockholder submitting the nomination notice, (x) the name and record address of such person; and (y) the class and number of shares of MCC which are beneficially owned by such person. If the presiding officer at any stockholder meeting determines that a nomination was not made in accordance with the procedures prescribed by the MCC Bylaws, such presiding officer shall so declare to the meeting and the defective nomination shall be disregarded.

Stockholders

Any vacancies on the MDLY Board for any reason and any newly created directorships resulting by reason of any increase in the number of directors shall be filled only by the MDLY Board, acting by a majority of the directors then in office, although less than a quorum, or by a sole remaining director.

The MDLY Bylaws require advance written notice for stockholders to nominate a director or bring other business before a meeting of stockholders. For an annual meeting, a stockholder must deliver notice to the secretary of MDLY not less than 90 nor more than 120 days prior to the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting; provided, however, that in the event that the date of the annual meeting is advanced by more than 30 days, or delayed by more than 70 days, from such anniversary date, notice by the stockholder to be timely must be so delivered not earlier than the close of business on the 120th day prior to such annual meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of the 90th day prior to such annual meeting or the tenth day following the day on which public announcement of the date of such meeting is first made.

Subject to the rights of the holders of any series of MDLY Preferred Stock, special meetings of the stockholders may only be called by or at the direction of the MDLY Board, the chairman of the MDLY Board, or the chief executive officer of MDLY.

Director nominations by MDLY Stockholders shall be made by written notice, which shall set forth, as to each person whom the stockholder proposes to nominate for election or re-election as a director, all information relating to such person that is required to be disclosed in solicitations of proxies for election of directors, or is otherwise required, in each case pursuant to Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, including such person's written consent to being named in the proxy statement as a nominee and to serving as a director if elected.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

In the event that the number of directors on the Sierra Board is increased and there is no public announcement of such action at least 100 days prior to the first anniversary of the date the proxy statement for the preceding year's annual meeting was released to stockholders, a stockholder's notice shall also be considered timely, but only with respect to nominees for any new positions created by such increase, if it is delivered to the secretary of Sierra not later than the tenth day following the day on which such public announcement is first made by Sierra.

Director nominations by Sierra Stockholders shall be made by written notice, which shall include, as to each individual being nominated, (A) the name, age, business address and residence address of each proposed nominee, (B) the class, series and number of any shares of Sierra stock that are beneficially owned by such each proposed nominee and the date such shares were acquired and the investment intent of such acquisition, (C) whether such stockholder believes any such proposed nominee is, or is not, an "interested person" of Sierra, as defined in the Investment Company Act and information regarding such proposed nominee that is sufficient, in the discretion of the Sierra Board or any committee thereof or any authorized officer of Sierra, to make such determination, (D) such proposed nominee's written consent to being named in Sierra's proxy statement as a nominee and to serve as a director of Sierra if elected, (E) such proposed nominee's certification that he or she currently intends to serve as a director for the full term for which he or she is standing (if so elected), (F) whether and the extent to which such stockholder, proposed nominee or Stockholder Associated Person (as defined in the Sierra Bylaws) is subject to or during the last six months has engaged in any hedging, derivative or other transaction or series of transactions or entered into any other agreement, arrangement or understanding (including any short interest, any borrowing or lending of securities or any proxy or voting agreement), the effect or intent of which is to (I) manage risk or benefit from changes in the price of securities of Sierra for such stockholder, proposed nominee or Stockholder Associated Person or (II) increase or decrease the voting power of such stockholder, Proposed Nominee or Stockholder Associated Person in the Corporation or any affiliate thereof disproportionately to such person's economic interest in the securities of the Corporation and (G) all other information relating to such stockholder and proposed nominee that would be required to be disclosed in solicitations of proxies for election of directors in an election contest (even if an election contest is not involved), or is otherwise required, in each case pursuant to Regulation 14A (or any successor provision) under the Exchange Act and the rules thereunder.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Further, the MCC Bylaws provide that no proposal for a stockholder vote shall be submitted by a stockholder unless the stockholder submitting such proposal, or the "proponent," shall have filed a written notice setting forth with particularity with respect to the stockholder giving notice and any affiliate or person acting in concert with such stockholder, (1) whether and the extent to which any hedging transaction has been entered into with respect to any share of stock of MCC; (2) any rights to dividends on MCC's shares that are separable from MCC's underlying shares; (3) any proportionate interest in MCC's shares held by a partnership in which the stockholder is directly or indirectly a general partner; (4) any performance related fees that such stockholder is entitled to base on any increase or decrease in the value of MCC's shares; and (5) such other information as the MCC Board reasonably determines is necessary or appropriate to enable the MCC Board and MCC Stockholders to consider the stockholder proposal.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

Further, the MDLY Bylaws provide that the notice for stockholders to nominate a director or bring other business before a meeting of stockholders shall set forth, among other requirements, (i) the name and address of such stockholder, as they appear on MDLY's books and records, and of such beneficial owner, (ii) the class or series and number of shares of capital stock of MDLY which are owned directly or indirectly, beneficially and of record by such stockholder and such beneficial owner, (iii) a representation that the stockholder is a holder of record of the stock of MDLY at the time of the giving of the notice, will be entitled to vote at such meeting and will appear in person or by proxy at the meeting to propose such business or nomination, (iv) a representation whether the stockholder or the beneficial owner, if any, will be or is part of a group which will (A) deliver a proxy statement and/or form of proxy to holders of at least the percentage of the voting power of MDLY's outstanding capital stock required to approve or adopt the proposal or elect the nominee and/or (B) otherwise solicit proxies or votes from stockholders in support of such proposal or nomination, (v) a certification regarding whether such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, have complied with all applicable federal, state and other legal requirements in connection with the stockholder's and/or beneficial owner's acquisition of shares of capital stock or other securities of MDLY and/or the stockholder's and/or beneficial owner's acts or omissions as a stockholder of MDLY and (vi) any other information relating to such stockholder and beneficial owner, if any, required to be disclosed in a proxy statement or other filings required to be made in connection with solicitations of proxies for, as applicable, the proposal and/or for the election of directors in an election contest pursuant to and in accordance with Section 14(a) of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder. In addition, as to any other business that the MDLY stockholder proposes to bring before the meeting, such notice must include a brief description of the business desired to be brought before the meeting, the text of the proposal or business, the reasons for conducting such business at the meeting and any material interest in such business of such stockholder and the beneficial owner, if any, on whose behalf such proposal is made.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Except as set forth in the following sentence, the Sierra Charter may be amended only if the amendment is declared advisable by the Sierra Board and approved by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter. Certain amendments relating to (i) making the common stock a “redeemable security” or converting Sierra, whether by merger or otherwise, from a “closed-end company” to an “open-end company,” (ii) extraordinary actions, (iii) determinations by the Sierra Board, (iv) stockholder rights, and (v) charter amendments require the approval of stockholders entitled to cast at least two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

Additionally, as permitted by the MGCL, the Sierra Charter provides that a majority of the Sierra Board may amend the Sierra Charter from time to time without stockholder approval to increase or decrease the aggregate number of shares of stock or the number of shares of stock of any class or series.

As permitted by the MGCL, the Sierra Board has the exclusive power to adopt, alter or repeal any provision of the Sierra Bylaws and to make new bylaws.

If Charter Amendment Proposal D is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, in addition to the Sierra Board, the Sierra Stockholders may adopt, amend, alter, change or repeal or make new bylaws by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Amendment of Certificate of Incorporation or Charter

The MCC Certificate provides that it may be amended from time to time in accordance with the DGCL. The DGCL requires the board of directors of a corporation seeking to amend its certificate of incorporation to adopt a resolution declaring the proposed amendment advisable, and submit the proposed amendment to the stockholders for approval at a special or annual meeting. The approval of a majority of the combined voting power of all of the shares of all classes of capital stock then entitled to vote is required to amend the MCC Certificate.

Amendment of Bylaws

MCC Stockholders have the power to adopt, amend, alter, change or repeal any of the MCC Bylaws by the affirmative vote of 66 2/3% of the capital stock entitled to vote at such meeting. The MCC Bylaws can also be repealed, altered or amended, or new bylaws adopted, by a vote of 66 2/3% of directors. Stockholders and directors may not amend bylaws regarding the indemnification of officers, directors, employees or agents of MCC without the written consent of the affected persons. In addition, the MCC Board may not make or alter any bylaws fixing the qualifications, classifications or terms of office of directors, and any amendment relating to the size of the board requires the affirmative vote of at least 75% of the MCC Board.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Certificate does not contain a provision relating to amendments of the certificate of incorporation.

The DGCL requires the board of directors of a corporation seeking to amend its certificate of incorporation to adopt a resolution setting forth the amendment proposed, declaring its advisability and, in certain circumstances requiring a stockholder vote, submitting the proposed amendment to the stockholders for approval at a special or annual meeting. In such circumstances, a majority of the voting power of the outstanding stock entitled to vote thereon and, if applicable, a majority of the outstanding stock of each class entitled to vote thereon as a class is required to amend the MDLY Certificate.

As permitted by the DGCL, the MDLY Certificate gives the MDLY Board the power to adopt, amend, alter, change or repeal any of the MDLY Bylaws by a vote of the majority of the MDLY Board then in office. In addition, the stockholders may adopt, amend, alter, change or repeal any of the MDLY Bylaws by the affirmative vote of the holders of at least 80% of the voting power of all the then outstanding shares of capital stock of MDLY entitled to vote generally in the election of directors, voting together as a single class.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Subject to certain exceptions, Sierra may merge, consolidate, convert, sell, lease, exchange or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of its assets, engage in a share exchange or engage in similar transactions outside the ordinary course of business only if such transaction is declared advisable by the Sierra Board and approved by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

In addition, the Sierra Charter provides that, subject to and in addition to the provisions of any class or series of shares then outstanding and the mandatory provisions of any applicable laws or regulations, including the MGCL, upon a vote by the holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote on a matter, stockholders may, without the necessity for concurrence by the investment advisers, direct that the Sierra Board cause Sierra to: approve or disapprove the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of Sierra when such sale is to be made other than in the ordinary course of Sierra's business; or cause the merger or other reorganization of Sierra.

If Charter Amendment Proposal B is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, the provisions purportedly permitting Sierra Stockholders to cause the Sierra Board to sell all or substantially all of its assets or merge or consolidate with another entity will be deleted.

Sierra may dissolve if the dissolution is declared advisable by a majority of the entire Sierra Board and approved by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast at least a majority of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

The Sierra Charter also provides that Sierra may be dissolved without the consent of the Sierra Board by the affirmative vote of stockholders entitled to cast at least a majority of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

If Charter Amendment Proposals B and C are approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision purportedly permitting Sierra Stockholders to cause the Sierra Board to dissolve Sierra will be deleted.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Mergers, Consolidations and Sale of Assets

Subject to certain exceptions, MCC may merge, consolidate, convert, sell, lease, exchange or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of its assets or engage in similar transactions outside the ordinary course of business only if such transaction or, in the case of a merger or consolidation, the agreement of merger or consolidation is declared advisable by the MCC Board and approved by the holders of a majority of the outstanding stock entitled to vote thereon or, in the case of a conversion, the holders of all outstanding shares of stock, whether voting or nonvoting.

Dissolution

MCC may dissolve only if the dissolution is declared advisable by a majority of the whole MCC Board and approved by the holders of a majority of the outstanding stock entitled to vote thereon.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

Subject to certain exceptions, MDLY may merge, consolidate, convert, sell, lease, exchange or otherwise transfer all or substantially all of its assets or engage in similar transactions outside the ordinary course of business.

In the case of a merger or consolidation, the agreement of merger or consolidation must be approved and declared advisable by the MDLY Board and the adoption of the agreement must be approved by the holders of a majority of the voting power of the outstanding capital stock of MDLY entitled to vote thereon, subject to certain exceptions as set forth under the DGCL.

In the case of a conversion, a resolution approving such conversion must be adopted by the MDLY Board and the adoption of the resolution must be approved by the holders of all outstanding shares of stock, whether voting or nonvoting.

In the case of a sale of all or substantially all of its assets, a resolution of the MDLY Board authorizing the sale must be adopted by the holders of a majority of the voting power of the outstanding stock of MDLY entitled to vote thereon.

MDLY may dissolve only if a majority of the MDLY Board adopts a resolution declaring the dissolution advisable and a majority of the voting power of the outstanding stock of MDLY entitled to vote thereon votes for the proposed dissolution and MDLY otherwise complies with the requirements of the DGCL. Dissolution may also be authorized without action of the MDLY Board if all of the MDLY Stockholders entitled to vote thereon consent in writing and a certificate of dissolution shall be filed with the Delaware Secretary of State in accordance with the DGCL.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Under the MGCL, certain “business combinations” (including a merger, consolidation, statutory share exchange and, in certain circumstances specified in the statute, an asset transfer or issuance or reclassification of equity securities) between a Maryland corporation and any person who beneficially owns, directly or indirectly, 10% or more of the voting power of the corporation’s outstanding voting stock or an affiliate or associate of the corporation who beneficially owned, directly or indirectly, 10% or more of the voting power of the corporation’s then outstanding stock at any time within the preceding two years, in each case referred to as an “interested stockholder,” or an affiliate thereof, are prohibited for five years after the most recent date on which the interested stockholder becomes an interested stockholder. Thereafter, any such business combination must be recommended by the board of directors and approved by the affirmative vote of at least (i) 80% of the votes entitled to be cast by holders of outstanding shares of voting stock of the corporation and (ii) two-thirds of the votes entitled to be cast by holders of voting stock of the corporation other than shares held by the interested stockholder or its affiliates or associates. The supermajority vote requirements do not apply, however, to business combinations that are approved or exempted by the board of directors prior to the time that the interested stockholder becomes an interested stockholder or if the business combination satisfies certain minimum price, form-of-consideration and procedural requirements.

Pursuant to the Business Combination Act, the Sierra Board has adopted a resolution exempting any business combination between Sierra and any other person from the business combination statute described above, provided that the business combination is first approved by the Sierra Board, including a majority of the independent directors.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Business Combinations with Interested Stockholders

Section 203 of the DGCL prohibits a public Delaware corporation from engaging in a “business combination” with an “interested stockholder” for a period of three years after the time at which such person became an interested stockholder unless: (i) prior to such time, the board of directors approved either the business combination or transaction in which the stockholder became an interested stockholder; (ii) upon becoming an interested stockholder, the stockholder owned at least 85% of the corporation’s outstanding voting stock other than shares held by directors who are also officers and certain employee benefit plans; or (iii) the business combination is approved by both the board of directors and by holders of at least two-thirds of the corporation’s outstanding voting stock (at a meeting and not by written consent), excluding shares owned by the interested stockholder. For these purposes, a “business combination” includes mergers, asset sales and other similar transactions with an “interested stockholder,” and “interested stockholder” means a stockholder that, together with its affiliates and associates, owns (or, under certain circumstances, has owned within the prior three years) more than 15% of the outstanding voting stock. Although Section 203 of the DGCL permits a corporation to elect not to be governed by its provisions, MCC has not made this election.

Stockholders

Section 203 of the DGCL prohibits a public Delaware corporation from engaging in a “business combination” with an “interested stockholder” for a period of three years after the time at which such person became an interested stockholder unless: (i) prior to the time the person became an interested stockholder, the board of directors approved either the business combination or transaction in which the stockholder became an interested stockholder; (ii) upon consummation of the transaction which resulted in the stockholder becoming an interested stockholder, the stockholder owned at least 85% of the corporation’s outstanding voting stock at the time the transaction commences, excluding for purposes of determining the voting stock outstanding those shares owned (1) by persons who are directors and also officers and (2) certain employee stock plans; or (iii) at or subsequent to the time the person became an interested stockholder, the business combination is approved by both the board of directors and authorized at an annual or special meeting of stockholders by holders of at least 66 2/3% of the corporation’s outstanding voting stock (at a meeting and not by written consent), excluding shares owned by the interested stockholder. Generally, a “business combination” includes mergers, asset sales and other similar transactions together with transactions in which the interested stockholder (except proportionally as a stockholder of MDLY) receives a financial benefit and “interested stockholder” generally, and subject to certain exceptions, means a stockholder that, together with its affiliates and associates, owns (or, under certain circumstances, has owned within the prior three years) more than 15% of the outstanding voting stock. Although Section 203 of the DGCL permits a corporation to elect not to be governed by its provisions, MDLY has not made this election.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

The MGCL provides that appraisal rights are available to dissenting stockholders in connection with certain mergers, consolidations, share exchanges, transfers of assets, amendments to the corporation's articles of incorporation, business combinations and conversions. However, the MGCL does not provide for appraisal rights if the shares of the corporation are listed on a national securities exchange, the stock is that of a successor in a merger (unless the merger alters the contract rights of the stock or converts it into something other than stock, cash or other interests), the stock is not entitled to be voted on the transaction or the stockholder did not hold the stock as of the applicable record date or the articles of incorporation provide that holders of the stock are not entitled to exercise appraisal rights.

The MGCL provides, among other procedural requirements for the exercise of the appraisal rights, that a stockholder who files with the corporation a written objection to the proposed transaction, may not vote in favor of the transaction, and must make a written demand on the successor for payment of the stockholder's stock.

Because Sierra will be the successor in the Mergers, Sierra Stockholders do not have appraisal rights with respect to the Mergers.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Appraisal Rights

Under the DGCL, stockholders who dissent from a merger or consolidation of the corporation have the right to demand and receive payment of the fair value of their stock, as appraised by the Delaware Chancery Court; provided, however, that dissenters' rights are inapplicable (i) to stockholders of a surviving corporation whose vote is not required to approve the merger or consolidation and (ii) to any class of stock listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 stockholders, unless, in either case, such stockholders are required in the merger to accept in exchange for their shares anything other than (A) shares of the surviving corporation or depository receipts in respect thereof, (B) stock of another corporation which is either listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 holders, depository receipts in respect thereof, (C) cash in lieu of fractional shares or depository receipts of such corporations or (D) or any combination of the above. Neither the MCC Certificate nor the MCC Bylaws contain any additional provisions relating to appraisal rights.

Call and Notice of Stockholders' Meetings

Annual Meetings. An annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors and the transaction of any business within the powers of Sierra is held on the date and at the time set by the Sierra Board.

Annual Meetings. An annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors and the transaction of any business within the powers of MCC is held on the date and at the time set by the board of directors.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

Stockholders of record who do not vote in favor of, or consent to, the adoption of a merger or consolidation agreement, who properly demand appraisal of their shares, who do not fail to perfect, effectively withdraw, or otherwise lose their right to appraisal and who otherwise comply with the requirements for perfecting and preserving their appraisal rights under Section 262 of the DGCL will be entitled to receive, in lieu of the consideration being offered in the merger or consolidation, payment in cash for the fair value of their shares as determined by the Delaware Court of Chancery in an appraisal proceeding, together with interest to be paid on the amount determined to be fair value, if any, as determined by the Delaware Court of Chancery; provided, however, that dissenters' rights are not available in certain mergers or consolidations (i) to stockholders of a surviving corporation whose vote is not required to approve the merger or consolidation and (ii) to any class or series of stock listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 stockholders, unless, in either case, such stockholders are required in the merger to accept in exchange for their shares anything other than (A) shares stock of the corporation surviving or resulting from such merger or consolidation or depository receipts in respect thereof, (B) shares of stock of another corporation which shares of stock at the effective date of the merger or consolidation will be either listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 holders, or depository receipts in respect thereof, (C) cash in lieu of fractional shares or fractional depository receipts described in the foregoing sections (A) and (B), or (D) or any combination of the above. Neither the MDLY Certificate nor the MDLY Bylaws contain any additional provisions relating to appraisal rights.

Annual Meetings. An annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors and the transaction of such other business as may be properly brought before the meeting is held on the date and at such time and place, if any, as set by the MDLY Board.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

Special Meetings. Any chairman of the Sierra Board, the chief executive officer, the president or a majority of the directors then in office may call a special meeting of the stockholders. Subject to certain conditions, a special meeting of stockholders shall also be called by the secretary of Sierra to act on any matter that may properly be considered at a meeting of stockholders upon the written request of stockholders entitled to cast not less than 10% of all the votes entitled to be cast at such meeting. Only the business specified in the notice of the meeting may be brought before such meeting.

Record Date. The Sierra Bylaws provide that the Sierra Board may fix a record date not more than 90 days and not less than ten days before the date of any such meeting.

Notice. Not less than 15 nor more than 60 days before each meeting of stockholders, the secretary of Sierra will give to each stockholder entitled to vote at such meeting or entitled to notice thereof, notice in writing or by electronic transmission stating the time and place of the meeting and, in the case of a special meeting or as otherwise may be required by any law, the purpose for which the meeting is called, by (i) mail, (ii) presenting it to such stockholder personally, (iii) leaving it at the stockholder's residence or usual place of business or (iv) any other means permitted by Maryland law, including electronic transmission.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Special Meetings. Special meetings of stockholders may be called for any purposes by a resolution of the majority of the MCC Board, the chairman of the board or the chief executive officer, or upon the written request of one or more holders of not less than 25% of all the outstanding shares entitled to vote at such meeting.

Record Date. The MCC Bylaws provide that the MCC Board may fix in advance a future date, not more than 60 days nor less than ten days preceding the date of a stockholder meeting, as the record date for determination of the stockholders entitled to notice of and to vote at any such meeting and any adjournment thereof. Only those stockholders who are stockholders of record on the date so fixed are entitled to notice of and to vote at such meeting.

Notice. Written notice of each meeting of stockholders stating the date, hour, place and the purposes thereof must be given as provided by law not less than ten nor more than 60 days before such meeting (unless a different time is specified by law) to every stockholder entitled to vote at such meeting.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

Special Meetings. Subject to the rights of the holders of any class or series of MDLY Preferred Stock, special meetings of the stockholders may only be called by or at the direction of the MDLY Board, the chairman of the MDLY Board, or the chief executive officer of MDLY.

Record Date. The MDLY bylaws provide that, in order to determine the stockholders entitled to notice of any meeting of stockholders or adjournment thereof, the MDLY Board may fix a record date, which record date shall not precede the date upon which the resolution fixing the record date is adopted by the MDLY Board, and which record date shall, unless otherwise required by law, not be more than sixty 60 nor less than ten 10 days before the date of such meeting. If the MDLY Board so fixes a date, such date shall also be the record date for determining the stockholders entitled to vote at such meeting unless the MDLY Board determines, at the time it fixes such record date, that a later date on or before the date of the meeting shall be the date for making such determination. If no record date is fixed by the MDLY Board, the record date for determining stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall be at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which notice is given, or, if notice is waived, at the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the meeting is held. Only those stockholders who are stockholders of record on the record date are entitled to notice of and to vote at such meeting.

Notice. Written notice of each meeting of stockholders stating the date, time, place, if any, the means of remote communications, if any, the record date for determining the stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting (if such date is different from the record date for stockholders entitled to notice of the meeting) and, in the case of a special meeting, the purpose or purposes of the meeting of stockholders, must be given not less than 10 nor more than 60 days before such meeting (unless otherwise provided by law) to every stockholder entitled by law to notice of such meeting.

Stockholders

The MGCL provides that, unless the charter authorizes the holders of common stock entitled to vote generally on the election of directors to consent in writing or by electronic transmission by not less than the minimum number of votes that would be necessary to take action at a stockholders meeting, any action required or permitted to be taken at a meeting may be taken without a meeting only if a unanimous consent setting forth the action is given in writing or by electronic transmission by each stockholder entitled to vote on the matter and filed in paper or electronic form with the records of stockholders meetings. The Sierra Charter does not address stockholder action without a meeting and, therefore, unanimous consent is required for stockholder action without a meeting.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

Consent in Lieu of Meeting

Pursuant to the MCC Certificate, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders at any annual or special meeting may be taken without a meeting by a unanimous written consent of the stockholders entitled to vote on the matter.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

Pursuant to the MDLY Certificate, any action required or permitted to be taken by the stockholders must be effected at a duly called annual or special meeting and may not be effected by any consent in writing by such stockholders unless such action is recommended by all directors of MDLY; provided, however, that any action required or permitted to be taken by the holders of MDLY Class B Common Stock, voting separately as a class, or, to the extent expressly permitted by the certificate of designation relating to one or more series of MDLY Preferred Stock, by the holders of such series of MDLY Preferred Stock, voting separately as a series or separately as a class with one or more other such series, may be taken without a meeting, without prior notice and without a vote, if a consent or consents in writing, setting forth the action so taken, shall be signed by the holders of outstanding shares of the relevant class or series having not less than minimum number of votes that would be necessary to authorize or to take such action at a meeting at which all shares entitled to vote thereon were present and voted and shall be delivered to MDLY.

Stockholder Inspection Rights

As a stockholder of a Maryland corporation, a Sierra Stockholder may make a request during usual business hours to inspect and copy any of the following corporate documents: (i) the Sierra Bylaws; (ii) minutes of the proceedings of the stockholders; (iii) annual statements of affairs; and (iv) voting trust agreements deposited at Sierra's principal office. Any Sierra Stockholder may also request a statement showing all stock and securities issued during a specified period of not more than 12 months before the date of the request. In addition, one or more persons who together are and for at least six months have been stockholders of record of at least five percent of the outstanding stock of any class may (i) inspect and copy during usual business hours Sierra's books of account and stock ledger, (ii) present to any officer or resident agent of Sierra a written request for a statement of Sierra's affairs and (iii) if Sierra does not maintain the original or a duplicate stock ledger at its principal office, present to any officer or resident agent of Sierra a written request for a list of stockholders, setting forth the name and address of each stockholder and the number of shares of each class which the stockholder holds. Within 20 days after such request is made, Sierra must prepare such information and have it available on file at its principal office.

The DGCL provides that any stockholder, in person or by attorney or other agent, shall, upon written demand under oath stating the purpose thereof, have the right during usual business hours to inspect for any purpose reasonably related to such person's interest as a stockholder, and to copy: (i) the stock ledger, a list of stockholders and MCC's other books and records; and (ii) a subsidiary's books and records to the extent that MCC has actual possession and control of such records or could obtain such records through the exercise of control over such subsidiary, provided that as of the making of the demand (A) the stockholder inspection of such books and records of the subsidiary would not constitute a breach of an agreement between MCC or the subsidiary and any person(s) not affiliated with MCC and (B) the subsidiary would not have the right under the law applicable to it to deny MCC access to such books and records upon demand by MCC.

The DGCL provides that any stockholder, in person or by attorney or other agent, shall, upon written demand under oath stating the purpose thereof, have the right during usual business hours to inspect for any proper purpose reasonably related to such person's interest as a stockholder, and to make copies and extracts from: (i) the corporation's stock ledger, a list of its stockholders, and the corporation's other books and records; and (ii) a subsidiary's books and records, to the extent that the corporation has actual possession and control of such records or could obtain such records through the exercise of control over such subsidiary, provided that as of the making of the demand (A) the stockholder inspection of such books and records of the subsidiary would not constitute a breach of an agreement between the corporation or the subsidiary and any person(s) not affiliated with the corporation and (B) the subsidiary would not have the right under the law applicable to it to deny the corporation access to such books and records upon demand by the corporation.

Stockholders

In addition to the inspection rights under Maryland law, the Sierra Charter provides that an alphabetical list of the names, addresses and telephone numbers of Sierra Stockholders, along with the number of shares of stock owned by each of them, will be available for inspection by any stockholder or the stockholder's designated agent upon request. A Sierra Stockholder may request a copy of the stockholder list in connection with matters relating to stockholder voting rights and the exercise of stockholder rights under federal proxy laws. Sierra may require the stockholder requesting the stockholder list to represent that the stockholder list is not requested for a commercial purpose unrelated to the stockholder's interest in Sierra.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(x) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision concerning additional stockholder inspection rights beyond those provided by Maryland law will be deleted.

The MGCL defines "distribution" to include (i) a direct or indirect transfer of money or other property of the corporation in respect of any of its shares; or (ii) an incurrence or forgiveness of indebtedness by a corporation to or for the benefit of the corporation's stockholders in respect of any of its shares. A distribution includes a dividend; a purchase, redemption or other acquisitions of its own shares by the corporation; and an issuance of evidence of indebtedness, in each case pertaining to a stockholder of the corporation.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

In addition, pursuant to the MCC Bylaws, a complete list of stockholders entitled to vote at any meeting of stockholders, arranged in alphabetical order, and showing the address of each stockholder and the number of shares registered in the name of each stockholder, shall be prepared by a designated officer and be open to the examination of any stockholder, for any purpose germane to such meeting, during ordinary business hours, either on a reasonably accessible and secure electronic network, at MCC's principal place of business, or at the place where such meeting is to be held, for at least ten days before such meeting and at the place of such meeting during the whole time of such meeting.

Dividends and Distributions; Redemptions

Pursuant to the DGCL, MCC may pay dividends only out of the surplus of MCC or, if there is no surplus, out of net profits for the year in which the dividend is declared and/or the preceding fiscal year. Pursuant to the DGCL, dividends may not be declared out of net profits, however, if MCC's capital has been diminished to an amount less than the aggregate amount of all capital represented by the issued and outstanding stock of all classes having a preference upon the distribution of assets until the deficiency in the amount of capital represented by the issued and outstanding stock of all classes having a preference upon the distribution of assets is eliminated. Furthermore, the DGCL generally provides that a Delaware corporation may redeem or repurchase its shares only if the redemption or repurchase would not impair the capital of such corporation.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

In addition, pursuant to the MDLY Bylaws, the officer who has charge of the stock ledger of MDLY shall prepare and make at least 10 days before every meeting of stockholders a complete list of stockholders entitled to vote at the meeting (provided, however, if the record date for determining the stockholders entitled to vote is less than 10 days before the date of the meeting, the list shall reflect the stockholders entitled to vote as of the tenth day before the meeting date), arranged in alphabetical order, and showing the address of each stockholder and the number of shares registered in the name of each stockholder. Such list shall be open to the examination of any stockholder for any purpose germane to such meeting for a period of at least 10 days prior to the meeting: (i) on a reasonably accessible electronic network, provided that the information required to gain access to such list is provided with the notice of the meeting, or (ii) during ordinary business hours, at the principal place of business of MDLY.

Pursuant to the DGCL, directors of a corporation may pay dividends only out of the surplus of the corporation or, if there is no surplus, out of net profits for the fiscal year in which the dividend is declared and/or the preceding fiscal year. Pursuant to the DGCL, dividends may not be declared out of net profits, however, if the corporation's capital has been diminished to an amount less than the aggregate amount of all capital represented by the issued and outstanding stock of all classes having a preference upon the distribution of assets until the deficiency in the amount of capital represented by the issued and outstanding stock of all classes having a preference upon the distribution of assets is repaired. Furthermore, the DGCL generally provides that, subject to certain limited exceptions, a Delaware corporation may not redeem or repurchase its shares when the capital of the corporation is impaired or when such redemption or repurchase would cause any impairment of the capital of such corporation.

Stockholders

Pursuant to the MGCL, no distribution may be made by Sierra if, after giving effect to the distribution, (i) Sierra would not be able to pay its indebtedness as the indebtedness becomes due in the usual course of business or (ii) Sierra's total assets would be less than the sum of its total liabilities plus, unless the Sierra Charter permits otherwise, the amount that would be needed, if Sierra were to be dissolved at the time of the distribution, to satisfy the preferential rights upon dissolution of stockholders whose preferential rights on dissolution are superior to those receiving the distribution. For purposes of determining compliance with the insolvency tests in clauses (i) and (ii), the MGCL permits assets to be valued on the basis of a "fair valuation" of the assets or upon any other "reasonable" method rather than limiting application of the tests to the financial statements. Notwithstanding the foregoing, under the MGCL Sierra may make a distribution from (i) its net earnings for the fiscal year in which the distribution is made; (ii) its net earnings for the preceding fiscal year; or (iii) the sum of its net earnings for the preceding eight fiscal quarters, in each case even if Sierra's total assets would be less than the sum of its total liabilities plus, unless the Sierra Charter permits otherwise, the amount that would be needed, if Sierra were to be dissolved at the time of the distribution, to satisfy the preferential rights upon dissolution of stockholders whose preferential rights on dissolution are superior to those receiving the distribution.

Pursuant to the Sierra Bylaws, dividends and other distributions to Sierra Stockholders may be authorized by the Sierra Board, subject to the provisions of law and the Sierra Charter.

The Sierra Charter provides that Sierra's investment adviser must review Sierra's accounts at least quarterly to determine whether cash distributions are appropriate. The Sierra Board may authorize the declaration and payment of dividends or distributions to the Sierra Stockholders in cash, other assets or securities of Sierra, or from any other source as the Sierra Board may determine in its discretion. The Sierra Board may also authorize the pro rata distribution to the Sierra Stockholders of funds which the Sierra investment adviser deems unnecessary for Sierra to retain.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(iv) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision concerning the investment adviser and the Sierra Board's responsibilities relating to distributions will be deleted, and Maryland law would govern Sierra's ability to pay distributions to the Sierra Stockholders.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

The MCC Bylaws provide that holders of MCC Common Stock shall have the right to receive dividends as and when declared by the board of directors in its sole discretion at any regular or special meeting, subject to any limitations on the declaring of dividends imposed by the certificate of incorporation.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Certificate provides that, subject to applicable law and the rights, if any, of the holders of any outstanding series of MDLY Preferred Stock or any class or series of stock having a preference over or the right to participate with the MDLY Class A Common Stock with respect to the payment of dividends and other distributions, holders of MDLY Class A Common Stock shall have the right to receive such dividends and distributions as and when declared and paid by the MDLY Board in its discretion (out of the assets of MDLY that are by law available therefor).

Dividends and other distributions shall not be declared or paid on the MDLY Class B Common Stock.

Stockholder Share Repurchase Rights

Subject to the power of the Sierra Board to suspend or terminate any repurchase obligations, the Sierra Charter provides that Sierra will offer to repurchase up to two and a half percent (2.5%) of the weighted average number of shares of Sierra Common Stock outstanding in the prior four calendar quarters from the holders thereof. This repurchase obligation terminates, among other times, on the date that the Sierra Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange.

MCC is not obligated to repurchase shares of capital stock from holders thereof under any circumstances.

MDLY is not obligated to repurchase shares of capital stock from holders thereof under any circumstances.

Upon an event of death or disability of a holder of Sierra Common Stock, the Sierra Charter obligates Sierra to repurchase from such holder all of the holder's shares of Sierra Common Stock for an amount equal to the NAV per share of the common stock as disclosed in Sierra's most recently filed annual report on Form 10-K or quarterly report on Form 10-Q following the date of death or disability of such holder. This repurchase obligation terminates, among other times, on the date that the Sierra Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(vi) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision concerning stock repurchase rights will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

Distributions-in-Kind

Pursuant to the Sierra Charter, distributions in kind are not permitted, except for (a) distributions of readily marketable securities, (b) distributions of beneficial interests in a liquidating trust established for Sierra's dissolution and the liquidation of its assets in accordance with its charter or (c) distributions in which (1) the Sierra Board advises each stockholder of the risks associated with direct ownership of the property, (2) the Sierra Board offers each stockholder the election of receiving such in-kind distributions and (3) in-kind distributions are made only to those stockholders that accept such offer.

The MCC Certificate contains no restrictions on distributions-in-kind.

The MDLY Certificate provides that, subject to applicable law and the rights, if any, of the holders of any outstanding series of MDLY Preferred Stock or any class or series of stock having a preference over or the right to participate with the MDLY Class A Common Stock with respect to the payment of dividends and other distributions in cash, stock of any corporation or property of MDLY, such dividends and other distributions may be declared and paid on the MDLY Class A Common Stock out of the assets of MDLY that are by law available therefor at such times and in such amounts as the MDLY Board in its discretion shall determine.

Dividends and other distributions shall not be declared or paid on the MDLY Class B Common Stock.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(iv) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision prohibiting distributions in kind will be deleted from the Sierra Charter and Sierra will not be subject to any restrictions pertaining to distributions-in-kind.

Deferred Payments

The Sierra Charter limits the ability of Sierra to accept any form of deferred payments for the purchase of shares of Sierra Common Stock.

The MCC Certificate does not contain any restriction on deferred payments.

The MDLY Certificate does not contain any restriction on deferred payments.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(xi) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, this provision restricting deferred payments will be deleted from the Sierra Charter.

Roll-Up Transactions

Under the Sierra Charter, a Roll-up Transaction is a transaction involving the acquisition, merger, conversion or consolidation, directly or indirectly, of Sierra and the issuance of securities of an entity (Roll-up Entity) that is created or would survive after the successful completion of a Roll-up Transaction. This term does not include (a) a transaction involving securities of a company that have been listed on a national securities exchange for at least 12 months; or (b) a transaction involving Sierra's conversion to corporate, trust or association form if, as a consequence of the transaction, there will be no significant adverse change in stockholder voting rights, the term of Sierra's existence, compensation to Sierra's investment adviser or Sierra's investment objectives.

The MCC Certificate does not contain any restriction on roll-up transactions.

The MDLY Certificate does not contain any restriction on roll-up transactions.

In connection with any Roll-up Transaction involving the issuance of securities of a Roll-up Entity, an appraisal of all of Sierra's assets must be obtained from a competent independent appraiser. The assets must be appraised on a consistent basis, and the appraisal will be based on the evaluation of all relevant information and will indicate the value of the assets as of a date immediately prior to the announcement of the proposed Roll-up Transaction. The appraisal must assume an orderly liquidation of assets over a 12-month period. The terms of the engagement of the independent appraiser must clearly state that the engagement is for the benefit of Sierra and Sierra Stockholders. A summary of the appraisal, indicating all material assumptions underlying the appraisal, must be included in a report to stockholders in connection with any proposed Roll-up Transaction.

In connection with a proposed Roll-up Transaction, the sponsor of the Roll-up Transaction must offer to common stockholders who vote "no" on the proposal the choice of: (a) accepting the securities of the Roll-up Entity offered in the proposed Roll-up Transaction; or (b) one of the following: (i) remaining as holders of Sierra's stock and preserving their interests therein on the same terms and conditions as existed previously or (ii) receiving cash in an amount equal to the stockholder's pro rata share of the appraised value of Sierra's net assets.

Sierra is prohibited from participating in any Roll-up Transaction: (a) that would result in the common stockholders having voting rights in a Roll-up Entity that are less than those provided in the Sierra Charter and the Sierra Bylaws; (b) that includes provisions that would operate to materially impede or frustrate the accumulation of shares by any purchaser of the securities of the Roll-up Entity, except to the minimum extent necessary to preserve the tax status of the Roll-up Entity, or which would limit the ability of an investor to exercise the voting rights of its securities of the Roll-up Entity on the basis of the number of shares held by that investor; (c) in which investor's rights to access of records of the Roll-up Entity will be less than those provided in the Sierra Charter; or (d) in which any of the costs of the Roll-up Transaction would be borne by Sierra if the Roll-up Transaction is rejected by the common stockholders.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(viii) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, the provisions restricting roll-up transactions will be deleted from the Sierra Charter and Sierra will not be subject to any of the restrictions identified above.

Maryland law permits a Maryland corporation to include in its articles of incorporation a provision limiting the liability of its directors and officers to the corporation and its stockholders for money damages except for liability resulting from (a) actual receipt of an improper benefit or profit in money, property or services or (b) active and deliberate dishonesty established by a final judgment and which is material to the cause of action.

Despite the above provisions of Maryland law, and in accordance with guidelines adopted by NASAA, the Sierra Charter provides that Sierra's investment adviser and its officers, directors, controlling persons and any other person or entity affiliated with it acting as Sierra's agent shall not be entitled to indemnification (including reasonable attorneys' fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) for any liability or loss suffered by Sierra's investment adviser nor shall Sierra's investment adviser be held harmless for any loss or liability suffered by Sierra, unless (1) Sierra's investment adviser has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct which caused the loss or liability was in Sierra's best interests, (2) Sierra's investment adviser was acting on behalf of or performing services for Sierra, (3) the liability or loss suffered was not the result of negligence or misconduct by Sierra's investment adviser or an affiliate thereof acting as Sierra's agent and (4) the indemnification or agreement to hold Sierra's investment adviser harmless for any loss or liability suffered by Sierra is only recoverable out of Sierra's net assets and not from Sierra Stockholders. In accordance with the Investment Company Act, Sierra will not indemnify any person for any liability to which such person would be subject by reason of such person's willful misconduct, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of his office.

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(ix) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, Sierra will remove the limitations placed on exculpation, and will instead provide that Sierra shall exculpate its directors and officers to the maximum extent permitted by Maryland law, subject to the limitations of the Investment Company Act.

Exculpation

The DGCL permits a Delaware corporation to include in its certificate of incorporation a provision eliminating or limiting personal liability of a director to the corporation or its stockholders for monetary damages for breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except for liability resulting from (i) breach of the director's duty of loyalty, (ii) acts or omissions not in good faith or involving intentional misconduct or a knowing violation of law, (iii) unlawful payment of dividends or unlawful stock purchase or redemption or (iv) any transaction from which the director derived an improper personal benefit.

The MCC Certificate contains a provision which eliminates directors' liability for monetary damages for any breach of fiduciary duty as a director, except to the extent such exemption from liability or limitation thereof is not permitted under the DGCL.

Rights of Sierra

Maryland law requires a corporation (unless its articles of incorporation provides otherwise, which the Sierra Charter does not) to indemnify a director or officer who has been successful in the defense of any proceeding to which he or she is made a party by reason of his or her service in that capacity against reasonable expenses incurred in the proceeding in which the director or officer was successful. Maryland law permits a corporation to indemnify its present and former directors and officers, among others, against judgments, penalties, fines, settlements and reasonable expenses actually incurred by them in connection with any proceeding to which they may be made a party by reason of their service in those or other capacities unless it is established that (a) the act or omission of the director or officer was material to the matter giving rise to the proceeding and (1) was committed in bad faith or (2) was the result of active and deliberate dishonesty, (b) the director or officer actually received an improper personal benefit in money, property or services or (c) in the case of any criminal proceeding, the director or officer had reasonable cause to believe that the act or omission was unlawful. However, under Maryland law, a Maryland corporation may not indemnify for an adverse judgment in a suit by or in the right of the corporation or for a judgment of liability on the basis that a personal benefit was improperly received, unless in either case a court orders indemnification, and then only for expenses. In addition, Maryland law permits a corporation to advance reasonable expenses to a director or officer upon the corporation's receipt of (a) a written affirmation by the director or officer of his or her good faith belief that he or she has met the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the corporation and (b) a written undertaking by him or her or on his or her behalf to repay the amount paid or reimbursed by the corporation if it is ultimately determined that the standard of conduct was not met.

Additionally, Sierra has indemnification agreements in place with its directors and officers

Indemnification of Officers and Directors

The DGCL permits a Delaware corporation to indemnify any director, officer, employee or agent who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any proceeding (other than an action by or in the right of the corporation) against judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement actually and reasonably incurred if the person acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the corporation's best interests and, with respect to any criminal proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe the person's conduct was unlawful. The DGCL permits a Delaware corporation to indemnify any director, officer, employee or agent who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any action by or in the right of the corporation against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred if the person acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the corporation's best interests, except that no indemnification may be made if the person is adjudged liable to the corporation unless and only to the extent the Delaware Court of Chancery or the court in which the action was brought determines that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all the circumstances of the case, such person is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for such expenses which the Delaware Court of Chancery or such other court deems proper. To the extent a present or former director or officer has been successful on the merits or otherwise in defense of any proceeding, the DGCL requires such person to be indemnified against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The DGCL permits a Delaware corporation to indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any proceeding (other than an action by or in the right of the corporation) by reason of the fact that the person is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against expenses (including attorneys' fees), judgments, fines and amounts paid in settlement actually and reasonably incurred by the person in connection therewith if the person acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the corporation's best interests and, with respect to any criminal proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe the person's conduct was unlawful. The DGCL permits a Delaware corporation to indemnify any person who was or is a party or is threatened to be made a party to any action or suit by or in the right of the corporation by reason of the fact that the person is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of the corporation, or is or was serving at the request of the corporation as a director, officer, employee or agent of another corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by the person in connection with the defense or settlement of such action or suit if the person acted in good faith and in a manner reasonably believed to be in or not opposed to the corporation's best interests, except that no indemnification shall be made if the person shall have been adjudged to be liable to the corporation unless and only to the extent the Delaware Court of Chancery or the court in which the action was brought determines that, despite the adjudication of liability but in view of all the circumstances of the case, such person is fairly and reasonably entitled to indemnity for such expenses which the Delaware Court of Chancery or such other court deems proper. To the extent a present or former director or officer has been successful on the merits or otherwise in defense of any proceeding, or in defense of any claim, issue or matter therein, the DGCL requires such person to be indemnified against expenses (including attorneys' fees) actually and reasonably incurred by such person in connection therewith.

Rights of Sierra
Stockholders

If Charter Amendment Proposal A(ix) is approved by Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, Sierra will remove the limitations placed on indemnification and advancement of expenses, and the Sierra Bylaws will obligate Sierra to indemnify its directors and officers to the maximum extent permitted by Maryland law, subject to the limitations of the Investment Company Act.

Rights of MCC
Stockholders

The MCC Bylaws provide that each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to any action, suit or proceeding whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a “proceeding”), by reason of the fact: (a) that he or she is or was a director, officer, employee or agent of MCC, or (b) that he or she, being at the time a director, officer or employee of MCC, is or was serving at the request of MCC as a director, trustee, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan (collectively, “another enterprise” or “other enterprise”), whether either in case (a) or in case (b) the basis of such proceeding is alleged action or inaction (x) in an official capacity as a director, officer or employee of MCC, or as a director, trustee, officer, employee or agent of such other enterprise, or (y) in any other capacity related to MCC or such other enterprise while so serving as a director, trustee, officer, employee or agent, shall be indemnified and held harmless by MCC to the fullest extent not prohibited by Section 145 of the DGCL (or any successor provision(s)) as the same exists or may hereafter be amended, respectively (but, in the case of any amendment to Section 145 of the DGCL, with respect to actions taken prior to such amendment, only to the extent that such amendment permits any corporation to provide broader indemnification rights than permitted prior thereto), against all expense, liability and loss (including, without limitation, attorneys’ fees, judgments, fines, Employee Retirement Income Securities Act excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith if such person satisfied the applicable level of care to permit such indemnification under the DGCL.

Such indemnification shall continue even after such person ceases to be a director, officer or employee of MCC, or director, officer, employee or agent of another enterprise; and shall inure to the benefit of such person’s heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred shall be a contract right and shall not be affected adversely as to such person by any amendment of the MCC Bylaws with respect to any action or inaction occurring prior to such amendment, and (iii) shall, subject to any requirements imposed by law, include the right to be paid by MCC the expenses incurred in defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

The MDLY Bylaws generally provide that each person who was or is made a party or is threatened to be made a party to or is otherwise involved in any action, suit or proceeding whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative (hereinafter a “proceeding”), by reason of the fact that he or she is or was a director or an officer of MDLY or, while a director or officer of MDLY, is or was serving at the request of MDLY as a director, trustee, officer, employee or agent of another corporation or of a partnership, joint venture, trust or other enterprise, including service with respect to an employee benefit plan, whether the basis of such proceeding is alleged action in an official capacity as a director, trustee, officer, employee, or agent or in any other capacity while serving as a director, trustee, officer, employee or agent, shall be indemnified and held harmless by MDLY to the fullest extent permitted by Delaware law, against all expense, liability and loss (including attorneys’ fees, judgments, fines, Employee Retirement Income Securities Act excise taxes or penalties and amounts paid in settlement) reasonably incurred or suffered by such person in connection therewith; provided, however, that, except as provided in the MDLY Bylaws with respect to proceedings to enforce rights to indemnification or advancement of expenses or with respect to any compulsory counterclaim brought by such indemnitee, MDLY shall indemnify any such indemnitee in connection with a proceeding (or part thereof) initiated by such indemnitee only if such proceeding (or part thereof) was authorized by the MDLY Board.

As permitted by the DGCL, the MDLY Bylaws provide that MDLY shall advance expenses (including attorney’s fees) incurred in appearing at, participating in or defending any such proceeding in advance of its final disposition or in connection with a proceeding brought to establish or enforce a right to indemnification or advancement of expenses under the MDLY Bylaws, provided that in the case of an advance made in a proceeding brought to establish or enforce a right to indemnification or advancement, an advancement of expenses incurred by an indemnitee in his or her capacity as a director or officer shall be made solely upon delivery to MDLY of an undertaking by or on behalf of such director or officer to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined after final judicial decision from which there is no further right to appeal that he or she is not entitled to be indemnified by MDLY for such expenses.

Rights of MDLY
Stockholders

As permitted by the DGCL, the MCC Certificate and the MCC Bylaws permit MCC to advance expenses incurred by an officer or director of MCC in defending any civil, criminal, administrative or investigative action, suit, or proceeding, upon delivery to MCC of an undertaking by or on behalf of such director or officer to repay all amounts so advanced if it shall ultimately be determined that he or she is not entitled to be indemnified by MCC for such expenses.

Additionally, MCC has indemnification agreements in place with its directors and officers.

MDLY shall be fully and primarily responsible for the payment of indemnification or advancement of expenses with any jointly indemnifiable claims, pursuant to and in accordance with the terms of the MDLY Bylaws.

Such indemnification rights shall continue even after such person ceases to be a director or officer of MDLY; and shall inure to the benefit of such person's heirs, executors and administrators. The right to indemnification conferred shall be a contract right and shall not be affected adversely as to such person by any amendment, alteration or repeal of the MDLY Certificate or MDLY Bylaws with respect to any proceeding involving any occurrence or alleged occurrence of any action or omission to act occurring prior to such amendment or repeal.

Pursuant to the MDLY Bylaws, MDLY may, to the extent authorized from time to time by the MDLY Board, grant rights to indemnification, and to the advancement of expenses, to any employee or agent of MDLY.

Additionally, MDLY has indemnification agreements in place with its directors and officers.

Exclusive Forum

The Sierra Bylaws provide that, unless Sierra consents in writing to the selection of a different forum, the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, Maryland, or, if that court does not have jurisdiction, the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, Baltimore Division, shall be the sole and exclusive forum for (a) any derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of Sierra, (b) any action asserting a claim of breach of any duty owed by a director or officer or other employee of Sierra to Sierra or to the Sierra Stockholders or asserting a claim of breach of any standard of conduct set forth in the MGCL, (c) any action asserting a claim against Sierra or any director or officer or other employee of Sierra arising pursuant to any provision of the MGCL, the Sierra Charter or the Sierra Bylaws, or (d) any action asserting a claim against Sierra or any director or officer or other employee of Sierra that is governed by the internal affairs doctrine. With respect to any proceeding in the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, Maryland, the Sierra Bylaws further provide that Sierra and the Sierra Stockholders shall consent to the assignment of the proceeding to the Business and Technology Case Management Program pursuant to Maryland Rule 16-205 or any successor thereof.

The MCC Certificate does not have an exclusive forum provision.

The MDLY certificate of incorporation provides that, unless MDLY consents in writing to the selection of an alternative forum, the Court of Chancery of the State of Delaware shall, to the fullest extent permitted by law, be the sole and exclusive forum for (i) any derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of MDLY, (ii) any action asserting a claim of breach of a fiduciary duty owed by any director, officer, or other employee of MDLY to MDLY or the MDLY Stockholders, (iii) any action asserting a claim arising pursuant to any provision of the DGCL, the MDLY Certificate or the MDLY Bylaws or (iv) any action asserting a claim governed by the internal affairs doctrine.

REGULATORY APPROVALS REQUIRED FOR THE MERGERS

Request for SEC Exemptive Relief

The Mergers will be consummated only if they are approved by each of the Sierra Stockholders, the MCC Stockholders, and the MDLY Stockholders, voting separately, as described in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, as well as certain other closing conditions. In addition, the Mergers are contingent upon the SEC granting certain exemptive relief under the Investment Company Act that has been requested by the Companies and certain related entities in an exemptive application that has been submitted to the SEC (the “Application”). In the Application, the Companies and their relevant subsidiaries request an order from the SEC (the “Requested Order”) permitting these entities to participate in the Mergers, which would otherwise violate the joint transaction prohibitions under the Investment Company Act, and, in effect, restructure the affiliated Medley Advisors entities. Exemptive relief is also necessary to permit the Combined Company to own Merger Sub, a registered investment adviser, because the Investment Company Act generally limits the ability of a BDC to own securities issued by a registered investment adviser.

The SEC is expected to act on the Application after the solicitation of proxies from each of the Sierra Stockholders, the MCC Stockholders, and the MDLY Stockholders has begun. However, each of the Sierra Board, the MCC Board, and the MDLY Board expects that the Requested Order will be granted. The SEC previously has granted exemptive relief to permit transactions that are similar to the Mergers, but there can be no assurance that such exemptive relief will be granted in this case. If the SEC has not granted the Requested Order by the date of the respective special meetings, then the Companies will adjourn their respective special meetings, regardless of whether a quorum has been achieved.

In addition, Sierra and certain of its affiliates have submitted exemptive applications to the SEC that requests exemptive relief that would permit the Combined Company to engage in certain operations and activities for which similar relief has previously been granted by the SEC under the Investment Company Act. Specifically, following the consummation of the Mergers, exemptive relief would be required for the Combined Company to (i) operate the Sierra Incentive Plan, the operation of which would be a prohibited affiliated arrangement absent receipt of an exemptive order and (ii) exclude the debt of the SBIC Subsidiary guaranteed by the SBA for purposes of the leverage limitations under the Investment Company Act. The SEC previously has granted exemptive relief to permit similar operations and activities, but there can be no assurance that such exemptive relief will be granted in this case.

Request for SBA Approval

The MCC Merger is conditioned on MCC obtaining from the SBA such approvals as may be necessary for the debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary to remain outstanding in accordance with their terms following the MCC Merger Effective Time. The SBIC Subsidiary is seeking SBA approval related to the Mergers. The approval requested from the SBA is expected to be granted after the solicitation of proxies from each of the Sierra Stockholders, the MCC Stockholders, and the MDLY Stockholders has begun. Each of the Sierra Board and the MCC Board expect that the approval requested will be granted. However, there can be no assurance that the SBA will allow the debentures issued by the SBIC Subsidiary to remain outstanding in accordance with their terms. If the SBA has not granted such approval by the date of the Special Meetings, then the Companies will adjourn the Special Meetings, regardless of whether a quorum has been achieved.

The HSR Act

The HSR Act provides that parties must not consummate certain mergers, acquisitions or transfers of assets until they submitted an HSR notification to the FTC and the DOJ and provided an opportunity for those agencies to determine that the transaction will not have an adverse effect on competition actionable under the antitrust laws. Each of Sierra, MCC, and MDLY have agreed to file an HSR notification with the FTC and the DOJ, if and to the extent required, relating to the MCC Merger Agreement and the MDLY Merger Agreement, as applicable, and the transactions contemplated thereby as required by the HSR Act, and to take all other actions reasonably necessary to cause the expiration or termination of any applicable waiting period under the HSR Act applicable to the MCC Merger and the MDLY Merger as soon as practicable. At any time before consummation of the Mergers, the FTC or the DOJ, could take such action under the antitrust laws as it deems necessary or desirable in the public interest, including seeking to enjoin consummation of the Mergers. Individual states or private parties also may bring actions under the antitrust laws in certain circumstances. There can be no assurance that a challenge to the Mergers on antitrust grounds will not be made or, if a challenge is made, that it will not be successful.

INFORMATION ABOUT THE COMBINED COMPANY

Upon completion of the Mergers, the investment portfolios of MCC and Sierra would be combined, Merger Sub, as a successor to MDLY, would be a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company, and the Combined Company would be internally managed by its wholly controlled adviser subsidiary. Following the completion of the Mergers, the Combined Company will continue to pursue the same principal investment strategies and investment approach as Sierra.

Operational Plans of the Combined Company

Effective upon the Mergers, the Combined Company expects to effectuate the following actions:

Listing of Sierra Common Stock

Sierra Common Stock is currently not listed on a securities exchange. In connection with the Mergers, Sierra Common Stock will be listed on the NYSE under the symbol “SRA” and is expected to be listed on the TASE, with such listings expected to be effective as of the closing date of the Mergers.

Reverse Stock Split

Immediately following the closing of the Mergers, the Combined Company expects to effectuate a one-for-three reverse split stock split. As a result, the total number of shares of Combined Company Common Stock outstanding will be reduced and the price per share will simultaneously increase. In light of the fact that the reverse stock split will not be effectuated until after the closing of the Mergers, the financial information contained in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus does not reflect the reverse stock split.

Share Repurchase Program

In connection with the Mergers, on November 6, 2018, the Sierra Board approved a share repurchase program pursuant to which the Combined Company could purchase up to an aggregate amount of $100.0 million of the Combined Company Common Stock between the period of the effective date of the Mergers and the one-year anniversary of such date. This share repurchase program may be limited or terminated at any time without prior notice. Even if the Mergers are consummated, there can be no assurance that the Combined Company will conduct any repurchases of the Combined Company Common Stock.

Co-Investments

Sierra, MCC, and certain of their affiliates previously obtained an exemptive order from the SEC that permitted them to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with each other and certain other affiliates (the “Current Exemptive Order”). If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Combined Company and certain of its affiliates will not be able to rely on the Current Exemptive Order. In this regard, on November 19, 2018, Sierra and certain of its affiliates submitted an exemptive application to the SEC that requests an exemptive order that would supersede the Current Exemptive Order (the “Superseding Exemptive Order”) and would permit the Combined Company to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the Investment Company Act. Based on the application for the Superseding Exemptive Order, the terms of the Superseding Exemptive Order, if received, are expected to be substantially similar to the Current Exemptive Order. There can be no assurance if and when the Combined Company will receive the Superseding Exemptive Order.

Management

The Combined Company’s business and affairs will be managed under the direction of the Combined Company Board. The Combined Company Board will be comprised of six members, five of whom will be considered independent in accordance with the rules of the NYSE and will not be “interested persons” of the Combined Company as defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act. These individuals are referred to as independent directors. The Sierra Board has elected executive officers, who will serve at the discretion of the Combined Company Board, effective as of the closing of the Mergers. The responsibilities of each director will include, among other things, the oversight of the Combined Company’s investment activity, the quarterly valuation of its assets and oversight of its financing arrangements. The Sierra Board will have an audit committee, a nominating and corporate governance committee and a compensation committee and may establish additional committees in the future.

Board of Directors

Under the Sierra Charter, the directors are divided into three classes. Each class of directors holds office for a three-year term. However, the initial members of the three classes have initial terms of one, two and three years, respectively. At each annual meeting of the Combined Company's stockholders, the successors to the class of directors whose terms expire at such meeting will be elected to hold office for a term expiring at the annual meeting of stockholders held in the third year following the year of their election. Each director will hold office for the term to which he or she is elected and until his or her successor is duly elected and qualified.

The Combined Company's business and affairs will be managed under the direction of the Combined Company Board. Among other things, the Combined Company Board will set broad policies for the Combined Company and approve the appointment of an investment adviser, administrator and officers. The role of the Combined Company Board, and of any individual director, will be one of oversight and not of management of the Combined Company's day-to-day affairs.

On November 6, 2018, the Sierra Board took the necessary actions to appoint individuals to serve as directors and executive officers of the Combined Company. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers: (1) Seth Taube will resign from his positions as a director and Chief Executive Officer of Sierra, (2) Brook Taube will be appointed as Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Officer of the Combined Company and Chairman of the Combined Company Board, and (3) Karin Hirtler-Garvey and John E. Mack, each of whom are currently independent directors of MCC, will become independent directors of the Combined Company. The current independent directors of Sierra, Oliver T. Kane, Valerie Lancaster-Beal, and Stephen R. Byers, will continue as directors of the Combined Company.

Information regarding the Combined Company Board is as follows:

Name	Age	Position	Director Since	Expiration of Term

Executive Officers

As discussed above, on November 6, 2018, the Sierra Board took the necessary actions to appoint individuals to serve as directors and executive officers of the Combined Company. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, the following persons will serve as the Combined Company's executive officers in the following capacities:

Name	Position(s) Held
Brook Taube	Chief Executive Officer, Chief Investment Officer, and Chairman of the Combined Company Board
Seth Taube	Vice Chairman, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director
Jeff Tonkel	President
Richard T. Allorto, Jr.	Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director
John D. Fredericks	General Counsel, Chief Compliance Officer, Secretary, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director
Samuel Anderson	Head of Capital Markets & Risk Management, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director
Christopher Taube	Head of Institutional Fundraising, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director

The following is information concerning the business experience of the Combined Company Board and executive officers. The directors have been divided into two groups — interested directors and independent directors. Independent directors are independent in accordance with the rules of the NYSE and not "interested persons" as defined in the Investment Company Act.

Interested Director

Brook Taube presently serves on the Sierra Board and has served on the Sierra Board since its inception in April 2012. In addition, Mr. Taube has served as the Chief Executive Officer, Chairman of the MCC Board and Chief Investment Officer of MCC since its inception in January 2011, a Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Sierra Total Return Fund since August 2016 and also presently serves on the investment committee for SIC Advisors. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Taube will serve as Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Officer of the Combined Company and Chairman of the Combined Company Board. Prior to forming MDLY in 2006, Mr. Taube was a Partner with CN Opportunity Fund, T3 Group, a principal and advisory firm focused on distressed asset and credit investments, and Griphon Capital Management. Mr. Taube began his career in leveraged finance at Bankers Trust in 1992. Mr. Taube received a B.A. from Harvard University.

Sierra believes that Mr. Taube's broad and extensive experience in asset and credit management and finance industries and his service as portfolio manager for several Medley affiliates make him a valuable part of the Combined Company Board.

Independent Directors

Oliver T. Kane presently serves as a director on the Sierra Board and has served since October 2014. Since January 21, 2016, Mr. Kane has served as Sierra's lead independent director and presently holds that position. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Kane will serve as an independent director on the Combined Company Board. From November 2010 to December 2012, Mr. Kane was Chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Ashmore Funds, a U.S. mutual fund complex registered with the SEC under the Investment Company Act. From 1999 to 2005, he was a founding partner of Ashmore Investment Management, Limited, a specialist emerging markets investment firm based in London, England. Prior to Ashmore, Mr. Kane served as president and chief executive officer of ANZ Securities, Inc. from 1993 to 1998. Earlier in his career with J.P. Morgan and Co. from 1972 until 1987, and then Equitable Capital Management Corp., from 1987 until 1993, Mr. Kane specialized in lending and providing financial advice to corporations in the US, UK/Europe and North and Southeast Asia. Mr. Kane received his P.M.D. from Harvard Business School, and his B.A. from Harvard College.

Sierra believes that Mr. Kane's substantial executive experience in the investment management industry, including his work with developed economies and emerging markets in the fields of credit and banking, debt, equity and special situation investments, and corporate finance/private equity will make him a valuable part of the Combined Company Board.

Valerie Lancaster-Beal presently serves as a director of the Sierra Board and has served since February 2012. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Ms. Lancaster-Beal will serve as an independent director on the Combined Company Board. Ms. Lancaster-Beal is also the President and Chief Executive Officer of VLB Associates, a management consulting firm she founded in January 2014 that provides financial and operational advisory services to middle-market businesses, investment firms and non-profit organizations. She also serves as the Chief Financial Officer of Odyssey Media since 2014 and previously served as the Chief Administrative and Finance Director of Data Capital Management from 2015 to 2018. Prior to this, she served as Managing Director at M.R. Beal & Company until 2014, which she co-founded in April 1988. Ms. Lancaster-Beal served as a Trustee on the Board of the City University of New York from 2000 to 2014 where she chaired the Faculty, Staff and Administration Committee. Previously, Ms. Lancaster-Beal served on the Board of Regents of Georgetown University from 2006 to 2010. Ms. Lancaster-Beal also served as Senior Vice President of Drexel Burnham Lambert from 1985 to 1988 and as Vice President of Citicorp Investment Bank from 1978 to 1985. Ms. Lancaster-Beal holds a B.A. in Economics from Georgetown University and an M.B.A. from the Wharton School of Business of the University of Pennsylvania.

Sierra believes that Ms. Lancaster-Beal's 30 years of investment banking experience at M.R. Beal & Company, Citicorp Investment Bank and Drexel Burnham Lambert support her appointment to the Combined Company Board.

Stephen R. Byers presently serves as a director on the Sierra Board and has served since February 2012. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Byers will serve as an independent director on the Combined Company Board. He is also an independent trustee of the Deutsche Bank DBX ETF Trust (the "DBX ETF Trust"), where he presently serves as the independent chairman (since November 2016) and as a member of the Audit and Nominating Committees. Mr. Byers served the DBX ETF Trust as chair of the Audit Committee and Nominating Committee from December 2010 to February 2015, and as lead independent trustee from February 2015 to November 2015 and continues to be designated as audit committee financial expert for DBX ETF Trust (since December 2010). Since June 2016, Mr. Byers has served as a board member of the Mutual Fund Directors Forum ("MFDF"), which is an independent, non-profit organization that serves independent directors of U.S. funds registered with the SEC under the Investment Company Act. The MFDF enhances the governance of registered investment companies by educating independent directors and providing them with a voice in key policy issues affecting these funds and their shareholders. Since 2014, Mr. Byers has been engaged periodically as an independent consultant to provide expert report and opinion in financial and investment related matters. Mr. Byers served as a Trustee for the College of William and Mary Graduate School of Business from 2002 to 2012. In addition, Mr. Byers was an investment executive with The Dreyfus Corporation ("Dreyfus") from 2000 to 2006 and served as Vice Chairman, Executive Vice President, Chief Investment Officer, member of the Board of Directors and Executive Committee, and fund officer of 90 investment companies, responsible for investment performance of approximately $200 billion in assets under management. Prior to joining Dreyfus, he served as an Executive Vice President, Partner, Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer and member of the Board of Directors of Gruntal & Co., LLC, from 1998 to 1999. Mr. Byers served in executive positions at PaineWebber Group (PWG) from 1986 to 1997, and served in such capacities as chairman of the Investment Policy and Risk-Oversight Committee, Capital Markets Director of Risk and Credit Management, and was NASD registered as General Principal, Financial and Operations Principal and Branch Principal. Prior to PaineWebber, Mr. Byers was an executive at Citibank/Citicorp from 1979 to 1986. Mr. Byers received his M.B.A. in Finance from Roth Graduate School of Business, Long Island University and his B.A. in Economics from Long Island University. In December 2014, Mr. Byers was recognized by the National Association of Corporate Directors as a Board Leadership Fellow.

Sierra believes that Mr. Byers' broad and extensive experience with a variety of financial, accounting, management, regulatory and operational issues through his involvement on DBX ETF Trust's board and experience in senior management positions make him a valuable part of the Combined Company Board.

John E. Mack presently serves as an independent director on the MCC Board and has served since 2011. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Mack will serve as an independent director on the Combined Company Board. Mr. John E. Mack has over 40 years of international banking and financial business management experience. From November 2002 through September 2005, Mr. Mack served as Senior Managing Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer of Shinsei Bank, Limited of Tokyo, Japan. Prior to joining Shinsei Bank and for more than 25 years, Mr. Mack served in senior management positions at Bank of America and its predecessor companies, including 12 years as Corporate Treasurer of NationsBank Corporation and NCNB Corporation. From November 2011 through December 2013, Mr. Mack was a member of the board of directors of Residential Capital LLC, and from January 2010 through March 2015, Mr. Mack was Vice-Chairman and a director of Islandsbanki hf located in Reykjavik, Iceland, and, from September 2008 through January 2016, a member of the board of directors of Flowers National Bank. Mr. Mack is currently a member of the board of directors of Incapital Holdings LLC, Searchlight Minerals Corp., Tiptree Financial Inc. and GlobalMin Ventures Inc. Mr. Mack holds an M.B.A. from the University of Virginia, Darden School of Business and received his bachelor's degree in Economics from Davidson College. Mr. Mack has served in senior management positions at large financial institutions and has extensive experience in finance, accounting and regulatory issues.

Sierra believes that Mr. Mack's tenure in the financial services industry, his service as a director of both public and private companies and his industry-specific knowledge and expertise will make him a valuable addition to the Combined Company Board.

Karin Hirtler-Garvey presently serves as an independent director on the MCC Board and has served since 2011. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey will serve as an independent director on the Combined Company Board. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey also has served as a Director of USAA Federal Savings Bank, a privately held consumer bank, where she has served as the Compensation Committee Chair since June 2018, and also served as the Risk Committee Chair from December 2013 to June 2018. She also has served as a Director of VA Capital Management, a publicly traded annuities firm, since August 2018, as well as a Director of Victory Capital Holdings, a privately held asset management firm, since October 2014, where she chairs the Audit Committee. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey has served as a Director of Western World Insurance Group since December 2006, and has chaired the Audit Committee since December 2009, and also served as a Member of its Compensation Committee and Pension Committee from April 2011 to September 2014. From August 2017 to August 2018, she served as a Director of Validus Holdings Ltd., the publicly-traded parent company of Western World. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey also served on the board of ARO Liquidation Inc., the successor company to Aeropostale, Inc., where she served as the Chairman of the Board of Directors from February 2012 to May 2016. Prior to being appointed, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey served on the board of Aeropostale since August 2005 where she was the lead independent director and served as a member of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and Chairperson of the Audit Committee. From May 2009 to December 2011, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey was the Chief Risk Executive for Ally Financial Inc. From June 2008 to June 2009, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey also served as a Director for Residential Capital LLC, a subsidiary of GMAC. From March 2005 to December 2008, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey was a principal in a start-up real estate development venture based in New Jersey. From 1995 to 2005, Ms. Hirtler-Garvey held various senior level management positions at Bank of America, including Chief Operating Officer, Global Markets, President of Trust and Credit Banking Products, and Chief Financial Officer/Chief Operating Officer for the Wealth and Investment Management division. Ms. Hirtler-Garvey is a C.P.A.

Sierra believes that Ms. Hirtler-Garvey's tenure in the financial services industry and extensive experience in senior management positions will make her a valuable addition to the Combined Company Board.

Executive Officers Who are Not Directors

Jeff Tonkel presently serves on the MCC Board and has served since February 2014. Mr. Tonkel joined MDLY in 2011 and has also served as President of Sierra since July 2013 and as President and a member of the MDLY Board since its formation. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Tonkel will serve as President of the Combined Company. Prior to joining MDLY in 2011, Mr. Tonkel was a Managing Director with J.P. Morgan from January 2010 to November 2011, serving as Chief Financial Officer of a global financing and markets business. Prior to J.P. Morgan, Mr. Tonkel was a Managing Director of Principal Investments with Friedman Billings Ramsey, where he focused on merchant banking and corporate development investments in the specialty finance, real estate, energy and diversified industrial sectors. Mr. Tonkel began his investment career with Summit Partners. Mr. Tonkel received a B.A. from Harvard University and an M.B.A. from Harvard Business School.

Seth Taube presently serves as Chairman of the Sierra Board and Chief Executive Officer of Sierra, and has held those positions since Sierra's inception in April 2012. He has also served on the MCC Board since its inception in January 2011 and as Trustee on the Board of Trustees of Sierra Total Return Fund since January 2016. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Taube will serve as Vice Chairman, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director of the Combined Company. Mr. Taube co-founded Medley in 2006 and has served as co-Chief Executive Officer since then and as co-Chairman of the MDLY Board since its formation in June 2014. Prior to forming Medley in 2006, Mr. Taube was a Partner with CN Opportunity Fund, T3 Group, a principal and advisory firm focused on distressed asset and credit investments, and Griphon Capital Management. Mr. Taube previously worked with Tiger Management and held positions with Morgan Stanley & Co. in its Investment Banking and Institutional Equity Divisions. Mr. Taube received a B.A. from Harvard University, an M.Litt. in Economics from St. Andrew's University in Great Britain, where he was a Rotary Foundation Fellow, and an M.B.A. from the Wharton School at the University of Pennsylvania.

Richard T. Allorto, Jr. served as the Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer and Secretary of Sierra from April 2012 until November 2016 and was re-appointed to such presently held positions in July 2018. Mr. Allorto also presently serves as the Chief Financial Officer and Secretary of MCC, and has served since MCC's inception in 2011. He also presently serves as Chief Financial Officer of MDLY and has served since July 2010. Mr. Allorto is also responsible for the financial operations of the various private funds managed by MDLY. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Allorto will serve as Chief Financial Officer, Treasurer, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director of the Combined Company. Prior to joining Medley, Mr. Allorto held various accounting and finance positions at GSC Group, Inc., a registered investment adviser, including most recently as Chief Financial Officer of a publicly traded business development company that was externally managed by GSC Group. Mr. Allorto was an Audit Supervisor at Arthur Andersen. Mr. Allorto received a B.S. in Accounting from Seton Hall University and is a licensed CPA.

John D. Fredericks presently serves as the Chief Compliance Officer of Sierra and has held this position since February 2014. Mr. Fredericks has also served as the Chief Compliance Officer of MCC since February 2014 and Sierra Total Return Fund since August 2016 and as General Counsel of Medley since June 2013. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Fredericks will serve as General Counsel, Chief Compliance Officer, Secretary, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director of the Combined Company. Prior to joining Medley, Mr. Fredericks was a partner with Winston & Strawn, LLP from February 2003 to May 2013, where he was a member of the firm's restructuring and insolvency and corporate lending groups. Before joining Winston & Strawn, LLP, Mr. Fredericks was a partner with Murphy Sheneman Julian & Rogers from 2000 to 2003 and an associate at Murphy, Weir & Butler from 1993 to 2000. Mr. Fredericks was admitted to the California State Bar in 1993. Mr. Fredericks received a B.A. from the University of California Santa Cruz and a J.D. from University of San Francisco.

Samuel Anderson presently serves as Senior Managing Director of Medley and Head of Capital Markets & Risk Management. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Anderson will serve as Head of Capital Markets & Risk Management, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director. Prior to Medley, Mr. Anderson was a senior member of the Goldman Sachs Investment Banking Financial Institutions Group where he led the commercial finance coverage effort, playing a leading role in a range of financings including the IPOs of MCC, TPG Specialty Finance and New Mountain Finance. Prior to Goldman Sachs, Mr. Anderson worked with Banc of America Securities in the Investment Banking Financial Institutions Group. Mr. Anderson received a B.A. in Economics from Bates College.

Christopher Taube presently serves as Senior Managing Director of Medley and Head of Institutional Fundraising. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Mr. Taube will serve as Head of Institutional Fundraising, Senior Executive Vice President, and Senior Managing Director of the Combined Company. Prior to Medley, Mr. Taube was a Managing Director with Aetos Capital Real Estate where he was responsible for acquisitions, corporate development and institutional fundraising. Prior to Aetos, Mr. Taube had worked with Fremont Realty Capital, The Georgetown Company and Lazard Frères & Co. LLC. Mr. Taube received a B.A. from Princeton University and an M.B.A. from Columbia Business School. Mr. Taube is President of the M Power Foundation.

Compensation of Combined Company Directors

As compensation for serving on the Combined Company Board, the Combined Company's independent directors will receive an annual retainer of $200,000 each, as well as reimbursement of reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board or committee meeting. In addition, the Lead Independent Director will receive an annual retainer of $50,000, the Chairperson of the Audit Committee will receive an annual retainer of $25,000, the Chairperson of the Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee will receive an annual retainer of $15,000, the Chairperson of the Compensation Committee will receive an annual retainer of $20,000, and the non-chair committee member will receive an annual retainer of $10,000.

Board Leadership Structure

Under the Combined Company's bylaws, the Combined Company Board will designate one of the Combined Company's directors as chair to preside over meetings of the Combined Company Board and meetings of the Combined Company's stockholders, and will perform such other duties as may be assigned to him or her by the Combined Company Board. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Brook Taube will serve as chairman of the Combined Company Board and will be an "interested person" by virtue of his role as the Combined Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Investment Officer. The Combined Company believes that it will be in the best interests of the Combined Company's stockholders for Brook Taube to serve as chairman of the Combined Company Board because of his significant experience in matters of relevance to its business.

The Combined Company is aware of the potential conflicts that may arise when a non-independent director will serve as chairman of the Combined Company Board, but believes these potential conflicts will be offset by the Combined Company's strong corporate governance policies. The Combined Company's corporate governance policies will include regular meetings of the independent directors in executive session without the presence of interested directors and management, the establishment of an Audit Committee, a Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee, and a Compensation Committee, each of which will be comprised solely of independent directors and the appointment of a Chief Compliance Officer, with whom the independent directors will meet at least once a year without the presence of interested directors and other members of management, for administering the Combined Company's compliance policies and procedures.

The Combined Company recognizes that different board leadership structures are appropriate for companies in different situations. The Combined Company will re-examine its corporate governance policies on an ongoing basis to ensure that they continue to meet its needs. Effective as of the closing of the Mergers, Oliver T. Kane will continue to serve as lead independent director of the Combined Company.

All of the independent directors will play an active role on the Combined Company Board. The independent directors will compose a majority of the Combined Company Board and will be closely involved in all material deliberations related to the Combined Company. The Combined Company Board believes that, with these practices, each independent director will have equal involvement in the actions and oversight role of the Combined Company Board and equal accountability to the Company and the Combined Company's stockholders. The Combined Company's independent directors will be expected to meet separately (i) as part of each regular Combined Company Board meeting and (ii) with the Combined Company's Chief Compliance Officer, as part of at least one board meeting each year.

The Combined Company believes that its leadership structure will be the optimal structure for the Combined Company at this time. The Combined Company Board, which will review its leadership structure periodically as part of its annual self-assessment process, further believes that its structure will appropriately enable it to exercise its oversight of the Combined Company.

Board Role in Risk Oversight

The Combined Company Board will oversee the Combined Company's business and operations, including certain risk management functions. Risk management is a broad concept comprising many disparate elements (for example, investment risk, issuer and counterparty risk, compliance risk, operational risk, disclosure risk, diversification risk and business continuity risk). The Combined Company Board will implement its risk oversight function both as a whole and through its committees. In the course of providing oversight, the Combined Company Board and its committees will receive reports on the Combined Company's and the Combined Company's investment adviser's activities, including reports regarding the Combined Company's investment portfolio and financial accounting and reporting. The Combined Company Board will also receive a quarterly report from the Combined Company's Chief Compliance Officer, who will report on the Combined Company's compliance with the federal and state securities laws and its internal compliance policies and procedures as well as those of the Combined Company's investment adviser and the Combined Company's administrator and transfer agent. The Audit Committee's meetings with the Combined Company's independent public accounting firm will also contribute to its oversight of certain internal control risks. In addition, the Combined Company Board will meet periodically with the Combined Company's investment adviser to receive reports regarding the Combined Company's operations, including reports on certain investment and operational risks, and will communicate regularly with senior members of the Combined Company's management.

Table of Contents

The Combined Company Board believes that this role in risk oversight will be appropriate. The Combined Company believes that it will have robust internal processes in place and a strong internal control environment to identify and manage risks. However, not all risks that may affect the Combined Company will be identified or eliminated, and some risks will be beyond the control of the Combined Company, the Combined Company's investment adviser and the Combined Company's other service providers.

Investment Advisory Agreement

Background

SIC Advisors has served as the investment adviser to Sierra since the commencement of Sierra's operations in April 2012, pursuant to the terms of the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement, as renewed from time to time by the Sierra Board. Sierra Stockholders are being asked to approve the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement. See "Sierra Proposal #6: Approval of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement." If approved by the Sierra Stockholders at the Sierra Special Meeting, MCC Advisors will provide the same advisory services pursuant the terms of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement as SIC Advisors currently provides pursuant to the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement. The terms and conditions of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement are substantially identical in all material respects to the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement. Following approval by the Sierra Stockholders in the manner required by the Investment Company Act, the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement will become effective immediately following the closing of the Mergers. The Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement will remain in effect for a period of two years. Unless earlier terminated, the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement will remain in effect from year-to-year thereafter if approved annually at an in-person meeting of the Combined Company Board by a majority of Combined Company's Non-Interested Directors, and either the Combined Company Board or the holders of a majority of the Combined Company's outstanding voting securities.

Investment Advisory Agreement and Fees

The Combined Company's investment process will be provided through the efforts of its wholly owned subsidiary, MCC Advisors, and will benefit from the business and specific industry knowledge, transaction expertise and deal-sourcing capabilities of Merger Sub, including MCC Advisors' officers and employees. MCC Advisors will be responsible for the overall management of the Combined Company's activities and for the day-to-day management of the Combined Company's investment portfolio. MCC Advisors will provide its services under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement. The activities of MCC Advisors will be subject to the supervision and oversight of the Combined Company Board.

Advisory and Other Services

The terms and conditions of the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement and the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement are identical in all material respects. Under the terms of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement, subject to the supervision of the Combined Company Board, MCC Advisors will manage the Combined Company's day-to-day operations and provide investment advisory services to the Combined Company, in each case in accordance with the Combined Company's investment objectives, policies, and restrictions. Under the terms of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement, MCC Advisors will be responsible for the following:

- determining the composition and allocation of the Combined Company's investment portfolio, the nature and timing of any changes to its portfolio and the manner of implementing such changes;
- identifying and evaluating the structure of the investments made by the Combined Company;
- performing due diligence on prospective portfolio companies;

Table of Contents

- executing, closing, servicing and monitoring the Combined Company's investments;
- determining the securities and other assets that the Combined Company will purchase, retain or sell;
- providing the Combined Company with such other investment advisory, research and related services as it may, from time to time, reasonably require for the investment of its funds; and
- to the extent permitted under the Investment Company Act and the Advisers Act, on the Combined Company's behalf, and in coordination with any sub-adviser and administrator, providing significant managerial assistance to those portfolio companies to which the Combined Company is required to provide such assistance under the Investment Company Act, including utilizing appropriate personnel of MCC Advisors to, among other things, monitor the operations of the Combined Company's portfolio companies, participate in board and management meetings, consult with and advise officers of portfolio companies and provide other organizational and financial consultation.

Under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement, MCC Advisors will have a fiduciary responsibility for the safeguarding and use of all of the Combined Company's funds and assets. MCC Advisors would also be subject to liability under both the Investment Company Act and the Advisers Act for a breach of these fiduciary duties.

MCC Advisors will be primarily responsible for initially identifying, evaluating and structuring the Combined Company's investments. These activities will be carried out by its investment teams and subject to the oversight of MCC Advisors' senior investment personnel. Each investment that the Combined Company makes will require the approval of MCC Advisors before the investment may be made.

The services MCC Advisors will provide to the Combined Company will not be exclusive, and MCC Advisors may engage in any other business or render similar services to other entities so long as its services to Sierra are not impaired.

Management Fees

The management fees under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement will be calculated in a manner identical to that of the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement. The Combined Company will pay MCC Advisors a fee for its services under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement consisting of two components: a base management fee and an incentive fee. The Combined Company believes that this fee structure will benefit the Combined Company's stockholders by aligning the compensation of MCC Advisors with the Combined Company's overall investment performance. The cost of both the base management fee and the incentive fee will ultimately be borne by the Combined Company's stockholders.

Base Management Fee

The base management fee will be calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of the Combined Company's gross assets and is payable quarterly in arrears. For purposes of calculating the base management fee, the term "gross assets" includes any assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage. As a result, MCC Advisors will receive a higher base management fee when the Combined Company incurs debt or uses leverage. The base management fee will be calculated based on the Combined Company's gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter. Base management fees for any partial quarter will be appropriately pro-rated.

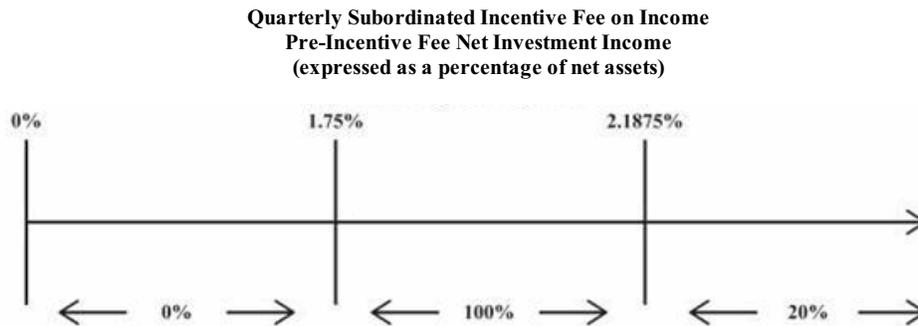

Incentive Fee

The incentive fee is divided into two parts: (i) a subordinated incentive fee on income and (ii) an incentive fee on capital gains. Each part of the incentive fee is outlined below.

The subordinated incentive fee on income for each quarter will be calculated as follows:

- No subordinated incentive fee on income is payable in any calendar quarter in which the pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed a quarterly return to stockholders of 1.75% per quarter on the Combined Company's net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter. The Combined Company refers to this as the preferred quarterly return.
- All of the Combined Company's pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the preferred quarterly return, but is less than or equal to 2.1875% on the Combined Company's net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter in any quarter, is payable to MCC Advisors. The Combined Company refers to this portion of its subordinated incentive fee on income as the catch up. It is intended to provide an incentive fee of 20% on all of the Combined Company's pre-incentive fee net investment income when its pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% on the Combined Company's net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter in any quarter.
- For any quarter in which the Combined Company's pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% on the Combined Company's net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter, the subordinated incentive fee on income shall equal 20% of the amount of the Combined Company's pre-incentive fee net investment income, because the preferred return and catch up will have been achieved.
- Pre-incentive fee net investment income is defined as interest income, dividend income and any other income accrued during the calendar quarter, minus the Combined Company's operating expenses for the quarter, including the base management fee, expenses payable under its administration agreement, any interest expense and dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the incentive fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not include any realized capital gains, realized capital losses or unrealized capital appreciation or depreciation.

The following is a graphical representation of the calculation of the quarterly subordinated incentive fee on income:

Percentage of Pre-Incentive Fee Net Investment Income Allocated to Quarterly Incentive Fee

An incentive fee on capital gains will be earned on investments sold and shall be determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year during which the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement is in effect. If the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement is terminated, the incentive fee on capital gains will become payable as of the effective date of such termination. The incentive fee on capital gains is based on the Combined Company's realized capital gains on a cumulative basis from inception, computed net of all realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation on a cumulative basis, which the Combined Company refers to as "net realized capital gains." The incentive fee on capital gains equals 20% of the Combined Company's net realized capital gains, less the aggregate amount of any previously paid incentive fee on capital gains.

Because of the structure of the subordinated incentive fee on income and the incentive fee on capital gains, it is possible that the Combined Company will pay such fees in a quarter where it will incur a net loss. For example, if the Combined Company receives pre-incentive fee net investment income in excess of the 1.75% on its net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter for a quarter, the Combined Company will pay the applicable incentive fee even if it has incurred a net loss in the quarter due to a realized or unrealized capital loss. MCC Advisors will not be under any obligation to reimburse the Combined Company for any part of the incentive fee it receives that is based on prior period accrued income that the Combined Company never receives as a result of a subsequent decline in the value of its portfolio.

The fees that will be payable under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement for any partial period will be appropriately pro-rated. The fees will also be calculated using a detailed policy and procedure approved by MCC Advisors and the Combined Company Board, including a majority of the Non-Interested Directors, and such policy and procedure will be consistent with the description of the calculation of the fees set forth above.

MCC Advisors may elect to defer or waive all or a portion of the fees that would otherwise be paid to it in its sole discretion. Any portion of a fee not taken as to any month, quarter or year will be deferred without interest and may be taken in any such other month prior to the occurrence of a liquidity event as MCC Advisors may determine in its sole discretion.

Below are examples of the two-part incentive fee:

Example — Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income, Determined on a Quarterly Basis

Assumptions

First Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 0.5500%
Second Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 1.9500%
Third Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 2.800%

The subordinated incentive fee on income in this example would be:

First Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed the 1.75% preferred return rate, therefore there is no catch up or split incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income
Second Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income falls between the 1.75% preferred return rate and the catch up of 2.1875%, therefore the incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income is 100% between the 1.75% preferred return and 1.95%
Third Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds the 1.75% preferred return and the 2.1875% catch up provision. Therefore the catch up provision is fully satisfied by the 2.800% of pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 1.75% preferred return rate and there is a 20% incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 2.1875% "catch up"

Example — Incentive Fee on Capital Gains (Millions)

Alternative 1 — Assumptions

- Year 1: $20 million investment made in company A (“Investment A”), and $30 million investment made in company B (“Investment B”)
- Year 2: Investment A sold for $50 million and fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $32 million
- Year 3: FMV of Investment B determined to be $25 million
- Year 4: Investment B sold for $31 million

The capital gains portion of the incentive fee would be:

- Year 1: None, because no investments were sold
- Year 2: Capital gains incentive fee of $6 million ($30 million realized capital gains on sale of Investment A multiplied by 20%)
- Year 3: None, because no investments were sold
- Year 4: Capital gains incentive fee of $200,000 ($6.2 million ($31 million cumulative realized capital gains multiplied by 20%) less $6 million (capital gains fee taken in Year 2))

Alternative 2 — Assumptions

- Year 1: $20 million investment made in Company A (“Investment A”), $30 million investment made in Company B (“Investment B”), $25 million investment made in Company C (“Investment C”) and the cost basis of Other Portfolio Investments is $25 million
- Year 2: Investment A sold for $50 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $30 million capital gain is available for distribution), fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $25 million (creates $5 million in unrealized capital depreciation), the FMV of Investment C determined to be $25 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $25 million
- Year 3: FMV of Investment B determined to be $27 million (creates $3 million in unrealized capital depreciation), Investment C sold for $30 million ($25 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $5 million capital gain is available for distribution) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
- Year 4: FMV of Investment B determined to be $30 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
- Year 5: Investment B sold for $20 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and $10 million capital loss) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
- Year 6: Total Portfolio is sold for $80 million ($15 million capital gain computed based on a cumulative cost basis in Other Portfolio Investments of $65 million)

The incentive fee on capital gains in this example would be:

- Year 1: None, because no investments were sold
- Year 2: $5 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $25 million ($30 million realized capital gains on Investment A less unrealized capital depreciation on Investment B))
- Year 3: $1.4 million incentive fee on capital gains ($6.4 million (20% multiplied by $32 million ($35 million cumulative realized capital gains less $3 million unrealized capital depreciation))) less $5 million incentive fee on capital gains paid in Year 2
- Year 4: None, because capital gains incentive fees are paid on realized capital gains only
- Year 5: None, because $5 million (20% multiplied by $25 million (cumulative realized capital gains of $35 million less realized capital losses of $10 million)) is less than $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains paid in prior years
- Year 6: $1.6 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $40 million ($25 million cumulative realized capital gains plus $15 million realized capital gains)) less $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains received in prior years

Expenses

Under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement, the Combined Company shall bear costs and expenses, including (without limitation): all direct and indirect costs and expenses incurred by MCC Advisors for office space rental, office equipment, utilities and other non-compensation related overhead allocable to performance of investment advisory services by MCC Advisors under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement; corporate, organizational and offering expenses relating to offerings of shares of the Combined Company Common Stock, subject to limitations included in the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement; the cost of calculating the Combined Company's NAV, including the cost of any third-party valuation firms; offerings of the Combined Company Common Stock and other securities; fees and expenses associated with performing due diligence reviews of prospective investments; transfer agent and custodial fees; fees and expenses associated with marketing efforts (including attendance at investment conferences and similar events); federal and state registration fees; all costs of registration and listing the shares of the Combined Company Common Stock on any securities exchange; federal, state and local taxes; independent directors' fees and expenses; brokerage commissions for the Combined Company's investments; costs of proxy statements, stockholders' reports and notices; fidelity bond, directors and officers/errors and omissions liability insurance and other insurance premiums; direct costs such as printing, mailing, long distance telephone and staff costs associated with the Combined Company's reporting and compliance obligations under the Investment Company Act and applicable federal and state securities laws, including compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act; fees and expenses associated with accounting, independent audits and outside legal costs; all other expenses incurred by the Combined Company or MCC Advisors in connection with administering the Combined Company's business, including expenses incurred by the Combined Company's administrator, Medley Capital LLC, in performing administrative services for the Combined Company; and the reimbursement of the compensation of the Combined Company's Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staffs paid by Medley Capital LLC.

Indemnification

The indemnification provisions under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement will be identical to the indemnification provisions under the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement. The Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement provides that MCC Advisors and each of its directors, officers, stockholders or members (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), agents, employees, controlling persons (as determined under the Investment Company Act) and any other person or entity affiliated with, or acting on behalf of, MCC Advisors shall not be liable to the Combined Company for any action taken or omitted to be taken by MCC Advisors in connection with the performance of any of their duties or obligations under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement (except to the extent specified in Section 36(b) of the Investment Company Act concerning loss resulting from a breach of fiduciary duty with respect to the receipt of compensation for services), and the Combined Company shall indemnify, defend and protect such person or entities and hold them harmless from and against all losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) incurred by them in or by reason of any pending, threatened or completed action, suit, investigation or other proceeding (including an action or suit by or in the right of the Combined Company or its stockholders) arising out of or otherwise based upon the performance of any of such persons' duties or obligations under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement to the extent such losses, damages, liabilities, cost and expenses are not fully reimbursed by insurance and otherwise to the fullest extent such indemnification would not be inconsistent with the New Sierra Charter, the Investment Company Act, or the laws of the State of Maryland.

The Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement also provides that MCC Advisors shall indemnify the Combined Company, and its affiliates and controlling persons (as determined under the Investment Company Act), for any losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) that the Combined Company or its affiliates and controlling persons may sustain as a result of MCC Advisors' willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence, reckless disregard of its duties under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement or violation of applicable law, including, without limitation, the federal and state securities laws.

The Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement further provides that MCC Advisors and its directors, officers, stockholders or members (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), agents, employees, controlling persons (as determined under the Investment Company Act), and any other person or entity affiliated with, or acting on behalf of MCC Advisors are not entitled to indemnification from the Combined Company for any liability or loss suffered by them, nor will they be held harmless for any loss or liability suffered by the Combined Company, unless all of the following conditions are met: (i) the indemnified party has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct which caused the loss or liability was in the Combined Company's best interests; (ii) the indemnified party was acting on behalf of or performing services for the Combined Company; (iii) such liability or loss was not the result of willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of its duties under the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement; and (iv) such indemnification or agreement to hold harmless is recoverable only out of the Combined Company's net assets and not from Combined Company's stockholders.

Prohibited Activities

The Sierra Charter prohibits the following activities between Sierra, SIC Advisors and its affiliates:

- Sierra may not purchase or lease assets in which SIC Advisors or its affiliates has an interest unless (i) Sierra discloses the terms of the transaction to the Sierra Stockholders, the terms are fair to Sierra and the price does not exceed the lesser of cost or fair market value, as determined by an independent expert or (ii) such purchase or lease of assets is consistent with the Investment Company Act or an exemptive order under the Investment Company Act issued to Sierra by the SEC;
- Sierra may not invest in general partnerships or joint ventures with affiliates and non-affiliates unless certain conditions are met;
- SIC Advisors and its affiliates may not acquire assets from Sierra unless approved by Sierra Stockholders in accordance with the Sierra Charter;
- Sierra may not lease assets to SIC Advisors or its affiliates unless it discloses the terms of the transaction to Sierra Stockholders and such terms are fair and reasonable to Sierra;
- Sierra may not make any loans to SIC Advisors or its affiliates except for the advancement of funds as permitted by the Sierra Charter;
- Sierra may not acquire assets in exchange for Sierra Common Stock;
- Sierra may not pay a commission or fee, either directly or indirectly to SIC Advisors, its affiliates, except as otherwise permitted by the Sierra Charter, in connection with the reinvestment of cash flows from operations and available reserves or of the proceeds of the resale, exchange or refinancing of Sierra's assets;
- SIC Advisors and its affiliates may not charge duplicate fees to Sierra; and
- SIC Advisors and its affiliates may not provide financing to Sierra with a term in excess of 12 months.

In addition, the Sierra Investment Advisory Agreement prohibits SIC Advisors and its affiliates from receiving or accepting any rebate, give-up or similar arrangement that is prohibited under federal or state securities laws. SIC Advisors and its affiliates are also prohibited from participating in any reciprocal business arrangement that would circumvent provisions of federal or state securities laws governing conflicts of interest or investment restrictions. Finally, SIC Advisors and its affiliates are prohibited from entering into any agreement, arrangement or understanding that would circumvent restrictions against dealing with affiliates or promoters under applicable federal or state securities laws.

The New Sierra Charter would not prohibit the prohibited activities listed above, subject to the requisite Sierra Stockholder approval.

Board Consideration of Approval of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement

For a detailed discussion of the Sierra Board's consideration in approving the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement, see "Sierra Proposal #6: Approval of the Combined Company Investment Advisory Agreement."

Arrangements with Management

Employment Agreements with Management

Medley Capital LLC, a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company that employs the Combined Company's employees, has entered into employment agreements with each Management employee, effective as of the MDLY Merger Closing Date (the "Effective Date"). The employment agreements provide for an initial term of 30-months following the Effective Date for Mr. B. Taube and 24-months following the Effective Date for Messrs. S. Taube, Tonkel, Allorto, Fredericks, Anderson, and C. Taube, unless terminated earlier by one of the parties, and will be renewed automatically for successive periods of one year, unless either party gives written notice to the contrary at least 120 calendar days prior to the end of the initial term or any renewal term (the "Term").

Each employment agreement sets forth a base salary, which is subject to change at the discretion of the Combined Company Board or the Combined Company Compensation Committee. The initial base salaries of the Management employees are as follows: Mr. B. Taube, $600,000; Messrs. S. Taube and Tonkel, $480,000; Messrs. Allorto, Fredericks, Anderson, and C. Taube, $360,000.

Under the employment agreements, each Management employee is eligible to receive each year a short-term incentive paid in cash and a long-term incentive in the form of an equity award, each paid after the end of the year. The employment agreements describe the annual short-term incentive paid in cash and the long-term equity award as the Management employee's "annual bonus." Each employment agreement provides that the Combined Company Board or the compensation committee will establish a target annual bonus for each year of no less than a specified percentage of each Management employee's base salary and will establish performance and other objectives for the year for such annual bonus, in consultation with Management. Beginning in 2019, the target annual bonuses for each Management employee, as a percentage of the initial base salary, are as follows: Mr. B. Taube, 533.3%; Messrs. Anderson and C. Taube, 458.3%; Messrs. S. Taube and Tonkel, 364.6%; and Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks, 361.1%.

For 2018, the employment agreements set forth a dollar amount of annual bonus for each Management employee, payable in 2019, which the Combined Company Board or the Combined Company Compensation Committee may increase in recognition of performance in excess of performance objectives. The 2018 annual bonus amounts, payable in 2019, are as follows: Mr. B. Taube, $3,200,000; Messrs. S. Taube and Tonkel, $1,750,000; Messrs. Anderson and C. Taube, $1,650,000; and Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks, $1,300,000. No annual bonus would be earned for 2018 unless the Management employee remains employed through the date of payment.

For the 2018 annual bonus, payable in 2019, the employment agreements provide that the short-term cash incentive portion of the annual bonus will be as follows: 42.4% for Messrs. Anderson and C. Taube; 37.5% for Mr. B. Taube; 34.6% for Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks; and 34.3% for Messrs. S. Taube and Tonkel; paid immediately, and the long-term equity incentive award portion will be as follows: 65.7% for Messrs. S. Taube and Tonkel; 65.4% for Messrs. Allorto and Fredericks; 62.5% for Mr. B. Taube; and 57.6% for Messrs. Anderson and C. Taube. The long-term equity incentive will be made in the form of a restricted stock unit (“RSU”) award, vesting in three installments on December 31, 2019, December 31, 2020 and December 31, 2021. The cash and equity award portions of the annual bonuses paid under the employment agreements will be subject to recoupment by the Combined Company to the extent required by applicable law (including without limitation Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Act) and/or the rules and regulations of the NYSE.

For the 2019 annual bonus and thereafter, the employment agreements provide that the short-term cash incentive portion of the annual bonus will be as follows: 35.0% for Messrs. B. Taube, S. Taube, and Tonkel; and 40% for Messrs. Allorto, Fredericks, Anderson and C. Taube, in each case paid immediately. The long-term equity incentive award portion will be as follows: 65.0% for Messrs. B. Taube, S. Taube, and Tonkel; and 60% for Messrs. Allorto, Fredericks, Anderson and C. Taube. The long-term equity incentive will be made in the form of a RSU award, vesting in three equal annual installments. The cash and equity award portions of the annual bonuses paid under the employment agreements will be subject to recoupment by the Combined Company to the extent required by applicable law (including without limitation Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Act) and/or the rules and regulations of the NYSE.

The base salary, short-term incentive paid in cash, and long-term incentive in the form of an equity award, of each Management employee under the employment agreements is as follows:

	Base Salary	Annual Bonus for 2018 ($ and % of Base)	Cash Portion of Annual Bonus for 2018	RSU Award Portion of 2018 Annual Bonus	Total (Base Plus 2018 Annual Bonus)
Brook Taube, Chief Executive Officer and Chairman of the Combined Company Board	$ 600,000	$3,200,000 533.3%	$1,200,000 37.5%	$2,000,000 62.5%	$ 3,800,000

Christopher Taube, Head of Institutional Fund Raising, Senior Executive Vice President and Senior Managing Director	$ 360,000	$1,650,000 458.3%	$700,000 42.4%	$950,000 57.6%	$ 2,010,000

Compensation Upon Termination of Employment

Under the employment agreements, each Management employee would be entitled to certain benefits and payments in the event of the Management employee's death, disability, termination of employment by Medley Capital LLC without "Cause" (as defined below), termination by the Management employee with "Good Reason" (as defined below) or termination of the Management employee due to the Combined Company providing notice that it is not renewing the employment agreement at the end of the Term, unless the Combined Company has offered to renew the employment agreement on terms that are at least comparable in the aggregate to Market Level Compensation (as defined below) (together, the "Termination Events"). In the event of any of the Termination Events, Medley Capital LLC will pay the Management employee's earned but unpaid base salary, any unpaid annual bonus for the year ending prior to the date of the Management employee's termination, based on actual performance of Medley Capital LLC (or the Company Group (as defined below in the section titled "Definition of Cause")) for that year, payable fully in cash and at the same time as such amounts are paid to continuing Management employees, and a pro-rated amount of the annual bonus for the year of termination, based on actual performance of Medley Capital LLC (or the Company Group) for the year in which the Termination Event occurs, with any individual performance criteria deemed to be met at the same level as Medley Capital LLC performance, and paid fully in cash at the same time as such amounts are paid to continuing Management employees for that year. In addition, the vesting of any RSU awards outstanding at the Management employee's Termination Event will be fully accelerated.

Death: In the event of the death of a Management employee during any Term, Medley Capital LLC will pay to the legal representatives or named beneficiaries of the Management employee the amounts described above as well as the full cost of COBRA coverage for the Management employee's qualified beneficiaries for up to twelve months following the Management employee's death, to the extent the Management employee's qualified beneficiaries elect such COBRA coverage.

Disability: In the event of a termination of employment due to a Management employee's disability during any Term, Medley Capital LLC will pay to the Management employee the amounts described above as well as the full cost of COBRA coverage for the Management employee and/or his qualified beneficiaries for up to twelve months following the Management employee's termination on account of disability, to the extent the Management employee elects such COBRA coverage. Under the employment agreements, "Disability" means that the Management employee is, by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment that can be expected to result in death or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than twelve months, (i) unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity, as determined by a licensed physician as reasonably chosen by Medley Capital LLC, or (ii) receiving income replacement benefits for a period of not less than three months under Medley Capital LLC's group disability plan.

Termination by Medley Capital LLC Without Cause, by Notice of Non-Renewal or by Management Employee with Good Reason: In the event Medley Capital LLC terminates a Management employee's employment without Cause, the Management employee terminates his employment with Good Reason, or the Management employee's employment terminates due to Medley Capital LLC not renewing the employment agreement at the end of any Term (unless the Combined Company has offered to renew on terms at least comparable in the aggregate to Market Level Compensation), Medley Capital LLC will pay to the Management employee the amounts described above. In addition, Medley Capital LLC will pay a monthly amount equal to the sum of (x) one-twelfth of the Management employee's base salary plus (y) one-twelfth of the cash portion of the Management employee's target annual bonus for the year of termination, for the number of months set forth in each Management employee's employment agreement. The number of months for which this amount will be paid under the employment agreement of each Management employee is as follows: 30 months for Mr. B. Taube; 24 months for Mr. S. Taube; and 18 months for Messrs. Tonkel, Allorto, Fredericks, Anderson, and C. Taube. In addition, Medley Capital LLC will pay an amount toward the cost of COBRA coverage equal to the employer-portion of premiums paid for active employees in Medley Capital LLC's plan for the Management employee and/or the Management employee's qualified beneficiaries, to the extent the Management employee elects such COBRA coverage, for a period of up to eighteen months following the Management employee's termination by Medley Capital LLC without Cause or by the Management employee with Good Reason or for a period of up to twelve months following the Management employee's termination due to Medley Capital LLC not renewing the employment agreement at the end of any Term (unless the Combined Company has offered to renew on terms at least comparable in the aggregate to Market Level Compensation), with such obligation ceasing on the date the Management employee becomes eligible for coverage under another group health plan offered by an employer of the Management employee or the employer of the Management employee's spouse.

Definition of Good Reason. Under the employment agreements, “Good Reason” means the occurrence of any of the following without the Management employee’s consent: (i) a material diminution in the Management employee’s base compensation; (ii) a material diminution in the Management employee’s authority, duties or responsibilities; (iii) a requirement that the Management employee report to anyone other than the Combined Company Board, or the Chief Executive Officer (except for Mr. B. Taube) or, for certain Management employees, another member of Management; (iv) a material diminution in the budget over which the Management employee retains authority; (v) a material change in the geographic location at which the Management employee must perform the services; or (vi) any other action or inaction that constitutes a material breach by Medley Capital LLC of the employment agreement. The Management employee must provide notice to Medley Capital LLC of the existence of the condition described above within ninety calendar days of the initial existence of the condition, and Medley Capital LLC will have a period of thirty calendar days following the notice during which it may remedy the condition. Any termination for Good Reason must occur within two years following the initial existence of one or more of the foregoing conditions.

Termination by Management Employee Other than for Good Reason or by Medley Capital LLC for Cause. In the event that a Management employee terminates his employment other than for Good Reason or Medley Capital LLC terminates the Management employee for Cause, the Management employee would only receive any earned but unpaid base salary.

Definition of Cause. Under the employment agreements, “Cause” means: (i) fraud against Medley Capital LLC, Sierra and each of their respective subsidiaries and affiliates (the “Company Group”), which causes material harm to any member of the Company Group; (ii) willful failure or any willful refusal to implement or undertake the lawful directives of the Combined Company Board or such other supervisor as may be assigned by the Company Group when such directives are materially consistent with the Management employee’s duties under the employment agreement; (iii) engaging in willful conduct (other than at the direction of Medley Capital LLC) that causes material injury, monetary or otherwise, to any member of the Company Group, or that reflects adversely on any member of the Company Group, or that materially affects the Management employee’s ability to perform the Management employee’s duties; (iv) conviction of, or the entering of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, by the Management employee to a financial crime that constitutes a felony (or any state-law equivalent) or involves moral turpitude; (v) the entry of any order or consent decree, whether or not liability is admitted or denied, by the SEC against the Management employee in respect of charges that the Management employee violated any provision of the Investment Company Act or the Exchange Act, other than provisions requiring the maintenance of proper books and records; (vi) theft, misappropriation, embezzlement or conversion of the assets or opportunities of any member of the Company Group; (vii) a material breach of the terms, covenants or representations of the employment agreement or any agreement between the Management employee and any member of the Company Group; or (viii) a willful violation of the written rules or policies of any member of the Company Group, which causes material harm to any member of the Company Group, provided that, in the case of the occurrence of an event described in clause (vii) or (viii) above, the Management employee will have 10 business days after receipt of written notice thereof, stating in reasonable detail the actions or omissions purporting to constitute such breach or violation, to cure, and upon such cure, such event will not be deemed to be the basis for a termination of the Management employee for Cause, unless Medley Capital LLC acting in good faith, otherwise determines that such occurrence is not reasonably subject to being cured; provided, however, that with respect to the occurrence of an event described in clause (vii) above, the cure period will be available to the Management employee only with respect to the first occurrence of the same event. No act or failure to act on the Management employee’s part will be considered “willful” under the employment agreements unless it is done, or omitted to be done, by the Management employee in bad faith or without reasonable belief that the Management employee’s action or omission was in the best interests of the Company Group. Any act or failure to act based upon authority given pursuant to a resolution duly adopted by the Combined Company Board or based upon the advice of counsel for Medley Capital LLC will be conclusively presumed to be done, or omitted to be done, in good faith and in the best interests of the Company Group.

Definition of Market Level Compensation. Under the employment agreements, “Market Level Compensation” is determined by the parties to the agreement. If the parties cannot reach agreement as to whether an offer is at least comparable in the aggregate to “Market Level Compensation”, the Combined Company Board or the Combined Company Compensation Committee, as applicable, shall engage an independent compensation consultant reasonably acceptable to the Management employee and familiar with the industry in which Medley Capital LLC operates to make such determination. The consultant shall, at a minimum, take the following considerations into account: qualifications and experience of the Management employee; the aggregate compensation paid to similarly situated persons performing similar tasks within Medley Capital LLC’s peer group (as reported in its most recent annual proxy statement); the performance of the Company Group relative to Medley Capital LLC’s peer group; and comparability data submitted by the Management employee. If the consultant provides a range, adjusted to reflect performance of Medley Capital LLC comparable to its peer group, and Medley Capital LLC proposes a compensation package that is at least the median level within that range, the comparability requirement shall be deemed satisfied.

Release of Claims. In order to receive any of the payments or benefits described above, the employment agreements require the Management employee (or in the event of death or disability his beneficiary or legal representative, as applicable) to execute and deliver to Medley Capital LLC a General Release of Claims, substantially in the form attached to each employment agreement.

Restrictive Covenants. The employment agreements impose restrictive covenants that prohibit a Management employee from competing with any member of the Company Group, or interfering with the customers or employees of any member of the Company Group while employed and for twelve months thereafter, and prohibit the Management employees from disparaging or disclosing the confidential information of any member of the Company Group indefinitely. Medley Capital LLC also agrees to instruct the Combined Company Board and Medley Capital LLC’s Chief Executive Officer, President and Senior Executive Vice Presidents to not disparage the Management employee, and Medley Capital LLC will not be responsible for any damages suffered by the Management employee to the extent the Combined Company Board provides such instruction and does not in any way explicitly contradict such instruction.

Indemnification and Insurance. The employment agreements also provide for indemnification and insurance for each Management employee.

Lock-Up Period. Each employment agreement also provides for a Lock-Up Period of one-year beginning on the MDLY Merger Closing Date, during which the Management employee will not be permitted to Transfer any Sierra Common Stock the Management employee acquired pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement (which shall include Sierra Common Stock issued in respect thereof as a result of any stock split, stock dividend, share exchange, merger, consolidation or similar recapitalization) (the “Lock-Up Shares”) other than pursuant to a Permitted Transfer. The employment agreements for Messrs. Allorto, Tonkel, Fredericks, Anderson, and C. Taube provide, however, that in the event of a termination by Medley Capital LLC without Cause or by the Management employee with Good Reason, the Lock-Up Period shall end as of the termination date. Sierra and its transfer agent are authorized to decline to make any Transfer of Lock-Up Shares if such Transfer would be impermissible during the Lock-Up Period and the Management employee agrees and consents to the entry of any such stop Transfer instructions with Sierra’s transfer agent and registrar against any such impermissible Transfer of Lock-Up Shares.

Under the employment agreements, the following terms have the meanings specified below:

- “Transfer” means, with respect to Lock-Up Shares: (i) any sale, assignment, bequest, conveyance, devise, gift (outright or in trust), pledge, encumbrance, grant of an option, hypothecation, mortgage, exchange, transfer or other disposition of (whether directly or indirectly, whether with or without consideration and whether voluntarily or involuntarily or by operation of law), or agreement to do any of the foregoing, of any interest (legal or beneficial) in any Lock-Up Shares; (ii) the entry into any swap or other arrangement that transfers to another, in whole or in part, any of the economic consequences of ownership of Sierra Common Stock or any securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for Sierra Common Stock, or warrants or other rights to purchase Sierra Common Stock, whether any such transaction is to be settled by delivery of Sierra Common Stock or such other securities, in cash or otherwise; or (iii) any public announcement of an intention to effect any transaction specified in clause (i) or (ii); provided, however, that the term “Transfer” does not include any revocable proxy granted by the Management employee or a Permitted Transferee or any exercise of rights by an executor, administrator, trustee, committee, guardian, conservator or receiver of the Management employee or a Permitted Transferee, including the sale of Lock-Up Shares to pay any applicable estate taxes.
- “Permitted Transfer” means any of the following: (a) the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares to one or more Permitted Transferees; (b) the existence or creation of a testamentary power of appointment that may be exercised with respect to any Lock-Up Shares held by a trust; provided, however, that the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares upon the exercise of a testamentary power of appointment to someone other than a Permitted Transferee shall not be a “Permitted Transfer” within the meaning of this paragraph (b) of this definition; or (c) any Transfer by will or pursuant to the laws of descent and distribution by any person meeting the definition of a Permitted Transferee.
- “Permitted Transferee” means any of the following: (x) any immediate family member of the Management employee or any lineal descendant of any such immediate family member; and (y) any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the Management employee or any immediate family member of the Management employee.

The Compensation Program

The executive compensation program described below reflects the existing compensation guidelines, goals, and principles of MDLY. Following the MDLY Merger Closing, the Combined Company will establish a Compensation Committee, and the Combined Company Compensation Committee will adopt an executive compensation program. That compensation program may be materially different from the MDLY compensation program described here.

The MDLY executive compensation program is designed to provide a competitive compensation package weighted toward MDLY performance and aligned with MDLY's stockholders' long-term interests. A significant percentage of Management employees' compensation will be in the form of performance-based awards. The MDLY executive compensation program will be both reflective of the strategic value of the individual's position and designed to ensure long-term retention and motivation.

Goals of the Compensation Program

- To attract, motivate, and retain exceptional Management employees who are critical to sustained long-term Medley Capital LLC performance and stockholder value.
- To align the interests of our Management employees with the long-term interests of our stockholders by tying a significant amount of Management employees' compensation to the achievement of pre-established performance metrics related to our business goals and financial performance.
- To motivate our Management employees to perform at the highest level to achieve our financial and strategic goals.

Guiding Principles of the Compensation Philosophy

- Pay for Performance. MDLY will reward Management's achievements by linking a significant portion of their compensation to MDLY's financial performance. MDLY's incentive compensation program will be measured by pre-established performance metrics that reflect strategic and operational objectives.
- Competitive Pay. The MDLY compensation program will be designed to recruit and retain top talent through the use of elements that are flexible and competitive with peers.
- Aligned with Stockholders. A significant portion of Management employees' compensation will be in the form of at-risk performance-based cash bonuses and performance-based stock awards. The value of a Management employee's equity-based award will fluctuate with the price of MDLY Common Stock, which will align the long-term interests of Management employees and MDLY stockholders.

Annual bonuses are provided to align the goals and objectives of the Management employees with those of MDLY, business units within MDLY and the expected goals and objectives of MDLY's stockholders, as applicable, and according to standards of good governance, ethical leadership, and the successful growth and well-being of MDLY. The award of any annual bonus will generally depend upon the satisfaction of personal and/or MDLY performance metrics, and following the MDLY Merger Closing will be determined by the Combined Company Board or the compensation committee for the year.

The Executive Compensation Process

The executive compensation process described herein reflects the existing process and procedures of MDLY. That executive compensation process may be materially different from the MDLY executive compensation process. Following the MDLY Merger Closing, the Combined Company will establish a compensation committee, and the Combined Company Compensation Committee will adopt an executive compensation process.

Role of the Compensation Committee. The MDLY compensation committee is responsible for the oversight, establishment, implementation and administration of the MDLY executive compensation program. During the first quarter of each year, the compensation committee will make decisions with respect to incentive compensation earned based on the prior year's performance and finalize performance metrics and target incentive compensation levels for the current year. Later in the year, the compensation committee will review materials relating to peer group composition and other information that forms the basis for future decisions. The compensation committee will endeavor to set compensation consistent with MDLY's compensation philosophy and objectives and competitive with peers. The compensation committee will, in consultation with Management, periodically review and establish the compensation program for Management employees, including setting the performance metrics for performance-based incentives. In making compensation decisions, the compensation committee will consider a variety of factors, including, among other things, the experience, leadership, responsibility and performance of each Management employee, retention and industry competitiveness. While the compensation committee will consult with Management and its independent compensation consultant in making its decisions, final authority for the establishment of the executive compensation program and performance objectives will rest solely with the compensation committee.

Role of Management. In the course of determining Management employees' compensation, the compensation committee will solicit input from our Management from time to time. The compensation committee believes this input will be valuable because of Management's comprehensive knowledge of MDLY's business, operations and financial and strategic goals. The Chief Executive Officer, in coordination with the Chief Financial Officer and other members of Senior Management, (i) provide data, analysis and recommendations to the compensation committee regarding MDLY's executive compensation programs and policies, (ii) annually evaluate the performance of Management employees (other than themselves) based on each individual's performance, length of service, experience, level of responsibility and achievement of MDLY's goals and (iii) propose to the compensation committee the performance metrics to be used to determine target awards under performance-based incentive programs. The compensation committee, however, retains authority to determine all elements of Management employees' compensation. MDLY's Management employees and human resources department will support the compensation committee in its duties, and the compensation committee from time to time may delegate to Management and the human resources department certain administrative duties.

Role of Compensation Consultant. The compensation committee will engage a nationally recognized compensation consultant to provide and review market data with respect to publicly traded companies similar in size and industry to MDLY regarding Management employees' compensation and non-employee director compensation. The compensation consultant will perform a comprehensive review of the executive compensation program and conduct market compensation comparisons for Management employees to assist the compensation committee in designing our executive compensation program. The compensation consultant will report directly to the compensation committee. The compensation committee and Management will work with the compensation consultant to develop an appropriate peer group of publicly traded companies. The compensation consultant will provide an independent review of the Management and non-employee director compensation practices in our peer group, including an analysis of base salary and annual and long-term incentives.

In connection with the engagement of the compensation consultant, the compensation committee will consider and assess all relevant factors, including, but not limited to, those set forth in applicable SEC and NYSE rules that could give rise to a potential conflict of interest with respect to the compensation consultant.

Risk Assessment and Management

The compensation committee will design MDLY's executive compensation program with a mix of fixed and variable incentive compensation and short-term and long-term incentives in order to mitigate any incentive for excess or short-term risk-taking by Management employees that could be detrimental to the long-term best interests of MDLY and its stockholders.

Elements of the MDLY Compensation Program

Components of Compensation. The MDLY executive compensation program is designed to be simple, competitive and link pay to performance. The MDLY executive compensation program consists of three components: base salary, performance-based cash awards and performance-based stock awards. Approximately 80% of the target compensation of MDLY Management employees will be variable and tied to MDLY performance.

MDLY executive compensation program includes the following key elements:

- Fixed cash compensation.
- Reviewed annually and adjusted as appropriate, based on responsibility, performance, internal pay equity and competitive market.
- At-risk performance-based cash compensation based on achievement of pre-established performance goals.
- At-risk performance-based equity compensation based on achievement of pre-established performance goals.
- Initially granted as RSUs.
- Provides a fixed source of income to attract and retain Management with proven skills and leadership abilities.
- To motivate and reward Management to achieve performance objectives that are key to our annual financial and strategic goals.
- To motivate and reward Management for focusing on sustained long-term growth and increasing stockholder value.
- Enhances retention of key talent.
- Aligns compensation to stockholder value and stock price appreciation.

The MDLY executive compensation program will include both fixed components (base salary and benefits) and variable components (short- and long-term incentive awards). Variable components are directly tied to financial performance. MDLY believes this mix of components will be appropriate for Management because it incentivizes them to focus on both short- and long-term success and aligns their interests with those of MDLY's stockholders. We also believe that this mix will be consistent with companies in our peer group. We will strive to achieve an appropriate balance among the elements of our compensation program to meet our objectives and philosophy, but will not apply any set formula in allocating executive compensation.

Base Salary. MDLY will provide base salaries to MDLY Management to compensate them for performing day-to-day responsibilities and to provide competitive fixed pay to balance at-risk compensation, which will be a substantial part of Management's compensation. Base salary is intended to provide a fundamental level of compensation so that the Management employee does not feel pressured to take unnecessary or excessive risks or overly focus on the price of MDLY common stock. In setting the base salaries of Management, MDLY will consider, among other factors, the scope of the individual's responsibilities, experience, individual performance, labor market conditions, competitive market salary levels and overall mix of compensation elements. MDLY will review base salaries no less than annually, usually in the first quarter of each year, and take into consideration market data provided by an independent compensation consultant, internal pay equity among Management and the overall mix of compensation elements.

See "Employment Agreements with Management" above for more information.

Performance-Based Incentive Compensation. MDLY will provide our Management with annual performance-based incentive opportunity designed to reward achievement of performance goals measured over the current fiscal year. Generally, each Management employee will be eligible to receive each year a short-term incentive paid in cash and a long-term incentive in the form of an equity award, each paid after the end of the year. The compensation committee will establish a target performance and other objectives for each year, in consultation with Management. Incentive award opportunities will be tied to the achievement of pre-determined financial performance targets that are directly related to MDLY's financial and strategic goals for the year. MDLY will, after considering the recommendations of Management, set annual financial performance targets for the year. Actual compensation for a Management employee may be above or below target, based on the degree to which the performance metrics are met. The Management employee generally must remain employed through the payment date to be eligible for any cash bonus or equity award. Termination of employment for any reason prior to the actual payment date generally results in forfeiture or proration of the bonus or award.

Generally, a substantial component of the executive compensation program consists of rewards for long-term growth and enhancement of stockholder value through the use of equity awards. MDLY believes that long-term incentive compensation will be an effective way to retain a strong Management team and provide them with incentives to focus on MDLY's long-term success, aligning their interests with the long-term interests of MDLY stockholders.

The Sierra Incentive Plan provides for grants of stock options, restricted stock, restricted stock units, other stock-based awards and performance compensation awards. This range of available equity awards will provide the Combined Company the flexibility to grant appropriate types of awards under different circumstances, depending on our needs and objectives over time.

Other Compensation and Policies

Retirement Benefits

MDLY maintains a qualified defined contribution plan that is intended to qualify as a salary deferral arrangement under Section 401(k) of the Code. The plan covers all employees, including MDLY's named executive officers, who may contribute up to 96% of their eligible compensation, subject to statutory limits imposed by the Code. MDLY is also permitted to provide for, but MDLY currently does not provide any, matching contributions. In addition, MDLY makes safe harbor nonelective contributions under the 401(k) plan equal to 3% of each employee's eligible compensation, subject to statutory limits imposed by the Code.

Non-Qualified Deferred Compensation

MDLY does not provide any deferred compensation programs or benefits for its Management, but the Combined Company Compensation Committee may elect to do so in the future.

Executive Benefits and Perquisites

Management employees are eligible to participate in the same group health, life and disability insurance plans that MDLY makes available to all employees.

Post-Termination Compensation

Management employees generally are entitled to certain payments in the event of the Management employee's death, disability, termination of employment by MDLY without "Cause," termination by the Management employee for "Good Reason" or termination of the Management employee due to MDLY providing notice that it is not renewing the Management employee's employment agreement, unless the Combined Company has offered to renew the employment agreement on terms that are at least comparable in the aggregate to Market Level Compensation.

See "Employment Agreements with Management" above for more information.

Equity Grant Practices

MDLY's practice will be to grant equity awards to Management during the first quarter of each year. MDLY will not engage in the practice of timing grants with the release of non-public information.

Tax Considerations

Section 162(m) of the Code generally limits the deductibility of compensation paid to a public company's chief executive officer, chief financial officer and the three other most highly compensated executive officers to $1 million during any fiscal year. Compensation paid to our covered Management employees in excess of $1 million will not be deductible (except for any grandfathered arrangement). We believe, however, that our primary responsibility will be to provide a compensation program that attracts, retains, and rewards the Management necessary for our success. We believe that the total compensation program for our executive officers should be managed in accordance with the objectives of the MDLY's compensation philosophy and in the best overall interests of MDLY's stockholders. MDLY will consider deductibility to be only one factor in determining executive compensation, and will maintain the flexibility to award compensation that MDLY determines to be consistent with the objectives of our executive compensation program, even if the awards are not fully tax deductible.

Tax Gross-Ups

MDLY does not provide tax gross-ups for perquisites provided to Management.

REGULATION OF THE COMBINED COMPANY

If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the Combined Company, as the surviving company in the MCC Merger, would have elected to be regulated as a BDC under the Investment Company Act and have also elected, and intend to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code.

BDCs are closed-end management investment companies that elect to be regulated as BDCs under the Investment Company Act. As such, BDCs are subject to only certain provisions of the Investment Company Act. BDCs are provided greater flexibility under the Investment Company Act than are other investment companies in dealing with their portfolio companies, issuing securities, and compensating their managers. BDCs can be internally or externally managed and may qualify to elect to be taxed as RICs for U.S. federal income tax purposes. The Investment Company Act contains prohibitions and restrictions relating to transactions between BDCs and their affiliates (including any investment advisers or sub-advisers), principal underwriters, and affiliates of those affiliates or underwriters. The Investment Company Act requires that a majority of a BDC's directors be persons other than "interested persons," as that term is defined in the Investment Company Act. In addition, the Investment Company Act provides that the Combined Company may not change the nature of its business so as to cease to be, or withdraw its election as a BDC unless approved by a majority of its outstanding voting securities.

The Investment Company Act defines "a majority of the outstanding voting securities" as the lesser of: (1) 67% or more of the voting securities present at a meeting if the holders of more than 50% of the outstanding voting securities are present or represented by proxy or (2) more than 50% of the voting securities.

The Combined Company will generally not be able to issue and sell the Combined Company Common Stock at a price below NAV per share. The Combined Company may, however, sell the Combined Company Common Stock, or warrants, options, or rights to acquire the Combined Company Common Stock, at a price below the then-current NAV of the Combined Company Common Stock if the Combined Company Board determines that such sale is in its best interests and the best interests of the Combined Company's stockholders, and the Combined Company's stockholders approve such sale. In addition, the Combined Company may generally issue new shares of the Combined Company Common Stock at a price below NAV in rights offerings to existing stockholders, in payment of dividends, and in certain other limited circumstances.

As a BDC, the Combined Company is required to meet a coverage ratio of the value of total assets to senior securities, which include all of its borrowings and any preferred stock it may issue in the future, of at least 200%. The Combined Company may also be prohibited under the Investment Company Act from knowingly participating in certain transactions with its affiliates without the prior approval of the Combined Company Board who are not interested persons and, in some cases, prior approval by the SEC.

The SBCA modifies the asset coverage percentage from 200% to 150%. Under the Investment Company Act, the Combined Company is allowed to increase its leverage capacity if stockholders representing at least a majority of the votes cast, when quorum is met, approve a proposal to do so. If the Combined Company receives stockholder approval, the Combined Company would be allowed to increase its leverage capacity on the first day after such approval. Alternatively, the Investment Company Act allows the majority of its independent directors to approve an increase in its leverage capacity, and such approval would become effective after one year. In either case, the Combined Company would be required to make certain disclosures on its website and in SEC filings regarding, among other things, the receipt of approval to increase its leverage, its leverage capacity and usage, and risks related to leverage.

The SBCA also instructs the SEC to issue rules or amendments to rules allowing BDCs to use the same securities offering and proxy rules that available to operating companies, including, among other things, allowing BDCs to incorporate by reference in registration statements filed with the SEC and allow certain BDCs to file shelf registration statements that are automatically effective and take advantage of other benefits available to Well-Known Seasoned Issuers; however, as of the date of this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, the Combined Company does not know when the rules relating to this legislation will become effective.

The Combined Company may invest up to 100% of its assets in securities acquired directly from issuers in privately negotiated transactions. With respect to such securities, the Combined Company may, for the purpose of public resale, be deemed an “underwriter” as that term is defined in the Securities Act. The Combined Company does not intend to acquire securities issued by any investment company that exceed the limits imposed by the Investment Company Act.

BDC Regulation: Qualifying Assets

Under the Investment Company Act, a BDC may not acquire any asset other than assets of the type listed in Section 55(a) of the Investment Company Act, which are referred to as qualifying assets, unless, at the time the acquisition is made, qualifying assets represent at least 70% of the BDC’s total assets. As discussed in greater detail below, the Investment Company Act defines qualifying assets as principally including certain investments by a BDC in eligible portfolio companies. An eligible portfolio company is defined under the Investment Company Act as any issuer which:

1. is organized under the laws of, and has its principal place of business in, the United States;
2. is not an investment company (other than a small business investment company wholly owned by the BDC) or a company that would be an investment company but for certain exclusions under the Investment Company Act; and
3. satisfies any of the following:
 - a. does not have any class of securities that is traded on a national securities exchange;
 - b. has a class of securities listed on a national securities exchange, but has an aggregate market value of outstanding voting and non-voting common equity of less than $250 million;
 - c. is controlled by a BDC, either alone or as part of a group acting together, and the BDC has an affiliated person who is a director of the eligible portfolio company; or
 - d. is a small and solvent company having total assets of not more than $4 million and capital and surplus of not less than $2 million.

As relevant to the Combined Company’s proposed business, the principal categories of qualifying assets under the Investment Company Act are the following:

4. Securities purchased in transactions not involving any public offering from the issuer of such securities, which issuer (subject to certain limited exceptions) is an eligible portfolio company, or from any person who is, or has been during the preceding 13 months, an affiliated person of an eligible portfolio company, or from any other person, subject to such rules as may be prescribed by the SEC.
5. Securities of any eligible portfolio company that the Combined Company controls.
6. Securities purchased in a private transaction from a U.S. issuer that is not an investment company or from an affiliated person of the issuer, or in transactions incident thereto, if the issuer is in bankruptcy and subject to reorganization or if the issuer, immediately prior to the purchase of its securities was unable to meet its obligations as they came due without material assistance other than conventional lending or financing arrangements.
7. Securities of an eligible portfolio company purchased from any person in a private transaction if there is no ready market for such securities and the Combined Company already owns 60% of the outstanding equity of the eligible portfolio company.

8. Securities received in exchange for or distributed on or with respect to securities described in (1) through (4) above, or pursuant to the exercise of warrants or rights relating to such securities.

9. Cash, cash equivalents, U.S. government securities, or high-quality debt securities maturing in one year or less from the time of investment.

In addition, a BDC must have been organized and have its principal place of business in the United States and be operated for the purpose of making investments in the types of securities described in (1), (2) or (3) above.

For purposes of Section 55(a) of the Investment Company Act, the Combined Company will treat each asset underlying the TRS as a qualifying asset if the obligor on such asset is an eligible portfolio company and as a non-qualifying asset if the obligor is not an eligible portfolio company. The Combined Company may, however, accord different treatment to the TRS in the future in accordance with any applicable new rules or interpretations adopted by the staff of the SEC.

BDC Regulation: Control and Managerial Assistance to Portfolio Companies

BDCs generally must offer to make available to the issuer of the securities significant managerial assistance, except in circumstances where either (i) the BDC controls such issuer of securities or (ii) the BDC purchases such securities in conjunction with one or more other persons acting together and one of the other persons in the group makes available such managerial assistance. Making available managerial assistance includes any arrangement whereby the BDC, through its directors, officers, or employees, offers to provide, and, if accepted, does so provide, significant guidance and counsel concerning the management, operations or business objectives and policies of a portfolio company.

Temporary Investments

Pending investment in other types of “qualifying assets,” as described above, the Combined Company’s investments may consist of cash, cash equivalents, U.S. government securities, or high-quality debt securities maturing in one year or less from the time of investment so that 70% of its total assets are qualifying assets. Typically, the Combined Company intends to invest in U.S. Treasury bills or in repurchase agreements, provided that such agreements are fully collateralized by cash or securities issued by the U.S. government or its agencies. A repurchase agreement involves the purchase by an investor, such as the Combined Company, of a specified security and the simultaneous agreement by the seller to repurchase it at an agreed-upon future date and at a price that is greater than the purchase price by an amount that reflects an agreed-upon interest rate. There is no percentage restriction on the proportion of the Combined Company’s assets that may be invested in such repurchase agreements. However, if more than 25% of the Combined Company’s total assets constitute repurchase agreements from a single counterparty, the Combined Company may not meet the diversification requirements in order to qualify to be taxed as a RIC for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Thus, the Combined Company does not intend to enter into repurchase agreements with a single counterparty in excess of this limit. The Combined Company expects that MCC Advisors will monitor the creditworthiness of the counterparties with which the Combined Company enters into repurchase agreement transactions.

Senior Securities

The Combined Company is permitted, under specified conditions, to issue multiple classes of debt and one class of stock senior to its common stock if its asset coverage, as defined in the Investment Company Act, is at least equal to 200% immediately after each such issuance. In addition, while any senior securities remain outstanding, the Combined Company must prohibit any distribution to its stockholders or the repurchase of such securities or shares unless the Combined Company meets the applicable asset coverage ratios at the time of the distribution or repurchase. The Combined Company may also borrow amounts up to 5% of the value of its total assets for temporary or emergency purposes without regard to asset coverage.

Table of Contents

For purposes of the asset coverage ratio test applicable to the Combined Company as a BDC, the Combined Company will treat the outstanding notional amount of the TRS, less the initial amount of any cash collateral required to be posted by Arbor under the TRS, as a senior security for the life of that instrument. The Combined Company may, however, accord different treatment to the TRS in the future in accordance with any applicable new rules or interpretations adopted by the staff of the SEC.

Code of Ethics

The Combined Company will maintain the code of ethics adopted by Sierra pursuant to Rule 17j-1 under the Investment Company Act, which the Combined Company calls its “Code of Business Conduct and Ethics”, that establishes procedures for personal investments and restricts certain personal securities transactions. The Code of Business Conduct and Ethics applies to the Combined Company’s directors, officers and employees. Persons subject to the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics may invest in securities for their personal investment accounts, including securities that may be purchased or held by the Combined Company, so long as such investments are made in accordance with the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics’ requirements. The Combined Company has attached the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics as Appendix M to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. You may also read and copy the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics at the SEC’s Public Reference Room located at 100 F Street, NE, Washington, DC 20549. You may obtain information on the operation of the Public Reference Room by calling the SEC at 1-800-SEC-0330. In addition, the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics is available on the EDGAR Database on the SEC’s Internet site at www.sec.gov. You may also obtain copies of the Code of Business Conduct and Ethics, after paying a duplicating fee, by electronic request at the following e-mail address: publicinfo@sec.gov, or by writing the SEC’s Public Reference Section, 100 F Street, NE, Washington, DC 20549.

Compliance Policies and Procedures

The Combined Company and MCC Advisors will adopt written compliance policies and procedures reasonably designed to prevent violation of the federal securities laws and are required to review these compliance policies and procedures annually for their adequacy and the effectiveness of their implementation. The Combined Company’s Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for administering its compliance policies and procedures and MCC Advisors’ Chief Compliance Officer is responsible for administering the compliance policies and procedures for MCC Advisors.

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures

The Combined Company will delegate its proxy voting responsibility to MCC Advisors. MCC Advisors will vote proxies according to the Combined Company’s proxy voting policies and procedures which are set forth below. These policies and procedures are reviewed periodically by MCC Advisors as well as the Combined Company Board, and, accordingly, are subject to change.

As an investment adviser registered with the SEC under the Advisers Act, MCC Advisors has a fiduciary duty to act solely in the best interests of its clients. As part of this duty, MCC Advisors recognizes that it must vote client securities in a timely manner free of conflicts of interest and in the best interests of its clients. MCC Advisors’ policies and procedures for voting proxies for its investment advisory clients are intended to comply with Section 206 of the Advisers Act and Rule 206(4)-6 thereunder.

Proxy Voting Policies and Procedures

MCC Advisors will vote proxies relating to the Combined Company’s securities in a manner that it believes, in its discretion, to be in the best interest of the Combined Company’s stockholders. It will review on a case-by-case basis each proposal submitted for a stockholder vote taking into account relevant factors, including: (1) the impact on the value of the securities; (2) the anticipated costs and benefits associated with the proposal; (3) the effect on liquidity; and (4) customary industry and business practices. Although MCC Advisors will generally vote against proposals that may have a negative impact on its clients’ portfolio securities, it may vote for such a proposal if there exists compelling long-term reasons to do so.

Table of Contents

The proxy voting decisions of MCC Advisors are made by its portfolio managers and investment professionals under the supervision of MCC Advisors legal/compliance department. To ensure that its vote is not the product of a conflict of interest, it will require that: (a) the recommended vote be approved by a member of MCC Advisors legal/compliance department prior to being submitted to the custodian; (b) associates involved in the decision making process or vote administration are prohibited from revealing how MCC Advisors intends to vote on a proposal in order to reduce any attempted influence from interested parties; and (c) where a material conflict of interest exists, the Chief Compliance Officer designate an individual or group who can impartially help decide how to resolve such conflict.

Securities Exchange Act and Sarbanes-Oxley Act

The Combined Company will continue to be subject to the reporting and disclosure requirements of the Exchange Act, including the filing of quarterly, annual and current reports, proxy statements and other required items. In addition, the Combined Company is subject to the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, which imposes a wide variety of regulatory requirements on publicly held companies and their insiders. Many of these requirements will affect the Combined Company. For example:

- pursuant to Rule 13a-14 of the Exchange Act, the Combined Company's Chief Executive Officer and Chief Financial Officer are required to certify the accuracy of the financial statements contained in its periodic reports;
- pursuant to Item 307 of Regulation S-K, the Combined Company's periodic reports are required to disclose its conclusions about the effectiveness of its disclosure controls and procedures;
- pursuant to Rule 13a-15 of the Exchange Act, the Combined Company's management will be required to prepare a report regarding its assessment of its internal control over financial reporting; and
- pursuant to Item 308 of Regulation S-K and Rule 13a-15 of the Exchange Act, the Combined Company's periodic reports must disclose whether there were significant changes in its internal control over financial reporting or in other factors that could significantly affect these controls subsequent to the date of their evaluation, including any corrective actions with regard to significant deficiencies and material weaknesses.

The Sarbanes-Oxley Act requires the Combined Company to review its policies and procedures to determine whether it complies with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and its regulations. The Combined Company intends to monitor its compliance with all regulations that are adopted under the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and will take actions necessary to ensure that it is in compliance.

Other

The Combined Company is required to provide and maintain a bond issued by a reputable fidelity insurance company to protect it against larceny and embezzlement.

BROKERAGE ALLOCATION AND OTHER PRACTICES

Sierra

Since Sierra will generally acquire and dispose of its investments in privately negotiated transactions, Sierra will infrequently use broker-dealers in the normal course of its business. Subject to policies established by the Sierra Board, SIC Advisors will be primarily responsible for the execution of the publicly traded securities portion of its portfolio transactions and the allocation of brokerage commissions. SIC Advisors does not expect to execute transactions through any particular broker or dealer, but will seek to obtain the best net results for Sierra, taking into account such factors as price (including the applicable brokerage commission or dealer spread), size of order, difficulty of execution, and operational facilities of the firm and the firm's risk and skill in positioning blocks of securities. While SIC Advisors generally will seek reasonably competitive trade execution costs, Sierra will not necessarily pay the lowest spread or commission available. Subject to applicable legal requirements, SIC Advisors may select a broker-dealer based partly upon brokerage or research services provided to it and Sierra and any other clients. In return for such services, Sierra may pay a higher commission than other broker-dealers would charge if SIC Advisors determines in good faith that such commission is reasonable in relation to the services provided.

MCC

Since MCC will generally acquire and dispose of its investments in privately negotiated transactions, MCC will infrequently use broker-dealers in the normal course of its business. RSM US LLP, independent registered public accounting firm, has audited the consolidated financial statements of MDLY as of December 31, 2017 and 2016 and for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2017. MDLY has included the consolidated financial statements in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and elsewhere in the registration statement in reliance on RSM US LLP's reports, given on their authority as experts in accounting and auditing.

APPRAISAL RIGHTS OF MDLY STOCKHOLDERS

General

The following discussion summarizes the material terms of the law pertaining to appraisal rights under the DGCL and is qualified in its entirety by the full text of Section 262 of the DGCL, which is referred to as Section 262 herein and which is attached to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus as Appendix L. The following summary does not constitute legal or other advice, nor does it constitute a recommendation that stockholders exercise their appraisal rights under Section 262.

Stockholders of a Delaware corporation that is proposing to merge with another entity are sometimes entitled under Section 262 to what are known as appraisal rights in connection with the proposed merger. Such rights generally confer on stockholders who oppose a merger or the consideration to be received in a merger, and who comply with the applicable statutory procedures to perfect and preserve their appraisal rights, the right to receive, in lieu of the consideration being offered in the merger, the “fair value” of their shares in cash as determined in a judicial appraisal proceeding. The Delaware Supreme Court has stated that the determination of fair value requires consideration of all relevant factors involving the value of a company, and that proof of value by any techniques or methods that are generally considered acceptable in the financial community and otherwise admissible in court should be considered. Elements of future value, including the nature of the enterprise, that are known or susceptible of proof as of the date of the merger and not the product of speculation may be considered, but any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the merger will not be considered.

If the MDLY Merger is consummated, under Section 262, holders of record of shares of MDLY Common Stock who do not vote in favor of, or consent in writing to, the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement, who properly demand appraisal of their shares, who do not fail to perfect, effectively withdraw, or otherwise lose their right to appraisal and who otherwise comply with the requirements for perfecting and preserving their appraisal rights under Section 262 will be entitled to receive, in lieu of the consideration being offered in the MDLY Merger, payment in cash for the fair value of their shares of MDLY Common Stock (as of the effective time of the MDLY Merger exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the MDLY Merger) as determined by the Delaware Court of Chancery in an appraisal proceeding, together with interest to be paid on the amount determined to be fair value, if any, as determined by the Delaware Court of Chancery. MDLY Stockholders electing to exercise appraisal rights must strictly comply with the provisions of Section 262 in order to perfect and preserve their rights. Failure to strictly comply with the procedures specified in Section 262 in a timely and proper manner will result in the loss of appraisal rights under the DGCL.

All references in Section 262 and in this summary to a “stockholder” or “MDLY Stockholders” are to the record holder of shares of MDLY Common Stock. A person having a beneficial interest in shares of MDLY Common Stock held of record in the name of another person, such as a broker or nominee, must act promptly to cause the record holder to follow properly the steps summarized below in a timely manner to perfect appraisal rights.

Under Section 262, where a merger agreement is submitted for adoption at a meeting of stockholders as in the case of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement, the corporation, not less than 20 days prior to such meeting, must notify each stockholder who was a stockholder of record for notice of such meeting that appraisal rights are available and include in the notice a copy of Section 262. This Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus constitutes the required notice, and a copy of Section 262 is attached to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus as Appendix L.

Any MDLY Stockholder who wishes to exercise appraisal rights or who wishes to preserve the right to do so should review carefully the following discussion and Appendix L to this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. Failure to strictly comply with the procedures specified in Section 262 timely and properly will result in the loss of appraisal rights. Moreover, because of the complexity of the procedures for exercising the right to seek appraisal, MDLY believes that MDLY Stockholders who wish to consider exercising such appraisal rights should seek the advice of counsel. A MDLY Stockholder who effectively withdraws or loses (through failure to perfect or otherwise) his, her or its appraisal rights will be entitled to receive the MDLY Merger Consideration as provided for herein and in the MDLY Merger Agreement.

How to Exercise and Perfect Your Appraisal Rights

MDLY Stockholders wishing to exercise the right to demand an appraisal under Section 262 must satisfy each of the following conditions:

- you must not vote in favor of, or consent to, the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement. Because a proxy that is submitted and does not contain voting instructions will, unless revoked, be voted in favor of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement, and it will result in the submitting MDLY Stockholder losing the right of appraisal and will effectively nullify any previously delivered written demand for appraisal of such MDLY Stockholder's shares of MDLY Common Stock. Therefore, a MDLY Stockholder who votes by proxy and wishes to exercise its appraisal rights must vote against the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement or abstain from voting its shares of MDLY Common Stock;
- you must deliver to MDLY (at the address set forth below) a written demand for appraisal of your shares of MDLY Common Stock before the vote on the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement at the MDLY Special Meeting; and
- you must continuously hold the shares of MDLY Common Stock from the date of making the demand through the MDLY Merger Effective Time. A MDLY Stockholder will lose its appraisal rights if the MDLY Stockholder transfers the shares of MDLY Common Stock before the MDLY Merger Effective Time.

Voting, in person or by proxy, against, abstaining from voting on or failing to vote on the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement will not constitute a written demand for appraisal as required by Section 262. The written demand for appraisal must be in addition to and separate from any proxy or vote. The demand must reasonably inform MDLY of the identity of the MDLY Stockholder as well as the intention of the MDLY Stockholder to demand an appraisal of the shares of MDLY Common Stock held by such MDLY Stockholder. A MDLY Stockholder's failure to deliver the written demand to MDLY prior to the taking of the vote on the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement at the MDLY Special Meeting will result in such MDLY Stockholder losing such MDLY Stockholder's appraisal rights.

Who May Exercise Appraisal Rights

Only a holder of record of shares of MDLY Common Stock is entitled to demand an appraisal of the shares of MDLY Common Stock registered in such MDLY Stockholder's name. A demand for appraisal must be executed by or on behalf of the MDLY Stockholder of record. The demand should set forth, fully and correctly, the MDLY Stockholder's name as it appears on the stock certificates (or in the stock ledger). The demand must reasonably inform MDLY of the identity of the MDLY Stockholder and that the MDLY Stockholder intends to demand appraisal of his, her or its shares of MDLY Common Stock. Beneficial owners who do not also hold their shares of MDLY Common Stock of record may not directly make appraisal demands to MDLY. The beneficial holder must, in such cases, have the owner of record, such as a bank, brokerage firm or other nominee, submit the required demand in respect of those shares of MDLY Common Stock of record. A record owner, such as a bank, brokerage firm or other nominee, who holds shares of MDLY Common Stock as a nominee for others, may exercise his, her or its right of appraisal with respect to the shares of MDLY Common Stock held for one or more beneficial owners, while not exercising this right for other beneficial owners. In that case, the written demand should state the number of shares of MDLY Common Stock as to which appraisal is sought. Where no number of shares of MDLY Common Stock is expressly mentioned, the demand will be presumed to cover all shares of MDLY Common Stock held in the name of the record owner.

IF YOU HOLD YOUR SHARES OF MDLY COMMON STOCK IN BANK OR BROKERAGE ACCOUNTS OR OTHER NOMINEE FORMS, AND YOU WISH TO EXERCISE APPRAISAL RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT WITH YOUR BANK, BROKERAGE FIRM OR OTHER NOMINEE, AS APPLICABLE, TO DETERMINE THE APPROPRIATE PROCEDURES FOR THE BANK, BROKERAGE FIRM OR OTHER NOMINEE TO MAKE A DEMAND FOR APPRAISAL OF THOSE SHARES OF MDLY COMMON STOCK. IF YOU HAVE A BENEFICIAL INTEREST IN SHARES OF MDLY COMMON STOCK HELD OF RECORD IN THE NAME OF ANOTHER PERSON, SUCH AS A BANK, BROKERAGE FIRM OR OTHER NOMINEE, YOU MUST ACT PROMPTLY TO CAUSE THE MDLY STOCKHOLDER OF RECORD TO FOLLOW PROPERLY AND IN A TIMELY MANNER THE STEPS NECESSARY TO PERFECT YOUR APPRAISAL RIGHTS.

If you own shares of MDLY Common Stock jointly with one or more other persons, as in a joint tenancy or tenancy in common, demand for appraisal must be executed by or for you and all other joint owners. An authorized agent, including an agent for two or more joint owners, may execute the demand for appraisal for a MDLY Stockholder of record; however, the agent must identify the record owner and expressly disclose the fact that, in making the demand, such person is acting as agent for the record owner. If you hold shares of MDLY Common Stock through a broker who in turn holds the shares of MDLY Common Stock through a central securities depository nominee, a demand for appraisal of such shares of MDLY Common Stock must be made by or on behalf of the depository nominee and must identify the depository nominee as record holder.

If you elect to exercise appraisal rights under Section 262, you should mail or deliver a written demand to:

The Surviving Company's Actions After Completion of the MDLY Merger

If the MDLY Merger is completed, the surviving company in the MDLY Merger (the "Surviving Company") will give written notice that the MDLY Merger has become effective within ten days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time to each MDLY Stockholder that did not vote in favor of, or consent in writing to, the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement and delivered a written demand for appraisal in accordance with Section 262. Any MDLY Stockholder that has not commenced an appraisal proceeding or joined such a proceeding as a named party may withdraw a demand for appraisal and accept the per share MDLY Merger Consideration, without interest, by delivering a written withdrawal of the demand for appraisal to the Surviving Company, except that any attempt to withdraw made more than 60 days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time will require written approval of the Surviving Company. Within 120 days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time, but not later, any MDLY Stockholder that has complied with the requirements of Section 262 and who is otherwise entitled to appraisal rights or the Surviving Company may commence an appraisal proceeding by filing a petition in the Delaware Court of Chancery, with a copy served on the Surviving Company in the case of a petition filed by an MDLY Stockholder, demanding a determination of the value of the shares of MDLY Common Stock held by all such MDLY Stockholders. The Surviving Company is under no obligation to file an appraisal petition and has no intention of doing so. If you desire to have your shares of MDLY Common Stock appraised, you should initiate any petitions necessary for the perfection of your appraisal rights within the time periods and in the manner prescribed in Section 262.

Within 120 days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time, any MDLY Stockholder that has complied with the provisions of Section 262 will be entitled to receive from the Surviving Company, upon written request, a statement setting forth the aggregate number of shares of MDLY Common Stock not voted in favor of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement and with respect to which MDLY has received demands for appraisal, and the aggregate number of MDLY Stockholders of such shares of MDLY Common Stock. Upon receiving such a written request, the Surviving Company must mail the statement within ten days of receipt by the Surviving Company of the request or within ten days after the expiration of the period for delivery of demands for appraisal, whichever is later. If you are the beneficial owner of shares of MDLY Common Stock held in a voting trust or by a nominee on your behalf you may, in your own name, file an appraisal petition or request from the Surviving Company the statement described in this paragraph. If a petition for appraisal is not timely filed, then the right to appraisal will cease.

If a petition for an appraisal is timely filed by a holder of MDLY Common Stock who has properly perfected his, her or its appraisal rights in accordance with the provisions of Section 262, and a copy of the petition is delivered to the Surviving Company, the Surviving Company will then be obligated, within 20 days after receiving service of a copy of the petition, to provide the Delaware Register in Chancery with a duly verified list containing the names and addresses of all holders who have demanded an appraisal of their shares of MDLY Common Stock. The Delaware Court of Chancery will then determine which MDLY Stockholders have complied with the provisions of Section 262 and have become entitled to appraisal rights and may require the MDLY Stockholders demanding appraisal who hold certificated shares of MDLY Common Stock to submit their stock certificates to the Register in Chancery for notation thereon of the pendency of the appraisal proceedings and the Delaware Court of Chancery may dismiss the proceedings as to any MDLY Stockholder who fails to comply with this direction. With respect to the shares of MDLY Common Stock that are listed on a national securities exchange immediately prior to the MDLY Effective Time, the Delaware Court of Chancery shall dismiss the proceedings as to all MDLY Stockholders of such shares of MDLY Common Stock who are otherwise entitled to appraisal rights in connection with the MDLY Merger unless (i) the total number of shares of MDLY Common Stock entitled to appraisal exceeds 1% of the outstanding shares of the class or series eligible for appraisal, or (ii) the value of the MDLY Merger Consideration provided in the MDLY Merger for such total number of shares of MDLY Common Stock exceeds $1 million.

Determination of Fair Value

Where proceedings are not dismissed or the demand for appraisal is not successfully withdrawn, the appraisal proceeding will be conducted as to the shares of MDLY Common Stock owned by such MDLY Stockholders in accordance with the rules of the Delaware Court of Chancery, including any rules specifically governing appraisal proceedings. The Delaware Court of Chancery will thereafter determine the fair value of the shares of MDLY Common Stock at the MDLY Merger Effective Time held by all MDLY Stockholders who have properly perfected appraisal rights, exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the MDLY Merger. When the fair value is determined, the Delaware Court of Chancery will direct the payment of such fair value, with interest thereon, if any, to the MDLY Stockholders entitled to receive the same, upon surrender by such MDLY Stockholders of their stock certificates or, in the case of book-entry shares of MDLY Common Stock, forthwith. Unless the Delaware Court of Chancery in its discretion determines otherwise for good cause shown, interest from the MDLY Merger Effective Time through the date of payment of the judgment shall be compounded quarterly and shall accrue at 5% over the Federal Reserve discount rate (including any surcharge) as established from time to time during the period between the MDLY Merger Effective Time and the date of payment of the judgment. At any time before the entry of judgment in the proceedings, the surviving corporation may pay to each stockholder entitled to appraisal an amount in cash, in which case interest shall accrue thereafter as provided in Section 262 only upon the sum of (1) the difference, if any, between the amount so paid and the fair value of the shares as determined by the Delaware Court of Chancery, and (2) interest theretofore accrued, unless paid at that time.

In determining the fair value, and, if applicable, interest, the Delaware Court of Chancery is required to take into account all relevant factors. In Weinberger v. UOP, Inc., the Delaware Supreme Court discussed the factors that could be considered in determining fair value in an appraisal proceeding, stating that “proof of value by any techniques or methods which are generally considered acceptable in the financial community and otherwise admissible in court” should be considered and that “[f]air price obviously requires consideration of all relevant factors involving the value of a company.” The Delaware Supreme Court has stated that, in making this determination of fair value, the court must consider market value, asset value, dividends, earnings prospects, the nature of the enterprise and any other factors which could be ascertained as of the date of the merger which throw any light on future prospects of the merged corporation. Section 262 provides that fair value is to be “exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the merger.” In Cede & Co. v. Technicolor, Inc., the Delaware Supreme Court stated that such exclusion is a “narrow exclusion [that] does not encompass known elements of value,” but which rather applies only to the speculative elements of value arising from such accomplishment or expectation. In Weinberger, the Delaware Supreme Court construed Section 262 to mean that “elements of future value, including the nature of the enterprise, which are known or susceptible of proof as of the date of the merger and not the product of speculation, may be considered.” In addition, Delaware courts have decided that the statutory appraisal remedy, in cases of unfair dealing, may or may not be a dissenter’s exclusive remedy.

MDLY Stockholders considering seeking appraisal should be aware that the fair value of their shares of MDLY Common Stock as so determined could be more than, the same as or less than the consideration they would receive pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement if they did not seek appraisal of their shares of MDLY Common Stock and that an opinion as to the fairness from a financial point of view of the consideration payable in a merger is not an opinion as to, and does not in any manner address, fair value under Section 262. No representation is made as to the outcome of the appraisal of fair value of your shares of MDLY Common Stock as determined under Section 262 could be greater than, the same as, or less than the value of the per share MDLY Merger Consideration. MDLY does not anticipate offering more than the per share MDLY Merger Consideration to any MDLY Stockholder exercising appraisal rights and reserves the right to assert, in any appraisal proceeding, that, for purposes of Section 262, the “fair value” of a share of MDLY Common Stock is less than the value of the per share MDLY Merger Consideration.

The Delaware Court of Chancery may determine the costs of the appraisal proceeding and may tax those costs against the parties as the Delaware Court of Chancery deems to be equitable under the circumstances. However, costs do not include attorneys’ and expert witness fees. Each MDLY Stockholder is responsible for its own attorneys’ and expert witnesses’ expenses, although, upon application of a MDLY Stockholder, the Delaware Court of Chancery may order all or a portion of the expenses incurred by any MDLY Stockholder in connection with the appraisal proceeding, including reasonable attorneys’ fees and the fees and expenses of experts, to be charged pro rata against the value of all shares of MDLY Common Stock entitled to appraisal.

Any MDLY Stockholder that has duly demanded an appraisal in compliance with Section 262 will not, after the MDLY Merger Effective Time, be entitled to vote the shares of MDLY Common Stock subject to that demand for any purpose or receive any dividends or other distributions on those shares of MDLY Common Stock, except dividends or other distributions payable to holders of record of shares of MDLY Common Stock as of a record date prior to the MDLY Merger Effective Time.

Any MDLY Stockholder that has not commenced an appraisal proceeding or joined such a proceeding as a named party may withdraw a demand for appraisal and accept the per share MDLY Merger Consideration by delivering a written withdrawal of the demand for appraisal to the Surviving Company, except that any attempt to withdraw made more than 60 days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time will require written approval of the Surviving Company. No appraisal proceeding in the Delaware Court of Chancery will be dismissed as to any MDLY Stockholder without the approval of the Delaware Court of Chancery and such approval may be conditioned on the terms the Delaware Court of Chancery deems just, provided, however, that this provision will not affect the right of any MDLY Stockholder who has not commenced an appraisal proceeding or joined such proceeding as a named party to withdraw such MDLY Stockholder’s demand for appraisal and to accept the terms offered in the MDLY Merger Agreement within 60 days after the MDLY Merger Effective Time. If you fail to perfect, effectively withdraw or otherwise lose the right to appraisal, your shares of MDLY Common Stock will be converted into the right to receive the per share MDLY Merger Consideration, without interest thereon, less any withholding taxes in accordance with the MDLY Merger Agreement.

Failure to follow the steps required by Section 262 for perfecting appraisal rights will result in the loss of appraisal rights. In that event, you will be entitled to receive the per share MDLY Merger Consideration for your shares of MDLY Common Stock in accordance with the MDLY Merger Agreement. In view of the complexity of the provisions of Section 262, if you are an MDLY Stockholder and are considering exercising your appraisal rights under the DGCL, you should consult your own legal advisor.

THE PROCESS OF DEMANDING AND EXERCISING APPRAISAL RIGHTS REQUIRES STRICT COMPLIANCE WITH TECHNICAL PREREQUISITES. IF YOU WISH TO EXERCISE YOUR APPRAISAL RIGHTS, YOU SHOULD CONSULT WITH YOUR OWN LEGAL COUNSEL. TO THE EXTENT THERE ARE ANY INCONSISTENCIES BETWEEN THE FOREGOING SUMMARY AND SECTION 262, THE DGCL WILL GOVERN.

OTHER MATTERS

Sierra

Under MGCL and the Sierra Bylaws, the only matters that may be acted on at a special meeting of stockholders are those stated in the notice of special meeting. Accordingly, other than procedural matters relating to the proposals, no other business may properly come before the Sierra Special Meeting. Should any procedural matter requiring a vote of stockholders arise, it is the intention of the persons named in the proxy to vote in accordance with their discretion on such procedural matters. No matters other than the matters described in this Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus are anticipated to be presented for action at the Sierra Special Meeting or at any adjournment or postponement of the Sierra Special Meeting.

MCC

Under DGCL and the MCC Bylaws, the only matters that may be acted on at a special meeting of stockholders are those stated in the notice of special meeting. Accordingly, other than procedural matters relating to the proposals, no other business may properly come before the MCC Special Meeting. Should any procedural matter requiring a vote of stockholders arise, it is the intention of the persons named in the proxy to vote in accordance with their discretion on such procedural matters. No matters other than the matters described in this document are anticipated to be presented for action at the MCC Special Meeting or at any adjournment or postponement of the MCC Special Meeting.

MDLY

Under the MDLY Bylaws, only such business shall be conducted at a special meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting pursuant to MDLY's notice of meeting. MDLY will transact no other business at the MDLY Special Meeting except such business as may properly be brought before the MDLY Special Meeting or any adjournment or postponement thereof and included in the notice of the MDLY Special Meeting or an adjournment or postponement thereof.

STOCKHOLDER NOMINATIONS AND PROPOSALS FOR THE 2019 ANNUAL MEETING

Sierra

If the Mergers are successfully consummated, the following would apply to the Combined Company.

The Sierra Bylaws provide that with respect to an annual meeting of stockholders, nominations of persons for election to the Sierra Board and the proposal of business to be considered by Sierra Stockholders may be made only (a) pursuant to Sierra's notice of the meeting, (b) by the Sierra Board or (c) by a Sierra Stockholder who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with the advance notice procedures of the Sierra Bylaws. With respect to Sierra Special Meetings, only the business specified in its notice of the meeting may be brought before the meeting. Nominations of persons for election to the Sierra Board at a Sierra Special Meeting may be made only (a) pursuant to its notice of the meeting, (b) by the Sierra Board or (c) provided that the Sierra Board has determined that directors will be elected at the meeting, by a Sierra Stockholder who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with the advance notice provisions of the Sierra Bylaws.

The purpose of requiring the Sierra Stockholders to give Sierra advance notice of nominations and other business is to afford the Sierra Board a meaningful opportunity to consider the qualifications of the proposed nominees and the advisability of any other proposed business and, to the extent deemed necessary or desirable by the Sierra Board, to inform Sierra Stockholders and make recommendations about such qualifications or business, as well as to provide a more orderly procedure for conducting meetings of Sierra Stockholders. Although the Sierra Bylaws do not give the Sierra Board any power to disapprove stockholder nominations for the election of directors or proposals recommending certain action, they may have the effect of precluding a contest for the election of directors or the consideration of stockholder proposals if proper procedures are not followed and of discouraging or deterring a third party from conducting a solicitation of proxies to elect its own slate of directors or to approve its own proposal without regard to whether consideration of such nominees or proposals might be harmful or beneficial to Sierra and Sierra Stockholders.

Sierra's annual meeting of stockholders is generally held in May of each year. Sierra will consider for inclusion in its proxy materials for the 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, stockholder proposals that are received at its executive offices, in writing, no later than 5:00 P.M. (Eastern Time) on November 16, 2018, and that comply with all applicable requirements of Rule 14a-8 promulgated under the Exchange Act.

Any Sierra Stockholder who wishes to propose a nominee to the Sierra Board or propose any other business to be considered by the Sierra Stockholders (other than a stockholder proposal to be included in Sierra's proxy materials pursuant to Rule 14a-8 of the Exchange Act) must comply with the advance notice provisions and other requirements of the Sierra Bylaws. A Sierra Stockholder who intends to present a proposal at the next annual meeting, including the nomination of a director, must submit the proposal in writing, pursuant to the provision to the Sierra Bylaws, to Richard T. Allorto, Jr., Secretary, Sierra Income Corporation, 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York 10017, and the proposal should be received by Sierra no later than December 14, 2018 and no earlier than November 14, 2018. In the event that the date of the mailing of the notice of the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders is advanced or delayed by more than thirty (30) days from the first anniversary of the mailing of the notice of this Meeting, a timely notice by the stockholder must be delivered no earlier than 120 days prior to the first anniversary of the notice of mailing for this Meeting and not later than the close of business on the later of (i) the 90th day prior to the date of mailing of the notice for this Meeting or (ii) the tenth day following the day on which public announcement of the date of mailing of the notice for the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders is first made. Sierra reserves the right to reject, rule out of order or take other appropriate action with respect to any proposal that does not comply with these and other applicable requirements. Please refer to the Sierra Bylaws for more information regarding the information required to be included in a stockholder's notice.

MCC

If the Mergers are completed, MCC will have no public stockholders and there will be no public participation in any of its stockholder meetings that occur after the completion of the Mergers. However, if the Mergers are not completed, MCC will continue to hold annual meetings of MCC Stockholders. Any stockholder nominations or proposals for other business intended to be presented at MCC's next annual meeting, if any, must be submitted to MCC as set forth below.

The submission of a proposal does not guarantee its inclusion in the MCC's proxy statement or presentation at a meeting of MCC Stockholders unless certain securities law requirements are met. MCC expects that the 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders would be held in February 2019, but the exact date, time, and location of that meeting have yet to be determined. A MCC Stockholder who intends to present a proposal at that annual meeting, including the nomination of a director, must submit the proposal in writing to Richard T. Allorto, Jr., Secretary, Medley Capital Corporation, at its address of 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, NY 10017, and the proposal should have been received by MCC between June 24, 2018 and 5:00 P.M. Eastern Time on August 23, 2018. In the event that the date of that annual meeting is advanced or delayed by more than thirty (30) days from the first anniversary of the 2018 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, a timely notice by the MCC Stockholder must be delivered not later than the close of business on the later of the ninetieth (90th) day prior to that annual meeting or the fifteenth (15th) day following the day on which public announcement of the date of that annual meeting is first made. If the MCC Stockholder is not seeking inclusion of a proposal in the MCC's proxy statement for that annual meeting, timely notice consists of the MCC Stockholder's notice delivered to or mailed and received at MCC's address not less than ninety (90) days prior to the date of that annual meeting. MCC reserves the right to reject, rule out of order, or take other appropriate action with respect to any proposal that does not comply with these and other applicable requirements.

MCC's Audit Committee has established guidelines and procedures regarding the receipt, retention and treatment of complaints regarding accounting, internal accounting controls or auditing matters (collectively, "Accounting Matters"). Persons with complaints or concerns regarding Accounting Matters may submit their complaints to MCC's Chief Compliance Officer. Persons who are uncomfortable submitting complaints to the Chief Compliance Officer, including complaints involving the Chief Compliance Officer, may submit complaints directly to MCC's Audit Committee Chairman. Complaints may be submitted on an anonymous basis.

If the Mergers are completed, Merger Sub will have no public stockholders and there will be no public participation in any of its stockholder meetings that occur after the completion of the Mergers. However, if the Mergers are not completed, MDLY will continue to hold annual meetings of stockholders. Any stockholder nominations or proposals for other business intended to be presented at MDLY's next annual meeting, if any, must be submitted to MDLY as set forth below.

If any MDLY Stockholder wishes to propose a matter for consideration at the 2019 Annual Meeting of Stockholders, the proposal should be mailed by certified mail return receipt requested, to MDLY's General Counsel and Secretary, Medley Management Inc., 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, NY 10017. To be eligible under the SEC's stockholder proposal rule (Rule 14a-8(e) of the Exchange Act) for inclusion in MDLY's 2019 Annual Meeting Proxy Statement and form of proxy, a proposal must be received by MDLY's Secretary within a reasonable time before MDLY begins to print and send its proxy materials for the Annual Meeting of MDLY Stockholders to be held in 2019. Failure to deliver a proposal in accordance with this procedure may result in it not being deemed timely received.

In addition, the MDLY Bylaws permit stockholders to nominate directors and present other business for consideration at the Annual Meeting of MDLY Stockholders. To make a director nomination or present other business for consideration at the Annual Meeting of MDLY Stockholders to be held in 2019, you must submit a timely notice in accordance with the procedures described in the MDLY Bylaws. To be timely, a stockholder's notice must be delivered to the Secretary at the principal executive offices of MDLY not less than 90 days or more than 120 days prior to the first anniversary of the preceding year's annual meeting. However, because MDLY did not hold an annual meeting of stockholders in 2018, to be presented at the Annual Meeting of MDLY Stockholders to be held in 2019, such a proposal must be received no earlier than 120 days prior to the Annual Meeting of Stockholders to be held in 2019 and not later than the 90th day prior to such Annual Meeting of Stockholders to be held in 2019 or 10 calendar days following the day on which public announcement of the date of such Annual Meeting of MDLY Stockholders is first made. Any such proposal will be considered timely only if it is otherwise in compliance with the requirements set forth in the MDLY Bylaws.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Shareholders and Board of Directors of Sierra Income Corporation

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of assets and liabilities of Sierra Income Corporation (the Company), including the consolidated schedules of investments, as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2017, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “consolidated financial statements”). In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company at December 31, 2017 and 2016, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2017, in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company’s internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our procedures included confirmation of investments owned as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, by correspondence with the custodian, directly with counterparties and management of the portfolio companies, debt agents, and brokers, or by other appropriate auditing procedures where replies were not received, as applicable. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

We have served as the Company’s auditor since 2011.

- (1) All of the Company's investments are domiciled in the United States except for Livingston International Inc., which is domiciled in Canada and AMMC CLO 17, Limited Series 2015-17A, Apidos CLO XXIV, Series 2016-24A, Dryden 38 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2015-38A, Dryden 43 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2016-43A, Dryden 49 Senior Loan Fund, 2017-49A, Magnetite XIX, Limited and VOYA CLO 2016-2, LTD. which are all domiciled in the Cayman Islands. All foreign investments were denominated in US Dollars.
- (2) Unless otherwise indicated, all securities are valued using significant unobservable inputs, which are categorized as Level 3 assets under the definition of ASC 820 fair value hierarchy.
- (3) Percentage is based on net assets of $739,986,569 as of December 31, 2017.
- (4) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 3 Month "3M" LIBOR, which at December 31, 2017 was 1.69%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2017 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor or 3M LIBOR.
- (5) An affiliated fund that is managed by an affiliate of SIC Advisors LLC also holds an investment in this security.
- (6) The investment has an unfunded commitment as of December 31, 2017. For further details see Note 11. Fair value includes an analysis of the unfunded commitment.
- (7) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 1 Month "1M" LIBOR, which at December 31, 2017 was 1.57%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2017 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor or 1M LIBOR.
- (8) Securities are exempt from registration under Rule 144A of the Securities Act of 1933. These securities represent a fair value of $97,200,003 or 13.1% of net assets as of December 31, 2017 and are considered restricted.
- (9) The investment is not a qualifying asset under Section 55 of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "1940 Act"). Non-qualifying assets represent 17.6% of the Company's portfolio at fair value.
- (10) This investment is in the equity class of a collateralized loan obligation ("CLO"). The CLO equity investments are entitled to recurring distributions which are generally equal to the excess cash flow generated from the underlying investments after payment of the contractual payments to debt holders and fund expenses. The current effective yield is based on the current projections of this excess cash flow taking into account assumptions that have been made regarding expected prepayments, losses and future reinvestment rates. These assumptions are periodically reviewed and adjusted. Ultimately, the actual yield may be higher or lower than the estimated yield if actual results differ from those used for the assumptions.

- (1) All of the Company's investments are domiciled in the United States except for Livingston International Inc. and Atrium Innovations, Inc., which are domiciled in Canada, and AMMC CLO 17, Limited Series 2015-17A, Apidos CLO XXIV, Series 2016-24A, Dryden 38 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2015-38A, Dryden 43 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2016-43A, Dryden 49 Senior Loan Fund and VOYA CLO 2016-2, LTD. each of which are domiciled in the Cayman Islands. All foreign investments are denominated in US Dollars.
- (2) Percentage is based on net assets of $773,113,087 as of December 31, 2016.
- (3) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 3 Month "3M" LIBOR, which at December 31, 2016 was 1.00%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor which was greater than the 3M LIBOR rate at December 31, 2016, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2016 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor.
- (4) An affiliated Company that is managed by an affiliate of SIC Advisors LLC also holds an investment in this security.
- (5) The investment has an unfunded commitment as of December 31, 2016. For further details (see Note 11). Fair value includes an analysis of the unfunded commitment.

- (6) The investment is not a qualifying asset under Section 55 of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, (the “1940 Act”). Non-qualifying assets represent 22.4% of the Company’s portfolio at fair value.
- (7) Security is non-income producing.
- (8) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 1 Month “1M” LIBOR, which at December 31, 2016 was 0.77%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, which was greater than the 1M LIBOR rate at December 31, 2016, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2016 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor.
- (9) Securities are exempt from registration under Rule 144A of the Securities Act of 1933. These securities represent a fair value of $113,438,688 or 14.7% of net assets as of December 31, 2016 and are considered restricted.
- (10) This investment is in the equity class of a collateralized loan obligation (“CLO”) security. The CLO equity investments are entitled to recurring distributions, which are generally equal to the excess cash flow generated from the underlying investments after payment of the contractual payments to debt holders and fund expenses. The current estimated yield is based on the current projections of this excess cash flow taking into account assumptions that have been made regarding expected prepayments, losses and future reinvestment rates. These assumptions are periodically reviewed and adjusted. Ultimately, the actual yield may be higher or lower than the estimated yield if actual results differ from those used for the assumptions.
- (11) Security is also held in the underlying portfolio of the total return swap with Citibank, N.A. (see Note 5) or the Sierra Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC portfolio (see Note 3). The Company’s total exposure to APCO Holdings, Inc., Astro AB Borrower, Inc., Asurion LLC, ConvergeOne Holdings Corp., Genex Holdings, Inc., Isola USA Corp., Livingston International, Inc., Preferred Proppants LLC, LLC, Press Ganey Holdings Inc., and TravelCLICK, Inc. is $7,020,932 or 0.9%, 9,123,869 or 1.2%, $8,082,500 or 1.0%, $14,962,500 or 1.9%, $12,427,662 or 1.6%, $8,708,549 or 1.1%, $4,502,200 or 0.6%, $6,199,301 or 0.8%, $15,930,005 or 2.1%, and $10,585,217 or 1.4%, respectively, of net assets as of December 31, 2016.
- (12) The investment was on non-accrual status as of December 31, 2016.
- (13) Represents securities in Level 2 in the ASC 820 table (see Note 4).
- (14) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 6 month “6M” LIBOR, which at December 31, 2016 was 1.32%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, which was greater than the 6M LIBOR rate at December 31, 2016, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2016 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor.
- (15) Represents securities in Level 1 in the ASC 820 table (see Note 4).
- (16) Affiliate Investments are defined by the 1940 Act as investments in companies in which the Company owns at least 5% but no more than 25% of the voting securities or we are under common control with such portfolio company. Control Investments are defined by the 1940 Act as investments in companies in which the Company owns more than 25% of the voting securities or maintains greater than 50% of the board representation.

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
December 31, 2017

Note 1. Organization

Sierra Income Corporation (the “Company”) was incorporated under the general corporation laws of the State of Maryland on June 13, 2011 and formally commenced operations on April 17, 2012. The Company is an externally managed, non-diversified closed-end management investment company that has elected to be treated as a business development company (“BDC”) under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “1940 Act”). The Company is externally managed by SIC Advisors LLC (“SIC Advisors”), a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the “Advisers Act”). SIC Advisors is a majority owned subsidiary of Medley LLC, which is controlled by Medley Management Inc., a publicly traded asset management firm (NYSE: MDLY), which in turn is controlled by Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly-owned by the senior professionals of Medley LLC. The term “Medley” refers to the collective activities of Medley Capital LLC, Medley LLC, Medley Management Inc., Medley Group LLC, SIC Advisors, associated investment funds and their respective affiliates. The Company has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a regulated investment company (“RIC”) under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”). The Company’s fiscal year-end is December 31st.

On April 17, 2012, the Company successfully reached its minimum escrow requirement and officially commenced operations by issuing 1,108,033 shares of common stock to SIC Advisors for gross proceeds of $10,000,000. The Company’s offering period is currently scheduled to terminate on April 17, 2018, unless further extended. As of December 31, 2017, the Company has sold a total of 96,620,231 shares of common stock, which includes shares issued as part of the distribution reinvestment plan (see Note 13), for total proceeds of $1.0 billion, which includes the shares sold to SIC Advisors. The proceeds from the issuance of common stock are presented in the Company’s consolidated statements of changes in net assets and consolidated statements of cash flows and are presented net of selling commissions and dealer manager fees.

On August 15, 2013, the Company formed Arbor Funding LLC (“Arbor”), a wholly-owned financing subsidiary.

On June 18, 2014, the Company formed Alpine Funding LLC (“Alpine”), a wholly-owned financing subsidiary.

The Company has formed and expects to continue to form certain taxable subsidiaries (the “Taxable Subsidiaries”), which are taxed as corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Taxable Subsidiaries allow the Company to hold equity securities of portfolio companies organized as pass-through entities while continuing to satisfy the requirements of a RIC under the Code.

The Company’s investment objective is to generate current income, and to a lesser extent, long-term capital appreciation. The Company intends to meet its investment objective by investing primarily in the debt of privately owned U.S. companies with a focus on senior secured debt, second lien debt and, to a lesser extent, subordinated debt. The Company will originate transactions sourced through SIC Advisors’ direct origination network, and also expects to acquire debt securities through the secondary market. The Company may make equity investments in companies that it believes will generate appropriate risk adjusted returns, although it does not expect such investments to be a substantial portion of the portfolio.

Note 2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The Company follows the accounting and reporting guidance in the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 946 - Financial Services, Investment Companies (“ASC 946”). The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) and includes the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Alpine, Arbor, and the Taxable Subsidiaries. All intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. All references made to the “Company,” “we,” and “us” herein include Sierra Income Corporation and its consolidated subsidiaries, except as stated otherwise.

Additionally, the accompanying consolidated financial statements of the Company and related financial information have been prepared pursuant to the requirements for reporting on Form 10-K and Article 6 of Regulation S-X. In the opinion of management, the audited financial results included herein contain all adjustments and reclassifications, which are of a normal recurring nature, that are necessary for the fair presentation of financial statements for the periods included herein.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers cash equivalents to be highly liquid investments or investments with original maturities of three months or less. Cash and cash equivalents include deposits in money market mutual funds. The Company deposits its cash in major United States financial institutions which, at times, may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurance limits.

Offering Costs

Offering costs incurred directly by the Company are expensed in the period incurred.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Deferred Financing Costs

Financing costs, incurred in connection with the Company's credit facilities (see Note 6), are deferred and amortized over the life of each corresponding facility.

Indemnification

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contractual agreements that provide general indemnifications against losses, costs, claims and liabilities arising from the performance of individual obligations under such agreements. The Company has had no claims or payments pursuant to such agreements. The Company's individual maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, based on management's experience, the Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Revenue Recognition

Interest income, adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is recorded on an accrual basis. The Company records amortized or accreted discounts or premiums as interest income using the effective interest method. Dividend income, which represents dividends from equity investments and distributions from subsidiaries, if any, is recognized on an accrual basis to the extent that the Company expects to collect such amount.

Fee income associated with investments in portfolio companies is recognized as income in the period that the Company becomes entitled to such fees. Other fees related to loan administration requirements are capitalized as deferred revenue and recorded into income over the respective period.

Prepayment penalties received by the Company for debt instruments paid back to the Company prior to the maturity date are recorded as income upon receipt.

The Company holds debt investments that contain a payment-in-kind (PIK) interest provision. PIK interest, which represents contractually deferred interest added to the investment balance that is generally due at maturity, is recorded on an accrual basis to the extent such amounts are expected to be collected. PIK interest is not accrued if the Company does not expect the issuer to be able to pay all principal and interest when due. For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company earned $5,744,741, $3,230,135 and $2,973,290 in PIK interest, respectively.

Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade-date basis. Realized gains or losses on investments are measured by the difference between the net proceeds from the disposition and the amortized cost basis of investment, without regard to unrealized gains or losses previously recognized. During the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recognized $19,723,891, $15,548,224 and $0, respectively in realized losses related to certain non-cash restructuring transactions, which are recorded on the consolidated statements of operations as a component of net realized gain/(loss) from non-controlled/non-affiliated investments. The Company reports changes in fair value of investments that are measured at fair value as a component of the net change in unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments in the consolidated statements of operations. For total return swap transactions (see Note 5), periodic payments are received or made at the end of each settlement period, but prior to settlement are recorded as realized gains or losses on total return swap in the consolidated statements of operations.

Management reviews all loans that become 90 days or more past due on principal and interest or when there is reasonable doubt that principal or interest will be collected for possible placement on management's designation of non-accrual status. Accrued interest is generally reserved when a loan is placed on non-accrual status. Interest payments received on non-accrual loans may be recognized as income or applied to principal depending upon management's judgment regarding collectability. Loans on non-accrual status are restored to accrual status when past due principal and interest is paid and, in management's judgment, are likely to remain current, although the Company may make exceptions to this general rule if the loan has sufficient collateral value and is in the process of collection. As of December 31, 2017, eight portfolio investments were on non-accrual status with a cost of $85,350,257, or 8.1% of the cost of the Company's portfolio, and a fair value of $27,848,048 or 2.6% of the fair value of the Company's portfolio. As of December 31, 2016, seven portfolio investments were on non-accrual status with a cost of $57,135,673, or 5.6% of the cost of the Company's portfolio, and a fair value of $35,022,807 or 3.6% of the fair value of the Company's portfolio.

Interest income from investments in the "equity" class of a collateralized loan obligation ("CLO") security (typically subordinated notes) is recorded based upon an estimation of an effective yield to expected maturity utilizing assumed cash flows in accordance with ASC 325-40, Beneficial Interests in Securitized Financial Assets. The Company monitors the expected cash flows from these investments, including the expected residual payments, and the effective yield is determined and updated periodically. Any difference between the cash distribution received and the amount calculated pursuant to the effective interest method is recorded as an adjustment to the cost basis of such investments.

Investment Classification

The Company classifies its investments in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act. Under the 1940 Act, the Company would be deemed to "control" a portfolio company if it owns more than 25% of its outstanding voting securities and/or had the power to exercise control over the management or policies of such portfolio company. The Company refers to such investments in portfolio companies that it "controls" as "Controlled Investments." Under the 1940 Act, the Company would be deemed to be an "Affiliated Person" of a portfolio company if it owns at least 5%, but no more than 25%, of the portfolio company's outstanding voting securities or if it is under common control with such portfolio company. The Company refers to such investments in Affiliated Persons as "Affiliated Investments."

Valuation of Investments

The Company applies fair value accounting to all of its financial instruments in accordance with the 1940 Act and ASC Topic 820 - Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures ("ASC 820"). ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework used to measure fair value and requires disclosures for fair value measurements. In accordance with ASC 820, the Company has categorized its financial instruments carried at fair value, based on the priority of the valuation technique, into a three-level fair value hierarchy as discussed in Note 4. Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of the market participant who holds the financial instrument rather than an entity specific measure. Therefore, when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that management believes market participants would use in pricing the financial instrument at the measurement date.

Investments for which market quotations are readily available are valued at such market quotations, which are generally obtained from an independent pricing service or multiple broker-dealers or market makers. The Company weighs the use of third-party broker quotations, if any, in determining fair value based on management's understanding of the level of actual transactions used by the broker to develop the quote and whether the quote was an indicative price or binding offer. However, debt investments with remaining maturities within 60 days that are not credit impaired are valued at cost plus accreted discount, or minus amortized premium, which approximates fair value. Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined by the Company's board of directors based upon input from management and third party valuation firms. Because these investments are illiquid and there may not be any directly comparable companies whose financial instruments have observable market values, these loans are valued using a fundamental valuation methodology, consistent with traditional asset pricing standards, that is objective and consistently applied across all loans and through time.

Investments in investment companies are valued at fair value. Fair values are generally determined utilizing the net asset value (“NAV”) supplied by, or on behalf of, management of each investment company, which is net of management and incentive fees or allocations charged by the investment company and is in accordance with the “practical expedient”, as defined by ASC 820. NAVs received by, or on behalf of, management of each investment company are based on the fair value of the investment company’s underlying investments in accordance with policies established by management of each investment company, as described in each of their financial statements and offering memorandum.

The methodologies utilized by the Company in estimating the fair value of its investments categorized as Level 3 generally fall into the following two categories:

- The “Market Approach” uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable assets, liabilities, or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.
- The “Income Approach” converts future amounts (for example, cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (that is, discounted) amount. When the Income Approach is used, the fair value measurement reflects current market expectations about those future amounts.

The Company uses third-party valuation firms to assist the board of directors in the valuation of its portfolio investments. The valuation reports generated by the third-party valuation firms consider the evaluation of financing and sale transactions with third parties, expected cash flows and market based information, including comparable transactions, performance multiples, and movement in yields of debt instruments, among other factors. Based on market data obtained from the third-party valuation firms, the Company uses a combined market yield analysis and an enterprise model of valuation. In applying the market yield analysis, the value of the Company’s loans is determined based upon inputs such as the coupon rate, current market yield, interest rate spreads of similar securities, the stated value of the loan, and the length to maturity. In applying the enterprise model, the Company uses a waterfall analysis which takes into account the specific capital structure of the borrower and the related seniority of the instruments within the borrower’s capital structure into consideration. To estimate the enterprise value of the portfolio company, the Company weighs some or all of the traditional market valuation methods and factors based on the individual circumstances of the portfolio company in order to estimate the enterprise value. The methodologies for performing investments may be based on, among other things: valuations of comparable public companies, recent sales of private and public comparable companies, discounting the forecasted cash flows of the portfolio company, third party valuations of the portfolio company, considering offers from third parties to buy the company, estimating the value to potential strategic buyers and considering the value of recent investments in the equity securities of the portfolio company. For non-performing investments, the Company may estimate the liquidation or collateral value of the portfolio company’s assets and liabilities using an expected recovery model. The Company may estimate the fair value of warrants based on a model such as the Black-Scholes model or simulation models or a combination thereof.

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Market Approach for performing investments includes, among other things:

- valuations of comparable public companies (“Guideline Comparable Approach”);
- recent sales of private and public comparable companies (“Guideline Comparable Approach”);
- recent acquisition prices of the company, debt securities or equity securities (“Recent Arms-length Transaction”);
- external valuations of the portfolio company, offers from third parties to buy the company (“Estimated Sales Proceeds Approach”);
- subsequent sales made by the company of its investments (“Expected Sales Proceeds Approach”); and
- estimating the value to potential buyers.

Table of Contents

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Income Approach for performing investments includes:

- discounting the forecasted cash flows of the portfolio company or securities (“Discounted Cash Flow” or “DCF” Approach); and
- Black-Scholes model or simulation models or a combination thereof (Income Approach – Option Model) with respect to the valuation of warrants.

Over-the-counter derivative contracts, such as total return swaps (see Note 5) are fair valued using models that measure the change in fair value of reference assets underlying the swaps offset against any fees payable to the swap counterparty. The fair values of the reference assets underlying the swaps are determined using similar methods as described above for debt and equity investments where the Company also invests directly in such assets.

The Company undertakes a multi-step valuation process each quarter when valuing investments for which market quotations are not readily available, as described below:

- the quarterly valuation process begins with each portfolio investment being initially valued by the Company’s valuation professionals;
- preliminary valuation conclusions are then documented and discussed with senior management; and
- an independent valuation firm engaged by the Company’s board of directors prepares an independent valuation report for approximately one-third of the portfolio investments each quarter on a rotating quarterly basis on non-fiscal year-end quarters, such that each of these investments will be valued by an independent valuation firm at least twice per annum when combined with the fiscal year-end review of all the investments by independent valuation firms.

In addition, all of the Company’s investments are subject to the following valuation process:

- management reviews preliminary valuations and its own independent assessment;
- the independent audit committee of the Company’s board of directors reviews the preliminary valuations of senior management and independent valuation firms; and
- the Company’s board of directors discusses valuations and determines the fair value of each investment in the Company’s portfolio in good faith based on the input of SIC Advisors, the respective independent valuation firms and the audit committee.

The Company’s investments in subordinated notes are carried at fair value, which is based on a discounted cash flow model. The discounted cash flow model models both the underlying collateral (assets) and the liabilities of the CLO capital structure. The discounted cash flow model uses a set of assumptions including projected default rates, recovery rates, reinvestment rates and prepayment rates in order to arrive at estimated cash flows of the assets. The discounted cash flow model distributes the asset cash flows to the liability structure based on the payment priorities and discounts them back using appropriate market discount rates based on discount rates for comparable CLOs. The assumptions are based on available market data as well as management estimates. Additional data is used to validate the results from the discounted cash flow method, such as analysis of relevant data observed in the CLO market, review of quotes, where available, recent acquisitions and observable transactions in the subordinated notes, among other factors.

Due to the inherent uncertainty of determining the fair value of investments that do not have a readily available market value, the fair value of the Company’s investments may differ significantly from the values that would have been used had a readily available market value existed for such investments, and the differences could be material.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of certain of the Company's financial instruments, including cash and accounts payable and accrued expenses, approximate fair value due to their short-term nature. The carrying amounts and fair values of the Company's long-term obligations are discussed in Note 4.

U.S. Federal Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be treated as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code and operate in a manner so as to continue to qualify for the tax treatment applicable to RICs. In order to continue to qualify as a RIC, among other things, the Company is required to meet certain source of income and asset diversification requirements and timely distribute to its stockholders at least 90% of the sum of its investment company taxable income ("ICTI") including PIK, as defined by the Code, and net tax-exempt interest income (which is the excess of the Company's gross tax-exempt interest income over certain disallowed deductions) for each taxable year in order to be eligible for tax treatment under Subchapter M of the Code. Depending on the level of ICTI earned in a tax year, the Company may choose to carry forward ICTI in excess of current year dividend distributions into the next tax year. Any such carryover ICTI must be distributed before the end of that next tax year through a dividend declared prior to filing the final tax return related to the year which generated such ICTI.

The Company will be subject to a nondeductible U.S. federal excise tax of 4% on undistributed income if it does not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income in any calendar year and 98.2% of its capital gain net income for each one-year period ending on October 31 of such calendar year. To the extent the Company determines that its estimated current year annual taxable income will be in excess of estimated current year dividend distributions for U.S. federal excise tax purposes, the Company accrues U.S. federal excise tax, if any, on estimated excess taxable income as taxable income is earned. For the year ended December 31, 2017, the Company did not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income and 98.2% of its capital gains. Accordingly, with respect to the year ended December 31, 2017, an excise tax expense of $235,942 was recorded.

The Taxable Subsidiaries accrue income taxes payable based on the applicable corporate rates on the unrealized gains generated by the investments held by the Taxable Subsidiaries. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company recorded a deferred tax liability of $291,454 and $244,622, respectively, on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities. The change in deferred tax liabilities is included as a component of net realized and unrealized gain/(loss) on investments on the consolidated statements of operations. On December 22, 2017, the United States enacted tax reform legislation through the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, which significantly changes the existing U.S. tax laws, including a reduction in the corporate tax rate from 35% to 21%, a move from a worldwide tax system to a territorial system, as well as other changes. The Company's Taxable Subsidiaries provisional tax will be based on the new federal corporate tax rate of 21% for the tax year 2018. This estimate incorporates assumptions made based on the Taxable Subsidiaries' current interpretation of the Tax Act and may change, possibly materially, as the Company completes its analysis and receives additional clarification and implementation guidance.

ICTI generally differs from net investment income for financial reporting purposes due to temporary and permanent differences in the recognition of income and expenses. The Company may be required to recognize ICTI in certain circumstances in which it does not receive cash. For example, if the Company holds debt obligations that are treated under applicable tax rules as having OID, the Company must include in ICTI each year a portion of the OID that accrues over the life of the obligation, regardless of whether cash representing such income is received by the Company in the same taxable year. The Company may also have to include in ICTI other amounts that it has not yet received in cash, such as PIK interest income and interest income from investments that have been classified as non-accrual for financial reporting purposes. Interest income on non-accrual investments is not recognized for financial reporting purposes, but generally is recognized in ICTI. Because any OID or other amounts accrued will be included in the Company's ICTI for the year of accrual, the Company may be required to make a distribution to its stockholders in order to satisfy the minimum distribution requirements, even though the Company will not have received and may not ever receive any corresponding cash amount. ICTI also excludes net unrealized appreciation or depreciation, as investment gains or losses are not included in taxable income until they are realized.

Although the Company files federal and state tax returns, the Company's major tax jurisdiction is the United States federal jurisdiction. The Company's federal and state tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open, subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service.

The Company accounts for income taxes in conformity with ASC Topic 740 - Income Taxes (“ASC 740”). ASC 740 provides guidelines for how uncertain tax positions should be recognized, measured, presented and disclosed in financial statements. ASC 740 requires the evaluation of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Company’s tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are “more-likely-than-not” to be sustained by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions deemed to meet the “more-likely-than-not” threshold would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense in the current period. The Company recognizes interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense in the consolidated statements of operations. There were no interest or penalties due to material uncertain income tax positions at December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015.

Permanent differences between ICTI and net investment income for financial reporting purposes are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes. During the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company reclassified for book purposes amounts arising from permanent book/tax differences related to the different tax treatment of realized gain/(loss) on swaps, non-deductible excise tax accruals, disallowed net investment income and realized losses from subsidiaries and certain fee income as follows:

	As of December 31,
	2017	2016	2015
Capital in excess of par value	$ (3,062,466)	$ —	$ —
Accumulated undistributed net investment income (loss)	6,069,121	7,210,862	5,462,354
Accumulated net realized gain (loss) from investments	(3,006,655)	(7,210,862)	(5,462,354)

The following table reflects, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the sources of the cash distributions that the Company has paid on its common stock during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015:

Source of Distribution	2017		2016		2015
	Distribution		Distribution		Distribution
	Amount	Percentage	Amount	Percentage	Amount	Percentage
Ordinary income	$ 61,549,954	100.0%	$ 68,596,940	100.0%	$ 40,302,852	70.9%

Segments

The Company invests in various industries. The Company separately evaluates the performance of each of its investment relationships. However, because each of these investment relationships has similar business and economic characteristics, they have been aggregated into a single investment segment. All applicable segment disclosures are included in or can be derived from the Company's consolidated financial statements (See Note 3).

Company Investment Risk, Concentration of Credit Risk, and Liquidity Risk

SIC Advisors has broad discretion in making investments for the Company. Investments generally consist of debt instruments that may be affected by business, financial market or legal uncertainties. Prices of investments may be volatile, and a variety of factors that are inherently difficult to predict, such as domestic or international economic and political developments, may significantly affect the results of the Company's activities and the value of its investments. In addition, the value of the Company's portfolio may fluctuate as the general level of interest rates fluctuates.

The value of the Company's investments in loans and bonds may be detrimentally affected to the extent, among other things, that a borrower defaults on its obligations, there is insufficient collateral and/or there are extensive legal and other costs incurred in collecting on a defaulted loan, observable secondary or primary market yields for similar instruments issued by comparable companies increase materially or risk premiums required in the market between smaller companies, such as the Company's borrowers, and those for which market yields are observable, increase materially.

The Company's assets may, at any time, include securities and other financial instruments or obligations that are illiquid or thinly traded, making purchase or sale of such securities and financial instruments at desired prices or in desired quantities difficult. Furthermore, the sale of any such investments may be possible only at substantial discounts, and it may be extremely difficult to value any such investments accurately.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 606) ("ASU 2014-09"). ASU 2014-09 supersedes the revenue recognition requirements under ASC Topic 605, Revenue Recognition, and most industry-specific guidance throughout the ASC. The core principle of the guidance is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which an entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The new guidance will significantly enhance comparability of revenue recognition practices across entities, industries, jurisdictions and capital markets. Additionally, the guidance requires improved disclosures as to the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue that is recognized. The new guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2017 and, therefore, became effective for the Company on January 1, 2018. During implementation, the Company determined that the Company's significant revenue sources associated with financial instruments, including loans and notes that are accounted for under other U.S. GAAP, are considered not in the scope of ASU 2014-09. As a result, the new guidance will not have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements. The Company identified no changes to the recognition, timing or classification of revenues most closely associated with financial instruments, including interest and dividend income, realized gains and losses, up-front fees, interest and dividend income. The Company will elect to adopt the new guidance using the modified retrospective approach as of the date of initial application on January 1, 2018. At this time, electing the modified retrospective approach would result in no cumulative effect adjustment to the opening balance of net assets at the date of initial application.

- (1) Nomida, LLC (“Nomida”) is a non-public real estate investment formed by the Company to purchase and develop a residential property. The Company is the sole equity shareholder of Nomida and has provided 100% of the debt financing to the entity. The Company is Nomida’s sole member responsible for Nomida’s daily operations. In addition, the Chief Financial Officer and Secretary of the Company also serves as President of Nomida. The assets of Nomida are comprised of a residential development property in the city of Chicago, IL and the proceeds of the loan from the Company; the liabilities of Nomida consist of the loan payable to the Company.
- (2) The Company and Great American Life Insurance Company (“GALIC”) are the members of Sierra Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC (“Sierra JV”), a joint venture formed as a Delaware limited liability company that is not consolidated by either member for financial reporting purposes. The members of Sierra JV make capital contributions as investments by Sierra JV are completed, and all portfolio and other material decisions regarding Sierra JV must be submitted to Sierra JV’s board of managers, which is comprised of an equal number of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Approval of Sierra JV’s board of managers requires the unanimous approval of a quorum of the board of managers, with a quorum consisting of equal representation of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Because management of Sierra JV is shared equally between the Company and GALIC, the Company does not have operational control over the Sierra JV for purposes of the 1940 Act or otherwise.
- (3) The par amount and additional detail are shown in the consolidated schedule of investments.

Purchases/(sales) of investments in controlled affiliates are included in the purchases and sales presented on the consolidated statements of cash flows for the year ended December 31, 2017. Transfers in/(out) of control/affiliates represents the fair value for the month an investment became or was removed as a controlled/affiliated investment. Income received from controlled/affiliates is included in total investment income on the consolidated statements of operations for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016.

In connection with certain of the Company’s investments, the Company receives warrants which are obtained for the objective of increasing the total investment returns and are not held for hedging purposes. For the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, the total fair value of warrants were $971,561 and $669,709, respectively, and were included in investments at fair value on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities. Total realized and change in unrealized gains (losses) related to warrants for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, were $(815,866) and $(2,535,133), respectively and were recorded on the consolidated statements of operations in those accounts. The warrants are received in connection with individual investments and are not subject to master netting arrangements.

As of December 31, 2017, the Company held Loan it has made directly to 79 investee companies with aggregate principal amounts of $932.8 million. As of December 31, 2016, the Company held loans it has made directly to 71 investee companies with aggregate principal amounts of $885.4 million. During the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company made 117 and 59 loans to investee companies, respectively, with aggregate principal amounts of $500.5 million and $339.3 million, respectively. The details of the Company’s loans have been disclosed on the consolidated schedule of investments as well as in Note 4.

In addition to the loans that the Company has provided, the Company has unfunded commitments to provide additional financings through undrawn term loans or revolving lines of credit. The details of such arrangements are disclosed in Note 11.

Sierra Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC

On March 27, 2015, the Company and GALIC entered into a limited liability company operating agreement to co-manage Sierra JV. All portfolio and other material decisions regarding Sierra JV must be submitted to Sierra JV's board of managers, which is comprised of four members, two of whom are selected by the Company and the other two are selected by GALIC. The Company has concluded that it does not operationally control Sierra JV. As the Company does not operationally control Sierra JV, it does not consolidate the operations of Sierra JV within the consolidated financial statements. As a practical expedient, the Company uses NAV to determine the fair value of its investment in Sierra JV; therefore, this investment has been presented as a reconciling item within the fair value hierarchy (see Note 4).

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, Sierra JV had total capital commitments of $100 million, with the Company providing $87.5 million and GALIC providing $12.5 million. Approximately, $91.2 million and $69.5 million was funded as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, relating to these commitments, of which $79.8 million and $60.8 million were from the Company, respectively. The Company does not have the right to withdraw any of their respective capital commitment, unless in connection with a transfer of its membership interests. The Company may transfer full membership interests as long as it is approved by all members and transferred in a transaction exempt from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or applicable state securities laws.

On August 4, 2015, Sierra JV entered into a senior secured revolving credit facility the ("JV Facility") led by Credit Suisse, AG ("CS") with commitments of $100 million subject to certain leverage and borrowing base restrictions. On December 29, 2015, the JV Facility was amended and the total commitments were increased to $135 million. On March 30, 2017, the Company amended the JV Facility previously administered by CS and facilitated the assignment of all rights and obligations of CS under the JV Facility to Deutsche Bank AG, New York Branch, ("DB") and increased the total loan commitments to $240 million. Note 4. Fair Value Measurements

The Company follows ASC 820 for measuring the fair value of portfolio investments. Fair value is the price that would be received in the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Where available, fair value is based on observable market prices or parameters, or derived from such prices or parameters. Where observable prices or inputs are not available, valuation models are applied. These valuation models involve some level of management estimation and judgment, the degree of which is dependent on the price transparency for the instruments or market and the instruments' complexity. The Company's fair value analysis includes an analysis of the value of any unfunded loan commitments. Financial investments recorded at fair value in the consolidated financial statements are categorized for disclosure purposes based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their value. The valuation hierarchical levels are based upon the transparency of the inputs to the valuation of the investment as of the measurement date. The three levels are defined as follows. Investments which are valued using NAV as a practical expedient are excluded from this hierarchy:

- Level 1 — Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level 2 — Valuations based on inputs other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level 1, which are either directly or indirectly observable at the measurement date. This category includes quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in non-active markets including actionable bids from third parties for privately held assets or liabilities, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as yield curves and forward currency rates that are entered directly into valuation models to determine the value of derivatives or other assets or liabilities.

- Level 3 — Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and where there is little, if any, market activity at the measurement date. The inputs for the determination of fair value may require significant management judgment or estimation and is based upon management’s assessment of the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the assets or liabilities. These investments include debt and equity investments in private companies or assets valued using the Market or Income Approach and may involve pricing models whose inputs require significant judgment or estimation because of the absence of any meaningful current market data for identical or similar investments. The inputs in these valuations may include, but are not limited to, capitalization and discount rates, beta and Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization (“EBITDA”) multiples. The information may also include pricing information or broker quotes which include a disclaimer that the broker would not be held to such a price in an actual transaction. The non-binding nature of consensus pricing and/or quotes accompanied by disclaimer would result in classification as Level 3 information, assuming no additional corroborating evidence.

In addition to using the above inputs in investment valuations, the Company employs the valuation policy approved by the board of directors that is consistent with ASC 820 (see Note 2). Consistent with the Company’s valuation policy, the Company evaluates the source of inputs, including any markets in which the Company’s investments are trading, in determining fair value.

The following table presents the fair value measurements of the Company’s total investments, by major class according to the fair value hierarchy, as of December 31, 2017:

(1) Represents the method used when the Company has determined that market participants would use such inputs when measuring the fair value of these investments.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's debt and derivative investments are market yields. Increases in market yields would result in lower fair value measurements.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's equity/warrant investments are comparable company multiples of revenue or EBITDA for the latest twelve months ("LTM"), next twelve months ("NTM") or a reasonable period a market participant would consider. Increases in EBITDA multiples in isolation would result in higher fair value measurement.

Note 5. Total Return Swap

On August 27, 2013, the Company, through its wholly-owned financing subsidiary, Arbor, entered into a TRS with Citibank, N.A. ("Citibank") that is indexed to a basket of loans.

The TRS with Citibank enables Arbor, to obtain the economic benefit of the loans underlying the TRS, despite the fact that such loans will not be directly held or otherwise owned by Arbor, in return for an interest-type payment to Citibank.

SIC Advisors acts as the investment manager of Arbor and has discretion over the composition of the basket of loans underlying the TRS. The terms of the TRS are governed by an ISDA 2002 Master Agreement, the Schedule thereto and Credit Support Annex to such Schedule, and the Confirmation exchanged thereunder, between Arbor and Citibank, which collectively establish the TRS, and are collectively referred to herein as the "TRS Agreement". On March 21, 2014, Arbor amended and restated its Confirmation Letter Agreement (the "Amended Confirmation Agreement") with Citibank. The Amended Confirmation Agreement increased the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $100 million to $200 million, and increased the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.30% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.35% per annum.

On July 23, 2014, Arbor entered into the Second Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement with CitiBank to increase the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $200 million to $350 million. On June 8, 2015, Arbor entered into the Third Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement with Citibank to decrease the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $350 million to $300 million.

On March 21, 2016, Arbor entered into the Fourth Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement (the "Fourth Amended Confirmation Agreement") with Citibank to extended the term of the TRS from March 21, 2016 through March 21, 2019 and increased the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.35% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.65% per annum.

On September 29, 2017, Arbor entered into the Fifth Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement (the "Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement") with Citibank to reduce the maximum portfolio notional (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) from $300,000,000 to $180,000,000, through incremental reductions of $60,000,000 on October 3, 2017 and $20,000,000 on each of November 3, 2017, December 3, 2017 and January 3, 2018. The Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement also decreased the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.65% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.60% per annum.

Pursuant to the terms of the TRS Agreement, as amended and subject to conditions customary for transactions of this nature, Arbor may select a portfolio of loans with a maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of $300 million, subject to the reduction provided for in the Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement, which is also referred to as the maximum notional amount of the TRS. Arbor receives from Citibank a periodic payment on set dates that is based upon any coupons, both earned and accrued, generated by the loans underlying the TRS, subject to limitations described in the TRS Agreement as well as any fees associated with the loans included in the portfolio. Arbor pays to Citibank interest at a rate equal to one-month LIBOR plus 1.60% per annum. In addition, upon the termination or repayment of any loan subject to the TRS, Arbor either receives from Citibank the appreciation in the value of such loan, or pays to Citibank any depreciation in the value of such loan.

Citibank may terminate the TRS on or after the second anniversary of the effectiveness of the TRS. SIC Advisors may terminate the TRS on behalf of Arbor at any time upon providing 10 days prior notice to Citibank.

Arbor is required to pay a minimum usage fee in connection with the TRS of 1.60% on the amount equal to 85% of the average daily unused portion of the maximum amount permitted under the TRS. Such minimum usage fee will not apply during the first 365 days and last 60 days of the term of the TRS. Arbor will also pay Citibank customary fees in connection with the establishment and maintenance of the TRS. During the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, Arbor paid $67,976 and $687,131 in minimum usage fees, respectively.

Arbor is required to initially cash collateralize a specified percentage of each loan (generally 20% to 30% of the market value of such loan) included under the TRS in accordance with margin requirements described in the TRS Agreement. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, Arbor has posted $48,000,000 and $79,620,942, respectively, in collateral to Citibank in relation to the TRS which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as cash collateral on TRS. Arbor may be required to post additional collateral from time to time as a result of a decline in the mark-to-market value of the portfolio of loans subject to the TRS. The obligations of Arbor under the TRS Agreement are non-recourse to the Company and the Company's exposure under the TRS Agreement is limited to the value of the Company's investment in Arbor, which generally equals the value of cash collateral provided by Arbor under the TRS Agreement.

In connection with the TRS, Arbor has made customary representations and warranties and is required to comply with various covenants, reporting requirements and other customary requirements for similar transactions. In addition to customary events of default and termination events included in the form ISDA 2002 Master Agreement, the TRS Agreement contains the following termination events: (a) a failure to satisfy the portfolio criteria for at least 30 days; (b) a failure to post initial cash collateral or additional collateral as required by the TRS Agreement; (c) a default by Arbor or the Company with respect to indebtedness in an amount equal to or greater than the lesser of $10,000,000 and 2% of the Company's NAV at such time; (d) a merger of Arbor or the Company meeting certain criteria; (e) the Company or Arbor amending their respective constituent documents to alter their investment strategy in a manner that has or could reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect; and (f) SIC Advisors ceasing to be the investment manager of Arbor or to have authority to enter into transactions under the TRS Agreement on behalf of Arbor, and not being replaced by an entity reasonably acceptable to Citibank. As of December 31, 2017 and December 31, 2016, the Company did not have any derivatives with contingent features in net liability positions; therefore, if a trigger event had occurred, no amount would have been required to be posted by the Company.

The Company's maximum credit risk exposure, as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, is $48,462,555 and $80,910,105, respectively, which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as cash collateral on TRS and receivable due on TRS.

The Company's receivable from Citibank represents realized amounts from payments on underlying loans in the TRS portfolio, which as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, was $462,555 and $1,289,163, respectively, which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as receivable due on TRS. The Company does not offset collateral posted in relation to the TRS with any unrealized appreciation or depreciation outstanding in the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as of December 31, 2017 or December 31, 2016.

Transactions in TRS contracts during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015 were as follows:

As a BDC, the Company is only allowed to employ leverage to the extent that its asset coverage, as defined in the 1940 Act, equals at least 200% after giving effect to such leverage. The amount of leverage that the Company employs at any time depends on its assessment of the market and other factors at the time of any proposed borrowing.

The fair value of the Company’s debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company’s margin borrowings are estimated based upon market interest rates for its own borrowings or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. The Company’s debt obligation is recorded at its carrying value, which approximates fair value.

ING Credit Facility

On August 12, 2016, the Company amended its existing senior secured syndicated revolving credit facility (the “ING Credit Facility”) pursuant to a Senior Secured Revolving Credit Agreement (the “Revolving Credit Agreement”) with certain lenders party thereto from time to time and ING Capital LLC, as administrative agent. The ING Credit Facility matures on August 12, 2020 and is secured by substantially all of the Company’s assets, subject to certain exclusions as further set forth in an Amended and Restated Guarantee, Pledge and Security Agreement (the “Security Agreement”) entered into in connection with the Revolving Credit Agreement, among the Company, the subsidiary guarantors party thereto, ING Capital LLC, as Administrative Agent, each Financial Agent and Designated Indebtedness Holder party thereto and ING Capital LLC, as Collateral Agent. The ING Credit Facility also includes usual and customary representations, covenants and events of default for senior secured revolving credit facilities of this nature. On February 13, 2015, commitments to the ING credit facility were expanded from $150,000,000 to $170,000,000. On August 12, 2016, commitments to the ING credit facility were expanded from $170,000,000 to $175,000,000. On April 20, 2017, commitments to the ING Credit Facility were expanded from $175,000,000 to $220,000,000.

The ING Credit Facility allows for the Company, at its option, to borrow money at a rate of either (i) an alternate base rate plus 1.50% per annum or (ii) LIBOR plus 2.50% per annum. The interest rate margins are subject to certain step-downs upon the satisfaction of certain conditions described in the Revolving Credit Agreement. The alternate base rate will be the greatest of (i) the U.S. Prime Rate set forth in the Wall Street Journal, (ii) the federal funds effective rate plus 1/2 of 1%, and (iii) three month LIBOR plus 1.00%. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the commitment under the ING Credit Facility was $220,000,000 and $175,000,000, respectively, and the ING Credit Facility includes an accordion feature that allows for potential future expansion of the ING Credit Facility up to a total of $500,000,000. Availability of loans under the ING Credit Facility is linked to the valuation of the collateral pursuant to a borrowing base mechanism.

The Company is also required to pay a commitment fee to the lenders based on the daily unused portion of the aggregate commitments under the ING Credit Facility. The commitment fee is (i) 1.50% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is less than or equal to 40%, (ii) 0.75% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is greater than 40% and less than or equal to 65% or (iii) 0.50% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is greater than 65%. The ING Credit Facility provides that the Company may use the proceeds of the facility for general corporate purposes, including making investments in accordance with the Company's investment objective and strategy.

Borrowings under the Revolving Credit Agreement are subject to, among other things, a minimum borrowing base. Substantially all of the Company's assets are pledged as collateral under the Revolving Credit Agreement. The ING Credit Facility requires the Company to, among other things (i) make representations and warranties regarding the collateral as well the Company's business and operations, (ii) agree to certain indemnification obligations, and (iii) agree to comply with various affirmative and negative covenants. The documents for the Revolving Credit Agreement also include default provisions, such as the failure to make timely payments under the Revolving Credit Agreement, the occurrence of a change in control, and the failure by the Company to materially perform under the operative agreements governing the Revolving Credit Agreement, which, if not complied with, could accelerate repayment under the Revolving Credit Agreement, thereby materially and adversely affecting the Company's liquidity, financial condition and results of operations.

In connection with the security interest established under the Security Agreement, the Company, ING Capital LLC, in its capacity as collateral agent, and State Street Bank and Trust Company, in its capacity as the Company's custodian, entered into a control agreement dated as of December 4, 2013, in order to, among other things, perfect the security interest granted pursuant to the Security Agreement in, and provide for control over, the related collateral.

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the carrying amount of the Company's borrowings under the ING Credit Facility approximated their fair value. The fair value of the Company's debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company's borrowing under the ING Credit Facility is estimated based upon market interest rates of the Company's borrowing or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the ING Credit Facility would be deemed to be Level 3, as defined in Note 4.

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, $2,275,481 and $2,746,766, respectively, of financing costs related to the ING Credit Facility have been capitalized and are being amortized over the respective terms. The following table shows additional information about the interest and financing costs related to the ING Credit Facility for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016:

Alpine Credit Facility

On September 29, 2017, the Company's wholly-owned, special purpose financing subsidiary, Alpine, amended its existing revolving credit facility (the "Alpine Credit Facility") pursuant to an Amended and Restated Loan Agreement (the "Amendment") with JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association ("JPMorgan"), as administrative agent and lender, the Financing Providers from time to time party thereto, SIC Advisors, as the portfolio manager, and the Collateral Administrator, Collateral Agent and Securities Intermediary party thereto (the "Loan Agreement"). The Loan Agreement was amended to, among other things, (i) extend the reinvestment period until December 29, 2020, (ii) extend the scheduled termination date until March 29, 2022, (iii) decrease the applicable margin for advances to 2.85% per annum and (iv) increase the compliance condition for net advances to 55% of net asset value. Alpine's obligations to JPMorgan under the Alpine Credit Facility are secured by a first priority security interest in substantially all of the assets of Alpine, including its portfolio of loans. The obligations of Alpine under the Alpine Credit Facility are non-recourse to the Company.

The Alpine Credit Facility provides for borrowings in an aggregate principal amount up to $300,000,000 on a committed basis. Borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility are subject to compliance with a NAV coverage ratio with respect to the current value of Alpine's portfolio and various eligibility criteria must be satisfied with respect to the initial acquisition of each loan in Alpine's portfolio. Any amounts borrowed under the Alpine Credit Facility will mature, and all accrued and unpaid interest thereunder will be due and payable, on March 29, 2022.

Pricing under the Alpine Credit Facility for each one month calculation period is based on LIBOR for an interest period of one month, plus a spread of 2.85% per annum. If LIBOR is unavailable, pricing will be determined at the prime rate offered by JPMorgan or the federal funds effective rate, plus a spread of 2.85% per annum. Interest is payable monthly in arrears. Alpine is also required to pay a commitment fee of 1.00% on the average daily unused amount of the financing commitments to the extent that $300,000,000 has not been borrowed.

Borrowings of Alpine are considered borrowings of the Company for purposes of complying with the asset coverage requirements under the 1940 Act, applicable to BDCs.

Pursuant to a Sale and Contribution Agreement entered into between the Company and Alpine (the "Sale Agreement") in connection with the Alpine Credit Facility, the Company may sell loans or contribute cash or loans to Alpine from time to time and will retain a residual interest in any assets contributed through its ownership of Alpine or will receive fair market value for any assets sold to Alpine. In certain circumstances the Company may be required to repurchase certain loans sold to Alpine. In addition to the acquisition of loans pursuant to the Sale Agreement, Alpine may purchase additional assets from various sources. Alpine has appointed SIC Advisors to manage its portfolio of assets pursuant to the terms of a Portfolio Management Agreement between SIC Advisors and Alpine.

As of December 31, 2017, the carrying amount of the Company's borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility approximated the fair value of the Company's debt obligation. The fair value of the Company's debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company's borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility is estimated based upon market interest rates of the Company's borrowings or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. As of December 31, 2017, the Alpine Credit Facility would be deemed to be Level 3, as defined in Note 4.

As of December 31, 2017 and December 31, 2016, $3,011,446 and $1,593,767, respectively, of financing costs related to the Alpine Credit Facility has been capitalized and is being amortized over the respective terms. The following table shows additional information about the interest and financing costs related to the Alpine Credit Facility for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016:

Note 7. Agreements

Investment Advisory Agreement

On April 5, 2012, the Company entered into an investment advisory agreement (“IAA”) with SIC Advisors to manage the Company’s investment activities. The IAA became effective as of April 17, 2012, the date that the Company met its minimum offering requirement. Pursuant to the 1940 Act, the initial term of the IAA was for two years from its effective date, with one-year renewals subject to approval by the Company’s board of directors, a majority of whom must be independent directors. On March 2, 2016, the Company’s board of directors approved the renewal of the IAA for an additional one-year term at an in-person meeting. Pursuant to the IAA, SIC Advisors implements the Company’s business strategy on a day-to-day basis and performs certain services for the Company, subject to oversight by the Company’s board of directors. SIC Advisors is responsible for, among other duties, determining investment criteria, sourcing, analyzing and executing investment transactions, asset sales, financings and performing asset management duties. Under the IAA, the Company has agreed to pay SIC Advisors a management fee for investment advisory and management services consisting of a base management fee and an incentive fee.

The base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of the Company’s gross assets payable quarterly in arrears. For purposes of calculating the base management fee, the term “gross assets” includes any assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage. “Gross assets” also includes any cash collateral posted with respect to the TRS, adjusted for realized and unrealized appreciation. For the first quarter of the Company’s operations, the base management fee was calculated based on the initial value of the Company’s gross assets. Subsequently, the base management fee is calculated based on the gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter. Base management fees for any partial quarter are appropriately prorated. For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded an expense for base management fees of $21,233,065, $19,928,802 and $17,234,293, respectively, of which $5,196,997 and $5,138,107 were payable at December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

The incentive fee consists of the following two parts:

An incentive fee on net investment income (“Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income”) is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears and is based upon pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding quarter. No Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income is payable in any calendar quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed a quarterly return to stockholders of 1.75% per quarter on the Company’s net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the “Preferred Quarterly Return”). All pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the Preferred Quarterly Return, but is less than or equal to 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter in any quarter, will be payable to SIC Advisors. The Company refers to this portion of its Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income as the “Catch Up”. It is intended to provide an incentive fee of 20% on pre-incentive fee net investment income when pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding quarter in any quarter. For any quarter in which the Company’s pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding quarter, the Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income shall equal 20% of the amount of pre-incentive fee net investment income, because the Preferred Quarterly Return and Catch Up will have been achieved. There is no incentive fee on net investment income earned on the TRS.

For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded Incentive fees of $4,700,177, $9,281,479 and $4,434,352, respectively. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company recorded incentive fees payable of $2,827,372 and $1,405,419, respectively.

A capital gains incentive fee will be earned on realized investments and shall be payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year during which the Investment Advisory Agreement is in effect. If the Investment Advisory Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination. The fee equals 20% of the realized capital gains, less the aggregate amount of any previously paid capital gains incentive fees. The incentive fee on capital gains is equal to realized capital gains on a cumulative basis from inception, computed net of all realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation on a cumulative basis.

Under GAAP, the Company calculates capital gains incentive fees as if the Company had realized all assets at their fair values and liabilities at their settlement amounts as of the reporting date. GAAP requires that the capital gains incentive fee accrual assume the cumulative aggregate unrealized capital appreciation is realized, even though such unrealized capital appreciation is not payable under the Investment Advisory Agreement. Accordingly, the Company accrues a provisional capital gains incentive fee taking into account any unrealized gains or losses. There can be no assurance that such unrealized capital appreciation will be realized in the future and that the provisional capital gains incentive fee will become payable.

For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded no capital gains incentive fee and no capital gains incentive fee payable.

In the event that other organizational and offering expenses exceed 5.25% of the gross proceeds from the sale of shares of the Company's common stock pursuant to its public offering or one or more private offerings at the time of the completion of the offering or other organizational and offering expenses, together with selling commissions, dealer manager fees and any discounts paid to members of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, exceed 15% of the gross proceeds from the sale of shares of the Company's common stock pursuant to its public offering or one or more private offerings at the time of the completion of the offering, then SIC Advisors shall be required to pay without reimbursement from the Company, or, if already paid by the Company, reimburse the Company, for amounts exceeding such 5.25% and 15% limit, as appropriate.

Administration Agreement

On April 5, 2012, the Company entered into an administration agreement (the "Administration Agreement") with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC furnishes the Company with administrative services necessary to conduct its day-to-day operations. On February 28, 2013, Medley Capital LLC entered into a Sub-Administration Agreement with State Street Bank Global Fund Accounting and Custody to perform certain financial, accounting, administrative and other services on behalf of the Company. On March 8, 2018, the Company's board of directors approved the renewal of the Administration Agreement for an additional one-year term at an in-person meeting. Medley Capital LLC is reimbursed for administrative expenses it incurs on the Company's behalf in performing its obligations. Such costs are reasonably allocated to the Company on the basis of assets, revenues, time records or other reasonable methods. The Company does not reimburse Medley Capital LLC for any services for which it receives a separate fee or for rent, depreciation, utilities, capital equipment or other administrative items allocated to a controlling person of Medley Capital LLC. For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded an expenses of $3,029,745, $2,847,745 and $2,261,789, respectively, relating to administrator expenses. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company had $695,777 and $850,678, respectively, in administrator fees payable.

Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement

From June 29, 2012 through December 31, 2016, the Company was party to an Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement with SIC Advisors (the "Expense Support Agreement"). During the term of the Expense Support Agreement, SIC Advisors reimbursed the Company for operating expenses in an amount equal to the difference between the Company's distributions paid to its stockholders in each month, less the sum of the Company's net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to the Company from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains, during such period ("Expense Support Reimbursement"). To the extent that no dividends or other distributions were paid to the Company's stockholders in any given month, then the Expense Support Reimbursement for such month was equal to such amount necessary in order for available operating funds for the month to equal zero. From April 1, 2016 until the expiration of the Expense Support Agreement on December 31, 2016, SIC Advisors made expense support payments on a discretionary basis by making an election on the last day of each month to fund an expense support payment in an amount equal to the difference between the Company's distributions paid to stockholders during such month less the sum of the Company's net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to the Company from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains during such period.

The purpose of the Expense Support Agreement was to cover distributions to stockholders so as to ensure that the distributions did not constitute a return of capital for GAAP purposes and to reduce operating expenses until the Company had raised sufficient capital to be able to absorb such expenses. The Expense Support Agreement expired on December 31, 2016.

Pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement, the Company will reimburse SIC Advisors for expense support payments it previously made following any calendar quarter for which the Company received net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends from its portfolio companies (not included in net income and net realized capital gains) in excess of the distributions paid to the Company’s stockholders during such calendar quarter (the “Excess Operating Funds”). Any such reimbursement will be made within three years of the date that the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors, subject to the conditions described below. The amount of the reimbursement during any calendar quarter will equal the lesser of (i) the Excess Operating Funds received during the quarter and (ii) the aggregate amount of all expense payments made by SIC Advisors that have not yet been reimbursed. In addition, the Company will only make reimbursement payments to the extent its current annualized “operating expense ratio” (as described in footnote 1 to the table below) is equal to or less than its operating expense ratio for the quarter during which the corresponding expense obligation was incurred and to the extent the annualized rate of its regular cash dividends to the Company’s stockholders for the month is equal to or greater than the annualized rate of the Company’s regular cash distributions to stockholders for the month during which the corresponding expense payment was incurred.

For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded net Expense Support Reimbursements of $0, $16,093,129 and $6,283,327, respectively, on the consolidated statements of operations. Repayments of amounts paid by SIC Advisors to the Company under the Expense Support Agreement will be accrued as they become probable and estimable. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company recorded $0 and $7,892,273, respectively, in its consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as due from affiliate relating to the Expense Support Agreement. The Company refers to Expense Support Reimbursements that are eligible for reimbursement to SIC Advisors by virtue of having satisfied the conditions described above as a “Crystalized Reimbursement.” As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company recorded $0 and $135,784, respectively, of Crystalized Reimbursements and $0 and $135,784 was included in Due to Affiliate on the respective consolidated statements of assets and liabilities. As of December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the total amounts eligible for reimbursement of the Company to SIC Advisors net of Crystalized Reimbursements was $24,973,540, $31,474,331 and $16,824,125, respectively.

The following table provides information regarding liabilities incurred by SIC Advisors pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement as well as other information relating to the Company’s ability to reimburse SIC Advisors for such payments:

- (1) “Operating Expense Ratio” is as of the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by the Company’s Advisor and includes all expenses borne by the Company, except for organizational and offering expenses, base management and incentive fees owed to SIC Advisors, and interest expense, as a percentage of net assets.
- (2) “Annualized Distribution Rate” equals the annualized rate of distributions paid to stockholders based on the amount of the regular cash distribution paid immediately prior to the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors. “Annualized Distribution Rate” does not include special cash or stock distributions paid to stockholders.
- (3) The unreimbursed part of the expense payment obligation has expired as of December 31, 2017

Note 8. Related Party Transactions

On October 19, 2011, SIC Advisors entered into a subscription agreement to purchase 110.80 shares of common stock for cash consideration of $1,000. The consideration represents $9.025 per share.

On April 17, 2012, SIC Advisors purchased 1,108,033.24 shares of our common stock for aggregate gross proceeds of $10,000,000. The consideration represents $9.025 per share.

We have entered into an Investment Advisory Agreement with SIC Advisors in which our senior management holds an equity interest and were party to the Expense Support Agreement through December 31, 2016. Members of our senior management also serve as principals of other investment managers affiliated with SIC Advisors that do, and may in the future, manage investment funds, accounts or other investment vehicles with investment objectives similar to ours.

We have entered into an Administration Agreement with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC furnishes us with administrative services necessary to conduct our day-to-day operations. Medley Capital LLC is reimbursed for administrative expenses it incurs on our behalf. We do not reimburse Medley Capital LLC for any services for which it receives a separate fee or for rent, depreciation, utilities, capital equipment or other administrative items allocated to a controlling person of Medley Capital LLC. Medley Capital LLC is an affiliate of SIC Advisors.

We have entered into a dealer manager agreement with SC Distributors, LLC who receives a dealer manager fee of up to 2.50% of gross proceeds raised in the offering. An affiliated entity of SC Distributors, LLC owns an equity interest in SIC Advisors, which provides the right to receive a fixed percentage of the management fees received by SIC Advisors.

On March 20, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors, and SC Distributors, LLC agreed to remove any dealer manager fee payable to SC Distributors, LLC by investors with respect to shares of common stock sold to investors under a placement agreement through a registered investment advisor. In connection with any such sales, SIC Advisors LLC has agreed to pay SC Distributors LLC a platform placement fee in an amount equal to 1.50% of the gross offering proceeds from such sales.

On June 15, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and SC Distributors LLC entered into the First Amendment to the Second Amended and Restated Dealer Manager Agreement (the "First Amendment"). The terms of the First Amendment became effective with respect to subscriptions of Class A shares submitted beginning on June 16, 2017. Pursuant to the First Amendment, the upfront selling commission was reduced from 7.00% of gross proceeds to up to 3.00% of gross proceeds and the dealer manager fee was reduced from 2.75% of gross proceeds to up to 2.50% of gross proceeds. Further, in connection with the sale of Class A shares by participating broker-dealers, SC Distributors LLC will reallocate and pay participating broker-dealers up to: (a) 3.00% of the gross proceeds from their allocated sales of Class A shares; and (b) 2.50% of the gross proceeds for dealer manager fees of Class A shares. In addition, SIC Advisors will pay the SC Distributors LLC, without reimbursement from the Company, an ongoing distribution and stockholder servicing fee that accrues daily in an amount equal to 1/365th of up to 1.0% of the net asset value per Class A share as of the end of each quarterly period following the date of purchase on a continuous basis from year to year for certain services.

We have entered into a license agreement with SIC Advisors under which SIC Advisors has agreed to grant us a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Sierra" for specified purposes in our business. Under this agreement, we will have a right to use the "Sierra" name, subject to certain conditions, for so long as SIC Advisors or one of its affiliates remains our investment adviser. Other than with respect to this limited license, we will have no legal right to the "Sierra" name.

Due from affiliate relates to amounts due from SIC Advisors pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement as discussed in Note 7. Due to affiliate relates to reimbursements of expense support reimbursement pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement paid to/from SIC Advisors as discussed in Note 7.

An affiliate of the Company's dealer manager has an ownership interest in SIC Advisors.

Opportunities for co-investments may arise when SIC Advisors or an affiliated adviser becomes aware of investment opportunities that may be appropriate for the Company and other clients or affiliated funds. The Company obtained an exemptive order from the SEC on November 25, 2013 (the "Prior Exemptive Order"). On March 29, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the "Exemptive Order") that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise have been prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) and Rule 17d-1. On October 4, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and certain of our affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the "New Exemptive Order") and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly- or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the 1940 Act. The terms of the New Exemptive Order are otherwise substantially similar to the Exemptive Order. Co-investment under the New Exemptive Order is subject to certain conditions, including the condition that, in the case of each co-investment transaction, our board of directors determines that it would be in our best interest to participate in the transaction. However, neither we nor the affiliated funds are obligated to invest or co-invest when investment opportunities are referred to us or them. Please see footnote 5 to the consolidated schedule of investments as of December 31, 2017 and 2016 for disclosures regarding securities also held by affiliated funds.

Note 9. Directors Fees

Effective January 1, 2017, each independent director will be compensated as follows: (i) an annual retainer of $85,000; (ii) a fee of $3,000 for each in-person board meeting in which they participate; (iii) a fee of $1,000 for each telephonic board meeting in which they participate; (iv) a fee of $2,500 for each in-person audit committee meeting in which they participate; (v) a fee $1,000 for each telephonic audit committee meeting in which they participate; (vi) a fee of $2,000 for each in-person nominating and corporate governance committee meeting in which they participate; and (vii) a fee of $1,000 for each telephonic nominating and corporate governance committee meeting in which they participate. In addition, each independent director will be reimbursed for reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board or committee meeting. In addition, the Chair of the audit committee receives an annual retainer of $15,000, while the Chair of any other committee receives an annual retainer of $5,000. The Lead Independent Director receives an annual retainer of $10,000.

Prior to January 1, 2017, each independent director received an annual retainer fee of $50,000, and further received a fee of $4,000 ($2,000 for telephonic attendance) for each regularly scheduled board meeting attended, a fee of $2,000 for each special board meeting and all committee meetings attended, as well as reimbursement of reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board or committee meeting.

For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded directors' fees expenses in General and Administrative expenses on the consolidated statements of operations of $390,500, $285,972 and $247,625, respectively, of which no amount was payable at December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, respectively.

Note 10. Earnings Per Share

In accordance with the provisions of ASC Topic 260 - Earnings per Share, basic earnings per share is computed by dividing earnings available to common shareholders by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period. Other potentially dilutive common shares, and the related impact to earnings, are considered when calculating earnings per share on a diluted basis.

The following table sets forth the computation of the weighted average basic and diluted net increase in net assets per share from operations for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015:

	2017	2016	2015
Net increase/(decrease) in net assets from operations	$ 12,505,156	$ 69,328,795	$ (10,112,813)
Weighted average common stock outstanding	96,248,024	90,424,090	70,648,292
Weighted average basic and diluted earnings per common share	$ 0.13	$ 0.77	$ (0.14)

Note 11. Commitments

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company had $74,816,205 and $26,944,303, respectively, of unfunded commitments under loan and financing agreements. These amounts are primarily composed of commitments for senior secured term loans, revolvers, and additional capital contributions for the Sierra JV. The unrealized gain or loss associated with unfunded commitments is recorded in the financial statements and reflected as an adjustment to the valuation of the related security in the Consolidated Schedule of Investments. The par amount of the unfunded commitments are not recognized by the Company until the commitment is funded.

Note 12. Fee Income

Fee income consists of origination fees, amendment fees, prepayment fees, administrative agent fees and other miscellaneous fees. Origination fees, prepayment fees, amendment fees, and other similar fees are non-recurring fee sources. Such fees are received on a transaction by transaction basis and do not constitute a regular stream of income. The following table shows the Company's fee income for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015:

	2017	2016	2015
Origination fee	$ 5,017,842	$ 3,109,643	$ 8,083,671

Note 13. Distributions and Share Repurchase Program Distributions

Distributions to common stockholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. The amount to be paid out as a distribution is determined by the Company's board of directors.

The Company has adopted an "opt in" distribution reinvestment plan ("DRIP") pursuant to which the Company's common stockholders may elect to have the full amount of any cash distributions reinvested in additional shares of the Company's common stock. On June 30, 2017, the Board approved an amendment to the DRIP, pursuant to which the number of newly-issued shares of the Company's common stock to be issued to a participating stockholder shall be determined by dividing the total dollar amount of the distribution payable to such stockholder by a price equal to 94.5%, rather than 90%, of the Company's then current offering price. The Company amended the DRIP as a result of the Company's revised fee structure, which went into effect on June 16, 2017. Under the Company's revised fee structure the upfront selling commission was reduced from 7.00% of gross proceeds to up to 3.00% of gross proceeds and the dealer manager fee was reduced from 2.75% of gross proceeds to up to 2.50% of gross proceeds. If the Company declares a cash dividend or other distribution, each stockholder that has "opted in" to the Company's reinvestment plan will have their distributions automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Company's common stock rather than receiving cash distributions. Stockholders who receive distributions in the form of shares of common stock will be subject to the same federal, state and local tax consequences as if they received cash distributions. For the year ended December 31, 2017, the Company distributed a total of $61,549,954, of which $33,728,836 was in cash and $27,821,118 was in the form of common shares associated with the DRIP. For the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company distributed a total of $68,596,940, of which $36,118,048 was in cash and $32,478,892 was in the form of common shares associated with the DRIP. For the year ended December 31, 2015, the Company distributed a total of $56,804,630, of which $29,576,900 was in cash and $27,227,730 was in the form of common shares associated with the DRIP.

The following table reflects the cash distributions per share that we have declared or paid to our stockholders during 2017 and 2016. Stockholders of record as of each respective semi-monthly record date were entitled to receive the distribution.

The Company's distributions may be funded from offering proceeds or borrowings, which may constitute a return of capital and reduce the amount of capital available to the Company for investment. Any capital returned to stockholders through distributions will be distributed after payment of fees and expenses.

The Company's previous distributions to stockholders may have been funded from temporary Expense Support Reimbursements that may be subject to repayment to SIC Advisors. The portion of these distributions derived from temporary Expense Support Reimbursements were not based on the Company's investment performance and may not continue in the future. If SIC Advisors had not agreed to make Expense Support Reimbursements, these distributions would have come from paid-in-capital. The repayments of eligible reimbursements owed to SIC Advisors will reduce the future distributions to which stockholders would otherwise be entitled. The Expense Support Agreement expired on December 31, 2016. The Company's contingent obligation to repay eligible reimbursements to SIC Advisors will expire on September 30, 2019. See Note 7 for more information.

The determination of the tax attributes (i.e., paid from ordinary income, paid from net capital gains on the sale of securities, and/or a return of paid-in-capital surplus which is a nontaxable distribution) of distributions is made annually as of the end of the Company's fiscal year based upon its taxable income earned and distributions paid during the fiscal year.

Share Repurchase Program

In June 2013, the Company commenced a share repurchase program pursuant to which it intends to conduct quarterly share repurchases of up to 2.5% of the weighted average number of outstanding shares of its common stock in the prior four calendar quarters or 10% of the weighted average number of outstanding shares in the prior 12-month period. The purpose of the share repurchase program is to allow stockholders to sell their shares back to the Company at a price equal to the most recently disclosed NAV per share of the Company's common stock immediately prior to the date of repurchase. Shares will be purchased from stockholders participating in the program on a pro rata basis. Unless the Company's board of directors determines otherwise, the number of shares to be repurchased during any calendar year will be limited to the proceeds received in association with the sale of shares of common stock under the distribution reinvestment plan.

The following table reflects activity under the Company's Share Repurchase Program:

- (1) The per share data was derived by using the weighted average shares outstanding during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016, 2015, 2014 and 2013 which were 96,248,024, 90,424,090, 70,648,292, 35,425,825 and 7,426,660 respectively.
- (2) The per share data for distributions is the actual amount of paid distributions per share during the period.
- (3) Shares issued under the DRIP (see Note 13) as well as the continuous issuance of common shares may cause an incremental increase/decrease in NAV per share due to the effect of issuing shares at amounts that differ from the prevailing NAV at each issuance.
- (4) Total annual returns are historical and assume reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the Company's dividend reinvestment plan, and no sales charge.
- (5) Total returns, ratios of net investment income and ratios of gross expenses to average net assets for the years ended December 31, 2016, 2015, 2014 and 2013, prior to the effect of the Expense Support Agreement were as follows: total return 7.57%, (1.76)%, 5.00% and 8.88% and ratio of net investment income: 8.32%, 6.54%, 4.51% and 2.04% and ratio of net expenses to average net assets: 7.76%, 7.39%, 7.87% and 9.61%, respectively.
- (6) Asset coverage per unit is the ratio of the carrying value of the Company's total consolidated assets for regulatory purposes, which includes the underlying fair value of net TRS, less all liabilities and indebtedness not represented by senior securities to the aggregate amount of Senior Securities representing indebtedness and the implied leverage on the TRS. Asset coverage per unit is expressed in terms of dollars per $1,000 of indebtedness. For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016, 2015, 2014 and 2013 the Company's Asset Coverage Per Unit including unfunded commitments was 2,054, $2,355, $2,318, $2,141 and $5,480 respectively.
- (7) Represents the impact of non-recurring fees over total investment income.
- (8) The ratio of interest and financing related expenses to average net assets for the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015 have been revised to include financing costs. The ratios were previously reported as 1.85% and 1.62%, respectively

- (1) All of the Company's investments are domiciled in the United States except for Livingston International Inc., which is domiciled in Canada and AMMC CLO 17, Limited Series 2015-17A, Apidos CLO XXIV, Series 2016-24A, Dryden 38 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2015-38A, Dryden 43 Senior Loan Fund, Series 2016-43A, Dryden 49 Senior Loan Fund, 2017-49A, Magnetite XIX, Limited and VOYA CLO 2016-2, LTD. which are all domiciled in the Cayman Islands. All foreign investments were denominated in US Dollars.
- (2) Unless otherwise indicated, all securities are valued using significant unobservable inputs, which are categorized as Level 3 assets under the definition of ASC 820 fair value hierarchy.
- (3) Percentage is based on net assets of $739,986,569 as of December 31, 2017.
- (4) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 3 Month "3M" LIBOR, which at December 31, 2017 was 1.69%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2017 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor or 3M LIBOR.
- (5) An affiliated fund that is managed by an affiliate of SIC Advisors LLC also holds an investment in this security.
- (6) The investment has an unfunded commitment as of December 31, 2017. For further details see Note 11. Fair value includes an analysis of the unfunded commitment.
- (7) The interest rate on these loans is subject to a base rate plus 1 Month "1M" LIBOR, which at December 31, 2017 was 1.57%. As the interest rate is subject to a minimum LIBOR floor, the prevailing rate in effect at December 31, 2017 was the base rate plus the LIBOR floor or 1M LIBOR.
- (8) Securities are exempt from registration under Rule 144A of the Securities Act of 1933. These securities represent a fair value of $97,200,003 or 13.1% of net assets as of December 31, 2017 and are considered restricted.
- (9) The investment is not a qualifying asset as defined under Section 55(a) of the 1940 Act. Non-qualifying assets represent 17.6% of the Company's portfolio at fair value.
- (10) This investment is in the equity class of a collateralized loan obligation ("CLO"). The CLO equity investments are entitled to recurring distributions which are generally equal to the excess cash flow generated from the underlying investments after payment of the contractual payments to debt holders and fund expenses. The current effective yield is based on the current projections of this excess cash flow taking into account assumptions that have been made regarding expected prepayments, losses and future reinvestment rates. These assumptions are periodically reviewed and adjusted. Ultimately, the actual yield may be higher or lower than the estimated yield if actual results differ from those used for the assumptions.

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
September 30, 2018
(unaudited)

Note 1. Organization

Sierra Income Corporation (the “Company”) was incorporated under the general corporation laws of the State of Maryland on June 13, 2011 and formally commenced operations on April 17, 2012. The Company is an externally managed, non-diversified closed-end management investment company that has elected to be treated as a business development company (“BDC”) under the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the “1940 Act”). The Company is externally managed by SIC Advisors LLC (“SIC Advisors”), a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the “Advisers Act”). SIC Advisors is a majority owned subsidiary of Medley LLC, which is controlled by Medley Management Inc., a publicly traded asset management firm (NYSE: MDLY), which in turn is controlled by Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly-owned by the senior professionals of Medley LLC. The term “Medley” refers to the collective activities of Medley Capital LLC, Medley LLC, Medley Management Inc., Medley Group LLC, SIC Advisors, associated investment funds and their respective affiliates. The Company has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated for U.S. federal income tax purposes as a regulated investment company (“RIC”) under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”). The Company’s fiscal year-end is December 31st.

On April 17, 2012, the Company successfully reached its minimum escrow requirement and officially commenced operations by issuing 1,108,033 shares of common stock to SIC Advisors for gross proceeds of $10,000,000. On July 2, 2018, the Company’s board of directors determined to terminate the Company’s offering effective as of July 31, 2018. As of September 30, 2018, the Company has sold a total of 97,546,600 shares of common stock, which includes shares issued as part of the distribution reinvestment plan (see Note 13), for total gross proceeds of $1.0 billion, which includes the shares sold to SIC Advisors. The proceeds from the issuance of common stock are presented in the Company’s consolidated statements of changes in net assets and consolidated statements of cash flows and are presented net of selling commissions and dealer manager fees.

On August 15, 2013, the Company formed Arbor Funding LLC (“Arbor”), a wholly-owned financing subsidiary.

On June 18, 2014, the Company formed Alpine Funding LLC (“Alpine”), a wholly-owned financing subsidiary.

The Company has formed and expects to continue to form certain taxable subsidiaries (the “Taxable Subsidiaries”), which are taxed as corporations for U.S. federal income tax purposes. Taxable Subsidiaries allow the Company to hold equity securities of portfolio companies organized as pass-through entities while continuing to satisfy the requirements of a RIC under the Code.

The Company’s investment objective is to generate current income, and to a lesser extent, long-term capital appreciation. The Company intends to meet its investment objective by investing primarily in the debt of privately owned U.S. companies with a focus on senior secured debt, second lien debt and, to a lesser extent, subordinated debt. The Company will originate transactions sourced through SIC Advisors’ direct origination network, and also expects to acquire debt securities through the secondary market. The Company may make equity investments in companies that it believes will generate appropriate risk adjusted returns, although it does not expect such investments to be a substantial portion of the portfolio.

Agreements and Plan of Mergers

On August 9, 2018 the Company entered into definitive agreements to acquire Medley Capital Corporation (NYSE/TASE: MCC, “MCC”) and Medley Management Inc. (NYSE: MDLY, “MDLY”). Pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and between MCC and the Company, MCC will merge with and into the Company, with the Company as the surviving entity. MCC shareholders will receive 0.805 shares of the Company’s common stock for each share of MCC common stock they hold.

Simultaneously, pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among the Company, Medley and Sierra Management Inc., a newly formed Delaware corporation (“Merger Sub”), Medley will merge with and into the Merger Sub, and Medley’s existing asset management business will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Company. Medley shareholders will receive 0.3836 shares of the Company’s common stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.65 per share in special cash dividends for each share of Medley Class A common stock they hold. Medley LLC unitholders will convert their units into shares of Medley Class A common stock and will receive 0.3836 shares of the Company’s common stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.35 per share in a special cash dividend for each share of Medley Class A common stock they hold.

As a condition to closing, the Company's common stock will be listed to trade on the New York Stock Exchange and the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange. The mergers are cross conditioned upon each other and are subject to approval by the shareholders of the Company, MCC and Medley, regulators, including the SEC, other customary closing conditions and third party consents. Accordingly, we can provide no assurance that the mergers will be completed, that the mergers will not be delayed or that the terms of the mergers will not change.

Note 2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The Company follows the accounting and reporting guidance in the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification ("ASC") Topic 946 - Financial Services, Investment Companies ("ASC 946"). The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and include the accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiaries, Alpine, Arbor, and the Taxable Subsidiaries. All intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated in consolidation. All references made to the "Company," "we," and "us" herein include Sierra Income Corporation and its consolidated subsidiaries, except as stated otherwise. Additionally, the accompanying consolidated financial statements of the Company and related financial information have been prepared pursuant to the requirements for reporting on Form 10-Q and Article 10 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, certain disclosures accompanying annual financial statements prepared in accordance with GAAP are omitted. In the opinion of management, the unaudited interim financial results contain all adjustments and reclassifications, which are of a normal recurring nature, that are necessary for the fair presentation of financial statements for the periods presented. Therefore, this Form 10-Q should be read in conjunction with the Company's annual report on Form 10-K for the year ended December 31, 2017, which was filed with the U.S. Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") on March 12, 2018. The current period's results of operations will not necessarily be indicative of results that ultimately may be achieved for the fiscal year ending December 31, 2018.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers cash equivalents to be highly liquid investments or investments with original maturities of three months or less. Cash and cash equivalents include deposits in money market mutual funds. The Company deposits its cash in major United States financial institutions which, at times, may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurance limits.

Offering Costs

Offering costs incurred directly by the Company are expensed in the period incurred. During the quarter ended September 30, 2018, as a result of its termination of the offering effective as of July 31, 2018, the Company recorded a receivable from SC Distributors LLC in prepaid expenses and other assets on the consolidated statements of operations and reversal of $809,469 of offering costs associated with underwriting activity, in excess of Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, Inc. ("FINRA") Rule 2310.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Deferred Financing Costs

Financing costs, incurred in connection with the Company's credit facilities (see Note 6), are deferred and amortized over the life of each corresponding facility.

Deferred Transaction Costs

Transaction costs, incurred in connection with the Mergers by and among the Company, MCC, MDLY and Merger Sub (see Note 1), are deferred until the termination or closing of the Mergers in accordance with ASC 946-320, "Financial Services – Investment Companies – Investments – Debt and Equity Securities."

Indemnification

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contractual agreements that provide general indemnifications against losses, costs, claims and liabilities arising from the performance of individual obligations under such agreements. The Company has had no claims or payments pursuant to such agreements. The Company's individual maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, based on management's experience, the Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Revenue Recognition

Interest income, adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is recorded on an accrual basis. The Company records amortized or accreted discounts or premiums as interest income using the effective interest method. Dividend income, which represents dividends from equity investments and distributions from Taxable Subsidiaries, is recorded on the ex-dividend date and when the distribution is received, respectively.

Fee income associated with investments in portfolio companies is recognized as income in the period that the Company becomes entitled to such fees. Other fees related to loan administration requirements are capitalized as deferred revenue and recorded into income over the respective period.

Prepayment penalties received by the Company for debt instruments paid back to the Company prior to the maturity date are recorded as income upon receipt.

The Company holds debt investments that contain a payment-in-kind (PIK) interest provision. PIK interest, which represents contractually deferred interest added to the investment balance that is generally due at maturity, is recorded on an accrual basis to the extent such amounts are expected to be collected. PIK interest is not accrued if the Company does not expect the issuer to be able to pay all principal and interest when due. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company earned PIK interest of $922,929 and $2,366,828, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company earned PIK interest of $1,574,504 and $4,432,952, respectively.

Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade-date basis. Realized gains or losses on investments are measured by the difference between the net proceeds from the disposition and the amortized cost basis of investment, without regard to unrealized gains or losses previously recognized. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recognized realized losses on investments of $18,551,535 and $45,332,926, respectively, related to certain non-cash restructuring transactions, which are recorded on the consolidated statements of operations as a component of net realized gain/(loss) from non-controlled/non-affiliated investments. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recognized realized losses on investments of $5,469,025 and $16,230,521, respectively, related to certain non-cash restructuring transactions, which are recorded on the consolidated statements of operations as a component of net realized gain/(loss) from non-controlled/non-affiliated investments. The Company reports changes in fair value of investments that are measured at fair value as a component of the net change in unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments in the consolidated statements of operations. For total return swap transactions (see Note 5), periodic payments are received or made at the end of each settlement period, but prior to settlement are recorded as realized gains or losses on total return swap in the consolidated statements of operations.

Management reviews all loans that become 90 days or more past due on principal and interest or when there is reasonable doubt that principal or interest will be collected for possible placement on management's designation of non-accrual status. Accrued interest is generally reserved when a loan is placed on non-accrual status. Interest payments received on non-accrual loans may be recognized as income or applied to principal depending upon management's judgment regarding collectability. Loans on non-accrual status are restored to accrual status when past due principal and interest is paid and, in management's judgment, are likely to remain current, although the Company may make exceptions to this general rule if the loan has sufficient collateral value and is in the process of collection. As of September 30, 2018, eight portfolio companies were on non-accrual status with a cost of $92,120,693, or 8.9% of the cost of the Company's portfolio, and a fair value of $45,103,858, or 4.7% of the fair value of the Company's portfolio. As of December 31, 2017, eight portfolio companies were on non-accrual status with a cost of $85,350,257, or 7.6% of the cost of the Company's portfolio, and a fair value of $27,848,048, or 2.6% of the fair value of the Company's portfolio.

Interest income from investments in the "equity" class of a collateralized loan obligation ("CLO") security (typically subordinated notes) is recorded based upon an estimation of an effective yield to expected maturity utilizing assumed cash flows in accordance with ASC 325-40, Beneficial Interests in Securitized Financial Assets. The Company monitors the expected cash flows from these investments, including the expected residual payments, and the effective yield is determined and updated periodically. Any difference between the cash distribution received and the amount calculated pursuant to the effective interest method is recorded as an adjustment to the cost basis of such investments.

Investment Classification

The Company classifies its investments in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act. Under the 1940 Act, the Company would be deemed to "control" a portfolio company if it owns more than 25% of its outstanding voting securities and/or had the power to exercise control over the management or policies of such portfolio company. The Company refers to such investments in portfolio companies that it "controls" as "Controlled Investments." Under the 1940 Act, the Company would be deemed to be an "Affiliated Person" of a portfolio company if it owns at least 5%, but no more than 25%, of the portfolio company's outstanding voting securities or if it is under common control with such portfolio company. The Company refers to such investments in Affiliated Persons as "Affiliated Investments."

Valuation of Investments

The Company applies fair value accounting to all of its financial instruments in accordance with the 1940 Act and ASC Topic 820 - Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures ("ASC 820"). ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework used to measure fair value and requires disclosures for fair value measurements. In accordance with ASC 820, the Company has categorized its financial instruments carried at fair value, based on the priority of the valuation technique, into a three-level fair value hierarchy as discussed in Note 4. Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of the market participant who holds the financial instrument rather than an entity specific measure. Therefore, when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that management believes market participants would use in pricing the financial instrument at the measurement date.

Investments for which market quotations are readily available are valued at such market quotations, which are generally obtained from an independent pricing service or multiple broker-dealers or market makers. The Company weighs the use of third-party broker quotations, if any, in determining fair value based on management's understanding of the level of actual transactions used by the broker to develop the quote and whether the quote was an indicative price or binding offer. However, debt investments with remaining maturities within 60 days that are not credit impaired are valued at cost plus accreted discount, or minus amortized premium, which approximates fair value. Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined by the Company's board of directors based upon input from management and third party valuation firms. Because these investments are illiquid and there may not be any directly comparable companies whose financial instruments have observable market values, these loans are valued using a fundamental valuation methodology, consistent with traditional asset pricing standards, that is objective and consistently applied across all loans and through time.

Investments in investment companies are valued at fair value. Fair values are generally determined utilizing the net asset value (“NAV”) supplied by, or on behalf of, management of each investment company, which is net of management and incentive fees or allocations charged by the investment company and is in accordance with the “practical expedient”, as defined by ASC 820. NAVs received by, or on behalf of, management of each investment company are based on the fair value of the investment company’s underlying investments in accordance with policies established by management of each investment company, as described in each of their financial statements and offering memorandum.

The methodologies utilized by the Company in estimating the fair value of its investments categorized as Level 3 generally fall into the following two categories:

- The “Market Approach” uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable assets, liabilities, or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.
- The “Income Approach” converts future amounts (for example, cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (that is, discounted) amount. When the Income Approach is used, the fair value measurement reflects current market expectations about those future amounts.

The Company uses third-party valuation firms to assist the board of directors in the valuation of its portfolio investments. The valuation reports generated by the third-party valuation firms consider the evaluation of financing and sale transactions with third parties, expected cash flows and market based information, including comparable transactions, performance multiples, and movement in yields of debt instruments, among other factors. Based on market data obtained from the third-party valuation firms, the Company uses a combined market yield analysis and an enterprise model of valuation. In applying the market yield analysis, the value of the Company’s loans is determined based upon inputs such as the coupon rate, current market yield, interest rate spreads of similar securities, the stated value of the loan, and the length to maturity. In applying the enterprise model, the Company uses a waterfall analysis which takes into account the specific capital structure of the borrower and the related seniority of the instruments within the borrower’s capital structure into consideration. To estimate the enterprise value of the portfolio company, the Company weighs some or all of the traditional market valuation methods and factors based on the individual circumstances of the portfolio company in order to estimate the enterprise value.

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Market Approach for performing investments includes, among other things:

- valuations of comparable public companies (“Guideline Comparable Approach”);
- recent sales of private and public comparable companies (“Guideline Comparable Approach”);
- recent acquisition prices of the company, debt securities or equity securities (“Recent Arms-length Transaction”);
- external valuations of the portfolio company, offers from third parties to buy the company (“Estimated Sales Proceeds Approach”);
- subsequent sales made by the company of its investments (“Expected Sales Proceeds Approach”); and
- estimating the value to potential buyers.

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Income Approach for performing investments includes:

- discounting the forecasted cash flows of the portfolio company or securities (“Discounted Cash Flow” or “DCF” Approach); and
- Black-Scholes model or simulation models or a combination thereof (Income Approach – Option Model) with respect to the valuation of warrants.

For non-performing investments, the Company may estimate the liquidation or collateral value of the portfolio company’s assets and liabilities using an expected recovery model. The Company may estimate the fair value of warrants based on a model such as the Black-Scholes model or simulation models or a combination thereof.

Over-the-counter derivative contracts, such as total return swaps (see Note 5) are fair valued using models that measure the change in fair value of reference assets underlying the swaps offset against any fees payable to the swap counterparty. The fair values of the reference assets underlying the swaps are determined using similar methods as described above for debt and equity investments where the Company also invests directly in such assets.

The Company undertakes a multi-step valuation process each quarter when valuing investments for which market quotations are not readily available, as described below:

- the quarterly valuation process begins with each portfolio investment being initially valued by the Company's valuation professionals;
- preliminary valuation conclusions are then documented and discussed with senior management; and
- an independent valuation firm engaged by the Company's board of directors prepares an independent valuation report for approximately one-third of the portfolio investments each quarter on a rotating quarterly basis on non-fiscal year-end quarters, such that each of these investments will be valued by an independent valuation firm at least twice per annum when combined with the fiscal year-end review of all the investments by independent valuation firms.

In addition, all of the Company's investments are subject to the following valuation process:

- management reviews preliminary valuations and its own independent assessment;
- the independent audit committee of the Company's board of directors reviews the preliminary valuations of senior management and independent valuation firms; and
- the Company's board of directors discusses valuations and determines the fair value of each investment in the Company's portfolio in good faith based on the input of SIC Advisors, the respective independent valuation firms and the audit committee.

The Company's investments in subordinated notes are carried at fair value, which is based on a discounted cash flow model. The discounted cash flow model models both the underlying collateral (assets) and the liabilities of the CLO capital structure. The discounted cash flow model uses a set of assumptions including projected default rates, recovery rates, reinvestment rates and prepayment rates in order to arrive at estimated cash flows of the assets. The discounted cash flow model distributes the asset cash flows to the liability structure based on the payment priorities and discounts them back using appropriate market discount rates based on discount rates for comparable CLOs. The assumptions are based on available market data as well as management estimates. Additional data is used to validate the results from the discounted cash flow method, such as analysis of relevant data observed in the CLO market, review of quotes, where available, recent acquisitions and observable transactions in the subordinated notes, among other factors.

Due to the inherent uncertainty of determining the fair value of investments that do not have a readily available market value, the fair value of the Company's investments may differ significantly from the values that would have been used had a readily available market value existed for such investments, and the differences could be material.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of certain of the Company's financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents and accounts payable and accrued expenses, approximate fair value due to their short-term nature. The carrying amounts and fair values of the Company's long-term obligations are discussed in Note 4.

U.S. Federal Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be treated as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code, and intends to qualify annually, for the tax treatment applicable to RICs. In order to continue to qualify as a RIC, among other things, the Company is required to meet certain source of income and asset diversification requirements and timely distribute to its stockholders at least 90% of the sum of its investment company taxable income (“ICTI”) including PIK, as defined by the Code, and net tax-exempt interest income (which is the excess of the Company’s gross tax-exempt interest income over certain disallowed deductions) for each taxable year in order to be eligible for tax treatment under Subchapter M of the Code. Depending on the level of ICTI earned in a tax year, the Company may choose to carry forward ICTI in excess of current year dividend distributions into the next tax year. Any such carryover ICTI must be distributed before the end of that next tax year through a dividend declared prior to filing the final tax return related to the year which generated such ICTI.

The Company will be subject to a nondeductible U.S. federal excise tax of 4% on undistributed income if it does not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income in any calendar year and 98.2% of its capital gain net income for each one-year period ending on October 31 of such calendar year. To the extent the Company determines that its estimated current year annual taxable income will be in excess of estimated current year dividend distributions for U.S. federal excise tax purposes, the Company accrues U.S. federal excise tax, if any, on estimated excess taxable income as taxable income is earned. For the year ended December 31, 2017, the Company did not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income and 98.2% of its capital gains. Accordingly, with respect to the year ended December 31, 2017, an excise tax expense of $235,942 was recorded.

The Taxable Subsidiaries accrue income taxes payable based on the applicable corporate rates on the unrealized gains generated by the investments held by the Taxable Subsidiaries. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company recorded a deferred tax liability of $594,903 and $291,454, respectively, on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities. The change in deferred tax liabilities is included as a component of net realized and unrealized gain/(loss) on investments on the consolidated statements of operations. On December 22, 2017, the United States enacted tax reform legislation through the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, which significantly changes the existing U.S. tax laws, including a reduction in the corporate tax rate from 35% to 21%, a move from a worldwide tax system to a territorial system, as well as other changes. The Company’s Taxable Subsidiaries provisional tax will be based on the new federal corporate tax rate of 21% for the tax year 2018. This estimate incorporates assumptions made based on the Taxable Subsidiaries’ current interpretation of the Tax Act and may change, possibly materially, as the Company completes its analysis and receives additional clarification and implementation guidance.

ICTI generally differs from net investment income for financial reporting purposes due to temporary and permanent differences in the recognition of income and expenses. The Company may be required to recognize ICTI in certain circumstances in which it does not receive cash. For example, if the Company holds debt obligations that are treated under applicable tax rules as having original issue discount (“OID”), the Company must include in ICTI each year a portion of the OID that accrues over the life of the obligation, regardless of whether cash representing such income is received by the Company in the same taxable year. The Company may also have to include in ICTI other amounts that it has not yet received in cash, such as PIK interest income and interest income from investments that have been classified as non-accrual for financial reporting purposes. Interest income on non-accrual investments is not recognized for financial reporting purposes, but generally is recognized in ICTI. Because any OID or other amounts accrued will be included in the Company’s ICTI for the year of accrual, the Company may be required to make a distribution to its stockholders in order to satisfy the minimum distribution requirements, even though the Company will not have received and may not ever receive any corresponding cash amount. ICTI also excludes net unrealized appreciation or depreciation, as investment gains or losses are not included in taxable income until they are realized.

Although the Company files federal and state tax returns, the Company’s major tax jurisdiction is the United States federal jurisdiction. The Company’s federal and state tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open, subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service.

The Company accounts for income taxes in conformity with ASC Topic 740 - Income Taxes (“ASC 740”). ASC 740 provides guidelines for how uncertain tax positions should be recognized, measured, presented and disclosed in financial statements. ASC 740 requires the evaluation of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Company’s tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are “more-likely-than-not” to be sustained by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions deemed to meet the “more-likely-than-not” threshold would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense in the current period. The Company recognizes interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense in the consolidated statements of operations. There were no interest or penalties due to material uncertain income tax positions at September 30, 2018 and 2017.

The following table reflects, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, the sources of the cash distributions that the Company has paid on its common stock for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017:

Source of Distribution	Nine Months Ended September 30, 2018		Nine Months Ended September 30, 2017
	Distribution Amount	Percentage	Distribution Amount	Percentage
Ordinary income	$ 46,592,535	100.0%	$ 46,082,836	100.0%
Net realized gain	—	—	—	—
Return of capital	—	—	—	—
Distributions on a tax basis	$ 46,592,535	100.0%	$ 46,082,836	100.0%

As of September 30, 2018, for federal income tax purposes, the aggregate gross unrealized appreciation and depreciation is $6,524,457 and $73,819,602, respectively. As of September 30, 2018, net unrealized depreciation is $67,295,145 based on a tax basis cost of $1,034,998,996.

Segments

The Company invests in various industries. The Company separately evaluates the performance of each of its investment relationships. However, because each of these investment relationships has similar business and economic characteristics, they have been aggregated into a single investment segment. All applicable segment disclosures are included in or can be derived from the Company's consolidated financial statements (See Note 3).

Company Investment Risk, Concentration of Credit Risk, and Liquidity Risk

SIC Advisors has broad discretion in making investments for the Company. Investments generally consist of debt instruments that may be affected by business, financial market or legal uncertainties. Prices of investments may be volatile, and a variety of factors that are inherently difficult to predict, such as domestic or international economic and political developments, may significantly affect the results of the Company's activities and the value of its investments. In addition, the value of the Company's portfolio may fluctuate as the general level of interest rates fluctuates.

The value of the Company's investments in loans and bonds may be detrimentally affected to the extent, among other things, that a borrower defaults on its obligations, there is insufficient collateral and/or there are extensive legal and other costs incurred in collecting on a defaulted loan, observable secondary or primary market yields for similar instruments issued by comparable companies increase materially or risk premiums required in the market between smaller companies, such as the Company's borrowers, and those for which market yields are observable, increase materially.

The Company's assets may, at any time, include securities and other financial instruments or obligations that are illiquid or thinly traded, making purchase or sale of such securities and financial instruments at desired prices or in desired quantities difficult. Furthermore, the sale of any such investments may be possible only at substantial discounts, and it may be extremely difficult to value any such investments accurately.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the FASB issued Accounting Standards Update 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) Topic 606) (“ASU 2014-09”). ASU 2014-09 supersedes the revenue recognition requirements under ASC Topic 605, Revenue Recognition, and most industry-specific guidance throughout the ASC. The core principle of the guidance is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which an entity expects to be entitled in exchange for those goods or services. The new guidance will significantly enhance comparability of revenue recognition practices across entities, industries, jurisdictions and capital markets. Additionally, the guidance requires improved disclosures as to the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue that is recognized. The new guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2017 and, therefore, became effective for the Company on January 1, 2018. During implementation, the Company determined that the Company’s significant revenue sources associated with financial instruments, including loans and notes that are accounted for under other U.S. GAAP, are considered not in the scope of ASU 2014-09. As a result, the new guidance has not had a significant impact on the Company’s consolidated financial statements. The Company identified no changes to the recognition, timing or classification of revenues most closely associated with financial instruments, including interest and dividend income, realized gains and losses, up-front fees, interest and dividend income. The Company has elected to adopt the new guidance using the modified retrospective approach as of the date of initial application on January 1, 2018. Electing the modified retrospective approach has resulted in no cumulative effect adjustment to the opening balance of net assets at the date of initial application. See “Revenue Recognition” section within Note 2 for additional information on the Company’s revenue recognition accounting policies.

In August 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-15, Statement of Cash Flows: Classification of Certain Cash Receipts and Cash Payments (a consensus of the Emerging Issues Task Force), or ASU 2016-15, which intends to reduce diversity in practice in how certain cash receipts and payments are classified in the statement of cash flows, including debt prepayment or extinguishment costs, the settlement of contingent liabilities arising from a business combination, proceeds from insurance settlements and distributions from certain equity method investments. ASU 2016-15 is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2017. Early adoption is permitted. The adoption of this guidance may impact the presentation of cash flows, but will not otherwise have a material impact on the Company’s consolidated balance sheets or statements of operations. The Company has adopted this guidance as of the 2018 fiscal year starting January 1, 2018.

In March 2017, the FASB issued ASU 2017-08, Receivables - Nonrefundable Fees and Other Costs (“ASU 2017-08”). The amendments in ASU 2017-08 require premiums on purchased callable debt securities to be amortized to the security’s earliest call date. Prior to this ASU, premiums and discounts on purchased callable debt securities were generally required to be amortized to the security’s maturity date. The amendments in ASU 2017-08 do not require any changes to treatment of securities held at a discount. ASU 2017-08 is effective on January 1, 2019, with early adoption permitted. Although the Company is still evaluating the effect of ASU 2017-08, it does not expect the amendments to have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.

In October 2018, the SEC adopted amendments (the “Amendments”) to certain disclosure requirements that have become redundant, duplicative, overlapping, outdated, or superseded, in light of other SEC disclosure requirements, U.S. GAAP requirements, or changes in the information environment. In part, the Amendments require an investment company to present distributable earnings in total, rather than showing the three components of distributable earnings. The compliance date for the Amendments is for all filings on or after November 5, 2018. Management has adopted the Amendments and included the required disclosures in the Company’s consolidated financial statements.

In August 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-13, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820) - Disclosure Framework - Changes to the Disclosure Requirements for Fair Value Measurement. ASU 2018-13 eliminates, adds and modifies certain disclosure requirements for fair value measurements. This guidance is effective for the Company on January 1, 2020 and early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently assessing the potential impact of this guidance to the fair value disclosures.”

- Nomida, LLC (“Nomida”) is a non-public real estate investment formed by the Company to purchase and develop a residential property. The Company is the sole equity shareholder of Nomida and has provided 100% of the debt financing to the entity. The Company is Nomida’s sole member responsible for Nomida’s daily operations. In addition, the Chief Financial Officer and Secretary of the Company also serves as President of Nomida. The assets of Nomida are comprised of a residential development property in the city of Chicago, IL and the proceeds of the loan from the Company; the liabilities of Nomida consist of the loan payable to the Company. As of September 30, 2018, the loan payable has been fully paid off.
- The Company and Great American Life Insurance Company (“GALIC”) are the members of Sierra Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC (“Sierra JV”), a joint venture formed as a Delaware limited liability company that is not consolidated by either member for financial reporting purposes. The members of Sierra JV make capital contributions as investments by Sierra JV are completed, and all portfolio and other material decisions regarding Sierra JV must be submitted to Sierra JV’s board of managers, which is comprised of an equal number of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Approval of Sierra JV’s board of managers requires the unanimous approval of a quorum of the board of managers, with a quorum consisting of equal representation of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Because management of Sierra JV is shared equally between the Company and GALIC, the Company does not have operational control over the Sierra JV for purposes of the 1940 Act or otherwise.
- The par amount and additional detail are shown in the consolidated schedule of investments.

Purchases/(sales) of investments in controlled/affiliated investments are included in the purchases and sales presented on the consolidated statements of cash flows for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017. Transfers in/(out) of controlled/affiliated represents the fair value for the month an investment became or was removed as a controlled/affiliates investment. Income received from controlled/affiliated investments is included in total investment income on the consolidated statements of operations for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

Sierra Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC

On March 27, 2015, the Company and GALIC entered into a limited liability company operating agreement to co-manage Sierra JV. All portfolio and other material decisions regarding Sierra JV must be submitted to Sierra JV's board of managers, which is comprised of four members, two of whom are selected by the Company and the other two are selected by GALIC. The Company has concluded that it does not operationally control Sierra JV. As the Company does not operationally control Sierra JV, it does not consolidate the operations of Sierra JV within the consolidated financial statements. As a practical expedient, the Company uses NAV to determine the fair value of its investment in Sierra JV; therefore, this investment has been presented as a reconciling item within the fair value hierarchy (see Note 4).

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, Sierra JV had total capital commitments of $116 million and 100 million, respectively, with the Company providing $101.5 million and $87.5 million, respectively, and GALIC providing $14.5 and $12.5 million, respectively. Approximately $105.2 million and $91.2 million was funded as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, relating to these commitments, of which $92.1 million and $79.8 million were from the Company, respectively. The Company does not have the right to withdraw any of their respective capital commitment, unless in connection with a transfer of its membership interests. The Company may transfer full membership interests as long as it is approved by all members and transferred in a transaction exempt from the registration requirements of the Securities Act of 1933, as amended, or applicable state securities laws.

On August 4, 2015, Sierra JV entered into a senior secured revolving credit facility the ("JV Facility") led by Credit Suisse, AG ("CS") with commitments of $100 million subject to certain leverage and borrowing base restrictions. On December 29, 2015, the JV Facility was amended and the total commitments were increased to $135 million. On March 30, 2017, the Company amended the JV Facility previously administered by CS and facilitated the assignment of all rights and obligations of CS under the JV Facility to Deutsche Bank AG, New York Branch, ("DB") and increased the total loan commitments to $240 million. On May 26, 2017 commitments to the JV facility were increased from $240 million to $250 million. The JV Facility bears interest at a rate of LIBOR (with no minimum) plus 2.50% per annum. The JV Facility reinvestment period ends on March 30, 2019 and the stated maturity date is March 30, 2022. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, there were $204.9 million and $180.0 million outstanding under the JV Facility, respectively.

Note 4. Fair Value Measurements

The Company follows ASC 820 for measuring the fair value of portfolio investments. Fair value is the price that would be received in the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Where available, fair value is based on observable market prices or parameters, or derived from such prices or parameters. Where observable prices or inputs are not available, valuation models are applied. These valuation models involve some level of management estimation and judgment, the degree of which is dependent on the price transparency for the instruments or market and the instruments' complexity. The Company's fair value analysis includes an analysis of the value of any unfunded loan commitments. Financial investments recorded at fair value in the consolidated financial statements are categorized for disclosure purposes based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their value. The valuation hierarchical levels are based upon the transparency of the inputs to the valuation of the investment as of the measurement date. The three levels are defined as follows. Investments which are valued using NAV as a practical expedient are excluded from this hierarchy:

- Level 1 — Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level 2 — Valuations based on inputs other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level 1, which are either directly or indirectly observable at the measurement date. This category includes quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in non-active markets including actionable bids from third parties for privately held assets or liabilities, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as yield curves and forward currency rates that are entered directly into valuation models to determine the value of derivatives or other assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 — Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and where there is little, if any, market activity at the measurement date. The inputs for the determination of fair value may require significant management judgment or estimation and is based upon management's assessment of the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the assets or liabilities. These investments include debt and equity investments in private companies or assets valued using the Market or Income Approach and may involve pricing models whose inputs require significant judgment or estimation because of the absence of any meaningful current market data for identical or similar investments. The inputs in these valuations may include, but are not limited to, capitalization and discount rates, beta and Earnings Before Interest, Taxes, Depreciation and Amortization ("EBITDA") multiples. The information may also include pricing information or broker quotes which include a disclaimer that the broker would not be held to such a price in an actual transaction. The non-binding nature of consensus pricing and/or quotes accompanied by disclaimer would result in classification as Level 3 information, assuming no additional corroborating evidence.

In addition to using the above inputs in investment valuations, the Company employs the valuation policy approved by the board of directors that is consistent with ASC 820 (see Note 2). Consistent with the Company's valuation policy, the Company evaluates the source of inputs, including any markets in which the Company's investments are trading, in determining fair value.

Transfers between levels of the fair value hierarchy are reported at the beginning of the reporting period in which they occur. During the nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded $8,622,686 in transfers from Level 3 to Level 2 and $9,720,000 in transfers from Level 2 to Level 3 due to availability of market data and observable valuation inputs to support the valuation. The Company recorded no other transfers between levels.

(1) Represents the method used when the Company has determined that market participants would use such inputs when measuring the fair value of these investments.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's debt and derivative investments are market yields. Increases in market yields would result in lower fair value measurements.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's equity/warrants investments are comparable company multiples of revenue or EBITDA for the latest twelve months ("LTM"), next twelve months ("NTM") or a reasonable period a market participant would consider. Increases in EBITDA multiples in isolation would result in higher fair value measurement.

Note 5. Total Return Swap

On August 27, 2013, the Company, through its wholly-owned financing subsidiary, Arbor, entered into a TRS with Citibank, N.A. (“Citibank”) that is indexed to a basket of loans.

The TRS with Citibank enables Arbor to obtain the economic benefit of the loans underlying the TRS, despite the fact that such loans will not be directly held or otherwise owned by Arbor, in return for an interest-type payment to Citibank.

SIC Advisors acts as the investment manager of Arbor and has discretion over the composition of the basket of loans underlying the TRS. The terms of the TRS are governed by an ISDA 2002 Master Agreement, the Schedule thereto and Credit Support Annex to such Schedule, and the Confirmation exchanged thereunder, between Arbor and Citibank, which collectively establish the TRS, and are collectively referred to herein as the “TRS Agreement”. On March 21, 2014, Arbor amended and restated its Confirmation Letter Agreement (the “Amended Confirmation Agreement”) with Citibank. The Amended Confirmation Agreement increased the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $100 million to $200 million, and increased the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.30% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.35% per annum. On July 23, 2014, Arbor entered into the Second Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement with Citibank to increase the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $200 million to $350 million. On June 8, 2015, Arbor entered into the Third Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement with Citibank to decrease the maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of the portfolio of loans that Arbor may select from $350 million to $300 million. On March 21, 2016, Arbor entered into the Fourth Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement (the “Fourth Amended Confirmation Agreement”) with Citibank to extend the term of the TRS from March 21, 2016 through March 21, 2019 and increase the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.35% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.65% per annum. On September 29, 2017, Arbor entered into the Fifth Amended and Restated Confirmation Letter Agreement (the “Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement”) with Citibank to reduce the maximum portfolio notional (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) from $300,000,000 to $180,000,000, through incremental reductions of $60,000,000 on October 3, 2017 and $20,000,000 on each of November 3, 2017, December 3, 2017 and January 3, 2018. The Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement also decreased the interest rate payable to Citibank from LIBOR plus 1.65% per annum to LIBOR plus 1.60% per annum.

Pursuant to the terms of the TRS Agreement, as amended and subject to conditions customary for transactions of this nature, Arbor may select a portfolio of loans with a maximum market value (determined at the time each such loan becomes subject to the TRS) of $180 million, subject to the Fifth Amended Confirmation Agreement, which is also referred to as the maximum notional amount of the TRS. Arbor receives from Citibank a periodic payment on set dates that is based upon any coupons, both earned and accrued, generated by the loans underlying the TRS, subject to limitations described in the TRS Agreement as well as any fees associated with the loans included in the portfolio. Arbor pays to Citibank interest at a rate equal to one-month LIBOR plus 1.60% per annum. In addition, upon the termination or repayment of any loan subject to the TRS, Arbor either receives from Citibank the appreciation in the value of such loan, or pays to Citibank any depreciation in the value of such loan.

Citibank may terminate the TRS on or after March 21, 2019. SIC Advisors may terminate the TRS on behalf of Arbor at any time upon providing 10 days prior notice to Citibank.

Arbor is required to pay a minimum usage fee in connection with the TRS of 1.60% on the amount equal to 85% of the average daily unused portion of the maximum amount permitted under the TRS. Such minimum usage fee will not apply during the first 365 days and last 60 days of the term of the TRS. Arbor will also pay Citibank customary fees in connection with the establishment and maintenance of the TRS. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, Arbor paid no minimum usage fees. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, Arbor paid $12,823 and $67,961, respectively, in minimum usage fees.

Arbor is required to initially cash collateralize a specified percentage of each loan (generally 20% to 30% of the market value of such loan) included under the TRS in accordance with margin requirements described in the TRS Agreement. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, Arbor has posted $45,000,000 and $48,000,000, respectively, in collateral to Citibank in relation to the TRS which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as cash collateral on TRS. Arbor is restricted from removing the cash collateral posted to Citibank and may be required to post additional collateral from time to time as a result of a decline in the mark-to-market value of the portfolio of loans subject to the TRS. The obligations of Arbor under the TRS Agreement are non-recourse to the Company and the Company’s exposure under the TRS Agreement is limited to the value of the Company’s investment in Arbor, which generally equals the value of cash collateral provided by Arbor under the TRS Agreement.

In connection with the TRS, Arbor has made customary representations and warranties and is required to comply with various covenants, reporting requirements and other customary requirements for similar transactions. In addition to customary events of default and termination events included in the form ISDA 2002 Master Agreement, the TRS Agreement contains the following termination events: (a) a failure to satisfy the portfolio criteria for at least 30 days; (b) a failure to post initial cash collateral or additional collateral as required by the TRS Agreement; (c) a default by Arbor or the Company with respect to indebtedness in an amount equal to or greater than the lesser of $10,000,000 and 2% of the Company's NAV at such time; (d) a merger of Arbor or the Company meeting certain criteria; (e) the Company or Arbor amending their respective constituent documents to alter their investment strategy in a manner that has or could reasonably be expected to have a material adverse effect; and (f) SIC Advisors ceasing to be the investment manager of Arbor or to have authority to enter into transactions under the TRS Agreement on behalf of Arbor, and not being replaced by an entity reasonably acceptable to Citibank. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company did not have any derivatives with contingent features in net liability positions; therefore, if a trigger event had occurred, no amount would have been required to be posted by the Company.

The Company's maximum credit risk exposure as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 is $45,003,727 and $48,462,555, respectively, which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as cash collateral on TRS and receivable due on TRS.

The Company's receivable from Citibank represents realized amounts from payments on underlying loans in the TRS portfolio that as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 was $3,727 and $462,555, respectively, which is recorded on the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as receivable due on total return swap. The Company does not offset collateral posted in relation to the TRS with any unrealized appreciation or depreciation outstanding in the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017.

Transactions in TRS contracts during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 were as follows:

The Company held one derivative position as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 subject to a Master Agreement ("MA"). The following table represents the Company's gross and net amounts after offset under the MA, of the derivative assets and liabilities presented by derivative type net of the related collateral pledged by the Company as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017:

As a BDC, the Company is generally allowed to employ leverage to the extent that its asset coverage, as defined in the 1940 Act, equals at least 200% (or 150% if certain requirements under 1940 Act are met) after giving effect to such leverage. The amount of leverage that the Company employs at any time depends on its assessment of the market and other factors at the time of any proposed borrowing.

The fair value of the Company’s debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company’s margin borrowings are estimated based upon market interest rates for its own borrowings or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. The Company’s debt obligation is recorded at its carrying value, which approximates fair value.

ING Credit Facility

On August 12, 2016, the Company amended its existing senior secured syndicated revolving credit facility (the “ING Credit Facility”) pursuant to a Senior Secured Revolving Credit Agreement (the “Revolving Credit Agreement”) with certain lenders party thereto from time to time and ING Capital LLC, as administrative agent. The ING Credit Facility matures on August 12, 2020 and is secured by substantially all of the Company’s assets, subject to certain exclusions as further set forth in an Amended and Restated Guarantee, Pledge and Security Agreement (the “Security Agreement”) entered into in connection with the Revolving Credit Agreement, among the Company, the subsidiary guarantors party thereto, ING Capital LLC, as Administrative Agent, each Financial Agent and Designated Indebtedness Holder party thereto and ING Capital LLC, as Collateral Agent. The ING Credit Facility also includes usual and customary representations, covenants and events of default for senior secured revolving credit facilities of this nature. On February 13, 2015, commitments to the ING credit facility were expanded from $150,000,000 to $170,000,000. On August 12, 2016, commitments to the ING credit facility were expanded from $170,000,000 to $175,000,000. On April 20, 2017, commitments to the ING Credit Facility were expanded from $175,000,000 to $220,000,000.

The ING Credit Facility allows for the Company, at its option, to borrow money at a rate of either (i) an alternate base rate plus 1.50% per annum or (ii) LIBOR plus 2.50% per annum. The interest rate margins are subject to certain step-downs upon the satisfaction of certain conditions described in the Revolving Credit Agreement. The alternate base rate will be the greatest of (i) the U.S. Prime Rate set forth in the Wall Street Journal, (ii) the federal funds effective rate plus 1/2 of 1%, and (iii) three month LIBOR plus 1.00%. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the commitment under the ING Credit Facility was $220,000,000 and $220,000,000, respectively, and the ING Credit Facility includes an accordion feature that allows for potential future expansion of the ING Credit Facility up to a total of $500,000,000. Availability of loans under the ING Credit Facility is linked to the valuation of the collateral pursuant to a borrowing base mechanism.

The Company is also required to pay a commitment fee to the lenders based on the daily unused portion of the aggregate commitments under the ING Credit Facility. The commitment fee is (i) 1.50% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is less than or equal to 40%, (ii) 0.75% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is greater than 40% and less than or equal to 65% or (iii) 0.50% if the used portion of the aggregate commitments is greater than 65%. The ING Credit Facility provides that the Company may use the proceeds of the facility for general corporate purposes, including making investments in accordance with the Company's investment objective and strategy.

Borrowings under the Revolving Credit Agreement are subject to, among other things, a minimum borrowing base. Substantially all of the Company's assets are pledged as collateral under the Revolving Credit Agreement. The ING Credit Facility requires the Company to, among other things (i) make representations and warranties regarding the collateral as well the Company's business and operations, (ii) agree to certain indemnification obligations, and (iii) agree to comply with various affirmative and negative covenants. The documents for the Revolving Credit Agreement also include default provisions, such as the failure to make timely payments under the Revolving Credit Agreement, the occurrence of a change in control, and the failure by the Company to materially perform under the operative agreements governing the Revolving Credit Agreement, which, if not complied with, could accelerate repayment under the Revolving Credit Agreement, thereby materially and adversely affecting the Company's liquidity, financial condition and results of operations.

In connection with the security interest established under the Security Agreement, the Company, ING Capital LLC, in its capacity as collateral agent, and State Street Bank and Trust Company, in its capacity as the Company's custodian, entered into a control agreement dated as of December 4, 2013, in order to, among other things, perfect the security interest granted pursuant to the Security Agreement in, and provide for control over, the related collateral.

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the carrying amount of the Company's borrowings under the ING Credit Facility approximated their fair value. The fair value of the Company's debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company's borrowing under the ING Credit Facility is estimated based upon market interest rates of the Company's borrowing or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the ING Credit Facility would be deemed to be Level 3, as defined in Note 4.

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, $1,635,745 and $2,275,481, respectively, of financing costs related to the ING Credit Facility have been capitalized and are being amortized over the respective terms. The following table shows additional information about the interest and financing costs related to the ING Credit Facility for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017:

	For the Three Months Ended September 30,		For the Nine Months Ended September 30,

Alpine Credit Facility

On September 29, 2017, the Company's wholly-owned, special purpose financing subsidiary, Alpine, amended its existing revolving credit facility (the "Alpine Credit Facility") pursuant to an Amended and Restated Loan Agreement (the "Amendment") with JPMorgan Chase Bank, National Association ("JPMorgan"), as administrative agent and lender, the Financing Providers from time to time party thereto, SIC Advisors, as the portfolio manager, and the Collateral Administrator, Collateral Agent and Securities Intermediary party thereto (the "Loan Agreement"). The Loan Agreement was amended to, among other things, (i) extend the reinvestment period until December 29, 2020, (ii) extend the scheduled termination date until March 29, 2022, (iii) decrease the applicable margin for advances to 2.85% per annum and (iv) increase the compliance condition for net advances to 55% of net asset value. Alpine's obligations to JPMorgan under the Alpine Credit Facility are secured by a first priority security interest in substantially all of the assets of Alpine, including its portfolio of loans. The obligations of Alpine under the Alpine Credit Facility are non-recourse to the Company.

The Alpine Credit Facility provides for borrowings in an aggregate principal amount up to $300,000,000 on a committed basis. Borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility are subject to compliance with a NAV coverage ratio with respect to the current value of Alpine's portfolio and various eligibility criteria must be satisfied with respect to the initial acquisition of each loan in Alpine's portfolio. Any amounts borrowed under the Alpine Credit Facility will mature, and all accrued and unpaid interest thereunder will be due and payable, on March 29, 2022.

Pricing under the Alpine Credit Facility for each one month calculation period is based on LIBOR for an interest period of one month, plus a spread of 2.85% per annum. If LIBOR is unavailable, pricing will be determined at the prime rate offered by JPMorgan or the federal funds effective rate, plus a spread of 2.85% per annum. Interest is payable monthly in arrears. Alpine is also required to pay a commitment fee of 1.00% on the average daily unused amount of the financing commitments to the extent that $300,000,000 has not been borrowed.

Borrowings of Alpine are considered borrowings of the Company for purposes of complying with the asset coverage requirements under the 1940 Act, applicable to BDCs.

Pursuant to a Sale and Contribution Agreement entered into between the Company and Alpine (the "Sale Agreement") in connection with the Alpine Credit Facility, the Company may sell loans or contribute cash or loans to Alpine from time to time and will retain a residual interest in any assets contributed through its ownership of Alpine or will receive fair market value for any assets sold to Alpine. In certain circumstances the Company may be required to repurchase certain loans sold to Alpine. In addition to the acquisition of loans pursuant to the Sale Agreement, Alpine may purchase additional assets from various sources. Alpine has appointed SIC Advisors to manage its portfolio of assets pursuant to the terms of a Portfolio Management Agreement between SIC Advisors and Alpine.

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the carrying amount of the Company's borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility approximated the fair value of the Company's debt obligation. The fair value of the Company's debt obligation is determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Company's borrowings under the Alpine Credit Facility is estimated based upon market interest rates of the Company's borrowings or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Alpine Credit Facility would be deemed to be Level 3, as defined in Note 4.

Note 7. AgreementsInvestment Advisory Agreement

On April 5, 2012, the Company entered into an investment advisory agreement (the “Investment Advisory Agreement”) with SIC Advisors to manage the Company’s investment activities. The Investment Advisory Agreement became effective as of April 17, 2012, the date that the Company met its minimum offering requirement. Pursuant to the 1940 Act, the initial term of the Investment Advisory Agreement was for two years from its effective date, with one-year renewals subject to approval by the Company’s board of directors, a majority of whom must be independent directors. On March 8, 2018, the Company’s board of directors approved the renewal of the Investment Advisory Agreement for an additional one-year term at an in-person meeting. Pursuant to the Investment Advisory Agreement, SIC Advisors implements the Company’s business strategy on a day-to-day basis and performs certain services for the Company, subject to oversight by the Company’s board of directors. SIC Advisors is responsible for, among other duties, determining investment criteria, sourcing, analyzing and executing investment transactions, asset sales, financings and performing asset management duties. Under the Investment Advisory Agreement, the Company has agreed to pay SIC Advisors a management fee for investment advisory and management services consisting of a base management fee and an incentive fee.

The base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of the Company’s gross assets payable quarterly in arrears. For purposes of calculating the base management fee, the term “gross assets” includes any assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage. “Gross assets” also includes any cash collateral posted with respect to the TRS, adjusted for realized and unrealized appreciation. The base management fee is calculated based on the gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter. Base management fees for any partial quarter are appropriately prorated. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded an expense for base management fees of $4,681,915 and $14,520,226 respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded an expense for base management fees of $5,378,233 and $16,036,068 respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company recorded a base management fee payable of $4,681,915 and $5,196,997, respectively.

The incentive fee consists of the following two parts:

An incentive fee on net investment income (“Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income”) is calculated and payable quarterly in arrears and is based upon pre-incentive fee net investment income for the immediately preceding quarter. No Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income is payable in any calendar quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed a quarterly return to stockholders of 1.75% per quarter on the Company’s net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the “Preferred Quarterly Return”). All pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the Preferred Quarterly Return, but is less than or equal to 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter in any quarter, will be payable to SIC Advisors. The Company refers to this portion of its Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income as the “Catch Up”. It is intended to provide an incentive fee of 20% on pre-incentive fee net investment income when pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding quarter in any quarter. For any quarter in which the Company’s pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of net assets at the end of the immediately preceding quarter, the Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income shall equal 20% of the amount of pre-incentive fee net investment income, because the Preferred Quarterly Return and Catch Up will have been achieved. There is no incentive fee on net investment income earned on the TRS.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded incentive fees of $446,703 and $446,703, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded incentive fees of $1,323,999 and $1,872,805, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company recorded incentive fees payable of $446,703 and $2,827,372, respectively.

A capital gains incentive fee will be earned on realized investments and shall be payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year during which the Investment Advisory Agreement is in effect. If the Investment Advisory Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination. The fee equals 20% of the realized capital gains, less the aggregate amount of any previously paid capital gains incentive fees. The incentive fee on capital gains is equal to realized capital gains on a cumulative basis from inception, computed net of all realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation on a cumulative basis.

Under GAAP, the Company calculates capital gains incentive fees as if the Company had realized all assets at their fair values and liabilities at their settlement amounts as of the reporting date. GAAP requires that the capital gains incentive fee accrual assume the cumulative aggregate unrealized capital appreciation is realized, even though such unrealized capital appreciation is not payable under the Investment Advisory Agreement. Accordingly, the Company accrues a provisional capital gains incentive fee taking into account any unrealized gains or losses. There can be no assurance that such unrealized capital appreciation will be realized in the future and that the provisional capital gains incentive fee will become payable.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Company recorded no capital gains incentive fee. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company recorded no capital gains incentive fee payable.

In the event that other organizational and offering expenses exceed 5.25% of the gross proceeds from the sale of shares of the Company's common stock pursuant to its public offering or one or more private offerings at the time of the completion of the offering or other organizational and offering expenses, together with selling commissions, dealer manager fees and any discounts paid to members of the Financial Industry Regulatory Authority, exceed 15% of the gross proceeds from the sale of shares of the Company's common stock pursuant to its public offering or one or more private offerings at the time of the completion of the offering, then SIC Advisors shall be required to pay without reimbursement from the Company, or, if already paid by the Company, reimburse the Company, for amounts exceeding such 5.25% and 15% limit, as appropriate.

Administration Agreement

On April 5, 2012, the Company entered into an administration agreement (the "Administration Agreement") with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC furnishes the Company with administrative services necessary to conduct its day-to-day operations. On February 28, 2013, Medley Capital LLC entered into a Sub-Administration Agreement with State Street Bank Global Fund Accounting and Custody to perform certain financial, accounting, administrative and other services on behalf of the Company. On March 8, 2018, the Company's board of directors approved the renewal of the Administration Agreement for an additional one-year term at an in-person meeting. Medley Capital LLC is reimbursed for administrative expenses it incurs on the Company's behalf in performing its obligations. Such costs are reasonably allocated to the Company on the basis of assets, revenues, time records or other reasonable methods. The Company does not reimburse Medley Capital LLC for any services for which it receives a separate fee or for rent, depreciation, utilities, capital equipment or other administrative items allocated to a controlling person of Medley Capital LLC. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded administrator expenses of $527,752 and $2,009,465, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded administrator expenses of $745,817 and $2,333,968, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company had $527,753 and $695,777, respectively, in administrator fees payable.

Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement

From June 29, 2012 through December 31, 2016, the Company was party to an Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement with SIC Advisors (the “Expense Support Agreement”). During the term of the Expense Support Agreement, SIC Advisors reimbursed the Company for operating expenses in an amount equal to the difference between the Company’s distributions paid to its stockholders in each month, less the sum of the Company’s net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to the Company from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains, during such period (“Expense Support Reimbursement”). To the extent that no dividends or other distributions were paid to the Company’s stockholders in any given month, then the Expense Support Reimbursement for such month was equal to such amount necessary in order for available operating funds for the month to equal zero. From April 1, 2016 until the expiration of the Expense Support Agreement on December 31, 2016, SIC Advisors made expense support payments on a discretionary basis by making an election on the last day of each month to fund an expense support payment in an amount equal to the difference between the Company’s distributions paid to stockholders during such month less the sum of the Company’s net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends paid to the Company from its portfolio companies, not included in net income and net realized capital gains during such period.

The purpose of the Expense Support Agreement was to cover distributions to stockholders so as to ensure that the distributions did not constitute a return of capital for GAAP purposes and to reduce operating expenses until the Company had raised sufficient capital to be able to absorb such expenses. The Expense Support Agreement expired on December 31, 2016.

Pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement, the Company will reimburse SIC Advisors for expense support payments it previously made following any calendar quarter for which the Company received net investment income, net realized capital gains and dividends from its portfolio companies (not included in net income and net realized capital gains) in excess of the distributions paid to the Company’s stockholders during such calendar quarter (the “Excess Operating Funds”). Any such reimbursement will be made within three years of the date that the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors, subject to the conditions described below. The amount of the reimbursement during any calendar quarter will equal the lesser of (i) the Excess Operating Funds received during the quarter and (ii) the aggregate amount of all expense payments made by SIC Advisors that have not yet been reimbursed. In addition, the Company will only make reimbursement payments to the extent its current annualized “operating expense ratio” (as described in footnote 1 to the table below) is equal to or less than its operating expense ratio for the quarter during which the corresponding expense obligation was incurred and to the extent the annualized rate of its regular cash dividends to the Company’s stockholders for the month is equal to or greater than the annualized rate of the Company’s regular cash distributions to stockholders for the month during which the corresponding expense payment was incurred.

Repayments of amounts paid by SIC Advisors to the Company under the Expense Support Agreement will be accrued as they become probable and estimable. The Company refers to Expense Support Reimbursements that are eligible for reimbursement to SIC Advisors by virtue of having satisfied the conditions described above as a “Crystalized Reimbursement.” As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company recorded no Crystalized Reimbursements. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the total remaining amounts eligible for reimbursement of the Company to SIC Advisors, net of Crystalized Reimbursements, was $20,203,808 and $24,973,540, respectively.

The following table provides information regarding liabilities incurred by SIC Advisors pursuant to the Expense Support Agreement as well as other information relating to the Company’s ability to reimburse SIC Advisors for such payments:

Quarter Ended	Amount of Expense Payment Obligation	Amount Repaid to SIC Advisors	Operating Expense Ratio⁽¹⁾	Annualized Distribution Rate⁽²⁾	Eligible to be Repaid Through

September 30, 2016	5,389,627	—	0.45%	8.84%	September 30, 2019

- (1) “Operating Expense Ratio” is as of the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by the Company’s Advisor and includes all expenses borne by the Company, except for organizational and offering expenses, base management and incentive fees owed to SIC Advisors, and interest expense, as a percentage of net assets.
- (2) “Annualized Distribution Rate” equals the annualized rate of distributions paid to stockholders based on the amount of the regular cash distribution paid immediately prior to the date the expense support payment obligation was incurred by SIC Advisors. “Annualized Distribution Rate” does not include special cash or stock distributions paid to stockholders.
- (3) The unreimbursed part of the expense payment obligation has expired as of September 30, 2018.

Note 8. Related Party Transactions

On October 19, 2011, SIC Advisors entered into a subscription agreement to purchase 110.80 shares of common stock for cash consideration of $1,000. The consideration represents $9.025 per share.

On April 17, 2012, SIC Advisors purchased 1,108,033.24 shares of our common stock for aggregate gross proceeds of $10,000,000. The consideration represents $9.025 per share.

We have entered into an Investment Advisory Agreement with SIC Advisors in which our senior management holds an equity interest and were party to the Expense Support Agreement through December 31, 2016. Members of our senior management also serve as principals of other investment managers affiliated with SIC Advisors that do, and may in the future, manage investment funds, accounts or other investment vehicles with investment objectives similar to ours.

We have entered into an Administration Agreement with Medley Capital LLC, pursuant to which Medley Capital LLC furnishes us with administrative services necessary to conduct our day-to-day operations. Medley Capital LLC is reimbursed for administrative expenses it incurs on our behalf. We do not reimburse Medley Capital LLC for any services for which it receives a separate fee or for rent, depreciation, utilities, capital equipment or other administrative items allocated to a controlling person of Medley Capital LLC. Medley Capital LLC is an affiliate of SIC Advisors.

We have entered into a dealer manager agreement with SC Distributors, LLC who receives a dealer manager fee of up to 2.50% of gross proceeds raised in the offering. An affiliated entity of SC Distributors, LLC owns an equity interest in SIC Advisors, which provides the right to receive a fixed percentage of the management fees received by SIC Advisors.

On March 20, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors, and SC Distributors, LLC agreed to remove any dealer manager fee payable to SC Distributors, LLC by investors with respect to shares of common stock sold to investors under a placement agreement through a registered investment advisor. In connection with any such sales, SIC Advisors has agreed to pay SC Distributors, LLC a platform placement fee in an amount equal to 1.50% of the gross offering proceeds from such sales.

On June 15, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and SC Distributors LLC entered into the First Amendment to the Second Amended and Restated Dealer Manager Agreement (the "First Amendment"). The terms of the First Amendment became effective with respect to subscriptions of Class A shares submitted beginning on June 16, 2017. Pursuant to the First Amendment, the upfront selling commission was reduced from 7.00% of gross proceeds to up to 3.00% of gross proceeds and the dealer manager fee was reduced from 2.75% of gross proceeds to up to 2.50% of gross proceeds. Further, in connection with the sale of Class A shares by participating broker-dealers, SC Distributors LLC will reallow and pay participating broker-dealers up to: (a) 3.00% of the gross proceeds from their allocated sales of Class A shares; and (b) 2.50% of the gross proceeds for dealer manager fees of Class A shares. In addition, SIC Advisors will pay the SC Distributors LLC, without reimbursement from the Company, an ongoing distribution and stockholder servicing fee that accrues daily in an amount equal to 1/365th of up to 1.0% of the net asset value per Class A share as of the end of each quarterly period following the date of purchase on a continuous basis from year to year for certain services.

On July 2, 2018, the Sierra Board determined to terminate Sierra's offering effective as of July 31, 2018. As a result, the dealer manager agreement with SC Distributors, LLC, and any amendments thereto, has been terminated by its terms.

On August 9, 2018, the Company entered into the MCC Merger Agreement pursuant to which MCC will, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MCC Merger Agreement, merge with and into Sierra, with Sierra as the surviving company in the MCC Merger Agreement. Under the MCC Merger, each share of MCC's common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MCC Merger effective time, other than shares of MCC common stock held by MCC, the Company or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive 0.8050 shares of the Company's common stock. In addition, on August 9, 2018, the Company entered into the MDLY Merger Agreement, pursuant to which MDLY will on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MDLY Merger Agreement, merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company in the MDLY Merger Agreement. In the MDLY Merger, each share of MDLY Class A common stock, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MDLY Merger effective time, other than Dissenting Shares (as defined in the MDLY Merger Agreement) and shares of MDLY Class A common stock held by MDLY, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive (i) 0.3836 shares of the Company's common stock; plus (ii) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per share. In addition, MDLY's stockholders will have the right to receive certain dividends and/or other payments. The Mergers will occur simultaneously and, as a result of the foregoing, the investment management function relating to the operation of the Company, as the surviving company in the Mergers, will be internalized.

The Mergers are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of closing conditions, including, but not limited to: (a) the approval of the MCC Merger and the MDLY Merger by the Company's stockholders by the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all its stockholders, the approval of the adoption of the MCC Merger Agreement by MCC's stockholders, and the approval of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement by MDLY's stockholders, voting separately at their respective special meetings; (b) the receipt of an exemptive order from the SEC, an exemptive application for which has been filed by the Company, MCC and MDLY and certain of their subsidiaries; and (c) the approval by the SBA relating to the transfer of MCC's Small Business Investment Company license. No assurance can be given that such SEC exemptive order will be issued or SBA approval will be received or that any of the other closing conditions will be satisfied or waived.

We have entered into a license agreement with SIC Advisors under which SIC Advisors has agreed to grant us a non-exclusive, royalty-free license to use the name "Sierra" for specified purposes in our business. Under this agreement, we will have a right to use the "Sierra" name, subject to certain conditions, for so long as SIC Advisors or one of its affiliates remains our investment adviser. Other than with respect to this limited license, we will have no legal right to the "Sierra" name.

Opportunities for co-investments may arise when SIC Advisors or an affiliated adviser becomes aware of investment opportunities that may be appropriate for the Company and other clients or affiliated funds. On November 25, 2013, the Company obtained an exemptive order from the SEC that permits us to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates, each of whose investment adviser is Medley, LLC or an investment adviser controlled by Medley, LLC in a manner consistent with our investment objective, strategies and restrictions, as well as regulatory requirements and other pertinent factors (the "Prior Exemptive Order"). On March 29, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the "Exemptive Order") that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise have been prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) and Rule 17d-1. On October 4, 2017, the Company, SIC Advisors and certain of our affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the "New Exemptive Order") and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the 1940 Act. The terms of the New Exemptive Order are otherwise substantially similar to the Exemptive Order. Co-investment under the New Exemptive Order is subject to certain conditions, including the condition that, in the case of each co-investment transaction, our board of directors determines that it would be in our best interest to participate in the transaction. However, neither we nor the affiliated funds are obligated to invest or co-invest when investment opportunities are referred to us or them. Please see the footnotes to the Consolidated Schedule of Investments as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 for disclosures regarding securities also held by affiliated funds.

Note 9. Directors Fees

Effective January 1, 2017, each independent director will be compensated as follows: (i) an annual retainer of $85,000; (ii) a fee of $3,000 for each in-person board meeting in which they participate; (iii) a fee of $1,000 for each telephonic board meeting in which they participate; (iv) a fee of $2,500 for each in-person audit committee meeting in which they participate; (v) a fee $1,000 for each telephonic audit committee meeting in which they participate; (vi) a fee of $2,000 for each in-person nominating and corporate governance committee meeting in which they participate; and (vii) a fee of $1,000 for each telephonic nominating and corporate governance committee meeting in which they participate. In addition, each independent director will be reimbursed for reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board or committee meeting. In addition, the Chair of the audit committee receives an annual retainer of $15,000, while the Chair of any other committee receives an annual retainer of $5,000. The Lead Independent Director receives an annual retainer of $10,000. Prior to January 1, 2017, each independent director received an annual retainer fee of $50,000, and further received a fee of $4,000 ($2,000 for telephonic attendance) for each regularly scheduled board meeting attended, a fee of $2,000 for each special board meeting and all committee meetings attended, as well as reimbursement of reasonable and documented out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board or committee meeting.

In addition, the Board established a special committee comprised solely of its independent directors (the "Sierra Special Committee"), for the purpose of assessing the merits of various business proposals. On January 26, 2018, the Board approved (i) a monthly fee of $15,000 payable to the Chairman of the Sierra Special Committee, (ii) a monthly fee of $10,000 payable to each of the other members of the Sierra Special Committee, and (iii) reimbursement for all out-of-pocket expenses incurred by the members of the Sierra Special Committee in connection with his services as a member of the Special Committee consistent with the Company's policies for reimbursement of members of the Board. On July 2, 2018, the Board approved an increase in the monthly fee payable to the members of the Sierra Special Committee. Effective July 1, 2018, the monthly fee payable to the Chairman of the Sierra Special Committee was increased to $20,000 and a monthly fee payable to each of the other members of the Sierra Special Committee was increased to $15,000.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded directors' fees expenses in General and Administrative expenses on the consolidated statement of operations of $258,750 and $719,169, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded directors' fees expenses in General and Administrative expenses on the consolidated statement of operations of $89,750 and $299,750, respectively.

Note 10. Earnings Per Share

In accordance with the provisions of ASC Topic 260 - Earnings per Share, basic earnings per share is computed by dividing earnings available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period. Other potentially dilutive common shares, and the related impact to earnings, are considered when calculating earnings per share on a diluted basis.

The following table sets forth the computation of the weighted average basic and diluted net increase in net assets per share from operations for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017:

	For the Three Months Ended September 30,		For the Nine Months Ended September 30,
	2018	2017	2018	2017
Net increase/(decrease) in net assets from operations	$ (5,706,104)	$ 3,388,374	$ (12,046,454)	$ 19,984,135

Note 11. Commitments

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company had $66,511,306 and $74,816,115, respectively, of unfunded commitments under loan and financing agreements. These amounts are primarily composed of commitments for senior secured term loans, revolvers, and additional capital contributions for the Sierra JV. The unrealized gain or loss associated with unfunded commitments is recorded in the financial statements and reflected as an adjustment to the valuation of the related security in the Consolidated Schedule of Investments. The par amount of the unfunded commitments are not recognized by the Company until the commitment is funded.

Note 12. Fee Income

Fee income consists of origination fees, amendment fees, prepayment fees, administrative agent fees and other miscellaneous fees. Origination fees, prepayment fees, amendment fees, and other similar fees are non-recurring fee sources. Such fees are received on a transaction by transaction basis and do not constitute a regular stream of income. The following table shows the Company's fee income for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017:

	For the Three Months Ended September 30,		For the Nine Months Ended September 30,

Note 13. Distributions and Share Repurchase Program Distributions

Distributions to common stockholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. The amount to be paid out as a distribution is determined by the Company's board of directors.

The Company has adopted an "opt in" distribution reinvestment plan ("DRIP") pursuant to which the Company's common stockholders may elect to have the full amount of any cash distributions reinvested in additional shares of the Company's common stock. On June 30, 2017, the Board approved an amendment to the DRIP, pursuant to which the number of newly-issued shares of the Company's common stock to be issued to a participating stockholder shall be determined by dividing the total dollar amount of the distribution payable to such stockholder by a price equal to 94.5%, rather than 90%, of the Company's then current offering price. The Company amended the DRIP as a result of the Company's revised fee structure, which went into effect on June 16, 2017. Under the Company's revised fee structure the upfront selling commission was reduced from 7.00% of gross proceeds to up to 3.00% of gross proceeds and the dealer manager fee was reduced from 2.75% of gross proceeds to up to 2.50% of gross proceeds. If the Company declares a cash dividend or other distribution, each stockholder that has "opted in" to the DRIP will have their distributions automatically reinvested in additional shares of the Company's common stock rather than receiving cash distributions. Stockholders who receive distributions in the form of shares of common stock will be subject to the same federal, state and local tax consequences as if they received cash distributions. For the nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company distributed a total of $46,592,535, of which $27,043,560 was in cash and $19,548,975 was in the form of common stock associated with the DRIP. For the nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company distributed a total of $46,082,836, of which $25,118,175, was in cash and $20,964,661 was in the form of common stock associated with the DRIP.

The following table reflects the cash distributions per share that the Company has declared or paid to its stockholders during 2018 and 2017. Stockholders of record as of each respective semi-monthly record date were entitled to receive the distribution.

The Company's distributions may be funded from offering proceeds or borrowings, which may constitute a return of capital and reduce the amount of capital available to the Company for investment. Any capital returned to stockholders through distributions will be distributed after payment of fees and expenses.

The Company's previous distributions to stockholders may have been funded from temporary Expense Support Reimbursements that may be subject to repayment to SIC Advisors. The portion of these distributions derived from temporary Expense Support Reimbursements were not based on the Company's investment performance and may not continue in the future. If SIC Advisors had not agreed to make Expense Support Reimbursements, these distributions would have come from paid-in-capital. The repayments of eligible reimbursements owed to SIC Advisors will reduce the future distributions to which stockholders would otherwise be entitled. The Expense Support Agreement expired on December 31, 2016. The Company's contingent obligation to repay eligible reimbursements to SIC Advisors will expire on September 30, 2019. See Note 7 for more information.

The determination of the tax attributes (i.e., paid from ordinary income, paid from net capital gains on the sale of securities, and/or a return of paid-in-capital surplus which is a nontaxable distribution) of distributions is made annually as of the end of the Company's fiscal year based upon its taxable income earned and distributions paid during the fiscal year.

Share Repurchase Program

In June 2013, the Company commenced a share repurchase program pursuant to which it intends to conduct quarterly share repurchases of up to 2.5% of the weighted average number of outstanding shares of its common stock in the prior four calendar quarters or 10% of the weighted average number of outstanding shares in the prior 12-month period. In connection with the Mergers, the Company suspended the Share Repurchase Program. The purpose of the share repurchase program is to allow stockholders to sell their shares back to the Company at a price equal to the most recently disclosed NAV per share of the Company's common stock immediately prior to the date of repurchase. Shares will be purchased from stockholders participating in the program on a pro rata basis. Unless the Company's board of directors determines otherwise, the number of shares to be repurchased during any calendar year will be limited to the proceeds received in association with the sale of shares of common stock under the distribution reinvestment plan.

The following table reflects activity under the Company's Share Repurchase Program:

In the event of the death or disability of a stockholder, the Company will repurchase the shares held by such stockholder at a price equal to the NAV per share of our shares as disclosed in the periodic report the Company files with the SEC immediately following the date of the death or disability of such stockholder. The Company's board of directors has the right to suspend or terminate repurchases due to death or disability to the extent that it determines that it is in the Company's best interest to do so. In connection with the Mergers, the Company suspended repurchases due to death or disability. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company repurchased 168,845 and 263,737 shares, respectively, of certain shareholders due to death or disability. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company repurchased 64,880 and 100,213 shares, respectively, of certain shareholders due to death or disability.

(1) The per share data was derived by using the weighted average shares outstanding during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, which were 97,142,433 and 96,078,793 respectively.

(2) The per share data for distributions is the actual amount of paid distributions per share during the period.

(3) Shares issued under the DRIP (see Note 13) as well as the continuous issuance of common shares may cause an incremental increase/decrease in NAV per share due to the effect of issuing shares at amounts that differ from the prevailing NAV at each issuance.

(4) Total annual returns are historical and assume reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the Company's DRIP, and no sales charge.

(5) Not annualized.

(6) Asset coverage per unit is the ratio of the carrying value of the Company's total consolidated assets for regulatory purposes, which includes the underlying fair value of net TRS, less all liabilities and indebtedness not represented by senior securities to the aggregate amount of Senior Securities representing indebtedness and the implied leverage on the TRS. Asset coverage per unit is expressed in terms of dollars per $1,000 of indebtedness. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Company's Asset Coverage Per Unit including unfunded commitments was $2,119 and $2,153, respectively.

(7) Represents the impact of non-recurring fees over total investment income.

(8) The ratio of interest and financing related expenses to average net assets for the nine months ended September 30, 2017 have been revised to include financing costs. The ratio was previously reported as 2.11%.

Note 15. Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated subsequent events through the date of issuance of the consolidated financial statements included herein. There have been no subsequent events that occurred during such period that would require disclosure in this Form 10-Q or would be required to be recognized in the consolidated financial statements as of and for the nine months ended September 30, 2018, except as disclosed below.

On October 17, 2018, the Company's board of directors declared a series of semi-monthly distributions for October, November and December 2018 in the amount of $0.02667 per share. Stockholders of record as of each respective semi-monthly record date will be entitled to receive the distribution. Below are the details for each respective distribution:

Record Date	Payment Date	Amount per share
October 15 and 31, 2018	October 31, 2018	$ 0.02667
November 15 and 30, 2018	November 30, 2018	0.02667
December 14 and 31, 2018	December 31, 2018	0.02667

In connection with the Mergers, on November 6, 2018, the Board approved a distribution guidance framework that set forth a target distribution rate for the Company if the Mergers are successfully consummated. In that regard, the Board determined that for each of the twelve months following the consummation of the Mergers, and subject to legally available funds, the Company will pay monthly cash distributions to the holders of the Company's common stock equal to 5.500 cents per share, which is an increase from the monthly distribution of 5.333 cents per share currently paid by the Company.

In addition, in connection with the Mergers, the Company intends to amend the DRIP (the "Amended DRIP") to, among other things, modify the terms pursuant to which shares are issued under the DRIP. Under the Amended DRIP, if the Company's common stock is trading at or above NAV the number of shares of Company's common stock to be issued to a stockholder will be determined by dividing the total dollar amount of the distribution payable to such stockholder by the greater of (i) NAV per share, and (ii) 95% of the market price per share of the Company's common stock at the close of regular trading on the NYSE on the payment date fixed by the Board for such distribution. The market price per share on that date shall be the closing price for such shares on the NYSE or, if no sale is reported for such day, at the average of their electronically-reported bid and asked prices. If, on the other hand, the Company's common stock is trading below NAV, the plan administrator may be instructed not to credit accounts with newly-issued shares and instead to buy shares in the market (in which case there would be no discount available to stockholders) if (1) the price at which newly-issued shares are to be credited does not exceed 110% of the last determined NAV per share; or (2) the Company advises the plan administrator that since such NAV was last determined, the Company has become aware of events that indicate the possibility of a material change in per share NAV as a result of which the NAV of the shares on the payment date might be higher than the price at which the plan administrator would credit newly-issued shares to stockholders.

In connection with the Mergers, on November 6, 2018, the Board approved a share repurchase program pursuant to which the Company could purchase up to an aggregate amount of $100.0 million of the Company's common stock between the period of the effective date of the Mergers and the one-year anniversary of such date. This share repurchase program may be limited or terminated at any time without prior notice. Even if the Mergers are consummated, there can be no assurance that the Company will conduct any repurchases of the Company's common stock.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated statements of assets and liabilities of Medley Capital Corporation (the Company), including the consolidated schedules of investments, as of September 30, 2018 and 2017, the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in net assets, and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended September 30, 2018, and the related notes (collectively referred to as the “consolidated financial statements”). In our opinion, the consolidated financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company at September 30, 2018 and 2017, and the results of its operations, changes in its net assets, and its cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended September 30, 2018 in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles.

We also have audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the Company’s internal control over financial reporting as of September 30, 2018, based on criteria established in Internal Control-Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (2013 framework) and our report dated December 4, 2018 expressed an unqualified opinion thereon.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company’s management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company’s financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our procedures included confirmation of investments owned as of September 30, 2018 and 2017, by correspondence with the custodian, directly with designees of the portfolio companies, debt agents and brokers, as applicable, or by other appropriate auditing procedures where replies were not received. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Board of Directors and Shareholders of Medley Capital Corporation

Opinion on Internal Control over Financial Reporting

We have audited Medley Capital Corporation's internal control over financial reporting as of September 30, 2018, based on criteria established in Internal Control-Integrated Framework issued by the Committee of Sponsoring Organizations of the Treadway Commission (2013 framework) (the COSO criteria). In our opinion, Medley Capital Corporation (the Company) maintained, in all material respects, effective internal control over financial reporting as of September 30, 2018, based on the COSO criteria.

We also have audited, in accordance with the standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB), the consolidated statements of assets and liabilities of the Company, including the consolidated schedule of investments as of September 30, 2018 and 2017, the related consolidated statements of operations, changes in net assets and cash flows, for each of the three years in the period ended September 30, 2018, and the related notes and our report dated December 4, 2018 expressed an unqualified opinion thereon.

Basis for Opinion

The Company's management is responsible for maintaining effective internal control over financial reporting and for its assessment of the effectiveness of internal control over financial reporting included in the accompanying Item 9A of Form 10-K, Management's Report on Internal Control over Financial Reporting. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's internal control over financial reporting based on our audit. We are a public accounting firm registered with the PCAOB and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with the U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audit in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether effective internal control over financial reporting was maintained in all material respects.

Our audit included obtaining an understanding of internal control over financial reporting, assessing the risk that a material weakness exists, testing and evaluating the design and operating effectiveness of internal control based on the assessed risk, and performing such other procedures as we considered necessary in the circumstances. We believe that our audit provides a reasonable basis for our opinion.

Definition and Limitations of Internal Control Over Financial Reporting

A company's internal control over financial reporting is a process designed to provide reasonable assurance regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. A company's internal control over financial reporting includes those policies and procedures that (1) pertain to the maintenance of records that, in reasonable detail, accurately and fairly reflect the transactions and dispositions of the assets of the company; (2) provide reasonable assurance that transactions are recorded as necessary to permit preparation of financial statements in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, and that receipts and expenditures of the company are being made only in accordance with authorizations of management and directors of the company; and (3) provide reasonable assurance regarding prevention or timely detection of unauthorized acquisition, use, or disposition of the company's assets that could have a material effect on the financial statements.

Because of its inherent limitations, internal control over financial reporting may not prevent or detect misstatements. Also, projections of any evaluation of effectiveness to future periods are subject to the risk that controls may become inadequate because of changes in conditions, or that the degree of compliance with the policies or procedures may deteriorate.

MEDLEY CAPITAL CORPORATION
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements
September 30, 2018

Note 1. Organization

Medley Capital Corporation (the “Company,” “we” and “us”) is a non-diversified closed end management investment company incorporated in Delaware that has elected to be regulated as a business development company (“BDC”) under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “1940 Act”). We completed our initial public offering (“IPO”) and commenced operations on January 20, 2011. The Company has elected, and intends to qualify annually, to be treated, for U.S. federal income tax purposes, as a regulated investment company (“RIC”) under Subchapter M of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the “Code”). We are externally managed and advised by MCC Advisors LLC (“MCC Advisors”), a registered investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (the “Advisers Act”), pursuant to an investment management agreement. MCC Advisors is a majority owned subsidiary of Medley LLC, which is controlled by Medley Management Inc. (NYSE: MDLY), a publicly traded asset management firm, which in turn is controlled by Medley Group LLC, an entity wholly-owned by the senior professionals of Medley LLC. We use the term “Medley” to refer collectively to the activities and operations of Medley Capital LLC, Medley LLC, Medley Management Inc., Medley Group LLC, MCC Advisors, associated investment funds and their respective affiliates.

Medley Capital BDC LLC (the “LLC”), a Delaware limited liability company, was formed on April 23, 2010. On January 18, 2011, the LLC, in accordance with Delaware law, converted into Medley Capital Corporation, a Delaware corporation, and on January 20, 2011, the Company filed an election to be regulated as a BDC under the 1940 Act.

On January 20, 2011, the Company consummated its IPO, sold 11,111,112 shares of common stock at $12.00 per share and commenced its operations and investment activities. On February 24, 2011, an additional 450,000 shares of common stock were issued at a price of $12.00 per share pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ option to purchase additional shares. Net of underwriting fees and offering costs, the Company received total cash proceeds of approximately $129.6 million.

On January 20, 2011, the Company’s shares began trading on the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) under the symbol “MCC”.

Prior to the consummation of our IPO, Medley Opportunity Fund LP (“MOF LP”), a Delaware limited partnership, and Medley Opportunity Fund, Ltd. (“MOF LTD”), a Cayman Islands exempted limited liability company, which are managed by an affiliate of MCC Advisors, transferred all of their respective interests in six loan participations in secured loans to middle market companies with a combined fair value, plus payment-in-kind interest and accrued interest thereon, of approximately $84.95 million (the “Loan Assets”) to MOF I BDC LLC (“MOF I BDC”), a Delaware limited liability company, in exchange for membership interests in MOF I BDC. As a result, MOF LTD owned approximately 90% of the outstanding MOF I BDC membership interests and MOF LP owned approximately 10% of the outstanding MOF I BDC membership interests.

On January 18, 2011, each of MOF LTD and MOF LP contributed their respective MOF I BDC membership interests to the LLC in exchange for LLC membership interests. As a result, MOF I BDC became a wholly-owned subsidiary of the LLC. As a result of the LLC’s conversion noted above, MOF LTD and MOF LP’s LLC membership interests were exchanged for 5,759,356 shares of the Company’s common stock at $14.75 per share. On February 23, 2012, MOF LTD and MOF LP collectively sold 4,406,301 shares of common stock in an underwritten public offering. See Note 7 for further information.

On March 26, 2013, our wholly-owned subsidiary, Medley SBIC LP (“SBIC LP”), a Delaware limited partnership which we own directly and through our wholly-owned subsidiary, Medley SBIC GP LLC, received a license from the Small Business Administration (“SBA”) to operate as a Small Business Investment Company (“SBIC”) under Section 301(c) of the Small Business Investment Company Act of 1958, as amended.

The Company has formed and expects to continue to form certain taxable subsidiaries (the “Taxable Subsidiaries”), which are taxed as corporations for federal income tax purposes. These Taxable Subsidiaries allow us to hold equity securities of portfolio companies organized as pass-through entities while continuing to satisfy the requirements of a RIC under the Code.

The Company’s investment objective is to generate current income and capital appreciation by lending to privately-held middle market companies, primarily through directly originated transactions, to help these companies fund acquisitions, growth or refinancing. The portfolio generally consists of senior secured first lien term loans and senior secured second lien term loans. Occasionally, we will receive warrants or other equity participation features which we believe will have the potential to increase the total investment returns.

On January 26, 2018, the Company priced a debt offering in Israel of $121.3 million Series A Notes (the “2024 Notes”). The 2024 Notes will mature on February 27, 2024 and the principal will be payable in four annual installments, of which 25% will be payable on each February 27 for the years 2021 through 2024. The 2024 Notes are listed on the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange (“TASE”) and denominated in New Israeli Shekels, but linked to the US Dollar at a fixed exchange rate which mitigates any currency exposure to the Company. The 2024 Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration under the Securities Act or in transactions exempt from, or not subject to, such registration requirements. In connection with this offering, we have dual listed our common stock on TASE.

Agreements and Plans of Mergers

On August 9, 2018, the Company entered into a definitive agreement to merge with Sierra Income Corporation (“Sierra”). Pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 9, 2018, by and between the Company and Sierra (the “MCC Merger Agreement”), the Company will merge with and into Sierra, with Sierra as the surviving entity (the “Combined Company”) in the merger (the “MCC Merger”). Under the MCC Merger, each share of our common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MCC Merger effective time, other than shares of our common stock held by the Company, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive 0.8050 shares of the Sierra’s common stock. Simultaneously, pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “MDLY Merger Agreement”), dated as of August 9, 2018, by and among MDLY, Sierra, and Sierra Management, Inc., a newly formed Delaware corporation and a wholly owned subsidiary of Sierra (“Merger Sub”), MDLY will merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company in the Merger (the “MDLY Merger” together with the MCC Merger, the “Mergers”), and MDLY’s existing asset management business will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company. In the MDLY Merger, each share of MDLY Class A common stock, issued and outstanding immediately prior to the MDLY Merger effective time, other than Dissenting Shares (as defined in the MDLY Merger Agreement) and shares of MDLY Class A common stock held by MDLY, Sierra or their respective wholly owned subsidiaries, will be converted into the right to receive (i) 0.3836 shares of Sierra’s common stock; plus (ii) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per share. In addition, MDLY’s stockholders will have the right to receive certain dividends and/or other payments. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, Sierra’s common stock will be listed on the NYSE under the symbol “SRA” and the TASE, with such listings expected to be effective as of the closing date of the Mergers. Upon completion of the Mergers, the investment portfolios of the Company and Sierra would be combined, Merger Sub, as a successor to MDLY, would be a wholly owned subsidiary of the Combined Company, and the Combined Company would be internally managed by its wholly controlled adviser subsidiary.

The Mergers are subject to the satisfaction or waiver of closing conditions, including, but not limited to: (a) the approval of the MCC Merger and the MDLY Merger by the Sierra’s stockholders by the affirmative vote of at least a majority of all its stockholders, the approval of the adoption of the MCC Merger Agreement by our stockholders, and the approval of the adoption of the MDLY Merger Agreement by MDLY’s stockholders, voting separately at their respective special meetings; (b) the receipt of an exemptive order from the SEC, an exemptive application for which has been filed by Sierra, the Company and MDLY and certain of their subsidiaries; and (c) the approval by the SBA relating to the transfer of MCC’s SBIC license. No assurance can be given that such SEC exemptive order will be issued or SBA approval will be received or that any of the other closing conditions will be satisfied or waived.

Note 2. Significant Accounting Policies

Basis of Presentation

The Company follows the accounting and reporting guidance in the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) Accounting Standards Codification 946 (“ASC 946”). The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) and include the consolidated accounts of the Company and its wholly-owned subsidiary SBIC LP and its wholly-owned Taxable Subsidiaries. All references made to the “Company,” “we,” and “us” herein include Medley Capital Corporation and its consolidated subsidiaries, except as stated otherwise. Additionally, the accompanying consolidated financial statements of the Company and related financial information have been prepared pursuant to the requirements for reporting on Form 10-K and Article 10 of Regulation S-X of the Securities Act of 1933. In the opinion of management, the consolidated financial statements reflect all adjustments and reclassifications, which are of a normal recurring nature, that are necessary for the fair presentation of financial results as of and for the periods presented. All intercompany balances and transactions have been eliminated.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

The Company considers cash equivalents to be highly liquid investments with original maturities of three months or less. Cash and cash equivalents include deposits in a money market account. The Company deposits its cash in financial institutions and, at times, such balances may be in excess of the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insurance limits.

Use of Estimates in the Preparation of Financial Statements

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities, and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the consolidated financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

Deferred Offering Costs

Deferred offering costs consist of fees and expenses incurred in connection with the public offering and sale of the Company’s common stock, including legal, accounting, printing fees and other related expenses, as well as costs incurred in connection with the filing of a shelf registration statement. These amounts are capitalized when incurred and recognized as a reduction of offering proceeds when the offering becomes effective or expensed upon expiration of the registration statement.

Debt Issuance Costs

Debt issuance costs, incurred in connection with our credit facilities, unsecured notes and SBA Debentures (see Note 5) are deferred and amortized over the life of the respective facility or instrument.

Indemnification

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contractual agreements that provide general indemnifications against losses, costs, claims and liabilities arising from the performance of individual obligations under such agreements. The Company has had no material claims or payments pursuant to such agreements. The Company's individual maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, based on management's experience, the Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Revenue Recognition

Interest income, adjusted for amortization of premiums and accretion of discounts, is recorded on an accrual basis. Dividend income, which represents dividends from equity investments and distributions from Taxable Subsidiaries, is recorded on the ex-dividend date and when the distribution is received, respectively.

The Company holds debt investments in its portfolio that contain a payment-in-kind ("PIK") interest provision. PIK interest, which represents contractually deferred interest added to the investment balance that is generally due at maturity, is recorded on the accrual basis to the extent such amounts are expected to be collected. PIK interest is not accrued if the Company does not expect the issuer to be able to pay all principal and interest when due. For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017, and 2016, the Company earned approximately $10.8 million, $15.8 million, and $12.5 million in PIK interest, respectively.

Origination/closing, amendment and transaction break-up fees associated with investments in portfolio companies are recognized as income when we become entitled to such fees. Prepayment penalties received by the Company for debt instruments paid back to the Company prior to the maturity date are recorded as income upon repayment of debt. Administrative agent fees received by the Company are capitalized as deferred revenue and recorded as fee income when the services are rendered. Fee income for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017, and 2016 was approximately $4.5 million, $6.6 million, and $7.5 million, respectively (see Note 9).

Investment transactions are accounted for on a trade date basis. Realized gains or losses on investments are measured by the difference between the net proceeds from the disposition and the amortized cost basis of investment, without regard to unrealized gains or losses previously recognized. During the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017, and 2016, $73.0 million, $42.9 million, and $15.7 million, respectively, of our realized losses were related to certain non-cash restructuring transactions, which is included in the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a component of net realized gain/(loss) from investments. The Company reports changes in fair value of investments as a component of the net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Management reviews all loans that become 90 days or more past due on principal or interest or when there is reasonable doubt that principal or interest will be collected for possible placement on management's designation of non-accrual status. Interest receivable is analyzed regularly and may be reserved against when deemed uncollectible. Interest payments received on non-accrual loans may be recognized as income or applied to principal depending upon management's judgment regarding collectability. Non-accrual loans are restored to accrual status when past due principal and interest is paid and, in management's judgment, are likely to remain current, although we may make exceptions to this general rule if the loan has sufficient collateral value and is in the process of collection. At September 30, 2018, certain investments in nine portfolio companies held by the Company were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $48.1 million, or 7.3% of the fair value of our portfolio. At September 30, 2017, certain investments in six portfolio companies held by the Company were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $72.5 million, or 8.7% of the fair value of our portfolio. At September 30, 2016, certain investments in nine portfolio companies held by the Company were on non-accrual status with a combined fair value of approximately $55.9 million, or 6.1% of the fair value of our portfolio.

Investment Classification

The Company classifies its investments in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act. Under the 1940 Act, we would be deemed to "control" a portfolio company if we owned more than 25% of its outstanding voting securities and/or had the power to exercise control over the management or policies of such portfolio company. We refer to such investments in portfolio companies that we "control" as "Control Investments." Under the 1940 Act, we would be deemed to be an "Affiliated Person" of a portfolio company if we own between 5% and 25% of the portfolio company's outstanding voting securities or we are under common control with such portfolio company. We refer to such investments in Affiliated Persons as "Affiliated Investments."

Valuation of Investments

The Company applies fair value accounting to all of its financial instruments in accordance with the 1940 Act and ASC Topic 820 - Fair Value Measurements and Disclosures ("ASC 820"). ASC 820 defines fair value, establishes a framework used to measure fair value and requires disclosures for fair value measurements. In accordance with ASC 820, the Company has categorized its financial instruments carried at fair value, based on the priority of the valuation technique, into a three-level fair value hierarchy as discussed in Note 4. Fair value is a market-based measure considered from the perspective of the market participant who holds the financial instrument rather than an entity specific measure. Therefore, when market assumptions are not readily available, the Company's own assumptions are set to reflect those that management believes market participants would use in pricing the financial instrument at the measurement date.

Investments for which market quotations are readily available are valued at such market quotations, which are generally obtained from an independent pricing service or multiple broker-dealers or market makers. We weight the use of third-party broker quotations, if any, in determining fair value based on our understanding of the level of actual transactions used by the broker to develop the quote and whether the quote was an indicative price or binding offer. However, debt investments with remaining maturities within 60 days that are not credit impaired are valued at cost plus accreted discount, or minus amortized premium, which approximates fair value. Investments for which market quotations are not readily available are valued at fair value as determined by the Company's board of directors based upon input from management and third party valuation firms. Because these investments are illiquid and because there may not be any directly comparable companies whose financial instruments have observable market values, these loans are valued using a fundamental valuation methodology, consistent with traditional asset pricing standards, that is objective and consistently applied across all loans and through time.

Investments in investment funds are valued at fair value. Fair values are generally determined utilizing the net asset value ("NAV") supplied by, or on behalf of, management of each investment fund, which is net of management and incentive fees or allocations charged by the investment fund and is in accordance with the "practical expedient", as defined by FASB Accounting Standards Update ("ASU") 2009-12, Investments in Certain Entities that Calculate Net Asset Value per Share. NAVs received by, or on behalf of, management of each investment fund are based on the fair value of the investment funds' underlying investments in accordance with policies established by management of each investment fund, as described in each of their financial statements and offering memorandum.

The methodologies utilized by the Company in estimating the fair value of its investments categorized as Level 3 generally fall into the following two categories:

- The "Market Approach" uses prices and other relevant information generated by market transactions involving identical or comparable (that is, similar) assets, liabilities, or a group of assets and liabilities, such as a business.
- The "Income Approach" converts future amounts (for example, cash flows or income and expenses) to a single current (that is, discounted) amount. When the Income Approach is used, the fair value measurement reflects current market expectations about those future amounts.

The Company uses third-party valuation firms to assist the board of directors in the valuation of its portfolio investments. The valuation reports generated by the third-party valuation firms consider the evaluation of financing and sale transactions with third parties, expected cash flows and market based information, including comparable transactions, performance multiples, and movement in yields of debt instruments, among other factors. The Company uses a market yield analysis under the Income Approach or an enterprise model of valuation under the Market Approach, or a combination thereof. In applying the market yield analysis, the value of the Company's loans is determined based upon inputs such as the coupon rate, current market yield, interest rate spreads of similar securities, the stated value of the loan, and the length to maturity. In applying the enterprise model, the Company uses a waterfall analysis, which takes into account the specific capital structure of the borrower and the related seniority of the instruments within the borrower's capital structure into consideration. To estimate the enterprise value of the portfolio company, we weigh some or all of the traditional market valuation methods and factors based on the individual circumstances of the portfolio company in order to estimate the enterprise value.

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Market Approach for performing investments include, among other things:

- valuations of comparable public companies ("Guideline Comparable Approach");
- recent sales of private and public comparable companies ("Guideline Comparable Approach");
- recent acquisition prices of the company, debt securities or equity securities ("Recent Arms-Length Transaction");
- external valuations of the portfolio company, offers from third parties to buy the company ("Estimated Sales Proceeds Approach");
- subsequent sales made by the company of its investments ("Expected Sales Proceeds Approach"); and
- estimating the value to potential buyers.

The methodologies and information that the Company utilizes when applying the Income Approach for performing investments include:

- discounting the forecasted cash flows of the portfolio company or securities (Discounted Cash Flow ("DCF") Approach); and
- Black-Scholes model or simulation models or a combination thereof (Income Approach - Option Model) with respect to the valuation of warrants.

For non-performing investments, we may estimate the liquidation or collateral value of the portfolio company's assets and liabilities using an expected recovery model (Market Approach - Expected Recovery Analysis or Estimated Liquidation Proceeds).

We undertake a multi-step valuation process each quarter when valuing investments for which market quotations are not readily available, as described below:

- our quarterly valuation process begins with each portfolio investment being internally valued by the valuation professionals;
- preliminary valuation conclusions are then documented and discussed with senior management; and
- an independent valuation firm engaged by our board of directors reviews approximately one third of these preliminary valuations each quarter on a rotating quarterly basis on non-fiscal year-end quarters, such that each of these investments will be valued by independent valuation firms at least twice per annum when combined with the fiscal year-end review of all the investments by independent valuation firms.

In addition, all of our investments are subject to the following valuation process:

- the audit committee of our board of directors reviews the preliminary valuations of the investment professionals, senior management and independent valuation firms; and
- our board of directors discusses valuations and determines the fair value of each investment in our portfolio in good faith based on the input of MCC Advisors, the respective independent valuation firms and the audit committee.

Due to the inherent uncertainty of determining the fair value of investments that do not have a readily available market value, the fair value of our investments may differ from the values that would have been used had a readily available market value existed for such investments, and the differences could be material.

Fair Value of Financial Instruments

The carrying amounts of certain of our financial instruments, including cash and cash equivalents, accounts payable and accrued expenses, approximate fair value due to their short-term nature. The carrying amounts and fair values of our long-term obligations are discussed in Note 5.

Recent Accounting Pronouncements

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), which provides that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for such goods or services. To achieve this core principle, an entity should apply the following steps: (1) identify the contracts with a customer, (2) identify the performance obligations in the contracts, (3) determine the transaction prices, (4) allocate the transaction prices to the performance obligations in the contracts, and (5) recognize revenue when, or as, the entity satisfies a performance obligation. The guidance also requires advanced disclosures regarding the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from an entity's contracts with customers. In March 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-08, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606): Principal versus Agent Considerations (Reporting Revenue Gross versus Net), which clarified the implementation guidance on principal versus agent considerations. In April 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-10, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606): Identifying Performance Obligations and Licensing, which clarified the implementation guidance regarding performance obligations and licensing arrangements. The new standard became effective for the Company on October 1, 2018. During implementation, the Company determined that the Company's significant revenue sources associated with financial instruments, including loans and notes that are accounted for under other U.S. GAAP, are considered not in the scope of ASU 2014-09. As a result, the new guidance will not have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements. The Company identified no changes to the recognition, timing or classification of revenues most closely associated with financial instruments, including interest and dividend income, realized gains and losses, up-front fees, interest and dividend income. The Company will elect to adopt the new guidance using the modified retrospective approach as of the date of initial application on October 1, 2018. At this time, electing the modified retrospective approach would result in no cumulative effect adjustment to the opening balance of net assets at the date of initial application.

In August 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-15, Statement of Cash Flows: Classification of Certain Cash Receipts and Cash Payments (a consensus of the Emerging Issues Task Force), or ASU 2016-15, which intends to reduce diversity in practice in how certain cash receipts and payments are classified in the statement of cash flows, including debt prepayment or extinguishment costs, the settlement of contingent liabilities arising from a business combination, proceeds from insurance settlements and distributions from certain equity method investments. ASU 2016-15 is effective for interim and annual periods beginning after December 15, 2017. The Company plans to adopt this guidance in the first quarter of fiscal year 2019. The adoption of this guidance may impact the presentation of cash flows, but will not otherwise have a material impact on the Company's consolidated balance sheets or statements of operations.

In March 2017, the FASB issued ASU 2017-08, Receivables - Nonrefundable Fees and Other Costs (“ASU 2017-08”). The amendments in ASU 2017-08 require premiums on purchased callable debt securities to be amortized to the security’s earliest call date. Prior to this ASU, premiums and discounts on purchased callable debt securities were generally required to be amortized to the security’s maturity date. The amendments in ASU 2017-08 do not require any changes to treatment of securities held at a discount. ASU 2017-08 is effective on October 1, 2019, with early adoption permitted. Although the company is still evaluating the effect of ASU 2017-08, it does not expect the amendments to have a material impact on its consolidated financial statements.

In August 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-13, Fair Value Measurement (Topic 820) - Disclosure Framework - Changes to the Disclosure Requirements for Fair Value Measurement. ASU 2018-13 eliminates, adds and modifies certain disclosure requirements for fair value measurements. This guidance is effective for the Company on January 1, 2020 and early adoption is permitted. The Company is currently assessing the potential impact of this guidance to the fair value disclosures.

In October 2018, the SEC adopted amendments (the “Amendments”) to certain disclosure requirements that have become redundant, duplicative, overlapping, outdated, or superseded, in light of other SEC disclosure requirements, U.S. GAAP requirements, or changes in the information environment. In part, the Amendments require an investment company to present distributable earnings in total, rather than showing the three components of distributable earnings. The compliance date for the Amendments is for all filings on or after November 5, 2018. Management has adopted the Amendments and included the required disclosures in the Company’s consolidated financial statements herein. Prior periods have been reclassified to confirm to the current year presentation.

Federal Income Taxes

The Company has elected to be treated as a RIC under Subchapter M of the Code and operates in a manner so as to continue to qualify for the tax treatment applicable to RICs. In order to continue to qualify as a RIC, among other things, the Company is required to meet certain source of income and asset diversification requirements and timely distribute to its stockholders at least 90% of the sum of investment company taxable income (“ICTI”) including PIK, as defined by the Code, and net tax exempt interest income (which is the excess of our gross tax exempt interest income over certain disallowed deductions) for each taxable year in order to be eligible for tax treatment under Subchapter M of the Code. Depending on the level of ICTI earned in a tax year, the Company may choose to carry forward ICTI in excess of current year dividend distributions into the next tax year. Any such carryover ICTI must be distributed before the end of that next tax year through a dividend declared prior to filing the final tax return related to the year which generated such ICTI.

The Company is subject to a nondeductible U.S. federal excise tax of 4% on undistributed income if it does not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income in any calendar year and 98.2% of its capital gain net income for each one-year period ending on October 31 of such calendar year. To the extent that the Company determines that its estimated current year annual taxable income will be in excess of estimated current year dividend distributions for excise tax purposes, the Company accrues excise tax, if any, on estimated excess taxable income as taxable income is earned. For the calendar year ended December 31, 2017, and 2016, the Company did not distribute at least 98% of its ordinary income and 98.2% of its capital gains. Accordingly, with respect to the calendar year ended December 31, 2017, and 2016, an excise tax expense of $0.2 million and $0.3 million was recorded in the fiscal years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively.

The Company’s Taxable Subsidiaries accrue income taxes payable based on the applicable corporate rates on the unrealized gains generated by the investments held by the Taxable Subsidiaries. As of September 30, 2018, the Company did not record a deferred tax liability on the Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities. As of September 30, 2017, the Company recorded a deferred tax liability of $0.9 million on the Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities. The change in provision for deferred taxes is included as a component of net realized and unrealized gain/(loss) on investments in the Consolidated Statements of Operations. For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the change in provision for deferred taxes on the unrealized depreciation on investments was $0.5 million, $1.1 million and $0.1 million, respectively.

On December 22, 2017, the United States enacted tax reform legislation through the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act, which significantly changes the existing U.S. tax laws, including a reduction in the corporate tax rate from 35% to 21%, a move from a worldwide tax system to a territorial system, as well as other changes. For the fiscal year ended September 30, 2018, the Company’s Taxable Subsidiaries provisional tax is based on the new lower blended federal corporate tax rate of 24.25%. The Taxable Subsidiaries’ current interpretation of the Tax Act may change, possibly materially, as we complete our analysis and receive additional clarification and implementation guidance.

ICTI generally differs from net investment income for financial reporting purposes due to temporary and permanent differences in the recognition of income and expenses. The Company may be required to recognize ICTI in certain circumstances in which it does not receive cash. For example, if the Company holds debt obligations that are treated under applicable tax rules as having original issue discount, the Company must include in ICTI each year a portion of the original issue discount that accrues over the life of the obligation, regardless of whether cash representing such income is received by the Company in the same taxable year. The Company may also have to include in ICTI other amounts that it has not yet received in cash, such as 1) PIK interest income and 2) interest income from investments that have been classified as non-accrual for financial reporting purposes. Interest income on non-accrual investments is not recognized for financial reporting purposes, but generally is recognized in ICTI. Because any original issue discount or other amounts accrued will be included in the Company’s ICTI for the year of accrual, the Company may be required to make a distribution to its stockholders in order to satisfy the minimum distribution requirements, even though the Company will not have received and may not ever receive any corresponding cash amount. ICTI also excludes net unrealized appreciation or depreciation, as investment gains or losses are not included in taxable income until they are realized.

Permanent differences between ICTI and net investment income for financial reporting purposes are reclassified among capital accounts in the financial statements to reflect their tax character. Differences in classification may also result from the treatment of short-term gains as ordinary income for tax purposes. During the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the Company reclassified for book purposes amounts arising from permanent book/tax differences related to the different tax treatment of distributions and closing fees as follows:

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016
Capital in excess of par value	$ (157,925)	$ (267,183)	$ —
Accumulated undistributed net investment income/(loss)	280,924	3,746,825	(1,008,000)
Accumulated net realized gain/(loss) from investments	(122,999)	(3,479,642)	1,008,000

For income tax purposes, distributions paid to stockholders are reported as ordinary income, return of capital, long term capital gains or a combination thereof. The tax character of distributions paid for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016 were as follows:

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016
Ordinary income	$ 22,025,185	$ 41,400,401	$ 62,122,756
Distributions of long-term capital gains	—	—	—
Return of capital	6,301,403	—	—
Distributions on a tax basis	$ 28,326,588	$ 41,400,401	$ 62,122,756

For federal income tax purposes, the cost of investments owned at September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016 were approximately $757.9 million, $903.8 million, and $999.0 million, respectively.

At September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the components of distributable earnings/(accumulated deficits) on a tax basis detailed below differ from the amounts reflected in the Company's Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities by temporary and other book/tax differences, primarily relating to the tax treatment of certain fee income and organizational expenses, as follows:

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016
Undistributed ordinary income	$ —	$ 17,570,891	$ 8,793,113
Accumulated capital and other losses ⁽¹⁾	(268,569,450)	(177,904,733)	(99,177,258)
Other temporary differences	(6,429,766)	(17,099,606)	(11,708,070)
Unrealized appreciation/(depreciation)	(102,463,301)	(67,237,807)	(86,369,176)
Components of distributable earnings/(accumulated deficits) at year end	$ (377,462,517)	$ (244,671,255)	$ (188,461,391)

(1) Under the Regulated Investment Company Modernization Act of 2010, net capital losses recognized for tax years beginning after December 22, 2010, may be carried forward indefinitely, and their character is retained as short-term or long-term losses. As of September 30, 2018, the Company had a long-term capital loss carryforward available to offset future realized capital gains of $268,569,450.

The Company accounts for income taxes in conformity with ASC Topic 740 - Income Taxes ("ASC 740"). ASC 740 provides guidelines for how uncertain tax positions should be recognized, measured, presented and disclosed in financial statements. ASC 740 requires the evaluation of tax positions taken or expected to be taken in the course of preparing the Company's tax returns to determine whether the tax positions are "more-likely-than-not" of being sustained by the applicable tax authority. Tax positions deemed to meet a "more-likely-than-not" threshold would be recorded as a tax benefit or expense in the current period. The Company recognizes interest and penalties, if any, related to unrecognized tax benefits as income tax expense in the Consolidated Statements of Operations. There were no material uncertain income tax positions at September 30, 2018. Although we file federal and state tax returns, our major tax jurisdiction is federal. The Company's federal and state tax returns for the prior three fiscal years remain open, subject to examination by the Internal Revenue Service.

Segments

The Company invests in various industries. The Company separately evaluates the performance of each of its investment relationships. However, because each of these investment relationships has similar business and economic characteristics, they have been aggregated into a single investment segment. All applicable segment disclosures are included in or can be derived from the Company's financial statements. See Note 3 for further information.

Company Investment Risk, Concentration of Credit Risk, and Liquidity Risk

MCC Advisors has broad discretion in making investments for the Company. Investments will generally consist of debt instruments that may be affected by business, financial market or legal uncertainties. Prices of investments may be volatile, and a variety of factors that are inherently difficult to predict, such as domestic or international economic and political developments, may significantly affect the results of the Company's activities and the value of its investments. In addition, the value of the Company's portfolio may fluctuate as the general level of interest rates fluctuate.

The value of the Company's investments in loans may be detrimentally affected to the extent, among other things, that a borrower defaults on its obligations, there is insufficient collateral and/or there are extensive legal and other costs incurred in collecting on a defaulted loan, observable secondary or primary market yields for similar instruments issued by comparable companies increase materially or risk premiums required in the market between smaller companies, such as our borrowers, and those for which market yields are observable increase materially. MCC Advisors may attempt to minimize this risk by maintaining low loan-to-liquidation values with each loan and the collateral underlying the loan.

The Company's assets may, at any time, include securities and other financial instruments or obligations that are illiquid or thinly traded, making purchase or sale of such securities and financial instruments at desired prices or in desired quantities difficult. Furthermore, the sale of any such investments may be possible only at substantial discounts, and it may be extremely difficult to value any such investments accurately.

In connection with certain of the Company's investments, the Company receives warrants which are obtained for the objective of increasing the total investment returns and are not held for hedging purposes. At September 30, 2018 and 2017, the total fair value of warrants was $1.0 million and $2.3 million, respectively, and were included in investments at fair value on the Consolidated Statement of Assets and Liabilities. During the years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Company acquired two and one warrant positions, respectively.

Total unrealized depreciation related to warrants for the years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 was $1.3 million and $3.4 million, respectively, and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments. Total unrealized appreciation related to warrants for the year ended September 30, 2016 was $2.1 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as net unrealized appreciation/(depreciation) on investments. The warrants are received in connection with individual investments and are not subject to master netting arrangements.

- (1) The Company and Great American Life Insurance Company (“GALIC”) are the members of MCC Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC (“MCC JV”), a joint venture formed as a Delaware limited liability company that is not consolidated by either member for financial reporting purposes. The members of MCC JV make capital contributions as investments by MCC JV are completed, and all portfolio and other material decisions regarding MCC JV must be submitted to MCC JV’s board of managers, which is comprised of an equal number of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Approval of MCC JV’s board of managers requires the unanimous approval of a quorum of the board of managers, with a quorum consisting of equal representation of members appointed by each of the Company and GALIC. Because management of MCC JV is shared equally between the Company and GALIC, the Company does not have operational control over the MCC JV for purposes of the 1940 Act or otherwise.
- (2) Amount of income earned represents distributions from MCC JV to the Company and is a component of dividend income, net of provisional taxes in the Consolidated Statements of Operations.
- (3) The par amount and additional detail are shown in the consolidated schedule of investments.
- (4) Investment changed its name from AAR Intermediate Holdings, LLC during FY 2018.
- (5) During the year ended September 30, 2017, the Company entered into certain transactions which changed its percentage of the investment’s voting securities. As a result, the Company has changed its classification for the investment during the fiscal year.

Purchases/(sales) of or advances to/(distributions) from Affiliated Investments and Controlled Investments represent the proceeds from sales and settlements of investments, purchases, originations and participations, investment increases due to PIK interest as well as net amortization of premium/(discount) on investments and are included in the purchases and sales presented on the Consolidated Statements of Cash Flows for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016. Transfers in/(out) of Affiliated Investments and Controlled Investments represent the fair value for the month an investment became or was removed as an Affiliated Investment or a Controlled Investment. Income received from Affiliated Investments and Controlled Investments is included in total investment income on the Consolidated Statements of Operations for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016.

Loan Participation Sales

The Company may sell portions of its investments via participation agreements to a managed account, managed by an affiliate and non-affiliate of the Company. At September 30, 2018, there were four participation agreements outstanding with an aggregate fair value of $22.0 million. At September 30, 2017, there were eight participation agreements outstanding with an aggregate fair value of $124.5 million. The transfer of the participated portion of the investments met the criteria set forth in ASC 860, Transfers and Servicing for treatment as a sale. In each case, the Company's loan participation agreements satisfy the following conditions:

- transferred investments have been isolated from the Company, and put presumptively beyond the reach of the Company and its creditors, even in bankruptcy or other receivership,
- each participant has the right to pledge or exchange the transferred investments it received, and no condition both constrains the participant from taking advantage of its right to pledge or exchange and provides more than a trivial benefit to the Company; and
- the Company, its consolidated affiliates or its agents do not maintain effective control over the transferred investments through either: (i) an agreement that entitles and/or obligates the Company to repurchase or redeem the assets before maturity, or (ii) the ability to unilaterally cause the holder to return specific assets, other than through a cleanup call.

Such investments where the Company has retained proportionate interests are included in the consolidated schedule of investments. All of these investments are classified within Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy, as defined in Note 4.

During the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the Company collected interest and principal payments on behalf of the participant in aggregate amounts of $21.8 million, $11.7 million and $26.4 million, respectively. Under the terms of the participation agreements, the Company will collect and remit periodic payments to the participant equal to the participant's proportionate share of any principal and interest payments received by the Company from the underlying investee companies.

MCC Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC

On March 27, 2015, the Company and GALIC entered into a limited liability company operating agreement to co-manage MCC JV. All portfolio and other material decisions regarding MCC JV must be submitted to MCC JV's board of managers, which is comprised of four members, two of whom are selected by the Company and the other two of whom are selected by GALIC. The Company has concluded that it does not operationally control MCC JV. As the Company does not operationally control MCC JV, it does not consolidate the operations of MCC JV within the consolidated financial statements. As a practical expedient, the Company uses NAV to determine the value of its investment in MCC JV; therefore, this investment has been presented as a reconciling item within the fair value hierarchy (see Note 4). Investments held by MCC JV are measured at fair value using the same valuation methodologies as described in Note 2.

As of September 30, 2018, MCC JV had total capital commitments of $100.0 million, with the Company providing $87.5 million and GALIC providing $12.5 million. Approximately $89.8 million was funded as of September 30, 2018 relating to these commitments, of which $78.6 million was from the Company. As of September 30, 2018, MCC JV's board of managers had approved advances of capital of up to $0.3 million of the remaining capital commitments, of which $0.2 million is from the Company.

On August 4, 2015, MCC JV entered into a senior secured revolving credit facility (the "JV Facility") led by Credit Suisse, AG ("CS") with commitments of $100 million subject to leverage and borrowing base restrictions. On March 30, 2017, the Company amended the JV Facility previously administered by CS and facilitated the assignment of all rights and obligations of CS under the JV Facility to Deutsche Bank AG, New York Branch, ("DB") and increased the total loan commitments to $200 million. The JV Facility bears interest at a rate of LIBOR (with no minimum) + 2.50% per annum. The JV Facility reinvestment period ends on March 30, 2019 and the stated maturity date is March 30, 2022. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, there was approximately $179.3 million and $130.5 million outstanding under the JV Facility, respectively.

At September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC JV had total investments at fair value of $251.9 million and $184.2 million, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, MCC JV's portfolio was comprised of senior secured first lien term loans to 56 and 46 borrowers, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, certain investments in one portfolio company held by MCC JV were on non-accrual status.

Below is a summary of MCC JV's portfolio, excluding equity investments, followed by a listing of the individual investments in MCC JV's portfolio as of September 30, 2018 and 2017:

In accordance with Rules 3-09 and 4-08(g) of Regulation S-X, the Company must determine which of its unconsolidated Control Investments, if any, are considered "significant subsidiaries." In evaluating these investments, there are three tests utilized to determine if any Controlled Investments are considered significant subsidiaries: the investment test, the asset test and the income test. Rule 3-09 of Regulation S-X requires the Company to include separate audited financial statements of any unconsolidated majority-owned subsidiary (Control Investments in which the Company owns greater than 50% of the voting securities) in an annual report if any of the three tests exceed 20%. Rule 4-08(g) of Regulation S-X requires summarized financial information of Control Investments in an annual report if any of the three tests exceeds 10%, and summarized financial information in a quarterly report if any of the three tests exceeds 20% pursuant to Rule 10-01(b)(1) of Regulation S-X.

The Company also determined that the assets of MCC JV represented greater than 10% of its total assets and also generated more than 10% of the Company's total income primarily due to dividend income. Accordingly, the related summary financial information is presented in the "MCC Senior Loan Strategy JV I LLC" heading above.

Note 4. Fair Value Measurements

The Company follows ASC 820 for measuring the fair value of portfolio investments. Fair value is the price that would be received in the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Where available, fair value is based on observable market prices or parameters, or derived from such prices or parameters. Where observable prices or inputs are not available, valuation models are applied. These valuation models involve some level of management estimation and judgment, the degree of which is dependent on the price transparency for the instruments or market and the instruments' complexity. The Company's fair value analysis includes an analysis of the value of any unfunded loan commitments. Financial investments recorded at fair value in the consolidated financial statements are categorized for disclosure purposes based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs used to measure their value. The valuation hierarchical levels are based upon the transparency of the inputs to the valuation of the investment as of the measurement date. The three levels are defined below. Investments which are valued using NAV as a practical expedient are excluded from this hierarchy:

- Level 1 - Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level 2 - Valuations based on inputs other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level 1, which are either directly or indirectly observable at the measurement date. This category includes quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in non-active markets including actionable bids from third parties for privately held assets or liabilities, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as yield curves and forward currency rates that are entered directly into valuation models to determine the value of derivatives or other assets or liabilities.
- Level 3 - Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and where there is little, if any, market activity at the measurement date. The inputs for the determination of fair value may require significant management judgment or estimation and are based upon management's assessment of the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the assets or liabilities. These investments include debt and equity investments in private companies or assets valued using the Market or Income Approach and may involve pricing models whose inputs require significant judgment or estimation because of the absence of any meaningful current market data for identical or similar investments. The inputs in these valuations may include, but are not limited to, capitalization and discount rates, beta and EBITDA multiples. The information may also include pricing information or broker quotes which include a disclaimer that the broker would not be held to such a price in an actual transaction. The non-binding nature of consensus pricing and/or quotes accompanied by disclaimer would result in classification as Level 3 information, assuming no additional corroborating evidence.

In addition to using the above inputs in investment valuations, the Company continues to employ the valuation policy approved by the board of directors that is consistent with ASC 820 (see Note 2). Consistent with our valuation policy, we evaluate the source of inputs, including any markets in which our investments are trading, in determining fair value.

Net change in unrealized loss included in earnings related to investments still held as of September 30, 2018 and 2017, was approximately $72.1 million and $29.9 million, respectively.

Purchases and other adjustments to cost include purchases of new investments at cost, effects of refinancing/restructuring, accretion/amortization of income from discount/premium on debt securities, and PIK.

Sales represent net proceeds received from investments sold.

Settlements represent principal paydowns received.

A review of the fair value hierarchy classifications is conducted on a quarterly basis. Changes in the observability of valuation inputs may result in a reclassification for certain financial assets or liabilities. Reclassifications impacting Level 3 of the fair value hierarchy are reported as transfers in/out of the Level 3 category as of the beginning of the quarter in which the reclassifications occur. During the year ended September 30, 2018, one of our senior secured first lien notes with a fair value of $7.1 million, and one of our warrant positions with a fair value of $0 transferred from Level 2 to Level 3 because of the decrease in availability of the transaction data or the inputs to the valuation. During the year ended September 30, 2017 none of our investments transferred in or out of Level 3.

(1) Represents inputs used when the Company has determined that market participants would use such multiples when measuring the fair value of these investments.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's debt investments are market yields. Increases in market yields would result in lower fair value measurements holding all other variables constant.

The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of the Company's equity/warrants investments are comparable company multiples of Revenue or EBITDA (earnings before interest, taxes, depreciation and amortization) for the last twelve months ("LTM"), next twelve months ("NTM") or a reasonable period a market participant would consider. Increases in EBITDA multiples in isolation would result in higher fair value measurements.

In September 2017, the Company entered into an agreement with Global Accessories Group, LLC (“Global Accessories”), in which the Company exchanged its full position in Lydell Jewelry Design Studio, LLC for a 3.8% membership interest in Global Accessories, which is included in the Consolidated Schedule of Investments. As part of the agreement, the Company is entitled to contingent consideration in the form of cash payments (“Earnout”), as well as up to an additional 5% membership interest (“AMI”), provided Global Accessories achieves certain financial benchmarks over specified time frames. The Earnout and AMI were initially recorded an aggregate fair value of $2.4 million on the transaction date using the Income Approach and were included on the Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities in other assets. The contingent consideration will be remeasured to fair value at each reporting date until the contingency is resolved. Any changes in fair value will be recognized in earnings. As of September 30, 2018, there was no change in fair value of the contingent consideration.

Note 5. Borrowings

As a BDC, we are generally only allowed to employ leverage to the extent that our asset coverage, as defined in the 1940 Act, equals at least 200% after giving effect to such leverage. The amount of leverage that we employ at any time depends on our assessment of the market and other factors at the time of any proposed borrowing.

However, in March 2018, the Small Business Credit Availability Act modified the 1940 Act by allowing a BDC to increase the maximum amount of leverage it may incur from 200% to 150%, if certain requirements are met. Under the 1940 Act, we are allowed to increase our leverage capacity if stockholders representing at least a majority of the votes cast, when a quorum is present, approve a proposal to do so. If we receive stockholder approval, we would be allowed to increase our leverage capacity on the first day after such approval. Alternatively, the 1940 Act allows the majority of our independent directors to approve an increase in our leverage capacity, and such approval would become effective after the one-year anniversary of such approval. In either case, we would be required to make certain disclosures on our website and in SEC filings regarding, among other things, the receipt of approval to increase our leverage, our leverage capacity and usage, and risks related to leverage.

On November 16, 2012, we obtained an exemptive order from the Securities and Exchange Commission (“SEC”) to permit us to exclude the debt of the SBIC LP guaranteed by the SBA from our 200% asset coverage test under the 1940 Act. The exemptive order provides us with increased flexibility under the 200% asset coverage test by permitting SBIC LP to borrow up to $150 million more than it would otherwise be able to absent the receipt of this exemptive order.

Credit Facility

Term Loan Facility

The Company had a Senior Secured Term Loan Credit Agreement, as amended (the “Term Loan Facility”), that was scheduled to mature on July 28, 2020.

On September 1, 2017, the Company reduced the Term Loan Facility commitment to $102.0 million from $174.0 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.6 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On January 31, 2018, the Company voluntarily prepaid the remaining $102.0 million outstanding on the Term Loan Facility. The payment was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.9 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

Revolving Credit Facility

The Company had a Senior Secured Revolving Credit Agreement, as amended (the "Revolving Credit Facility" and collectively with the Term Loan Facility, the "Facilities"), with ING Capital LLC, as Administrative Agent, in order to borrow funds to make additional investments.

The pricing on the Revolving Credit Facility was LIBOR (with no minimum) plus 2.75% and had a revolving period that was to end July 28, 2019, followed by a one year amortization period and a final maturity on July 28, 2020.

On February 14, 2017, the Company elected to reduce the total commitment of the Revolving Credit Facility to $200.0 million from $343.5 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt modification to a line-of credit or revolving-debt arrangement in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which attributed to an acceleration of debt issuance costs in the amount of $1.3 million and recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a component of interest and financing expenses.

On February 12, 2018, the Company elected to reduce the total commitment of the Revolving Credit Facility to $150.0 million from $200.0 million. The reduction was accounted for as a debt modification to a line-of credit or revolving-debt arrangement in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which attributed to an acceleration of debt issuance costs in the amount of $0.4 million and recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a component of interest and financing expenses.

On September 28, 2018, the Company voluntarily satisfied and terminated the commitments under the Revolving Credit Facility in accordance with its terms. The termination was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $1.0 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

The fair values of our debt obligations are determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of our borrowings under the Facilities are estimated based upon market interest rates for our own borrowings or entities with similar credit risk, adjusted for nonperformance risk, if any. As of September 30, 2017, the valuation of the the Facilities, would be deemed to be Level 3 in the fair value hierarchy, respectively, as defined in Note 4.

In accordance with ASU 2015-03, the debt issuance costs related to the Facilities are reported on the Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities as a direct deduction from the face amount of the Facilities. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, debt issuance costs related to the Facilities were as follows (dollars in thousands):

	September 30, 2018		September 30, 2017
	Revolving Facility	Term Facility	Revolving Facility	Term Facility
Total Debt Issuance Costs	$ 8,747	$ 4,491	$ 8,546	$ 4,490

On March 21, 2012, the Company issued $40.0 million in aggregate principal amount of 7.125% unsecured notes which were scheduled to mature on March 30, 2019 (the "2019 Notes"). The 2019 Notes bore interest at a rate of 7.125% per year, and were payable quarterly on March 30, June 30, September 30 and December 30 of each year, beginning June 30, 2012. The 2019 Notes were listed on the NYSE and traded thereon under the trading symbol "MCQ". On February 22, 2017, the 2019 Notes were redeemed at par plus accrued and unpaid interest. The redemption was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.5 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On December 17, 2015, the Company issued $70.8 million in aggregate principal amount of 6.50% unsecured notes that mature on January 30, 2021 (the “2021 Notes”). On January 14, 2016, the Company closed an additional $3.25 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2021 Notes, pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ option to purchase additional notes. The 2021 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at any time or from time to time at the Company’s option on or after January 30, 2019. The 2021 Notes bear interest at a rate of 6.50% per year, payable quarterly on January 30, April 30, July 30 and October 30 of each year, beginning January 30, 2016. The 2021 Notes are listed on the NYSE and trade thereon under the trading symbol “MCX”.

On March 18, 2013, the Company issued $60.0 million in aggregate principal amount of 6.125% unsecured notes that mature on March 30, 2023 (the “2023 Notes,” and together with the 2019 Notes, the 2021 Notes and the 2024 Notes, the “Unsecured Notes”). On March 26, 2013, the Company closed an additional $3.5 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes, pursuant to the partial exercise of the underwriters’ option to purchase additional notes. As of March 30, 2016, the 2023 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at any time or from time to time at the Company’s option. The 2023 Notes bear interest at a rate of 6.125% per year, payable quarterly on March 30, June 30, September 30 and December 30 of each year, beginning June 30, 2013. The 2023 Notes are listed on the NYSE and trade thereon under the trading symbol “MCV”.

On December 12, 2016, the Company entered into an “At-The-Market” (“ATM”) debt distribution agreement with FBR Capital Markets & Co., through which the Company could offer for sale, from time to time, up to $40.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes. The Company has sold 1,573,872 of the 2023 Notes at an average price of $25.03 per note, and has raised $38.6 million in net proceeds, since inception of the ATM debt distribution agreement.

On March 10, 2018, the Company redeemed $13.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2023 Notes. The redemption was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.3 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

On January 26, 2018, the Company priced a debt offering in Israel of $121.3 million in aggregate principal amount of the 2024 Notes that mature on February 27, 2024 and the principal will be payable in four annual installments, of which 25% will be payable on each February 27 for the years 2021 through 2024. As of March 27, 2018, the 2024 Notes may be redeemed in whole or in part at anytime or from time to time at the Company’s option. The 2024 Notes bear interest at a rate of 5.30% per year, payable semi-annually on February 27 and August 27 of each year, beginning August 27, 2018.

The deed of trust governing the 2024 Notes includes certain customary covenants, including minimum equity requirements, and events of default. The 2024 Notes have not been and will not be registered under the Securities Act of 1933, and may not be offered or sold in the United States absent registration under the Securities Act of 1933 or in transactions exempt from, or not subject to, such registration requirements. The 2024 Notes are listed for trading on the TASE and denominated in New Israeli Shekels, but linked to the US Dollar at a fixed exchange rate which mitigates any currency exposure to the Company. In connection with this offering, we have dual listed our common stock on the TASE.

On June 5, 2018, the Company announced that on June 1, 2018, its board of directors authorized the Company to repurchase and retire up to $20 million of the Company’s outstanding 2024 Notes on TASE. Execution of the repurchase plan is subject to an open trading window for the Company and continued liquidity at that time and is expected to continue until the full authorized amount is purchased or market conditions change. The repurchase of the 2024 Notes is not expected to result in any material tax consequences to the Company or its note holders. As of September 30, 2018, the Company has not repurchased any of the 2024 Notes.

The fair values of our debt obligations are determined in accordance with ASC 820, which defines fair value in terms of the price that would be paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date under current market conditions. The fair value of the Unsecured Notes, which are publicly traded, is based upon closing market quotes as of the measurement date. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Unsecured Notes would be deemed to be Level 1 in the fair value hierarchy, as defined in Note 4.

SBA Debentures

On March 26, 2013, SBIC LP received an SBIC license from the SBA.

The SBIC license allows SBIC LP to obtain leverage by issuing SBA-guaranteed debentures (“SBA Debentures”), subject to the issuance of a capital commitment by the SBA and other customary procedures. SBA Debentures are non-recourse, interest only debentures with interest payable semi-annually and have a ten year maturity. The principal amount of SBA Debentures is not required to be paid prior to maturity but may be prepaid at any time without penalty. The interest rate of SBA Debentures is fixed on a semi-annual basis at a market-driven spread over U.S. Treasury Notes with 10-year maturities. The SBA, as a creditor, will have a superior claim to the SBIC LP’s assets over our stockholders in the event we liquidate the SBIC LP or the SBA exercises its remedies under the SBA Debentures issued by the SBIC LP upon an event of default.

SBA regulations currently limit the amount that the SBIC LP may borrow to a maximum of $150 million when it has at least $75 million in regulatory capital, receives a capital commitment from the SBA and has been through an examination by the SBA subsequent to licensing. In June 2018, the U.S. Senate passed the Small Business Investment Opportunity Act, which the President signed into law, that amended the Small Business Investment Act of 1958 by increasing the individual leverage limit from $150 million to $175 million, subject to SBA approvals.

On September 1, 2018, the Company repaid $15.0 million in aggregate principal amount of the SBA Debentures. The repayment was accounted for as a debt extinguishment in accordance with ASC 470-50, Modifications and Extinguishments, which resulted in a realized loss of $0.2 million and was recorded on the Consolidated Statements of Operations as a loss on extinguishment of debt.

As of September 30, 2018 SBIC LP had $75.0 million in regulatory capital and had $135.0 million SBA Debentures outstanding that mature between March 2024 and September 2025. As of September 30, 2017, SBIC LP had $75.0 million in regulatory capital and had $150.0 million SBA Debentures outstanding that mature between September 2023 and September 2025.

Note 6. Agreements

Investment Management Agreement

We entered into an investment management agreement with MCC Advisors. Mr. Brook Taube, our Chairman and Chief Executive Officer, is a managing partner and senior portfolio manager of MCC Advisors, and Mr. Seth Taube, one of our directors, is a managing partner of MCC Advisors.

Under the terms of our investment management agreement, MCC Advisors:

- determines the composition of our portfolio, the nature and timing of the changes to our portfolio and the manner of implementing such changes;
- identifies, evaluates and negotiates the structure of the investments we make (including performing due diligence on our prospective portfolio companies); and
- executes, closes, monitors and administers the investments we make, including the exercise of any voting or consent rights.

MCC Advisors' services under the investment management agreement are not exclusive, and it is free to furnish similar services to other entities so long as its services to us are not impaired.

Pursuant to our investment management agreement, we pay MCC Advisors a fee for investment advisory and management services consisting of a base management fee and a two-part incentive fee.

On December 3, 2015, MCC Advisors recommended and, in consultation with the Board, agreed to reduce fees under the investment management agreement. Beginning January 1, 2016, the base management fee was reduced to 1.50% on gross assets above $1 billion. In addition, MCC Advisors reduced its incentive fee from 20% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over an 8% hurdle, to 17.5% on pre-incentive fee net investment income over a 6% hurdle. Moreover, the revised incentive fee includes a netting mechanism and is subject to a rolling three-year look back from January 1, 2016 forward. Under no circumstances will the new fee structure result in higher fees to MCC Advisors than fees under the prior investment management agreement.

The following discussion of our base management fee and two-part incentive fee reflect the terms of the fee waiver agreement executed by MCC Advisors on February 8, 2016 (the "Fee Waiver Agreement"). The terms of the Fee Waiver Agreement are effective as of January 1, 2016, and are a permanent reduction in the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income payable to MCC Advisors for the investment advisory and management services it provides under the investment management agreement. The Fee Waiver Agreement does not change the second component of the incentive fee, which is the incentive fee on capital gains.

Base Management Fee

For providing investment advisory and management services to us, MCC Advisors receives a base management fee. The base management fee is calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% (0.4375% per quarter) of up to $1.0 billion of the Company's gross assets and 1.50% (0.375% per quarter) of any amounts over $1.0 billion of the Company's gross assets, and is payable quarterly in arrears. The base management fee will be calculated based on the average value of the Company's gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters and will be appropriately pro-rated for any partial quarter. On May 4, 2018, MCC Advisors voluntarily elected to waive $380,000 of the base management fee payable for the quarter ended March 31, 2018, which is shown on the Consolidated Statements of Operations.

Incentive Fee

The incentive fee has two components, as follows:

Incentive Fee Based on Income

The first component of the incentive fee is payable quarterly in arrears and is based on our pre-incentive fee net investment income earned during the calendar quarter for which the incentive fee is being calculated. MCC Advisors is entitled to receive the incentive fee on net investment income from us if our Ordinary Income (as defined below) exceeds a quarterly "hurdle rate" of 1.5%. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to the Company's net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by the Company of its common stock (including issuances pursuant to our dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by the Company of its own common stock, and any dividends paid by the Company, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter.

Beginning with the calendar quarter that commenced on January 1, 2016, the incentive fee on net investment income is determined and paid quarterly in arrears at the end of each calendar quarter by reference to our aggregate net investment income, as adjusted as described below, from the calendar quarter then ending and the eleven preceding calendar quarters (or if shorter, the number of quarters that have occurred since January 1, 2016). We refer to such period as the “Trailing Twelve Quarters.”

The hurdle amount for the incentive fee on net investment income is determined on a quarterly basis, and is equal to 1.5% multiplied by the Company’s net asset value at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. The hurdle amount is calculated after making appropriate adjustments to the Company’s net assets, as determined as of the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, in order to account for any capital raising or other capital actions as a result of any issuances by the Company of its common stock (including issuances pursuant to our dividend reinvestment plan), any repurchase by the Company of its own common stock, and any dividends paid by the Company, each as may have occurred during the relevant quarter. The incentive fee for any partial period will be appropriately prorated. Any incentive fee on net investment income will be paid to MCC Advisors on a quarterly basis, and will be based on the amount by which (A) aggregate net investment income (“Ordinary Income”) in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters exceeds (B) the hurdle amount for such Trailing Twelve Quarters. The amount of the excess of (A) over (B) described in this paragraph for such Trailing Twelve Quarters is referred to as the “Excess Income Amount.” For the avoidance of doubt, Ordinary Income is net of all fees and expenses, including the reduced base management fee but excluding any incentive fee on Pre-Incentive Fee net investment income or on the Company’s capital gains.

Determination of Quarterly Incentive Fee Based on Income

The incentive fee on net investment income for each quarter is determined as follows:

- No incentive fee on net investment income is payable to MCC Advisors for any calendar quarter for which there is no Excess Income Amount;
- 100% of the Ordinary Income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle amount, but is less than or equal to an amount, which we refer to as the “Catch-up Amount,” determined as the sum of 1.8182% multiplied by the Company’s net assets at the beginning of each applicable calendar quarter, as adjusted as noted above, comprising the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income; and
- 17.5% of the Ordinary Income that exceeds the Catch-up Amount is included in the calculation of the incentive fee on net investment income.

The amount of the incentive fee on net investment income that will be paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter will equal the excess of the incentive fee so calculated minus the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters but not in excess of the Incentive Fee Cap (as described below).

The incentive fee on net investment income that is paid to MCC Advisors for a particular quarter is subject to a cap (the “Incentive Fee Cap”). The Incentive Fee Cap for any quarter is an amount equal to (a) 17.5% of the Cumulative Net Return (as defined below) during the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (b) the aggregate incentive fees on net investment income that were paid in respect of the first eleven calendar quarters (or the portion thereof) included in the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters.

“Cumulative Net Return” means (x) the Ordinary Income in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters minus (y) any Net Capital Loss (as described below), if any, in respect of the relevant Trailing Twelve Quarters. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap is zero or a negative value, the Company will pay no incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is a positive value but is less than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, the Company will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors equal to the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter. If, in any quarter, the Incentive Fee Cap for such quarter is equal to or greater than the incentive fee on net investment income that is payable to MCC Advisors for such quarter (before giving effect to the Incentive Fee Cap) calculated as described above, the Company will pay an incentive fee on net investment income to MCC Advisors, calculated as described above, for such quarter without regard to the Incentive Fee Cap.

“Net Capital Loss” in respect of a particular period means the difference, if positive, between (i) aggregate capital losses, whether realized or unrealized, and dilution to the Company’s net assets due to capital raising or capital actions, in such period and (ii) aggregate capital gains, whether realized or unrealized and accretion to the Company’s net assets due to capital raising or capital action, in such period.

Dilution to the Company’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of common stock, as the amount by which the net asset value per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to the Company’s net assets due to capital raising is calculated, in the case of issuances of common stock (including issuances pursuant to our dividend reinvestment plan), as the excess of the transaction price per share over the amount by which the net asset value per share was adjusted, multiplied by the number of shares issued. Accretion to the Company’s net assets due to other capital action is calculated, in the case of repurchases by the Company of its own common stock, as the excess of the amount by which the net asset value per share was adjusted over the transaction price per share multiplied by the number of shares repurchased by the Company.

Incentive Fee Based on Capital Gains

The second component of the incentive fee is determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year (or upon termination of the investment management agreement as of the termination date) and equals 20.0% of our cumulative aggregate realized capital gains less cumulative realized capital losses, unrealized capital depreciation (unrealized depreciation on a gross investment-by-investment basis at the end of each calendar year) and all capital gains upon which prior performance-based capital gains incentive fee payments were previously made to the investment adviser.

Under GAAP, the Company calculates the second component of the incentive fee as if the Company had realized all assets at their fair values as of the reporting date. Accordingly, when applicable, the Company accrues a provisional capital gains incentive fee taking into account any unrealized gains or losses. As the provisional capital gains incentive fee is subject to the performance of investments until there is a realization event, the amount of the provisional capital gains incentive fee accrued at a reporting date may vary from the capital gains incentive that is ultimately realized and the differences could be material.

Base Management Fee - Prior to Fee Waiver Agreement

Prior to January 1, 2016, the base management fee was calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of our gross assets (which is defined as all the assets of the Company, including those acquired using borrowings for investment purposes), and was payable quarterly in arrears. The base management fee was based on the average value of our gross assets at the end of the two most recently completed calendar quarters.

Incentive Fee - Prior to Fee Waiver Agreement

Prior to January 1, 2016, the incentive fee based on net investment income was calculated as 20.0% of the amount, if any, by which our pre-incentive fee net investment income, expressed as a rate of return on the value of our net assets calculated as of the end of the calendar quarter immediately preceding the calendar quarter for which the incentive fee is being calculated, exceeds a 2.0% (which is 8.0% annualized) hurdle rate but also includes a “catch-up” provision. Under this provision, in any calendar quarter, our investment adviser receives no incentive fee until our net investment income equals the hurdle rate of 2.0%, but then receives, as a “catch-up”, 100% of our pre-incentive fee net investment income with respect to that portion of such pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds the hurdle rate but is less than 2.5%. The effect of this provision is that, if pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.5% in any calendar quarter, our investment adviser will receive 20% of our pre-incentive fee net investment income as if the hurdle rate did not apply. For this purpose, pre-incentive fee net investment income means interest income, dividend income and any other income including any other fees (other than fees for providing managerial assistance), such as commitment, origination, structuring, diligence and consulting fees or other fees that we receive from portfolio companies accrued during the calendar quarter, minus our operating expenses for the quarter including the base management fee, expenses payable under the administration agreement, and any interest expense and any dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the incentive fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income includes, in the case of investments with a deferred interest feature (such as original issue discount, debt instruments with PIK interest and zero coupon securities), accrued income that we have not yet received in cash.

For the avoidance of doubt, the purpose of the new incentive fee calculation under the Fee Waiver Agreement is to permanently reduce aggregate fees payable to MCC Advisors by the Company, effective as of January 1, 2016. In order to ensure that the Company will pay MCC Advisors lesser aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated beginning January 1, 2016, we will, at the end of each quarter, also calculate the base management fee and incentive fee on net investment income owed by the Company to MCC Advisors based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016. If, at any time beginning January 1, 2016, the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place after January 1, 2016, would be greater than the aggregate fees on a cumulative basis, as calculated based on the formula in place prior to January 1, 2016, MCC Advisors shall only be entitled to the lesser of those two amounts.

For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, the Company incurred base management fees to MCC Advisors of $14.7 million, $17.8 million, and $19.5 million, respectively.

For the year ended September 30, 2018, base management fees, net of the voluntary $0.4 million waiver, was $14.3 million. For the years ended September 30, 2017 and 2016, base management fees, net of $47,941 and $142,546 waived under the Fee Waiver Agreement, were $17.7 million and $19.3 million, respectively.

The incentive fees shown in the Consolidated Statements of Operations are calculated using the fee structure set forth in investment management agreement, and then adjusted to reflect the terms of the Fee Waiver Agreement. Pursuant to the investment management agreement, pre-incentive fee net investment income is compared to a hurdle rate of 2.0% of the net asset value at the beginning of the period and is calculated as follows:

- 1) No incentive fee is recorded during the quarter in which our pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed the hurdle rate;
- 2) 100% of pre-incentive fee net investment income that exceeds the hurdle rate but is less than 2.5% in the quarter; and
- 3) 20.0% of the amount of pre-incentive fee net investment income, if any, that exceeds 2.5% of the hurdle rate.

For purposes of implementing the fee waiver under the Fee Waiver Agreement, we calculate the incentive fee based upon the formula that exists under the investment management agreement, and then apply the terms of waiver set forth in the Fee Waiver Agreement, if applicable.

For the year ended September 30, 2018, the Company did not incur any incentive fees on net investment income because pre-incentive fee net investment income did not exceed the hurdle amount under the formula that exists under the investment management agreement. For the years ended September 30, 2017 and 2016, the Company incurred $0.9 million and $11.5 million of incentive fees related to pre-incentive fee net investment income. For the years ended September 30, 2017 and 2016, incentive fees, net of $43,663 and $3.5 million waived under the Fee Waiver Agreement were $0.9 million and $8.0 million, respectively.

As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, $3.3 million and $4.3 million, respectively, were included in “management and incentive fees payable” in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

Administration Agreement

On January 19, 2011, the Company entered into an administration agreement with MCC Advisors. Pursuant to this agreement, MCC Advisors furnishes us with office facilities and equipment, clerical, bookkeeping, recordkeeping and other administrative services related to the operations of the Company. We reimburse MCC Advisors for our allocable portion of overhead and other expenses incurred by it performing its obligations under the administration agreement, including rent and our allocable portion of the cost of our Chief Financial Officer and Chief Compliance Officer and their respective staff. From time to time, our administrator may pay amounts owed by us to third-party service providers and we will subsequently reimburse our administrator for such amounts paid on our behalf. For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, we incurred $3.6 million, $3.8 million, and $3.9 million in administrator expenses, respectively.

As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, $0.8 million and $0.9 million, respectively, were included in “administrator expenses payable” in the accompanying Consolidated Statements of Assets and Liabilities.

Note 7. Related Party Transactions

Due to Affiliate

Due to affiliate consists of certain general and administrative expenses paid by an affiliate on behalf of the Company.

Other Related Party Transactions

Certain affiliates of MCC Advisors, Medley Capital LLC, their respective affiliates and some of their employees purchased in the IPO an aggregate of 833,333 shares of common stock at the IPO price per share of $12.00. The Company received the full proceeds from the sale of these shares, and no underwriting discounts or commissions were paid in respect of these shares.

Opportunities for co-investments may arise when MCC Advisors or an affiliated investment adviser becomes aware of investment opportunities that may be appropriate for the Company, other clients, or affiliated funds. On November 25, 2013, the Company obtained an exemptive order from the SEC that permits us to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates, each of whose investment adviser is Medley, LLC or an investment adviser controlled by Medley, LLC in a manner consistent with our investment objective, strategies and restrictions, as well as regulatory requirements and other pertinent factors (the "Prior Exemptive Order"). On March 29, 2017, the Company, MCC Advisors and certain other affiliated funds and investment advisers received an exemptive order (the "Exemptive Order") that supersedes the Prior Exemptive Order and allows affiliated registered investment companies to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise have been prohibited under Section 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the 1940 Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder. On October 4, 2017, the Company, MCC Advisors and certain of our affiliates received an exemptive order that supersedes the Exemptive Order (the "Current Exemptive Order") and allows, in addition to the entities already covered by the Exemptive Order, Medley LLC and its subsidiary, Medley Capital LLC, to the extent they hold financial assets in a principal capacity, and any direct or indirect, wholly- or majority-owned subsidiary of Medley LLC that is formed in the future, to participate in co-investment transactions with us that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the 1940 Act. If the Mergers are successfully consummated, Sierra and certain of its affiliates will not be able to rely on the Current Exemptive Order. In this regard, on November 19, 2018, Sierra and certain of its affiliates have submitted an exemptive application to the SEC for an exemptive order that would supersede the Current Exemptive Order (the "Superseding Exemptive Order") and would permit Sierra to participate in negotiated co-investment transactions with certain affiliates that would otherwise be prohibited by either or both of Sections 17(d) and 57(a)(4) of the 1940 Act. There can be no assurance if and when Sierra will receive the Superseding Exemptive Order. The terms of the Superseding Exemptive Order, if received, would be substantially similar to the Current Exemptive Order. Co-investment under the Superseding Exemptive Order is subject to certain conditions therein, including the condition that, in the case of each co-investment transaction, the board of directors determines that it would be in Sierra's best interest to participate in the transaction. The Current Exemptive Order will remain in effect unless and until the Mergers are completed and the Superseding Exemptive Order is granted by the SEC. However, neither we nor the affiliated funds are obligated to invest or co-invest when investment opportunities are referred to us or them.

Note 8. Commitments

Guarantees

The Company has a guarantee to issue up to $7.0 million in standby letters of credit through a financial intermediary on behalf of a certain portfolio company. Under this arrangement, if the standby letters of credit were to be issued, the Company would be required to make payments to third parties if the portfolio company was to default on its related payment obligations. The guarantee will renew annually until cancellation. As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Company had not issued any standby letters of credit under the commitment on behalf of the portfolio company.

Unfunded commitments

As of September 30, 2018 and 2017, we had commitments under loan and financing agreements to fund up to $36.1 million to 17 portfolio companies and $23.7 million to 15 portfolio companies, respectively. These commitments are primarily composed of senior secured term loans and revolving, and an analysis of their fair value is included in the Consolidated Schedule of Investments. The commitments are generally subject to the borrowers meeting certain criteria such as compliance with covenants and certain operational metrics. The terms of the borrowings and financings subject to commitment are comparable to the terms of other loan and equity securities in our portfolio. A summary of the composition of the unfunded commitments as of September 30, 2018 and 2017 is shown in the table below (dollars in thousands):

Legal Proceedings

We are a party to certain legal proceedings incidental to the normal course of our business, including where third parties may try to seek to impose liability on us in connection with the activities of our portfolio companies. While the outcome of these legal proceedings cannot at this time be predicted with certainty, we do not expect that these proceedings will have a material effect on our financial condition or results of operations.

Note 9. Fee Income

Fee income consists of origination/closing fee, amendment fee, prepayment penalty, administrative agent fee, and other miscellaneous fees. The following tables summarize the Company's fee income for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016 (dollars in thousands):

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016
Origination fee	$ 2,780	$ 3,078	$ 1,381
Administrative agent fee	610	625	684

Other fees	285	790	276
Prepayment fee	220	804	2,551
Fee income	$ 4,474	$ 6,620	$ 7,455

Note 10. Directors Fees

On December 7, 2016, the board of directors approved an amendment to the compensation model pursuant to which the independent directors earn fees for their service on the board of directors. Prior to the amendment, as compensation for serving on our board of directors, each independent director received an annual fee of $55,000. Independent directors also received $7,500 ($1,500 for telephonic attendance) plus reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each board meeting and received $2,500 ($1,500 for telephonic attendance) plus reimbursement of reasonable out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with attending each committee meeting. In addition, the chairman of the audit committee received an annual fee of $25,000 and each chairperson of any other committee received an annual fee of $10,000, and other members of the audit committee and any other standing committees received an annual fee of $12,500 and $6,000, respectively, for their additional services in these capacities.

The compensation model approved by the board of directors on December 7, 2016, which was retroactively effective as of October 1, 2016, amended the prior model by increasing the annual fee received by each independent director from $55,000 to $90,000, but decreasing the per board meeting fee from $7,500 to $3,000. In addition, there will no longer be a different fee for participating in board and/or committee meetings telephonically.

On January 26, 2018, the board of directors established a special committee comprised solely of its independent directors (the “MCC Special Committee”), for the purpose of assessing the merits of various proposed strategic transactions. As compensation for serving on the MCC Special Committee, each independent director received a one-time retainer of $25,000 plus reimbursement of out-of-pocket expenses, consistent with the Company’s policies for reimbursement of members of the board of directors. In addition, the chairman of the MCC Special Committee receives a monthly fee of $15,000 and other members receive a monthly fee of $10,000.

No compensation is paid to directors who are “interested persons” of the Company (as such term is defined in the 1940 Act). For the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, we accrued $1.3 million, $0.6 million and $0.5 million for directors’ fees expense, respectively.

Note 11. Earnings Per Share

In accordance with the provisions of ASC Topic 260 - Earnings per Share, basic earnings per share is computed by dividing earnings available to common stockholders by the weighted average number of shares outstanding during the period. Other potentially dilutive common shares, and the related impact to earnings, are considered when calculating earnings per share on a diluted basis. The Company does not have any potentially dilutive common shares as of September 30, 2018.

The following information sets forth the computation of the weighted average basic and diluted net increase/(decrease) in net assets per share from operations for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016 (dollars in thousands, except share and per share amounts):

	For the years ended September 30
	2018	2017	2016

(1) Table may not foot due to rounding.

(2) Net investment income excluding management and incentive fee waivers based on total weighted average common stock outstanding equals $0.22, $0.67, and $0.90 per share for the years ended September 30, 2018, 2017 and 2016, respectively. Net investment income based on total weighted average common stock outstanding equals $1.27 and $1.58 per share for the years ended September 30, 2015 and 2014, respectively.

(3) Total return is historical and assumes changes in share price, reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the Company's dividend reinvestment plan, and no sales charge for the period.

(4) Total return is historical and assumes changes in NAV, reinvestments of all dividends and distributions at prices obtained under the Company's dividend reinvestment plan, and no sales charge for the period.

(5) Represents the impact of the different share amounts used in calculating per share data as a result of calculating certain per share data based upon the weighted average basic shares outstanding during the period and certain per share data based on the shares outstanding as of a period end or transaction date.

(6) For the year ended September 30, 2018, excluding management and incentive fee waivers, the ratio of net investment income, total expenses, incentive fees, and operating expenses and credit facility related expenses to average net assets is 3.26%, 14.88%, 0.00%, and 14.88%, respectively. For the year ended September 30, 2017, excluding management and incentive fee waivers, the ratio of net investment income, total expenses, incentive fees, and operating expenses and credit facility related expenses to average net assets is 7.48%, 12.37%, 0.18%, and 12.18%, respectively. For the year ended September 30, 2016, excluding management and incentive fee waivers, the ratio of net investment income, total expenses, incentive fees, and operating expenses and credit facility related expenses to average net assets is 9.29%, 13.17%, 2.14%, and 11.03%, respectively.

(7) Represents the impact of the non-recurring fees as a percentage of total investment income.

(8) Based on daily weighted average carrying value of debt outstanding during the period.

(9) Asset coverage per unit is the ratio of the carrying value of our total consolidated assets, less all liabilities and indebtedness not represented by senior securities, to the aggregate amount of senior securities representing indebtedness. Asset coverage per unit is expressed in terms of dollar amounts per $1,000 of indebtedness. Asset coverage ratio per unit does not include unfunded commitments. The inclusion of unfunded commitments in the calculation of the asset coverage ratio per unit would not cause us to be below the required amount of regulatory coverage.

Note 13. Dividends

Dividends and distributions to common stockholders are recorded on the ex-dividend date. The amount to be paid out as a dividend is determined by our board of directors.

We have adopted an “opt out” dividend reinvestment plan for our common stockholders. As a result, if we declare a cash dividend or other distribution, each stockholder that has not “opted out” of our dividend reinvestment plan will have its dividends automatically reinvested in additional shares of our common stock rather than receiving cash dividends. Stockholders who receive distributions in the form of shares of common stock will be subject to the same federal, state and local tax consequences as if they received cash distributions.

The following table summarizes the Company’s dividend distributions during the years ended September 30, 2018 and 2017:

Note 16. Subsequent Events

Management has evaluated subsequent events through the date of issuance of the consolidated financial statements included herein. There have been no subsequent events that occurred during such period that would require disclosure in this Form 10-K or would be required to be recognized in the Consolidated Financial Statements as of and for the year ended September 30, 2018, except as disclosed below.

On November 16, 2018, the Company's board of directors declared a quarterly dividend of $0.10 per share, payable on December 20, 2018, to stockholders of record at the close of business on December 5, 2018. The specific tax characteristics of the distribution will be reported to stockholders on Form 1099 after the end of the calendar year.

On November 30, 2018, the Company caused notices to be issued to the holders of the 2023 Notes regarding the Company's exercise of its option to redeem $12,000,000 in aggregate principal amount of the $89,846,800 in aggregate principal amount of issued and outstanding 2023 Notes on December 31, 2018.

Report of Independent Registered Public Accounting Firm

To the Stockholders and the Board of Directors of Medley Management Inc.

Opinion on the Financial Statements

We have audited the accompanying consolidated balance sheets of Medley Management Inc. and its subsidiaries (the Company) as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the related consolidated statements of income, comprehensive income, changes in equity and cash flows for each of the three years in the period ended December 31, 2017, and the related notes to the consolidated financial statements (collectively, the financial statements). In our opinion, the financial statements present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Company as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

Change in Accounting Principle

As discussed in Note 2 to the financial statements, effective January 1, 2018, the Company elected to change its method of accounting for performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager. This change has been retrospectively applied in all periods of the accompanying financial statements to reflect the accounting method change.

Basis for Opinion

These financial statements are the responsibility of the Company's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on the Company's financial statements based on our audits. We are a public accounting firm registered with the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board (United States) (PCAOB) and are required to be independent with respect to the Company in accordance with U.S. federal securities laws and the applicable rules and regulations of the Securities and Exchange Commission and the PCAOB.

We conducted our audits in accordance with the standards of the PCAOB. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audit to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement, whether due to error or fraud. The Company is not required to have, nor were we engaged to perform, an audit of its internal control over financial reporting. As part of our audits we are required to obtain an understanding of internal control over financial reporting but not for the purpose of expressing an opinion on the effectiveness of the Company's internal control over financial reporting. Accordingly, we express no such opinion.

Our audits included performing procedures to assess the risks of material misstatement of the financial statements, whether due to error or fraud, and performing procedures that respond to those risks. Such procedures included examining, on a test basis, evidence regarding the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. Our audits also included evaluating the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall presentation of the financial statements. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

/s/ RSM US LLP

We have served as the Company's auditor since 2014.

1. ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Medley Management Inc. is an alternative asset management firm offering yield solutions to retail and institutional investors. The Company's national direct origination franchise provides capital to the middle market in the United States of America. Medley Management Inc., through its consolidated subsidiary, Medley LLC, provides investment management services to permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and separately managed accounts and serves as the general partner to the private funds, which are generally organized as pass-through entities. Medley LLC is headquartered in New York City.

The Company's business is currently comprised of only one reportable segment, the investment management segment, and substantially all of the Company operations are conducted through this segment. The investment management segment provides investment management services to permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and separately managed accounts. The Company conducts its investment management business in the U.S., where substantially all its revenues are generated.

Initial Public Offering of Medley Management Inc.

Medley Management Inc. was incorporated on June 13, 2014 and commenced operations on September 29, 2014 upon the completion of its initial public offering ("IPO") of its Class A common stock. Medley Management Inc. raised $100.4 million, net of underwriting discount, through the issuance of 6,000,000 shares of Class A common stock at an offering price to the public of $18.00 per share. Medley Management Inc. used the offering proceeds to purchase 6,000,000 newly issued LLC Units (defined below) from Medley LLC. Prior to the IPO, Medley Management Inc. had not engaged in any business or other activities except in connection with its formation and IPO.

In connection with the IPO, Medley Management Inc. issued 100 shares of Class B common stock to Medley Group LLC ("Medley Group"), an entity wholly owned by the pre-IPO members of Medley LLC. For as long as the pre-IPO members and then-current Medley personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of Class A common stock and LLC Units (defined below) (excluding those LLC Units held by Medley Management Inc.) then outstanding, the Class B common stock entitles Medley Group to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of Class B common stock and entitle each other holder of Class B common stock, without regard to the number of shares of Class B common stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of membership units held by such holder. The Class B common stock does not participate in dividends and does not have any liquidation rights.

Medley LLC Reorganization

In connection with the IPO, Medley LLC amended and restated its limited liability agreement to modify its capital structure by reclassifying the 23,333,333 interests held by the pre-IPO members into a single new class of units ("LLC Units"). The pre-IPO members also entered into an exchange agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees thereof) have the right, subject to the terms of an exchange agreement, to exchange their LLC Units for shares of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock on a one-for-one basis, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications. In addition, pursuant to the amended and restated limited liability agreement, Medley Management Inc. became the sole managing member of Medley LLC.

The pre-IPO owners were, subject to limited exceptions, prohibited from transferring any LLC Units held by them or any shares of Class A common stock received upon exchange of such LLC Units, until September 29, 2017, which was the third anniversary of the date of the closing of the IPO, without the Company's consent. Thereafter and prior to the fourth and fifth anniversaries of the closing of the IPO, such holders may not transfer more than 33 1/3% and 66 2/3%, respectively, of the number of LLC Units held by them, together with the number of any shares of Class A common stock received by them upon exchange therefore, without the Company's consent.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles ("GAAP") and include the accounts of Medley Management Inc., Medley LLC and its consolidated subsidiaries (collectively, "Medley" or the "Company").

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Principles of Consolidation

In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 810, Consolidation, the Company consolidates those entities where it has a direct and indirect controlling financial interest based on either a variable interest model or voting interest model. As such, the Company consolidates entities that the Company concludes are variable interest entities (“VIEs”), for which the Company is deemed to be the primary beneficiary and entities in which it holds a majority voting interest or has majority ownership and control over the operational, financial and investing decisions of that entity.

In February 2015, the Financial Accounting Standards Board (“FASB”) issued ASU 2015-02, Consolidation (Topic 810) – Amendments to the Consolidation Analysis, which changes the consolidation analysis that a reporting entity must perform to determine whether it should consolidate certain types of legal entities. The Company elected to early adopt this new guidance using the modified retrospective method effective January 1, 2015. As a result of the adoption of ASU 2015-02, the Company determined that it is no longer the primary beneficiary of certain funds it manages. Therefore, the Company deconsolidated certain funds that had been consolidated under previous guidance effective January 1, 2015.

For legal entities evaluated for consolidation, the Company must determine whether the interests that it holds and fees paid to it qualify as a variable interest in an entity. This includes an evaluation of the management fees and performance fees paid to the Company when acting as a decision maker or service provider to the entity being evaluated. If fees received by the Company are customary and commensurate with the level of services provided, and the Company does not hold other economic interests in the entity that would absorb more than an insignificant amount of the expected losses or returns of the entity, the interest that the Company holds would not be considered a variable interest. The Company factors in all economic interests including proportionate interests through related parties, to determine if fees are considered a variable interest.

An entity in which the Company holds a variable interest is a VIE if any one of the following conditions exist: (a) the total equity investment at risk is not sufficient to permit the legal entity to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support, (b) the holders of equity investment at risk have the right to direct the activities of the entity that most significantly impact the legal entity’s economic performance, (c) the voting rights of some investors are disproportionate to their obligation to absorb losses or rights to receive returns from a legal entity. For limited partnerships and other similar entities, non-controlling investors must have substantive rights to either dissolve the fund or remove the general partner (“kick-out rights”) in order to not qualify as a VIE.

For those entities that qualify as a VIE, the primary beneficiary is generally defined as the party who has a controlling financial interest in the VIE. The Company is generally deemed to have a controlling financial interest if it has the power to direct the activities of a VIE that most significantly impact the VIE’s economic performance, and the obligation to absorb losses or receive benefits from the VIE that could potentially be significant to the VIE. The Company determines whether it is the primary beneficiary of a VIE at the time it becomes initially involved with the VIE and reconsiders that conclusion continuously. The primary beneficiary evaluation is generally performed qualitatively on the basis of all facts and circumstances. However, quantitative information may also be considered in the analysis, as appropriate. These assessments require judgment. Each entity is assessed for consolidation on a case-by-case basis.

For those entities evaluated under the voting interest model, the Company consolidates the entity if it has a controlling financial interest. The Company has a controlling financial interest in a voting interest entity (“VOE”) if it owns a majority voting interest in the entity.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Consolidated Variable Interest Entities

Medley Management Inc. is the sole managing member of Medley LLC and, as such, it operates and controls all of the business and affairs of Medley LLC and, through Medley LLC, conducts its business. Under ASC 810, Medley LLC meets the definition of a VIE because the equity of Medley LLC is not sufficient to permit activities without additional subordinated financial support. Medley Management Inc. has the obligation to absorb expected losses that could be significant to Medley LLC and holds 100% of the voting power, therefore Medley Management Inc. is considered to be the primary beneficiary of Medley LLC.

As a result, Medley Management Inc. consolidates the financial results of Medley LLC and its subsidiaries and records a non-controlling interest for the economic interest in Medley LLC held by the non-managing members. Medley Management Inc.'s and the non-managing members' economic interests in Medley LLC are 18.7% and 81.3%, respectively, as of December 31, 2017 and 19.9% and 80.1%, respectively, as of December 31, 2016. Net income attributable to the non-controlling interests in Medley LLC on the consolidated statements of operations represents the portion of earnings attributable to the economic interest in Medley LLC held by its non-managing members. Non-controlling interests in Medley LLC on the consolidated balance sheets represents the portion of net assets of Medley LLC attributable to the non-managing members based on total LLC Units of Medley LLC owned by such non-managing members.

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, Medley LLC had four majority owned subsidiaries, SIC Advisors LLC, Medley Seed Funding I LLC, Medley Seed Funding II LLC and STRF Advisors LLC, which are consolidated VIEs. Each of these entities were organized as a limited liability company and was legally formed to either manage a designated fund or to strategically invest capital as well as isolate business risk. As of December 31, 2017, total assets and total liabilities, after eliminating entries, of these VIEs reflected in the consolidated balance sheets were $63.3 million and $13.0 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2016, total assets and total liabilities, after eliminating entries, of these VIEs reflected in the consolidated balance sheets were $51.7 million and $22.8 million, respectively. Except to the extent of the assets of these VIEs that are consolidated, the holders of the consolidated VIEs' liabilities generally do not have recourse to the Company.

Seed Investments

The Company accounts for seed investments through the application of the voting interest model under ASC 810-10-25-1 through 25-14 and consolidates a seed investment when the investment advisor holds a controlling interest, which is, in general, 50% or more of the equity in such investment. For seed investments in which the Company does not hold a controlling interest, the Company accounts for such seed investment under the equity method of accounting, at its ownership percentage of such seed investment's net asset value.

The Company seed funded $2.1 million to Sierra Total Return Fund ("STRF"), which commenced investment operations in June 2017. As of December 31, 2017, the Company owned 100% of the equity of STRF and, as such, consolidated STRF in its consolidated financial statements.

The condensed balance sheet of STRF as of December 31, 2017 is presented in the table below (in thousands).

	As of December 31, 2017
Assets
Cash and cash equivalents	$ 164
Investments, at fair value	2,005
Other assets	1,698
Total assets	$ 3,867
Liabilities and Equity
Accrued expenses and other liabilities	$ 1,744
Equity	2,123
Total liabilities and equity	$ 3,867

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The Company's consolidated balance sheet reflects the elimination of $1.0 million of other assets, $1.5 million of accrued expenses and other liabilities and $2.1 million of equity as a result of the consolidation of STRF. During the year ended December 31, 2017, the fund did not generate any significant income or losses from operations.

Non-Consolidated Variable Interest Entities

The Company holds interests in certain VIEs that are not consolidated because the Company is not deemed the primary beneficiary. The Company's interest in these entities is in the form of insignificant equity interests and fee arrangements. The maximum exposure to loss represents the potential loss of assets by the Company relating to these non-consolidated entities.

As of December 31, 2017, the Company recorded investments, at fair value, attributed to these non-consolidated VIEs of $4.8 million, receivables of $2.4 million included as a component of other assets and a clawback obligation of $7.2 million included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. The clawback obligation assumes a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values and a portion of tax distributions relating to performance fees which would need to be returned. As of December 31, 2016, the Company recorded investments, at fair value, attributed to non-consolidated VIEs of $5.1 million, receivables of $1.9 million included as a component of other assets and a clawback obligation of $7.1 million included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. As of December 31, 2017, the Company's maximum exposure to losses from these entities is $7.2 million.

Concentration of Credit and Market Risk

In the normal course of business, the Company's underlying funds encounter significant credit and market risk. Credit risk is the risk of default on investments in debt securities, loans and derivatives that result from a borrower's or derivative counterparty's inability or unwillingness to make required or expected payments. Credit risk is increased in situations where the Company's underlying funds are investing in distressed assets or unsecured or subordinate loans or in securities that are a material part of its respective business. Market risk reflects changes in the value of investments due to changes in interest rates, credit spreads or other market factors. The Company's underlying funds may make investments outside of the United States. These non-U.S. investments are subject to the same risks associated with U.S. investments, as well as additional risks, such as fluctuations in foreign currency exchange rates, unexpected changes in regulatory requirements, heightened risk of political and economic instability, difficulties in managing the investments, potentially adverse tax consequences, and the burden of complying with a wide variety of foreign laws.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Management's estimates are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that management believes to be reasonable under the circumstances. These assumptions and estimates also require management to exercise judgment in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. Significant estimates and assumptions by management affect the carrying value of investments, performance compensation payable and certain accrued liabilities. Actual results could differ from these estimates, and such differences could be material.

Indemnification

In the normal course of business, the Company enters into contractual agreements that provide general indemnifications against losses, costs, claims and liabilities arising from the performance of individual obligations under such agreements. The Company has not experienced any prior claims or payments pursuant to such agreements. The Company's individual maximum exposure under these arrangements is unknown, as this would involve future claims that may be made against the Company that have not yet occurred. However, based on management's experience, the Company expects the risk of loss to be remote.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries

Non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries represent the component of equity in such consolidated entities held by third-parties. These interests are adjusted for contributions to and distributions from Medley entities and are allocated income from Medley entities based on their ownership percentages.

Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests

Redeemable non-controlling interests represents interests of certain third parties that are not mandatorily redeemable but redeemable for cash or other assets at a fixed or determinable price or a fixed or determinable date, at the option of the holder or upon the occurrence of an event that is not solely within the control of the issuer. These interests are classified in the mezzanine section of the Company's consolidated balance sheets.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include liquid investments in money market funds and demand deposits. The Company had cash balances with financial institutions in excess of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insured limits during the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016. The Company monitors the credit standing of these financial institutions and has not experienced, and has no expectations of experiencing any losses with respect to such balances.

Restricted Cash Equivalents

Restricted cash equivalents consist of cash held at one of the Company's subsidiaries which was contributed by the Company and third-party investors, and could only be used to purchase investments in new and existing Medley managed funds.

Investments

Investments include equity method investments that are not consolidated but over which the Company exerts significant influence. The Company measures the carrying value of its public non-traded equity method investment at Net Asset Value ("NAV") per share. The Company measures the carrying value of its privately-held equity method investments by recording its share of the underlying income or loss of these entities.

Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value of the equity method investments is reflected as a component of other income (expense), net in the consolidated statements of operations. The Company evaluates its equity method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable.

The carrying amounts of equity method investments are reflected in investments in the consolidated balance sheets. As the underlying entities that the Company manages and invests in are, for U.S. GAAP purposes, primarily investment companies which reflect their investments at estimated fair value, the carrying value of the Company's equity method investments in such entities approximates fair value. The Company evaluates its equity-method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable.

For presentation in its consolidated statements of cash flows, the Company treats distributions received from certain equity method investments using the cumulative earnings approach. Under the cumulative earnings approach, an investor would compare the distributions received to its cumulative equity-method earnings since inception. Any distributions received up to the amount of cumulative equity earnings would be considered a return on investment and classified in operating activities. Any excess distributions would be considered a return of investment and classified in investing activities.

Investments also include available-for-sale securities which consist of an investment in publicly traded common stock. The Company measures the carrying value of its publicly traded investment in available-for-sale securities at the quoted market price on the primary market or exchange on which they trade. Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value of available-for-sale securities is recorded in accumulated other comprehensive income, redeemable non-controlling interests and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC. Realized gains (losses) and declines in value determined to be other than temporary, if any, are reported in other income (expenses), net. The Company evaluates its investment in available-for-sale securities for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investment may not be recoverable.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

In connection with the adoption of the new revenue recognition guidance, ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts with Customers, on January 1, 2018, the Company reassessed its accounting policy for performance fees earned during the period which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager. As a result of this reassessment the Company has determined that it should account for such performance fees within the scope of ASC 323, Investments - Equity Method and Joint Ventures. Accordingly, these performance fees are now classified as carried interest within investment income on the Company's consolidated statements of operations and balances due for such fees are included as a part of equity method investments within Investments, at fair value on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. The Company has applied this change in accounting principle on a full retrospective basis.

Fixed Assets

Fixed assets consist primarily of furniture, fixtures, computer equipment, and leasehold improvements and are recorded at cost, less accumulated depreciation and amortization.

The Company calculates depreciation expense for furniture, fixtures, and computer equipment using the straight-line method over the estimated useful life used for the respective assets, which generally ranges from three to seven years. Amortization of leasehold improvements is provided on a straightline basis over the shorter of the remaining term of the underlying lease or estimated useful life of the improvement. Useful lives of leasehold improvements range from three to eight years. Expenditures for major additions and improvements are capitalized, while minor replacements, maintenance and repairs are charged to expense as incurred. When property is retired or otherwise disposed of, the cost and accumulated depreciation are removed from accounts and any resulting gain or loss is reflected in Other income (expense), net in the consolidated statements of operations.

Debt Issuance Costs

Debt issuance costs represent direct costs incurred in obtaining financing and are amortized over the term of the underlying debt using the effective interest method. Debt issuance costs associated with the Company's revolving credit facility are presented as a deferred charge and are included as a component of other assets on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. Debt issuance costs associated with the Company's senior unsecured debt are presented as a direct reduction in the carrying value of such debt, consistent with the presentation of debt discount. Amortization of debt issuance costs is included as a component of interest expense in the Company's consolidated statement of operations.

Revenues

Management Fees

Medley provides investment management services to both public and private investment vehicles. Management fees include base management fees, other management fees, and Part I incentive fees, as described below.

Base management fees are calculated based on either (i) the average or ending gross assets balance for the relevant period, (ii) limited partners' capital commitments to the funds, (iii) invested capital, (iv) NAV or (v) lower of cost or market value of a fund's portfolio investments. Depending upon the contracted terms of the investment management agreement, management fees are paid either quarterly in advance or quarterly in arrears, and are recognized as earned over the period the services are provided.

Certain management agreements provide for Medley to receive other management fee revenue derived from up front origination fees paid by the funds' and/or separately managed accounts' underlying portfolio companies. These fees are recognized when Medley becomes entitled to such fees.

Certain management agreements also provide for Medley to receive Part I incentive fee revenue derived from net investment income (excluding gains and losses) above a hurdle rate. As it relates to Medley Capital Corporation ("MCC"), these fees are subject to netting against realized and unrealized losses. Part I incentive fees are paid quarterly and are recognized as earned in the period the services are provided.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Performance Fees

Performance fees consist principally of the allocation of profits from certain funds and separately managed accounts, to which Medley provides management services. Medley is generally entitled to an allocation of income as a performance fee after returning the invested capital plus a specified preferred return as set forth in each respective agreement. Medley recognizes revenues attributable to performance fees based upon the amount that would be due pursuant to the respective agreement at each period end as if the funds were terminated as of that date (Method 2 of ASC 605, Revenue Recognition, revenue based on a formula). Accordingly, the amount recognized in the Company's consolidated financial statements reflects Medley's share of the gains and losses of the associated funds' underlying investments measured at their current fair values. Performance fee revenue may include reversals of previously recognized performance fees due to a decrease in the investment performance of a particular fund that results in a decrease of cumulative performance fees earned to date. Since fund return hurdles are cumulative, previously recognized performance fees also may be reversed in a period of appreciation that is lower than the particular fund's hurdle rate. During the year ended December 31, 2017, the Company recorded reversals of $2.6 million of previously recognized performance fees. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company did not reverse previously recognized performance fees. During the year ended December 31, 2015, the Company reversed $24.0 million of previously recognized performance fees. As of December 31, 2017, the Company recognized cumulative performance fees of $5.3 million.

Performance fees received in prior periods may be required to be returned by Medley in future periods if the funds' investment performance declines below certain levels. Each fund is considered separately in this regard and, for a given fund, performance fees can never be negative over the life of a fund. If upon a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values, previously recognized and distributed performance fees would be required to be returned, a liability is established for the potential clawback obligation. As of December 31, 2017, the Company had not received any performance fee distributions, except for tax distributions related to the Company's allocation of net income, which included an allocation of performance fees. Pursuant to the organizational documents of each respective fund, a portion of these tax distributions may be subject to clawback. As of December 31, 2017, the Company had accrued $7.2 million for clawback obligations that would need to be paid if the funds were liquidated at fair value as of the end of the reporting period. The Company's actual obligation, however, would not become payable or realized until the end of a fund's life.

Other Revenues and Fees

Medley provides administrative services to certain affiliated funds and is reimbursed for direct and allocated expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, as set forth in the respective underlying agreements. These fees are recognized as revenue in the period administrative services are rendered. Medley also acts as the administrative agent on certain deals for which Medley may earn loan administration fees and transaction fees. These fees are recognized as revenue over the period to which the fees directly relate.

Performance Fee Compensation

Medley has issued profit interests in certain subsidiaries to select employees. These profit-sharing arrangements are accounted for under ASC 710, Compensation — General, which requires compensation expense to be measured at fair value at the grant date and expensed over the vesting period, which is usually the period over which the service is provided. The fair value of the profit interests are re-measured at each balance sheet date and adjusted for changes in estimates of cash flows and vesting percentages. The impact of such changes is recorded in the consolidated statements of operations as an increase or decrease to performance fee compensation.

Stock-based Compensation

The Company accounts for stock-based compensation in accordance with ASC 718, Compensation — Stock Compensation. Stock-based compensation cost is measured as of the grant date based on the fair value of the award and is recognized as expense over the requisite service period.

Prior to January 1, 2017, the fair value of the awards were amortized on a straight line basis over the requisite service period as stock based compensation expense and was reduced for the impact of estimated forfeitures. The Company estimated forfeitures based on its historical experience and revised its estimate if actual forfeitures differed from its initial estimates. Effective January 1, 2017, the Company adopted a change in accounting policy as a result of the adoption of ASU 2016-09 to account for forfeitures as they occur. As such, stock based compensation expense relating to equity based awards are measured at fair value as of the grant date, reduced for actual forfeitures in the period they occur, and expensed over the requisite service period on a straight-line basis as a component of compensation and benefits on the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes using the asset and liability approach, which requires the recognition of tax benefits or expenses for temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax basis of assets and liabilities. A valuation allowance is established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amounts expected to be realized. The Company also recognizes a tax benefit from uncertain tax positions only if it is “more likely than not” that the position is sustainable based on its technical merits. The Company’s policy is to recognize interest and penalties on uncertain tax positions and other tax matters as a component of provision for income taxes. For interim periods, the Company accounts for income taxes based on its estimate of the effective tax rate for the year. Discrete items and changes in its estimate of the annual effective tax rate are recorded in the period they occur.

Medley Management Inc. is subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes on its allocable portion of the income of Medley LLC at prevailing corporate tax rates. Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are not subject to federal, state and local corporate income taxes since all income, gains and losses are passed through to its members. However, a portion of taxable income from Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are subject to New York City’s unincorporated business tax, which is included in the Company’s provision for income taxes.

The Company analyzes its tax filing positions in all of the U.S. federal, state and local tax jurisdictions where it is required to file income tax returns, as well as for all open tax years in these jurisdictions. If, based on this analysis, the Company determines that uncertainties in tax positions exist, a liability is established.

Class A Earnings per Share

The Company computes and presents earnings per share using the two-class method. Under the two-class method, the Company allocates earnings between common stock and participating securities. The two-class method includes an earnings allocation formula that determines earnings per share for each class of common stock according to dividends declared and undistributed earnings for the period. For purposes of calculating earnings per share, the Company reduces its reported net earnings by the amount allocated to participating securities to arrive at the earnings allocated to Class A common stockholders. Earnings are then divided by the weighted average number of Class A common stock outstanding to arrive at basic earnings per share. Diluted earnings per share reflects the potential dilution beyond shares for basic earnings per share that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common stock were exercised, converted into common stock, or resulted in the issuance of common stock that would have shared in our earnings. Participating securities consist of the Company’s unvested restricted stock units that contain non-forfeitable rights to dividend equivalent payments, whether paid or unpaid, in the number of shares outstanding in its basic and diluted calculations.

Leases

Certain lease agreements contain escalating payments and rent holiday periods. The related rent expense is recorded on a straight-line basis over the length of the lease term. The difference between rent expense and rent paid is recorded as deferred rent. Leasehold improvements made by the lessee and funded by landlord allowances or other incentives are also recorded as deferred rent and are amortized as a reduction in rent expense over the term of the lease. Deferred rent is included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the consolidated balance sheets.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Adopted as of January 1, 2017

In March 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-09, Improvements to Employee Share-Based Payment Accounting, which simplifies and improves several aspects of the accounting for share-based payment transactions, including the income tax consequences, classification of awards as either equity or liabilities and classification on the statement of cash flows. The Company adopted ASU 2016-09 effective January 1, 2017.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Under the new guidance, all excess tax benefits and tax deficiencies related to employee stock compensation are recognized within provision for income taxes. Under prior guidance, excess tax benefits were recognized in additional paid-in capital and tax deficiencies were recognized in the provision for income taxes only to the extent they exceeded the pool of excess tax benefits. In addition, under the new guidance, excess tax benefits are classified as cash flows from operating activities, and cash withheld by the Company for employees' withholding taxes are classified as cash flows from financing activities on its consolidated statements of cash flows. In connection with the adoption of ASU 2016-09, the Company elected to account for forfeitures as they occur, instead of utilizing an estimated forfeiture rate assumption. The change in accounting for forfeitures was applied on a modified retrospective basis by means of a cumulative-effect adjustment to equity. As of January 1, 2017, retained earnings and non-controlling interests in Medley LLC decreased by $0.1 million and $0.8 million, respectively, additional paid in capital increased by $1.0 million and a deferred tax asset was recorded in the amount of $0.1 million to reflect the change in accounting principle.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

In May 2014, the FASB issued ASU 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (Topic 606), and since then, has issued several amendments intended to provide interpretive clarifications and to reduce the cost and complexity of applying the new revenue recognition standard, both at transition and on an ongoing basis. The core principle of this guidance is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for such goods or services. To achieve this, entities will apply a five step approach: (1) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (2) identify the performance obligations within the contract, (3) determine the transaction price, (4) allocate the transaction price to the separate performance obligations and (5) recognize revenue when, or as, each performance obligation is satisfied. The guidance also requires advanced disclosures regarding the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from an entity's contracts with customers.

This guidance became effective for the Company beginning on January 1, 2018 and entities had the option of adopting this guidance using either a full retrospective or a modified retrospective approach. The Company has adopted this guidance as of January 1, 2018 using the modified retrospective method. Under this method, the Company recognized the cumulative-effect of adoption of this guidance as an adjustment to equity as of January 1, 2018, as further described below, but did not restate prior periods presented in its consolidated financial statements.

Additionally, as of the date of adoption, the Company will no longer be deferring reimbursable organizational, offering and other pre-launch costs associated with a fund's formation. Effective January 1, 2018, the Company will be expense such costs as incurred until the respective fund commences operations and receives third party committed capital. Reimbursements for these costs will be recognized as a component of other revenues in the Company's consolidated statements of operations when received.

As a result of the adoption of this new guidance, the Company recorded a cumulative effect decrease to equity of $3.7 million, as of January 1, 2018, which relates to (1) certain performance fee revenue that would not have met the "probable that significant reversal will not occur" criteria of $3.0 million and (2) the reversal of reimbursable fund formation costs which were deferred on the Company's consolidated balance sheet of $0.7 million. Also, certain reimbursable costs incurred on behalf of the Company's funds that were previously presented net in the Company's consolidated statements of operations are now presented on a gross basis beginning January 1, 2018. There were no changes from the way the Company previously recognized management fees, administrative fees and loan administration fees as the result of its adoption of ASU 2014-09 or its change in accounting policy for performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

In January 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-01, Financial Instruments – Overall: Recognition and Measurement of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities, which requires that all equity investments (except those accounted for under the equity method of accounting) be measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in net income. This guidance eliminates the available-for-sale classification for equity securities with readily determinable fair values. However, companies may elect to measure equity investments that do not have readily determinable fair values at cost minus impairment, if any, plus or minus changes resulting from observable price changes in orderly transactions for an identical or similar investment of the same issuer. This new guidance became effective for the Company on January 1, 2018. Under this new guidance, changes in the fair value of available-for-sale securities will no longer be classified in the Company's consolidated statements of comprehensive income but rather as a component of other income (expense), net in its consolidated statements of operations. As a result of the adoption of this ASU, on January 1, 2018, the Company reclassified $1.3 million of cumulative unrealized losses, net of income tax benefit, from accumulated other comprehensive (loss) income to accumulated deficit on the Company's consolidated balance sheet. The adoption of this ASU may have a significant impact to the consolidated statements of operations going forward as any changes to the fair value of our available-for-sale securities will now be reflected within other income in the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842). This guidance requires an entity to recognize assets and liabilities arising from a lease for both financing and operating leases, along with additional qualitative and quantitative disclosures. This new guidance will become effective for the Company on January 1, 2019, with early adoption permitted. The Company is currently evaluating the impact of adopting this standard on its consolidated financial statements. However, the adoption of this guidance is expected to result in a significant increase in total assets and total liabilities, but is not expected to have a significant impact on the consolidated statements of operations.

In May 2017, the FASB issued ASU 2017-09, Scope of Modification Accounting. This guidance clarifies when changes to share-based payment awards must be accounted for as modifications. The guidance requires an entity to apply modification accounting guidance if the value, vesting conditions or classification of the award changes but will provide relief to entities that make non-substantive changes to their share-based payment awards. This new guidance became effective for the Company on January 1, 2018. The Company has evaluated the impact of adopting this standard on its consolidated financial statements, and it did not have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

In February 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-02, Income Statement - Reporting Comprehensive Income (Topic 220): Reclassification of Certain Tax Effects from Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income. This guidance permits entities to reclassify tax effects stranded in accumulated other comprehensive income (OCI) as a result of tax reform to retained earnings. The final guidance gives entities the option to reclassify these amounts, but requires new disclosures, regardless of whether they elect to do so. An entity can apply this new guidance either (1) in the period of adoption or (2) retrospectively to each period in which the income tax effects of the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act related to items in accumulated OCI are recognized. The guidance is effective for fiscal years beginning after December 15, 2018, and interim periods within those fiscal years. Early adoption in any period is permitted. The adoption of this guidance is not expected to have a material impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

The Company does not believe any other recently issued, but not yet effective, revisions to authoritative guidance will have a material effect on its consolidated balance sheets, results of operations or cash flows.

3. INVESTMENTS

Investments consist of the following:

	As of December 31,
	2017	2016
	(Amounts in thousands)
Equity method investments, at fair value	$ 14,136	$ 14,895
Investment in available-for-sale securities	40,491	17,009
Investments of consolidated fund	2,005	—
Total investments, at fair value	$ 56,632	$ 31,904

Equity Method Investments

Medley measures the carrying value of its public non-traded equity method investment at NAV per share. Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in NAV per share is reflected as a component of other income (expense) in the consolidated statements of operations. The carrying value of the Company's privately-held equity method investments is determined based on the amounts invested by the Company plus the equity in earnings or losses of the investee allocated based on the respective underlying agreements, less distributions received.

The Company evaluates its equity method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable. There were no impairment losses recorded during the year ended December 31, 2017. During the year ended December 31, 2016, the Company recorded a $0.5 million loss on its investment in CK Pearl Fund which is included as a component of investment income (loss) on the consolidated statement of operations. There were no impairment losses recorded during the year ended December 31, 2015.

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company's carrying value of its equity method investments was $14.1 million and $14.9 million, respectively. The Company's equity method investment in shares of Sierra Income Corporation ("SIC"), a related party, were $8.5 million and $9.0 million as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively. The remaining balance as of December 31, 2017 and 2016 relates primarily to the Company's investments in Medley Opportunity Fund II, LP ("MOF II"), Medley Opportunity Fund III LP ("MOF III") and CK Pearl Fund, LP.

The entities in which the Company's investments are accounted for under the equity method, other than CK Pearl Fund, L.P., are considered to be related parties.

Investments in available-for-sale securities

The Company's investment in shares of Medley Capital Corporation ("MCC") is classified as available-for-sale securities. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company's carrying value of its investment in shares of MCC, a related party, was $40.5 million and $17.0 million, respectively, and consisted of 7,756,938 and 2,264,892 shares, respectively. The Company measures the carrying value of its investment in MCC at fair value based on the quoted market price on the exchange on which its shares trade. As of December 31, 2017, cumulative unrealized losses in non-controlling interests in Medley LLC and accumulated other comprehensive income (loss), net of income tax benefit on the Company's consolidated balance sheets was $8.8 million, and $1.3 million respectively. As of December 31, 2017, there were no cumulative unrealized gains or losses included in the balance of redeemable non-controlling interests.

Investments of consolidated fund

Medley measures the carrying value of its investments held by its consolidated fund at fair value. As of December 31, 2017, investments of consolidated fund consisted of $0.4 million of equity investments and $1.6 million of investments in senior secured loans. The change in Investments of consolidated fund per the Company's consolidated statements of cash flows represents approximately $2.5 million in purchases offset by approximately $0.5 million of sales. See Note 4 "Fair Value Measurements" for more information.

4. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

The Company follows the guidance set forth in ASC 820 for measuring the fair value of investments in available-for-sale securities. Fair value is the price that would be received from the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Where available, fair value is based on observable market prices or parameters, or derived from such prices or parameters. Where observable prices or inputs are not available, valuation models are applied. These valuation models involve some level of management estimation and judgment, the degree of which is dependent on the price transparency for the instruments or market and the instruments' complexity. The Company's fair value analysis includes an analysis of the value of any unfunded loan commitments. Financial investments recorded at fair value in the consolidated financial statements are categorized for disclosure purposes based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs to the valuation of the investment as of the measurement date. Investments which are valued using NAV as a practical expedient are excluded from this hierarchy:

- Level I – Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level II – Valuations based on inputs other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level I, which are either directly or indirectly observable at the measurement date. This category includes quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in non-active markets including actionable bids from third parties for privately held assets or liabilities, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as yield curves and forward currency rates that are entered directly into valuation models to determine the value of derivatives or other assets or liabilities.
- Level III – Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and where there is little, if any, market activity at the measurement date. The inputs for the determination of fair value may require significant management judgment or estimation and are based upon management's assessment of the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the assets and liabilities. These investments include debt and equity investments in private companies or assets valued using the Market or Income Approach and may involve pricing models whose inputs require significant judgment or estimation because of the absence of any meaningful current market data for identical or similar investments. The inputs in these valuations may include, but are not limited to, capitalization and discount rates, beta and EBITDA multiples. The information may also include pricing information or broker quotes which include a disclaimer that the broker would not be held to such a price in an actual transaction. The non-binding nature of consensus pricing and/or quotes accompanied by disclaimer would result in classification as Level III information, assuming no additional corroborating evidence.

The following tables summarize the fair value hierarchy of the Company's financial assets measured at fair value (in thousands):

As of December 31, 2017
	Level I	Level II	Level III	Total
Assets
Investments of consolidated fund	$ 435	$ —	$ 1,570	$ 2,005
Investment in available-for-sale securities	40,491	—	—	40,491

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The Company's investment in available-for-sale securities consist of shares of MCC. Included in investments of consolidated fund as of December 31, 2017 are Level I assets of $0.4 million in equity investments and Level III assets of $1.6 million, which consists of senior secured loans and preferred equity investments. The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of Level III assets of the consolidated fund's investments in senior secured loans include market yields. Significant increases or decreases in market yields in isolation would result in a significantly higher or lower fair value measurement. There were no significant unrealized gains or losses related to the investments of consolidated fund for the year ended December 31, 2017.

The following is a summary of changes in fair value of the Company's financial assets that have been categorized within Level III of the fair value hierarchy at December 31, 2017 (in thousands):

	Level III Financial Assets as of December 31, 2017
	Balance at December 31, 2016	Purchases	Transfers In or (Out) of Level III	Sale of Level III Assets	Balance at December 31, 2017
Investments of consolidated fund	$ —	$ 1,894	$ —	$ (324)	$ 1,570

A review of the fair value hierarchy classifications is conducted on a quarterly basis. Changes in the observability of valuation inputs may result in a reclassification for certain financial assets or liabilities. Reclassifications impacting all levels of the fair value hierarchy are reported as transfers in or out of Level I, II or III category as of the beginning of the quarter during which the reclassifications occur. There were no transfers between levels in the fair value hierarchy during the year ended December 31, 2017.

There were no financial instruments classified as Level II or Level III as of December 31, 2016 and there were no transfers between levels in the fair value hierarchy during the year ended December 31, 2016.

When determining the fair value of publicly traded equity securities, the Company uses the quoted closing market price as of the valuation date on the primary market or exchange on which they trade. Our equity method investments for which fair value is measured at NAV per share, or its equivalent, using the practical expedient, are not categorized in the fair value hierarchy.

The Company's Investments of consolidated fund are accounted for under a manner consistent with trading securities as STRF is considered an investment company under ASC 946 for standalone reporting purposes, and its investments are therefore also treated in a manner consistent with trading securities.

Total loans payable	$ 9,233	$ 52,178

CNB Credit Agreement

On August 19, 2014, the Company entered into a $15.0 million senior secured revolving credit facility with City National Bank, which was amended in August 2015, May 2016 and September 2017 (as amended, the “Revolving Credit Facility”). Pursuant to the terms of the amendment in September 2017 (“the Amendment”), the maturity date was extended to March 31, 2020. The Amendment also provides for an incremental facility in an amount up to $10.0 million upon the fulfillment of certain customary conditions, as well as other changes. The Company intends to use any proceeds from borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility for general corporate purposes, including funding of its working capital needs. Borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility bear interest, at the option of the Company, either (i) at an Alternate Base Rate, as defined, plus an applicable margin not to exceed 0.25% or (ii) at an Adjusted LIBOR plus an applicable margin not to exceed 2.5%. As of and during the year ended December 31, 2017, there were no amounts drawn under the Revolving Credit Facility. The capitalized terms below are defined in the Revolving Credit Facility, where applicable.

The Revolving Credit Facility also contains financial covenants that require the Company to maintain a Maximum Net Leverage Ratio, as defined, of not greater than 5.0 to 1.0, a Total Leverage Ratio, as defined, of not greater than 7.0 to 1.0 and Core EBITDA, as defined, of not less than $15.0 million. These ratios are calculated on a trailing twelve months basis and are calculated using the Company’s financial results and include adjustments made to calculate Core EBITDA. Non-compliance with any of the financial or non-financial covenants without cure or waiver would constitute an event of default. The Revolving Credit Facility also contains customary negative covenants and other customary events of default, including defaults based on events of bankruptcy and insolvency, dissolution, nonpayment of principal, interest or fees when due, breach of specified covenants, change in control and material inaccuracy of representations and warranties. There were no events of default under the Revolving Credit Facility as of December 31, 2017.

Credit Suisse Term Loan Facility

On August 14, 2014, the Company entered into a $110.0 million senior secured term loan credit facility (as amended, “Term Loan Facility”) with Credit Suisse AG, Cayman Islands Branch, as administrative agent and collateral agent thereunder, Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC, as bookrunner and lead arranger, and the lenders from time-to-time party thereto, which had an original maturity date of June 15, 2019. In February 2017, borrowings under this facility were paid off using the proceeds from the issuance of senior unsecured debt and the Term Loan Facility was terminated.

Interest expense under the Term Loan Facility, including accretion of the note discount and amortization of debt issuance costs, as well as the deferred issuance costs associated with the Revolving Credit facility, for the year ending December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015 was $1.6 million, $6.7 million, and $7.0 million, respectively.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Non-Recourse Promissory Notes

In April 2012, the Company borrowed $10.0 million under two non-recourse promissory notes. Proceeds from the borrowings were used to purchase 1,108,033 shares of common stock of SIC, which were pledged as collateral for the obligations. Interest on the notes is paid monthly and is equal to the dividends received by the Company related to the pledged shares. The Company may prepay the notes in whole or in part at any time without penalty and the lenders may call the notes if certain conditions are met. The notes are scheduled to mature in March 2019. The proceeds from the notes were recorded net of issuance costs of $3.8 million and are being accreted, using the effective interest method, over the term of the non-recourse promissory notes. Total interest expense under these notes, including accretion of the notes discount, was $1.4 million for each of the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015. The fair value of the outstanding balance of the notes was $10.1 million and $10.2 million as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

Contractual Maturities of Loans Payable

As of December 31, 2017, $10.0 million of future principal payments will be due, relating to loans payable, during the year ended December 31, 2019.

7. SENIOR UNSECURED DEBT

The carrying value of the Company's senior unsecured debt consist of the following:

	As of December 31,
	2017	2016
	(Amounts in thousands)
2026 Notes, net of unamortized discount and debt issuance costs of $3,266 and $3,802, respectively	$ 50,329	$ 49,793

Total senior unsecured debt	$ 116,892	$ 49,793

On August 9, 2016 and October 18, 2016, the Company issued debt consisting of $53.6 million in aggregate principal amount of senior unsecured notes due 2026 at a stated coupon rate of 6.875% (the "2026 Notes"). The net proceeds from these offerings were used to pay down a portion of the Company's outstanding indebtedness under its Term Loan Facility. Interest is payable quarterly and interest payments commenced on November 15, 2016. The 2026 Notes are subject to redemption in whole or in part at any time or from time to time, at the option of the Company, on or after August 15, 2019 at a redemption price per security equal to 100% of the outstanding principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest payments. The 2026 notes were recorded net of discount and direct issuance costs of $3.8 million which are being amortized over the term of the notes using the effective interest rate method. The 2026 Notes are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and trades thereon under the trading symbol "MDLX." The fair value of the 2026 Notes based on their underlying quoted market price was $53.1 million as of December 31, 2017.

Interest expense on the 2026 Notes, including accretion of note discount and amortization of debt issuance costs, was $4.0 million and $1.2 million for the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively.

On January 18, 2017 and February 22, 2017, the Company issued $69.0 million in aggregate principal amount of senior unsecured notes due 2024 at a stated coupon rate of 7.25% (the "2024 Notes"). The net proceeds from these offerings were used to pay down the remaining portion of the Company's outstanding indebtedness under its Term Loan Facility with the remaining to be used for general corporate purposes. Interest is payable quarterly and interest payments commenced on April 30, 2017. The 2024 Notes are subject to redemption in whole or in part at any time or from time to time, at the option of the Company, on or after January 30, 2020 at a redemption price per security equal to 100% of the outstanding principal amount thereof plus accrued and unpaid interest payments. The 2024 notes were recorded net of premium and direct issuance costs of $2.8 million which are being amortized over the term of the notes using the effective interest rate method. The 2024 Notes are listed on the New York Stock Exchange and trades thereon under the trading symbol "MDLQ." The fair value of the 2024 Notes based on their underlying quoted market price was $69.6 million as of December 31, 2017.

Interest expense on the 2024 Notes, including amortization of debt premium and debt issuance costs, was $4.9 million for the year ended December 31, 2017.

9. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIES*Operating Leases*

Medley leases office space in New York City and San Francisco under non-cancelable lease agreements that expire at various times through September 2023. Rent expense was $2.4 million, $2.5 million and $2.6 million for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, respectively.

As of December 31, 2017, future minimum rental payments under non-cancelable leases are as follows (in thousands):

2019	2,710
2020	2,833
2021	2,431
2022	2,431
Thereafter	1,823
Total future minimum lease payments	$ 14,932

During the first quarter of 2018, the Company initiated the consolidation of its business activities to its New York office. The Company believes this will enhance operations by consolidating origination, underwriting and asset management operations and personnel in a single location. The Company estimates the associated one-time costs to be approximately $2.6 million, primarily related to certain severance costs. The Company anticipates that most of these charges will be recognized during the first and second quarters of 2018. At this time, the Company does not anticipate a material change in overall headcount upon completion of the consolidation.

Capital Commitments to Funds

As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, the Company had aggregate unfunded commitments of $0.3 million and $0.5 million, respectively, to certain long-dated private funds.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Other Commitments

In April 2012, the Company entered into an obligation to pay a fixed percentage of management and incentive fees received by the Company from SIC. The agreement was entered into contemporaneously with the $10.0 million non-recourse promissory notes that were issued to the same parties (Note 6). The two transactions were deemed to be related freestanding contracts and the $10.0 million of loan proceeds were allocated to the contracts using their relative fair values. At inception, the Company recognized an obligation of $4.4 million representing the present value of the future cash flows expected to be paid under this agreement. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, this obligation amounted to $3.8 million and $6.5 million, respectively, and is recorded as revenue share payable, a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the consolidated balance sheets. The change in the estimated cash flows for this obligation is recorded in other income (expense), net on the consolidated statements of operations.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, the Company is involved in various legal proceedings, lawsuits and claims incidental to the conduct of its business. Its business is also subject to extensive regulation, which may result in regulatory proceedings against it. Except as described below, the Company is not currently party to any material legal proceedings.

One of the Company's subsidiaries, MCC Advisors LLC, was named as a defendant in a lawsuit on May 29, 2015, by Moshe Barkat and Modern VideoFilm Holdings, LLC ("MVF Holdings") against MCC, MOF II, MCC Advisors LLC, Deloitte Transactions and Business Analytics LLP A/K/A Deloitte ERG ("Deloitte"), Scott Avila ("Avila"), Charles Sweet, and Modern VideoFilm, Inc. ("MVF"). The lawsuit is pending in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 583437. The lawsuit was filed after MCC, as agent for the lender group, exercised remedies following a series of defaults by MVF and MVF Holdings on a secured loan with an outstanding balance at the time in excess of $65 million. The lawsuit sought damages in excess of $100 million. Deloitte and Avila have settled the claims against them in exchange for payment of $1.5 million. Following a separate lawsuit by Mr. Barkat against MVF's D&O insurance carrier, the carrier, Charles Sweet and MVF have settled the claims against them. On June 6, 2016, the court granted the Medley defendants' demurrers on several counts and dismissed Mr. Barkat's claims with prejudice except with respect to his claim for intentional interference with contract. On March 18, 2018, the court granted the Medley defendants' motion for summary adjudication with respect to Mr. Barkat's sole remaining claim against the Medley Defendants for intentional interference. Now that the trial court has ruled in favor of the Medley defendants on all counts, the only remaining claims in the Barkat litigation are MCC and MOF II's affirmative counterclaims against Mr. Barkat and MVF Holdings, which MCC and MOF II are diligently prosecuting.

On August 29, 2016, MVF Holdings filed another lawsuit in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 631888 (the "Derivative Action"), naming MCC Advisors LLC and certain of Medley's employees as defendants, among others. The plaintiff in the Derivative Action, asserts claims against the defendants for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, unfair competition, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, interference with prospective economic advantage, fraud, and declaratory relief. MCC Advisors LLC and the other defendants believe the causes of action asserted in the Derivative Action are without merit and all defendants intend to continue to assert a vigorous defense.

Medley LLC, MCC, and MOF II were named as defendants, along with other various parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned as Royce Solomon, Jodi Belleci, Michael Littlejohn, and Julianna Lomaglio v. American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Mark Curry, MacFarlane Group, Inc., The MacFarlane Group, LLC, Sol Partners, Medley Opportunity Fund, II, LP, Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Oakmont Funding, Inc., Dinero Investments, Inc., Chieftain Funding, Inc., Dant Holdings, Inc., DHI Computing Service, Inc., Smith Haynes & Watson, LLC, Middlemarch Partners, and John Does 1-100, filed on December 15, 2017, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:17-cv-145 (hereinafter, "Class Action 1"). MOF II and MCC were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned George Hengle and Lula Williams v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and Medley Capital Corporation, filed February 13, 2018, in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Richmond Division, as Case No. 3:18-cv-100 ("Class Action 2") (together with Class Action 1, the "Class Action Complaints"). The plaintiffs in the Class Action Complaints filed their putative class actions alleging claims under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, and various other claims arising out of the alleged payday lending activities of American Web Loan. The claims against MOF II, Medley LLC, and MCC (in Class Action 1), and the claims against MOF II and MCC (in Class Action 2), allege that those defendants in each respective action exercised control over American Web Loan's payday lending activities as a result of a loan to American Web Loan. The loan was made by MOF II in 2011. American Web Loan repaid the loan from MOF II in full in February of 2015, more than 1 year and 10 months prior to any of the loans allegedly made by American Web Loan to the alleged class plaintiff representatives in Class Action 1; in Class Action 2, the alleged class plaintiff representatives have not alleged when they received any loans from American Web Loan. Medley LLC and MCC never made any loans or provided financing to, or had any other relationship with, American Web Loan. MOF II, Medley LLC, and MCC are seeking indemnification from American Web Loan, various affiliates, and other parties with respect to the claims in the Class Action Complaints. MOF II, Medley LLC, and MCC believe the alleged claims in the Class Action Complaints are without merit and they intend to defend these lawsuits vigorously.

10. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Substantially all of Medley's revenue is earned through agreements with its non-consolidated funds for which it collects management and performance fees for providing investment and management services.

Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement

From June 2012 through December 2016, Medley was party to an Expense Support and Reimbursement Agreement ("ESA") with SIC. During the term of the ESA, which expired on December 31, 2016, Medley agreed to pay up to 100% of SIC's operating expenses in order for SIC to achieve a reasonable level of expenses relative to its investment income. Pursuant to the ESA, SIC had a conditional obligation to reimburse Medley for any amounts they funded under the ESA if, within three years of the date on which Medley funded such amounts, SIC met certain financial levels. ESA expenses are recorded within general, administrative, and other expense on the consolidated statements of operations. There was no outstanding balance due to SIC under the ESA agreement as of December 31, 2017. As of December 31, 2016 there was $7.9 million due to SIC under the ESA agreement. This amount was included in accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities as due to affiliates on the consolidated balance sheets. During the years ended December 31, 2016 and 2015, Medley recorded $16.1 million and $6.4 million, respectively, of ESA expenses under this agreement.

Administration Agreement

In January 2011 and April 2012, Medley entered into administration agreements with MCC (the "MCC Admin Agreement") and SIC (the "SIC Admin Agreement"), respectively, whereby Medley agreed to provide administrative services necessary for the operations of MCC and SIC. MCC and SIC agreed to pay Medley for the costs and expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, including an allocable portion of Medley's overhead expenses and an allocable portion of the cost of MCC and SIC's officers and their respective staffs.

Additionally, Medley has entered into administration agreements with other entities that it manages (the "Funds Admin Agreements"), whereby Medley agreed to provide administrative services necessary for the operations of these other vehicles. These other entities agreed to pay Medley for the costs and expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, including an allocable portion of Medley's overhead expenses and an allocable portion of the cost of these other vehicles' officers and their respective staffs.

Medley records these administrative fees as revenue in the period when the services are provided and are included in other revenues and fees on the consolidated statements of operations. Amounts due from these agreements are included as a component of other assets on the Company's consolidated balance sheets.

Investments

Refer to Note 3 “Investments” for more information related to the Company’s investments in related parties.

Exchange Agreement

Prior to the completion of the Company’s IPO, Medley LLC’s limited liability agreement was restated among other things, to modify its capital structure by reclassifying the interests held by its existing owners (i.e. the members of Medley prior to the IPO) into the LLC Units. Medley’s existing owners also entered into an exchange agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees thereof) have the right (subject to the terms of the exchange agreement as described therein), to exchange their LLC Units for shares of Medley Management Inc.’s Class A common stock on a one-for-one basis at fair value, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications.

Tax Receivable Agreement

Medley Management Inc. entered into a tax receivable agreement with the holders of LLC Units that provides for the payment by Medley Management Inc. to exchanging holders of LLC Units of 85% of the benefits, if any, that Medley Management Inc. is deemed to realize as a result of increases in tax basis of tangible and intangible assets of Medley LLC from the future exchange of LLC Units for shares of Class A common stock, as well as certain other tax benefits related to entering into the tax receivable agreement, including tax benefits attributable to payments under the tax receivable agreement.

The term of the tax receivable agreement will continue until all such tax benefits under the agreement have been utilized or have expired, unless Medley Management Inc. exercises its right to terminate the tax receivable agreement for an amount based on an agreed value of payments remaining to be made under the agreement. There have been no transactions under this agreement through December 31, 2017.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

The allocation to participating securities above generally represents dividends paid to holders of unvested restricted stock units which reduces net income available to common stockholders.

The weighted average shares of Class A common stock is the same for both basic and diluted earnings per share as the diluted amount excludes the assumed conversion of 23,653,333 in 2017 and 23,333,333 LLC Units in 2016 and 2015, respectively, to shares of Class A common stock, the impact of which would be antidilutive.

The following table reflects the per share dividend amounts that we declared on our common stock since completion of our initial public offering.

12. INCOME TAXES

The provision for (benefit from) income taxes consist of the following:

	For the Years Ended December 31,
	2017	2016	2015
	(Amounts in thousands)
Current
Federal	$ 581	$ 272	$ 1,546
State and local	951	1,058	1,373
Total current provision	1,532	1,330	2,919
Deferred
Federal	446	158	(454)
State and local	(22)	(425)	(450)
Total deferred provision	424	(267)	(904)
Provision for Income Taxes	$ 1,956	$ 1,063	$ 2,015

Deferred income taxes reflect the net effect of temporary differences between the tax basis of an asset or liability and its reported amount on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. These temporary differences result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years. The significant components of the Company's deferred tax assets and liabilities included on its consolidated balance sheet are as follows:

	As of December 31,
	2017	2016
	(Amounts in thousands)
Deferred tax assets
Tax goodwill	$ 557	$ 605
Basis difference in partnership interest	851	417
Unrealized losses	378	44
Stock-based compensation	173	216
New York City unincorporated business tax credit carryforward	700	512
Other items	118	207
Total deferred tax assets	2,777	2,001
Deferred tax liabilities
Accrued fee income	89	147
Other items	3	55
Total deferred tax liabilities	92	202
Net deferred tax assets	$ 2,685	$ 1,799

The Company's effective tax rate includes a rate benefit attributable to the fact that the Company's subsidiaries operate as limited liability companies, which are not subject to federal or state income tax. Accordingly, a portion of the Company's earnings attributable to non-controlling interests are not subject to corporate level taxes. However, a portion of the Company's subsidiaries' income is subject to New York City's unincorporated business tax. For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company was only subject to federal, state and city corporate income taxes on its pre-tax income attributable to Medley Management Inc.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

A reconciliation of the federal statutory tax rate to the effective tax rates for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015 are as follow:

	For the Years Ended December 31,
	2017	2016	2015
Federal statutory rate	34.0%	34.0%	34.0%
Income allocated to non-controlling interests	(29.8)%	(28.9)%	(26.8)%
State and local corporate income taxes	0.8%	1.2%	1.0%
Partnership unincorporated business tax	2.5%	4.2%	1.7%
Permanent differences	(0.6)%	—%	(2.9)%
Impact of U.S. tax reform (Tax Cuts and Jobs Act)	1.4%	—%	—%
Non-deductible stock-based compensation	2.0%	—%	—%
Other	(0.1)%	(0.8)%	1.9%
Effective tax rate	10.2%	9.7%	8.9%

On December 22, 2017, the U.S. government enacted the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the “Tax Act”). The Tax Act includes significant changes to the U.S. corporate income tax system including: a federal corporate rate reduction from 34% to 21%; limitations on the deductibility of interest expense and executive compensation; and the transition of U.S. international taxation from a worldwide tax system to a modified territorial tax system. Changes under the Tax Act are effective for the Company as of January 1, 2018.

ASC 740, Income Taxes, requires the Company to remeasure its deferred tax assets and liabilities as of the date of enactment, with the resulting tax impact accounted for in the reporting period of enactment. Based on the reduction of the corporate income tax rate, the Company re-measured its deferred tax assets and liabilities based on the rates at which they are expected to be utilized in the future. The impact of this change resulted in a $0.3 million decrease in the Company’s deferred tax asset balance and corresponding increase in the provision for income taxes for the year ended December 31, 2017.

Interest expense and penalties related to income tax matters are recognized as a component of the provision for income taxes and were not significant during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015. As of and during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, there were no uncertain tax positions taken that were not more likely than not to be sustained. The primary jurisdictions in which the Company operates in are the United States, New York, New York City, and California. The Company is no longer subject to tax examinations by taxing authorities for tax years prior to 2014.

13. COMPENSATION EXPENSE

Compensation generally includes salaries, bonuses, equity and profit sharing awards. Bonuses, equity and profit sharing awards are accrued over the service period to which they relate. Guaranteed payments made to our senior professionals who are members of Medley LLC are recognized as compensation expense. The guaranteed payments to the Company’s Co-Chief Executive Officers are performance based and are periodically set subject to maximums based on the Company’s total assets under management. Such maximums aggregated to $5.0 million during each of the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015. During the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, neither of the Company’s Co-Chief Executive Officers received any guaranteed payments.

Performance Fee Compensation

In October 2010 and January 2014, the Company granted shares of vested profit interests in certain subsidiaries to select employees. These awards are viewed as a profit-sharing arrangement and are accounted for under ASC 710, which requires compensation expense to be recognized over the vesting period, which is usually the period over which service is provided. The shares were vested at grant date, subject to a divestiture percentage based on percentage of service completed from the award grant date to the employee’s termination date. The Company adjusts the related liability quarterly based on changes in estimated cash flows for the profit interests.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

In February 2015 and March 2016, the Company granted incentive cash bonus awards to select employees. These awards entitle employees to receive cash compensation based on distributed performance fees received by the Company from certain institutional funds. Eligibility to receive payments pursuant to these incentive awards is based on continued employment and ceases automatically upon termination of employment. Performance compensation expense is recorded based on the fair value of the incentive awards at the date of grant and is recognized on a straight-line basis over the expected requisite service period. The performance compensation liability is subject to re-measurement at the end of each reporting period and any changes in the liability are recognized in such reporting period.

For the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, the Company recorded a reversal of performance fee compensation expense of $0.9 million, $0.3 million and $8.0 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016, total performance fee compensation payable for these awards was $0.1 million and $1.0 million, respectively, and is included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets.

Retirement Plan

The Company sponsors a defined-contribution 401(k) retirement plan that covers all employees. Employees are eligible to participate in the plan immediately, and participants are 100% vested from the date of eligibility. The Company makes contributions to the plan of 3% of an employee's eligible wages, up to a maximum limit as determined by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company also pays all administrative fees related to the plan. The Company's accrued contributions to the plan were $0.5 million, $0.6 million and $0.4 million for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, respectively. As of December 31, 2017 and 2016 the Company's outstanding liability to the plan was $0.5 million.

Stock-Based Compensation

In connection with the IPO, the Company adopted the Medley Management Inc. 2014 Omnibus Incentive Plan (the "Plan"). The purpose of the Plan is to provide a means through which the Company may attract and retain key personnel and to provide a means whereby directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors (and prospective directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors) of the Company can acquire and maintain an equity interest in the Company, or be paid incentive compensation, including incentive compensation measured by reference to the value of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock or Medley LLC's unit interests, thereby strengthening their commitment to the welfare of the Company and aligning their interests with those of the Company's stockholders. The Plan provides for the issuance of incentive stock options, nonqualified stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units ("RSUs"), restricted LLC Units, stock bonuses, other stock-based awards and cash awards. The maximum aggregate number of awards available to be granted under the plan, as amended, is 4,500,000, of which all or any portion may be issued as shares of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock or Medley LLC's unit interests. Shares of Class A common stock issued by the Company in settlement of awards may be authorized and unissued shares, shares held in the treasury of the Company, shares purchased on the market or by private purchase or a combination of the foregoing. As of December 31, 2017, there were 2.5 million awards available to be granted under the Plan.

The fair value of RSUs granted under the Plan is determined to be the fair value of the underlying shares on the date of grant. The fair value of restricted LLC Units of Medley LLC is based on the public share price of MDLY at date of grant, adjusted for different distribution rights. The aggregate fair value of these awards is charged to compensation expense on a straight-line basis over the vesting period, which is generally up to five years.

Stock-based compensation was $2.8 million, $3.8 million and $3.1 million during the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015, respectively.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

A summary of RSU and restricted LLC units activity for the years ended December 31, 2017, 2016 and 2015 is as follows:

	Number of RSUs	Weighted Average Grant Date Fair Value	Number of Restricted LLC Units	Weighted Average Grant Date Fair Value
Balance at December 31, 2014	1,197,915	$ 17.91	—	$ —

Balance at December 31, 2017	1,451,393	$ 10.44	320,000	$ 11.67

The fair value of RSUs vested during the year ended December 31, 2017 was $1.9 million. The vesting of 310,472 restricted stock units resulted in the issuance of 193,282 Class A common shares, as the restricted stock units were net-share settled such that the Company withheld awards with the aggregate fair value equivalent to the employees' minimum statutory tax obligations in accordance with the terms of the Plan. Total tax obligations amounted to $0.7 million and payments to the appropriate taxing authorities are reflected as a financing activity on the Company's consolidated statements of cash flows.

During the year ended December 31, 2017, $2.7 million of previously recognized compensation was reversed relating to forfeited RSUs. In addition, during the year ended December 31, 2017, the Company reclassified cumulative dividends of $0.7 million from retained earnings to other compensation expense as a result of such forfeited RSUs. Unamortized compensation cost related to unvested RSUs and restricted LLC units as of December 31, 2017 was $12.5 million and is expected to be recognized over a weighted average period of 3.2 years.

14. REDEEMABLE NON-CONTROLLING INTERESTS

Changes in redeemable non-controlling interests during the years ended December 31, 2017 and 2016 are reflected in the table below:

	For the Years Ended December 31,
	2017	2016
	(Amounts in thousands)
Beginning balance	$ 30,805	$ —
Net income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries	6,702	2,565
Contributions	23,000	17,010
Distributions	(6,738)	(994)
Change in fair value of available-for-sale securities	(28)	28
Reclassification of redeemable non-controlling interest	—	12,196
Ending balance	$ 53,741	$ 30,805

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

In January 2016, the Company executed an amendment to SIC Advisors' operating agreement which provided the Company with the right to redeem membership units owned by the minority interest holder. The Company's redemption right is triggered by the termination of the dealer manager agreement between SIC and SC Distributors LLC, an affiliate of the minority interest holder. As a result of this redemption feature, the Company reclassified the non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors from the equity section to redeemable non-controlling interests in the mezzanine section of the consolidated balance sheet based on its fair value as of the amendment date. The fair value of the non-controlling interest was determined to be $12.2 million on the date of the amendment and was adjusted through a charge to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC. During the year ended December 31, 2017, net income allocated to this non-controlling interest was $4.4 million, and distributions paid were $4.3 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2017, the balance of the redeemable non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors LLC was $13.5 million.

On June 3, 2016, the Company entered into a Master Investment Agreement with DB MED Investor I LLC and DB MED Investor II LLC (the "Investors") to invest up to $50.0 million in new and existing Medley managed funds (the "Joint Venture"). The Company agreed to contribute up to $10.0 million and an interest in STRF Advisors LLC, the investment advisor to Sierra Total Return Fund, in exchange for common equity interests in the Joint Venture. On June 6, 2017, the Company entered into an amendment to its Master Investment Agreement with the Investors, which provided for, among other things, an increase in the Company's capital contribution to up to $13.8 million and extended the term of the Joint Venture from seven to ten years. The Investors agreed to invest up to $40.0 million in exchange for preferred equity interests in the Joint Venture. As of June 30, 2017, the Company and the Investors had fully satisfied their capital contributions. On account of the preferred equity interests, the Investors will receive an 8% preferred distribution, 15% of the Joint Venture's profits, and all of the profits from the contributed interest in STRF Advisors LLC. Medley has the option, subject to certain conditions, to cause the Joint Venture to redeem the Investors' interest in exchange for repayment of the outstanding investment amount at the time of redemption, plus certain other considerations. The Investors have the right, after ten years, to redeem their interests in the Joint Venture. As such, the Investors' interest in the Joint Venture is included as a component of redeemable non-controlling interests on the Company's consolidated balance sheets and amounted to $40.6 million and $17.5 million as of December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively. Total contributions to the Joint Venture amounted to $53.8 million and $16.8 million through December 31, 2017 and 2016, respectively, and were used to purchase $51.8 million of MCC shares on the open market and seed fund $2.0 million to STRF. During the year ended December 31, 2017 and 2016, net income allocated to this non-controlling interest was $2.7 million and $0.4 million, respectively. For the year ended December 31, 2017, there was no other comprehensive income as a result of changes in the fair value of MCC shares allocated to this non-controlling interest. Distributions paid during the year ended December 31, 2017 were $2.4 million. There were no distributions paid during the year ended December 31, 2016.

In October 2016, the Company executed an operating agreement for STRF Advisors LLC which provided the Company with the right to redeem membership units owned by the minority interest holder. The Company's redemption right is triggered by the termination of the dealer manager agreement between STRF and SC Distributors LLC, an affiliate of the minority interest holder. As a result of this redemption feature, the non-controlling interest in STRF Advisors LLC is classified as in redeemable non-controlling interests in the mezzanine section of the balance sheet. During the year ended December 31, 2017, net losses allocated to this redeemable non-controlling interest was $0.4 million. As of December 31, 2017, the balance of the redeemable non-controlling interest in STRF Advisors LLC was $(0.4) million.

15. MARKET AND OTHER RISK FACTORS

Due to the nature of the Medley funds' investment strategy, their portfolio of investments has significant market and credit risk. As a result, the Company is subject to market and other risk factors, including, but not limited to the following:

Market Risk

The market price of investments may significantly fluctuate during the period of investment. Investments may decline in value due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries represented in the securities markets. The value of an investment may decline due to general market conditions that are not specifically related to such investment, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. They may also decline due to factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Consolidated Financial Statements

Credit Risk

There are no restrictions on the credit quality of the investments the Company intends to make. Investments may be deemed by nationally recognized rating agencies to have substantial vulnerability to default in payment of interest and/or principal. Some investments may have low-quality ratings or be unrated. Lower rated and unrated investments have major risk exposure to adverse conditions and are considered to be predominantly speculative. Generally, such investments offer a higher return potential than higher rated investments, but involve greater volatility of price and greater risk of loss of income and principal.

In general, the ratings of nationally recognized rating organizations represent the opinions of agencies as to the quality of the securities they rate. Such ratings, however, are relative and subjective; they are not absolute standards of quality and do not evaluate the market value risk of the relevant securities. It is also possible that a rating agency might not change its rating of a particular issue on a timely basis to reflect subsequent events. The Company may use these ratings as initial criteria for the selection of portfolio assets for the Company but is not required to utilize them.

Limited Liquidity of Investments

The funds managed by the Company invest and intend to continue to invest in investments that may not be readily marketable. Illiquid investments may trade at a discount from comparable, more liquid investments and, at times there may be no market at all for such investments. Subordinate investments may be less marketable, or in some instances illiquid, because of the absence of registration under federal securities laws, contractual restrictions on transfer, the small size of the market or the small size of the issue (relative to issues of comparable interests). As a result, the funds managed by the Company may encounter difficulty in selling its investments or may, if required to liquidate investments to satisfy redemption requests of its investors or debt service obligations, be compelled to sell such investments at less than fair value.

Counterparty Risk

Some of the markets in which the Company, on behalf of its underlying funds, may affect its transactions are “over-the-counter” or “interdealer” markets. The participants in such markets are typically not subject to credit evaluation and regulatory oversight, unlike members of exchange-based markets. This exposes the Company to the risk that a counterparty will not settle a transaction in accordance with its terms and conditions because of a dispute over the terms of the applicable contract (whether or not such dispute is bona fide) or because of a credit or liquidity problem, causing the Company to suffer loss. Such “counterparty risk” is accentuated for contracts with longer maturities where events may intervene to prevent settlement, or where the Company has concentrated its transactions with a single or small group of counterparties.

1. ORGANIZATION AND BASIS OF PRESENTATION

Medley Management Inc. is an alternative asset management firm offering yield solutions to retail and institutional investors. The Company's national direct origination franchise provides capital to the middle market in the United States of America. Medley Management Inc., through its consolidated subsidiary, Medley LLC, provides investment management services to permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and separately managed accounts and serves as the general partner to the private funds, which are generally organized as pass-through entities. Medley LLC is headquartered in New York City.

The Company's business is currently comprised of only one reportable segment, the investment management segment, and substantially all of the Company operations are conducted through this segment. The investment management segment provides investment management services to permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and separately managed accounts. The Company conducts its investment management business in the U.S., where substantially all its revenues are generated.

Initial Public Offering of Medley Management Inc.

Medley Management Inc. was incorporated on June 13, 2014 and commenced operations on September 29, 2014 upon the completion of its initial public offering ("IPO") of its Class A common stock. Medley Management Inc. raised $100.4 million, net of underwriting discount, through the issuance of 6,000,000 shares of Class A common stock at an offering price to the public of $18.00 per share. Medley Management Inc. used the offering proceeds to purchase 6,000,000 newly issued LLC Units (defined below) from Medley LLC. Prior to the IPO, Medley Management Inc. had not engaged in any business or other activities except in connection with its formation and IPO.

In connection with the IPO, Medley Management Inc. issued 100 shares of Class B common stock to Medley Group LLC ("Medley Group"), an entity wholly owned by the pre-IPO members of Medley LLC. For as long as the pre-IPO members and then-current Medley personnel hold at least 10% of the aggregate number of shares of Class A common stock and LLC Units (defined below) (excluding those LLC Units held by Medley Management Inc.) then outstanding, the Class B common stock entitles Medley Group to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the aggregate number of LLC Units held by all non-managing members of Medley LLC that do not themselves hold shares of Class B common stock and entitle each other holder of Class B common stock, without regard to the number of shares of Class B common stock held by such other holder, to a number of votes that is equal to 10 times the number of membership units held by such holder. The Class B common stock does not participate in dividends and does not have any liquidation rights.

Medley LLC Reorganization

In connection with the IPO, Medley LLC amended and restated its limited liability agreement to modify its capital structure by reclassifying the 23,333,333 interests held by the pre-IPO members into a single new class of units ("LLC Units"). The pre-IPO members also entered into an exchange agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees thereof) have the right, subject to the terms of an exchange agreement, to exchange their LLC Units for shares of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock on a one-for-one basis, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications. In addition, pursuant to the amended and restated limited liability agreement, Medley Management Inc. became the sole managing member of Medley LLC.

The pre-IPO owners were, subject to limited exceptions, prohibited from transferring any LLC Units held by them or any shares of Class A common stock received upon exchange of such LLC Units, until September 29, 2017, which was the third anniversary of the date of the closing of the IPO, without the Company's consent. Thereafter and prior to the fourth and fifth anniversaries of the closing of the IPO, such holders may not transfer more than 33 1/3% and 66 2/3%, respectively, of the number of LLC Units held by them, together with the number of any shares of Class A common stock received by them upon exchange therefore, without the Company's consent.

Agreement and Plan of Merger

On August 9, 2018 the Company entered into a definitive agreement to merge with Sierra Income Corporation ("Sierra" or "SIC"). Pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among the Company, Sierra and Sierra Management Inc., a newly formed Delaware corporation ("Merger Sub"), the Company will merge with and into Merger Sub, and the Company's existing asset management business will continue to operate as a wholly owned subsidiary of Sierra. The Company's Class A stockholders will receive 0.3836 shares of Sierra's common stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.65 per share in special cash dividends for each share of Class A common stock held by them. Medley LLC unitholders will convert their units into shares of Class A common stock and will receive 0.3836 shares of Sierra's common stock, $3.44 per share of cash consideration and $0.35 per share in a special cash dividend for each share of Class A common stock held by them. Each share of Class B common stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the effective date of the merger will be canceled without consideration therefor.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Simultaneously, pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and between Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) and Sierra, MCC will merge with and into SIC, with SIC as the surviving entity. MCC shareholders will receive 0.805 shares of the Sierra’s common stock for each share of MCC common stock they hold.

As a condition to closing, Sierra’s common stock will be listed to trade on the New York Stock Exchange. The mergers are cross conditioned upon each other and are subject to approval by the shareholders of the Company, MCC and Sierra, regulators, including the SEC, other customary closing conditions and third party consents. While there can be no assurances as to the exact timing, or that the merger will be completed at all, the Company expects the merger to be completed as early as the first quarter of 2019.

Transaction expenses, primarily consisting of professional fees, related to the pending merger are included in general, administrative and other expenses and were approximately $2.1 million and $3.9 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, respectively.

Basis of Presentation

The accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements have been prepared on the accrual basis of accounting in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles (“GAAP”) and include the accounts of Medley Management Inc., Medley LLC and its consolidated subsidiaries (collectively, “Medley” or the “Company”). Additionally, the accompanying condensed consolidated financial statements of the Company and related financial information have been prepared pursuant to the requirements for reporting on Form 10-Q and Article 10 of Regulation S-X. Accordingly, certain disclosures accompanying annual financial statements prepared in accordance with U.S. GAAP may be omitted. In the opinion of management, the unaudited condensed consolidated financial results included herein contain all adjustments, consisting solely of normal recurring accruals, considered necessary for the fair presentation of financial statements for the interim periods included herein. Therefore, this Form 10-Q should be read in conjunction with the Company’s Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2017. The current period’s results of operations will not necessarily be indicative of results that ultimately may be achieved for any future interim period or the full year ending December 31, 2018.

2. SUMMARY OF SIGNIFICANT ACCOUNTING POLICIES

Principles of Consolidation

In accordance with Accounting Standards Codification (“ASC”) 810, Consolidation, the Company consolidates those entities where it has a direct and indirect controlling financial interest based on either a variable interest model or voting interest model. As such, the Company consolidates entities that the Company concludes are variable interest entities (“VIEs”), for which the Company is deemed to be the primary beneficiary and entities in which it holds a majority voting interest or has majority ownership and control over the operational, financial and investing decisions of that entity.

For legal entities evaluated for consolidation, the Company must determine whether the interests that it holds and fees paid to it qualify as a variable interest in an entity. This includes an evaluation of the management fees and performance fees paid to the Company when acting as a decision maker or service provider to the entity being evaluated. If fees received by the Company are customary and commensurate with the level of services provided, and the Company does not hold other economic interests in the entity that would absorb more than an insignificant amount of the expected losses or returns of the entity, the interest that the Company holds would not be considered a variable interest. The Company factors in all economic interests including proportionate interests through related parties, to determine if fees are considered a variable interest.

An entity in which the Company holds a variable interest is a VIE if any one of the following conditions exist: (a) the total equity investment at risk is not sufficient to permit the legal entity to finance its activities without additional subordinated financial support, (b) the holders of equity investment at risk have the right to direct the activities of the entity that most significantly impact the legal entity’s economic performance, (c) the voting rights of some investors are disproportionate to their obligation to absorb losses or rights to receive returns from a legal entity. For limited partnerships and other similar entities, non-controlling investors must have substantive rights to either dissolve the fund or remove the general partner (“kick-out rights”) in order to not qualify as a VIE.

For those entities that qualify as a VIE, the primary beneficiary is generally defined as the party who has a controlling financial interest in the VIE. The Company is generally deemed to have a controlling financial interest if it has the power to direct the activities of a VIE that most significantly impact the VIE’s economic performance, and the obligation to absorb losses or receive benefits from the VIE that could potentially be significant to the VIE. The Company determines whether it is the primary beneficiary of a VIE at the time it becomes initially involved with the VIE and reconsiders that conclusion continuously. The primary beneficiary evaluation is generally performed qualitatively on the basis of all facts and circumstances. However, quantitative information may also be considered in the analysis, as appropriate. These assessments require judgment. Each entity is assessed for consolidation on a case-by-case basis.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

For those entities evaluated under the voting interest model, the Company consolidates the entity if it has a controlling financial interest. The Company has a controlling financial interest in a voting interest entity (“VOE”) if it owns a majority voting interest in the entity.

Consolidated Variable Interest Entities

Medley Management Inc. is the sole managing member of Medley LLC and, as such, it operates and controls all of the business and affairs of Medley LLC and, through Medley LLC, conducts its business. Under ASC 810, Medley LLC meets the definition of a VIE because the equity of Medley LLC is not sufficient to permit business activities without additional subordinated financial support. Medley Management Inc. has the obligation to absorb expected losses that could be significant to Medley LLC and holds 100% of the voting power, therefore Medley Management Inc. is considered to be the primary beneficiary of Medley LLC.

As a result, Medley Management Inc. consolidates the financial results of Medley LLC and its subsidiaries and records a non-controlling interest for the economic interest in Medley LLC held by the non-managing members. As of September 30, 2018, Medley Management Inc.’s and the non-managing members’ economic interests in Medley LLC are 18.9% and 81.1%, respectively, and as of December 31, 2017, were 18.7% and 81.3%, respectively. Net income (loss) attributable to the non-controlling interests in Medley LLC on the consolidated statements of operations represents the portion of earnings or losses attributable to the economic interest in Medley LLC held by its non-managing members. Non-controlling interests in Medley LLC on the consolidated balance sheets represents the portion of net assets of Medley LLC attributable to the non-managing members based on total LLC Units of Medley LLC owned by such non-managing members.

As of September 30, 2018, Medley LLC had three majority owned subsidiaries, Medley Seed Funding I LLC, Medley Seed Funding II LLC and STRF Advisors LLC, which are consolidated VIEs. Each of these entities were organized as a limited liability company and was legally formed to either manage a designated fund or to strategically invest capital as well as isolate business risk. As of September 30, 2018, total assets and total liabilities, after eliminating entries, of these VIEs reflected in the consolidated balance sheets were $31.2 million and less than $0.1 million, respectively. As of December 31, 2017, Medley LLC had four majority owned subsidiaries, Medley Seed Funding I LLC, Medley Seed Funding II LLC, STRF Advisors LLC and SIC Advisors LLC, which are consolidated VIEs. As of December 31, 2017, total assets and total liabilities, after eliminating entries, of these VIEs reflected in the consolidated balance sheets were $63.3 million and $13.0 million, respectively. Except to the extent of the assets of these VIEs that are consolidated, the holders of the consolidated VIEs’ liabilities generally do not have recourse to the Company.

Seed Investments

The Company accounts for seed investments through the application of the voting interest model under ASC 810-10-25-1 through 25-14 and consolidates a seed investment when the investment advisor holds a controlling interest, which is, in general, 50% or more of the equity in such investment. For seed investments in which the Company does not hold a controlling interest, the Company accounts for such seed investment under the equity method of accounting, at its ownership percentage of such seed investment’s net asset value.

The Company seed funded $2.1 million to Sierra Total Return Fund (“STRF”), which commenced investment operations in June 2017. As of September 30, 2018, the Company owned 100% of the equity of STRF and, as such, consolidates STRF in its condensed consolidated financial statements.

The condensed balance sheet of STRF as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 is presented in the table below.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

As of September 30, 2018, the Company's condensed consolidated balance sheet reflects the elimination of $0.3 million of other assets, less than $0.1 million of accrued expenses and other liabilities and $2.2 million of equity as a result of the consolidation of STRF. As of December 31, 2017, the Company's condensed consolidated balance sheet reflects the elimination of $1.0 million of other assets, $1.5 million of accrued expenses and other liabilities and $2.1 million of equity as a result of the consolidation of STRF. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, the fund did not generate any significant income or losses from operations.

Non-Consolidated Variable Interest Entities

The Company holds interests in certain VIEs that are not consolidated because the Company is not deemed the primary beneficiary. The Company's interest in these entities is in the form of insignificant equity interests and fee arrangements. The maximum exposure to loss represents the potential loss of assets by the Company relating to these non-consolidated entities.

As of September 30, 2018, the Company recorded investments, at fair value, attributed to these non-consolidated VIEs of $4.3 million, receivables of $1.8 million included as a component of other assets and a clawback obligation of $7.2 million included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. The clawback obligation assumes a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values, and a portion of tax distributions relating to performance fees which would need to be returned. As of December 31, 2017, the Company recorded investments, at fair value, attributed to non-consolidated VIEs of $4.8 million, receivables of $2.4 million included as a component of other assets and a clawback obligation of $7.2 million included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. As of September 30, 2018, the Company's maximum exposure to losses from these entities is $6.0 million.

Use of Estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. GAAP requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosures of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of income and expenses during the reporting period. Management's estimates are based on historical experience and other factors, including expectations of future events that management believes to be reasonable under the circumstances. These assumptions and estimates also require management to exercise judgment in the process of applying the Company's accounting policies. Significant estimates and assumptions by management affect the carrying value of investments, performance compensation payable and certain accrued liabilities. Actual results could differ from these estimates, and such differences could be material.

Non-Controlling Interests in Consolidated Subsidiaries

Non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries represent the component of equity in such consolidated entities held by third-parties. These interests are adjusted for contributions to and distributions from Medley entities and are allocated income or loss from Medley entities based on their ownership percentages.

Redeemable Non-Controlling Interests

Redeemable non-controlling interests represents interests of certain third parties that are not mandatorily redeemable but redeemable for cash or other assets at a fixed or determinable price or a fixed or determinable date, at the option of the holder or upon the occurrence of an event that is not solely within the control of the Company. These interests are classified in the mezzanine section on the Company's condensed consolidated balance sheets.

Cash and Cash Equivalents

Cash and cash equivalents include liquid investments in money market funds and demand deposits. The Company had cash balances with financial institutions in excess of Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation insured limits as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017. The Company monitors the credit standing of these financial institutions and has not experienced, and has no expectations of experiencing, any losses with respect to such balances.

Investments

Investments include equity method investments that are not consolidated but over which the Company exerts significant influence. The Company measures the carrying value of its public non-traded equity method investment at Net Asset Value ("NAV") per share. The Company measures the carrying value of its privately-held equity method investments by recording its share of the underlying income or loss of these entities.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value of the equity method investments is reflected as a component of investment income in the consolidated statements of operations along with the income and expense allocations from such investments. The Company evaluates its equity method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable.

The carrying amounts of equity method investments are reflected in investments in the consolidated balance sheets. As the underlying entities that the Company manages and invests in are, for U.S. GAAP purposes, primarily investment companies which reflect their investments at estimated fair value, the carrying value of the Company's equity method investments in such entities approximates fair value. The Company evaluates its equity-method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable.

For presentation in its consolidated statements of cash flows, the Company treats distributions received from certain equity method investments using the cumulative earnings approach. Under the cumulative earnings approach, an investor would compare the distributions received to its cumulative equity-method earnings since inception. Any distributions received up to the amount of cumulative equity earnings would be considered a return on investment and classified in operating activities. Any excess distributions would be considered a return of investment and classified in investing activities.

Investments also include publicly traded common stock. The Company measures the fair value of its publicly traded common stock at the quoted market price on the primary market or exchange on which they trade. Any realized gains (losses) from the sale of investments and unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value are recorded in other income (expenses), net.

In connection with the adoption of the new revenue recognition guidance, ASC 606, Revenue from Contracts, on January 1, 2018, the Company reassessed its accounting policy for performance fees earned during the period which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager. As a result of this reassessment the Company has determined that it should account for such performance fees within the scope of ASC 323, Investments - Equity Method and Joint Ventures. Accordingly, these performance fees are now classified as carried interest within investment income on the Company's consolidated statements of operations and balances due for such fees are included as a part of equity method investments within Investments, at fair value on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. The Company has applied this change in accounting principle on a full retrospective basis, and prior periods presented have been reclassified to conform to the current period's presentation.

Investments also include the Company's investment in CK Pearl Fund, L.P. which is measured at cost less impairment. The Company performs a quantitative and qualitative assessment at each reporting date to determine whether the investment is impaired and an impairment loss equal to the difference between the carrying value and fair value is recorded within other income (expenses), net on the Company's condensed consolidated statement of operations if an impairment has been determined.

Revenues

As further described under Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Adopted as of January 1, 2018, the Company adopted new revenue recognition guidance for revenue from contracts with customers, effective January 1, 2018 using the modified retrospective approach. The adoption of this new guidance did not have an impact on the Company's accounting for management fees, administrative fees and loan administration fees.

Management Fees

Medley provides investment management services to both public and private investment vehicles. Management fees include base management fees, other management fees, and Part I incentive fees, as described below.

Base management fees are calculated based on either (i) the average or ending gross assets balance for the relevant period, (ii) limited partners' capital commitments to the funds, (iii) invested capital, (iv) NAV or (v) lower of cost or market value of a fund's portfolio investments. Depending upon the contracted terms of the investment management agreement, management fees are paid either quarterly in advance or quarterly in arrears, and are recognized as earned over the period the services are provided.

Certain management agreements provide for Medley to receive other management fee revenue derived from up front origination fees paid by the funds' and/or separately managed accounts' underlying portfolio companies. These fees are recognized when the Company becomes entitled to such fees.

Certain management agreements also provide for Medley to receive Part I incentive fee revenue derived from net investment income (excluding gains and losses) above a hurdle rate. As it relates to MCC, these fees are subject to netting against realized and unrealized losses. Part I incentive fees are paid quarterly and are recognized as earned in the period the services are provided.

Performance Fees

Performance fees are contractual fees which do not represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager that are earned based on the performance of certain funds, typically, the Company's separately managed accounts. Performance fees are earned based on the fund performance during the period, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's investment management agreement.

Prior to the adoption of ASC 606, effective January 1, 2018, the Company accounted for performance fees under Method 2 of ASC 605, Revenue Recognition, for revenue based on a formula. Under this method, performance fees for any period were based upon an assumed liquidation of the underlying fund's net assets on the reporting date and were subject to reversal to the extent that cumulative previously recognized performance fees exceeded the amount due to the general partner or investment manager based on a fund's cumulative investment returns. Upon the adoption of ASC 606, the Company accounts for performance fees in accordance with this new standard, and will only recognize performance fees when it is probable that a significant reversal of such fees will not occur in the future.

During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company did not record any reversals of previously recognized performance fees. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded a reversal of $0.4 million and $2.7 million of previously recognized performance fees, respectively, under the previous revenue recognition standard.

Other Revenues and Fees

Medley provides administrative services to certain affiliated funds and is reimbursed for direct and allocated expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, as set forth in the respective underlying agreements. These fees are recognized as revenue in the period administrative services are rendered. Medley also acts as the administrative agent on certain deals for which Medley may earn loan administration fees and transaction fees. These fees are recognized as revenue over the period to which the fees directly relate.

Carried Interest

Carried interest are performance based fees that represent a capital allocation of income to the general partner or investment manager. Carried interest are allocated to the Company based on cumulative fund performance to date, subject to the achievement of minimum return levels in accordance with the respective terms set out in each fund's governing documents.

Prior to January 1, 2018, the Company accounted for carried interest under Method 2 of ASC 605, as previously described above. Upon adoption of ASC 606, the Company reassessed its accounting policy for carried interest, and determined that carried interest is within the scope of the accounting for equity method investments, ASC 323, Investments-Equity Method and Joint Ventures, and, as such, is not within the scope of ASC 606. Under ASC 323, the Company records carried interest in a consistent manner as it historically had which is based upon an assumed liquidation of that fund's net assets as of the reporting date, regardless of whether such amounts have been realized. For any given period, carried interest on the Company's condensed consolidated statements of operations may include reversals of previously recognized carried interest due to a decrease in the value of a particular fund that results in a decrease of cumulative fees earned to date. Since fund return hurdles are cumulative, previously recognized carried interest also may be reversed in a period of appreciation that is lower than the particular fund's hurdle rate.

Carried interest received in prior periods may be required to be returned by the Company in future periods if the funds' investment performance declines below certain levels. Each fund is considered separately in this regard and, for a given fund, carried interest can never be negative over the life of a fund. If upon a hypothetical liquidation of a fund's investments, at their then current fair values, previously recognized and distributed carried interest would be required to be returned, a liability is established for the potential clawback obligation. As of September 30, 2018, the Company had not received any carried interest distributions, except for tax distributions related to the Company's allocation of net income, which included an allocation of carried interest. Pursuant to the organizational documents of each respective fund, a portion of these tax distributions may be subject to clawback. As of September 30, 2018, the Company had accrued $7.2 million for clawback obligations that would need to be paid if the funds were liquidated at fair value as of the end of the reporting period. The Company's actual obligation, however, would not become payable or realized until the end of a fund's life.

Other Investment Income (loss)

Other investment income is comprised of unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in fair value of the Company's equity method investments in addition to the income and expense allocations from such investments.

Stock-based Compensation

Stock-based compensation expense relating to equity based awards are measured at fair value as of the grant date, reduced for actual forfeitures in the period they occur, and expensed over the requisite service period on a straight-line basis as a component of compensation and benefits on the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

Income Taxes

The Company accounts for income taxes using the asset and liability approach, which requires the recognition of tax benefits or expenses for temporary differences between the financial reporting and tax basis of assets and liabilities. A valuation allowance is established when necessary to reduce deferred tax assets to the amounts expected to be realized. The Company also recognizes a tax benefit from uncertain tax positions only if it is “more likely than not” that the position is sustainable based on its technical merits. The Company’s policy is to recognize interest and penalties on uncertain tax positions and other tax matters as a component of its provision for income taxes. For interim periods, the Company accounts for income taxes based on its estimate of the effective tax rate for the year. Discrete items and changes in its estimate of the annual effective tax rate are recorded in the period they occur.

Medley Management Inc. is subject to U.S. federal, state and local corporate income taxes on its allocable portion of the income of Medley LLC at prevailing corporate tax rates. Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are not subject to federal, state and local corporate income taxes since all income, gains and losses are passed through to its members. However, a portion of taxable income from Medley LLC and its subsidiaries are subject to New York City’s unincorporated business tax, which is included in the Company’s provision for income taxes.

The Company analyzes its tax filing positions in all of the U.S. federal, state and local tax jurisdictions where it is required to file income tax returns, as well as for all open tax years in these jurisdictions. If, based on this analysis, the Company determines that uncertainties in tax positions exist, a liability is established.

Class A Earnings per Share

The Company computes and presents earnings per share using the two-class method. Under the two-class method, the Company allocates earnings between common stock and participating securities. The two-class method includes an earnings allocation formula that determines earnings per share for each class of common stock according to dividends declared and undistributed earnings for the period. For purposes of calculating earnings per share, the Company reduces its reported net earnings by the amount allocated to participating securities to arrive at the earnings allocated to Class A common stockholders. Earnings are then divided by the weighted average number of Class A common stock outstanding to arrive at basic earnings per share. Diluted earnings per share reflects the potential dilution beyond shares for basic earnings per share that could occur if securities or other contracts to issue common stock were exercised, converted into common stock, or resulted in the issuance of common stock that would have shared in our earnings. Participating securities consist of the Company’s unvested restricted stock units that contain non-forfeitable rights to dividend equivalent payments, whether paid or unpaid, in the number of shares outstanding in its basic and diluted calculations.

Reclassification of Prior Period Presentation

On January 1, 2018, the Company elected a change in accounting policy to account for performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager under ASC 323, Investments - Equity Method and Joint Ventures. As a result of this change in accounting policy, certain prior year amounts have been reclassified for consistency with the current period presentation. Performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager were reclassified from performance fees to investment income along with capital-based allocations of income and losses from our equity method investments, which were previously classified under other income (expense), net on the condensed consolidated statements of operations. On the Company’s condensed consolidated balance sheet, receivable amounts related to such performance fees were reclassified from performance fees receivable to investments, at fair value. There were no changes to the income allocations from our equity method investments, which are still included within investments, at fair value. These reclassifications had no net effect on the reported condensed consolidated statements of operations or condensed consolidated balance sheets for any period.

Additionally, the Company has reclassified $0.2 million of cash and cash equivalents of its consolidated fund as of December 31, 2017 to cash and cash equivalents on the Company’s condensed consolidated balance sheets to conform to the current year’s presentation.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Adopted as of January 1, 2018

In May 2014, the FASB issued accounting standards update (“ASU”) 2014-09, Revenue from Contracts with Customers (ASC 606), and since then, has issued several amendments intended to provide interpretive clarifications and to reduce the cost and complexity of applying the new revenue recognition standard, both at transition and on an ongoing basis. The core principle of this guidance is that an entity should recognize revenue to depict the transfer of promised goods or services to customers in an amount that reflects the consideration to which the entity expects to be entitled in exchange for such goods or services. To achieve this, entities will apply a five step approach: (1) identify the contract(s) with a customer, (2) identify the performance obligations within the contract, (3) determine the transaction price, (4) allocate the transaction price to the separate performance obligations and (5) recognize revenue when, or as, each performance obligation is satisfied. The guidance also requires advanced disclosures regarding the nature, amount, timing and uncertainty of revenue and cash flows arising from an entity’s contracts with customers.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

ASC 606 became effective for the Company beginning on January 1, 2018 and entities had the option of adopting this guidance using either a full retrospective or a modified retrospective approach. The Company adopted ASC 606 as of January 1, 2018 using the modified retrospective method. Under this method, the Company recognized the cumulative-effect of adoption of this guidance as an adjustment to equity as of January 1, 2018, as further described below, but did not restate prior periods presented in its condensed consolidated financial statements.

Effective January 1, 2018, the Company's current policy of recognizing performance fees earned from certain funds and separately managed accounts, which do not represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager changed. Previously such fees were recognized on a hypothetical liquidation basis as of each reporting date (Method 2 of ASC 605, Revenue Recognition, for revenue based on a formula). Effective January 1, 2018, the Company will not be able to recognize such fees until such time that it is probable that a significant reversal in cumulative performance fees will not occur in the future. For performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager, the Company effected a change in accounting policy and now accounts for them under ASC 323, Investments - Equity Method and Joint Ventures. As such, these types of performance fees are not in the scope of the new revenue recognition standard. The Company expects that the pattern and amount of recognition under this new policy will not differ materially from the Company's historical recognition of such fees, however the presentation and disclosure of such fees and the income from capital allocations related to these fees were altered. This change in accounting policy for performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager was retrospectively applied.

Additionally, as of January 1, 2018, the Company no longer defers reimbursable organizational, offering and other pre-launch costs associated with a fund's formation. Effective January 1, 2018, the Company began expensing such costs as incurred until the respective fund commences operations and receives third party committed capital. Reimbursements for these costs will be recognized as a component of other revenues in the Company's consolidated statements of operations when the respective fund commences operations and receives third party committed capital.

As a result of the adoption of the new revenue recognition guidance, the Company recorded a cumulative effect decrease to equity of $3.6 million, net of benefit from income taxes of $0.1 million, as of January 1, 2018, which relates to (1) certain performance fee revenue that would not have met the "probable that significant reversal will not occur" criteria of $3.0 million and (2) the reversal of reimbursable fund formation costs which were deferred on the Company's consolidated balance sheet of $0.7 million. Also, certain reimbursable costs incurred on behalf of the Company's funds that were previously presented net in the Company's consolidated statements of operations are now presented on a gross basis beginning January 1, 2018. There were no changes from the way the Company previously recognized management fees, administrative fees and loan administration fees as the result of its adoption of ASU 2014-09 or its change in accounting policy for performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager.

In January 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-01, Financial Instruments – Overall: Recognition and Measurement of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities, which requires that all investments in equity securities (except those accounted for under the equity method of accounting) be measured at fair value with changes in fair value recognized in net income. This guidance eliminates the available-for-sale classification for equity securities with readily determinable fair values. However, companies may elect to measure equity investments that do not have readily determinable fair values at cost minus impairment, if any, plus or minus changes resulting from observable price changes in orderly transactions for an identical or similar investment of the same issuer. The Company adopted this guidance effective January 1, 2018. Under this new guidance, changes in the fair value of available-for-sale securities will no longer be classified in the Company's consolidated statements of comprehensive income but rather as a component of other income (expense), net in its consolidated statements of operations. As a result of the adoption of this ASU, on January 1, 2018, the Company reclassified $1.3 million of cumulative unrealized losses, net of income tax benefit, from accumulated other comprehensive (loss) income to accumulated deficit on the Company's condensed consolidated balance sheet. Also, on the adoption date, the Company elected the measurement alternative provided under ASC 321, Investments - Equity Securities and will now account for its investment in CK Pearl Fund, L.P. at cost less impairment, adjusted for observable price changes for an identical or similar investment of the same issuer. The adoption of this guidance may have a significant impact to the consolidated statements of operations going forward as any changes to the fair value of the Company's publicly traded securities that were previously accounted for as available-for-sale securities will now be reflected within other income on the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

In May 2017, the FASB issued ASU 2017-09, Scope of Modification Accounting. This guidance clarifies when changes to share-based payment awards must be accounted for as modifications. The guidance requires an entity to apply modification accounting guidance if the value, vesting conditions or classification of the award changes but will provide relief to entities that make non-substantive changes to their share-based payment awards. The Company adopted this guidance effective January 1, 2018. The Company has evaluated the impact of adopting this standard on its consolidated financial statements, and it did not have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

In February 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-02, Income Statement - Reporting Comprehensive Income (Topic 220): Reclassification of Certain Tax Effects from Accumulated Other Comprehensive Income. This guidance permits entities to reclassify tax effects stranded in accumulated other comprehensive income ("OCI") as a result of tax reform to retained earnings. An entity can apply this new guidance either (1) in the period of adoption or (2) retrospectively to each period in which the income tax effects of the 2017 Tax Cuts and Jobs Act related to items in accumulated OCI are recognized. The Company early adopted ASU 2018-02 effective January 1, 2018 and applied this new guidance in the period of adoption. As a result, $0.2 million of income taxes stranded in accumulated other comprehensive income was reclassified to accumulated deficit.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Adopted as of July 1, 2018

In February 2018, the FASB issued ASU 2018-03, Technical Corrections and Improvements to Financial Instruments - Overall (Subtopic 825-10) Recognition and Measurement of Financial Assets and Financial Liabilities. ASU 2018-03 clarifies certain aspects of the guidance issued in ASU 2016-01. The clarifications in this accounting standards update relate to three classes of financial instruments: (1) equity securities without a readily determinable fair value, (2) financial liabilities for which the fair value option is elected and (3) forward contracts and purchase options on equity securities without a readily determinable fair value for which the measurement alternative is expected to be applied. This new guidance became effective for the Company on July 1, 2018 and the Company adopted such guidance as of that date. The adoption of this guidance did not have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated financial statements.

Recently Issued Accounting Pronouncements Not Yet Adopted

In February 2016, the FASB issued ASU 2016-02, Leases (Topic 842). This guidance requires an entity to recognize assets and liabilities arising from a lease for both financing and operating leases, along with additional qualitative and quantitative disclosures. This new guidance will become effective for the Company on January 1, 2019, with early adoption permitted. A modified retrospective approach is required for adoption for all leases that exist at or commence after the date of initial application with an option to use certain practical expedients. We expect to use the package of practical expedients that allows us to not reassess: (1) whether any expired or existing contracts are or contain leases, (2) lease classification for any expired or existing leases and (3) initial direct costs for any expired or existing leases. We additionally expect to use the practical expedient that allows us to treat the lease and non-lease components of our leases as a single component. We expect to adopt this guidance when effective, using the transition method that allows us to initially apply Topic 842 at the adoption date of January 1, 2019 and recognize a cumulative-effect adjustment to the opening balance of retained earnings in the period of adoption. The adoption of this guidance is expected to result in a significant increase in total assets and total liabilities, but is not expected to have a significant impact on the Company's consolidated statements of operations.

The Company does not believe any other recently issued, but not yet effective, revisions to authoritative guidance will have a material effect on its consolidated balance sheets, results of operations or cash flows.

3. REVENUES FROM CONTRACTS WITH CUSTOMERS

The majority of the Company's revenues are derived from investment management and advisory contracts that are accounted for in accordance with the new revenue recognition standard, ASC 606.

Performance Obligations

Performance obligations are the unit of account under the new revenue recognition standard and represent the distinct goods or services that are promised to the customer. The majority of the Company's contracts have a single performance obligation to provide asset management, advisory and other related services to permanent capital vehicles, long-dated private funds and separately managed accounts. The Company also has a separate performance obligation to act as an agent for certain third party lenders and provide loan administration services to certain borrowers. These loan administration services also represent a single performance obligation.

The Company primarily provides investment management services to a fund by managing the fund's investments and maximizing returns on those investments. The Company's asset management, advisory and other related services are transferred over time to the customer on a day-to-day basis. The contracts with each fund create a distinct performance obligation for each quarter the Company provides the promised services to the customer, from which the customer can benefit from each individual quarter of service. Furthermore, each quarter of the promised services is considered separately identifiable because there is no integration of the promised services between quarters, each quarter does not modify services provided prior to that quarter, and the services provided are not interdependent or interrelated. Most services provided to these funds are provided continuously over the contract period, so the services in the contract generally represents a single performance obligation comprising a series of distinct service periods. A contract's transaction price is allocated to the series of distinct services that constitute a single performance obligation and recognized as revenue when, or as, the performance obligation is satisfied.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

The management fees earned by the Company are largely dependent on fluctuations in the market and, thus, the determination of such fees is highly susceptible to factors outside the Company's influence. Management fees typically have a large number and broad range of possible consideration amounts and historical experience is generally not indicative of future performance of the market. Hence, the Company is applying the exemption provided under the new revenue recognition guidance as the Company is unable to estimate the aggregate amount of the transaction price allocated to the performance obligations that are unsatisfied and the variable consideration is allocated entirely to a wholly unsatisfied performance obligation.

The new revenue recognition standard also revises the criteria for determining if an entity is acting as a principal or agent in certain arrangements. Depending on whether the Company is acting as the principal or as an agent, certain reimbursable expenses that were previously recorded net are now presented as an expense on a gross basis on the Company's condensed consolidated statement of operations.

Significant Judgments

The Company's contracts with customers generally include a single performance obligation to provide asset management, advisory and other related services on a quarterly basis. Revenues are recognized as such performance obligation is satisfied and the constraint on the management fees is lifted on a quarterly basis, hence, the Company does not need to exercise significant judgments in regards to management fees. Consideration for management fees is received on a quarterly basis as the performance obligations is satisfied.

With respect to performance fees based on the economic performance of its SMAs, significant judgment is required when determining recognition of revenues. Such judgments include:

- whether the fund is near final liquidation
- whether the fair value of the remaining assets in the fund is significantly in excess of the threshold at which the Company would earn an incentive fee
- the probability of significant fluctuations in the fair value of the remaining assets
- the SMA's remaining investments are under contract for sale with contractual purchase prices that would result in no clawback and it is highly likely that the contracts will be consummated

As such, the Company will consider the above factors at each reporting period to determine whether there is an amount of the SMA performance fees which should be recognized as revenue because it is probable that there will not be a significant future revenue reversal, hence, the "constraint" on the performance fees has been lifted.

The Company accounts for performance fees which represent capital allocations to the general partner or investment manager pursuant to accounting rules relating to investments accounted for under the equity method of accounting. As such, these types of performance fees are not within the scope of the new revenue recognition standard and the above significant judgments and constraints do not apply to them. Refer to Note 2 "Summary of Significant Accounting Policies" and Note 4 "Investments" for additional information.

Revenue by Category

The following tables present the Company's revenue from contracts with customers disaggregated by type of customer for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018.

The Other revenues and fees balances above primarily consist of revenues earned by Medley while serving as loan administrative agent on certain deals, including loan administration fees and transaction fees. Additionally, this balance includes reimbursable origination and deal expenses as well as reimbursable entity formation and organizational expenses.

The Company's asset management, advisory and other related services are transferred over time and the Company recognizes these revenues over time as well.

Contract Balances

For certain customers, the Company has a performance obligation to provide loan administration services. The timing of revenue recognition may differ from the timing of invoicing to such customers or receiving consideration. For the majority of these services cash deposits are received prior to the performance obligation being met. The performance obligation of acting as a loan administrator is satisfied over time, therefore, the Company defers any payments received upfront as deferred revenue and recognizes revenue on a pro-rata basis over time as the loan administrative services are performed.

These contract liabilities are reported as deferred revenue within accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the condensed consolidated balance sheets and amounted to $0.3 million as of September 30, 2018. During the three months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recognized revenue from amounts included in deferred revenue of $0.1 million and received cash deposits of $0.2 million. During the nine months ended September 30, 2018, the company recognized revenue from amounts included in deferred revenue of $0.5 million and received cash deposits of $0.5 million.

The Company did not have any contract assets as of September 30, 2018 or December 31, 2017.

Comparative Tables

As the Company adopted the new revenue guidance (ASC 606) under the modified retrospective method, the Company is required to present what the Company's revenues would have been under the previous revenue guidance (ASC 605). The following tables present the reconciliation between the financial statement line items reported on the condensed consolidated balance sheet as of September 30, 2018 under ASC 606 to what would have been reported under the previous guidance ASC 605.

Assets Recognized for the Costs to Obtain or Fulfill a Contract

As part of providing investment management services to a fund, the Company might incur certain placement fees to third parties for obtaining new investors for the fund. Any placement fees incurred to third party placement agents for placing investors into a fund are variable as it is based on a percentage of future fees and cannot be reasonably estimated. The Company determined that placement fees which are paid in cash over time, as fees are earned, do not relate to a new contract at the time the payment is made. These costs do not represent a cost to obtain a new contract but rather a cost to fulfill an existing contract. The Company does not recognize any assets for the incremental costs of obtaining or fulfilling a contract with a customer and expenses placement fees as incurred.

4. INVESTMENTS

Investments consist of the following:

	As of
	September 30, 2018	December 31, 2017
	(Amounts in thousands)
Equity method investments, at fair value	$ 14,060	$ 14,136

Investments of consolidated fund	2,085	2,005
Total investments, at fair value	$ 46,285	$ 56,632

Equity Method Investments

Medley measures the carrying value of its public non-traded equity method investment at NAV per share. Unrealized appreciation (depreciation) resulting from changes in NAV per share is reflected as a component of investment income in the consolidated statements of operations. The carrying value of the Company's privately-held equity method investments is determined based on the amounts invested by the Company plus the equity in earnings or losses of the investee allocated based on the respective underlying agreements, less distributions received.

The Company evaluates its equity method investments for impairment whenever events or changes in circumstances indicate that the carrying amounts of such investments may not be recoverable. There were no impairment losses recorded during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company's carrying value of its equity method investments was $14.1 million. The Company's equity method investment in shares of Sierra Income Corporation ("SIC" or "Sierra"), a related party, were $7.8 million and $8.5 million as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, respectively. The remaining balance as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 relates primarily to the Company's investments in Medley Opportunity Fund II, LP ("MOF II"), Medley Opportunity Fund III LP ("MOF III"), Medley Opportunity Fund Offshore III LP ("MOF III Offshore") and Aspect-Medley Investment Platform B LP ("Aspect B").

For performance fees earned which represent a capital allocation to the general partner or investment manager, the Company elected a change in accounting policy and, as of January 1, 2018, accounts for them under the equity method of accounting. In addition, commencing on January 1, 2018, performance fees due to the Company are included as a part of equity method investments within investments, at fair value rather than as a component of performance fees receivable on the Company's condensed consolidated balance sheets. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the balance due to the Company for such performance fees was $0.5 million and $0.2 million, respectively. Revenues associated with these performance fees are classified as carried interest within investment income on the Company's condensed consolidated statements of operations.

The entities in which the Company's investments are accounted for under the equity method are considered to be related parties.

Investments in shares of MCC, at fair value

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company held 7,756,938 shares of MCC which are carried at fair value based upon the quoted market price on the exchange on which the shares trade. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recognized unrealized gains of $2.7 million and unrealized losses of $10.9 million, respectively, which were included as a component of other income (expense), net on the Company's condensed consolidated statements of operations.

Prior to the adoption of ASU 2016-01 on January 1, 2018, the Company's investment in shares of MCC were classified as available-for-sale securities, with cumulative unrealized gains (losses) recorded in other comprehensive income (loss). During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, the Company recorded unrealized losses of $3.0 million and $5.4 million, respectively, as a component of other comprehensive income.

Investment Held at Cost Less Impairment

Effective January 1, 2018, the Company elected to use the measurement alternative provided under ASC 321, Investments- Equity Securities and measure its investment in CK Pearl at cost less impairment, adjusted for observable price changes for an identical or similar investment of the same issuer. The carrying amount of this investment was $0.5 million as of both September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017. Prior to January 1, 2018, the Company's investment in CK Pearl was accounted for under the equity method. The carrying value of the Company's investment in CK Pearl is determined based on the financial information provided to the Company by the fund manager and the likelihood of recovering the Company's investment in the fund.

Investments of consolidated fund

Medley measures the carrying value of investments held by its consolidated fund at fair value. As of September 30, 2018, investments of consolidated fund consisted of $0.4 million of equity investments and $1.7 million of senior secured loans. As of December 31, 2017, investments of consolidated fund consisted of $0.4 million of equity investments and $1.6 million of senior secured loans Refer to Note 5 “Fair Value Measurements” for additional information.

5. FAIR VALUE MEASUREMENTS

Fair value is the price that would be received from the sale of an asset or paid to transfer a liability in an orderly transaction between market participants at the measurement date. Where available, fair value is based on observable market prices or parameters, or derived from such prices or parameters. Where observable prices or inputs are not available, valuation models are applied. These valuation models involve some level of management estimation and judgment, the degree of which is dependent on the price transparency for the instruments or market and the instruments’ complexity. The Company’s fair value analysis includes an analysis of the value of any unfunded loan commitments. Financial investments recorded at fair value in the consolidated financial statements are categorized for disclosure purposes based upon the level of judgment associated with the inputs to the valuation of the investment as of the measurement date. Investments which are valued using NAV as a practical expedient are excluded from this hierarchy:

- Level I – Valuations based on quoted prices in active markets for identical assets or liabilities at the measurement date.
- Level II – Valuations based on inputs other than quoted prices in active markets included in Level I, which are either directly or indirectly observable at the measurement date. This category includes quoted prices for similar assets or liabilities in active markets, quoted prices for identical or similar assets or liabilities in non- active markets including actionable bids from third parties for privately held assets or liabilities, and observable inputs other than quoted prices such as yield curves and forward currency rates that are entered directly into valuation models to determine the value of derivatives or other assets or liabilities.
- Level III – Valuations based on inputs that are unobservable and where there is little, if any, market activity at the measurement date. The inputs for the determination of fair value may require significant management judgment or estimation and are based upon management’s assessment of the assumptions that market participants would use in pricing the assets and liabilities. These investments include debt and equity investments in private companies or assets valued using the Market or Income Approach and may involve pricing models whose inputs require significant judgment or estimation because of the absence of any meaningful current market data for identical or similar investments. The inputs in these valuations may include, but are not limited to, capitalization and discount rates, beta and EBITDA multiples. The information may also include pricing information or broker quotes which include a disclaimer that the broker would not be held to such a price in an actual transaction. The non-binding nature of consensus pricing and/or quotes accompanied by disclaimer would result in classification as Level III information, assuming no additional corroborating evidence.

The following tables summarize the fair value hierarchy of the Company’s financial assets measured at fair value (in thousands):

	As of September 30, 2018
	Level I	Level II	Level III	Total
Assets
Investments of consolidated fund	$ 234	$ —	$ 1,851	$ 2,085
Investment in shares of MCC	29,632	—	—	29,632
Total Assets	$ 29,866	$ —	$ 1,851	$ 31,717

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

	As of December 31, 2017
	Level I	Level II	Level III	Total
Assets
Investments of consolidated fund	$ 435	$ —	$ 1,570	$ 2,005
Investment in shares of MCC	40,491	—	—	40,491
Total Assets	$ 40,926	$ —	$ 1,570	$ 42,496

Included in investments of consolidated fund as of September 30, 2018 are Level I assets of $0.2 million in equity investments and Level III assets of $1.9 million, which consists of senior secured loans and equity investments. Included in investments of consolidated fund as of December 31, 2017 are Level I assets of $0.4 million in equity investments and Level III assets of $1.6 million, which consists of senior secured loans and preferred equity investments. The significant unobservable inputs used in the fair value measurement of Level III assets of the consolidated fund's investments in senior secured loans include market yields. Significant increases or decreases in market yields in isolation would result in a significantly higher or lower fair value measurement. There were no significant unrealized gains or losses related to the investments of consolidated fund for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018.

The following is a summary of changes in fair value of the Company's financial assets that have been categorized within Level III of the fair value hierarchy (in thousands):

	Level III Financial Assets as of September 30, 2018					Balance at September 30, 2018
	Balance at December 31, 2017	Purchases	Transfers In or (Out) of Level III	Unrealized Depreciation	Sale of Level III Assets
Investments of consolidated fund	$ 1,570	492	—	(8)	(203)	$ 1,851

A review of the fair value hierarchy classifications is conducted on a quarterly basis. Changes in the observability of valuation inputs may result in a reclassification for certain financial assets or liabilities. Reclassifications impacting all levels of the fair value hierarchy are reported as transfers in or out of Level I, II or III category as of the beginning of the quarter during which the reclassifications occur. There were no transfers between levels in the fair value hierarchy during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018.

When determining the fair value of publicly traded equity securities, the Company uses the quoted closing market price as of the valuation date on the primary market or exchange on which they trade. Our equity method investments for which fair value is measured at NAV per share, or its equivalent, using the practical expedient, are not categorized in the fair value hierarchy.

The Company's investments of consolidated fund are treated as investments at fair value and any realized and unrealized gains and losses from those investments are recorded through the condensed consolidated statement of operations. The Company's treatment is consistent with that of STRF, which is considered an investment company under ASC 946, Financial Services - Investment Companies, for standalone reporting purposes.

CNB Credit Agreement

On August 19, 2014, the Company entered into a $15.0 million senior secured revolving credit facility with City National Bank (as amended, the “Revolving Credit Facility”). The most recent amendment dated September 22, 2017 extended the Revolving Credit Facility maturity date to March 31, 2020 and provides for an incremental facility in an amount up to $10.0 million upon the fulfillment of certain customary conditions, as well as other changes. The Company intends to use any proceeds from borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility for general corporate purposes, including funding of its working capital needs. Borrowings under the Revolving Credit Facility bear interest, at the option of the Company, either (i) at an Alternate Base Rate, as defined, plus an applicable margin not to exceed 0.25% or (ii) at an Adjusted LIBOR plus an applicable margin not to exceed 2.5%. As of and during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, there were no amounts drawn under the Revolving Credit Facility. The capitalized terms below are defined in the Revolving Credit Facility, where applicable.

The Revolving Credit Facility also contains financial covenants that require the Company to maintain a Maximum Net Leverage Ratio, as defined, of not greater than 5.0 to 1.0, a Total Leverage Ratio, as defined, of not greater than 7.0 to 1.0 and Core EBITDA, as defined, of not less than $15.0 million. These ratios are calculated on a trailing twelve months basis and are calculated using the Company’s financial results and include adjustments made to calculate Core EBITDA. Non-compliance with any of the financial or non-financial covenants without cure or waiver would constitute an event of default. In September 2018, the Company requested and received a waiver from City National Bank that permits the Company to exclude the Maximum Net Leverage Ratio covenant with respect to the fiscal periods ending on each of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2018. The Revolving Credit Facility also contains customary negative covenants and other customary events of default, including defaults based on events of bankruptcy and insolvency, dissolution, nonpayment of principal, interest or fees when due, breach of specified covenants, change in control and material inaccuracy of representations and warranties. As of September 30, 2018, there were no events of default under the Revolving Credit Facility.

Credit Suisse Term Loan Facility

On August 14, 2014, the Company entered into a $110.0 million senior secured term loan credit facility (as amended, “Term Loan Facility”) with Credit Suisse AG, Cayman Islands Branch, as administrative agent and collateral agent thereunder, Credit Suisse Securities (USA) LLC, as bookrunner and lead arranger, and the lenders from time-to-time party thereto, which had an original maturity date of June 15, 2019. In February 2017, borrowings under this facility were paid off using the proceeds from the issuance of senior unsecured debt and the Term Loan Facility was terminated.

During the nine months ending September 30, 2017, interest expense under the Term Loan Facility, including accretion of the note discount and amortization of debt issuance costs, as well as the deferred issuance costs associated with the Revolving Credit facility, were $1.5 million. There was no interest expense under the Term Loan Facility for the three months ending September 30, 2017.

Non-Recourse Promissory Notes

In April 2012, the Company borrowed $10.0 million under two non-recourse promissory notes. Proceeds from the borrowings were used to purchase 1,108,033 shares of common stock of SIC, which were pledged as collateral for the obligations. Interest on the notes is paid monthly and is equal to the dividends received by the Company related to the pledged shares. The Company may prepay the notes in whole or in part at any time without penalty and the lenders may call the notes if certain conditions are met. The notes are scheduled to mature in March 2019. The proceeds from the notes were recorded net of issuance costs of $3.8 million and are being accreted, using the effective interest method, over the term of the non-recourse promissory notes. Total interest expense under these notes, including accretion of the notes discount, was $0.3 million for each of the three months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively, and $1.0 million for each of the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. The fair value of the outstanding balance of the notes was $10.0 million as of September 30, 2018 and $10.1 million as of December 31, 2017.

Contractual Maturities of Loans Payable

As of September 30, 2018, $10.0 million of future principal payments will be due, relating to loans payable, during the year ended December 31, 2019.

10. COMMITMENTS AND CONTINGENCIESOperating Leases

Medley leases office space in New York City and San Francisco under non-cancelable lease agreements that expire at various times through September 2023. Rent expense was $0.6 million for each of the three months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017, and $1.8 million for each of the nine months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017.

As of September 30, 2018 future minimum rental payments under non-cancelable leases are as follows (in thousands):

Remaining in 2018	$ 676
2019	2,710
2020	2,833
2021	2,430
2022	2,431
Thereafter	1,823
Total future minimum lease payments	$ 12,903

Consolidation of Business Activities

During the three months ended March 31, 2018, the Company initiated the consolidation of its business activities to its New York office. The Company believes this will enhance operations by consolidating origination, underwriting and asset management operations and personnel in a single location. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded less than $0.1 million and $2.3 million in severance costs, respectively. In addition, the company incurred a $0.1 million loss from subleasing its San Francisco office during the nine months ended September 30, 2018.

Capital Commitments to Funds

As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company had aggregate unfunded commitments of $0.3 million to certain long-dated private funds.

Other Commitments

In April 2012, the Company entered into an obligation to pay to a third party a fixed percentage of management and incentive fees received by the Company from SIC. The agreement was entered into contemporaneously with the $10.0 million non-recourse promissory notes that were issued to the same parties (Note 8). The two transactions were deemed to be related freestanding contracts and the $10.0 million of loan proceeds were allocated to the contracts using their relative fair values. At inception, the Company recognized an obligation of $4.4 million representing the present value of the future cash flows expected to be paid under this agreement. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, this obligation amounted to $3.1 million and $3.8 million, respectively, and is recorded as revenue share payable, a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the consolidated balance sheets. The change in the estimated cash flows for this obligation is recorded in other income (expense), net on the consolidated statements of operations.

Legal Proceedings

From time to time, the Company is involved in various legal proceedings, lawsuits and claims incidental to the conduct of its business. Its business is also subject to extensive regulation, which may result in regulatory proceedings against it. Except as described below, the Company is not currently party to any material legal proceedings.

One of the Company's subsidiaries, MCC Advisors LLC, was named as a defendant in a lawsuit on May 29, 2015, by Moshe Barkat and Modern VideoFilm Holdings, LLC ("MVF Holdings") against MCC, MOF II, MCC Advisors LLC, Deloitte Transactions and Business Analytics LLP A/K/A Deloitte ERG ("Deloitte"), Scott Avila ("Avila"), Charles Sweet, and Modern VideoFilm, Inc. ("MVF"). The lawsuit is pending in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 583437. The lawsuit was filed after MCC, as agent for the lender group, exercised remedies following a series of defaults by MVF and MVF Holdings on a secured loan with an outstanding balance at the time in excess of $65 million. The lawsuit sought damages in excess of $100 million. Deloitte and Avila have settled the claims against them in exchange for payment of $1.5 million. On June 6, 2016, the court granted the Medley defendants' demurrers on several counts and dismissed Mr. Barkat's claims with prejudice except with respect to his claim for intentional interference with contract. On March 18, 2018, the court granted the Medley defendants' motion for summary adjudication with respect to Mr. Barkat's sole remaining claim against the Medley Defendants for intentional interference. Now that the trial court has ruled in favor of the Medley defendants on all counts, the only remaining claims in the Barkat litigation are MCC and MOF II's affirmative counterclaims against Mr. Barkat and MVF Holdings, which MCC and MOF II are diligently prosecuting.

On August 29, 2016, MVF Holdings filed another lawsuit in the California Superior Court, Los Angeles County, Central District, as Case No. BC 631888 (the “Derivative Action”), naming MCC Advisors LLC and certain of Medley’s employees as defendants, among others. The plaintiff in the Derivative Action, asserts claims against the defendants for breach of fiduciary duty, aiding and abetting breach of fiduciary duty, unfair competition, breach of the implied covenant of good faith and fair dealing, interference with prospective economic advantage, fraud, and declaratory relief. MCC Advisors LLC and the other defendants believe the causes of action asserted in the Derivative Action are without merit and all defendants intend to continue to assert a vigorous defense. All proceedings in the Derivative Action have been stayed as a result of the chapter 11 bankruptcy proceedings of MVF, which were commenced on May 16, 2018.

Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube were named as defendants, along with other various parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned as Royce Solomon, Jodi Belleci, Michael Littlejohn, and Julianna Lomaglio v. American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Mark Curry, MacFarlane Group, Inc., Sol Partners, Medley Opportunity Fund, II, LP, Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube, DHI Computing Service, Inc., Middlemarch Partners, and John Does 1-100, filed on December 15, 2017 and amended on March 9, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:17-cv-145 (hereinafter, “Class Action 1”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and Medley Capital Corporation were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned George Hengle and Lula Williams v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and Medley Capital Corporation, filed February 13, 2018, in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Richmond Division, as Case No. 3:18-cv-100 (“Class Action 2”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and Medley Capital Corporation were also named as defendants, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned John Glatt, Sonji Grandy, Heather Ball, Dashawn Hunter, and Michael Corona v. Mark Curry, American Web Loan, Inc., AWL, Inc., Red Stone, Inc., Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, and Medley Capital Corporation, filed August 9, 2018 in the United States District Court, Eastern District of Virginia, Newport News Division, as Case No. 4:18-cv-101 (“Class Action 3”) (together with Class Action 1 and Class Action 2, the “Virginia Class Actions”). Medley Opportunity Fund II LP was also named as a defendant, along with various other parties, in a putative class action lawsuit captioned Christina Williams and Michael Stermel v. Red Stone, Inc. (as successor in interest to MacFarlane Group, Inc.), Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Mark Curry, Brian McGowan, Vincent Ney, and John Doe entities and individuals, filed June 29, 2018 and amended July 26, 2018, in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania, as Case No. 2:18-cv-2747 (the “Pennsylvania Class Action”) (together with the Virginia Class Actions, the “Class Action Complaints”). The plaintiffs in the Class Action Complaints filed their putative class actions alleging claims under the Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act, and various other claims arising out of the alleged payday lending activities of American Web Loan. The claims against Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube (in Class Action 1, as amended); Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and Medley Capital Corporation (in Class Action 2 and Class Action 3); and Medley Opportunity Fund II LP (in the Pennsylvania Class Action), allege that those defendants in each respective action exercised control over, or improperly derived income from, and/or obtained an improper interest in, American Web Loan’s payday lending activities as a result of a loan to American Web Loan. The loan was made by Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in 2011. American Web Loan repaid the loan from Medley Opportunity Fund II LP in full in February of 2015, more than 1 year and 10 months prior to any of the loans allegedly made by American Web Loan to the alleged class plaintiff representatives in Class Action 1. In Class Action 2, the alleged class plaintiff representatives have not alleged when they received any loans from American Web Loan. In Class Action 3, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan at various times from February 2015 through April 2018. In the Pennsylvania Class Action, the alleged class plaintiff representatives claim to have received loans from American Web Loan in 2017. By orders dated August 7, 2018 and September 17, 2018, the Court presiding over the Virginia Class Actions consolidated those cases for all purposes. On October 12, 2018, Plaintiffs in Class Action 3 filed a notice of voluntary dismissal of their claims, without prejudice, against Medley Opportunity Fund II, LP and Medley Capital Corporation. On October 22, 2018, the parties to Class Action 2 settled. On October 29, 2018, the plaintiffs in Class Action 2 stipulated to the dismissal of their claims against all defendants in Class Action 2 (including Medley Opportunity Fund II LP and Medley Capital Corporation), with prejudice. Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube never made any loans or provided financing to, or had any other relationship with, American Web Loan. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, Seth Taube are seeking indemnification from American Web Loan, various affiliates, and other parties with respect to the claims in the Class Action Complaints. Medley Opportunity Fund II LP, Medley LLC, Medley Capital Corporation, Medley Management, Inc., Medley Group, LLC, Brook Taube, and Seth Taube believe the alleged claims in the Class Action Complaints are without merit and they intend to defend these lawsuits vigorously.

11. RELATED PARTY TRANSACTIONS

Substantially all of Medley’s revenue is earned through agreements with its non-consolidated funds for which it collects management and performance fees for providing asset management, advisory and other related services.

Administration Agreements

In January 2011 and April 2012, Medley entered into administration agreements with MCC (the “MCC Admin Agreement”) and SIC (the “SIC Admin Agreement”), respectively, whereby, as part of its performance obligation to provide asset management, advisory and other related services, Medley agreed to provide administrative services necessary for the operations of MCC and SIC. MCC and SIC agreed to pay Medley for the costs and expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, including an allocable portion of Medley’s overhead expenses and an allocable portion of the cost of MCC and SIC’s officers and their respective staffs.

Additionally, Medley has entered into administration agreements with other entities that it manages (the “Funds Admin Agreements”), whereby Medley agreed to provide administrative services necessary for the operations of these other vehicles. These other entities agreed to pay Medley for the costs and expenses incurred in providing such administrative services, including an allocable portion of Medley’s overhead expenses and an allocable portion of the cost of these other vehicles’ officers and their respective staffs.

Medley records these administrative fees as revenue in the period when the performance obligation of providing such administrative services is satisfied and are included in other revenues and fees on the condensed consolidated statements of operations. Amounts due from these agreements are included as a component of other assets on the Company’s condensed consolidated balance sheets.

Total revenues recorded under these agreements for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 are reflected in the table below:

	For the Three Months Ended		For the Nine Months Ended
	September 30,		September 30,
	2018	2017	2018	2017
	(Amounts in thousands)

Total administrative fees from related parties	$ 1,558	$ 1,911	$ 5,323	$ 6,191

Amounts due from related parties under these agreements are reflected in the table below:

	As of
	September 30,	December 31,
	2018	2017
	(Amounts in thousands)
Amounts due from MCC under the MCC Admin Agreement	$ 809	$ 867
Amounts due from SIC under the SIC Admin Agreement	528	696
Amounts due from entities under the Funds Admin Agreements	252	340
Total administrative fees receivable	$ 1,589	$ 1,903

Management fee Waiver

During the first quarter of 2018, the Company voluntarily waived $0.4 million in management fees for MCC.

Investments

Exchange Agreement

Prior to the completion of the Company's IPO, Medley LLC's limited liability agreement was restated among other things, to modify its capital structure by reclassifying the interests held by its existing owners (i.e. the members of Medley prior to the IPO) into the LLC Units. Medley's existing owners also entered into an exchange agreement under which they (or certain permitted transferees thereof) have the right (subject to the terms of the exchange agreement as described therein), to exchange their LLC Units for shares of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock on a one-for-one basis at fair value, subject to customary conversion rate adjustments for stock splits, stock dividends and reclassifications.

Tax Receivable Agreement

Medley Management Inc. entered into a tax receivable agreement with the holders of LLC Units that provides for the payment by Medley Management Inc. to exchanging holders of LLC Units of 85% of the benefits, if any, that Medley Management Inc. is deemed to realize as a result of increases in tax basis of tangible and intangible assets of Medley LLC from the future exchange of LLC Units for shares of Class A common stock, as well as certain other tax benefits related to entering into the tax receivable agreement, including tax benefits attributable to payments under the tax receivable agreement.

The term of the tax receivable agreement will continue until all such tax benefits under the agreement have been utilized or have expired, unless Medley Management Inc. exercises its right to terminate the tax receivable agreement for an amount based on an agreed value of payments remaining to be made under the agreement. There have been no transactions under this agreement through September 30, 2018.

12. EARNINGS PER CLASS A SHARE

The table below presents basic and diluted net (loss) income per share of Class A common stock using the two-class method for the three and nine months ending September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively:

	For the Three Months Ended		For the Nine Months Ended
	September 30,		September 30,
	2018	2017	2018	2017
	(Amounts in thousands, except share and per share amounts)
Basic and diluted net (loss) income per share:
Numerator
Net (loss) income attributable to Medley Management Inc.	$ (485)	$ 461	$ (1,841)	$ 1,429
Less: Allocation to participating securities	(355)	(296)	(898)	(451)
Net (loss) income available to Class A common stockholders	$ (840)	$ 165	$ (2,739)	$ 978
Denominator
Weighted average shares of Class A common stock outstanding	5,591,123	5,342,939	5,539,804	5,578,003
Net (loss) income per Class A share	$ (0.15)	$ 0.03	$ (0.49)	$ 0.18

The allocation to participating securities above generally represents dividends paid to holders of unvested restricted stock units which reduces net income available to common stockholders.

The weighted average shares of Class A common stock is the same for both basic and diluted earnings per share as the diluted amount excludes the assumed conversion of 24,639,302 and 23,653,333 LLC Units and restricted LLC Units as of September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively, to shares of Class A common stock, the impact of which would be antidilutive.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

The following table reflects the per share dividend amounts that the Company declared on its common stock during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017.

Declaration Dates	Record Date	Payment Dates	Per Share
August 8, 2017	August 23, 2017	September 6, 2017	$ 0.20

February 7, 2018	February 22, 2018	March 7, 2018	$ 0.20

13. INCOME TAXES

Deferred income taxes reflect the net effect of temporary differences between the tax basis of an asset or liability and its reported amount on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. These temporary differences result in taxable or deductible amounts in future years. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the Company's deferred tax assets were $5.3 million and $2.8 million, respectively, which consists primarily of temporary differences relating to certain accrued expenses, stock-based compensation, unrealized losses and a tax benefit relating to tax goodwill. The Company's deferred tax asset balance as of September 30, 2018 is presented net of a valuation allowance of $0.7 million. This valuation allowance was established during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and primarily relates to the portion of the Company's deferred tax assets associated with the cumulative unrealized loss on shares of MCC. At this time, the Company considers it more likely than not that it would not be able to generate enough capital gains in the near future to realize the deferred tax asset associated with such capital losses. Deferred tax liabilities were $0.1 million as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017. The tax provision for deferred income taxes results from temporary differences arising principally from certain accrued expenses, amortization of tax goodwill, deferred rent, stock-based compensation and depreciation.

The Company's effective tax rate was 15.7% and 12.5% for the three months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively, and (9.4)% and 9.2% for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, respectively. The quarterly provision for income taxes is determined based on the Company's estimated full year effective tax rate adjusted by the amount of tax attributable to infrequent or unusual items that are recognized on a discrete basis in the income tax provision in the quarter in which they occur. The Company's effective tax rate includes a rate benefit attributable to the fact that the Company's subsidiaries operate as limited liability companies, which are not subject to federal or state income tax. Accordingly, a portion of the Company's earnings attributable to non-controlling interests are not subject to corporate level taxes. However, a portion of the Company's subsidiaries' income is subject to New York City's unincorporated business tax. For the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, the Company was only subject to federal, state and city corporate income taxes on its pre-tax income attributable to Medley Management Inc.

On December 22, 2017, the U.S. government enacted the Tax Cuts and Jobs Act (the "Tax Act"). The Tax Act includes significant changes to the U.S. corporate income tax system including: a federal corporate rate reduction from 34% to 21%; limitations on the deductibility of interest expense and executive compensation; and the transition of U.S. international taxation from a worldwide tax system to a modified territorial tax system. Changes under the Tax Act were effective for the Company on January 1, 2018.

The variance in the effective tax rate for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 compared to the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017 was primarily due to the aforementioned rate reduction resulting from the Tax Act, offset by the establishment of a $0.7 million valuation allowance during the nine months ended September 30, 2018, losses allocated to certain non-controlling interests which are not subject to income taxes, and during the three months ended September 30, 2018, a return to provision true up of the 2017 income tax provision.

Interest expense and penalties related to income tax matters are recognized as a component of the provision for income taxes and were not significant during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017. As of and during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, there were no uncertain tax positions taken that were not more likely than not to be sustained.

14. COMPENSATION EXPENSE

Compensation generally includes salaries, bonuses, equity and profit sharing awards. Bonuses, equity and profit sharing awards are accrued over the service period to which they relate. Guaranteed payments made to our senior professionals who are members of Medley LLC are recognized as compensation expense. The guaranteed payments to the Company's Co-Chief Executive Officers are performance based and are periodically set subject to maximums based on the Company's total assets under management. Such maximums aggregated to $1.3 million during each of the three months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, and $3.8 million for each of the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017, neither of the Company's Co-Chief Executive Officers received any guaranteed payments.

Performance Fee Compensation

In October 2010 and January 2014, the Company granted shares of vested profit interests in certain subsidiaries to select employees. These awards are viewed as a profit-sharing arrangement and are accounted for under ASC 710, Compensation - General, which requires compensation expense to be recognized over the vesting period, which is usually the period over which service is provided. The shares were vested at grant date, subject to a divestiture percentage based on percentage of service completed from the award grant date to the employee's termination date. The Company adjusts the related liability quarterly based on changes in estimated cash flows for the profit interests.

In February 2015 and March 2016, the Company granted incentive cash bonus awards to select employees. These awards entitle employees to receive cash compensation based on distributed carried interest received by the Company from certain institutional funds. Eligibility to receive payments pursuant to these incentive awards is based on continued employment and ceases automatically upon termination of employment. Performance compensation expense is recorded based on the fair value of the incentive awards at the date of grant and is recognized on a straight-line basis over the expected requisite service period. The performance compensation liability is subject to re-measurement at the end of each reporting period and any changes in the liability are recognized in such reporting period.

During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company recorded a reversal of performance fee compensation expense of $0.1 million. The Company recorded a reversal of performance fee compensation of less than $0.1 million and $0.8 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, respectively. As of December 31, 2017, total performance fee compensation payable for these awards was $0.1 million and is included as a component of accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities on the Company's consolidated balance sheets. There was no liability for these awards as of September 30, 2018.

On November 12, 2018, the Company's board of directors approved the Medley Tactical Opportunities Carried Interest Allocation Plan (the "CI Plan"), pursuant to which certain key employees (each, an "Awardee") involved in and instrumental to the success of the Company's Tactical Opportunities ("Tac Ops") transactions, have been awarded certain carried interest percentage awards (each, a "Carried Interest Percentage") entitling the Awardee to a specified allocation of the carried interest earned on third party capital in connection with each of the Company's four respective Tac Ops funds. The Carried Interest Percentages is issued in consideration of services to be rendered, and is intended to constitute a "profits interest" as that term is used in IRS Revenue Procedures 93-27 and 2001-43.

Retirement Plan

The Company sponsors a defined-contribution 401(k) retirement plan that covers all employees. Employees are eligible to participate in the plan immediately, and participants are 100% vested from the date of eligibility. The Company makes contributions to the plan of 3% of an employee's eligible wages, up to a maximum limit as determined by the Internal Revenue Service. The Company also pays all administrative fees related to the plan. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company's accrued contributions to the plan were $0.1 million and $0.5 million, respectively. The Company's accrued contributions to the plan were $0.1 million and $0.4 million for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017 the Company's outstanding liability to the plan as of each of those dates was $0.5 million.

Stock-Based Compensation

In connection with the IPO, the Company adopted the Medley Management Inc. 2014 Omnibus Incentive Plan (the "Plan"). The purpose of the Plan is to provide a means through which the Company may attract and retain key personnel and to provide a means whereby directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors (and prospective directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors) of the Company can acquire and maintain an equity interest in the Company, or be paid incentive compensation, including incentive compensation measured by reference to the value of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock or Medley LLC's unit interests, thereby strengthening their commitment to the welfare of the Company and aligning their interests with those of the Company's stockholders. The Plan provides for the issuance of incentive stock options, nonqualified stock options, stock appreciation rights, restricted stock, restricted stock units ("RSUs"), restricted LLC Units of Medley LLC, stock bonuses, other stock-based awards and cash awards. The maximum aggregate number of awards available to be granted under the plan, as amended, is 4,500,000, of which all or any portion may be issued as shares of Medley Management Inc.'s Class A common stock or Medley LLC's unit interests. Shares of Class A common stock issued by the Company in settlement of awards may be authorized and unissued shares, shares held in the treasury of the Company, shares purchased on the market or by private purchase or a combination of the foregoing. As of September 30, 2018, there were 0.9 million awards available to be granted under the Plan.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

The fair value of RSUs granted under the Plan is determined to be the fair value of the underlying shares on the date of grant. The fair value of restricted LLC Units of Medley LLC is based on the public share price of MDLY at date of grant, adjusted for different distribution rights. The aggregate fair value of these awards is charged to compensation expense on a straight-line basis over the vesting period, which is generally up to five years, with the exception of certain restricted LLC Units that will only vest upon certain conditions such as death, disability, termination without cause or change of control. For these awards, compensation expense is recognized when such condition is met.

For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, stock-based compensation was $1.5 million and $4.1 million, respectively. For the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, stock based compensation was $1.2 million and $2.0 million, respectively.

A summary of RSU and restricted LLC Units activity for the nine months ended September 30, 2018 is as follows:

	Number of RSUs	Weighted Average Grant Date Fair Value	Number of Restricted LLC Units	Weighted Average Grant Date Fair Value
Balance at December 31, 2017	1,451,393	$ 10.44	320,000	$ 11.67
Granted	778,018	5.71	985,969	5.30
Forfeited	(65,805)	8.24	—	—
Vested	(337,401)	14.01	—	—
Balance at September 30, 2018	1,826,205	$ 8.62	1,305,969	$ 12.82

The fair value of RSUs vested during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 was $4.7 million. The vesting of 337,401 RSUs resulted in the issuance of 212,746 Class A common shares, as the RSUs were net-share settled such that the Company withheld awards with the aggregate fair value equivalent to the employees' minimum statutory tax obligations in accordance with the terms of the Plan. Total employee tax obligations amounted to $0.7 million and payments to the appropriate taxing authorities are reflected as a financing activity on the Company's consolidated statements of cash flows.

During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, less than $0.1 million and $0.6 million of previously recognized compensation was reversed relating to forfeited RSUs, respectively. Reversals of previously recognized compensation during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017 was $0.1 million and $2.3 million, respectively. In addition, during the nine months ended September 30, 2018, the Company reclassified cumulative dividends of $0.1 million from retained earnings to other compensation expense as a result of such forfeited RSUs. Cumulative dividends reclassified from retained earnings for each of the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 was less than $0.1 million. Cumulative dividends reclassified from retained earnings to other compensation during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017 was less than $0.1 million and $0.5 million, respectively, as a result of forfeited RSUs. Unamortized compensation cost related to unvested RSUs and restricted LLC units as of September 30, 2018 was $15.8 million and is expected to be recognized over a weighted average period of 3.4 years. Such amount excludes unamortized compensation of $1.3 million relating to certain restricted LLC Units which only vest upon death, disability, termination without cause or change of control.

15. REDEEMABLE NON-CONTROLLING INTERESTS

Changes in redeemable non-controlling interests during the nine months ended September 30, 2018 and 2017 are reflected in the table below:

	For the Nine Months Ended September 30,
	2018	2017
	(Amounts in thousands)
Beginning balance	$ 53,741	$ 30,805
Net (loss) income attributable to redeemable non-controlling interests in consolidated subsidiaries	(3,120)	4,699
Contributions	—	23,000
Distributions	(5,155)	(4,540)
Change in fair value of available-for-sale securities	—	(28)
Fair value adjustment to redeemable non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors LLC	(965)	—
Reclassification of redeemable non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors LLC, including fair value adjustment of $965, to accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities	(12,275)	—
Ending balance	$ 32,226	$ 53,936

In January 2016, the Company executed an amendment to SIC Advisors' operating agreement which provided the Company with the right to redeem membership units owned by the minority interest holder. The Company's redemption right is triggered by the termination of the dealer manager agreement between SIC and SC Distributors LLC ("DMA Termination"), an affiliate of the minority interest holder. As a result of this redemption feature, the Company reclassified the non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors from the equity section to redeemable non-controlling interests in the mezzanine section of the consolidated balance sheet based on its fair value as of the amendment date. The fair value of the non-controlling interest was determined to be $12.2 million on the date of the amendment and was adjusted through a charge to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC. On July 31, 2018, a DMA Termination event occurred and the membership units owned by the minority interest holder were redeemed by Medley. In connection with the DMA Termination, the Company reclassified SIC Advisors' minority interest balance from redeemable non-controlling interests in the mezzanine section of its consolidated balance sheet to accounts payable, accrued expenses and other liabilities based on its fair value as of the DMA Termination date. The fair value of the non-controlling interest was determined to be $12.3 million on the DMA Termination date and was adjusted through a charge to non-controlling interests in Medley LLC. The Company will use the effective interest rate method to accrete the liability to the amount ultimately to be paid. The amount due will be paid in quarterly installments over a four year period. Each quarterly payment shall equal the amount that the minority interest holder would have been allocated had it remained a member, as adjusted, in accordance with SIC Advisors LLC's operating agreement, as amended. On a cumulative basis, the total impact to the statement of operations will be the difference between the fair value of the non-controlling interest on the DMA Termination date and the actual cash payments made to pay down the balance due to the minority interest holder. This amount will be recognized over a period of four years as a component of interest expense.

During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, profits allocated to this non-controlling interest was $0.4 million and $2.1 million, respectively, and distributions paid were $0 and $2.3 million, respectively. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, profits allocated to this non-controlling interest was $1.2 million and $3.1 million, respectively, and distributions paid were $1.0 million and $3.1 million, respectively. As of September 30, 2018, there was no balance of redeemable non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors LLC. As of December 31, 2017, the balance of the redeemable non-controlling interest in SIC Advisors LLC was $13.5 million.

On June 3, 2016, the Company entered into a Master Investment Agreement with DB MED Investor I LLC and DB MED Investor II LLC (the "Investors") to invest up to $50.0 million in new and existing Medley managed funds (the "Joint Venture"). The Company agreed to contribute up to $10.0 million and an interest in STRF Advisors LLC, the investment advisor to Sierra Total Return Fund, in exchange for common equity interests in the Joint Venture. On June 6, 2017, the Company entered into an amendment to its Master Investment Agreement with the Investors, which provided for, among other things, an increase in the Company's capital contribution to up to $13.8 million and extended the term of the Joint Venture from seven to ten years. The Investors agreed to invest up to $40.0 million in exchange for preferred equity interests in the Joint Venture. As of September 30, 2017, the Company and the Investors had fully satisfied their capital contributions. On account of the preferred equity interests, the Investors will receive an 8% preferred distribution, 15% of the Joint Venture's profits, and all of the profits from the contributed interest in STRF Advisors LLC. Medley has the option, subject to certain conditions, to cause the Joint Venture to redeem the Investors' interest in exchange for repayment of the outstanding investment amount at the time of redemption, plus certain other considerations. The Investors have the right, after ten years, to redeem their interests in the Joint Venture. As such, the Investors' interest in the Joint Venture is included as a component of redeemable non-controlling interests on the Company's consolidated balance sheets and amounted to $32.9 million and $40.6 million as of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, respectively. Total contributions to the Joint Venture amounted to $53.8 million through September 30, 2018 and 2017, and were used to purchase $51.8 million of MCC shares on the open market and seed fund $2.0 million to STRF. During the three months ended September 30, 2018, profits allocated to this non-controlling interest was $3.5 million and during the nine months ended September 30, 2018, losses allocated were $4.9 million. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017, profits allocated to this non-controlling interest was $0.9 million and $1.8 million, respectively. Distributions paid during the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018 were $0.8 million and $2.9 million, respectively. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2017 distributions paid were $0.5 million and $1.4 million, respectively.

In October 2016, the Company executed an operating agreement for STRF Advisors LLC which provided the Company with the right to redeem membership units owned by the minority interest holder. The Company's redemption right is triggered by the termination of the dealer manager agreement between STRF and SC Distributors LLC, an affiliate of the minority interest holder. As a result of this redemption feature, the non-controlling interest in STRF Advisors LLC is classified as in redeemable non-controlling interests in the mezzanine section of the balance sheet. During the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, net losses allocated to this redeemable non-controlling interest was $0.1 million and $0.3 million, respectively. As of September 30, 2018 and December 31, 2017, the balance of the redeemable non-controlling interest in STRF Advisors LLC was $(0.7) million and $(0.4) million, respectively.

16. MARKET AND OTHER RISK FACTORS

Due to the nature of the Medley funds' investment strategy, their portfolio of investments has significant market and credit risk. As a result, the Company is subject to market and other risk factors, including, but not limited to the following:

Market Risk

The market price of investments may significantly fluctuate during the period of investment. Investments may decline in value due to factors affecting securities markets generally or particular industries represented in the securities markets. The value of an investment may decline due to general market conditions that are not specifically related to such investment, such as real or perceived adverse economic conditions, changes in the general outlook for corporate earnings, changes in interest or currency rates or adverse investor sentiment generally. They may also decline due to factors that affect a particular industry or industries, such as labor shortages or increased production costs and competitive conditions within an industry.

Credit Risk

There are no restrictions on the credit quality of the investments the Company intends to make. Investments may be deemed by nationally recognized rating agencies to have substantial vulnerability to default in payment of interest and/or principal. Some investments may have low-quality ratings or be unrated. Lower rated and unrated investments have major risk exposure to adverse conditions and are considered to be predominantly speculative. Generally, such investments offer a higher return potential than higher rated investments, but involve greater volatility of price and greater risk of loss of income and principal.

In general, the ratings of nationally recognized rating organizations represent the opinions of agencies as to the quality of the securities they rate. Such ratings, however, are relative and subjective; they are not absolute standards of quality and do not evaluate the market value risk of the relevant securities. It is also possible that a rating agency might not change its rating of a particular issue on a timely basis to reflect subsequent events. The Company may use these ratings as initial criteria for the selection of portfolio assets for the Company but is not required to utilize them.

Limited Liquidity of Investments

The funds managed by the Company invest and intend to continue to invest in investments that may not be readily marketable. Illiquid investments may trade at a discount from comparable, more liquid investments and, at times there may be no market at all for such investments. Subordinate investments may be less marketable, or in some instances illiquid, because of the absence of registration under federal securities laws, contractual restrictions on transfer, the small size of the market or the small size of the issue (relative to issues of comparable interests). As a result, the funds managed by the Company may encounter difficulty in selling its investments or may, if required to liquidate investments to satisfy redemption requests of its investors or debt service obligations, be compelled to sell such investments at less than fair value.

Medley Management Inc.
Notes to Condensed Consolidated Financial Statements (unaudited)

Counterparty Risk

Some of the markets in which the Company, on behalf of its underlying funds, may affect its transactions are “over-the-counter” or “interdealer” markets. The participants in such markets are typically not subject to credit evaluation and regulatory oversight, unlike members of exchange-based markets. This exposes the Company to the risk that a counterparty will not settle a transaction in accordance with its terms and conditions because of a dispute over the terms of the applicable contract (whether or not such dispute is bona fide) or because of a credit or liquidity problem, causing the Company to suffer loss. Such “counterparty risk” is accentuated for contracts with longer maturities where events may intervene to prevent settlement, or where the Company has concentrated its transactions with a single or small group of counterparties.

17. SUBSEQUENT EVENTS

Management has evaluated subsequent events through the date of issuance of the condensed consolidated financial statements included herein. There have been no subsequent events that occurred during such period that would require disclosure in this Form 10-Q or would be required to be recognized in the condensed consolidated financial statements as of and for the three and nine months ended September 30, 2018, except as disclosed below.

On November 7, 2018, the Company’s Board of Directors declared a dividend of $0.20 per share of Class A common stock for the third quarter of 2018. The dividend will be paid on December 12, 2018 to stockholders of record as of November 28, 2018.

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER, dated as of August 9, 2018 (this "Agreement"), by and between Medley Capital Corporation, a Delaware corporation ("MCC"), and Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation ("SIC").

RECITALS:

WHEREAS, the board of directors of MCC (the "MCC Board") has determined that it is in the best interests of MCC and its stockholders to consummate the acquisition of MCC by SIC as contemplated by this Agreement in which MCC will, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, merge with and into SIC, with SIC as the surviving company in the merger (the "Merger" and SIC, in its capacity as the surviving company in the Merger, sometimes referred to herein as the "Surviving Company");

WHEREAS, the board of directors of SIC (the "SIC Board"), acting upon the recommendation of a special committee thereof consisting only of independent and disinterested directors (the "SIC Special Committee"), has unanimously (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, SIC and its stockholders, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the stockholders of SIC for its adoption, and (iv) recommended that the stockholders of SIC approve the adoption of this Agreement;

WHEREAS, for federal income Tax purposes, it is the intent of the parties hereto that the Merger shall qualify as a "reorganization" under the provisions of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), and this Agreement is intended to be and is adopted as a "plan of reorganization" for such purposes;

WHEREAS, contemporaneously herewith, SIC, Medley Management Inc. ("MDLY") and Sierra Management Inc., a Delaware corporation ("Merger Sub") are entering into a merger agreement (the "MDLY Merger Agreement") pursuant to which MDLY will, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MDLY Merger Agreement, merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company in the merger (the "MDLY Merger" and, together with the Merger, the "Mergers");

WHEREAS, the Mergers are part of an integrated transaction designed to combine the BDC operations of SIC and MCC and internalize the investment management function relating to the operation of SIC, as the Surviving Company in the Merger;

WHEREAS, notwithstanding the foregoing internalization of the investment management function, effective as of Closing, SIC, as the surviving company in the Merger, will enter into an investment management agreement with MCC Advisors LLC, on the terms set forth in the New Investment Advisory Agreement;

WHEREAS, Eversheds Sutherland, on behalf of the parties hereto and MDLY, has been in ongoing discussions with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") concerning the filing of an application with the SEC to obtain the SEC Exemptive Relief (as defined herein) and each of the parties hereto and MDLY intends to file such application with the SEC promptly as soon as practical following the date hereof and intends that the Mergers not be consummated unless and until the SEC Exemptive Relief is granted to the parties; and

WHEREAS, the parties are entering into this Agreement and the MDLY Merger Agreement on the expectation that the SEC will confirm in a manner reasonably acceptable to the parties that the equity of the surviving company in the MDLY Merger, following the MDLY Merger, will be treated as a portfolio investment of SIC and reflected in SIC's consolidated financial statements at fair value for accounting purposes, and that such surviving company's financial results will not be consolidated into the financial statements of SIC; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire to make certain representations, warranties and agreements in connection with the Merger and to prescribe certain conditions to the Merger.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants, representations, warranties and agreements contained in this Agreement, and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the parties agree as follows:

ARTICLE II
THE MERGER

2.1 The Merger. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, in accordance with the DGCL and the MGCL, at the Effective Time, MCC shall merge with and into SIC and the separate corporate existence of MCC shall cease. SIC shall be the Surviving Company in the Merger and shall continue its existence as a corporation under the laws of the State of Maryland.

2.2 Effective Time. Contemporaneously with the Closing, SIC shall file or cause to be filed (a) a certificate of merger (the "Certificate of Merger") with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware (the "Delaware Secretary"), and (b) articles of merger (the "Articles of Merger") with the State Department of Assessments and Taxation for the State of Maryland ("SDAT"). The Merger shall become effective at the time (the "Effective Time") set forth in the Certificate of Merger and Articles of Merger.

2.3 Effects of the Merger. At and after the Effective Time, the Merger shall have the effects set forth in this Agreement, the DGCL and the MGCL. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, and subject thereto, at the Effective Time, all the property, rights, privileges and powers of MCC and SIC shall be vested in SIC as the Surviving Company, and all debts, liabilities and duties of MCC shall become the debts, liabilities and duties of SIC as the Surviving Company.

2.4 Conversion of Stock. At the Effective Time, by virtue of the Merger and without any action on the part of SIC, MCC or the holder of any of the following securities:

(a) each share of SIC Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall remain issued and outstanding and shall not be affected by the Merger;

(b) each Excluded MCC Share issued and outstanding or held in treasury by MCC shall be cancelled and shall cease to exist and no Merger Consideration or other amounts or consideration shall be delivered in exchange therefor;

(c) subject to Section 2.4(e), at the Effective Time and subject to deduction for any required withholding Tax, each share of MCC Common Stock other than the Excluded MCC Shares shall be converted into the right to receive 0.805 shares of SIC Common Stock (the "Exchange Ratio"). The aggregate shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in accordance with Section 2.4(c) (the "Merger Shares"), together with any cash to be paid in lieu of fractional shares in accordance with Section 3.4(g), shall be referred to collectively as the "Merger Consideration";

(d) any shares of MCC Common Stock converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration pursuant to this Article II shall, upon such conversion, no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be cancelled and shall cease to exist as of the Effective Time, and each certificate previously representing any such shares of MCC Common Stock (each, a "Certificate") shall thereafter represent only the right to receive the Merger Consideration into which the shares of MCC Common Stock represented by such Certificate have been converted pursuant to this Section 2.4 and Section 3.4(g), as well as any dividends to which former holders of shares of MCC Common Stock become entitled in accordance with Article III; and

(e) if, between the date of this Agreement and the Effective Time, the outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock shall have been increased, decreased, changed into or exchanged for a different number or kind of shares or securities as a result of a reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split, or other similar change and specifically excluding sales of SIC Common Stock, sales of SIC equity-linked securities, and issuance of SIC Common Stock pursuant to SIC's dividend reinvestment plan or otherwise in lieu of a portion of any cash dividend declared by SIC, an appropriate and proportionate adjustment shall be made to the Exchange Ratio.

2.5 Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws of the Surviving Company. Promptly following the date hereof, the SIC Board will review and approve an amendment and restatement of the charter of SIC (the "SIC Charter" and, as so amended and restated, the "Amended and Restated Charter"), which Amended and Restated Charter shall be reasonably acceptable to the MCC Board, in order to remove terms inconsistent with, and to add terms advisable to reflect, the publicly traded nature of SIC, as the Surviving Company, following the Closing. Following such approval, the SIC Board shall submit the Amended and Restated Charter to the stockholders of SIC for their approval at the SIC Stockholder Meeting. Following the date hereof, the SIC Board will review and approve any amendments to, or amendments and restatements of, the bylaws of SIC (the "SIC Bylaws"), which shall be reasonably acceptable to the MCC Board, in order to remove terms inconsistent with, and to add terms advisable to reflect, the publicly traded nature of SIC, as the Surviving Company, following the Closing. The SIC Bylaws, as in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time, shall remain the bylaws of SIC, as the Surviving Company, until thereafter amended in accordance with Applicable Law and the terms of such bylaws.

2.6 Directors and Officers. Promptly following the date hereof, SIC shall take such actions as may be required by the SIC Charter and SIC Bylaws in order to appoint the individuals to serve as directors of the Surviving Company, effective as of the Effective Time, which individuals shall consist of the current independent directors of SIC, one interested director of SIC and two independent directors of MCC. Each of SIC and MCC shall include the identities of such directors in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus to be provided to SIC and MCC stockholders. Upon being duly elected, such directors shall serve from and after the Effective Time until their respective successors shall have been duly elected, appointed or qualified or until their respective earlier death, resignation or removal in accordance with the charter and bylaws of the Surviving Company. The officers of the Surviving Company as of the Effective Time shall be as designated by the SIC Board and, prior to the Effective Time, the SIC Board shall take such actions as may be necessary to appoint such individuals as the officers of the Surviving Company, effective as of the Effective Time.

2.7 Tax Consequences. It is intended that the Merger shall constitute a "reorganization" within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, and that this Agreement shall constitute a "plan of reorganization" for such purposes.

ARTICLE III
CLOSING; DELIVERY OF MERGER CONSIDERATION

3.1 Closing. On the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, the closing of the Merger (the “Closing”) shall take place at 10:00 A.M. on a date and at a place to be specified by the parties, which date shall be no later than five Business Days after the satisfaction or waiver (subject to Applicable Law) of the latest to occur of the conditions set forth in Article VIII (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied or waived at the Closing), unless extended by mutual agreement of the parties (the “Closing Date”).

3.2 Exchange Agent. Prior to the Effective Time, SIC shall appoint a bank or trust company, or SIC’s transfer agent, in each case reasonably acceptable to MCC, pursuant to an agreement (the “Exchange Agent Agreement”) to act as exchange agent (the “Exchange Agent”) hereunder.

3.3 Deposit of Merger Consideration. At or prior to the Effective Time, SIC shall (i) authorize the Exchange Agent to issue an aggregate number of shares of SIC Common Stock equal to the aggregate Merger Shares and (ii) deposit, or cause to be deposited with, the Exchange Agent sufficient cash to make the payments to holders of shares of MCC Common Stock described in Section 3.4(g) (collectively, the “Exchange Fund”). The Exchange Agent shall invest any cash included in the Exchange Fund as directed by SIC; provided, however, that no gain or loss thereon shall affect the amounts payable to former holders of shares of MCC Common Stock pursuant to Article II or Article III of this Agreement. Any interest or other income resulting from such investments shall be the sole property of SIC.

3.4 Delivery of Merger Consideration.

(a) As soon as reasonably practicable after the Effective Time, the Exchange Agent shall mail to each holder of record of a Certificate(s) which immediately prior to the Effective Time represented outstanding shares of MCC Common Stock (other than Excluded MCC Shares) (i) a letter of transmittal (which shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to such Certificate(s) shall pass, only upon delivery of such Certificate(s) (or affidavits of loss in lieu of such Certificates)) to the Exchange Agent and shall be substantially in such form and have such other provisions as shall be prescribed by the Exchange Agent Agreement (the “Letter of Transmittal”) and (ii) instructions for use in surrendering such Certificate(s) in exchange for the Merger Consideration and any dividends or distributions to which such holder is entitled pursuant to Article II and this Article III; provided, however, any holder of Book-Entry Shares shall not be required to deliver a Certificate or an executed letter of transmittal to the Exchange Agent to receive the Merger Consideration that such holder is entitled to receive as a result of the Merger. In lieu thereof, each holder of record of one or more Book-Entry Shares (other than Excluded MCC Shares) shall upon receipt by the Exchange Agent of an “agent’s message” in customary form (it being understood that the holders of Book-Entry Shares shall be deemed to have surrendered such shares upon receipt by the Exchange Agent of such “agent’s message” or such other evidence, if any, as the Exchange Agent may reasonably request), be entitled to receive, and SIC shall cause the Exchange Agent to pay and deliver as promptly as reasonably practicable after the Effective Time, the Merger Consideration such holder is entitled to receive as a result of the Merger, and the Book-Entry Shares so surrendered shall forthwith be cancelled. No interest will be paid or accrued on any amount payable upon due surrender of the Book-Entry Shares. Prior to the Effective Time, the parties shall reasonably cooperate to establish procedures with the Exchange Agent and The Depository Trust Company (“DTC”) designed to provide that the Exchange Agent will transmit to DTC or its nominee, on the Closing Date, upon surrender of Book-Entry Shares held of record by DTC or its nominee in accordance with DTC’s customary surrender procedures and such other procedures as agreed to by SIC, MCC, the Exchange Agent and DTC, the Merger Consideration to which the beneficial owners thereof are entitled to receive as a result of the Merger.

(b) Upon surrender to the Exchange Agent of its Certificate or Certificates, accompanied by a properly completed Letter of Transmittal, a holder of shares of MCC Common Stock (other than Excluded MCC Shares) will be entitled to receive promptly after the Effective Time the Merger Consideration in respect of the shares of MCC Common Stock represented by its Certificate or Certificates, as well as any dividends payable with respect to such shares of MCC Common Stock at the time of surrender, and any dividends with respect to shares of SIC Common Stock to which such holder is entitled. Until so surrendered, each such Certificate shall represent after the Effective Time, for all purposes, only the right to receive, without interest, the Merger Consideration upon surrender of such Certificate in accordance with, together with any dividends or distributions to which such holder is entitled pursuant to, Article II or this Article III.

(c) Prior to the Closing Date, in the event that MCC has undistributed investment company taxable income (as defined in Section 852(b)(2) of the Code) or net capital gain (as defined in Section 1221(11) of the Code) for MCC's short taxable year ending on the Closing Date, MCC shall declare a dividend, payable in cash or MCC Common Stock or a combination thereof (the "Final MCC Dividend"), to holders of shares of MCC Common Stock. The Final MCC Dividend, together with all previous MCC dividends with respect to MCC's taxable year ending on the Closing Date, shall result in MCC distributing to MCC's stockholders all of MCC's undistributed investment company taxable income (as defined in Section 852(b)(2) of the Code) and all of MCC's net capital gain (as defined in Section 1221(11) of the Code) for MCC's taxable year ending on the Closing Date. If MCC determines it necessary to declare a Final MCC Dividend, it shall notify SIC at least ten (10) days prior to MCC Stockholder Meeting.

(d) No dividends or other distributions declared with respect to SIC Common Stock to stockholders of record on or after the Effective Time shall be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered Certificate with respect to the shares of SIC Common Stock to which the holder of such Certificate is entitled upon exchange thereof in accordance with Article II and this Article III, in each case unless and until the holder thereof shall surrender such Certificate in accordance with this Article III. Subject to the effect of applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar laws, following surrender of any such Certificate in accordance with this Article III, the record holder thereof shall be entitled to receive, without interest, (i) the amount of dividends or other distributions with a record date after the Effective Time theretofore payable with respect to the whole shares of SIC Common Stock represented by such Certificate and not paid prior to the date of surrender, and/or (ii) at the appropriate payment date, the amount of dividends or other distributions payable with respect to whole shares of SIC Common Stock represented by such Certificate with a record date after the Effective Time (but before such surrender date) and with a payment date subsequent to the surrender date.

(e) If any Merger Consideration is to be issued or paid in a name other than that in which a Certificate formerly representing MCC Common Stock surrendered in exchange therefor is registered, it shall be a condition to the issuance or payment of such Merger Consideration that such Certificate shall be properly endorsed or otherwise be in proper form for transfer, and the Person requesting such payment or issuance shall pay any transfer or other similar Taxes required by reason of the payment or issuance to a Person other than the registered holder of the Certificate or establish to the satisfaction of SIC that the Tax has been paid or is not applicable.

(f) The Exchange Agent (or, subsequent to the earlier of (x) the one-year anniversary of the Effective Time and (y) the expiration or termination of the Exchange Agent Agreement, SIC) shall be entitled to deduct and withhold from any cash in lieu of fractional shares of SIC Common Stock otherwise payable pursuant to this Agreement to any holder of shares of MCC Common Stock such amounts as the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be, is required to deduct and withhold under the Code, or any provision of state, local or foreign Tax law, with respect to the making of such payment. To the extent the amounts are so withheld by the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be, and timely paid over to the appropriate Governmental Entity, such withheld amounts shall be treated for all purposes of this Agreement as having been paid to the holder of shares of MCC Common Stock in respect of whom such deduction and withholding was made by the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be.

(g) After the Effective Time, there shall be no transfers on the stock transfer books of MCC of the shares of MCC Common Stock that were issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time other than to settle transfers of MCC Common Stock that occurred prior to the Effective Time. If, after the Effective Time, Certificates or Book-Entry Shares representing such shares of MCC Common Stock are presented for transfer to the Exchange Agent, they shall be cancelled and exchanged for the Merger Consideration payable and issuable in respect of such Certificates, together with any dividends and distributions to which such holder is entitled in accordance with this Article III.

(h) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, no fractional shares of SIC Common Stock shall be issued upon the surrender of Certificates for exchange or presentation of Book-Entry Shares for transfer, no dividend or distribution with respect to SIC Common Stock shall be payable on or with respect to any fractional share, and such fractional share interests shall not entitle the owner thereof to vote or to any other rights of a stockholder of SIC. In lieu of the issuance of any such fractional share, SIC shall pay to each former stockholder of MCC who otherwise would be entitled to receive such fractional share an amount in cash (rounded to the nearest cent) determined by multiplying (i) the most recently determined net asset value per share by (ii) the fraction of a share (after taking into account all shares of MCC Common Stock held by such holder at the Effective Time and rounded to the nearest thousandth when expressed in decimal form) of SIC Common Stock to which such holder would otherwise be entitled to receive pursuant to Section 2.4.

(i) Any portion of the Exchange Fund that remains unclaimed by the stockholders of MCC as of the first anniversary of the Effective Time may be paid to SIC. In such event, any former stockholders of MCC who have not theretofore complied with this Article III shall thereafter look only to SIC with respect to the Merger Consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares and any unpaid dividends and distributions in respect of each share of SIC Common Stock such stockholder is entitled to, as determined pursuant to this Agreement, in each case, without any interest thereon. Notwithstanding the foregoing, none of SIC, the Surviving Company, the Exchange Agent or any other Person shall be liable to any former holder of shares of MCC Common Stock for any amount delivered in good faith to a public official pursuant to applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar laws.

(j) In the event any Certificate shall have been lost, stolen or destroyed, upon the making of an affidavit of that fact by the Person claiming such Certificate to be lost, stolen or destroyed and, if reasonably required by SIC or the Exchange Agent, the posting by such Person of a bond in such amount as SIC may determine is reasonably necessary as indemnity against any claim that may be made against it with respect to such Certificate, the Exchange Agent will issue in exchange for such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate the Merger Consideration and any unpaid dividends or distributions deliverable in respect thereof pursuant to this Agreement.

ARTICLE IV
REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF MCC

Except as disclosed in (i) MCC SEC Reports (as defined in Section 4.5(c) below) filed prior to the date of this Agreement, or (ii) MCC Disclosure Schedule, MCC hereby represents and warrants to SIC as follows:

4.1 Corporate Organization.

(a) MCC is a corporation duly incorporated, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of Delaware. MCC has the requisite corporate power and corporate authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted, and is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC.

(b) True, complete and correct copies of MCC Certificate and MCC Bylaws have previously been made available to SIC. MCC is not in violation of the MCC Certificate or the MCC Bylaws.

(c) Except as set forth in Section 4.1(c) of MCC Disclosure Schedule, MCC has no Subsidiaries or other equity interest in any other Person. Each of the Subsidiaries of MCC (i) is duly formed and validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the state of its formation, (ii) has the requisite limited partnership or other organizational power and authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted and (iii) is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC. True, complete and correct copies of the Organizational Documents of each Subsidiary of MCC have previously been made available to SIC. No Subsidiary of MCC is in violation of its Organizational Documents.

4.2 Capitalization.

(a) The authorized capital stock of MCC consists of 200,000,000 shares, consisting of one hundred million (100,000,000) shares of MCC Common Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, 54,474,211 shares were issued and outstanding, and one hundred million (100,000,000) shares of MCC Preferred Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, no shares were issued and outstanding. All of the issued and outstanding shares of MCC Common Stock have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable, free of any Liens, and are not subject to any preemptive rights, whether arising under the laws of the State of Delaware or the State of Maryland or the MCC Certificate, MCC Bylaws or any MCC Contract, with no personal liability attaching to the ownership thereof. As of the date of this Agreement, no MCC Voting Debt is issued or outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, MCC does not have and is not bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, rights, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of, or the payment of any amount based on, any shares of MCC Common Stock, MCC Preferred Stock, MCC Voting Debt or any other equity securities of MCC or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of MCC Common Stock, MCC Preferred Stock, MCC Voting Debt or other equity securities of MCC. As of the date of this Agreement, there are no contractual obligations of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries (A) to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any shares of capital stock of MCC or any equity security of MCC or its Subsidiaries or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of MCC or its Subsidiaries or (B) pursuant to which MCC or any of its Subsidiaries is or could be required to register shares of MCC capital stock or other securities under the Securities Act.

(b) Except as set forth in Section 4.2(b) of MCC Disclosure Schedule, all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock or other equity ownership interests of each Subsidiary of MCC are owned, directly or indirectly, by MCC, free and clear of any Liens, and all of such shares or equity ownership interests are duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of any preemptive rights. No Subsidiary of MCC has or is bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary.

(c) Except for amounts outstanding under MCC Debt Documents, neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any Indebtedness for borrowed money.

4.3 Authority; No Violation.

(a) MCC has full corporate power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and, subject to receipt of the MCC Stockholder Approval, to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution and delivery of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by MCC Board. MCC Board has approved and declared advisable the Merger and this Agreement and determined that the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement are advisable and in the best interests of MCC and its stockholders, has approved the MCC Matters and has directed that the MCC Matters be submitted to MCC's stockholders for approval and adoption at a duly held meeting of such stockholders, together with the recommendation of MCC Board that the stockholders approve and adopt MCC Matters (the "MCC Board Recommendation") and has adopted a resolution to the foregoing effect and to include such recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus. Except for the approval and adoption of MCC Matters by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of MCC Common Stock (the "MCC Stockholder Approval") at the MCC Stockholder Meeting, no other corporate proceedings on the part of MCC are necessary to approve the Merger, this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by MCC and (assuming due authorization, execution and delivery by SIC) constitutes the valid and binding obligation of MCC, enforceable against MCC in accordance with its terms, except as may be limited by bankruptcy, insolvency, fraudulent transfer, moratorium, reorganization or similar laws of general applicability relating to or affecting the rights of creditors generally and subject to general principles of equity (the "Bankruptcy and Equity Exception").

(b) Neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by MCC nor the consummation by MCC of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by MCC with any of the terms or provisions of this Agreement, will (i) violate any provision of MCC Certificate or MCC Bylaws, or (ii) assuming that the consents, approvals and filings referred to in Section 4.4 are duly obtained and/or made, (A) violate any Applicable Law applicable to MCC or any of its Subsidiaries, or any of their respective properties or assets, or (B) except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC, violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, result in the termination of or a right of termination or cancellation under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the creation of any Lien upon any of the respective properties or assets of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any note, bond, mortgage, indenture, deed of trust, license, lease, franchise, agreement or other instrument or obligation to which MCC or any of its Subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their respective properties or assets is bound (collectively, the “MCC Contracts”).

4.4 Consents and Approvals.

(a) Except for (i) the filing with the SEC of a joint proxy statement in definitive form (the “Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus”) relating to the special meeting of MCC’s stockholders to be held in order to obtain MCC Stockholder Approval (the “MCC Stockholder Meeting”) and the special meeting of SIC’s stockholders to be held to vote on the SIC Matters (the “SIC Stockholder Meeting”) and of a registration statement on Form N-14 (the “Form N-14 Registration Statement”) in which the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus will be included as a prospectus, and declaration of effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement by the SEC, (ii) the filing of the Certificate of Merger with the Delaware Secretary pursuant to the DGCL and the filing of the Articles of Merger with SDAT, (iii) any notices, consents, authorizations, approvals, filings or exemptions in connection with compliance with the rules and regulations of the NYSE, or any other applicable self-regulatory organization (“SRO”), (iv) any notices, filings or consents of the SBA required to keep the SBA Debentures outstanding following the Effective Time, (v) any notices or filings under the HSR Act and the expiration of applicable waiting periods, (vi) such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or “Blue Sky” laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement, (vii) receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief, or (viii) as set forth on Section 4.4(a) of MCC Disclosure Schedule (the foregoing (i) through (viii) referred to collectively as the “MCC Required Approvals”), no other consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions from, or notices to, or filings with, any Governmental Entity are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by MCC of this Agreement or the consummation by MCC of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Except for (i) receipt of MCC Stockholder Approval, (ii) receipt of the relevant consents or releases, or the taking of other actions, under MCC Debt Documents, (iii) receipt of the relevant consents or releases, or the taking of other actions, under MCC Contracts set forth in Section 4.4(b) of MCC Disclosure Schedule, and (iv) matters covered in the immediately preceding Section 4.4(a), no consents or approvals of any Person are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by MCC of this Agreement or the consummation by MCC of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

4.5 Reports: Regulatory Matters.

(a) MCC and each of its Subsidiaries have timely filed all reports, registration statements and certifications, together with any amendments required to be made with respect thereto, that they were required to file since December 31, 2014 with (i) the SEC, (ii) the NYSE, and (iii) any other applicable SRO or Governmental Entity, and all other reports and statements required to be filed by them since December 31, 2014, including any report or statement required to be filed pursuant to the laws, rules or regulations of the United States, any state, any foreign entity, or any SRO or Governmental Entity, and have paid all fees and assessments due and payable in connection therewith. Except for normal examinations of MCC and its Subsidiaries conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in the ordinary course of the business, no SRO or Governmental Entity has initiated since December 31, 2014 or has pending any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of MCC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, no SRO or Governmental Entity has resolved any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of MCC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries. There is no unresolved, or, to MCC's knowledge, threatened criticism, comment, exception or stop order by any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to any report or statement relating to any examinations or inspections of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, there have been no formal or informal inquiries by, or disagreements or disputes with, any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to the business, operations, policies or procedures of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries (other than normal examinations conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in MCC's ordinary course of business). MCC has made available to SIC all correspondence between MCC or any of its Subsidiaries and the SEC, the NYSE and any other SRO or Governmental Entity since December 31, 2014.

(b) Neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any cease-and-desist or other order or enforcement action issued by, or is a party to any written agreement, consent agreement or memorandum of understanding with, or is a party to any commitment letter or similar undertaking to, or is subject to any order or directive by, or has been ordered to pay any civil money penalty by, or has been since December 31, 2014 a recipient of any supervisory letter from, or since December 31, 2014 has adopted any policies, procedures or board resolutions at the request or suggestion of, any SRO or Governmental Entity that currently restricts in any material respect the conduct of its business (or to MCC's knowledge that, upon consummation of the Merger, would restrict in any material respect the conduct of the business of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries), or that in any material manner relates to its credit, risk management or compliance policies, its internal controls, its management or its business (each item in this sentence, a "MCC Regulatory Agreement"), nor has MCC or any of its Subsidiaries been advised since December 31, 2014 by any SRO or Governmental Entity that it is considering issuing, initiating, ordering, or requesting any such MCC Regulatory Agreement.

(c) MCC has filed on the SEC's EDGAR system each (i) registration statement, prospectus, report, schedule and definitive proxy statement (including all exhibits, amendments and supplements thereto) required to be filed with or furnished to the SEC by MCC or any of its Subsidiaries pursuant to the Securities Act or the Exchange Act since December 31, 2014 (the "MCC SEC Reports") and (ii) communication mailed by MCC to its stockholders since December 31, 2014. No such MCC SEC Report or communication, at the time filed, furnished or communicated (and, in the case of registration statements, proxy statements and prospectuses, on the dates of effectiveness, the dates of the relevant meetings and the dates of use, respectively), contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements made therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, except that information contained in an MCC SEC Report as of a later date (but before the date of this Agreement) shall be deemed to modify information as of an earlier date. As of their respective dates, all MCC SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the other rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto. No executive officer of MCC has failed in any respect to make the certifications required of him or her under Section 302 or 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. As of the date of this Agreement, there are no outstanding or unresolved comments from the SEC with respect to any MCC SEC Report and, as of the date of this Agreement, to the knowledge of MCC, no MCC SEC Report is subject to any ongoing review by the SEC.

4.6 Financial Statements.

(a) The consolidated financial statements of MCC and its Subsidiaries included in MCC SEC Reports (including the related notes, where applicable) (i) have been prepared from, and are in accordance with, the books and records of MCC and its Subsidiaries, (ii) fairly present in all material respects the consolidated results of operations, cash flows, changes in stockholders' equity and consolidated financial position of MCC and its Subsidiaries for the respective fiscal periods or as of the respective dates therein set forth (subject in the case of unaudited statements to recurring year-end audit adjustments immaterial in nature and amount), (iii) complied as to form, as of their respective dates of filing with the SEC, in all material respects with applicable accounting requirements and with the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto and (iv) have been prepared in accordance with GAAP consistently applied during the periods involved, except, in each case, as indicated in such statements or in the notes thereto.

(b) Neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any liability or obligation of any nature whatsoever required by GAAP to be reflected or reserved for in a balance sheet (whether absolute, accrued, contingent or otherwise and whether due or to become due), except for those liabilities that are reflected or reserved against on the consolidated balance sheet of MCC included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the annual period ended December 31, 2017 (including any notes thereto) and for liabilities and obligations incurred in a commercially reasonable manner and in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of such balance sheet.

(c) MCC has established and maintains a system of “internal control over financial reporting” (as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act) that is designed to provide reasonable assurance (i) regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP, (ii) that receipts and expenditures of MCC and its Subsidiaries are being made only in accordance with authorizations of MCC management and the MCC Board, and (iii) regarding prevention or timely detection of the unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of MCC and each of MCC’s Subsidiaries’ assets that could have a material effect on MCC’s consolidated financial statements. MCC has disclosed, based on its most recent evaluation of such internal control over financial reporting prior to the date of this Agreement, to MCC’s auditors and the audit committee of the MCC Board and in Section 4.6(c) of MCC Disclosure Schedule (x) any significant deficiency and material weakness in the design or operation of MCC’s internal control over financial reporting that is reasonably likely to adversely affect MCC’s ability to record, process, summarize or report financial information, and (y) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves MCC management or other employees of MCC or any MCC Subsidiary who have a significant role in MCC’s internal control over financial reporting. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms “significant deficiency” and “material weakness” shall have the meaning assigned to them in the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, as in effect on the date of this Agreement.

(d) MCC’s “disclosure controls and procedures” (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act) are designed to ensure that all information (both financial and non-financial) required to be disclosed by MCC in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC, and that all such information is accumulated and communicated to MCC’s management as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure and to make the certifications of the chief executive officer and chief financial officer of MCC required under the Exchange Act with respect to such reports. MCC’s management has completed an assessment of the effectiveness of MCC’s disclosure controls and procedures and, to the extent required by Applicable Law, presented in any applicable MCC SEC Report that is a report on Form 10-K or Form 10-Q, or any amendment thereto, its conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by such report or amendment based on such evaluation.

(e) Since December 31, 2014, MCC and its principal executive officer and principal financial officer have complied in all material respects with (i) the applicable provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Exchange Act and (ii) the applicable listing and corporate governance rules and regulations of the NYSE. The principal executive officer and the principal financial officer of MCC have made all certifications required by Sections 302 and 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act with respect to each MCC SEC Report, and the statements contained in such certifications were true and correct on the date such certifications were made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, “principal executive officer” and “principal financial officer” shall have the meanings given to such terms in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

4.7 Broker’s Fees. Except for the fees of Sandler O’Neill & Partners, L.P. (“Sandler O’Neill”), none of MCC, any of its Subsidiaries or any of their respective officers or directors has used any broker, finder or financial advisor or incurred any liability for any broker’s fees, commissions or finder’s fees in connection with the Merger or any other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

4.8 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Since December 31, 2017, (a) the respective businesses of MCC and its Subsidiaries have been conducted in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, (b) none of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries has taken any action that, if taken after the date of this Agreement, would result in a breach of the covenants set forth in Section 6.2, and (c) no event or events have occurred that have had or would reasonably be expected to have, either individually or in the aggregate, a Material Adverse Effect on MCC.

4.9 Legal Proceedings.

(a) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC, neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to any, and there are no pending or, to the best of MCC's knowledge, threatened, legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, suits or governmental or regulatory investigations of any nature against MCC or any of its Subsidiaries or to which any of their assets are subject.

(b) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC, there is no judgment, settlement agreement, order, injunction, decree or regulatory restriction (other than those of general application that apply to similarly situated companies or their Subsidiaries) imposed upon MCC, any of its Subsidiaries or the assets of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries.

4.10 Taxes and Tax Returns.

(a) Each of MCC and its Subsidiaries (i) has duly and timely filed (including all applicable extensions) all federal, state, local and foreign income and other material Tax Returns required to be filed by it and all such Tax Returns are accurate and complete, (ii) has paid all Taxes shown thereon as due and (iii) has duly paid or made provision for the payment of all Taxes that have been incurred or are due or claimed to be due from it by the IRS or any other federal, state, foreign or local taxing authorities other than Taxes that are not yet delinquent or are being contested in good faith, have not been finally determined and have been adequately reserved against under GAAP. There are no material disputes pending, or written claims asserted, for Taxes or assessments upon MCC or any Subsidiary for which MCC does not have reserves that are adequate under GAAP. Neither MCC nor any Subsidiary is a party to or is bound by any Tax sharing, allocation or indemnification agreement or arrangement (other than such an agreement or arrangement exclusively between or among MCC and its Subsidiaries as described in MCC Disclosure Schedule).

(b) Effective for the year ending September 30, 2011, MCC made a valid election under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code to be taxed as a regulated investment company. MCC has qualified as a regulated investment company at all times subsequent to such election, and expects to qualify as such for its current taxable year. With respect to each relevant taxable year, MCC has satisfied the distribution requirements imposed on a regulated investment company under Section 852 of the Code, and will either (i) satisfy such distribution requirements for its current taxable year ending on the Closing Date or (ii) make a Final MCC Dividend declaration as set forth in Section 3.4(c).

(c) MCC and its Subsidiaries have complied in all material respects with all Applicable Laws relating to the payment and withholding of Taxes and have, within the time and in the manner prescribed by Applicable Law, withheld from and paid over all amounts required to be so withheld and paid over under Applicable Laws.

(d) There are no Liens for Taxes upon the assets of MCC or any of the Subsidiaries, except for Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable and Liens for Taxes that are both being contested in good faith and adequately reserved for in accordance with GAAP.

Table of Contents

(e) Neither MCC nor any Subsidiary has granted any waiver, extension, or comparable consent regarding the application of the statute of limitations with respect to any Taxes or Tax Return that is outstanding, nor any request for such waiver or consent has been made.

4.11 Compliance with Applicable Law.

(a) MCC and each of its Subsidiaries hold all Permits necessary for the lawful conduct of their respective businesses, and have complied in all respects with and are not in default in any respect under any, any Permit or Applicable Law, except for such failures, noncompliance or defaults that would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC.

(b) The SBIC Subsidiary is licensed to operate as a Small Business Investment Company ("SBIC") by the SBA. The SBIC Subsidiary's SBIC license is in good standing with the SBA and no adverse regulatory findings contained in any examinations reports prepared by the SBA regarding any of the SBIC Subsidiaries are outstanding or unresolved.

4.12 Certain Contracts.

(a) Except as set forth in Section 4.12(a) of MCC Disclosure Schedule or as expressly contemplated by this Agreement, neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to or bound by any MCC Contract that is a "material contract" (as such term is defined in Item 601(b)(10) of Regulation S-K of the SEC) to be performed after the date of this Agreement that has not been filed or incorporated by reference in MCC SEC Reports filed prior to the date hereof (each such MCC Contract, a "MCC Material Contract").

(b) Except as set forth in Section 4.12 of MCC Disclosure Schedule, (i) each MCC Material Contract is valid and binding on MCC or its applicable Subsidiary, enforceable against it in accordance with its terms (subject to the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception), and is in full force and effect, (ii) MCC and each of its Subsidiaries and, to MCC's knowledge, each other party thereto has duly performed all obligations required to be performed by it to date under each MCC Material Contract and (iii) no event or condition exists that constitutes or, after notice or lapse of time or both, will constitute, a breach, violation or default on the part of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries or, to MCC's knowledge, any other party thereto under any such MCC Material Contract. Except as set forth in Section 4.12 of MCC Disclosure Schedule, there are no disputes pending or, to MCC's knowledge, threatened with respect to any MCC Material Contract.

4.13 Investment Securities. Each of MCC and its Subsidiaries has good title to all securities (including any evidence of Indebtedness) owned by it, free and clear of any Liens, except (a) for those Liens or restrictions arising under the Organizational Documents of the issuers of such securities, (b) to the extent such securities are pledged in connection with MCC Debt Documents, (c) to the extent arising under the requirements of the SBA, (d) for restrictions on transferability arising under federal or state securities laws or (e) for Liens or restrictions which would not individually or in the aggregate be material with respect to the value, ownership or transferability of such securities.

4.14 Property. MCC or one of its Subsidiaries (a) has good and marketable title to all the properties and assets (excluding securities, which are addressed in Section 4.13 above) reflected in the latest audited balance sheet included in such MCC SEC Reports as being owned by MCC or one of its Subsidiaries or acquired after the date thereof (except properties sold or otherwise disposed of since the date thereof in the ordinary course of business), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except Permitted Liens, and (b) is the lessee of all leasehold estates reflected in the latest audited financial statements included in such MCC SEC Reports or acquired after the date thereof (except for leases that have expired by their terms since the date thereof), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except for Permitted Liens, and is in possession of the properties purported to be leased thereunder, and each such lease is valid without default thereunder by the lessee or, to MCC's knowledge, the lessor.

4.15 Intellectual Property. MCC owns or possesses sufficient rights to use all Intellectual Property Rights used in the conduct of its business as now conducted, all of which shall remain in effect following the Closing, except where the failure to own or possess such rights would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect on MCC; and the expected expiration or termination of any of such Intellectual Property Rights would not result in a Material Adverse Effect on MCC.

4.16 State Takeover Laws. MCC Board has unanimously approved this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby as required to render inapplicable to this Agreement and such transactions the restrictions on "business combinations" set forth in the DGCL or any other "moratorium," "control share," "fair price," "takeover" or "interested stockholder" law (any such laws, "Takeover Statutes").

4.17 Opinion. The Special Committee of the MCC Board has received the opinion of Sandler O'Neill, to the effect that, as of the date of such opinion and subject to certain assumptions, limitations, qualifications and other matters, the Exchange Ratio set forth in this Agreement is fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of shares of MCC Common Stock (other than SIC, MDLY and their respective Affiliates); it being agreed that SIC is not entitled to rely upon such opinion.

4.18 MCC Information. The information relating to MCC and its Subsidiaries that is provided by MCC or its representatives for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement and/or Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, or in any application, notification or other document filed with any other SRO or Governmental Entity (including the SEC) in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, will not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. The Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus as it relates to MCC and its Subsidiaries and other portions within the reasonable control of MCC and its Subsidiaries will comply in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

4.19 Insurance. MCC and its Subsidiaries maintain, or are covered by, policies of insurance in such amounts and against such risks as are customary in the industries in which MCC and its Subsidiaries operate. Except as would not be reasonably expected to have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC, all such insurance policies are in full force and effect and will not in any way be affected by, or terminate or lapse by reason of, the execution (but not the performance) of this Agreement.

4.20 Environmental Matters. Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MCC and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, there are no legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, causes of action or notices with respect to any Environmental Laws, pending or threatened against MCC or any of its Subsidiaries. Neither MCC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any agreement, order, judgment, decree, letter or memorandum by or with any Governmental Entity or Third Party imposing any liability or obligation with respect to any of the foregoing.

4.21 Reorganization; Approvals. As of the date of this Agreement, MCC (a) is not aware of any fact or circumstance that could reasonably be expected to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, and (b) knows of no reason why all regulatory approvals from any Governmental Entity required for the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement should not be obtained on a timely basis.

4.22 No Other Representations or Warranties. Except for the representations and warranties contained in this Article IV and any closing certificate delivered to SIC, neither MCC nor any other Person on behalf of MCC makes any express or implied representation or warranty with respect to MCC, any of its Subsidiaries, any investment assets or portfolio company, or any other information provided to SIC in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including the accuracy, completeness or timeliness thereof. Neither MCC nor any other Person will have or be subject to any claim, liability or indemnification obligation to SIC or any other Person resulting from the distribution or failure to distribute to SIC, or SIC’s use of, any such information, including any information, documents, projections, estimates, forecasts or other material made available to SIC in the electronic data room maintained by MCC for purposes of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or management presentations in expectation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, unless and to the extent any such information is expressly included in a representation or warranty contained in this Article IV.

ARTICLE V REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF SIC

Except as disclosed in (i) the SIC SEC Reports (as defined in Section 5.5(c) below) filed prior to the date of this Agreement, or (ii) the SIC Disclosure Schedule, SIC hereby represents and warrants to MCC as follows:

5.1 Corporate Organization.

(a) SIC is a corporation duly incorporated, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of Maryland. SIC has the requisite corporate power and corporate authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted, and is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

(b) True, complete and correct copies of the SIC Charter and the SIC Bylaws have previously been made available to MCC. SIC is not in violation of the SIC Charter or the SIC Bylaws.

(c) Except as set forth in Section 5.1(c) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, SIC has no Subsidiaries or other equity interest in any other Person. Each of SIC's Subsidiaries (i) is duly formed and validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the state of its formation, (ii) has the requisite corporate or other organizational power and authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted and (iii) is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC. True, complete and correct copies of the Organizational Documents of each Subsidiary of SIC have previously been made available to MCC. No Subsidiary of SIC is in violation of its Organizational Documents.

5.2 Capitalization.

(a) The authorized capital stock of SIC consists of 250,000,000 shares of SIC Common Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, 97,578,798 shares were issued and outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, no shares of SIC Common Stock were reserved for issuance. All of the issued and outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of preemptive rights, with no personal liability attaching to the ownership thereof. As of the date of this Agreement, no SIC Voting Debt is issued or outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, except pursuant to this Agreement, SIC does not have and is not bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, rights, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of, or the payment of any amount based on, any shares of SIC Common Stock, SIC Voting Debt or any other equity securities of SIC or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of SIC Common Stock, SIC Voting Debt or other equity securities of SIC. As of the date of this Agreement, except pursuant to this Agreement, there are no contractual obligations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (A) to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any shares of capital stock of SIC or any equity security of SIC or its Subsidiaries or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of SIC or its Subsidiaries or (B) pursuant to which SIC or any of its Subsidiaries is or could be required to register shares of SIC capital stock or other securities under the Securities Act.

(b) Except as set forth in Section 5.2(b) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock or other equity ownership interests of each Subsidiary of SIC are owned, directly or indirectly, by SIC, free and clear of any Liens, and all of such shares or equity ownership interests are duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of any preemptive rights. No Subsidiary of SIC has or is bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary.

(c) The Merger Shares, when issued in compliance with the provisions of this Agreement and the Form N-14 Registration Statement, will be validly issued and will be fully paid and nonassessable, free of any Liens, and will not be subject to any preemptive rights, whether arising under the laws of the State of Maryland or the SIC Charter or the SIC Bylaws, as amended or restated, or any SIC Contract.

(d) Except for amounts outstanding under the SIC Debt Documents, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any Indebtedness for borrowed money.

5.3 Authority: No Violation.

(a) SIC has full corporate power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and, subject to receipt of the SIC Stockholder Approval, to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution and delivery of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by the SIC Board. The SIC Board has determined that the Merger, this Agreement, the issuance of the Merger Shares and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement are advisable and in the best interests of SIC and its stockholders, has approved the SIC Matters and has directed that the SIC Matters be submitted to the SIC's stockholders for approval and adoption at a duly held meeting of such stockholders, together with the recommendation of the SIC Board that the stockholders approve and adopt the SIC Matters (the "SIC Board Recommendation") and has adopted a resolution to the foregoing effect. Except for the approval and adoption of the SIC Matters by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock (the "SIC Stockholder Approval") at the SIC Stockholder Meeting, no other corporate proceedings on the part of SIC are necessary to approve the Merger, this Agreement, the issuance of the Merger Shares or the other transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by SIC and (assuming due authorization, execution and delivery by MCC) constitutes the valid and binding obligation of SIC, enforceable against SIC in accordance with its terms (subject to the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception).

(b) Neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by SIC nor the consummation by SIC of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by SIC with any of the terms or provisions of this Agreement, will (i) violate any provision of the SIC Charter or SIC Bylaws, or (ii) assuming that the consents, approvals and filings referred to in Section 5.4 are duly obtained and/or made, (A) violate any Applicable Law applicable to SIC or any of its Subsidiaries, or any of their respective properties or assets, or (B) except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, result in the termination of or a right of termination or cancellation under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the creation of any Lien upon any of the respective properties or assets of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any note, bond, mortgage, indenture, deed of trust, license, lease, franchise, agreement or other instrument or obligation to which SIC or any of its Subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their respective properties or assets is bound (collectively, the "SIC Contracts").

5.4 Consents and Approvals.

(a) Except for (i) the filing with the SEC of the Form N-14 Registration Statement, and declaration of effectiveness thereof by the SEC, (ii) the filing of the Certificate of Merger with the Delaware Secretary pursuant to the DGCL and the filing of the Articles of Merger with SDAT, (iii) any notices, consents, authorizations, approvals, filings or exemptions in connection with compliance with the rules and regulations of the NYSE or any SRO, (iv) any notices or filings under the HSR Act and the expiration of applicable waiting periods, (v) such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or “Blue Sky” laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement, (vi) compliance with the Investment Company Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, (vii) the SEC Exemptive Relief and (viii) as set forth on Section 5.4(a) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule (the foregoing (i) through (viii) referred to collectively as the “SIC Required Approvals” and together with the MCC Required Approvals, the “Required Approvals”), no other consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions from, or notices to, or filings with, any Governmental Entity are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by SIC of this Agreement or the consummation by SIC of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Except for matters covered in the immediately preceding Section 5.4(a), no consents or approvals of any Person are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by SIC of this Agreement or the consummation by SIC of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement or the conduct of the business of the Surviving Company immediately following the consummation of the Merger.

5.5 Reports: Regulatory Matters.

(a) SIC and each of its Subsidiaries have timely filed all reports, registration statements and certifications, together with any amendments required to be made with respect thereto, that they were required to file since December 31, 2014 with (i) the SEC and (ii) any SROs and with each applicable Governmental Entity, and all other reports and statements required to be filed by them since December 31, 2014, including any report or statement required to be filed pursuant to the laws, rules or regulations of the United States, any state, any foreign entity, or any SRO or Governmental Entity, and have paid all fees and assessments due and payable in connection therewith. Except for normal examinations of SIC and its Subsidiaries conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in the ordinary course of the business, no SRO or Governmental Entity has initiated since December 31, 2014 or has pending any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of SIC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, no SRO or Governmental Entity has resolved any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of SIC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. There is no unresolved, or, to SIC’s knowledge, threatened criticism, comment, exception or stop order by any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to any report or statement relating to any examinations or inspections of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, there have been no formal or informal inquiries by, or disagreements or disputes with, any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to the business, operations, policies or procedures of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (other than normal examinations conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in SIC’s ordinary course of business). SIC has made available to MCC all correspondence between SIC or any of its Subsidiaries and the SEC and any other SRO or Governmental Entity since December 31, 2014.

(b) Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any cease-and-desist or other order or enforcement action issued by, or is a party to any written agreement, consent agreement or memorandum of understanding with, or is a party to any commitment letter or similar undertaking to, or is subject to any order or directive by, or has been ordered to pay any civil money penalty by, or has been since December 31, 2014 a recipient of any supervisory letter from, or since December 31, 2014 has adopted any policies, procedures or board resolutions at the request or suggestion of, any SRO or Governmental Entity that currently restricts in any material respect the conduct of its business, or that in any material manner relates to its credit, risk management or compliance policies, its internal controls, its management or its business (each item in this sentence, a “SIC Regulatory Agreement”), nor has SIC or any of its Subsidiaries been advised since December 31, 2014 by any SRO or Governmental Entity that it is considering issuing, initiating, ordering, or requesting any such SIC Regulatory Agreement.

(c) SIC has filed on the SEC’s EDGAR system each (i) registration statement, prospectus, report, schedule and definitive proxy statement (including all exhibits, amendments and supplements thereto) filed with or furnished to the SEC by SIC or any of its Subsidiaries pursuant to the Securities Act or the Exchange Act since December 31, 2014 (the “SIC SEC Reports”) and (ii) communication mailed by SIC to its stockholders since December 31, 2014. No such SIC SEC Report or communication, at the time filed, furnished or communicated (and, in the case of registration statements, proxy statements and prospectuses, on the dates of effectiveness, the dates of the relevant meetings and dates of use, respectively), contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements made therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, except that information contained in any SIC SEC Report as of a later date (but before the date of this Agreement) shall be deemed to modify information as of an earlier date. As of their respective dates, all SIC SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the other rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto. No executive officer of SIC has failed in any respect to make the certifications required of him or her under Section 302 or 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. As of the date of this Agreement, there are no outstanding or unresolved comments from the SEC with respect to any SIC SEC Report and, as of the date of this Agreement, to the knowledge of SIC, no SIC SEC Report is subject to any ongoing review by the SEC.

5.6 Financial Statements.

(a) The consolidated financial statements of SIC and its Subsidiaries included in the SIC SEC Reports (including the related notes, where applicable) (i) have been prepared from, and are in accordance with, the books and records of SIC and its Subsidiaries, (ii) fairly present in all material respects the consolidated results of operations, cash flows, changes in stockholders’ equity and consolidated financial position of SIC and its Subsidiaries for the respective fiscal periods or as of the respective dates therein set forth (subject in the case of unaudited statements to recurring year-end audit adjustments immaterial in nature and amount), (iii) complied as to form, as of their respective dates of filing with the SEC, in all material respects with applicable accounting requirements and with the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto and (iv) have been prepared in accordance with GAAP consistently applied during the periods involved, except, in each case, as indicated in such statements or in the notes thereto.

(b) Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any liability or obligation of any nature whatsoever required by GAAP to be reflected or reserved for in a balance sheet (whether absolute, accrued, contingent or otherwise and whether due or to become due), except for those liabilities that are reflected or reserved against on the consolidated balance sheet of SIC included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the annual period ended December 31, 2017 (including any notes thereto) and for liabilities and obligations incurred in a commercially reasonable manner and in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of such balance sheet.

(c) SIC has established and maintains a system of “internal control over financial reporting” (as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act) that is designed to provide reasonable assurance (i) regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP, (ii) that receipts and expenditures of SIC and its Subsidiaries are being made only in accordance with authorizations of SIC management and the SIC Board, and (iii) regarding prevention or timely detection of the unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of SIC and each of SIC’s Subsidiaries’ assets that could have a material effect on SIC’s consolidated financial statements. SIC has disclosed, based on its most recent evaluation of such internal control over financial reporting prior to the date of this Agreement, to SIC’s auditors and the audit committee of the SIC Board and in Section 4.6(c) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule (x) any significant deficiency and material weakness in the design or operation of SIC’s internal control over financial reporting that is reasonably likely to adversely affect SIC’s ability to record, process, summarize or report financial information, and (y) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves SIC management or other employees of SIC or any SIC Subsidiary who have a significant role in SIC’s internal control over financial reporting. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms “significant deficiency” and “material weakness” shall have the meaning assigned to them in the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, as in effect on the date of this Agreement.

(d) SIC’s “disclosure controls and procedures” (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act) are designed to ensure that all information (both financial and non-financial) required to be disclosed by SIC in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC, and that all such information is accumulated and communicated to SIC’s management as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure and to make the certifications of the chief executive officer and chief financial officer of SIC required under the Exchange Act with respect to such reports. SIC’s management has completed an assessment of the effectiveness of SIC’s disclosure controls and procedures and, to the extent required by Applicable Law, presented in any applicable SIC SEC Report that is a report on Form 10-K or Form 10-Q, or any amendment thereto, its conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by such report or amendment based on such evaluation.

(e) Since December 31, 2014, SIC and its principal executive officer and principal financial officer of SIC have complied in all material respects with the applicable provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Exchange Act. The principal executive officer and the principal financial officer of SIC have made all certifications required by Sections 302 and 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act with respect to each SIC SEC Report, and the statements contained in such certifications were true and correct on the date such certifications were made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, “principal executive officer” and “principal financial officer” shall have the meanings given to such terms in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

5.7 Broker’s Fees. Except for Broadhaven Capital Partners, none of SIC, any of its Subsidiaries or any of their respective officers or directors has used any broker, finder or financial advisor or incurred any liability for any broker’s fees, commissions or finder’s fees in connection with the Merger or any other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

5.8 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Since December 31, 2017, (a) the respective businesses of SIC and its Subsidiaries have been conducted in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, (b) none of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries has taken any action that, if taken after the date of this Agreement, would result in a breach of the covenants set forth in Section 6.3, and (c) no event or events have occurred that have had or would reasonably be expected to have, either individually or in the aggregate, a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

5.9 Legal Proceedings.

(a) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to any, and there are no pending or, to the best of SIC's knowledge, threatened, legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, suits or governmental or regulatory investigations of any nature against SIC or any of its Subsidiaries or to which any of their assets are subject.

(b) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, there is no judgment, settlement agreement, order, injunction, decree or regulatory restriction (other than those of general application that apply to similarly situated companies or their Subsidiaries) imposed upon SIC, any of its Subsidiaries or the assets of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (or that, upon consummation of the Merger, would apply to SIC or any of its Subsidiaries).

5.10 Taxes and Tax Returns.

(a) Each of SIC and its Subsidiaries (i) has duly and timely filed (including all applicable extensions) all federal, state, local and foreign income and other material Tax Returns required to be filed by it and all such Tax Returns are accurate and complete, (ii) has paid all Taxes shown thereon as due and (iii) has duly paid or made provision for the payment of all Taxes that have been incurred or are due or claimed to be due from it by the IRS or any other federal, state, foreign or local taxing authorities other than Taxes that are not yet delinquent or are being contested in good faith, have not been finally determined and have been adequately reserved against under GAAP. There are no material disputes pending, or written claims asserted, for Taxes or assessments upon SIC or any Subsidiary for which SIC does not have reserves that are adequate under GAAP. Neither SIC nor any Subsidiary is a party to or is bound by any Tax sharing, allocation or indemnification agreement or arrangement (other than such an agreement or arrangement exclusively between or among SIC and its Subsidiaries as described in the SIC Disclosure Schedule).

(b) Effective for the year ending December 31, 2012, SIC made a valid election under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code to be taxed as a regulated investment company. SIC has qualified as a regulated investment company at all times subsequent to such election, and expects to qualify as such for its current taxable year. With respect to each relevant taxable year, SIC has satisfied the distribution requirements imposed on a regulated investment company under Section 852 of the Code.

(c) SIC and its Subsidiaries have complied in all material respects with all Applicable Laws relating to the payment and withholding of Taxes and have, within the time and in the manner prescribed by Applicable Law, withheld from and paid over all amounts required to be so withheld and paid over under Applicable Laws.

(d) There are no Liens for Taxes upon the assets of SIC or any of the Subsidiaries, except for Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable and Liens for Taxes that are both being contested in good faith and adequately reserved for in accordance with GAAP.

(e) Neither SIC nor any Subsidiary has granted any waiver, extension, or comparable consent regarding the application of the statute of limitations with respect to any Taxes or Tax Return that is outstanding, nor any request for such waiver or consent has been made.

5.11 Compliance with Applicable Law.

(a) SIC and each of its Subsidiaries hold all Permits necessary for the lawful conduct of their respective businesses, and have complied in all respects with and are not in default in any respect under any, any Permit or Applicable Law, except for such failures, non-compliance or defaults that would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

(b) Neither SIC nor, to the knowledge of SIC, any “affiliated person” of SIC has been convicted of any felony or misdemeanor, described in Section 9(a)(1) of the Investment Company Act, nor, to the knowledge of SIC, has any affiliated person of SIC been the subject, or presently is the subject, of any proceeding or investigation with respect to any disqualification that would be a basis for denial, suspension or revocation of registration as an investment adviser under Section 203(e) of the Investment Advisers Act or of a broker-dealer under Section 15 of the Exchange Act, or for disqualification as an investment adviser, employee, officer or director of an investment company under Section 9 of the Investment Company Act.

5.12 Certain Contracts.

(a) Except as set forth in Section 5.12(a) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule or as expressly contemplated by this Agreement, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to or bound by any SIC Contract that is a “material contract” (as such term is defined in Item 601(b)(10) of Regulation S-K of the SEC) to be performed after the date of this Agreement that has not been filed or incorporated by reference in the SIC SEC Reports filed prior to the date hereof (collectively, the “SIC Material Contracts”).

(b) Except as set forth in Section 5.12(b) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, (i) each SIC Material Contract is valid and binding on SIC or its applicable Subsidiary, enforceable against it in accordance with its terms (subject to the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception), and is in full force and effect, (ii) SIC and each of its Subsidiaries and, to SIC’s knowledge, each other party thereto has duly performed all obligations required to be performed by it to date under each SIC Material Contract and (iii) no event or condition exists that constitutes or, after notice or lapse of time or both, will constitute, a breach, violation or default on the part of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries or, to SIC’s knowledge, any other party thereto under any such SIC Material Contract. Except as set forth in Section 5.12 of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, there are no disputes pending or, to SIC’s knowledge, threatened with respect to any SIC Material Contract.

5.13 Investment Securities. Each of SIC and its Subsidiaries has good title to all securities (including any evidence of Indebtedness) owned by it, free and clear of any Liens, except (a) for those Liens or restrictions arising under the Organizational Documents of the issuers of such securities, (b) to the extent such securities are pledged in connection with any loan documents or credit facilities, (c) for restrictions on transferability arising under federal or state securities laws or (d) for Liens or restrictions which would not individually or in the aggregate be material with respect to the value, ownership or transferability of such securities.

5.14 Property. SIC or one of its Subsidiaries (a) has good and marketable title to all the properties and assets (excluding securities, which are addressed in Section 5.13 above) reflected in the latest audited balance sheet included in such SIC SEC Reports as being owned by SIC or one of its Subsidiaries or acquired after the date thereof (except properties sold or otherwise disposed of since the date thereof in the ordinary course of business), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except Permitted Liens, and (b) is the lessee of all leasehold estates reflected in the latest audited financial statements included in such SIC SEC Reports or acquired after the date thereof (except for leases that have expired by their terms since the date thereof), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except for Permitted Liens, and is in possession of the properties purported to be leased thereunder, and each such lease is valid without default thereunder by the lessee or, to SIC's knowledge, the lessor.

5.15 Intellectual Property. SIC owns or possesses sufficient Intellectual Property Rights reasonably necessary to conduct its business as now conducted and as described in the SIC SEC Reports, except where the failure to own or possess such rights would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect on SIC; and the expected expiration of any of such Intellectual Property Rights would not result in a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

5.16 State Takeover Laws. To the knowledge of SIC, within the past five years, none of MCC, its Affiliates or its "associates" (as defined in Section 3-601 of the MGCL) has been an "interested stockholder" of SIC. The SIC Board has taken all action necessary to render inapplicable to the Merger the restrictions on business combinations contained in Subtitle 6 of Title 3 of the MGCL. The restrictions on control share acquisitions contained in Subtitle 7 of Title 3 of the MGCL are not applicable to the Merger. To the knowledge of SIC, no other Takeover Statutes are applicable to this Agreement or the Merger.

5.17 Opinion. The SIC Special Committee has received the opinion of Broadhaven Capital Partners to the effect that, subject to certain assumptions, limitations and qualifications set forth therein, the consideration to be issued by SIC as set forth in this Agreement and the MDLY Merger Agreement, considered as a whole and not in separate parts, is fair, from a financial point of view, to SIC from a financial point of view; it being agreed that MCC is not entitled to rely upon such opinion.

5.18 SIC Information. The information relating to SIC and its Subsidiaries that is provided by SIC or its representatives for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement and/or Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, or in any application, notification or other document filed with any other SRO or Governmental Entity (including the SEC) in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, will not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. The Form N-14 Registration Statement will comply in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

5.19 Insurance. SIC and its Subsidiaries maintain, or are covered by, policies of insurance in such amounts and against such risks as are customary in the industries in which SIC and its Subsidiaries operate. Except as would not be reasonably expected to have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, all such insurance policies are in full force and effect and will not in any way be affected by, or terminate or lapse by reason of, the execution (but not the performance) of this Agreement.

5.20 Environmental Matters. Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, there are no legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, causes of action or notices with respect to any Environmental Laws, pending or threatened against SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any agreement, order, judgment, decree, letter or memorandum by or with any Governmental Entity or Third Party imposing any liability or obligation with respect to any of the foregoing.

5.21 Reorganization; Approvals. As of the date of this Agreement, SIC (a) is not aware of any fact or circumstance that could reasonably be expected to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, and (b) knows of no reason why all regulatory approvals from any Governmental Entity required for the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement should not be obtained on a timely basis.

5.22 No Other Representations or Warranties. Except for the representations and warranties contained in this Article V and any closing certificate delivered to MCC, neither SIC nor any other Person on behalf of SIC makes any express or implied representation or warranty with respect to SIC, any of its Subsidiaries, any investment assets or portfolio company, or any other information provided to MCC in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including the accuracy, completeness or timeliness thereof. Neither SIC nor any other Person will have or be subject to any claim, liability or indemnification obligation to MCC or any other Person resulting from the distribution or failure to distribute to MCC, or MCC’s use of, any such information, including any information, documents, projections, estimates, forecasts or other material made available to MCC in the electronic data room maintained by SIC for purposes of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or management presentations in expectation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, unless and to the extent any such information is expressly included in a representation or warranty contained in this Article V.

ARTICLE VI
COVENANTS RELATING TO CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

6.1 Conduct of Businesses Prior to the Effective Time. Except as expressly contemplated by or permitted by this Agreement or the MDLY Merger Agreement or with the prior written consent of the other party, during the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, (a) each of MCC and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its respective Subsidiaries to, (i) conduct its business in the ordinary course in all material respects, as such business is being conducted as of the date hereof, and (ii) use commercially reasonable efforts to maintain and preserve intact its business organization and advantageous business relationships and retain the services of its key officers and key employees, and (b) each of MCC and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its respective Subsidiaries to, take no action that is intended to or would reasonably be expected to adversely affect or materially delay the ability of MCC or SIC either to obtain any necessary approvals of any SRO or Governmental Entity required for the transactions contemplated hereby or to perform its covenants and agreements under this Agreement or to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby.

6.2 MCC Forbearances. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, except as expressly contemplated or permitted by this Agreement or as provided in Section 6.2 of MCC Disclosure Schedule, MCC shall not, and shall not permit any of its Subsidiaries to, without the prior written consent of SIC (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed):

(a) other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, incur any Indebtedness for borrowed money, assume, guarantee, endorse or otherwise as an accommodation become responsible for the obligations of any other individual, corporation or other entity, or make any loan or advance or capital contribution to, or investment in, any Person;

(b) (i) adjust, split, combine or reclassify any of its capital stock;

(ii) make, declare or pay any dividend, other than (A) the Final MCC Dividend, (B) its regular quarterly dividend consistent with past practice of no more than $0.10 per share (or in such lower amount as may be determined by MCC in the MCC Board's discretion), and (C) dividends paid by any of the Subsidiaries of MCC to MCC or to any of its wholly-owned Subsidiaries;

(iii) make any other distribution on, or directly or indirectly redeem, purchase or otherwise acquire, any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or any securities or obligations other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as required under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code; or

(iv) grant any stock options or restricted shares or restricted units or restricted stock units, or grant any Person any right to acquire any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or other securities or issue or sell any additional shares of capital stock or other ownership interests or securities or rights convertible (whether currently convertible or convertible only after the passage of time or the occurrence of certain events) into or exchangeable for any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interest;

(c) sell, transfer, pledge, lease, license, mortgage, encumber or otherwise dispose of any material amount of its properties or assets (including pursuant to securitizations) to any Person other than a wholly owned Subsidiary or cancel, release or assign any material amount of Indebtedness owed to or any claims held by MCC or any of its Subsidiaries, in each case other than pursuant to contracts in force as of the date of this Agreement and set forth in Section 6.2(c) of MCC Disclosure Schedule;

(d) take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, which action or failure to act is reasonably likely to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code or take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, inconsistent with the treatment of the Merger as a reorganization for federal income Tax purposes;

(e) amend the MCC Certificate or MCC Bylaws or the Organizational Documents of any Subsidiary of MCC, or take any action to exempt any Person (other than SIC or its Subsidiaries) or any action taken by any Person from any Takeover Statute or similarly restrictive provisions of its Organizational Documents;

(f) enter into, renew, modify, amend or terminate, or waive, release, compromise or assign any rights or claims under, any MCC Material Contract (or any contract that, if existing as of the date hereof, would be a MCC Material Contract), other than (A) any termination or renewal in accordance with the terms of any existing MCC Material Contract that occurs automatically without any action (other than notice of renewal) by MCC or any of its Subsidiaries, (B) the entry into any modification or amendment of, or waiver or consent under, any MCC Material Contract as required or necessitated to obtain any MCC Required Approval, (C) the termination of a MCC Material Contract specifically contemplated by this Agreement or (D) amendments, waivers or consents to or under the MCC Debt Documents in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice;

(g) form any Person that would comprise a Subsidiary or dissolve or liquidate any Subsidiary, in each case other than a wholly-owned Subsidiary;

(h) (i) materially amend any income Tax Return or any other material Tax Return, (ii) settle or compromise any material U.S. federal, state, local or foreign income Tax liability, audit, Claim or assessment or (iii) enter into any material closing agreement related to Taxes, except in each case unless required by Tax law or necessary or appropriate to preserve the status of any Subsidiary of MCC as a disregarded entity or partnership for U.S. federal income Tax purposes;

(i) acquire the assets, business, or properties of any non-Affiliated entity, or make any loans, advances or capital contributions to, or investments in, any Person (other than any wholly owned Subsidiary of MCC);

(j) allow the lapse or termination of policies of insurance covering material assets and businesses (other than the replacement of existing policies with substantially comparable policies);

(k) take any action or willfully fail to take any action that is intended or may reasonably be expected to result in any of the conditions to the Merger set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied;

(l) implement or adopt any change in its Tax accounting or financial accounting principles, practices or methods, other than as may be required by Applicable Law, GAAP or regulatory guidelines;

Table of Contents

(m) take any action that would be reasonably expected to prevent, materially impede or delay beyond the date set forth in Section 9.1(c) the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement; or

(n) agree to take, or publicly announce an intention to take, any of the actions prohibited by this Section 6.2.

6.3 SIC Forbearances. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, except as expressly contemplated or permitted by this Agreement or as provided in Section 6.3 of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, SIC shall not, and shall not permit any of its Subsidiaries to, without the prior written consent of MCC (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed):

(a) (i) adjust, split, combine or reclassify any of its capital stock;

(ii) make, declare or pay any dividend, other than (A) its regular quarterly dividend consistent with past practice, (B) dividends paid by any of the Subsidiaries of SIC to SIC or to any of its wholly-owned Subsidiaries and (C) any dividend necessary to comply with Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code;

(iii) make any other distribution on, or directly or indirectly redeem, purchase or otherwise acquire, any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or any securities or obligations other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as required by the SIC Charter or SIC Bylaws or under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code;

(iv) grant any stock options or restricted shares or restricted stock units, or grant any Person any right to acquire any shares of its capital stock, or other ownership interests or other securities or issue or sell any additional shares of capital stock or other ownership interests or securities or rights convertible (whether currently convertible or convertible only after the passage of time or the occurrence of certain events) into or exchangeable for any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interest, other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as contemplated by the SIC SEC Reports; or

(v) issue any additional shares of capital stock or other securities other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as contemplated by the SIC SEC Reports;

(b) sell, transfer, pledge, lease, license, mortgage, encumber or otherwise dispose of any material amount of its properties or assets (including pursuant to securitizations) to any Person other than a wholly owned Subsidiary or cancel, release or assign any material amount of Indebtedness owed to or any claims held by any such Person, in each case other than pursuant to contracts in force at the date of this Agreement, except in furtherance of its investment objective as set forth in the SIC SEC Reports;

(c) take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, which action or failure to act is reasonably likely to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code;

(d) enter into any agreement with respect to, or amend any agreements relating to, its capital stock or Indebtedness;

(e) except as permitted by Section 2.5, amend, repeal or otherwise modify any provision of the SIC Charter, the SIC Bylaws, the Merger Sub Certificate or the Merger Sub Bylaws in a manner that would adversely affect MCC, the stockholders of MCC or the transactions contemplated by this Agreement;

(f) enter into, renew, modify, amend or terminate, or waive, release, compromise or assign any rights or claims under, any SIC Material Contract (or any contract that, if existing as of the date hereof, would be a SIC Material Contract), other than (A) any termination or renewal in accordance with the terms of any existing SIC Material Contract that occurs automatically without any action (other than notice of renewal) by SIC or any of its Subsidiaries, (B) the entry into any modification or amendment of, or waiver or consent under, any SIC Material Contract as required or necessitated to obtain any SIC Required Approval, or (C) the termination of a SIC Material Contract specifically contemplated by this Agreement;

(g) form any Person that would comprise a Subsidiary or dissolve or liquidate any Subsidiary, in each case, other than a wholly-owned Subsidiary;

(h) (i) materially amend any income Tax Return or any other material Tax Return, (ii) settle or compromise any material U.S. federal, state, local or foreign income Tax liability, audit, Claim or assessment or (iii) enter into any material closing agreement related to Taxes, except in each case unless required by Tax law or necessary or appropriate to preserve the status of any Subsidiary of SIC as a disregarded entity or partnership for U.S. federal income Tax purposes;

(i) take any action, or permit the taking of any action, that will result in SIC not having in cash or cash equivalents amounts sufficient to make payment of the cash portion of the Merger Consideration due at Closing;

(j) enter into any contract involving or relating to, or otherwise approve, any liquidation, dissolution, merger, consolidation, restructuring, recapitalization, reorganization or similar transaction;

(k) take any action or willfully fail to take any action that is intended or may reasonably be expected to result in any of the conditions to the Merger set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied;

(l) take any action that would be reasonably expected to prevent, materially impede or delay beyond the date set forth in Section 9.1(c) the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement; or

(m) agree to take, or publicly announce an intention to take, any of the actions prohibited by this Section 6.3.

ARTICLE VII
ADDITIONAL AGREEMENTS

7.1 Regulatory and Other Matters.

(a) The parties shall, and shall cause their respective Subsidiaries to, cooperate with each other and use their respective commercially reasonable efforts to promptly prepare and file all necessary documentation, to effect all applications, notices, petitions and filings with any Third Party or Governmental Entity and to take any further actions reasonably requested by the other party to obtain as promptly as practicable the Required Approvals and other consents required to be obtained in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement. MCC and SIC shall have the right to review in advance, and, to the extent practicable, each will consult with the other on, in each case subject to Applicable Laws relating to the confidentiality of information, all information relating to MCC or SIC, as the case may be, and any of their respective Subsidiaries, that appear in any filing made with, or written materials submitted to, any Third Party or any Governmental Entity in connection with obtaining the Required Approvals. In exercising the foregoing right, each of the parties shall act reasonably and as promptly as reasonably practicable. The parties shall consult with each other with respect to the obtaining of the Required Approvals and each party will keep the other apprised of the status of matters relating to completion of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Without in any way limiting the foregoing Section 7.1(a):

(i) SIC and MCC shall as promptly as reasonably practicable prepare and file with the SEC the Form N-14 Registration Statement. Each of SIC and MCC shall use its reasonable best efforts to have the Form N-14 Registration Statement declared effective under the Securities Act as promptly as practicable after such filing, and MCC and SIC shall promptly mail or deliver the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus to their respective stockholders upon such effectiveness. SIC shall also use its reasonable best efforts to obtain all necessary state securities Law or "Blue Sky" Permits required to issue the Merger Shares, and MCC shall use reasonable best efforts to furnish all information concerning MCC and the holders of shares of MCC Common Stock as may be reasonably requested in connection with any such action. Each of SIC and MCC shall, upon request, furnish to the other all information concerning itself, its Subsidiaries, directors, officers and stockholders and such other matters as may be reasonably necessary or advisable in connection with the Form N-14 Registration Statement or any other statement, filing, notice or application made by or on behalf of SIC, MCC or any of their respective Subsidiaries to any Governmental Entity in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement and provide the other party with a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on any such document. The information supplied or to be supplied by either SIC or MCC, as the case may be, for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement shall not at the time the Form N-14 Registration Statement is filed with the SEC or declared effective by the SEC contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, prior to the Effective Time each party shall notify the other party as promptly as practicable (i) upon becoming aware of any event or circumstance that should be described in an amendment to the Form N-14 Registration Statement or in a supplement to the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and MCC and SIC shall cooperate in the prompt filing with the SEC of any necessary amendment to the Form N-14 Registration Statement or supplement to the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and, to the extent required by Law, in disseminating the information contained in such amendment or supplement to stockholders of MCC and SIC and (ii) promptly after the receipt by it of any written or oral comments of the SEC with respect to, or of any written or oral request by the SEC for amendments or supplements to, the Form N-14 Registration Statement or the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and shall promptly supply the other party with copies of all correspondence between it or any of its Representatives and the SEC with respect to any of the foregoing filings.

(ii) Each of SIC and MCC shall, if and to the extent required, file with the FTC and the DOJ a Notification and Report Form relating to this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby if required by the HSR Act as promptly as reasonably practicable following the execution and delivery of this Agreement. Each of SIC and MCC shall (A) cooperate and coordinate with the other in the making of such filings (if required), (B) supply the other with any information that may be required in order to make such filings, (C) supply any additional information that reasonably may be required or requested by the FTC or the DOJ, and (D) take all other actions reasonably necessary to cause the expiration or termination of any applicable waiting period under the HSR Act applicable to the Merger as soon as practicable. Each of SIC and MCC shall promptly inform the other of any communication from any Governmental Entity regarding any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement in connection with such filings. If any party hereto or Affiliate thereof shall receive a request for additional information or documentary material from any Governmental Entity with respect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement pursuant to the HSR Act, then such party shall make (or cause to be made), as soon as reasonably practicable and after consultation with the other party, an appropriate response in compliance with such request.

(iii) Promptly following the date hereof, the Parties will submit the application for the SEC Exemptive Relief to the Staff of the Division of Investment Management of the SEC and thereafter each Party shall provide all such supplemental information reasonably requested by the Staff in connection therewith and shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to obtain the SEC Exemptive Relief. In the event the SEC conditions the granting of SEC Exemptive Relief upon a change to the transaction structure or other matters contemplated by this Agreement and the MDLY Merger Agreement, the Parties shall work together in good faith to make such changes and, if and to the extent necessary, to amend this Agreement to reflect such modified terms; provided, however, in no event shall any Party be obligated to agree to any term that adversely changes the economic terms of this Agreement in any material respect or is inconsistent with the assumptions or other provisions set forth in the opinions of such party's financial advisor.

(c) Subject to Applicable Law, each of SIC and MCC shall promptly advise the other upon receiving any communication from any Governmental Entity the consent or approval of which is required for consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement that causes such party to believe that there is a reasonable likelihood that any Required Approval will not be obtained or that the receipt of any such approval may be materially delayed.

7.2 Access to Information.

(a) Upon reasonable notice and subject to Applicable Laws relating to the confidentiality of information, each of MCC and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its Subsidiaries to, afford to the officers, employees, accountants, counsel, advisors, agents and other representatives of the other party, reasonable access, during normal business hours during the period prior to the Effective Time, to all its properties, books, contracts, commitments and records, and, during such period, such party shall, and shall cause its Subsidiaries to, make available to the other party (i) a copy of each report, schedule, registration statement and other document filed or received by it during such period pursuant to the requirements of federal securities laws (other than reports or documents that such party is not permitted to disclose under Applicable Law) and (ii) all other information concerning its business, properties and personnel as the other party may reasonably request. Neither MCC nor SIC, nor any of their respective Subsidiaries, shall be required to provide access to or to disclose information where such access or disclosure would jeopardize the attorney-client privilege of such party or its Subsidiaries or contravene any Applicable Law, fiduciary duty or binding confidentiality agreement with a Third Party entered into prior to the date of this Agreement. The parties shall make appropriate substitute disclosure arrangements under circumstances in which the restrictions of the preceding sentence apply.

(b) MCC shall file all periodic reports required to be filed by it between the date hereof and the Effective Time. Each such filing shall be prepared in accordance with the applicable forms, rules and regulations of the SEC and shall satisfy the standard set forth in Section 4.5(c) for MCC SEC Reports. SIC shall file all periodic reports required to be filed by it between the date hereof and the Effective Time. Each such filing shall be prepared in accordance with the applicable forms, rules and regulations of the SEC and shall satisfy the standard set forth in Section 5.5(c) for SIC SEC Reports.

(c) All information and materials provided pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of the Confidentiality Agreement entered into between the parties as of July 16, 2018 (the "Confidentiality Agreement").

(d) Each party acknowledges that it has had the opportunity to conduct due diligence and investigation with respect to the other party, and in no event shall either party have any liability to the other party with respect to a breach of representation or warranty under this Agreement to the extent that the non-breaching party knew of such breach as of the date hereof.

7.3 MCC Stockholder Approval.

(a) Subject to the earlier termination of this Agreement in accordance with Article IX, MCC shall, as soon as practicable following the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement, duly call, take any action required by the DGCL, the MCC Certificate or MCC Bylaws and any applicable requirements of the SEC or the NYSE necessary to give notice of, convene and hold, as promptly as practicable, MCC Stockholder Meeting for the purpose of obtaining MCC Stockholder Approval. The record date for MCC Stockholder Meeting shall be determined in prior consultation with and subject to the prior written approval of SIC (which prior written approval shall not be unreasonably delayed, conditioned or withheld). In connection therewith, MCC Board shall be permitted to adjourn, delay or postpone MCC Stockholder Meeting in accordance with Applicable Law (but not beyond the Outside Date) (i) to the extent necessary to allow reasonable additional time for the filing and mailing of any supplemental or amended disclosure which MCC Board has determined in good faith after consultation with outside counsel is reasonably likely to be necessary or appropriate under Applicable Law and for such supplemental or amended disclosure to be disseminated and reviewed by MCC's stockholders prior to MCC Stockholder Meeting, (ii) if there are insufficient shares of MCC Common Stock represented (either in person or by proxy) to constitute a quorum necessary to conduct the business of MCC Stockholder Meeting, or (iii) to allow reasonable additional time to solicit additional proxies reasonably necessary in order to obtain MCC Stockholder Approval. Unless MCC Board has made a MCC Adverse Recommendation Change, MCC shall, through MCC Board, make MCC Board Recommendation, and shall include such MCC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to (x) solicit from MCC stockholders proxies in favor of MCC Stockholder Approval, and (y) take all other action necessary or advisable to secure MCC Stockholder Approval.

(b) Except as expressly permitted in Section 7.10(e), neither MCC Board nor any committee thereof shall (i) withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify, or propose publicly to withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify the MCC Board Recommendation, (ii) fail to publicly announce, within fifteen (15) Business Days after a tender offer or exchange relating to the securities of MCC shall have been commenced, a statement disclosing that MCC Board recommends rejection of such tender offer or exchange offer, or (iii) approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, or propose publicly to approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, any Competing Proposal (any of the foregoing (i) through (iii) being referred to as an "MCC Adverse Recommendation Change").

7.4 SIC Stockholder Approval.

(a) Subject to the earlier termination of this Agreement in accordance with Article IX, SIC shall, as soon as practicable following the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement, duly call, take any action required by the MGCL, the SIC Charter or SIC Bylaws and any applicable requirements of the SEC necessary to give notice of, convene and hold, as promptly as practicable, the SIC Stockholder Meeting for the purpose of obtaining the SIC Stockholder Approval. The record date for the SIC Stockholders Meeting shall be determined in prior consultation with and subject to the prior written approval of MCC (which prior written approval shall not be unreasonably delayed, conditioned or withheld). In connection therewith, the SIC Board shall be permitted to delay or postpone, and the duly appointed Chairman of the SIC Stockholder Meeting permitted to adjourn, the SIC Stockholder Meeting in accordance with Applicable Law (but not beyond the Outside Date) (i) to the extent necessary to allow reasonable additional time for the filing and mailing of any supplemental or amended disclosure which the SIC Board has determined in good faith after consultation with outside counsel is reasonably likely to be necessary or appropriate under Applicable Law and for such supplemental or amended disclosure to be disseminated and reviewed by the SIC's stockholders prior to the SIC Stockholder Meeting, (ii) if there are insufficient shares of SIC Common Stock represented (either in person or by proxy) to constitute a quorum necessary to conduct the business of the SIC Stockholder Meeting, or (iii) to allow reasonable additional time to solicit additional proxies reasonably necessary in order to obtain the SIC Stockholder Approval. Unless the SIC Board has made an SIC Adverse Recommendation Change, SIC shall, through the SIC Board, make the SIC Board Recommendation, and shall include such SIC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to (x) solicit from SIC stockholders proxies in favor of the SIC Stockholder Approval, and (y) take all other action necessary or advisable to secure the SIC Stockholder Approval.

(b) Except as expressly permitted in Section 7.10(e), neither the SIC Board nor any committee thereof shall (i) withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify, or propose publicly to withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify the SIC Board Recommendation, (ii) fail to publicly announce, within fifteen (15) Business Days after a tender offer or exchange relating to the securities of SIC shall have been commenced, a statement disclosing that SIC Board recommends rejection of such tender offer or exchange offer or (iii) approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, or propose publicly to approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, any Competing Proposal (any of the foregoing (i) through (iii) being referred to as a “SIC Adverse Recommendation Change”).

7.5 Exchange Listing. SIC shall (i) take all steps as may be reasonably necessary to cause the outstanding SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MDLY Merger to be listed for trading on the NYSE, and (ii) use its commercially reasonable efforts to cause the outstanding SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MDLY Merger to be listed for trading on the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange.

7.6 Indemnification; Directors’ and Officers’ Insurance.

(a) In the event of any threatened or actual Claim against any individual who is now, or has been at any time prior to the date of this Agreement, or who becomes prior to the Effective Time, a director or officer of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries or who is or was serving at the request of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries as a director or officer of another person (the “Indemnified Parties”), based in whole or in part on, or arising in whole or in part out of, or pertaining to (i) the fact that he or she is or was a director or officer of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries prior to the Effective Time or (ii) this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, whether asserted or arising before or after the Effective Time, the parties shall cooperate and use their commercially reasonable efforts to defend against and respond thereto. All rights to indemnification and exculpation from liabilities for acts or omissions occurring at or prior to the Effective Time existing on the date of this Agreement in favor of any Indemnified Party as provided in their respective certificates or articles of incorporation or by-laws (or comparable Organizational Documents), and any existing indemnification agreements set forth in Section 7.6 of MCC Disclosure Schedule (as may be modified or amended as provided below), shall, notwithstanding that the separate corporate existence of MCC shall cease as of the Effective Time, survive the Merger as a contractual obligation of the Surviving Company and shall continue in full force and effect in accordance with their terms for a period of six (6) years from the Closing Date, and shall not be amended, repealed or otherwise modified in any manner that would adversely affect the rights thereunder of such individuals for acts or omissions occurring at or prior to the Effective Time or taken at the request of SIC pursuant to Section 7.7 hereof (provided, that such existing indemnification agreements may be amended prior to the Effective Time as expressly permitted by Section 6.2 of the MCC Disclosure Schedule, if such amendments are in form reasonably acceptable to SIC), it being understood that nothing in this sentence shall require any amendment to the articles or certificate of incorporation or bylaws as the Surviving Company.

(b) For a period of six (6) years from the Closing Date, the Surviving Company, shall to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, indemnify, defend and hold harmless, and provide advancement of expenses to, each Indemnified Party against all losses, Claims, damages, costs, expenses, liabilities or judgments or amounts that are paid in settlement of or in connection with any Claim based in whole or in part on or arising in whole or in part out of the fact that such person is or was a director or officer of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries, and pertaining to any matter existing or occurring, or any acts or omissions occurring, at or prior to the Effective Time, whether asserted or claimed prior to, or at or after, the Effective Time (including matters, acts or omissions occurring in connection with the approval of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby) or taken at the request of SIC pursuant to Section 7.7 hereof; provided, that the Surviving Company (i) shall not be liable for any amounts paid in the settlement of any Claim without its prior written consent, which shall not be unreasonably withheld, and (ii) shall be obligated to pay the fees and expenses of only one counsel for all Indemnified Parties with respect to any single Claim (each such counsel to be approved in advance by the Surviving Company, such consent not to be unreasonably withheld) unless the Surviving Company assumes the defense of such Claim, in which case it shall not be liable for any fees and expenses of counsel to the Indemnified Parties in respect of such Claim; provided that if an Indemnified Party determines in good faith that (a) the use of counsel chosen by the Surviving Company to represent such Indemnified Party would present such counsel with an actual or potential conflict, (b) the named parties in any such claim (including any impleaded parties) include both the Surviving Company and such Indemnified Party and such Indemnified Party shall conclude in good faith that there may be one or more legal defenses available to him or her that are different from or in addition to those available to the Surviving Company, (c) any such representation by such counsel would be precluded under the applicable standards of professional conduct then prevailing, or (d) or such Indemnified Party has interests in the claim or underlying subject matter that are substantially different from or in addition to those of other Persons against whom the claim has been made or might reasonably be expected to be made, then such Indemnified Party shall be entitled to retain separate counsel (but not more than one law firm, plus, if applicable, local counsel in respect of any particular claim for all indemnitees in such Indemnified Party's circumstances) at the Surviving Company's expense to the extent of such counsel's reasonable fees and expenses.

(c) MCC shall, at its sole cost, cause the individuals serving as officers and directors of MCC or any of its Subsidiaries immediately at or prior to the Effective Time to be covered for a period of six years from the Effective Time by the directors' and officers' liability insurance policy maintained by MCC through the purchase of so-called "tail" insurance with respect to acts or omissions occurring prior to the Effective Time that were committed by such officers and directors in their capacity as such.

(d) The provisions of this Section 7.6 are intended to be for the benefit of, and shall be enforceable by, each Indemnified Party and his or her heirs and representatives.

7.7 Additional Agreements. In case at any time after the Effective Time any further action is necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this Agreement or to vest the Surviving Company with full title to all properties, assets, rights, approvals, immunities and franchises of either party to the Merger, the proper officers and directors of each party and their respective Subsidiaries shall, at SIC's sole expense, take all such necessary action as may be reasonably requested by SIC.

7.8 Advice of Changes. Each of SIC and MCC shall promptly advise the other of any change or event (i) having or reasonably likely to have a Material Adverse Effect on it, (ii) that it believes would or would be reasonably likely to cause or constitute a breach of any of its representations, warranties or covenants contained in this Agreement that would result in the conditions to Closing set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied; provided, however, that no such notification shall affect the representations, warranties, covenants or agreements of the parties (or remedies with respect thereto) or the conditions to the obligations of the parties under this Agreement.

7.9 Exemption from Liability Under Section 16(b). Prior to the Effective Time, SIC and MCC shall each take all such steps as may be necessary or appropriate to cause any disposition of shares of MCC Common Stock or conversion of any derivative securities in respect of such shares of MCC Common Stock in connection with the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act to the extent permitted thereunder.

7.10 No Solicitation.

(a) Subject to Section 7.10(d), each of MCC and SIC shall, and shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause its representatives to, immediately cease and cause to be terminated any existing solicitation of, or discussions or negotiations with, any Third Party relating to any Competing Proposal or any inquiry, discussion, offer or request that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal.

(b) Until the earlier of the Effective Time and termination of this Agreement, each of MCC and SIC shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable, and in any event within two (2) Business Days of receipt by it or any of its representatives of any Competing Proposal or any inquiry that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal, deliver to the other party a written notice setting forth: (A) the identity of the Third Party making such Competing Proposal or inquiry (to the extent not prohibited by any applicable confidentiality agreement existing prior to the date of this Agreement) and (B) the material terms and conditions of any such Competing Proposal. MCC and SIC shall keep the other party reasonably informed of any material amendment or modification of any such Competing Proposal on a prompt basis, and in any event within two (2) Business Days thereafter.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement (including Section 7.10(d)), until the earlier of Effective Time and termination of this Agreement in accordance with its terms, each of MCC and SIC shall not, and shall not permit its Subsidiaries to, and shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause its representatives not to, directly or indirectly, (i) initiate, solicit, induce or knowingly encourage or facilitate any inquiry with respect to the making of any proposal or offer with respect to a Competing Proposal or (ii) engage in negotiations or discussions with, or furnish any material nonpublic information to, or enter into any agreement, arrangement or understanding with, any Third Party relating to a Competing Proposal or any inquiry or proposal that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal; provided however, that notwithstanding the foregoing, (A) each of MCC and SIC may inform Persons of the provisions contained in this Section 7.10, and (B) each of MCC and SIC shall be permitted to grant a waiver of, or terminate, any "standstill" or similar obligation of any Third Party with respect to MCC or SIC, as applicable, in order to allow such Third Party to submit a Competing Proposal, if the MCC Board or SIC Board, as applicable, determines in good faith (after consultation with such party's legal counsel) that a failure to take such action with respect to such "standstill" or similar obligation could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with its duties under Applicable Law.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, at any time prior to the date that MCC Stockholder Approval is obtained (in the case of MCC) or SIC Stockholder Approval is obtained (in the case of SIC), in the event that MCC (or its representatives on MCC's behalf) or SIC (or its representatives on SIC's behalf) receives a Competing Proposal from any Third Party, (i) MCC and its representatives or SIC and its representatives, as applicable, may contact such Third Party to clarify any ambiguous terms and conditions thereof (without the MCC Board or SIC Board, as applicable, being required to make the determination in clause (ii) of this Section 7.10(d)) and (ii) MCC and the MCC Board and its representatives or SIC and the SIC Board and its representatives, as applicable, may engage in negotiations or substantive discussions with, or furnish any information and other access to, any Third Party making such Competing Proposal and its representatives and Affiliates if the MCC Board or SIC Board, as applicable, determines in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisors and legal counsel) that (A) such Competing Proposal either constitutes a Superior Proposal or could reasonably be expected to lead to a Superior Proposal and (B) failure to consider such Competing Proposal could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with the fiduciary duties of the directors of MCC or SIC, as applicable, under Applicable Law; provided, that (x) such Competing Proposal did not result from any material breach of any of the provisions set forth in this Section 7.10, (y) prior to furnishing any material non-public information concerning MCC or SIC, as applicable, MCC or SIC, as applicable, receives from such Third Party, to the extent such Third Party is not already subject to a confidentiality agreement with MCC or SIC, as applicable, a confidentiality agreement containing confidentiality terms that are not less favorable in the aggregate to MCC or SIC, as the case may be, than those contained in the Confidentiality Agreement (unless MCC or SIC, as applicable, offers to amend the Confidentiality Agreement to reflect such more favorable terms) (it being understood and agreed that such confidentiality agreement need not restrict the making of Competing Proposals (and related communications) to MCC or the MCC Board or to SIC or the SIC Board, as the case may be) (an "Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement") and (z) MCC or SIC, as the case may be, shall (subject to the terms of any confidentiality agreement existing prior to the date hereof) promptly provide or make available to the other party any material written non-public information concerning it that it provides to any Third Party given such access that was not previously made available to the other party or its representatives.

(e) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, (i) the MCC Board shall not effect an MCC Adverse Recommendation Change and the SIC Board shall not effect an SIC Adverse Recommendation Change (each, an "Adverse Recommendation Change"), (ii) MCC Board shall not approve or recommend, or allow MCC to execute or enter into, any letter of intent, memorandum of understanding or definitive merger or similar agreement with respect to any Competing Proposal (other than an Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement), and (iii) the SIC Board shall not approve or recommend, or allow SIC to execute or enter into, any letter of intent, memorandum of understanding or definitive merger or similar agreement with respect to any Competing Proposal (other than an Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement); provided however, that notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, if at any time prior to the receipt of MCC Stockholder Approval (in the case of MCC) or the SIC Stockholder Approval (in the case of SIC), MCC or SIC, as the case may be, has received a Competing Proposal that its board of directors has determined in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisor and legal counsel) constitutes a Superior Proposal, the MCC Board or SIC Board, as applicable, may (x) make an Adverse Recommendation Change in connection with such Superior Proposal if the board of directors effecting the Adverse Recommendation Change determines in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisor and legal counsel) that failure to make an Adverse Recommendation Change could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with the fiduciary duties of the MCC Board or SIC Board, as applicable, under Applicable Law, and/or (y) authorize, adopt or approve such Superior Proposal and cause or permit MCC or SIC, as applicable, to enter into a definitive agreement with respect to such Superior Proposal concurrently with the termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), as applicable, but in each case only after providing the Notice of Adverse Recommendation or Notice of Superior Proposal, as applicable, and entering into good faith negotiations as required by Section 7.10(f).

(f) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, no Adverse Recommendation Change may be made and no termination of this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or Section 9.1(i), as applicable, may be effected, in each case until after the third (3rd) Business Day following receipt of written notice from the party intending to effect any Adverse Recommendation Change to the other party advising the other party that its board of directors intends to make an Adverse Recommendation Change (a “Notice of Adverse Recommendation”) or terminate this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), as applicable (a “Notice of Superior Proposal”), and specifying the reasons therefor, including, if the basis of the proposed action is a Superior Proposal, the material terms and conditions of any such Superior Proposal. At the option of the party not seeking to terminate this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), the parties shall negotiate in good faith during such period to amend this Agreement in such a manner that the offer that was determined to constitute a Superior Proposal no longer constitutes a Superior Proposal. In determining whether to make an Adverse Recommendation Change or in determining whether a Competing Proposal constitutes a Superior Proposal, the applicable board of directors shall take into account any revisions to the terms of this Agreement proposed in writing by the other party in response to a Notice of Adverse Recommendation, a Notice of Superior Proposal or otherwise. Any material amendment to such Superior Proposal shall require a new Notice of Superior Proposal and the applicable party shall be required to comply again with the requirements of this Section 7.10(f).

(g) Nothing in this Agreement shall restrict MCC or SIC from taking or disclosing a position contemplated by Rules 14d-9 or 14e-2(a) under the Exchange Act, or otherwise making disclosure to comply with Applicable Law (it being agreed that a “stop, look and listen” communication by the MCC Board or SIC Board to its stockholders pursuant to Rule 14d-9(f) under the Exchange Act or a factually accurate public statement by MCC or SIC that describes MCC’s or SIC’s receipt, as applicable, of a Competing Proposal and the operation of this Agreement with respect thereto shall not be deemed to be an Adverse Recommendation Change).

7.11 Treatment of Outstanding Indebtedness. On or prior to the Closing, MCC and SIC shall each use commercially reasonable efforts to take or cause to be taken all actions with respect to their respective Indebtedness and the Indebtedness of their respective Subsidiaries that is necessary or advisable in connection with the Merger, including without limitation, obtaining all necessary consents of the holders of such Indebtedness, executing and delivering all documents, instruments, certificates and opinions of counsel required under the terms of such Indebtedness, making all necessary filings, and taking all other actions that the respective boards of directors or officers of MCC and SIC determine to be necessary or advisable in connection with such Indebtedness, including any assumption, refinancing or consolidation of such Indebtedness.

7.12 Takeover Statutes. The parties shall use their respective commercially reasonable efforts (a) to take all action necessary so that no Takeover Statute is or becomes applicable to the Merger or any of the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, and (b) if any such Takeover Statute is or becomes applicable to any of the foregoing, to take all action necessary so that the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement may be consummated as promptly as reasonably practicable on the terms contemplated by this Agreement and otherwise to eliminate or minimize the effect of such Takeover Statute on the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

7.13 Dividend Reinvestment Plan; Stock Repurchases.

(a) After the date of this Agreement, MCC shall terminate promptly any feature of its dividend reinvestment plan providing for the issuance of shares by MCC of MCC Common Stock.

(b) After the date of this Agreement, SIC shall suspend promptly any share repurchase program or offers to repurchase.

7.14 Stockholder Litigation. Between the date hereof and the Effective Time, each party shall use commercially reasonable efforts to consult with the other party on outstanding litigation, including stockholder litigation regarding this Agreement or the Merger, provided, for the avoidance of doubt, that such other party shall have no right to participate in, or obligation to cooperate in, the defense of such litigation.

7.15 Interaction with MDLY Merger Agreement. Without the consent of MCC, SIC agrees that it will not agree to any waiver or amendment of the MDLY Merger Agreement to the extent such waiver or amendment would adversely affect the economic or other rights or interests of MCC and its stockholders under this Agreement and the MDLY Merger Agreement in any material respect.

7.16 Other Matters. On or prior to the Closing Date, MCC shall pay all accrued but unpaid fees payable to MCC Advisors LLC pursuant to the MCC Investment Management Agreement.

ARTICLE VIII
CONDITIONS PRECEDENT

8.1 Conditions to Each Party's Obligation To Effect the Merger. The respective obligations of the parties to effect the Merger shall be subject to the satisfaction at or prior to the Effective Time of the following conditions:

(a) Stockholder Approval. (i) MCC Stockholder Approval shall have been obtained, and (ii) the SIC Stockholder Approval shall have been obtained.

(b) Form N-14 Registration Statement. The Form N-14 Registration Statement shall have been declared effective by the SEC under the Securities Act and no stop order suspending the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement shall have been issued and no proceedings for that purpose shall have been initiated or threatened by the SEC.

(c) Exchange Listing. The outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MDLY Merger shall have been authorized for listing on the NYSE, subject to official notice of issuance.

(d) SEC Exemptive Relief. The SEC Exemptive Relief shall have been granted and be in full force and effect as of the Closing Date.

(e) SBA Approval. MCC shall have obtained from the SBA such approvals as may be necessary for the SBA Debentures to remain outstanding in accordance with their terms following the Effective Time.

(f) Blue Sky Filings. SIC shall have made or obtained such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or “Blue Sky” laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement.

(g) No Injunctions or Restraints: Illegality. No order, injunction or decree issued by any court or agency of competent jurisdiction or other law preventing or making illegal the consummation of the Merger or any of the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be in effect.

(h) HSR Act. Any applicable waiting period (and any extension thereof) applicable to the Merger under the HSR Act shall have expired or been terminated.

(i) MDLY Merger. Each of the conditions to closing under the MDLY Merger Agreement shall have been satisfied or appropriately waived, and the MDLY Merger shall be consummated simultaneously with the Merger.

(j) New Investment Advisory Agreement. SIC and MCC Advisors LLC shall have executed and delivered the New Investment Advisory Agreement, to be effective as of the Effective Time, and such agreement shall have been approved by the SIC Board and received requisite SIC Stockholder Approval each in accordance with all applicable requirements of Section 15 of the Investment Company Act.

(k) MCC Termination Agreement. MCC and MCC Advisors LLC shall have executed a termination agreement terminating the MCC Investment Management Agreement, effective as of the Closing Date.

(l) SIC Termination Agreement. SIC and SIC Advisors shall have executed a termination agreement terminating the SIC Investment Advisory Agreement, effective as of the Closing Date.

(m) Certain Third Party Consents. (i) SIC or MCC, as the case may be, shall have obtained the consents and approvals set forth on Schedule 8.1(m) attached hereto, and (ii) in connection with the MDLY Merger Agreement, MDLY shall have obtained the consents required by Section 8.1(k) of the MDLY Merger Agreement.

(n) Accounting Treatment. The SEC shall have confirmed in a manner reasonably acceptable to the parties that the equity of the surviving company in the MDLY Merger shall, following the MDLY Merger, will be treated as a portfolio investment of SIC and reflected in SIC's consolidated financial statements at fair value for accounting purposes, and that such surviving company's financial results will not be consolidated into the financial statements of SIC.

(o) No Governmental Actions. There shall be no pending suit, action or proceeding by any Governmental Entity (i) challenging the acquisition by SIC of any MCC Common Stock, seeking to restrain or prohibit the consummation of the Merger or any other transaction contemplated by this Agreement or seeking to obtain from MCC or SIC any damages that are material in relation to MCC and its Subsidiaries taken as a whole, or (ii) seeking to prohibit SIC or any of its Subsidiaries from effectively controlling in any material respect the business or operations of MCC and its Subsidiaries.

(p) Section 368 Opinion. The parties shall have received the written opinion of Eversheds Sutherland (US) LLP (or such other counsel as may be reasonably satisfactory to the parties), dated as of the Closing Date and in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the parties, to the effect that, on the basis of facts, representations and assumptions set forth or referred to in such opinion, the Merger will qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code.

(q) Director Resignation. The parties shall have received the resignation of Seth Taube from the SIC Board.

8.2 Conditions to Obligations of SIC. The obligation of SIC to effect the Merger is also subject to the satisfaction, or waiver by SIC, at or prior to the Effective Time, of the following conditions:

(a) Representations and Warranties. Subject to the standard set forth in Section 8.4, the representations and warranties of MCC set forth in this Agreement shall be true and correct as of the date of this Agreement and as of the Effective Time as though made on and as of the Effective Time (except that representations and warranties that by their terms speak specifically as of the date of this Agreement or another date shall be true and correct as of such date); and SIC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of MCC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of MCC to the foregoing effect.

(b) Performance of Obligations of MCC. MCC shall have performed in all material respects all obligations required to be performed by it under this Agreement at or prior to the Effective Time; and SIC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of MCC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of MCC to such effect.

(c) Outstanding Indebtedness. MCC shall have delivered to SIC fully executed copies of all consents and approvals required in order to keep the amounts outstanding under the MCC Debt Documents, other than the MCC Revolving Loan Documents and the MCC Term Loan Documents, outstanding following the Effective Time and to keep the MCC Debt Documents, other than the MCC Revolving Debt Documents and the MCC Term Loan Documents, in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof.

(d) Final MCC Dividend. MCC shall have complied with Section 3.4(c) of this Agreement.

8.3 Conditions to Obligations of MCC. The obligation of MCC to effect the Merger is also subject to the satisfaction or waiver by MCC at or prior to the Effective Time of the following conditions:

(a) Representations and Warranties. Subject to the standard set forth in Section 8.4, the representations and warranties of SIC set forth in this Agreement shall be true and correct as of the date of this Agreement and as of the Effective Time as though made on and as of the Effective Time (except that representations and warranties that by their terms speak specifically as of the date of this Agreement or another date shall be true and correct as of such date); and MCC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of SIC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of SIC to the foregoing effect.

(b) Performance of Obligations of SIC. SIC shall have (i) performed in all material respects all obligations required to be performed by it under this Agreement (other than its obligations under Section 7.15) at or prior to the Effective Time, and (ii) performed in all respects all obligations required to be performed by it under Section 7.15 at or prior to the Effective Time; and MCC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of SIC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of SIC to such effect.

(c) Share Repurchase Program. SIC shall have terminated all share repurchase programs or offers to repurchase.

(d) Outstanding Indebtedness.

(i) SIC shall have taken all actions, and executed all documents, reasonably required of SIC by the MCC Debt Documents, other than the MCC Revolving Loan Documents and the MCC Term Loan Documents, in order to keep the Indebtedness outstanding under the MCC Debt Documents after the Effective Time and to keep the MCC Debt Documents in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof;

(ii) SIC shall have entered into amended and restated SIC Revolving Loan Documents and taken such other actions as may be required in order to assume the obligations under the MCC Revolving Loan Documents and the MCC Term Loan Documents and to keep such amounts outstanding as of the Effective Time; and

(iii) SIC shall have taken all actions, and executed all documents, reasonably required of SIC in order to keep the Indebtedness represented by the SIC Debt Documents outstanding and the SIC Debt Documents in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof.

8.4 Standard. No representation or warranty of MCC contained in Article IV or of SIC contained in Article V shall be deemed untrue, inaccurate or incorrect for purposes of Section 8.2(a) or 8.3(a), as applicable, under this Agreement, as a consequence of the existence or absence of any fact, circumstance or event unless such fact, circumstance or event, individually or when taken together with all other facts, circumstances or events inconsistent with any representations or warranties contained in Article IV, in the case of MCC, or Article V, in the case of SIC, has had or would reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MCC or SIC, respectively (disregarding for purposes of this Section 8.4, except as it relates to Section 4.8 and Section 5.8, all qualifications or limitations set forth in any representations or warranties as to “materiality,” “Material Adverse Effect” and words of similar import). Notwithstanding the immediately preceding sentence, the representations and warranties contained in (i) Section 4.2(a) and Section 5.2(a) shall be deemed untrue and incorrect if not true and correct except to a de minimis extent (relative to Section 4.2(a) or Section 5.2(a), respectively, taken as a whole), and (ii) Sections 4.3(a) and 4.3(b)(i), in the case of MCC, and Sections 5.3(a) and 5.3(b)(i), in the case of SIC, shall be deemed untrue and incorrect if not true and correct in all material respects.

8.5 Frustration of Closing Conditions. Neither MCC nor SIC may rely on the failure of any condition set forth in Section 8.1, Section 8.2 or Section 8.3, as applicable, to be satisfied if such failure was primarily caused by the party relying on such failure to perform any of its material obligations under this Agreement.

ARTICLE IX TERMINATION AND AMENDMENT

9.1 Termination. This Agreement may be terminated at any time prior to the Effective Time, whether before or after receipt of the MCC Stockholder Approval or the SIC Stockholder Approval:

(a) by mutual consent of MCC and SIC in a written instrument authorized by MCC Board and SIC Board;

(b) by either MCC or SIC, if any Governmental Entity whose consent or approval is a condition to Closing set forth in Section 8.1 has denied the granting of any such consent or approval and such denial has become final and nonappealable, or any Governmental Entity of competent jurisdiction shall have issued a final and nonappealable order, injunction or decree permanently enjoining or otherwise prohibiting or making illegal the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement;

(c) by either MCC or SIC, if the Merger shall not have been consummated on or before March 31, 2019 (the “Outside Date”), unless the failure of the Closing to occur by such date shall be due to the failure of the party seeking to terminate this Agreement to perform or observe the covenants and agreements of such party set forth in this Agreement; provided that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein, and such breach has caused or resulted in the failure of the Closing to occur by or prior to the Outside Date;

(d) by either SIC or MCC, at any time prior to the Effective Time, in the event that (i) MCC or SIC, as the case may be, shall have failed to obtain the MCC Stockholder Approval or the SIC Stockholder Approval, as applicable, at the MCC Stockholder Meeting or the SIC Stockholder Meeting, respectively, at which a vote is taken on the Merger, or (ii) the MDLY Merger Agreement shall have been terminated;

(e) by either MCC or SIC (provided that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein), if there shall have been a breach of any of the covenants or agreements or any of the representations or warranties set forth in this Agreement on the part of MCC, in the case of a termination by SIC, or SIC, in the case of a termination by MCC, which breach, either individually or in the aggregate, would result in, if occurring or continuing on the Closing Date, the failure of the conditions set forth in Section 8.2 or 8.3, as the case may be, and which is not cured within thirty (30) days following written notice to the party committing such breach or by its nature or timing cannot be cured within such time period;

(f) by SIC, (i) within ten (10) Business Days after MCC Board shall have effected an Adverse Recommendation Change prior to receipt of MCC Stockholder Approval, (ii) in the event MCC Board shall have approved or authorized MCC or any of its Subsidiaries to enter into a merger agreement, letter of intent, acquisition agreement, purchase agreement or other similar agreement with respect to a Competing Proposal or (iii) MCC fails to include the MCC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus;

(g) by MCC, in the event that

(i) (A) MCC shall have received a Superior Proposal, (B) subject to MCC's compliance with its obligations under Section 7.10(f), MCC Board or any authorized committee thereof shall have authorized MCC to enter into a definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal, and (C) concurrently with the termination of this Agreement, MCC pays SIC the Termination Fee contemplated by Section 9.4 and enters into the definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal; or

(ii) the MCC Board or any authorized committee thereof shall have effected an Adverse Recommendation Change in accordance with the terms of Section 7.10.

(h) by MCC, (i) within ten (10) Business Days after the SIC Board shall have effected a SIC Adverse Recommendation Change prior to receipt of SIC Stockholder Approval, (ii) in the event the SIC Board shall have approved, or authorized SIC or any of its Subsidiaries to enter into, a merger agreement, letter of intent, acquisition agreement, purchase agreement or other similar agreement with respect to a Competing Proposal or (iii) SIC fails to include the SIC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus; or

(i) by SIC, in the event that:

(i) (A) SIC shall have received a Superior Proposal, (B) subject to SIC's compliance with its obligations under Section 7.10(f), the SIC Board or any authorized committee thereof shall have authorized SIC to enter into a definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal, and (C) concurrently with the termination of this Agreement, SIC pays MCC the Termination Fee contemplated by Section 9.4 and enters into the definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal; or

(ii) the SIC Board or any authorized committee thereof shall have effected an Adverse Recommendation Change in accordance with the terms of Section 7.10.

The party desiring to terminate this Agreement pursuant to clause (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h) or (i) of this Section 9.1 shall give written notice of such termination to the other party in accordance with Section 10.2, specifying the provision or provisions hereof pursuant to which such termination is effected.

9.2 Effect of Termination. In the event of termination of this Agreement by either MCC or SIC as provided in Section 9.1, this Agreement shall become void and have no effect, and none of MCC, SIC, any of their respective Subsidiaries or any of the officers or directors of any of them shall have any liability of any nature whatsoever under this Agreement, or in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, except that (i) Sections 7.2(c), 9.2, 9.3, 9.4, and Article X shall survive any termination of this Agreement, and (ii) except as provided in Section 10.9(c), neither MCC nor SIC shall be relieved or released from any liabilities or damages arising out of its fraud or knowing and intentional breach of any provision of this Agreement.

9.3 Fees and Expenses. All fees and expenses incurred in connection with the Merger, this Agreement, and the transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be paid by the party incurring such fees or expenses; provided, that the costs and expenses of preparing, filing, printing and mailing the Form N-14 Registration Statement and related Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, all other filing fees and amounts paid to the SEC in connection with the Merger, and the fees of any HSR Act filing shall be borne equally by MCC and SIC.

9.4 Termination Fee.

(a) In the event that this Agreement is terminated pursuant to Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g) then, provided that SIC was not in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements hereunder at the time of termination, MCC will pay to SIC, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g), as applicable, a fee in an amount equal to $6,000,000 (the "Termination Fee").

(b) In the event that this Agreement is terminated pursuant to Section 9.1(h) or Section 9.1(i) then, provided that MCC was not in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements hereunder at the time of termination, SIC will pay to MCC, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(h) or Section 9.1(i), as applicable, the Termination Fee.

(c) The Termination Fee, if applicable, shall be payable (i) no later than two Business Days after the date on which this Agreement is terminated by SIC pursuant to Section 9.1(f) or by MCC pursuant to Section 9.1(h), and (ii) immediately prior to the time of termination by MCC pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or by SIC pursuant to Section 9.1(i). The parties hereto acknowledge and hereby agree that in no event shall any party be required to pay a Termination Fee on more than one occasion.

(d) Each of the parties hereto acknowledges that (i) the agreements contained in this Section 9.4 are an integral part of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, (ii) the Termination Fee is not a penalty, but is liquidated damages, in a reasonable amount that will compensate the other party, in the circumstances in which the Termination Fee is payable, for the efforts and resources expended and opportunities foregone while negotiating this Agreement and in reliance on this Agreement and on the expectation of the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, which amount would otherwise be impossible to calculate with precision and (iii) without these agreements, the parties would not enter into this Agreement.

9.5 Amendment. This Agreement may be amended by the parties, by action taken or authorized by MCC Board and SIC Board, at any time before or after receipt of MCC Stockholder Approval or SIC Stockholder Approval; provided, however, that after receipt of MCC Stockholder Approval or SIC Stockholder Approval, there may not be, without further approval of such stockholders, any amendment of this Agreement that requires further approval of the stockholders of MDLY or SIC under Applicable Law. This Agreement may not be amended except by an instrument in writing signed on behalf of each of the parties.

9.6 Extension; Waiver. At any time prior to the Effective Time, the parties, by action taken or authorized by their respective board of directors, may, to the extent legally allowed, (a) extend the time for the performance of any of the obligations or other acts of the other party, (b) waive any inaccuracies in the representations and warranties contained in this Agreement or (c) waive compliance with any of the agreements or conditions contained in this Agreement. Any agreement on the part of a party to any such extension or waiver shall be valid only if set forth in a written instrument signed on behalf of such party, but such extension or waiver or failure to insist on strict compliance with an obligation, covenant, agreement or condition shall not operate as a waiver of, or estoppel with respect to, any subsequent or other failure.

ARTICLE X
GENERAL PROVISIONS

10.1 Nonsurvival of Representations, Warranties and Agreements. None of the representations, warranties, covenants and agreements set forth in this Agreement or in any instrument delivered pursuant to this Agreement shall survive the Effective Time, except for the matters set forth in Section 7.6 and for those other covenants and agreements contained in this Agreement that by their terms apply or are to be performed in whole or in part after the Effective Time.

10.2 Notices. All notices and other communications in connection with this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed given if delivered personally, sent via facsimile (with confirmation), mailed by registered or certified mail (return receipt requested) or delivered by an express courier (with confirmation) to the parties at the following addresses (or at such other address for a party as shall be specified by like notice):

10.3 Interpretation. When a reference is made in this Agreement to Articles, Sections, Exhibits or Schedules, such reference shall be to an Article or Section of or Exhibit or Schedule to this Agreement unless otherwise indicated. The table of contents and headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement. Whenever the words “include,” “includes” or “including” are used in this Agreement, they shall be deemed to be followed by the words “without limitation.” MCC Disclosure Schedule and the SIC Disclosure Schedule, as well as all other schedules and all exhibits hereto, shall be deemed part of this Agreement and included in any reference to this Agreement. This Agreement shall not be interpreted or construed to require any Person to take any action, or fail to take any action, if to do so would violate any Applicable Law.

10.4 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, all of which shall be considered one and the same agreement and shall become effective when counterparts have been signed by each of the parties and delivered to the other party, it being understood that each party need not sign the same counterpart.

10.5 Entire Agreement. This Agreement (including the documents and the instruments referred to in this Agreement), together with the Confidentiality Agreement, constitutes the entire agreement and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings, both written and oral, between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement, other than the Confidentiality Agreement.

10.6 Governing Law: Jurisdiction. This Agreement shall be governed and construed in accordance with the internal laws of the State of Delaware applicable to contracts made and wholly-performed within such state, without regard to any applicable conflicts of law principles. Each of the parties hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submits, for itself and its property, to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Delaware Court of Chancery, or, if (and only if) such court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, any Federal court of the United States of America sitting in the State of Delaware, and the respective appellate courts from the foregoing (all of the foregoing, collectively, the “Delaware Courts”), in any action or proceeding arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the agreements delivered in connection herewith or the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby or for recognition or enforcement of any judgment relating thereto, and each of the parties hereby irrevocably and unconditionally (i) agrees not to commence any such action or proceeding except in the applicable Delaware Court, (ii) agrees that any claim in respect of any such action or proceeding may be heard and determined in the applicable Delaware Court, (iii) waives, to the fullest extent it may legally and effectively do so, any objection that it may now or hereafter have to the laying of venue of any such action or proceeding in the applicable Delaware Court, and (iv) waives, to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, the defense of an inconvenient forum to the maintenance of such action or proceeding in the applicable Delaware Court. Each of the parties agrees that a final judgment in any such action or proceeding shall be conclusive and may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit on the judgment or in any other manner provided by Applicable Law. Each party irrevocably consents to service of process in the manner provided for by Applicable Law. Nothing in this Agreement will affect the right of any party to serve process in any other manner permitted by Applicable Law.

10.7 PUBLICITY. THE INITIAL PRESS RELEASE CONCERNING THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE A JOINT PRESS RELEASE. NEITHER MCC NOR SIC SHALL, AND NEITHER MCC NOR SIC SHALL PERMIT ANY OF ITS SUBSIDIARIES OR REPRESENTATIVES TO, ISSUE OR CAUSE THE PUBLICATION OF ANY PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT WITH RESPECT TO, OR OTHERWISE MAKE ANY PUBLIC STATEMENT CONCERNING, THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS AGREEMENT WITHOUT THE PRIOR WRITTEN CONSENT OF SIC, IN THE CASE OF A PROPOSED ANNOUNCEMENT OR STATEMENT BY MCC, OR MCC, IN THE CASE OF A PROPOSED ANNOUNCEMENT OR STATEMENT BY SIC; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, THAT EITHER PARTY MAY, AFTER PRIOR WRITTEN NOTICE TO THE OTHER PARTY, ISSUE OR CAUSE THE PUBLICATION OF ANY PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING TO THE EXTENT REQUIRED BY LAW OR BY THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE NYSE; PROVIDED HOWEVER, THE PARTY ISSUING SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING MUST CONSULT WITH THE OTHER PARTY BEFORE ISSUING SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING AND PROVIDE SUCH PARTY AN OPPORTUNITY TO REVIEW AND COMMENT UPON SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING, WHICH COMMENTS THE OTHER PARTY SHALL CONSIDER IN GOOD FAITH.

10.8 Assignment: Third Party Beneficiaries. Neither this Agreement nor any of the rights, interests or obligations under this Agreement shall be assigned by either of the parties (whether by operation of law or otherwise) without the prior written consent of the other party. Subject to the preceding sentence, this Agreement shall be binding upon, inure to the benefit of and be enforceable by each of the parties and their respective successors and assigns. Except as otherwise specifically provided in Section 7.6, this Agreement (including the documents and instruments referred to in this Agreement) is not intended to and does not confer upon any Person other than the parties hereto any rights or remedies under this Agreement. Except as provided in Section 7.6 only, SIC and MCC hereby agree that their respective representations, warranties and covenants set forth herein are solely for the benefit of the other parties hereto, in accordance with and subject to the terms of this Agreement, and this Agreement is not intended to, and does not, confer upon any Person other than the parties hereto any rights or remedies hereunder, including, without limitation, the right to rely upon such representations and warranties set forth herein. The parties hereto further agree that the rights of Third Party beneficiaries under Section 7.6 shall not arise unless and until the Effective Time occurs. The representations and warranties in this Agreement are the product of negotiations among the parties hereto and are for the sole benefit of the parties hereto. In some instances, the representations and warranties in this Agreement may represent an allocation among the parties hereto of risks associated with particular matters regardless of the knowledge of any of the parties hereto. Consequently, Persons other than the parties hereto may not rely upon the representations and warranties in this Agreement as characterizations of actual facts or circumstances as of the date of this Agreement or as of any other date.

10.9 Remedies.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, any and all remedies herein expressly conferred upon a party will be deemed cumulative with and not exclusive of any other remedy conferred hereby, or by law or equity upon such party, and the exercise by a party of any one remedy will not preclude the exercise of any other remedy.

(b) The parties hereto hereby agree that irreparable damage would occur in the event that any provision of this Agreement to be performed by either party was not performed in accordance with its specific terms or was otherwise breached, and that money damages or other legal remedies would not be an adequate remedy for any such damages. Accordingly, the parties hereto acknowledge and hereby agree that in the event of any breach or threatened breach by either party of any of its respective covenants or obligations set forth in this Agreement, the non-breaching party shall be entitled to an injunction or injunctions to prevent or restrain breaches or threatened breaches of this Agreement and to specifically enforce the terms and provisions of this Agreement to prevent breaches or threatened breaches of, or to enforce compliance with, the covenants and obligations of the other under this Agreement. Each party hereby agrees not to raise any objections to the availability of the equitable remedy of specific performance to prevent or restrain breaches or threatened breaches of this Agreement by such party, and to specifically enforce the terms and provisions of this Agreement to prevent breaches or threatened breaches of, or to enforce compliance with, the covenants and obligations of such party under this Agreement. The parties hereto further agree that (i) by seeking the remedies provided for in this Section 10.9(b), neither party shall in any respect waive its right to seek any other form of relief that may be available to a party under this Agreement (including monetary damages) in the event that this Agreement has been terminated or in the event that the remedies provided for in this Section 10.9(b) are not available or otherwise are not granted, and (ii) nothing set forth in this Section 10.9(b) shall require either party to institute any proceeding for (or limit such party's right to institute any proceeding for) specific performance under this Section 10.9(b) prior or as a condition to exercising any termination right under Section 9.1 (and pursuing damages after such termination), nor shall the commencement of any legal proceeding pursuant to this Section 10.9(b) or anything set forth in this Section 10.9(b) restrict or limit such party's right to terminate this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1 or pursue any other remedies under this Agreement that may be available then or thereafter.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, the parties hereto expressly acknowledge and agree that the remedies set forth in Section 9.4 shall be the sole and exclusive remedies available to SIC, in the event this Agreement is terminated under Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g), and MCC, in the event this Agreement is terminated under Section 9.1(h) or Section 9.1(i). To the extent SIC or MCC is entitled to receive the Termination Fee, the receipt of such amounts shall be deemed to be full and final payment for any and all losses or damages suffered or incurred by SIC or MCC, as applicable, or any of their respective Affiliates or any other Person in connection with this Agreement (and the termination hereof), the transactions contemplated hereby (and the abandonment thereof) or any matter forming the basis for such termination, and none of SIC nor any of its Affiliates, or MCC or any of its Affiliates, as applicable, or any other Person shall be entitled to bring or maintain any other Claim against MCC or SIC, as applicable, or any of their Affiliates arising out of this Agreement, any of the transactions contemplated hereby or any matters forming the basis for such termination.

10.10 WAIVER OF JURY TRIAL. EACH PARTY HEREBY IRREVOCABLY AND UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN RESPECT OF ANY LITIGATION DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS AGREEMENT AND ANY OF THE AGREEMENTS DELIVERED IN CONNECTION HERewith OR THE MERGER AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY OR THEREBY. EACH PARTY CERTIFIES AND ACKNOWLEDGES THAT (A) NO REPRESENTATIVE, AGENT OR ATTORNEY OF ANY OTHER PARTY HAS REPRESENTED, EXPRESSLY OR OTHERWISE, THAT SUCH OTHER PARTY WOULD NOT, IN THE EVENT OF LITIGATION, SEEK TO ENFORCE EITHER OF SUCH WAIVERS, (B) IT UNDERSTANDS AND HAS CONSIDERED THE IMPLICATIONS OF SUCH WAIVERS, (C) IT MAKES SUCH WAIVERS VOLUNTARILY, AND (D) IT HAS BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE MUTUAL WAIVERS AND CERTIFICATIONS IN THIS SECTION 10.10.

10.11 Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any Person or circumstance is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remaining provisions, or the application of such provision to Persons or circumstances other than those as to which it has been held invalid or unenforceable, will remain in full force and effect and will in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated thereby, so long as the economic or legal substance of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement is not affected in any manner materially adverse to any party. Upon such determination, the parties will negotiate in good faith in an effort to agree upon a suitable and equitable substitute provision to effect the original intent of the parties.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT

BETWEEN

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION.

AND

MCC ADVISORS LLC

This Investment Advisory Agreement (the “Agreement”) is made as of [], by and between SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION, a Maryland corporation (the “Company”), and MCC ADVISORS LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Adviser”).

WHEREAS, the Company is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company that intends to elect to be treated as a business development company (“BDC”) under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (together with the rules promulgated thereunder, the “1940 Act”);

WHEREAS, the Adviser is registered as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (together with the rules promulgated thereunder, the “Advisers Act”);

WHEREAS, the Company desires to retain the Adviser to provide investment advisory services to the Company in the manner and on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, the Adviser is willing to provide investment advisory services to the Company in the manner and on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the covenants hereinafter contained and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and adequacy of which are hereby acknowledged, the Company and the Adviser hereby agree as follows:

1. Duties of the Adviser.

(a) Retention of Adviser. The Company hereby appoints the Adviser to act as the investment adviser to the Company and to manage the investment and reinvestment of the assets of the Company, subject to the supervision of the board of directors of the Company (the “Board of Directors”), for the period and upon the terms herein set forth in accordance with:

(i) the investment objective, policies and restrictions that are set forth in the Company’s Registration Statement on Form N-2 as declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), as supplemented, amended or superseded from time to time (the “Registration Statement”);

(ii) during the term of this Agreement, all other applicable federal and state laws, rules and regulations, and the Company’s articles of incorporation, as further amended from time to time (“Articles of Incorporation”);

(iii) such investment policies, directives, regulatory restrictions as the Company may, from time to time, establish or issue and communicate to the Adviser in writing; and

(iv) the Company’s compliance policies and procedures as applicable to the Company’s investment adviser and as administered by the Company’s chief compliance officer.

(b) Responsibilities of Adviser. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Adviser shall, during the term and subject to the provisions of this Agreement:

(i) determine the composition and allocation of the Company’s investment portfolio, the nature and timing of any changes therein and the manner of implementing such changes;

(ii) identify, evaluate and negotiate the structure of the investments made by the Company;

Table of Contents

(iii) perform due diligence on prospective portfolio companies;

(iv) execute, close, service and monitor the Company's investments;

(v) determine the securities and other assets that the Company shall purchase, retain, or sell;

(vi) provide the Company with such other investment advisory, research and related services as the Company may, from time to time, reasonably require for the investment of its funds; and

(vii) to the extent permitted under the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, on the Company's behalf, and in coordination with any Sub-Adviser (as defined below) and administrator, provide significant managerial assistance to those portfolio companies to which the Company is required to provide such assistance under the 1940 Act, including utilizing appropriate personnel of the Adviser to, among other things, monitor the operations of the Company's portfolio companies, participate in board and management meetings, consult with and advise officers of portfolio companies and provide other organizational and financial consultation.

(c) Power and Authority. To facilitate the Adviser's performance of these undertakings, but subject to the restrictions contained herein, the Company hereby delegates to the Adviser, and the Adviser hereby accepts, the power and authority to act on behalf of the Company to effectuate investment decisions for the Company, including the execution and delivery of all documents relating to the Company's investments and the placing of orders for other purchase or sale transactions on behalf of the Company. In the event that the Company determines to acquire debt financing, the Adviser shall use commercially reasonable efforts to arrange for such financing on the Company's behalf, subject to the oversight and approval of the Board of Directors. If it is necessary for the Adviser to make investments on behalf of the Company through a special purpose vehicle, the Adviser shall have authority to create, or arrange for the creation of, such special purpose vehicle and to make investments through such special purpose vehicle in accordance with applicable law. The Company also grants to the Adviser power and authority to engage in all activities and transactions (and anything incidental thereto) that the Adviser deems, in its sole discretion, appropriate, necessary or advisable to carry out its duties pursuant to this Agreement.

(d) Acceptance of Appointment. The Adviser hereby accepts such appointment and agrees during the term hereof to render the services described herein for the compensation provided herein, subject to the limitations contained herein.

(e) Sub-Advisers. The Adviser is hereby authorized to enter into one or more sub-advisory agreements (each a "Sub-Advisory Agreement") with other investment advisers (each a "Sub-Adviser") pursuant to which the Adviser may obtain the services of the Sub-Adviser(s) to assist the Adviser in fulfilling its responsibilities hereunder, subject to the oversight of the Adviser and/or the Company, with the scope of such services and oversight to be set forth in each Sub-Advisory Agreement.

(i) The Adviser and not the Company shall be responsible for any compensation payable to any Sub-Adviser; provided, however, that the Adviser shall have the right to direct the Company to pay directly any Sub-Adviser but only with respect to the amounts due and payable to such Sub-Adviser from the fees and expenses payable to the Adviser under this Agreement.

(ii) Any Sub-Advisory Agreement entered into by the Adviser shall be in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, including without limitation, the requirements of the 1940 Act relating to Board of Directors and Company stockholder approval thereunder, and other applicable federal and state law.

(iii) Any Sub-Adviser shall be subject to the same fiduciary duties as are imposed on the Adviser pursuant to this Agreement, the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, as well as other applicable federal and state law.

(f) Independent Contractor Status. The Adviser shall, for all purposes herein provided, be deemed to be an independent contractor and, except as expressly provided or authorized herein, shall have no authority to act for or represent the Company in any way or otherwise be deemed an agent of the Company.

(g) Record Retention. Subject to review by and the overall control of the Board of Directors, the Adviser shall maintain and keep all books, accounts and other records of the Adviser that relate to activities performed by the Adviser hereunder as required under the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act. The Adviser agrees that all records that it maintains and keeps for the Company shall at all times remain the property of the Company, shall be readily accessible during normal business hours, and shall be promptly surrendered to the Company upon the termination of this Agreement or otherwise on written request by the Company. The Adviser further agrees that the records that it maintains and keeps for the Company shall be preserved in the manner and for the periods prescribed by the 1940 Act, unless any such records are earlier surrendered as provided above. The Adviser shall have the right to retain copies, or originals where required by Rule 204-2 promulgated under the Advisers Act, of such records to the extent required by applicable law, subject to observance of its confidentiality obligations under this Agreement. The Adviser shall maintain records of the locations where books, accounts and records are maintained among the persons and entities providing services directly or indirectly to the Adviser or the Company.

(h) State Administrator. The Adviser shall, upon request by an official or agency administering the securities laws of a state, province, or commonwealth (a "State Administrator"), submit to such State Administrator the reports and statements required to be distributed to Company stockholders pursuant to this Agreement, the Registration Statement and applicable federal and state law.

(i) Fiduciary Duty: It is acknowledged that the Adviser shall have a fiduciary responsibility for the safekeeping and use of all funds and assets of the Company, whether or not in the Adviser's immediate possession or control. The Adviser shall not employ, or permit another to employ, such funds or assets in any manner except for the exclusive benefit of the Company. The Adviser shall not, by entry into an agreement with any stockholder of the Company or otherwise, contract away the fiduciary obligation owed to the Company and the Company's stockholders under common law or otherwise.

2. Expenses Payable by the Company.

(a) Adviser Personnel. All investment personnel of the Adviser, when and to the extent engaged in providing investment advisory services and managerial assistance hereunder, and the compensation and routine overhead expenses of such personnel allocable to such services, shall be provided and paid for by the Adviser and not by the Company.

(b) Costs. Subject to the limitations on expense reimbursement of the Adviser as set forth in Section 2(c), the Company, either directly or through reimbursement to the Adviser, shall bear all costs and expenses of its investment operations and its investment transactions, including, without limitation, costs and expenses relating to: all direct and indirect costs and expenses incurred by the Adviser for office space rental, office equipment, utilities and other non-compensation related overhead allocable to performance of investment advisory services hereunder by the Adviser; organizational and offering expenses; corporate and organizational expenses relating to offerings of shares of the Company's common stock, subject to limitations included in the Agreement; the cost of calculating the Company's net asset value, including the cost of any third-party valuation firms; offerings of the Corporation's common stock and other securities; fees and expenses associated with performing due diligence reviews of prospective investments; transfer agent and custodial fees, fees and expenses associated with marketing efforts (including attendance at investment conferences and similar events); federal and state registration fees; all costs of registration and listing the Corporation's shares on any securities exchange; federal, state and local taxes; independent directors' fees and expenses; brokerage commissions for the Company's investments; costs of proxy statements, stockholders' reports and notices; fidelity bond, directors and officers errors and omissions liability insurance and other insurance premiums; direct costs such as printing, mailing, long distance telephone and staff costs associated with the Company's reporting and compliance obligations under the 1940 Act and applicable federal and state securities laws, including compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; fees and expenses associated with accounting, independent audits and outside legal costs; and all other expenses incurred by the Company's Adviser, any Sub-Adviser or the Company in connection with administering the Company's business, including expenses incurred by the Company's administrator in performing administrative services for the Company, and the reimbursement of the compensation of the Company's chief financial officer and chief compliance officer and their respective staffs paid by the Company's administrator.

(c) Limitations on Reimbursement of Expenses.

(i) In addition to the compensation paid to the Adviser pursuant to Section 3, the Company shall reimburse the Adviser for all expenses of the Company incurred by the Adviser as well as the actual cost of goods and services used for or by the Company and obtained from entities not affiliated with the Adviser. The Adviser may be reimbursed for the administrative services performed by it on behalf of the Company; provided, however, the reimbursement shall be an amount equal to the lower of the Adviser's actual cost or the amount the Company would be required to pay third parties for the provision of comparable administrative services in the same geographic location; and provided, further, that such costs are reasonably allocated to the Company on the basis of assets, revenues, time records or other method conforming with generally accepted accounting principles. No reimbursement shall be permitted for services for which the Adviser is entitled to compensation by way of a separate fee. Excluded from the allowable reimbursement shall be:

(A) rent or depreciation, utilities, capital equipment, and other administrative items of the Adviser; and

(B) salaries, fringe benefits, travel expenses and other administrative items incurred or allocated to any executive officer or board member of the Adviser (or any individual performing such services) or a holder of 10% or greater equity interest in the Adviser (or any person having the power to direct or cause the direction of the Adviser, whether by ownership of voting securities, by contract or otherwise).

(d) Periodic Reimbursement.

Expenses incurred by the Adviser on behalf of the Company and payable pursuant to this section shall be reimbursed no less than monthly to the Adviser. The Adviser shall prepare a statement documenting the expenses of the Company and the calculation of the reimbursement and shall deliver such statement to the Company prior to full reimbursement.

3. Compensation of the Adviser.

The Company agrees to pay, and the Adviser agrees to accept, as compensation for the services provided by the Adviser hereunder, a base management fee ("Base Management Fee") and an incentive fee ("Incentive Fee") as hereinafter set forth. The Adviser may, in its sole discretion, elect or agree to temporarily or permanently waive, defer, reduce or modify, in whole or in part, the Base Management Fee and/or the Incentive Fee. Any of the fees payable to the Adviser under this Agreement for any partial month or calendar quarter shall be appropriately prorated. The fees payable to the Adviser as set forth in this Agreement shall be calculated using a detailed calculation policy and procedures approved by the Adviser and the Board of Directors, including a majority of the Independent Directors (as defined below), and shall be consistent with the calculation of such fees as set forth in this Section. See Appendix A for examples of how these fees are calculated.

(a) Base Management Fee. The Base Management Fee will be calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of gross assets payable quarterly in arrears. For purposes of calculating the Base Management Fee, the term "gross assets" includes any assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage. For the first quarter of the Company's operations, the Base Management Fee will be calculated based on the initial value of the Company's gross assets. Subsequently, the Base Management Fee will be calculated based on the Company's gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter. Base Management Fees for any partial quarter will be appropriately prorated.

(b) Incentive Fee.

The Incentive Fee will be divided into two parts: (1) a subordinated incentive fee on income, and (2) an incentive fee on capital gains. Each part of the Incentive Fee is outlined below.

The subordinated incentive fee on income is earned on pre-incentive fee net investment income and shall be determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar quarter during which the Investment Advisory Agreement is in effect. If this Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination.

The subordinated incentive fee on income for each quarter will be calculated as follows:

- No subordinated incentive fee on income will be payable in any calendar quarter in which the pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed a quarterly return to stockholders of 1.75% per quarter on our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the "quarterly preferred return").
- For any quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds the quarterly preferred return, but is less than or equal to 2.1875% of our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the "catch up"), the subordinated incentive fee on income shall equal 100% of pre-incentive fee net investment income.

- For any quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter, the subordinated incentive fee on income shall equal 20% of pre-incentive fee net investment income.
- “Pre-incentive fee net investment income” is defined as interest income, dividend income and any other income accrued during the calendar quarter, minus operating expenses for the quarter, including the Base Management Fee, expenses payable to the Company’s administrator, any interest expense and dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the Incentive Fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not include any realized capital gains, realized capital losses or unrealized capital appreciation or depreciation.

The incentive fee on capital gains will be earned on investments sold and shall be determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year during which this Agreement is in effect. If this Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination. The fee is equal to 20% of realized capital gains, less the aggregate amount of any previously paid incentive fee on capital gains. Incentive fee on capital gains is equal to realized capital gains on a cumulative basis from inception, computed net of all realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation on a cumulative basis.

(c) Waiver or Deferral of Fees.

The Adviser shall have the right to elect to waive or defer all or a portion of the Base Management Fee and/or Incentive Fee that would otherwise be paid to it. Prior to the payment of any fee to the Adviser, the Company shall obtain written instructions from the Adviser with respect to any waiver or deferral of any portion of such fees. Any portion of a deferred fee payable to the Adviser and not paid over to the Adviser with respect to any month, calendar quarter or year shall be deferred without interest and may be paid over in any such other month prior to the occurrence of the termination of this Agreement, as the Adviser may determine upon written notice to the Company.

4. Covenant of the Adviser.

(a) Registration of Adviser

The Adviser covenants that it is or will be registered as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act on the effective date of this Agreement as set forth in Section 9 herein, and shall maintain such registration until the expiration or termination of this Agreement. The Adviser agrees that its activities shall at all times comply in all material respects with all applicable federal and state laws governing its operations and investments. The Adviser agrees to observe and comply with applicable provisions of the code of ethics adopted by the Company pursuant to Rule 17j-1 under the 1940 Act, as such code of ethics may be amended from time to time.

(b) Reports to Stockholders.

The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared and distributed to stockholders during each year the following reports of the Company (either included in a periodic report filed with the SEC or distributed in a separate report):

(i) Quarterly Reports. Within 60 days of the end of each quarter, a report containing the same financial information contained in the Company’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q filed by the Company under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

(ii) Annual Report. Within 120 days after the end of the Company’s fiscal year, an annual report containing:

(A) A balance sheet as of the end of each fiscal year and statements of income, equity, and cash flow, for the year then ended, all of which shall be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principals and accompanied by an auditor’s report containing an opinion of an independent certified public accountant;

(B) A report of the activities of the Company during the period covered by the report;

(C) Where forecasts have been provided to the Company’s shareholders, a table comparing the forecasts previously provided with the actual results during the period covered by the report;

(D) A report setting forth distributions by the Company for the period covered thereby and separately identifying distributions from (i) cash flow from operations during the period; (ii) cash flow from operations during a prior period which have been held as reserves; and (iii) proceeds from disposition of Company assets.

Table of Contents

(iii) Previous Reimbursement Reports. The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared a report, prepared in accordance with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants United States Auditing Standards relating to special reports, and distributed to stockholders not less than annually, containing an itemized list of the costs reimbursed to the Adviser for the previous fiscal year. The special report shall at a minimum provide:

(A) A review of the time records of individual employees, the costs of whose services were reimbursed; and

(B) A review of the specific nature of the work performed by each such employee.

(iv) Proposed Reimbursement Reports. The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared a report containing an itemized estimate of all proposed expenses for which it shall receive reimbursements pursuant to Section 2(c) of this Agreement for the next fiscal year, together with a breakdown by year of such expenses reimbursed in each of the last five public programs formed by the Adviser.

(c) Reports to State Administrators.

The Adviser shall, upon written request of any State Administrator, submit any of the reports and statements to be prepared and distributed by it to such State Administrator.

(d) Recommendations Regarding Reviews.

From time to time and not less than quarterly, the Adviser must review the Company's accounts to determine whether cash distributions are appropriate. The Company may, subject to authorization by the Board of Directors, distribute pro rata to the stockholders funds received by the Company which the Adviser deems unnecessary to retain in the Company.

(e) Temporary Investments.

The Adviser shall, in its sole discretion, temporarily place proceeds from offerings by the Company into short term, highly liquid investments which, in its reasonable judgment, afford appropriate safety of principal during such time as it is determining the composition and allocation of the portfolio of the Company and the nature, timing and implementation of any changes thereto pursuant to Section 1(b); provided however, that the Adviser shall be under no fiduciary obligation to select any such short-term, highly liquid investment based solely on any yield or return of such investment. The Adviser shall cause any proceeds of the offering of Company securities not committed for investment within the later of two years from the date of effectiveness of the Registration Statement or one year from termination of the offering, unless a longer period is permitted by the applicable State Administrator, to be paid as a distribution to the stockholders of the Company as a return of capital without deduction of Front End Fees (as defined below).

5. Brokerage Commissions.

The Adviser is hereby authorized, to the fullest extent now or hereafter permitted by law, to cause the Company to pay a member of a national securities exchange, broker or dealer an amount of commission for effecting a securities transaction in excess of the amount of commission another member of such exchange, broker or dealer would have charged for effecting that transaction, if the Adviser determines in good faith, taking into account factors, including without limitation, price (including the applicable brokerage commission or dealer spread), size of order, difficulty of execution, and operational facilities of the firm and the firm's risk and skill in positioning blocks of securities, that such amount of commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by such member, broker or dealer, viewed in terms of either that particular transaction or its overall responsibilities with respect to the Company's portfolio, and is consistent with the Adviser's duty to seek the best execution on behalf of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, with regard to transactions with or for the benefit of the Company, the Adviser may not pay any commission or receive any rebates or give-ups, nor participate in any business arrangements which would circumvent this restriction.

6. Other Activities of the Adviser.

The services of the Adviser to the Company are not exclusive, and the Adviser may engage in any other business or render similar or different services to others including, without limitation, the direct or indirect sponsorship or management of other investment-based accounts or commingled pools of capital, however structured, having investment objectives similar to or different from those of the Company, and nothing in this Agreement shall limit or restrict the right of any officer, director, stockholder (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), officer or employee of the Adviser to engage in any other business or to devote his or her time and attention in part to any other business, whether of a similar or dissimilar nature, or to receive any fees or compensation in connection therewith (including fees for serving as a director of, or providing consulting services to, one or more of the Company's portfolio companies, subject to applicable law). The Adviser assumes no responsibility under this Agreement other than to render the services set forth herein. It is understood that directors, officers, employees and stockholders of the Company are or may become interested in the Adviser and its affiliates, as directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members, managers or otherwise, and that the Adviser and directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members and managers of the Adviser and its affiliates are or may become similarly interested in the Company as stockholders or otherwise.

7. Indemnification.

(a) Indemnification. Subject to Section 8, the Adviser, any Sub-Adviser, each of their directors, officers, stockholders or members (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), agents, employees, controlling persons (as determined under the 1940 Act ("Controlling Persons")) and any other person or entity affiliated with, or acting on behalf of, the Adviser or any Sub-Adviser (each an "Indemnified Party") and, collectively, the "Indemnified Parties") shall not be liable to the Company for any action taken or omitted to be taken by the Adviser or any Sub-Adviser in connection with the performance of any of their duties or obligations under this Agreement or otherwise as an investment adviser of the Company (except to the extent specified in Section 36(b) of the 1940 Act concerning loss resulting from a breach of fiduciary duty with respect to the receipt of compensation for services), and the Company shall indemnify, defend and protect the Indemnified Parties (each of whom shall be deemed a third party beneficiary hereof) and hold them harmless from and against all losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys' fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) ("Losses") incurred by the Indemnified Parties in or by reason of any pending, threatened or completed action, suit, investigation or other proceeding (including an action or suit by or in the right of the Company or its security holders) arising out of or otherwise based upon the performance of any of the Indemnified Parties' duties or obligations under this Agreement, any Sub-Advisory Agreement, or otherwise as an investment adviser of the Company to the extent such Losses are not fully reimbursed by insurance and otherwise to the fullest extent such indemnification would not be inconsistent with the Articles of Incorporation, the 1940 Act, or the laws of the State of Maryland law.

(b) Advancement of Funds. The Company shall be permitted to advance funds to the Indemnified Parties for legal expenses and other costs incurred as a result of any legal action for which indemnification is being sought only if all of the following conditions are met:

- (i) The legal action relates to acts or omissions with respect to the performance of duties or services on behalf of the Company;
- (ii) the Indemnified Party provides the Company with written affirmation of the Indemnified Party's good faith belief that the Indemnified Party has met the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the Company;
- (iii) The legal action is initiated by a third party who is not a Company stockholder, or the legal action is initiated by a Company stockholder and a court of competent jurisdiction specifically approves such advancement; and
- (iv) The Indemnified Party provides the Company with a written agreement to repay the advanced funds to the Company, allocated as advanced, together with the applicable legal rate of interest thereon, in cases in which the Indemnified Party is not found to be entitled to indemnification pursuant to a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(c) The Adviser shall indemnify the Company, and its affiliates and Controlling Persons, for any Losses that the Company or its Affiliates and Controlling Persons may sustain as a result of the Adviser's willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence, reckless disregard of its duties hereunder or violation of applicable law, including, without limitation, the federal and state securities laws.

8. Limitation on Indemnification.

Notwithstanding Section 7(a) to the contrary, the Company shall not provide for indemnification of the Indemnified Parties for any liability or loss suffered by the Indemnified Parties, nor shall the Company provide that any of the Indemnified Parties be held harmless for any loss or liability suffered by the Company, unless all of the following conditions are met:

- (i) the Indemnified Party has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct which caused the loss or liability was in the best interests of the Company;
- (ii) the Indemnified Party was acting on behalf of or performing services for the Company;
- (iii) such liability or loss was not the result of willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of its duties by the Indemnified Party; and
- (iv) such indemnification or agreement to hold harmless is recoverable only out of the Company's net assets and not from stockholders.

Furthermore, the Indemnified Party shall not be indemnified for any losses, liabilities or expenses arising from or out of an alleged violation of federal or state securities laws unless one or more of the following conditions are met:

- (i) there has been a successful adjudication on the merits of each count involving alleged material securities law violations;
- (ii) such claims have been dismissed with prejudice on the merits by a court of competent jurisdiction; or
- (iii) a court of competent jurisdiction approves a settlement of the claims against a particular indemnitee and finds that indemnification of the settlement and related costs should be made, and the court of law considering the request for indemnification has been advised of the position of the SEC and the published position of any state securities regulatory authority in which securities of the Company were offered or sold as to indemnification for violations of securities laws.

9. Effectiveness, Duration and Termination of Agreement.

(a) Term and Effectiveness. This Agreement shall become effective as of []. Once effective, this Agreement shall remain in effect for two years, and thereafter shall continue automatically for successive one-year periods, provided that such continuance is specifically approved at least annually by: (i) the vote of the Board of Directors, or by the vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company and (ii) the vote of a majority of the Company's directors who are not parties to this Agreement or "interested persons" (as such term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the 1940 Act) of any such party ("Independent Directors"), in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act.

(b) Termination. This Agreement may be terminated at any time, without the payment of any penalty: (i) by the Company upon 60 days' prior written notice to the Adviser: (A) upon the vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company (as defined in Section 2(a)(42) of the 1940 Act) or (B) by the vote of the Company's Independent Directors; or (ii) by the Adviser upon not less than 120 days' prior written notice to the Company. This Agreement shall automatically terminate in the event of its "assignment" (as such term is defined for purposes of construing Section 15(a)(4) of the 1940 Act). The provisions of Sections 8 and 9 of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect, and the Adviser shall remain entitled to the benefits thereof, notwithstanding any termination of this Agreement.

(c) Payments to and Duties of Adviser Upon Termination.

(i) After the termination of this Agreement, the Adviser shall not be entitled to compensation for further services provided hereunder except that it shall be entitled to receive from the Company within 30 days after the effective date of such termination all unpaid reimbursements and all earned but unpaid fees payable to the Adviser prior to termination of this Agreement, including any deferred fees.

(ii) The Adviser shall promptly upon termination:

(a) deliver to the Board of Directors a full accounting, including a statement showing all payments collected by it and a statement of all money held by it, covering the period following the date of the last accounting furnished to the Board of Directors;

(b) deliver to the Board of Directors all assets and documents of the Company then in custody of the Adviser; and

(c) cooperate with the Company to provide an orderly transition of services.

10. Notices.

Any notice under this Agreement shall be given in writing, addressed and delivered or mailed, postage prepaid, to the other party at the address listed below or at such other address for a party as shall be specified in a notice given in accordance with this Section.

11. Amendments.

This Agreement may be amended by mutual written consent of the parties, subject to the provisions of the 1940 Act.

12. Counterparts.

This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original copy and all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument binding on all parties hereto, notwithstanding that all parties shall not have signed the same counterpart.

13. Governing Law.

Notwithstanding the place where this Agreement may be executed by any of the parties hereto and the provisions of Section 7, this Agreement shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York. For so long as the Company is regulated as a BDC under the 1940 Act, this Agreement shall also be construed in accordance with the applicable provisions of the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act. In such case, to the extent the applicable laws of the State of New York or any of the provisions herein conflict with the provisions of the 1940 Act or the Advisers Act, the latter shall control. Any reference in this Agreement to a statute or provision of the 1940 Act shall be construed to include any successor statute or provision to such statute or provision and any reference to any rule promulgated under the Advisers Act shall be construed to include any successor promulgated rule.

Appendix A

Below are examples of the two-part incentive fee:

Example — Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income, Determined on a Quarterly Basis

Assumptions

First Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 0.5500%.

Second Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 1.9500%.

Third Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 2.800%.

The subordinated incentive fee on income in this example would be:

First Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed the 1.75% preferred return rate, therefore there is no catch up or split incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income.

Second Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income falls between the 1.75% preferred return rate and the catch up of 2.1875%, therefore the incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income is 100% of the pre-incentive fee above the 1.75% preferred return of 1.95%.

Third Quarter: Pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds the 1.75% preferred return and the 2.1875% catch up provision. Therefore the catch up provision is fully satisfied by the 2.8% of pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 1.75% preferred return rate and there is a 20% incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 2.1875% “catch up.”

Example — Incentive Fee on Capital Gains (Millions)

Alternative 1 — Assumptions

Year 1: $20 million investment made in company A (“Investment A”), and $30 million investment made in company B (“Investment B”)

Year 2: Investment A sold for $50 million and fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $32 million

Year 3: FMV of Investment B determined to be $25 million

Year 4: Investment B sold for $31 million

The capital gains portion of the incentive fee would be:

Year 1: None, because no investments were sold

Year 2: Capital gains incentive fee of $6 million ($30 million realized capital gains on sale of Investment A multiplied by 20%)

Year 3: None, because no investments were sold

Year 4: Capital gains incentive fee of $200,000 ($6.2 million ($31 million cumulative realized capital gains multiplied by 20%) less $6 million (capital gains fee taken in Year 2))

Alternative 2 — Assumptions

Year 1:	$20 million investment made in Company A (“Investment A”), $30 million investment made in Company B (“Investment B”), $25 million investment made in Company C (“Investment C”) and the cost basis of Other Portfolio Investments is $25 million
Year 2:	Investment A sold for $50 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $30 million capital gain is available for distribution), fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $25 million (creates $5 million in unrealized capital depreciation), the FMV of Investment C determined to be $25 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $25 million
Year 3:	FMV of Investment B determined to be $27 million (creates $3 million in unrealized capital depreciation), Investment C sold for $30 million ($25 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $5 million capital gain is available for distribution) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 4:	FMV of Investment B determined to be $30 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 5:	Investment B sold for $20 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and $10 million capital loss) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 6:	Total Portfolio is sold for $80 million ($15 million capital gain computed based on a cumulative cost basis in Other Portfolio Investments of $65 million)

The incentive fee on capital gains in this example would be:

Year 1:	None, because no investments were sold
Year 2:	$5 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $25 million ($30 million realized capital gains on Investment A less unrealized capital depreciation on Investment B))
Year 3:	$1.4 million incentive fee on capital gains ($6.4 million (20% multiplied by $32 million ($35 million cumulative realized capital gains less $3 million unrealized capital depreciation))) less $5 million incentive fee on capital gains received in Year 2
Year 4:	None, because capital gains incentive fees are paid on realized capital gains only
Year 5:	None, because $5 million (20% multiplied by $25 million (cumulative realized capital gains of $35 million less realized capital losses of $10 million)) is less than $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains paid in prior years
Year 6:	$1.6 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $40 million ($25 million cumulative realized capital gains plus $15 million realized capital gains)) less $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains received in prior years

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER

AGREEMENT AND PLAN OF MERGER, dated as of August 9, 2018 (this "Agreement"), by and among Medley Management Inc., a Delaware corporation ("MDLY"), Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation ("SIC") and Sierra Management, Inc., a Delaware corporation and wholly-owned subsidiary of SIC ("Merger Sub").

RECITALS:

WHEREAS, the board of directors of MDLY (the "MDLY Board"), acting upon the recommendation of a special committee thereof consisting only of independent and disinterested directors (the "MDLY Special Committee"), has unanimously (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the merger of MDLY with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company (the "Merger" and Merger Sub, in its capacity as the surviving company in the Merger, sometimes referred to herein as the "Surviving Company"), are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, MDLY and its stockholders, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the stockholders of MDLY for its adoption, and (iv) recommended that the stockholders of MDLY approve the adoption of this Agreement;

WHEREAS, the board of directors of Merger Sub (the "Merger Sub Board") has (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, Merger Sub and its sole stockholder, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the sole stockholder of Merger Sub for its adoption, and (iv) recommended that the sole stockholder of Merger Sub approve the adoption of this Agreement;

WHEREAS, the board of directors of SIC (the "SIC Board"), acting upon the recommendation of a special committee thereof consisting only of independent and disinterested directors (the "SIC Special Committee"), has unanimously (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, SIC and its stockholders, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the stockholders of SIC for its adoption, and (iv) recommended that the stockholders of SIC approve the adoption of this Agreement;

WHEREAS, for federal income Tax purposes, it is the intent of the parties hereto that the Merger shall qualify as a "reorganization" under the provisions of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), and this Agreement is intended to be and is adopted as a "plan of reorganization" for such purposes;

WHEREAS, contemporaneously herewith, SIC and Medley Capital Corporation ("MCC") are entering into a merger agreement (the "MCC Merger Agreement") pursuant to which MCC will, on the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in the MCC Merger Agreement, merge with and into SIC, with SIC as the surviving company in the merger (the "MCC Merger" and, together with the Merger, the "Mergers");

WHEREAS, the Mergers are part of an integrated transaction designed to combine the BDC operations of SIC and MCC and internalize the investment management function relating to the operation of SIC, as the surviving company in the MCC Merger;

WHEREAS, notwithstanding the foregoing internalization of the investment management function, effective as of Closing, SIC, as the surviving company in the MCC Merger, will enter into an investment management agreement with MCC Advisors LLC, on the terms set forth in the MCC Merger Agreement;

WHEREAS, Eversheds Sutherland, on behalf of the parties hereto and MCC, has been in ongoing discussions with the Securities and Exchange Commission ("SEC") concerning the filing of an application with the SEC to obtain the SEC Exemptive Relief (as defined herein) and each of the parties hereto and MCC intends to file such application with the SEC promptly as soon as practical following the date hereof and intends that the Mergers not be consummated unless and until the SEC Exemptive Relief is granted to the parties;

WHEREAS, the parties are entering into this Agreement and the MCC Merger on the expectation that the SEC will confirm in a manner reasonably acceptable to the parties that the equity of the Surviving Company, following the Merger, will be treated as a portfolio investment of SIC and reflected in SIC's consolidated financial statements at fair value for accounting purposes, and that the Surviving Company's financial results will not be consolidated into the financial statements of SIC; and

WHEREAS, the parties desire to make certain representations, warranties and agreements in connection with the Merger and to prescribe certain conditions to the Merger.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the mutual covenants, representations, warranties and agreements contained in this Agreement, and other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, and intending to be legally bound hereby, the parties agree as follows:

ARTICLE II THE MERGER

2.1 The Merger. Subject to the terms and conditions of this Agreement, in accordance with the DGCL, at the Effective Time, MDLY shall merge with and into Merger Sub and the separate corporate existence of MDLY shall cease. Merger Sub shall be the Surviving Company in the Merger and shall continue its existence as a corporation under the laws of the State of Delaware.

2.2 Effective Time. Contemporaneously with the Closing, Merger Sub shall file or cause to be filed a certificate of merger (the “Certificate of Merger”) with the Secretary of State of the State of Delaware (the “Delaware Secretary”). The Merger shall become effective at the time the Certificate of Merger is filed with the Delaware Secretary or at such later date and time as is agreed upon by the parties and specified in the Certificate of Merger (such date and time herein after referred to as the “Effective Time”).

2.3 Effects of the Merger. At and after the Effective Time, the Merger shall have the effects set forth in this Agreement and the DGCL. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, and subject thereto, at the Effective Time, all the property, rights, privileges and powers of MDLY and Merger Sub shall be vested in Merger Sub as the Surviving Company, and all debts, liabilities and duties of MDLY shall become the debts, liabilities and duties of Merger Sub as the Surviving Company.

2.4 Conversion of Stock. At the Effective Time, by virtue of the Merger and without any action on the part of SIC, Merger Sub, MDLY or the holder of any of the following securities:

(a) each share of Merger Sub Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall remain issued and outstanding and shall not be affected by the Merger;

(b) each Excluded MDLY Share issued and outstanding or held in treasury by MDLY, in each case, immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be cancelled and shall cease to exist and no Merger Consideration or other amounts or consideration shall be delivered in exchange therefor;

Table of Contents

(c) subject to Sections 2.4(f) and 3.4(g), at the Effective Time and subject to deduction for any required withholding Tax, each share of Class A Common Stock issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than the Excluded MDLY Shares and any Dissenting Shares) shall be converted into the right to receive the following number of shares of SIC Common Stock and amount of cash:

(i) 0.3836 shares of SIC Common Stock; plus

(ii) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per share; plus

(iii) with respect to each such share of Class A Common Stock issued and outstanding on the record date for the First Special Dividend and which remains outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time, cash in an amount equal to the First Special Dividend Shortfall, if any;

(iv) with respect to each such share of Class A Common Stock issued and outstanding on the record date for the Second Special Dividend and which remains outstanding immediately prior to Effective Time, cash in an amount equal to the Second Special Dividend Shortfall, if any;

(v) with respect to each such share of Class A Common Stock issued in exchange for Units (including Medley Restricted Units) in accordance with this Agreement and issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time, cash in an amount equal to the First Special Dividend Shortfall, if any; and

(vi) with respect to each such share of Class A Common Stock issued upon the settlement of a MDLY RSU in accordance with this Agreement and issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time, cash in an amount equal to the First Special Dividend Shortfall, if any.

The aggregate shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in accordance with Section 2.4(c)(i) (the “Merger Shares”), together with the aggregate cash consideration payable in accordance with Section 2.4(c)(ii) (the “Cash Consideration”), the First Special Dividend Shortfall (if any), the Second Special Dividend Shortfall (if any) and any cash to be paid in lieu of fractional shares in accordance with Section 3.4(g), shall be referred to collectively as the “Merger Consideration”;

(d) each share of Class B Common Stock (other than any Dissenting Shares) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be cancelled and shall cease to exist and no Merger Consideration or other amounts or consideration shall be delivered in exchange therefor;

(e) any shares of Class A Common Stock converted into the right to receive the Merger Consideration pursuant to this Article II shall, upon such conversion, no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be cancelled and shall cease to exist as of the Effective Time, and each certificate previously representing any such shares of Class A Common Stock (each, a “Certificate”) shall thereafter represent only the right to receive the Merger Consideration into which the shares of Class A Common Stock represented by such Certificate have been converted pursuant to this Section 2.4 and Section 3.4(g), as well as any dividends to which former holders of shares of Class A Common Stock become entitled in accordance with Article III; and

(f) if, between the date of this Agreement and the Effective Time, the outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock shall have been increased, decreased, changed into or exchanged for a different number or kind of shares or securities as a result of a reclassification, stock dividend, stock split, reverse stock split, or other similar change and specifically excluding sales of SIC Common Stock, sales of SIC equity-linked securities, and issuance of SIC Common Stock pursuant to SIC’s dividend reinvestment plan or otherwise in lieu of a portion of any cash dividend declared by SIC, an appropriate and proportionate adjustment shall be made to the number of shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the Merger.

2.5 Restricted LLC Units; Restricted Stock Units.

(a) As of immediately prior to the Effective Time, each restricted Medley LLC ownership unit outstanding and not previously forfeited (collectively, the “Medley Restricted Units”) shall become fully vested, all restrictions with respect to such Medley Restricted Units shall lapse and the Medley Restricted Units shall be exchanged for shares of Class A Common Stock in accordance with Section 7.6, and such shares of Class A Common Stock shall participate in the Merger on the same basis as the other individual holders of shares of Class A Common Stock in accordance with Section 2.4(c); provided, however, that the shares of Class A Common Stock issued upon the exchange of Units (including Medley Restricted Units) for shares of Class A Common Stock shall not be entitled to receive payment of the First Special Dividend or Second Special Dividend with respect to such shares of Class A Common Stock, and will only be entitled to receive payment of the dividend amount declared and paid by Medley LLC to the holders of such Units in accordance with Section 2.10(a) and any First Special Dividend Shortfall payable in accordance with Section 2.4(c)(v).

(i) As of the Effective Time, each restricted stock unit of MDLY outstanding and not previously forfeited under the MDLY Stock Plan (collectively, the “MDLY RSUs”), other than MDLY RSUs held by non-management directors of MDLY, shall be converted into 0.8532 restricted stock units under the SIC Incentive Plan (“SIC RSUs”). Each SIC RSU (or portion thereof) into which a MDLY RSU will be converted shall have identical terms as it relates to vesting and forfeiture.

(ii) As of immediately prior to the Effective Time, the restrictions on each MDLY RSU outstanding and not previously forfeited under the MDLY Stock Plan held by non-management directors of MDLY shall lapse and the relevant MDLY RSU will be converted into a share of Class A Common Stock that shall participate in the Merger on the same basis as the other individual holders of shares of Class A Common Stock in accordance with Section 2.4(c); provided, however, that the shares of Class A Common Stock issued upon the conversion of MDLY RSUs for shares of Class A Common Stock shall not be entitled to receive payment of the First Special Dividend or Second Special Dividend with respect to such shares of Class A Common Stock, and will only be entitled to receive dividend equivalent payments with respect to payment of the First Special Dividend in accordance with Section 2.10(a) and any First Special Dividend Shortfall payable in accordance with Section 2.4(c)(vi); provided further, that contemporaneously with the vesting of such MDLY RSUs, if and to the extent required by applicable Tax law, MDLY shall withhold a number of shares of Class A Common Stock having a fair market value (determined based on the final trading price of Class A Common Stock on the last trading day immediately preceding the Closing Date) equal to the aggregate amount required to be deducted and withheld under the Code and any applicable state or local Tax law with respect to the lapsing of restrictions on all MDLY RSUs held by the relevant holder, and MDLY shall, as of immediately prior to the Effective Time, pay over to the appropriate taxing authorities a corresponding amount of cash in satisfaction of such Tax liabilities.

(c) MDLY, SIC and Merger Sub agree that prior to the Effective Time the MDLY Stock Plan shall be amended to terminate the MDLY Stock Plan effective immediately prior to the Effective Time (other than with respect to outstanding awards thereunder, which shall be treated as set forth herein).

2.6 Certificate of Incorporation and Bylaws of the Surviving Company.

(a) At the Effective Time, the certificate of incorporation of Merger Sub (the “Merger Sub Certificate”), as in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time, shall be the certificate of incorporation of Merger Sub, as the Surviving Company, from and after the Effective Time, until thereafter amended in accordance with its terms and Applicable Law. At the Effective Time, the bylaws of Merger Sub (the “Merger Sub Bylaws”), as in effect immediately prior to the Effective Time, from and after the Effective Time, shall remain the bylaws of Merger Sub, as the Surviving Company, until thereafter amended in accordance with the terms of the certificate of incorporation of the Surviving Company, Applicable Law, and the terms of such bylaws.

(b) Promptly following the date hereof, the SIC Board will review and approve an amendment and restatement of the SIC Charter (the “Amended and Restated Charter”), which Amended and Restated Charter shall be reasonably acceptable to the MDLY Board, including the MDLY Special Committee, in order to remove terms inconsistent with, and to add terms advisable to reflect, the publicly traded nature of SIC, as the Surviving Company, following the Closing. Following such approval, the SIC Board shall submit the Amended and Restated Charter to SIC’s stockholders for their approval at the SIC Stockholder Meeting. Following the date hereof, the SIC Board will review and approve any amendments to, or amendments and restatements of, the SIC Bylaws, which shall be reasonably acceptable to the MDLY Board, including the MDLY Special Committee, in order to remove terms inconsistent with, and to add terms advisable to reflect, the publicly traded nature of SIC, as the Surviving Company, following the Closing.

2.7 Directors and Officers. The officers and directors of Merger Sub immediately prior to the Effective Time shall be the officers and directors of the Surviving Company from and after the Effective Time until their respective successors shall have been duly elected and qualified or until their respective earlier death, resignation or removal in accordance with the certificate of incorporation of the Surviving Company and Applicable Law.

2.8 Tax Consequences. It is intended that the Merger shall constitute a “reorganization” within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code, and that this Agreement shall constitute a “plan of reorganization” for such purposes.

2.9 Appraisal Rights.

(a) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, Dissenting Shares shall not be converted into or represent the right to receive the Merger Consideration in accordance with Section 2.4(c), but shall be entitled only to such rights as are granted by the DGCL to a holder of Dissenting Shares (and at the Effective Time, such Dissenting Shares shall no longer be outstanding and shall automatically be canceled and shall cease to exist, and such holder shall cease to have any rights with respect thereto, except the rights set forth in Section 262 of the DGCL), unless and until such holder shall have failed to perfect or shall have effectively withdrawn or otherwise lost such holder's right to appraisal under the DGCL. If any Dissenting Shares shall lose their status as such (by the holder thereof effectively withdrawing, failing to perfect, or otherwise losing such holder's appraisal rights under the DGCL with respect to such shares), then, as of the later of the Effective Time or the date of loss of such status, such shares shall thereupon be deemed to have been converted as of the Effective Time into the right to receive the applicable Merger Consideration in accordance with Section 2.4(c), without interest, and shall not thereafter be deemed to be Dissenting Shares.

(b) MDLY shall give SIC notice thereof and SIC shall have the right to participate in all negotiations and proceedings with respect to any such demands. MDLY shall not, except with the prior written consent of SIC, voluntarily make any payment with respect to, or settle or offer to settle, any such demand for payment. SIC shall contribute or cause to be contributed to the Surviving Company funds sufficient from time to time to make all payments with respect to the Dissenting Shares.

2.10 Special Dividend.

(a) Prior to Closing, (i) MDLY shall cause Medley LLC to declare a dividend to all holders of Units, including MDLY, in an amount equal to the lesser of (A) $0.35 per Unit, and (B) the maximum dividend per Unit that Medley LLC may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration, and (ii) the MDLY Board shall declare a dividend to all holders of shares of Class A Common Stock in an amount per share equal to the lesser of (i) $0.35 per share of Class A Common Stock, and (ii) the maximum dividend per share of Class A Common Stock that MDLY may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration (collectively, the “First Special Dividend” and the per-share amount of such dividend payable to holders of Units and holders of shares of Class A Common Stock (which per share amount shall in all events be equal), the “First Special Dividend Amount”). For the avoidance of doubt, the First Special Dividend will be paid to holders of Units (including Medley Restricted Units) (in all cases, prior to the exchange of Units for shares of Class A Common Stock pursuant to Section 7.6) and holders of shares of Class A Common Stock outstanding on the record date for the First Special Dividend, in each case, in accordance with this Agreement. The record date for determining the holders of shares of Class A Common Stock entitled to payment of the First Special Dividend shall be the close of business on the second Business Day immediately preceding the Closing Date and the First Special Dividend shall be paid on the Business Day immediately prior to the Closing Date. In addition, the holders of MDLY RSUs will receive dividend equivalent rights with respect to the First Special Dividend in accordance with the terms of the MDLY Stock Plan and the restricted stock unit award agreements governing the MDLY RSUs, which amount shall be paid as a dividend equivalent (i) in the case MDLY RSUs held by non-management directors, at the same time the MDLY RSUs settle pursuant to Section 2.5(b)(ii) and (ii) in the case of MDLY RSUs held by any other Person, at the same time as underlying SIC RSUs (received pursuant to the conversion described in Section 2.5(b)(i)) are vested and settle.

(b) Prior to Closing, the MDLY Board shall declare a special dividend, payable in cash to the holders of shares of Class A Common Stock, in an amount equal to the lesser of (a) $0.30 per share of Class A Common Stock, and (ii) the maximum dividend per share of Class A Common Stock that MDLY may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration (the “Second Special Dividend” and the per-share amount of such dividend payable to the holders of shares of Class A Common Stock, the “Second Special Dividend Amount”). The record date for determining the holders of shares of Class A Common Stock entitled to payment of the Second Special Dividend shall be the close of business on the Business Day immediately preceding the Closing Date and the Second Special Dividend shall be payable (and the Surviving Company shall pay, and SIC shall cause the Surviving Company to pay, the Second Special Dividend) on the Business Day immediately following the Closing Date. For the avoidance of doubt,

(i) the Second Special Dividend will only be payable to holders of record of shares of Class A Common Stock as of the close of business on the Business Day immediately preceding the Closing Date, which date and time shall be prior to the exchange of Units for Class A Common Stock in accordance with Section 7.6;

(ii) notwithstanding provisions in the Class A Unit Award Agreements to the contrary, no dividend or dividend equivalent payment on unvested Medley Restricted Units shall be paid on account of the Second Special Dividend; and

(iii) no holder of MDLY RSUs will be entitled to receive any dividend equivalent rights or payments with respect to payment of the Second Special Dividend under the terms of the MDLY Stock Plan and the restricted stock unit award agreements governing the MDLY RSUs.

(c) The provisions of this Section 2.10 shall be interpreted in all events so as to ensure that no duplicative distribution, dividend or dividend equivalent is paid to any holder of a Unit, a Medley Restricted Unit, a MDLY RSU or a holder of shares of Class A Common Stock.

ARTICLE III

CLOSING; DELIVERY OF MERGER CONSIDERATION

3.1 Closing. On the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in this Agreement, the closing of the Merger (the “Closing”) shall take place at 10:00 A.M. on a date and at a place to be specified by the parties, which date shall be no later than five Business Days after the satisfaction or waiver (subject to Applicable Law) of the latest to occur of the conditions set forth in Article VIII (other than those conditions that by their nature are to be satisfied or waived at the Closing), unless extended by mutual agreement of the parties (the “Closing Date”).

3.2 Exchange Agent. Prior to the Effective Time, SIC shall appoint a bank or trust company, or SIC’s transfer agent, in each case reasonably acceptable to MDLY pursuant to an agreement (the “Exchange Agent Agreement”) to act as exchange agent (the “Exchange Agent”) hereunder.

3.3 Deposit of Merger Consideration. At or prior to the Effective Time, SIC shall (i) authorize the Exchange Agent to issue an aggregate number of shares of SIC Common Stock equal to the aggregate Merger Shares and (ii) deposit, or cause to be deposited with, the Exchange Agent sufficient cash to pay the Cash Consideration, the First Special Dividend Shortfall (if any), the Second Special Dividend Shortfall (if any) and any cash to be paid in lieu of fractional shares in accordance with Section 3.4(g) (collectively, the “Exchange Fund”). The Exchange Agent shall invest any cash included in the Exchange Fund as directed by SIC; provided, however, that no gain or loss thereon shall affect the amounts payable to former holders of shares of Class A Common Stock pursuant to Article II or Article III of this Agreement. Any interest or other income resulting from such investments shall be the sole property of SIC.

3.4 Delivery of Merger Consideration.

(a) As soon as reasonably practicable after the Effective Time, the Exchange Agent shall mail to each holder of record of a Certificate(s) which immediately prior to the Effective Time represented outstanding shares of Class A Common Stock (other than Excluded MDLY Shares) (i) a letter of transmittal (which shall specify that delivery shall be effected, and risk of loss and title to such Certificate(s) shall pass, only upon delivery of such Certificate(s) (or affidavits of loss in lieu of such Certificates)) to the Exchange Agent and shall be substantially in such form and have such other provisions as shall be prescribed by the Exchange Agent Agreement (the “Letter of Transmittal”) and (ii) instructions for use in surrendering such Certificate(s) in exchange for the Merger Consideration and any dividends or distributions to which such holder is entitled pursuant to Article II and this Article III; provided, however, any holder of Book-Entry Shares shall not be required to deliver a Certificate or an executed letter of transmittal to the Exchange Agent to receive the Merger Consideration that such holder is entitled to receive as a result of the Merger. In lieu thereof, each holder of record of one or more Book-Entry Shares (other than Excluded MDLY Shares) shall upon receipt by the Exchange Agent of an “agent’s message” in customary form (it being understood that the holders of Book-Entry Shares shall be deemed to have surrendered such shares upon receipt by the Exchange Agent of such “agent’s message” or such other evidence, if any, as the Exchange Agent may reasonably request), be entitled to receive, and SIC shall cause the Exchange Agent to pay and deliver as promptly as reasonably practicable after the Effective Time, the Merger Consideration such holder is entitled to receive as a result of the Merger, and the Book-Entry Shares so surrendered shall forthwith be cancelled. No interest will be paid or accrued on any amount payable upon due surrender of the Book-Entry Shares. Prior to the Effective Time, the parties shall reasonably cooperate to establish procedures with the Exchange Agent and The Depository Trust Company (“DTC”) designed to provide that the Exchange Agent will transmit to DTC or its nominee, on the Closing Date, upon surrender of Book-Entry Shares held of record by DTC or its nominee in accordance with DTC’s customary surrender procedures and such other procedures as agreed to by SIC, MDLY, the Exchange Agent and DTC, the Merger Consideration to which the beneficial owners thereof are entitled to receive as a result of the Merger.

(b) Upon surrender to the Exchange Agent of its Certificate or Certificates, accompanied by a properly completed Letter of Transmittal, a holder of shares of Class A Common Stock (other than Excluded MDLY Shares) will be entitled to receive promptly after the Effective Time the Merger Consideration in respect of the shares of Class A Common Stock represented by its Certificate or Certificates, as well as any dividends payable with respect to such Class A Common Stock at the time of surrender, and any dividends with respect to shares of SIC Common Stock to which such holder is entitled. Until so surrendered, each such Certificate shall represent after the Effective Time, for all purposes, only the right to receive, without interest, the Merger Consideration upon surrender of such Certificate in accordance with, together with any dividends or distributions to which such holder is entitled pursuant to, Article II or this Article III.

(c) No dividends or other distributions declared with respect to SIC Common Stock to stockholders of record on or after the Effective Time shall be paid to the holder of any unsurrendered Certificate with respect to the shares of SIC Common Stock to which the holder of such Certificate is entitled upon exchange thereof in accordance with Article II and this Article III, in each case unless and until the holder thereof shall surrender such Certificate in accordance with this Article III. Subject to the effect of applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar laws, following surrender of any such Certificate in accordance with this Article III, the record holder thereof shall be entitled to receive, without interest, (i) the amount of dividends or other distributions with a record date after the Effective Time theretofore payable with respect to the whole shares of SIC Common Stock represented by such Certificate and not paid prior to the date of surrender, and/or (ii) at the appropriate payment date, the amount of dividends or other distributions payable with respect to whole shares of SIC Common Stock represented by such Certificate with a record date after the Effective Time (but before such surrender date) and with a payment date subsequent to the surrender date.

(d) If any Merger Consideration is to be issued or paid in a name other than that in which a Certificate formerly representing Class A Common Stock surrendered in exchange therefor is registered, it shall be a condition to the issuance or payment of such Merger Consideration that such Certificate shall be properly endorsed or otherwise be in proper form for transfer; and the Person requesting such payment or issuance shall pay any transfer or other similar Taxes required by reason of the payment or issuance to a Person other than the registered holder of the Certificate or establish to the satisfaction of SIC that the Tax has been paid or is not applicable.

(e) The Exchange Agent (or, subsequent to the earlier of (x) the one-year anniversary of the Effective Time and (y) the expiration or termination of the Exchange Agent Agreement, SIC) shall be entitled to deduct and withhold from any Merger Consideration otherwise payable pursuant to this Agreement to any holder of shares of Class A Common Stock such amounts as the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be, is required to deduct and withhold under the Code, or any provision of state, local or foreign Tax law, with respect to the making of such payment. To the extent the amounts are so withheld by the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be, and timely paid over to the appropriate Governmental Entity, such withheld amounts shall be treated for all purposes of this Agreement as having been paid to the holder of shares of Class A Common Stock in respect of whom such deduction and withholding was made by the Exchange Agent or SIC, as the case may be.

(f) After the Effective Time, there shall be no transfers on the stock transfer books of MDLY of the shares of MDLY Common Stock that were issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time other than to settle transfers of shares of MDLY Common Stock that occurred prior to the Effective Time. If, after the Effective Time, Certificates or Book-Entry Shares representing such shares of Class A Common Stock are presented for transfer to the Exchange Agent, they shall be cancelled and exchanged for the Merger Consideration payable and issuable in respect of such Certificates or Book-Entry Shares, together with any dividends and distributions to which such holder is entitled in accordance with this Article III.

(g) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, no fractional shares of SIC Common Stock shall be issued upon the surrender of Certificates for exchange, or presentation of Book-Entry Shares for transfer, no dividend or distribution with respect to SIC Common Stock shall be payable on or with respect to any fractional share, and such fractional share interests shall not entitle the owner thereof to vote or to any other rights of a stockholder of SIC. In lieu of the issuance of any such fractional share, SIC shall pay to each former stockholder of MDLY who otherwise would be entitled to receive such fractional share an amount in cash (rounded to the nearest cent) determined by multiplying (i) $7.27 by (ii) the fraction of a share (after taking into account all shares of Class A Common Stock held by such holder at the Effective Time and rounded to the nearest thousandth when expressed in decimal form) of SIC Common Stock to which such holder would otherwise be entitled to receive pursuant to Section 2.4.

(h) Any portion of the Exchange Fund that remains unclaimed by the stockholders of MDLY as of the first anniversary of the Effective Time may be paid to SIC. In such event, any former stockholders of MDLY who have not theretofore complied with this Article III shall thereafter look only to SIC with respect to the Merger Consideration, any cash in lieu of any fractional shares and any unpaid dividends and distributions in respect of each share of SIC Common Stock such stockholder is entitled to, as determined pursuant to this Agreement, in each case, without any interest thereon. Notwithstanding the foregoing, none of SIC, the Surviving Company, the Exchange Agent or any other Person shall be liable to any former holder of shares of Class A Common Stock for any amount delivered in good faith to a public official pursuant to applicable abandoned property, escheat or similar laws.

(i) In the event any Certificate shall have been lost, stolen or destroyed, upon the making of an affidavit of that fact by the Person claiming such Certificate to be lost, stolen or destroyed and, if reasonably required by SIC or the Exchange Agent, the posting by such Person of a bond in such amount as SIC may determine is reasonably necessary as indemnity against any claim that may be made against it with respect to such Certificate, the Exchange Agent will issue in exchange for such lost, stolen or destroyed Certificate the Merger Consideration and any unpaid dividends or distributions deliverable in respect thereof pursuant to this Agreement.

ARTICLE IV
REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF MDLY

Except as disclosed in (i) MDLY SEC Reports (as defined in Section 4.5(c) below) filed prior to the date of this Agreement, or (ii) MDLY Disclosure Schedule, MDLY hereby represents and warrants to SIC and Merger Sub as follows:

4.1 Corporate Organization.

(a) MDLY is a corporation duly incorporated, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of Delaware. MDLY has the requisite corporate power and corporate authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted, and is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY.

(b) True, complete and correct copies of MDLY Certificate and MDLY Bylaws have previously been made available to SIC. MDLY is not in violation of the MDLY Certificate or the MDLY Bylaws.

(c) Except as set forth in Section 4.1(c) of MDLY Disclosure Schedule, MDLY has no Subsidiaries or other equity interest in any other Person. Each of the Subsidiaries of MDLY (i) is duly formed and validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the state of its formation, (ii) has the requisite limited partnership or other organizational power and authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted and (iii) is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY. True, complete and correct copies of the Organizational Documents of each Subsidiary of MDLY have previously been made available to SIC. No Subsidiary of MDLY is in violation of its Organizational Documents.

4.2 Capitalization.

(a) The authorized capital stock of MDLY consists of 3,000,000,000 shares of Class A Common Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, 5,593,375 shares, excluding all MDLY RSUs, are issued and outstanding; 1,000,000 shares of Class B Common Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, 100 shares are issued and outstanding; and 300,000,000 shares of Preferred Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, no shares are issued and outstanding. All of the issued and outstanding shares of MDLY Common Stock have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable, free of any Liens, and are not be subject to any preemptive rights, whether arising under the laws of the State of Delaware or the MDLY Certificate, MDLY Bylaws or any MDLY Contract, with no personal liability attaching to the ownership thereof. As of the date of this Agreement, 1,751,871 MDLY RSUs have been granted and have not settled, which are held by the Persons and in the amounts set forth in Section 4.2(a) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule. The Exchange Rate (as defined in the Exchange Agreement) is one share of Class A Common Stock for one Medley Restricted Unit. An additional 1,505,969 shares of Class A Common Stock will be issued and outstanding following the exchange of Units and Medley Restricted Units for Class A Common Stock in accordance with Section 7.6. Shares of Class A Common Stock to be issued upon conversion of a MDLY RSU or exchange of Medley Restricted Units, when issued, will be validly issued and will be fully paid, nonassessable, free of any Liens, and will not be subject to any preemptive rights, whether arising under the laws of the State of Delaware or the MDLY Certificate, MDLY Bylaws or any MDLY Contract, with no personal liability attaching to the ownership thereof. MDLY has obtained valid waivers from each holder of unvested Medley Restricted Units waiving such holder's right to receive any dividend or dividend equivalents in respect of such Medley Restricted Units in connection with the First Special Dividend and the Second Special Dividend. As of the date of this Agreement, no MDLY Voting Debt is issued or outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, MDLY does not have and is not bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, rights, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of, or the payment of any amount based on, any shares of MDLY Common Stock, MDLY Voting Debt or any other equity securities of MDLY or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of MDLY Common Stock, MDLY Voting Debt or other equity securities of MDLY. As of the date of this Agreement, except as it relates to net settlement of Medley Restricted Units and as contemplated by the Medley LLC Exchange Agreement and the Medley Registration Rights Agreement, there are no contractual obligations of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries (A) to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any shares of capital stock of MDLY or any equity security of MDLY or its Subsidiaries or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of MDLY or its Subsidiaries or (B) pursuant to which MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries is or could be required to register shares of MDLY capital stock or other securities under the Securities Act. Upon exchange of the Medley Restricted Units for Class A Common Stock, the Medley LLC Exchange Agreement and the Medley Registration Rights Agreement shall be terminated and the obligations of MDLY and its Subsidiaries thereunder satisfied.

(b) Except as set forth in Section 4.2(b) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock or other equity ownership interests of each Subsidiary of MDLY are owned, directly or indirectly, by MDLY, free and clear of any Liens, and all of such shares or equity ownership interests are duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of any preemptive rights. No Subsidiary of MDLY has or is bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary.

(c) Except for amounts outstanding under the Medley LLC Debt Documents, the CNB Credit Facility and as set forth in Section 4.2(c) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries has any Indebtedness for borrowed money.

(d) To the best knowledge of MDLY, elections under Section 83(b) of the Code have not been made with respect to any Medley Restricted Unit.

4.3 Authority: No Violation. (a) MDLY has full corporate power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and, subject to receipt of the MDLY Stockholder Approval, to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution and delivery of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by MDLY Board. MDLY Board, acting upon the recommendation of the MDLY Special Committee, has unanimously (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, MDLY and its stockholders, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the stockholders of MDLY for its adoption, (iv) recommended that the stockholders of MDLY approve the adoption of this Agreement, and (v) resolved to include such recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus (the “MDLY Board Recommendation”). Except for the approval and adoption of MDLY Matters by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the voting power of the outstanding shares of MDLY Common Stock entitled to vote at such meeting (the “MDLY Stockholder Approval”), no other corporate proceedings on the part of MDLY are necessary to approve the Merger, this Agreement or the transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by MDLY and (assuming due authorization, execution and delivery by SIC) constitutes the valid and binding obligation of MDLY, enforceable against MDLY in accordance with its terms, except as may be limited by bankruptcy, insolvency, fraudulent transfer, moratorium, reorganization or similar laws of general applicability relating to or affecting the rights of creditors generally and subject to general principles of equity (the “Bankruptcy and Equity Exception”).

(b) Neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by MDLY nor the consummation by MDLY of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by MDLY with any of the terms or provisions of this Agreement, will (i) violate any provision of MDLY Certificate or MDLY Bylaws, or (ii) assuming that the consents, approvals and filings referred to in Section 4.4 are duly obtained and/or made, (A) violate any Applicable Law applicable to MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, or any of their respective properties or assets, or (B) except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY, violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, result in the termination of or a right of termination or cancellation under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the creation of any Lien upon any of the respective properties or assets of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any note, bond, mortgage, indenture, deed of trust, license, lease, franchise, agreement or other instrument or obligation to which MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their respective properties or assets is bound (collectively, the “MDLY Contracts”).

4.4 Consents and Approvals.

(a) Except for (i) receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief, (ii) the filing with the SEC of (A) a joint proxy statement in definitive form (the “Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus”) relating to the special meeting of MDLY’s stockholders to be held in order to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval (the “MDLY Stockholder Meeting”) and the special meeting of SIC’s stockholders to be held to vote on the SIC Matters (the “SIC Stockholder Meeting”), (B) a registration statement on Form N-14 (the “Form N-14 Registration Statement”) in which the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus will be included as a prospectus, and (C) a Rule 13E-3 Transaction Statement on Schedule 13E-3 relating to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement (the “Schedule 13E-3”), and declaration of effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement by the SEC, (iii) the filing of the Certificate of Merger with the Delaware Secretary pursuant to the DGCL, (iv) any notices, consents, authorizations, approvals, filings or exemptions in connection with compliance with the rules and regulations of the NYSE, or any other applicable self-regulatory organization (“SRO”), (v) any notices or filings under the HSR Act and the expiration of applicable waiting periods, (vi) such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or “Blue Sky” laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement, (vii) compliance with the Investment Company Act, and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder, or (viii) as set forth on Section 4.4(a) of MDLY Disclosure Schedule (the foregoing (i) through (viii) referred to collectively as the “MDLY Required Approvals”), no other consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions from, or notices to, or filings with, any Governmental Entity are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by MDLY of this Agreement or the consummation by MDLY of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Except for (i) receipt of MDLY Stockholder Approval, (ii) receipt of the relevant consents or releases, or the taking of other actions, under the Medley LLC Debt Documents, (iii) receipt of the relevant consents or releases, or taking of other actions, under the MDLY Contracts set forth in Section 4.4(b) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, and (iv) matters covered in the immediately preceding Section 4.4(a), no consents or approvals of any Person are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by MDLY of this Agreement or the consummation by MDLY of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

4.5 Reports: Regulatory Matters.

(a) MDLY and each of its Subsidiaries have timely filed all reports, registration statements and certifications, together with any amendments required to be made with respect thereto, that they were required to file since December 31, 2014 with (i) the SEC, (ii) the NYSE, and (iii) any other applicable SRO or Governmental Entity, and all other reports and statements required to be filed by them since December 31, 2014, including any report or statement required to be filed pursuant to the laws, rules or regulations of the United States, any state, any foreign entity, or any SRO or Governmental Entity, and have paid all fees and assessments due and payable in connection therewith. Except for normal examinations of MDLY and its Subsidiaries conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in the ordinary course of the business, no SRO or Governmental Entity has initiated since December 31, 2014 or has pending any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of MDLY, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, no SRO or Governmental Entity has resolved any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of MDLY, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries. There is no unresolved, or, to MDLY's knowledge, threatened criticism, comment, exception or stop order by any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to any report or statement relating to any examinations or inspections of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, there have been no formal or informal inquiries by, or disagreements or disputes with, any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to the business, operations, policies or procedures of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries (other than normal examinations conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in MDLY's ordinary course of business). MDLY has made available to SIC all correspondence between MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries and the SEC, the NYSE and any other SRO or Governmental Entity since December 31, 2014.

(b) Neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any cease-and-desist or other order or enforcement action issued by, or is a party to any written agreement, consent agreement or memorandum of understanding with, or is a party to any commitment letter or similar undertaking to, or is subject to any order or directive by, or has been ordered to pay any civil money penalty by, or has been since December 31, 2014 a recipient of any supervisory letter from, or since December 31, 2014 has adopted any policies, procedures or board resolutions at the request or suggestion of, any SRO or Governmental Entity that currently restricts in any material respect the conduct of its business (or to MDLY's knowledge that, upon consummation of the Merger, would restrict in any material respect the conduct of the business of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries), or that in any material manner relates to its credit, risk management or compliance policies, its internal controls, its management or its business (each item in this sentence, a "MDLY Regulatory Agreement"), nor has MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries been advised since December 31, 2014 by any SRO or Governmental Entity that it is considering issuing, initiating, ordering, or requesting any such MDLY Regulatory Agreement.

(c) MDLY has filed on the SEC's EDGAR system each (i) registration statement, prospectus, report, schedule and definitive proxy statement (including all exhibits, amendments and supplements thereto) required to be filed with or furnished to the SEC by MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries pursuant to the Securities Act or the Exchange Act since December 31, 2014 (the "MDLY SEC Reports") and (ii) communication mailed by MDLY to its stockholders since December 31, 2014. No such MDLY SEC Report or communication, at the time filed, furnished or communicated (and, in the case of registration statements, proxy statements and prospectuses, on the dates of effectiveness, the dates of the relevant meetings and the dates of use, respectively), contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements made therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, except that information contained in an MDLY SEC Report as of a later date (but before the date of this Agreement) shall be deemed to modify information as of an earlier date. As of their respective dates, all MDLY SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the other rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto. No executive officer of MDLY has failed in any respect to make the certifications required of him or her under Section 302 or 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. As of the date of this Agreement, there are no outstanding or unresolved comments from the SEC with respect to any MDLY SEC Report and, as of the date of this Agreement, to the knowledge of MDLY, no MDLY SEC Report is subject to any ongoing review by the SEC.

4.6 Financial Statements.

(a) The consolidated financial statements of MDLY and its Subsidiaries included in all MDLY SEC Reports (including the related notes, where applicable) (i) have been prepared from, and are in accordance with, the books and records of MDLY and its Subsidiaries, (ii) fairly present in all material respects the consolidated results of operations, cash flows, changes in stockholders' equity and consolidated financial position of MDLY and its Subsidiaries for the respective fiscal periods or as of the respective dates therein set forth (subject in the case of unaudited statements to recurring year-end audit adjustments immaterial in nature and amount), (iii) complied as to form, as of their respective dates of filing with the SEC, in all material respects with applicable accounting requirements and with the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto and (iv) have been prepared in accordance with GAAP consistently applied during the periods involved, except, in each case, as indicated in such statements or in the notes thereto.

(b) Neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries has any liability or obligation of any nature whatsoever required by GAAP to be reflected or reserved for in a balance sheet (whether absolute, accrued, contingent or otherwise and whether due or to become due), except for those liabilities that are reflected or reserved against on the consolidated balance sheet of MDLY included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the annual period ended December 31, 2017 (including any notes thereto) and for liabilities and obligations incurred in a commercially reasonable manner and in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of such balance sheet.

(c) MDLY has established and maintains a system of "internal control over financial reporting" (as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act) that is designed to provide reasonable assurance (i) regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP, (ii) that receipts and expenditures of MDLY and its Subsidiaries are being made only in accordance with authorizations of MDLY management and the MDLY Board, and (iii) regarding prevention or timely detection of the unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of MDLY and each of MDLY's Subsidiaries' assets that could have a material effect on MDLY's consolidated financial statements. MDLY has disclosed, based on its most recent evaluation of such internal control over financial reporting prior to the date of this Agreement, to MDLY's auditors and the audit committee of the MDLY Board and in Section 4.6(c) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule (x) any significant deficiency and material weakness in the design or operation of MDLY's internal control over financial reporting that is reasonably likely to adversely affect MDLY's ability to record, process, summarize or report financial information, and (y) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves MDLY management or other employees of MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary who have a significant role in MDLY's internal control over financial reporting. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms "significant deficiency" and "material weakness" shall have the meaning assigned to them in the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, as in effect on the date of this Agreement.

(d) MDLY's "disclosure controls and procedures" (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act) are designed to ensure that all information (both financial and non-financial) required to be disclosed by MDLY in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC, and that all such information is accumulated and communicated to MDLY's management as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure and to make the certifications of the chief executive officer and chief financial officer of MDLY required under the Exchange Act with respect to such reports. MDLY's management has completed an assessment of the effectiveness of MDLY's disclosure controls and procedures and, to the extent required by Applicable Law, presented in any applicable MDLY SEC Report that is a report on Form 10-K or Form 10-Q, or any amendment thereto, its conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by such report or amendment based on such evaluation.

(e) Since December 31, 2014, MDLY and its principal executive officer and principal financial officer have complied in all material respects with (i) the applicable provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Exchange Act and (ii) the applicable listing and corporate governance rules and regulations of the NYSE. The principal executive officer and the principal financial officer of MDLY have made all certifications required by Sections 302 and 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act with respect to each MDLY SEC Report, and the statements contained in such certifications were true and correct on the date such certifications were made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, "principal executive officer" and "principal financial officer" shall have the meanings given to such terms in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

4.7 Broker's Fees. Except for the fees of Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC and Barclays Capital, Inc., none of MDLY, any of its Subsidiaries or any of their respective officers or directors has used any broker, finder or financial advisor or incurred any liability for any broker's fees, commissions or finder's fees in connection with the Merger or any other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

4.8 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Since December 31, 2017, (a) the respective businesses of MDLY and its Subsidiaries have been conducted in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, (b) none of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries has taken any action that, if taken after the date of this Agreement, would result in a breach of the covenants set forth in Section 6.2, and (c) no event or events have occurred that have had or would reasonably be expected to have, either individually or in the aggregate, a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY.

4.9 Legal Proceedings. (a) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY, neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to any, and there are no pending or, to the best of MDLY's knowledge, threatened, legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, suits or governmental or regulatory investigations of any nature against MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries or to which any of their assets are subject.

(b) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY, there is no judgment, settlement agreement, order, injunction, decree or regulatory restriction (other than those of general application that apply to similarly situated companies or their Subsidiaries) imposed upon MDLY, any of its Subsidiaries or the assets of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries.

4.10 Taxes and Tax Returns.

(a) Each of MDLY and its Subsidiaries (i) has duly and timely filed (including all applicable extensions) all federal, state, local and foreign income and other material Tax Returns required to be filed by it and all such Tax Returns are accurate and complete, (ii) has paid all Taxes shown thereon as due and (iii) has duly paid or made provision for the payment of all Taxes that have been incurred or are due or claimed to be due from it by the IRS or any other federal, state, foreign or local taxing authorities other than Taxes that are not yet delinquent or are being contested in good faith, have not been finally determined and have been adequately reserved against under GAAP. There are no material disputes pending, or written claims asserted, for Taxes or assessments upon MDLY or any Subsidiary for which MDLY does not have reserves that are adequate under GAAP. Neither MDLY nor any Subsidiary is a party to or is bound by any Tax sharing, allocation or indemnification agreement or arrangement (other than such an agreement or arrangement exclusively between or among MDLY and its Subsidiaries as described in MDLY Disclosure Schedule).

(b) MDLY and its Subsidiaries have complied in all material respects with all Applicable Laws relating to the payment and withholding of Taxes and have, within the time and in the manner prescribed by Applicable Law, withheld from and paid over all amounts required to be so withheld and paid over under Applicable Laws.

(c) There are no Liens for Taxes upon the assets of MDLY or any of the Subsidiaries, except for Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable and Liens for Taxes that are both being contested in good faith and adequately reserved for in accordance with GAAP.

(d) Neither MDLY nor any Subsidiary has granted any waiver, extension, or comparable consent regarding the application of the statute of limitations with respect to any Taxes or Tax Return that is outstanding, nor any request for such waiver or consent has been made.

(e) Other than the Tax Receivable Agreement to be terminated pursuant to the Tax Receivable Termination Agreement, there are no MDLY Tax Protection Agreements (as hereinafter defined) in force or otherwise binding upon MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary. As used herein, “MDLY Tax Protection Agreements” means any agreement to which MDLY, or any MDLY Subsidiary is a party: (i) pursuant to which any liability to holders of interests in a MDLY Subsidiary Partnership relating to Taxes may arise, whether or not as a result of the consummation of the Merger or the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement; and/or (ii) that was entered into in connection with or related to the deferral of income Taxes of a holder of interests in a MDLY Subsidiary Partnership, and that requires MDLY, or any MDLY Subsidiary to, or to use efforts to (or to indemnify any Person if it does not) (A) maintain a minimum level of debt or continue a particular debt, (B) retain or not dispose of assets for a period of time if such period of time has not since expired or any applicable statute of limitations with respect to any Taxes that would result from a disposition of such assets at any time during such period has not since expired, (C) make or refrain from making Tax elections, (D) only dispose of assets in a particular manner, or (E) permit any holder of interests in a MDLY Subsidiary Partnership to guarantee any debt or restore a deficit in such holder’s capital account. As used herein, “MDLY Subsidiary Partnership” means a MDLY Subsidiary that is a partnership for United States federal income Tax purposes.

4.11 Compliance with Applicable Law. MDLY and each of its Subsidiaries hold all Permits necessary for the lawful conduct of their respective businesses, and have complied in all respects with and are not in default in any respect under any, any Permit or Applicable Law, except for such failures, non-compliance or defaults that would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY.

4.12 Certain Contracts. (a) Section 4.121. of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule sets forth a list of MDLY Contracts, including all amendments, supplements, exhibits and side letters to any such MDLY Contract, to which MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary is a party or by which any of its properties or assets are bound (provided that equity interests in any Person shall not be deemed to be the properties or assets of MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary), which, as of the date of this Agreement (provided that MDLY shall not be required to list those MDLY Contracts that have been publicly filed by MDLY with the SEC):

(i) is or will be required to be filed as an exhibit to MDLY’s Annual Report on Form 10-K pursuant to Item 601(b)(2), (4), (9) or (10) of Regulation S-K promulgated under the Securities Act;

(ii) contains any non-compete or exclusivity provisions that restrict the line of business or geographic area in which MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary can operate, or which restricts the conduct of any line of business of MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary, in each case, that have or would reasonably be expected to have a material impact on the business or operations of MDLY or its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole;

(iii) establishes a material partnership, joint venture or similar arrangement;

(iv) relates to the borrowing of money from, or extension of credit to, a Third Party, in each case having a principal amount of Indebtedness in excess of $25,000,000, other than accounts receivable and payable incurred or arising in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice;

Table of Contents

(v) requires MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary to dispose of or acquire assets or properties with a fair market value in excess of $5,000,000, or involves any pending or contemplated merger, consolidation or similar business combination;

(vi) is a management or advisory agreement under which MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries acts as an adviser or manager;

(vii) is with a Governmental Entity; or

(viii) is material to MDLY and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, and contains any so-called “most favored nations” or similar provisions requiring MDLY or any MDLY Subsidiary to offer a Person any terms or conditions that are at least as favorable as those offered to any other Person.

(b) Each Contract of the type described above in Section 4.12(a), whether or not set forth in Section 4.12(a) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, is referred to herein as an “MDLY Material Contract.” Except as has not resulted in or would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MDLY, each MDLY Material Contract is legal, valid, binding and enforceable in accordance with its terms on MDLY and each MDLY Subsidiary that is a party thereto and, to the knowledge of MDLY, each other party thereto, and is in full force and effect, except as may be limited by the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception.

(c) Neither MDLY nor any MDLY Subsidiary is in default under any MDLY Material Contract, and there has not occurred any event that, with the lapse of time or the giving of notice or both, would constitute such a default, in each case, except as has not resulted in or would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MDLY. Neither MDLY nor any MDLY Subsidiary has received written notice of any violation or default under any MDLY Material Contract, except for violations or defaults that, individually or in the aggregate, would not reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect. Neither MDLY nor any MDLY Subsidiary has received written notice of termination under any MDLY Material Contract, and, to the knowledge of the Company, no party to any MDLY Material Contract has threatened to cancel any MDLY Material Contract, except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, would not reasonably be expected to have a MDLY Material Adverse Effect.

(d) MDLY has delivered or made available to SIC or provided to SIC for review, prior to the execution of this Agreement, true and complete copies of all of the MDLY Material Contracts.

4.13 Property. MDLY or one of its Subsidiaries (a) has good and marketable title to all the properties and assets reflected in the latest audited balance sheet included in such MDLY SEC Reports as being owned by MDLY or one of its Subsidiaries or acquired after the date thereof (except properties sold or otherwise disposed of since the date thereof in the ordinary course of business), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except Permitted Liens, and (b) is the lessee of all leasehold estates reflected in the latest audited financial statements included in such MDLY SEC Reports or acquired after the date thereof (except for leases that have expired by their terms since the date thereof), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except for Permitted Liens, and is in possession of the properties purported to be leased thereunder, and each such lease is valid without default thereunder by the lessee or, to MDLY’s knowledge, the lessor.

4.14 Intellectual Property. MDLY owns or possesses sufficient rights to use all Intellectual Property Rights used in the conduct of its business as now conducted, all of which shall remain in effect following the Closing, except where the failure to own or possess such rights would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY; and the expected expiration or termination of any of such Intellectual Property Rights would not result in a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY.

4.15 State Takeover Laws. Assuming the accuracy of the representation and warranty contained in Section 5.16, the MDLY Board has unanimously approved this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby as required to render inapplicable to this Agreement and such transactions the restrictions on “business combinations” set forth in the DGCL or any other “moratorium,” “control share,” “fair price,” “takeover” or “interested stockholder” law (any such laws, “Takeover Statutes”) to the extent any of the foregoing is applicable to this Agreement and/or the transactions contemplated hereby.

4.16 Opinion. The MDLY Special Committee has received the opinion of Barclays Capital Inc. that, subject to certain assumptions, limitations, qualifications and other matters set forth therein, as of the date hereof, from a financial point of view, the aggregate consideration to be offered to the non-management holders of shares of Class A Common Stock in connection with the Merger, consisting of the First Special Dividend, the Second Special Dividend, and the Merger Consideration, is fair to such holders of shares of Class A Common Stock; it being agreed that SIC is not entitled to rely upon such opinion. The MDLY Board has received the opinion of Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC, dated as of the date of this Agreement, that, as of such date and subject to certain assumptions, limitations, qualifications and other matters set forth therein, the aggregate of the Merger Consideration, the First Special Dividend and the Second Special Dividend to be paid to the holders of Class A Common Stock is fair, from a financial point of view, to the holders of Class A Common Stock (other than SIC, MCC and any of their respective affiliates, the holders of Units and the holders of Medley Restricted Units and the holders of MDLY RSUs).

4.17 MDLY Information. The information relating to MDLY and its Subsidiaries that is provided by MDLY or its representatives for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement, the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and/or the Schedule 13E-3, or in any application, notification or other document filed with any other SRO or Governmental Entity (including the SEC) in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, will not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. The Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and the Schedule 13E-3 as it relates to MDLY and its Subsidiaries and other portions within the reasonable control of MDLY and its Subsidiaries will comply in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

4.18 Insurance. MDLY and its Subsidiaries maintain, or are covered by, policies of insurance in such amounts and against such risks as are customary in the industries in which MDLY and its Subsidiaries operate. Except as would not be reasonably expected to have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY, all such insurance policies are in full force and effect and will not in any way be affected by, or terminate or lapse by reason of, the execution (but not the performance) of this Agreement.

4.19 Environmental Matters. Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on MDLY and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, there are no legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, causes of action or notices with respect to any Environmental Laws, pending or threatened against MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries. Neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any agreement, order, judgment, decree, letter or memorandum by or with any Governmental Entity or Third Party imposing any liability or obligation with respect to any of the foregoing.

4.20 Employee Benefit Plans.

(a) Section 4.20(a) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule sets forth a true, complete and correct list of each (i) (A) “employee benefit plan” as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA, and (B) incentive, deferred compensation, paid-time-off, equity-based, phantom equity, severance, termination, retention, change-of-control, pension, profit-sharing, retirement, leave of absence, medical, disability, welfare, cafeteria, material fringe benefit, or other similar plan, program, agreement, arrangement, practice or commitment for the benefit of any current or (to the extent MDLY, its Subsidiaries or its Affiliates still have liability) former employee, partner, independent contractor or director of MDLY, its Subsidiaries or any of its ERISA Affiliates, entered into, maintained or contributed to, or in the preceding three (3) years, required to be maintained or contributed to, by MDLY, its Subsidiaries or any of their ERISA Affiliates, and (ii) each employment agreement between MDLY, or its Subsidiaries or Affiliates, and any employee which is not terminable on notice of thirty (30) days or less without penalty or continuing obligation (such plans, programs, agreements, arrangements, practices and commitments, herein referred to as the “MDLY Benefit Plans”).

(b) (i) Each MDLY Benefit Plan has been administered in accordance with its terms in all material respects, (ii) all MDLY Benefit Plans are in compliance in form and operation with the applicable provisions of ERISA, the Code and all other Applicable Laws, including Section 409A of the Code in all material respects, (iii) to MDLY’s knowledge, no non-exempt “prohibited transaction” (as defined in Section 4975 of the Code or Section 406 of ERISA) has occurred with respect to any MDLY Benefit Plan which would result in a material penalty, (iv) all contributions to, and payments from, MDLY Benefit Plans have been made in accordance with the terms of the MDLY Benefit Plans, ERISA, the Code and all other Applicable Laws in all material respects, (v) there are no current or, to MDLY’s knowledge, threatened investigations by any Governmental Entity, ERISA termination proceedings, or other material claims by any Person (except routine claims for benefits) with respect to MDLY Benefit Plans. No “employee benefit plan” as defined in Section 3(3) of ERISA that is or has been maintained or contributed to by MDLY or any of its current or former ERISA Affiliates is or has been subject to Title IV of ERISA or Section 412 of the Code, and neither MDLY nor any of its current or former ERISA Affiliates is or ever has been a party to any multi-employer plan, within the meaning of Section 3(37) of ERISA, or a multiple employer welfare arrangement, within the meaning of Section 3(40) of ERISA or made (or been obligated to make) contributions to any such multi-employer or multiple employer plan.

(c) A favorable determination letter has been received from the IRS with respect to each such MDLY Benefit Plan that is intended to comply with Section 401 of the Code (or the sponsor of such MDLY Benefit Plan is entitled to rely on a favorable opinion letter issued to the plan's prototype sponsor by the IRS) and no event has occurred that will or could reasonably be expected to give rise to disqualification of any such MDLY Benefit Plan or to liability for a material Tax under Section 511 of the Code.

(d) There have been no acts or omissions by MDLY or any ERISA Affiliate that have given rise to or could reasonably be expected to give rise to material fines, penalties, taxes or related charges under Sections 502(c), 502(i) or 4071 of ERISA or Chapter 43 of the Code for which MDLY or any ERISA Affiliate may be liable. Neither MDLY nor any ERISA Affiliate nor any of their respective partners, directors, officers, employees or any other fiduciary has committed any breach of fiduciary responsibility imposed by ERISA that would subject MDLY or any ERISA Affiliate or any of their respective partners, directors, officers or employees to liability under ERISA. Neither MDLY nor its Subsidiaries or Affiliates is a fiduciary within the meaning of Section 3(21) or 3(38) of ERISA with respect to assets of a plan within the meaning of Treasury Regulation Section 2510.3-101, as revised by Section 3(42) of ERISA.

(e) Other than pursuant to the provisions of the Consolidated Omnibus Budget Reconciliation Act of 1985, as amended, or any equivalent state statute, neither MDLY nor any ERISA Affiliate maintains any MDLY Benefit Plan that provides benefits described in Section 3(1) of ERISA to any former employees, partners or retirees of MDLY or any of its ERISA Affiliates.

(f) MDLY has made available to SIC correct and complete copies of all MDLY Benefit Plans and, where applicable, each of the following documents with respect to such MDLY Benefit Plans: (i) the plan document together with all amendments thereto and restatements thereof (including, without limitation, complete copies of any plans that may have been merged into such plan), and any trust agreements; (ii) any service contracts; (iii) any documents governing the investment and management of the MDLY Benefit Plan, or the assets thereof, including, without limitation, any investment management agreements, annuity contracts and documents scheduling fees incurred by the sponsor or participants and beneficiaries; (iv) the most recent summary plan descriptions and summaries of material modifications; and (v) written communications by MDLY to employees regarding the MDLY Benefit Plans, to the extent the substance of the MDLY Benefit Plans described therein differ materially from the other documentation furnished under this clause.

(g) Neither MDLY, nor its Subsidiaries or Affiliates maintains any nonqualified deferred compensation plan or arrangement subject to Section 409A of the Code.

(h) Other than with respect to Medley Restricted Units and MDLY RSUs, no partner or employee of MDLY or any of its Affiliates is entitled to, and no partner or employee of MDLY or any of its Affiliates will accrue or receive, additional benefits, accelerated rights to payment of benefits or accelerated vesting, whether pursuant to any MDLY Benefit Plan or otherwise, or become entitled to severance, termination allowance or other similar payments as a result of this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby. The execution of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby do not result in any payment or right to payment that (either alone or upon the occurrence of any additional or subsequent event will or may result in any "parachute payment" (as defined under Section 280G of the Code) or will or may result in a violation of Section 409A of the Code.

4.21 Other Employment Matters.

(a) Except as disclosed on Schedule 4.21(a), (i) MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates (A) are in compliance in all material respects with all Applicable Laws and other obligations respecting employment and employment practices and terms and conditions of employment, including all minimum wage and overtime Applicable Laws and wage payment Applicable Laws, employee notification, leave, affirmative action, child labor, immigration, employment discrimination, or disability rights, (B) since December 31, 2014, have not received any notice of an investigation, charge, citation, penalty, or assessment from any Governmental Entity with respect to such labor and employment Applicable Laws which will or could reasonably be expect to result in a material liability, and (C) since December 31, 2014, have not, and are not, engaged in any unfair labor practice which will or could reasonably be expect to result in a material liability, (ii) since December 31, 2014, no unfair labor practice charge or complaint or labor arbitration proceeding is pending against MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates which will or could reasonably be expect to result in a material liability, (iii) since December 31, 2014, there have been no and there currently are no labor strike(s), dispute(s), slowdown(s), or work stoppage(s) pending or, to the knowledge of MDLY or its Subsidiaries, threatened against or involving MDLY, its Subsidiaries or any of their Affiliates which will or could reasonably be expect to result in a material liability, (iv) neither MDLY, its Subsidiaries nor any of their Affiliates is or has been party to any collective bargaining agreement and no collective bargaining agreement or other contract, agreement, arrangement or understanding with a labor union or labor union organization is currently being negotiated by MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates, and (v) to the knowledge of MDLY, no collective bargaining representation question exists respecting employees of MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates.

(b) All employees of MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates are legally authorized to work in the United States either because of their status as United States citizens, legal permanent residents, or by virtue of possessing a visa under Applicable Law relating to immigration control which visa allows for such employee to work in the United States. To the knowledge of MDLY, none of MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates has employed a Person that is not legally authorized to be employed in the United States or continued to employ a Person knowing the Person ceased to be legally authorized to be employed in the United States. Each of MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates has properly completed all legally required reporting and verification requirements pursuant to Applicable Law relating to immigration control for all of its employees, including the Form I-9. Each of MDLY, its Subsidiaries and their Affiliates has retained for each current employee the Form I-9 throughout such employee's period of employment with MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates and has retained a Form I-9 for each former employee of MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates for a period of one (1) year from the date of termination of such employee or three (3) years from the date of hire, whichever is later. In the preceding three years, neither MDLY, its Subsidiaries nor their Affiliates has received any written notice from any Governmental Entity that MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates is in violation of any Applicable Law pertaining to immigration control or that any current or former employee of MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates is or was not legally authorized to be employed in the United States or is or was using an invalid social security number, and there is no pending, or to the MDLY's knowledge threatened, charge or complaint under the Immigration Reform and Control Act of 1986 against MDLY, its Subsidiaries or their Affiliates.

(c) All individuals considered by MDLY, its Subsidiaries and any of their Affiliates to be (i) independent contractors are, and could only be reasonably considered to be, in fact “independent contractors” and are not “employees” or “common law employees” for tax, benefits, wage, labor or any other legal purpose (other than workers compensation), and (ii) employees are, and could only be reasonably considered to be, in fact “employees” and “common law employees” and are not “partners” for tax, benefits, wage, labor or any other legal purpose.

4.22 Related Party Transactions. As of the date of this Agreement, neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries is party to any transaction or arrangement under which any (i) present or former director or executive officer of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, (ii) beneficial owner (within the meaning of Section 13(d) of the Exchange Act) of five percent (5%) or more of any class of equity of MDLY or (iii) “affiliate,” “associate” or member of the “immediate family” (as such terms are respectively defined in Rules 12b-2 and 16a-1 of the Exchange Act) of any of the foregoing is a party to any actual or proposed loan, lease or other contract with or binding upon MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries or owns or has any interest in any of their respective properties or assets, in each case as would be required to be disclosed by MDLY pursuant to Item 404 of Regulation S-K promulgated under the Exchange Act.

4.23 Investment Advisor Matters.

(a) Each of MDLY and its Subsidiaries which is registered as an investment adviser with the SEC (each, a “MDLY Adviser”) has (i) adopted a formal code of ethics complying in all material respects with Rule 204A-1 under the Investment Advisers Act and, to the extent applicable, Rule 17j-1 under the Investment Company Act and (ii) adopted and implemented written policies and procedures that are reasonably designed to prevent and detect any material violations under applicable securities, commodities or other investment-related or trading-related laws (including the Investment Advisers Act). None of the MDLY Advisers nor any Persons “associated” (as defined in Section 202(a)(17) of the Investment Advisers Act) with the MDLY Advisers is in material violation of such code of ethics or policies and procedures. Since December 31, 2014, there has been no noncompliance by the MDLY Advisers or any of their respective employees or associated Persons with such code of ethics or policies and procedures, except for such matters that would not reasonably be expected, individually or in the aggregate, to result in a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MDLY.

(b) None of the MDLY Advisers, any officer, director or employee thereof, MDLY or, to the knowledge of MDLY, any other “affiliated person” (as defined in the Investment Company Act) of the MDLY Advisers who is required to be eligible, is ineligible, or subject to potential ineligibility, pursuant to Section 9(a) or 9(b) of the Investment Company Act to serve in any capacity referred to in Section 9(a) thereof to a registered investment company; and none of the MDLY Advisers, any officer, director or employee thereof, MDLY or, to the knowledge of MDLY, any other Person “associated” (as defined in Section 202(a)(17) of the Investment Advisers Act) with the MDLY Advisers who is required to be qualified, is subject to potential disqualification pursuant to Section 203 of the Investment Advisers Act from serving as an investment adviser or as a Person associated with an investment adviser to any Person or is subject to disqualification under Rule 206(4)-3 under the Investment Advisers Act; in each case, except for any such disqualification (x) that would not reasonably be expected to be material to the MDLY Adviser, or (y) with respect to which MDLY or another relevant Person has received exemptive relief from the SEC or another relevant Governmental Entity that has the effect of nullifying such disqualification; nor is there any proceeding or investigation pending or, to the knowledge of MDLY, threatened by any Governmental Entity that would result in any such ineligibility or disqualification, except for any such ineligibilities or disqualifications that would not, individually or in the aggregate, reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MDLY.

(c) None of the MDLY Advisers or any of a MDLY Adviser’s directors or officers (together with the MDLY Advisers, “MDLY Adviser Regulation D Covered Persons”) is subject to a Disqualifying Event, and, to the knowledge of MDLY, there is no inquiry, investigation, proceeding or action pending against any MDLY Adviser Regulation D Covered Person that could reasonably be expected to result in a Disqualifying Event.

(d) Each MDLY Adviser is not prohibited from providing investment advisory services, or from charging fees therefor, by the “pay-to-play” rules of any jurisdiction, including Rule 206(4)-5 under the Investment Advisers Act.

(e) All deficiency letters and examination reports that the MDLY Advisers has received since December 31, 2014 from any Governmental Entity are listed on Section 4.23(e) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, true, correct and complete copies of which have been made available to SIC, along with all written responses thereto. All remedial actions necessary to cure in all material respects the deficiencies or violations set forth in such letters or reports have been taken by the MDLY Adviser. MDLY has made available to SIC all material correspondence relating to any material inquiry, examination or investigation by any Governmental Entity received since December 31, 2014 regarding the MDLY Advisers and any of their respective employees or associated Persons in connection with the services performed by such employees or associated Persons in connection with the business of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries.

(f) None of the MDLY Advisers, any officer, director or employee thereof, MDLY or, to the knowledge of MDLY, any other “affiliated person” (as defined in the Investment Company Act) of the MDLY Advisers has any express or implied understanding or arrangement which would reasonably be expected to impose an “unfair burden” (for purposes of Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act) on any MDLY RIC Fund as a result of the Merger or the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(i) Broker-Dealer Matters. Neither MDLY nor any of its Subsidiaries is, or on the Closing Date will be, required to be registered as a broker-dealer under the Exchange Act, or with any other Governmental Entity.

4.21 No Other Representations or Warranties. Except for the representations and warranties contained in this Article IV and any closing certificate delivered to SIC, neither MDLY nor any other Person on behalf of MDLY makes any express or implied representation or warranty with respect to MDLY, any of its Subsidiaries, or any other information provided to SIC in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including the accuracy, completeness or timeliness thereof. Neither MDLY nor any other Person will have or be subject to any claim, liability or indemnification obligation to SIC or any other Person resulting from the distribution or failure to distribute to SIC, or SIC's use of, any such information, including any information, documents, projections, estimates, forecasts or other material made available to SIC in the electronic data room maintained by MDLY for purposes of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or management presentations in expectation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, unless and to the extent any such information is expressly included in a representation or warranty contained in this Article IV.

ARTICLE V REPRESENTATIONS AND WARRANTIES OF SIC

Except as disclosed in (i) the SIC SEC Reports (as defined in Section 5.5(c) below) filed prior to the date of this Agreement, or (ii) the SIC Disclosure Schedule, SIC and Merger Sub hereby represent and warrant to MDLY as follows:

5.1 Corporate Organization.

(a) SIC is a corporation duly incorporated, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of Maryland. Merger Sub is a corporation duly incorporated, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the State of Delaware. Each of SIC and Merger Sub has the requisite corporate power and corporate authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted, and is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

(b) True, complete and correct copies of the SIC Charter, SIC Bylaws, Merger Sub Certificate and Merger Sub Bylaws have previously been made available to MDLY. SIC is not in violation of the SIC Charter or the SIC Bylaws.

(c) Except for Merger Sub and as set forth in Section 5.1(c) of the Disclosure Schedule, SIC has no Subsidiaries or other equity interest in any other Person. Each of SIC's Subsidiaries (i) is duly formed and validly existing and in good standing under the laws of the state of its formation, (ii) has the requisite corporate or other organizational power and authority to own or lease all of its properties and assets and to carry on its business as it is now being conducted and (iii) is duly licensed or qualified to do business in each jurisdiction in which the nature of the business conducted by it or the character or location of the properties and assets owned or leased by it makes such licensing or qualification necessary, except where the failure to be so licensed or qualified would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC. True, complete and correct copies of the Organizational Documents of each Subsidiary of SIC have previously been made available to MDLY. No Subsidiary of SIC is in violation of its Organizational Documents.

5.2 Capitalization.

(a) The authorized capital stock of SIC consists of 250,000,000 shares of SIC Common Stock of which, as of the date of this Agreement, 96,925,815 shares were issued and outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, no shares of SIC Common Stock were reserved for issuance. All of the issued and outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock have been duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of preemptive rights, with no personal liability attaching to the ownership thereof. As of the date of this Agreement, no SIC Voting Debt is issued or outstanding. As of the date of this Agreement, except pursuant to this Agreement, SIC does not have and is not bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, rights, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of, or the payment of any amount based on, any shares of SIC Common Stock, SIC Voting Debt or any other equity securities of SIC or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of SIC Common Stock, SIC Voting Debt or other equity securities of SIC. As of the date of this Agreement, except pursuant to this Agreement, there are no contractual obligations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (A) to repurchase, redeem or otherwise acquire any shares of capital stock of SIC or any equity security of SIC or its Subsidiaries or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of SIC or its Subsidiaries or (B) pursuant to which SIC or any of its Subsidiaries is or could be required to register shares of SIC capital stock or other securities under the Securities Act.

(b) Except as set forth in Section 5.2(b) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, all of the issued and outstanding shares of capital stock or other equity ownership interests of each Subsidiary of SIC are owned, directly or indirectly, by SIC, free and clear of any Liens, and all of such shares or equity ownership interests are duly authorized and validly issued and are fully paid, nonassessable and free of any preemptive rights. No Subsidiary of SIC has or is bound by any outstanding subscriptions, options, warrants, calls, commitments or agreements of any character calling for the purchase or issuance of any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary or any securities representing the right to purchase or otherwise receive any shares of capital stock or any other equity security of such Subsidiary.

(c) The Merger Shares, when issued in compliance with the provisions of this Agreement and the Form N-14 Registration Statement, will be validly issued and will be fully paid and nonassessable, free of any Liens, and will not be subject to any preemptive rights, whether arising under the laws of the State of Maryland or the SIC Charter or the SIC Bylaws, as amended or restated, or any SIC Contract.

(d) Except for amounts outstanding under the SIC Debt Documents, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any Indebtedness for borrowed money.

5.3 Authority; No Violation.

(a) Each of SIC and Merger Sub has full corporate power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement and, subject to receipt of the SIC Stockholder Approval, to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby; provided, that in the case of Merger Sub, this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby is subject to the approval and adoption of this Agreement by the sole stockholder of Merger Sub (which will occur via written consent in lieu of a meeting promptly following the execution and delivery of this Agreement). The execution and delivery of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby have been duly and validly authorized and approved by the SIC Board, acting upon recommendation of the SIC Special Committee, and the Merger Sub Board. The Merger Sub Board has (i) determined that this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, are advisable and fair to, and in the best interests of, Merger Sub and its sole stockholder, (ii) approved and declared advisable this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby, including the Merger, (iii) resolved to submit this Agreement to the sole stockholder of Merger Sub for its adoption, and (iv) recommended that the sole stockholder of Merger Sub approve the adoption of this Agreement. The SIC Board, acting upon the recommendation of the SIC Special Committee, has unanimously determined that the Merger, this Agreement, the issuance of the Merger Shares and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement are advisable and in the best interests of SIC and its stockholders, has approved the SIC Matters and has directed that the SIC Matters be submitted to the SIC's stockholders for approval and adoption at a duly held meeting of such stockholders, together with the recommendation of the SIC Board that the stockholders approve and adopt the SIC Matters (the "SIC Board Recommendation") and has adopted a resolution to the foregoing effect. Except for the approval and adoption of the SIC Matters by the affirmative vote of the holders of a majority of the outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock (the "SIC Stockholder Approval") at the SIC Stockholder Meeting and the approval by SIC, in its capacity as the sole stockholder of Merger Sub (which will occur via written consent in lieu of a meeting promptly following the execution and delivery of this Agreement), no other corporate proceedings on the part of SIC or Merger Sub are necessary to approve the Merger, this Agreement, the issuance of the Merger Shares or the other transactions contemplated hereby. This Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by SIC and Merger Sub (assuming due authorization, execution and delivery by MDLY) constitutes the valid and binding obligation of each of SIC and Merger Sub, enforceable against SIC and Merger Sub, as the case may be, in accordance with its terms (subject to the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception).

(b) Neither the execution and delivery of this Agreement by SIC or Merger Sub nor the consummation by SIC or Merger Sub of the transactions contemplated hereby, nor compliance by SIC or Merger Sub with any of the terms or provisions of this Agreement, will (i) violate any provision of the SIC Charter, SIC Bylaws, Merger Sub Certificate or Merger Sub Bylaws, or (ii) assuming that the consents, approvals and filings referred to in Section 5.4 are duly obtained and/or made, (A) violate any Applicable Law applicable to Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries, or any of their respective properties or assets, or (B) except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, violate, conflict with, result in a breach of any provision of or the loss of any benefit under, constitute a default (or an event which, with notice or lapse of time, or both, would constitute a default) under, result in the termination of or a right of termination or cancellation under, accelerate the performance required by, or result in the creation of any Lien upon any of the respective properties or assets of Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries under, any of the terms, conditions or provisions of any note, bond, mortgage, indenture, deed of trust, license, lease, franchise, agreement or other instrument or obligation to which Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries is a party or by which any of them or any of their respective properties or assets is bound (collectively, the "SIC Contracts").

5.4 Consents and Approvals.

(a) Except for (i) the SEC Exemptive Relief, (ii) the filing with the SEC of the Form N-14 Registration Statement, the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and the Schedule 13E-3, and declaration of effectiveness thereof by the SEC, (iii) the filing of the Certificate of Merger with the Delaware Secretary pursuant to the DGCL, (iv) any notices, consents, authorizations, approvals, filings or exemptions in connection with compliance with the rules and regulations of the NYSE or any SRO, (v) any notices or filings under the HSR Act and the expiration of applicable waiting periods, (vi) such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or "Blue Sky" laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement, (vii) compliance with the Investment Company Act and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder and (viii) as set forth on Section 5.4(a) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule (the foregoing (i) through (viii) referred to collectively as the "SIC Required Approvals") and together with the MDLY Required Approvals, the "Required Approvals"), no other consents, authorizations, approvals, or exemptions from, or notices to, or filings with, any Governmental Entity are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by SIC and Merger Sub of this Agreement or the consummation by Merger Sub of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Except for matters covered in the immediately preceding Section 5.4(a), no consents or approvals of any Person are necessary in connection with the execution and delivery by SIC or Merger Sub of this Agreement or the consummation by Merger Sub of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

5.5 Reports: Regulatory Matters.

(a) SIC and each of its Subsidiaries have timely filed all reports, registration statements and certifications, together with any amendments required to be made with respect thereto, that they were required to file since December 31, 2014 with (i) the SEC and (ii) any SROs and with each applicable Governmental Entity, and all other reports and statements required to be filed by them since December 31, 2014, including any report or statement required to be filed pursuant to the laws, rules or regulations of the United States, any state, any foreign entity, or any SRO or Governmental Entity, and have paid all fees and assessments due and payable in connection therewith. Except for normal examinations of SIC and its Subsidiaries conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in the ordinary course of the business, no SRO or Governmental Entity has initiated since December 31, 2014 or has pending any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of SIC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, no SRO or Governmental Entity has resolved any proceeding, enforcement action or, to the knowledge of SIC, investigation into the business, disclosures or operations of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. There is no unresolved, or, to SIC's knowledge, threatened criticism, comment, exception or stop order by any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to any report or statement relating to any examinations or inspections of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Since December 31, 2014, there have been no formal or informal inquiries by, or disagreements or disputes with, any SRO or Governmental Entity with respect to the business, operations, policies or procedures of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (other than normal examinations conducted by a SRO or Governmental Entity in SIC's ordinary course of business). SIC has made available to MDLY all correspondence between SIC or any of its Subsidiaries and the SEC and any other SRO or Governmental Entity since December 31, 2014.

(b) Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any cease-and-desist or other order or enforcement action issued by, or is a party to any written agreement, consent agreement or memorandum of understanding with, or is a party to any commitment letter or similar undertaking to, or is subject to any order or directive by, or has been ordered to pay any civil money penalty by, or has been since December 31, 2014 a recipient of any supervisory letter from, or since December 31, 2014 has adopted any policies, procedures or board resolutions at the request or suggestion of, any SRO or Governmental Entity that currently restricts in any material respect the conduct of its business, or that in any material manner relates to its credit, risk management or compliance policies, its internal controls, its management or its business (each item in this sentence, a "SIC Regulatory Agreement"), nor has SIC or any of its Subsidiaries been advised since December 31, 2014 by any SRO or Governmental Entity that it is considering issuing, initiating, ordering, or requesting any such SIC Regulatory Agreement.

(c) SIC has filed on the SEC's EDGAR system each (i) registration statement, prospectus, report, schedule and definitive proxy statement (including all exhibits, amendments and supplements thereto) filed with or furnished to the SEC by SIC or any of its Subsidiaries pursuant to the Securities Act or the Exchange Act since December 31, 2014 (the "SIC SEC Reports") and (ii) communication mailed by SIC to its stockholders since December 31, 2014. No such SIC SEC Report or communication, at the time filed, furnished or communicated (and, in the case of registration statements, proxy statements and prospectuses, on the dates of effectiveness, the dates of the relevant meetings and dates of use, respectively), contained any untrue statement of a material fact or omitted to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements made therein, in light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading, except that information contained in any SIC SEC Report as of a later date (but before the date of this Agreement) shall be deemed to modify information as of an earlier date. As of their respective dates, all SIC SEC Reports complied as to form in all material respects with the Securities Act, the Exchange Act and the other rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto. No executive officer of SIC has failed in any respect to make the certifications required of him or her under Section 302 or 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. As of the date of this Agreement, there are no outstanding or unresolved comments from the SEC with respect to any SIC SEC Report and, as of the date of this Agreement, to the knowledge of SIC, no SIC SEC Report is subject to any ongoing review by the SEC.

5.6 Financial Statements.

(a) The consolidated financial statements of SIC and its Subsidiaries included in the SIC SEC Reports (including the related notes, where applicable) (i) have been prepared from, and are in accordance with, the books and records of SIC and its Subsidiaries, (ii) fairly present in all material respects the consolidated results of operations, cash flows, changes in stockholders' equity and consolidated financial position of SIC and its Subsidiaries for the respective fiscal periods or as of the respective dates therein set forth (subject in the case of unaudited statements to recurring year-end audit adjustments immaterial in nature and amount), (iii) complied as to form, as of their respective dates of filing with the SEC, in all material respects with applicable accounting requirements and with the published rules and regulations of the SEC with respect thereto and (iv) have been prepared in accordance with GAAP consistently applied during the periods involved, except, in each case, as indicated in such statements or in the notes thereto.

(b) Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries has any liability or obligation of any nature whatsoever required by GAAP to be reflected or reserved for in a balance sheet (whether absolute, accrued, contingent or otherwise and whether due or to become due), except for those liabilities that are reflected or reserved against on the consolidated balance sheet of SIC included in its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the annual period ended December 31, 2017 (including any notes thereto) and for liabilities and obligations incurred in a commercially reasonable manner and in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice since the date of such balance sheet.

(c) SIC has established and maintains a system of "internal control over financial reporting" (as defined in Rules 13a-15(f) and 15d-15(f) of the Exchange Act) that is designed to provide reasonable assurance (i) regarding the reliability of financial reporting and the preparation of financial statements for external purposes in accordance with GAAP, (ii) that receipts and expenditures of SIC and its Subsidiaries are being made only in accordance with authorizations of SIC management and the SIC Board, and (iii) regarding prevention or timely detection of the unauthorized acquisition, use or disposition of SIC and each of SIC's Subsidiaries' assets that could have a material effect on SIC's consolidated financial statements. SIC has disclosed, based on its most recent evaluation of such internal control over financial reporting prior to the date of this Agreement, to SIC's auditors and the audit committee of the SIC Board and in Section 4.6(c) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule (x) any significant deficiency and material weakness in the design or operation of SIC's internal control over financial reporting that is reasonably likely to adversely affect SIC's ability to record, process, summarize or report financial information, and (y) any fraud, whether or not material, that involves SIC management or other employees of SIC or any SIC Subsidiary who have a significant role in SIC's internal control over financial reporting. For purposes of this Agreement, the terms "significant deficiency" and "material weakness" shall have the meaning assigned to them in the auditing standards of the Public Company Accounting Oversight Board, as in effect on the date of this Agreement.

(d) SIC's "disclosure controls and procedures" (as defined in Rules 13a-15(e) and 15d-15(e) of the Exchange Act) are designed to ensure that all information (both financial and non-financial) required to be disclosed by SIC in the reports that it files or submits under the Exchange Act is recorded, processed, summarized and reported within the time periods specified in the rules and forms of the SEC, and that all such information is accumulated and communicated to SIC's management as appropriate to allow timely decisions regarding required disclosure and to make the certifications of the chief executive officer and chief financial officer of SIC required under the Exchange Act with respect to such reports. SIC's management has completed an assessment of the effectiveness of SIC's disclosure controls and procedures and, to the extent required by Applicable Law, presented in any applicable SIC SEC Report that is a report on Form 10-K or Form 10-Q, or any amendment thereto, its conclusions about the effectiveness of the disclosure controls and procedures as of the end of the period covered by such report or amendment based on such evaluation.

(e) Since December 31, 2014, SIC and its principal executive officer and principal financial officer of SIC have complied in all material respects with the applicable provisions of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and the Exchange Act. The principal executive officer and the principal financial officer of SIC have made all certifications required by Sections 302 and 906 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act with respect to each SIC SEC Report, and the statements contained in such certifications were true and correct on the date such certifications were made. For purposes of the preceding sentence, "principal executive officer" and "principal financial officer" shall have the meanings given to such terms in the Sarbanes-Oxley Act.

5.7 Broker's Fees. Except for Broadhaven Capital Partners, none of Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries or any of their respective officers or directors has used any broker, finder or financial advisor or incurred any liability for any broker's fees, commissions or finder's fees in connection with the Merger or any other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

5.8 Absence of Certain Changes or Events. Since December 31, 2017, (a) the respective businesses of SIC and its Subsidiaries have been conducted in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice, (b) none of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries has taken any action that, if taken after the date of this Agreement, would result in a breach of the covenants set forth in Section 6.3, and (c) no event or events have occurred that have had or would reasonably be expected to have, either individually or in the aggregate, a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

5.9 Legal Proceedings.

(a) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, none of Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries is a party to any, and there are no pending or, to the best of SIC's knowledge, threatened, legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, suits or governmental or regulatory investigations of any nature against Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries or to which any of their assets are subject.

(b) Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, there is no judgment, settlement agreement, order, injunction, decree or regulatory restriction (other than those of general application that apply to similarly situated companies or their Subsidiaries) imposed upon Merger Sub, SIC, any of its Subsidiaries or the assets of Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries (or that, upon consummation of the Merger, would apply to Merger Sub, SIC or any of its Subsidiaries).

5.10 Taxes and Tax Returns. (a) Each of SIC and its Subsidiaries (i) has duly and timely filed (including all applicable extensions) all federal, state, local and foreign income and other material Tax Returns required to be filed by it and all such Tax Returns are accurate and complete, (ii) has paid all Taxes shown thereon as due and (iii) has duly paid or made provision for the payment of all Taxes that have been incurred or are due or claimed to be due from it by the IRS or any other federal, state, foreign or local taxing authorities other than Taxes that are not yet delinquent or are being contested in good faith, have not been finally determined and have been adequately reserved against under GAAP. There are no material disputes pending, or written claims asserted, for Taxes or assessments upon SIC or any Subsidiary for which SIC does not have reserves that are adequate under GAAP. Neither SIC nor any Subsidiary is a party to or is bound by any Tax sharing, allocation or indemnification agreement or arrangement (other than such an agreement or arrangement exclusively between or among SIC and its Subsidiaries as described in the SIC Disclosure Schedule).

(b) Effective for the year ending December 31, 2012, SIC made a valid election under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code to be taxed as a regulated investment company. SIC has qualified as a regulated investment company at all times subsequent to such election, and expects to qualify as such for its current taxable year. With respect to each relevant taxable year, SIC has satisfied the distribution requirements imposed on a regulated investment company under Section 852 of the Code.

(c) SIC and its Subsidiaries have complied in all material respects with all Applicable Laws relating to the payment and withholding of Taxes and have, within the time and in the manner prescribed by Applicable Law, withheld from and paid over all amounts required to be so withheld and paid over under Applicable Laws.

(d) There are no Liens for Taxes upon the assets of SIC or any of the Subsidiaries, except for Liens for Taxes not yet due and payable and Liens for Taxes that are both being contested in good faith and adequately reserved for in accordance with GAAP.

(e) Neither SIC nor any Subsidiary has granted any waiver, extension, or comparable consent regarding the application of the statute of limitations with respect to any Taxes or Tax Return that is outstanding, nor any request for such waiver or consent has been made.

5.11 Compliance with Applicable Law. Merger Sub, SIC and each of its Subsidiaries hold all Permits necessary for the lawful conduct of their respective businesses, and have complied in all respects with and are not in default in any respect under any, any Permit or Applicable Law, except for such failures, non-compliance or defaults that would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

5.12 Certain Contracts. (a) Except as set forth in Section 5.12(a) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule or as expressly contemplated by this Agreement, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is a party to or bound by any SIC Contract that is a “material contract” (as such term is defined in Item 601(b)(10) of Regulation S-K of the SEC) to be performed after the date of this Agreement that has not been filed or incorporated by reference in the SIC SEC Reports filed prior to the date hereof (collectively, the “SIC Material Contracts”).

(b) Except as set forth in Section 5.12(b) of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, (i) each SIC Material Contract is valid and binding on SIC or its applicable Subsidiary, enforceable against it in accordance with its terms (subject to the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception), and is in full force and effect, (ii) SIC and each of its Subsidiaries and, to SIC's knowledge, each other party thereto has duly performed all obligations required to be performed by it to date under each SIC Material Contract and (iii) no event or condition exists that constitutes or, after notice or lapse of time or both, will constitute, a breach, violation or default on the part of SIC or any of its Subsidiaries or, to SIC's knowledge, any other party thereto under any such SIC Material Contract. Except as set forth in Section 5.12 of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, there are no disputes pending or, to SIC's knowledge, threatened with respect to any SIC Material Contract.

5.13 Investment Securities. SIC has good title to all securities (including any evidence of Indebtedness) owned by it, free and clear of any Liens, except (a) for those Liens or restrictions arising under the Organizational Documents of the issuers of such securities, (b) to the extent such securities are pledged in connection with the SIC Debt Documents, (c) for restrictions on transferability arising under federal or state securities laws or (d) for Liens or restrictions which would not individually or in the aggregate be material with respect to the value, ownership or transferability of such securities.

5.14 Property. SIC or one of its Subsidiaries (a) has good and marketable title to all the properties and assets (excluding securities, which are addressed in Section 5.13 above) reflected in the latest audited balance sheet included in such SIC SEC Reports as being owned by SIC or one of its Subsidiaries or acquired after the date thereof (except properties sold or otherwise disposed of since the date thereof in the ordinary course of business), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except Permitted Liens, and (b) is the lessee of all leasehold estates reflected in the latest audited financial statements included in such SIC SEC Reports or acquired after the date thereof (except for leases that have expired by their terms since the date thereof), free and clear of all Liens of any nature whatsoever, except for Permitted Liens, and is in possession of the properties purported to be leased thereunder, and each such lease is valid without default thereunder by the lessee or, to SIC's knowledge, the lessor.

5.15 Intellectual Property. SIC owns or possesses sufficient Intellectual Property Rights reasonably necessary to conduct its business as now conducted and as described in the SIC SEC Reports, except where the failure to own or possess such rights would not reasonably be expected to result in a Material Adverse Effect on SIC; and the expected expiration of any of such Intellectual Property Rights would not result in a Material Adverse Effect on SIC.

5.16 State Takeover Laws.

(a) Neither SIC nor Merger Sub is or has been, at any time during the three (3) years preceding the date hereof, an "interested stockholder" of MDLY, as defined in Section 203 of the DGCL, that is subject to the restrictions imposed by Section 203 of the DGCL.

(b) Either (i) no Takeover Statute under the laws of the State of Maryland applies to SIC in connection with the Merger or the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, or (ii) the SIC Board has unanimously approved this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby as required to render inapplicable to this Agreement and such transactions the restrictions imposed by any Takeover Statute.

5.17 Opinion. The SIC Special Committee has received the opinion of Broadhaven Capital Partners to the effect that, subject to certain assumptions, limitations and qualifications set forth therein, the consideration to be issued by SIC as set forth in this Agreement and the MCC Merger Agreement, considered as a whole and not in separate parts, is fair, from a financial point of view, to SIC from a financial point of view; it being agreed that MDLY is not entitled to rely upon such opinion.

5.18 SIC Information. The information relating to SIC and its Subsidiaries that is provided by SIC or its representatives for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement, Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus and/or the Schedule 13E-3, or in any application, notification or other document filed with any other SRO or Governmental Entity (including the SEC) in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, will not contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state a material fact necessary to make the statements therein, in light of the circumstances in which they are made, not misleading. The Form N-14 Registration Statement and the Schedule 13E-3 as it relates to SIC and its Subsidiaries and other portions within the reasonable control of SIC and its Subsidiaries will comply in all material respects with the provisions of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder.

5.19 Insurance. SIC and its Subsidiaries maintain, or are covered by, policies of insurance in such amounts and against such risks as are customary in the industries in which SIC and its Subsidiaries operate. Except as would not be reasonably expected to have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC, all such insurance policies are in full force and effect and will not in any way be affected by, or terminate or lapse by reason of, the execution (but not the performance) of this Agreement.

5.20 Environmental Matters. Except as would not, individually or in the aggregate, have a Material Adverse Effect on SIC and its Subsidiaries, taken as a whole, there are no legal, administrative, arbitral or other proceedings, Claims, actions, causes of action or notices with respect to any Environmental Laws, pending or threatened against SIC or any of its Subsidiaries. Neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries is subject to any agreement, order, judgment, decree, letter or memorandum by or with any Governmental Entity or Third Party imposing any liability or obligation with respect to any of the foregoing.

5.21 No Financing Condition. SIC has sufficient immediately available funds in cash or cash equivalents, or available under lines of credit in effect as of the date hereof, and at Closing will have sufficient immediately available funds in cash or cash equivalents, in each case as necessary to pay the full amount of the cash portion of the Merger Consideration in accordance with the terms of this Agreement.

5.22 Section 15(f). Neither SIC nor any of its Affiliates has any express or implied understanding or agreement which would impose an unfair burden on SIC that would preclude satisfaction of the safe harbor provided by Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act as a result of the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

5.23 No Other Representations or Warranties. Except for the representations and warranties contained in this Article V and any closing certificate delivered to MDLY, neither SIC nor any other Person on behalf of SIC makes any express or implied representation or warranty with respect to SIC, any of its Subsidiaries, any investment assets or portfolio company, or any other information provided to MDLY in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, including the accuracy, completeness or timeliness thereof. Neither SIC nor any other Person will have or be subject to any claim, liability or indemnification obligation to MDLY or any other Person resulting from the distribution or failure to distribute to MDLY, or MDLY's use of, any such information, including any information, documents, projections, estimates, forecasts or other material made available to MDLY in the electronic data room maintained by SIC for purposes of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement or management presentations in expectation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, unless and to the extent any such information is expressly included in a representation or warranty contained in this Article V.

ARTICLE VI
COVENANTS RELATING TO CONDUCT OF BUSINESS

6.1 Conduct of Businesses Prior to the Effective Time. Except as expressly contemplated by or permitted by this Agreement or the MCC Merger Agreement or with the prior written consent of the other party, during the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, (a) each of MDLY and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its respective Subsidiaries to, (i) conduct its business in the ordinary course in all material respects, as such business is being conducted as of the date hereof, and (ii) use commercially reasonable efforts to maintain and preserve intact its business organization and advantageous business relationships and retain the services of its key officers and key employees, and (b) each of MDLY and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its respective Subsidiaries to, take no action that is intended to or would reasonably be expected to adversely affect or materially delay the ability of MDLY or SIC either to obtain any necessary approvals of any SRO or Governmental Entity required for the transactions contemplated hereby or to perform its covenants and agreements under this Agreement or to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby.

6.2 MDLY Forbearances. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, except as expressly contemplated or permitted by this Agreement or as provided in Section 6.2 of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule, MDLY shall not, and shall not permit any of its Subsidiaries to, without the prior written consent of SIC (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed):

(a) Except for borrowings under the CNB Credit Facility, incur any Indebtedness for borrowed money, assume, guarantee, endorse or otherwise as an accommodation become responsible for the obligations of any other individual, corporation or other entity, or make any loan or advance or capital contribution to, or investment in, any Person;

(ii) make, declare or pay any dividend, other than (A) its regular quarterly dividend consistent with past practice of no more than $0.20 per share, and (B) dividends paid by any of the Subsidiaries of MDLY (other than Medley LLC) to any of its wholly-owned Subsidiaries;

(iii) make any other distribution on, or directly or indirectly redeem, purchase or otherwise acquire, any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or any securities or rights convertible (whether currently convertible or convertible only after the passage of time or the occurrence of certain events) into or exchangeable for any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interest; or

(iv) grant any stock options or restricted shares or restricted units or restricted stock units, or grant any Person any right to acquire any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or other securities or issue or sell any additional shares of capital stock or other ownership interests or securities or rights convertible (whether currently convertible or convertible only after the passage of time or the occurrence of certain events) into or exchangeable for any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interest; provided, however, that MDLY shall be entitled enter into such documentation as is reasonably necessary to evidence the carried interest awards previously approved by the MDLY Board on May 10, 2018;

(c) sell, transfer, pledge, lease, license, mortgage, encumber or otherwise dispose of any material amount of its properties or assets (including pursuant to securitizations) to any Person other than a wholly owned Subsidiary or cancel, release or assign any material amount of Indebtedness owed to or any claims held by MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, in each case other than pursuant to contracts in force as of the date of this Agreement and set forth in Section 6.2(c) of the MDLY Disclosure Schedule;

(d) take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, which action or failure to act is reasonably likely to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code or take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, inconsistent with the treatment of the Merger as a reorganization for federal income Tax purposes;

(e) amend the MDLY Certificate or MDLY Bylaws or the Organizational Documents of any Subsidiary of MDLY, or take any action to exempt any Person (other than SIC or its Subsidiaries) or any action taken by any Person from any Takeover Statute or similarly restrictive provisions of its Organizational Documents;

(f) enter into, renew, modify, amend or terminate, or waive, release, compromise or assign any rights or claims under, any MDLY Material Contract (or any contract that, if existing as of the date hereof, would be a MDLY Material Contract), other than (A) any termination or renewal in accordance with the terms of any existing MDLY Material Contract that occurs automatically without any action (other than notice of renewal) by MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, (B) the entry into any modification or amendment of, or waiver or consent under, any MDLY Material Contract as required or necessitated to obtain any MDLY Required Approval, (C) the termination of a MDLY Material Contract specifically contemplated by this Agreement, or (D) amendments, waivers or consents to or under the MDLY Debt Documents in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice;

(g) form any Person that would comprise a Subsidiary or dissolve or liquidate any Subsidiary;

(h) except as required pursuant to the terms of a MDLY Benefit Plan in effect as of the date hereof, or as otherwise required by Applicable Law, (i) increase the rate of compensation or benefits payable to any partner, director, executive officer, employee or other service provider of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, except, for employees who are not executive officers or partners, increases in annual salary or wage rate in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice that do not exceed ten percent (10%) in the aggregate, (ii) establish, adopt, materially amend or terminate any MDLY Benefit Plan or any plan, agreement or arrangement that would be a MDLY Benefit Plan if in effect on the date hereof, (iii) take any action to accelerate the vesting, accrual or payment of, or to fund or in any other way secure the payment, of compensation or benefits under any MDLY Benefit Plan, except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, or (iv) hire any senior management employee or partner or terminate the employment or services of any senior management employee or partner other than for cause;

(i) (i) except for the Tax Receivables Termination Agreement, enter into, amend or modify any MDLY Tax Protection Agreement, (ii) materially amend any income Tax Return or any other material Tax Return, (iii) settle or compromise any material U.S. federal, state, local or foreign income Tax liability, audit, Claim or assessment or (iv) enter into any material closing agreement related to Taxes, except in each case unless required by Tax law or necessary or appropriate to preserve the status of any Subsidiary of MDLY as a disregarded entity or partnership for U.S. federal income Tax purposes;

(j) acquire the assets, business, or properties of any non-Affiliated entity, or make any loans, advances or capital contributions to, or investments in, any Person (other than any wholly owned Subsidiary of MDLY);

(k) allow the lapse or termination of policies of insurance covering material assets and businesses (other than the replacement of existing policies with substantially comparable policies);

(l) take any action or willfully fail to take any action that is intended or may reasonably be expected to result in any of the conditions to the Merger set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied;

(m) implement or adopt any change in its Tax accounting or financial accounting principles, practices or methods, other than as may be required by Applicable Law, GAAP or regulatory guidelines;

(n) take any action that would be reasonably expected to prevent, materially impede or delay beyond the date set forth in Section 9.1(c) the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement; or

(o) agree to take, or publicly announce an intention to take, any of the actions prohibited by this Section 6.2.

Table of Contents

6.3 SIC Forbearances. During the period from the date of this Agreement to the Effective Time, except as expressly contemplated or permitted by this Agreement or as provided in Section 6.3 of the SIC Disclosure Schedule, SIC shall not, and shall not permit any of its Subsidiaries to, without the prior written consent of MDLY (which consent shall not be unreasonably withheld, conditioned or delayed):

(a) (i) adjust, split, combine or reclassify any of its capital stock;

(ii) make, declare or pay any dividend, other than (A) its regular quarterly dividend consistent with past practice, (B) dividends paid by any of the Subsidiaries of SIC to SIC or to any of its wholly-owned Subsidiaries and (C) any dividend necessary to comply with Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code;

(iii) make any other distribution on, or directly or indirectly redeem, purchase or otherwise acquire, any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interests or any securities or obligations other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as required by the SIC Charter or SIC Bylaws or under Subchapter M of Chapter 1 of the Code;

(iv) grant any stock options or restricted shares or restricted stock units, or grant any Person any right to acquire any shares of its capital stock, or other ownership interests or other securities or issue or sell any additional shares of capital stock or other ownership interests or securities or rights convertible (whether currently convertible or convertible only after the passage of time or the occurrence of certain events) into or exchangeable for any shares of its capital stock or other ownership interest, other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as contemplated by the SIC SEC Reports; or

(v) issue any additional shares of capital stock or other securities other than in the ordinary course of business consistent with past practice or as contemplated by the SIC SEC Reports;

(b) sell, transfer, pledge, lease, license, mortgage, encumber or otherwise dispose of any material amount of its properties or assets (including pursuant to securitizations) to any Person other than a wholly owned Subsidiary or cancel, release or assign any material amount of Indebtedness owed to or any claims held by any such Person, in each case other than pursuant to contracts in force at the date of this Agreement, except in furtherance of its investment objective as set forth in the SIC SEC Reports;

(c) take any action, or knowingly fail to take any action, which action or failure to act is reasonably likely to prevent the Merger from qualifying as a "reorganization" within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code;

(d) except as permitted pursuant to Section 2.6(b), amend, repeal or otherwise modify any provision of the SIC Charter, the SIC Bylaws, the Merger Sub Certificate or the Merger Sub Bylaws in a manner that would adversely affect MDLY, the stockholders of MDLY or the transactions contemplated by this Agreement;

(e) take any action, or permit the taking of any action, that will result in SIC not having in cash or cash equivalents amounts sufficient to make payment of the cash portion of the Merger Consideration due at Closing;

(f) take any action or willfully fail to take any action that is intended or may reasonably be expected to result in any of the conditions to the Merger set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied;

(g) take any action that would be reasonably expected to prevent, materially impede or delay beyond the date set forth in Section 9.1(c) the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement; or

(h) agree to take, or publicly announce an intention to take, any of the actions prohibited by this Section 6.3.

ARTICLE VII
ADDITIONAL AGREEMENTS

7.1 Regulatory and Other Matters.

(a) The parties shall, and shall cause their respective Subsidiaries to, cooperate with each other and use their respective commercially reasonable efforts to promptly prepare and file all necessary documentation, to effect all applications, notices, petitions and filings with any Third Party or Governmental Entity and to take any further actions reasonably requested by the other party to obtain as promptly as practicable the Required Approvals and other consents required to be obtained in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement. MDLY and SIC shall have the right to review in advance, and, to the extent practicable, each will consult with the other on, in each case subject to Applicable Laws relating to the confidentiality of information, all information relating to MDLY or SIC, as the case may be, and any of their respective Subsidiaries, that appear in any filing made with, or written materials submitted to, any Third Party or any Governmental Entity in connection with obtaining the Required Approvals. In exercising the foregoing right, each of the parties shall act reasonably and as promptly as reasonably practicable. The parties shall consult with each other with respect to the obtaining of the Required Approvals and each party will keep the other apprised of the status of matters relating to completion of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

(b) Without in any way limiting the foregoing Section 7.1(a):

(i) SIC and MDLY shall as promptly as reasonably practicable prepare and file with the SEC the Form N-14 Registration Statement and the Schedule 13E-3. Each of SIC and MDLY shall use its reasonable best efforts to have the Form N-14 Registration Statement declared effective under the Securities Act and to obtain clearance of the Schedule 13E-3 from the SEC as promptly as practicable after such filing, and MDLY and SIC shall promptly mail or deliver the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus to their respective stockholders upon such effectiveness. SIC shall also use its reasonable best efforts to obtain all necessary state securities Law or “Blue Sky” Permits required to issue the Merger Shares, and MDLY shall use reasonable best efforts to furnish all information concerning MDLY and the holders of shares of Class A Common Stock as may be reasonably requested in connection with any such action. Each of SIC and MDLY shall, upon request, furnish to the other all information concerning itself, its Subsidiaries, directors, officers and stockholders and such other matters as may be reasonably necessary or advisable in connection with the Form N-14 Registration Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 or any other statement, filing, notice or application made by or on behalf of SIC, MDLY or any of their respective Subsidiaries to any Governmental Entity in connection with the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement and provide the other party with a reasonable opportunity to review and comment on any such document. The information supplied or to be supplied by either SIC or MDLY, as the case may be, for inclusion in the Form N-14 Registration Statement and the Schedule 13E-3 shall not at the time the Form N-14 Registration Statement or the Schedule 13E-3, as applicable, is filed with the SEC or declared effective by the SEC contain any untrue statement of a material fact or omit to state any material fact required to be stated therein or necessary in order to make the statements therein, in the light of the circumstances under which they were made, not misleading. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, prior to the Effective Time each party shall notify the other party as promptly as practicable (i) upon becoming aware of any event or circumstance that should be described in an amendment to the Form N-14 Registration Statement, the Schedule 13E-3 or in a supplement to the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus or Schedule 13E-3, and MDLY and SIC shall cooperate in the prompt filing with the SEC of any necessary amendment to the Form N-14 Registration Statement or supplement to the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus or Schedule 13E-3 and, to the extent required by Law, in disseminating the information contained in such amendment or supplement to stockholders of MDLY and SIC and (ii) promptly after the receipt by it of any written or oral comments of the SEC with respect to, or of any written or oral request by the SEC for amendments or supplements to, the Form N-14 Registration Statement, the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus or the Schedule 13E-3, and shall promptly supply the other party with copies of all correspondence between it or any of its Representatives and the SEC with respect to any of the foregoing filings.

(ii) Each of SIC and MDLY shall, if and to the extent required, file with the FTC and the DOJ a Notification and Report Form relating to this Agreement and the transactions contemplated hereby as required by the HSR Act as promptly as reasonably practicable following the execution and delivery of this Agreement. Each of SIC and MDLY shall (A) cooperate and coordinate with the other in the making of such filings (if required), (B) supply the other with any information that may be required in order to make such filings, (C) supply any additional information that reasonably may be required or requested by the FTC or the DOJ, and (D) take all other actions reasonably necessary to cause the expiration or termination of any applicable waiting period under the HSR Act applicable to the Merger as soon as practicable. Each of SIC and MDLY shall promptly inform the other of any communication from any Governmental Entity regarding any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement in connection with such filings. If any party hereto or Affiliate thereof shall receive a request for additional information or documentary material from any Governmental Entity with respect to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement pursuant to the HSR Act, then such party shall make (or cause to be made), as soon as reasonably practicable and after consultation with the other party, an appropriate response in compliance with such request.

(iii) Promptly following the date hereof, the parties will submit the application for the SEC Exemptive Relief to the Staff of the Division of Investment Management of the SEC and thereafter each Party shall provide all such supplemental information reasonably requested by the Staff in connection therewith and shall use its commercially reasonable efforts to obtain the SEC Exemptive Relief. In the event the SEC conditions the granting of SEC Exemptive Relief upon a change to the transaction structure or other matters contemplated by this Agreement and the MCC Merger Agreement, the parties shall work together in good faith to make such changes and, if and to the extent necessary, to amend this Agreement to reflect such modified terms; provided, however, in no event shall any party be obligated to agree to any term that adversely changes the economic terms of this Agreement in any material respect or is inconsistent with the assumptions or other provisions set forth in the opinions of such party's financial advisor; provided further that, in addition to any other approvals required by Applicable Law or this Agreement, any changes to the transaction structure or other matters contemplated by this Agreement (including, without limitation, any amendments to this Agreement) shall be subject to the prior approval of the MDLY Special Committee and the SIC Special Committee.

(c) Subject to Applicable Law, each of SIC and MDLY shall promptly advise the other upon receiving any communication from any Governmental Entity the consent or approval of which is required for consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement that causes such party to believe that there is a reasonable likelihood that any Required Approval will not be obtained or that the receipt of any such approval may be materially delayed.

7.2 Access to Information. (a) Upon reasonable notice and subject to Applicable Laws relating to the confidentiality of information, each of MDLY and SIC shall, and shall cause each of its Subsidiaries to, afford to the officers, employees, accountants, counsel, advisors, agents and other representatives of the other party, reasonable access, during normal business hours during the period prior to the Effective Time, to all its properties, books, contracts, commitments and records, and, during such period, such party shall, and shall cause its Subsidiaries to, make available to the other party (i) a copy of each report, schedule, registration statement and other document filed or received by it during such period pursuant to the requirements of federal securities laws (other than reports or documents that such party is not permitted to disclose under Applicable Law) and (ii) all other information concerning its business, properties and personnel as the other party may reasonably request. Neither MDLY nor SIC, nor any of their respective Subsidiaries, shall be required to provide access to or to disclose information where such access or disclosure would jeopardize the attorney-client privilege of such party or its Subsidiaries or contravene any Applicable Law, fiduciary duty or binding confidentiality agreement with a Third Party entered into prior to the date of this Agreement. The parties shall make appropriate substitute disclosure arrangements under circumstances in which the restrictions of the preceding sentence apply.

(b) MDLY shall file all periodic reports required to be filed by it between the date hereof and the Effective Time. Each such filing shall be prepared in accordance with the applicable forms, rules and regulations of the SEC and shall satisfy the standard set forth in Section 4.5(c) for MDLY SEC Reports. SIC shall file all periodic reports required to be filed by it between the date hereof and the Effective Time. Each such filing shall be prepared in accordance with the applicable forms, rules and regulations of the SEC and shall satisfy the standard set forth in Section 5.5(c) for SIC SEC Reports.

(c) All information and materials provided pursuant to this Agreement shall be subject to the provisions of the Confidentiality Agreement entered into between the parties as of July 16, 2018 (the “Confidentiality Agreement”).

(d) Each party acknowledges that it has had the opportunity to conduct due diligence and investigation with respect to the other party, and in no event shall either party have any liability to the other party with respect to a breach of representation or warranty under this Agreement to the extent that the non-breaching party knew of such breach as of the date hereof.

7.3 MDLY Stockholder Approval.

(a) Subject to the earlier termination of this Agreement in accordance with Article IX, MDLY shall, as soon as practicable following the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement and clearance of the Schedule 13E-3 by the SEC, duly call, take any action required by the DGCL, the MDLY Certificate or MDLY Bylaws and any applicable requirements of the SEC or the NYSE necessary to give notice of, convene and hold, as promptly as practicable, MDLY Stockholder Meeting for the purpose of obtaining MDLY Stockholder Approval. The record date for MDLY Stockholder Meeting shall be determined in prior consultation with and subject to the prior written approval of SIC (which prior written approval shall not be unreasonably delayed, conditioned or withheld). In connection therewith, each of the MDLY Board and the MDLY Special Committee shall be permitted to adjourn, delay or postpone MDLY Stockholder Meeting in accordance with Applicable Law (but not beyond the Outside Date) (i) to the extent necessary to allow reasonable additional time for the filing and mailing of any supplemental or amended disclosure which MDLY Board has determined in good faith after consultation with outside counsel is reasonably likely to be necessary or appropriate under Applicable Law and for such supplemental or amended disclosure to be disseminated and reviewed by MDLY’s stockholders prior to MDLY Stockholder Meeting, (ii) if there are insufficient shares of MDLY Common Stock represented (either in person or by proxy) to constitute a quorum necessary to conduct the business of MDLY Stockholder Meeting, or (iii) to allow reasonable additional time to solicit additional proxies to the extent MDLY Board or any committee thereof reasonably believes necessary in order to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval. Unless MDLY Board has made an MDLY Adverse Recommendation Change, MDLY shall, through MDLY Board, make MDLY Board Recommendation, and shall include such MDLY Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to (x) solicit from MDLY stockholders proxies in favor of MDLY Stockholder Approval, and (y) take all other action necessary or advisable to secure MDLY Stockholder Approval. For the avoidance of doubt, the MDLY Stockholder Meeting may be held prior to receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief; provided, however, that receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief shall be a condition to Closing.

(b) Except as expressly permitted in Section 7.11(e), neither MDLY Board nor any committee thereof shall (i) withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify, or propose publicly to withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify MDLY Board Recommendation, (ii) fail to publicly announce, within fifteen (15) Business Days after a tender offer or exchange relating to the securities of MDLY shall have been commenced, a statement disclosing that MDLY Board recommends rejection of such tender offer or exchange offer, or (iii) approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, or propose publicly to approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, any Competing Proposal (any of the foregoing (i) through (iii) being referred to as a “MDLY Adverse Recommendation Change”).

7.4 SIC Stockholder Approval.

(a) Subject to the earlier termination of this Agreement in accordance with Article IX, SIC shall, as soon as practicable following the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement and clearance of the Schedule 13E-3 by the SEC, duly call, take any action required by the MGCL, the SIC Charter or SIC Bylaws and any applicable requirements of the SEC necessary to give notice of, convene and hold, as promptly as practicable, the SIC Stockholder Meeting for the purpose of obtaining the SIC Stockholder Approval. The record date for the SIC Stockholders Meeting shall be determined in prior consultation with and subject to the prior written approval of MDLY (which prior written approval shall not be unreasonably delayed, conditioned or withheld). In connection therewith, the SIC Board shall be permitted to delay or postpone, and the duly appointed Chairman of the SIC Stockholder Meeting permitted to adjourn, the SIC Stockholder Meeting in accordance with Applicable Law (but not beyond the Outside Date) (i) to the extent necessary to allow reasonable additional time for the filing and mailing of any supplemental or amended disclosure which the SIC Board has determined in good faith after consultation with outside counsel is reasonably likely to be necessary or appropriate under Applicable Law and for such supplemental or amended disclosure to be disseminated and reviewed by the SIC’s stockholders prior to the SIC Stockholder Meeting, (ii) if there are insufficient shares of SIC Common Stock represented (either in person or by proxy) to constitute a quorum necessary to conduct the business of the SIC Stockholder Meeting, or (iii) to allow reasonable additional time to solicit additional proxies reasonably necessary in order to obtain the SIC Stockholder Approval. Unless the SIC Board has made an SIC Adverse Recommendation Change, SIC shall, through the SIC Board, make the SIC Board Recommendation, and shall include such SIC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, and use its commercially reasonable efforts to (x) solicit from SIC stockholders proxies in favor of the SIC Stockholder Approval, and (y) take all other action necessary or advisable to secure the SIC Stockholder Approval. For the avoidance of doubt, the SIC Stockholder Meeting may be held prior to receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief; provided, however, that receipt of the SEC Exemptive Relief shall be a condition to Closing.

(b) Except as expressly permitted in Section 7.11(e), neither the SIC Board nor any committee thereof shall (i) withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify, or propose publicly to withhold, withdraw or modify or qualify the SIC Board Recommendation, (ii) fail to publicly announce, within fifteen (15) Business Days after a tender offer or exchange relating to the securities of SIC shall have been commenced, a statement disclosing that the SIC Board recommends rejection of such tender offer or exchange offer, or (iii) approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, or propose publicly to approve, determine to be advisable, or recommend, any Competing Proposal (any of the foregoing (i) through (iii) being referred to as a “SIC Adverse Recommendation Change”).

7.5 Exchange Listing. SIC shall (i) take all steps as may be reasonably necessary to cause the outstanding SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MCC Merger to be listed for trading on the NYSE, and (ii) use its commercially reasonable efforts to cause the outstanding SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MCC Merger to be listed for trading on the Tel Aviv Stock Exchange.

7.6 Conversion of Medley LLC Units. Immediately prior to Closing, MDLY shall take, and shall cause Medley LLC to take, all such steps as may be necessary to cause the Units (including Medley Restricted Units that have vested) held by members of Medley LLC, other than MDLY, to be converted into Class A Common Stock of MDLY in accordance with the MDLY LLC Exchange Agreement as of immediately prior to the Effective Time. For the avoidance of doubt, in no event shall any exchange of Units occur prior to the record date for both the First Special Dividend and the Second Special Dividend, such that the shares of Class A Common Stock issued in connection with such exchange will not be entitled to any portion of the First Special Dividend or the Second Special Dividend. No dividend equivalent payments shall be made on Medley Restricted Units for the First Special Dividend or the Second Special Dividend; provided, however, that each holders of Medley Restricted Units shall be entitled to distributions from Medley LLC on account of the First Special Dividend.

7.7 Indemnification; Directors' and Officers' Insurance.

(a) In the event of any threatened or actual Claim against any individual who is now, or has been at any time prior to the date of this Agreement, or who becomes prior to the Effective Time, a director or officer of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries or who is or was serving at the request of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries as a director or officer of another person (the "Indemnified Parties"), based in whole or in part on, or arising in whole or in part out of, or pertaining to (i) the fact that he or she is or was a director or officer of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries prior to the Effective Time or (ii) this Agreement or any of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, whether asserted or arising before or after the Effective Time, the parties shall cooperate and use their commercially reasonable efforts to defend against and respond thereto. All rights to indemnification and exculpation from liabilities for acts or omissions occurring at or prior to the Effective Time existing on the date of this Agreement in favor of any Indemnified Party as provided in their respective certificates or articles of incorporation or by-laws (or comparable Organizational Documents), and any existing indemnification agreements set forth in Section 7.7 of MDLY Disclosure Schedule, shall, notwithstanding that the separate corporate existence of MDLY shall cease as of the Effective Time, survive the Merger as a contractual obligation of the Surviving Company and shall continue in full force and effect in accordance with their terms for a period of six (6) years from the Closing Date, and shall not be amended, repealed or otherwise modified in any manner that would adversely affect the rights thereunder of such individuals for acts or omissions occurring at or prior to the Effective Time or taken at the request of SIC pursuant to Section 7.8 hereof, it being understood that nothing in this sentence shall require any amendment to the articles or certificate of incorporation or bylaws of the Surviving Company.

(b) For a period of six (6) years from the Closing Date, the Surviving Company shall to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, indemnify, defend and hold harmless, and provide advancement of expenses (subject to an undertaking, in such form as may be reasonably required by the Surviving Company, to reimburse the portion (if any) of any expenses advanced to the Indemnified Party relating to Claims as to which it shall ultimately be adjudged that the standard of conduct has not been met by the Indemnified Party for entitlement to such indemnification) to, each Indemnified Party against all losses, Claims, damages, costs, expenses, liabilities or judgments or amounts that are paid in settlement of or in connection with any Claim based in whole or in part on or arising in whole or in part out of the fact that such person is or was a director or officer of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries, and pertaining to any matter existing or occurring, or any acts or omissions occurring, at or prior to the Effective Time, whether asserted or claimed prior to, or at or after, the Effective Time (including matters, acts or omissions occurring in connection with the approval of this Agreement and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby) or taken at the request of SIC pursuant to Section 7.8 hereof; provided, that the Surviving Company (i) shall not be liable for any amounts paid in the settlement of any Claim without its prior written consent, (ii) shall be obligated to pay the fees and expenses of only one counsel (approved in advance by the Surviving Company) for all Indemnified Parties (except with respect to the MDLY Special Committee, which may retain its own separate counsel in its sole discretion) with respect to any single Claim unless the Surviving Company assumes the defense of such Claim, in which case it shall not be liable for any fees and expenses of counsel to the Indemnified Parties in respect of such Claim (except for any fees and expenses of any separate counsel to the MDLY Special Committee); and (iii) shall not be liable to the extent that a judgment of a court of competent jurisdiction determines that any Claim is the result of the gross negligence or willful misconduct or results from a decision made by the Indemnified Party when he or she had no good faith belief that he or she was acting in the best interests of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries.

(c) SIC shall, at its sole cost, cause the individuals serving as officers and directors of MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries immediately prior to the Effective Time to be covered for a period of six years from the Effective Time by the directors' and officers' liability insurance policy maintained by MDLY through the purchase of so-called "tail" insurance (provided that SIC or the Surviving Company may substitute therefor policies of at least the same coverage and amounts containing terms and conditions that are not less advantageous in any material respect than such policy) with respect to acts or omissions occurring prior to the Effective Time that were committed by such officers and directors in their capacity as such. In connection with the foregoing, SIC shall not be required to expend in the aggregate for the entire six-year period referred to above amount in excess of 300% of the annual premiums currently paid by MDLY for such insurance.

(d) The provisions of this Section 7.7 are intended to be for the benefit of, and shall be enforceable by, each Indemnified Party and his or her heirs and representatives.

(e) Except to the extent required by Applicable Law, nothing in this Section 7.7 shall require SIC or the Surviving Company to indemnify any Indemnified Party with respect to any Claim arising with respect to acts or omissions by such Indemnified Party taken prior to the Effective Time pursuant to the MDLY Related Agreements for which such Indemnified Party is not entitled to indemnification under any of the MDLY Related Agreements.

7.8 Additional Agreements. In case at any time after the Effective Time any further action is necessary or desirable to carry out the purposes of this Agreement or to vest the Surviving Company with full title to all properties, assets, rights, approvals, immunities and franchises of either party to the Merger, the proper officers and directors of each party and their respective Subsidiaries shall, at SIC's sole expense, take all such necessary action as may be reasonably requested by SIC.

7.9 Advice of Changes. Each of SIC and MDLY shall promptly advise the other of any change or event (i) having or reasonably likely to have a Material Adverse Effect on it, (ii) that it believes would or would be reasonably likely to cause or constitute a breach of any of its representations, warranties or covenants contained in this Agreement that would result in the conditions to Closing set forth in Article VIII not being satisfied; provided, however, that no such notification shall affect the representations, warranties, covenants or agreements of the parties (or remedies with respect thereto) or the conditions to the obligations of the parties under this Agreement.

7.10 Exemption from Liability Under Section 16(b). Prior to the Effective Time, SIC and MDLY shall each take all such steps as may be necessary or appropriate to cause any disposition of shares of Class A Common Stock or conversion of any derivative securities in respect of such shares of Class A Common Stock in connection with the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement to be exempt under Rule 16b-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act to the extent permitted thereunder.

7.11 No Solicitation.

(a) Subject to Section 7.11(d), each of MDLY and SIC shall, and shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause its representatives to, immediately cease and cause to be terminated any existing solicitation of, or discussions or negotiations with, any Third Party relating to any Competing Proposal or any inquiry, discussion, offer or request that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal.

(b) Until the earlier of the Effective Time and termination of this Agreement, each of MDLY and SIC shall, as promptly as reasonably practicable, and in any event within two (2) Business Days of receipt by it or any of its representatives of any Competing Proposal or any inquiry that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal, deliver to the other party a written notice setting forth: (A) the identity of the Third Party making such Competing Proposal or inquiry (to the extent not prohibited by any applicable confidentiality agreement existing prior to the date of this Agreement) and (B) the material terms and conditions of any such Competing Proposal. MDLY and SIC shall keep the other party reasonably informed of any material amendment or modification of any such Competing Proposal on a prompt basis, and in any event within two (2) Business Days thereafter.

(c) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement (including Section 7.11(d)), until the earlier of Effective Time and termination of this Agreement in accordance with its terms, each of MDLY and SIC shall not, and shall not permit their respective Subsidiaries to, and shall use commercially reasonable efforts to cause their respective representatives not to, directly or indirectly, (i) initiate, solicit, induce or knowingly encourage or facilitate any inquiry with respect to the making of any proposal or offer with respect to a Competing Proposal or (ii) engage in negotiations or discussions with, or furnish any material nonpublic information to, or enter into any agreement, arrangement or understanding with, any Third Party relating to a Competing Proposal or any inquiry or proposal that could reasonably be expected to lead to a Competing Proposal; provided however, that notwithstanding the foregoing, (A) each of MDLY and SIC may inform Persons of the provisions contained in this Section 7.11, and (B) each of MDLY and SIC shall be permitted to grant a waiver of, or terminate, any “standstill” or similar obligation of any Third Party with respect to MDLY or SIC, as applicable, in order to allow such Third Party to submit a Competing Proposal, if the MDLY Board (or the MDLY Special Committee) or SIC Board (or the SIC Special Committee), as applicable, determines in good faith (after consultation with such party’s legal counsel) that a failure to take such action with respect to such “standstill” or similar obligation could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with its duties under Applicable Law.

(d) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in this Agreement, at any time prior to the date that MDLY Stockholder Approval is obtained (in the case of MDLY), or the SIC Stockholder Approval is obtained (in the case of SIC), in the event that MDLY (or its representatives on MDLY’s behalf) or SIC (or its representatives on SIC’s behalf) receives a Competing Proposal from any Third Party, (i) MDLY and its representatives or SIC and its representatives, as applicable, may contact such Third Party to clarify any ambiguous terms and conditions thereof (without the MDLY Board or SIC Board, as applicable, being required to make the determination in clause (ii) of this Section 7.11(d)) and (ii) MDLY and the MDLY Board (or the MDLY Special Committee) and its representatives or SIC and the SIC Board (or the SIC Special Committee) and its representatives, as applicable, may engage in negotiations or substantive discussions with, or furnish any information and other access to, any Third Party making such Competing Proposal and its representatives and Affiliates if the MDLY Board (or the MDLY Special Committee) or SIC Board (or the SIC Special Committee), as applicable, determines in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisors and legal counsel) that (A) such Competing Proposal either constitutes a Superior Proposal or could reasonably be expected to lead to a Superior Proposal and (B) failure to consider such Competing Proposal could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with the fiduciary duties of the directors of MDLY or SIC, as applicable, under Applicable Law; provided, that (x) such Competing Proposal did not result from any material breach of any of the provisions set forth in this Section 7.11, (y) prior to furnishing any material non-public information concerning MDLY or SIC, as applicable, MDLY or SIC, as applicable, receives from such Third Party, to the extent such Third Party is not already subject to a confidentiality agreement with MDLY or SIC, as applicable, a confidentiality agreement containing confidentiality terms that are not less favorable in the aggregate to MDLY or SIC, as the case may be, than those contained in the Confidentiality Agreement (unless MDLY or SIC, as applicable, offers to amend the Confidentiality Agreement to reflect such more favorable terms) (it being understood and agreed that such confidentiality agreement need not restrict the making of Competing Proposals (and related communications) to MDLY or the MDLY Board or to SIC or the SIC Board, as the case may be) (an “Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement”) and (z) MDLY or SIC, as the case may be, shall (subject to the terms of any confidentiality agreement existing prior to the date hereof) promptly provide or make available to the other party any material written non-public information concerning it that it provides to any Third Party given such access that was not previously made available to the other party or its representatives.

(e) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, (i) the MDLY Board shall not effect a MDLY Adverse Recommendation Change and the SIC Board shall not effect an SIC Adverse Recommendation Change (each an “Adverse Recommendation Change”), (ii) MDLY Board shall not approve or recommend, or allow MDLY to execute or enter into, any letter of intent, memorandum of understanding or definitive merger or similar agreement with respect to any Competing Proposal (other than an Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement), and (iii) the SIC Board shall not approve or recommend, or allow SIC to execute or enter into, any letter of intent, memorandum of understanding or definitive merger or similar agreement with respect to any Competing Proposal (other than an Acceptable Confidentiality Agreement); provided however, that notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, at any time prior to the receipt of MDLY Stockholder Approval (in the case of MDLY) or the SIC Stockholder Approval (in the case of SIC), the MDLY Board or SIC Board, as applicable, may (x) make an Adverse Recommendation Change if the board of directors effecting the Adverse Recommendation Change (or the MDLY Special Committee or SIC Special Committee, as applicable) determines in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisor and legal counsel) that failure to make an Adverse Recommendation Change could reasonably be expected to be inconsistent with the fiduciary duties of the MDLY Board or SIC Board, as applicable, under Applicable Law, or (y) if MDLY or SIC, as the case may be, has received a Competing Proposal that its board of directors (or the MDLY Special Committee or SIC Special Committee, as applicable) has determined in good faith (after consultation with its outside financial advisor and legal counsel) constitutes a Superior Proposal, authorize, adopt or approve such Superior Proposal and cause or permit MDLY or SIC, as applicable, to enter into a definitive agreement with respect to such Superior Proposal concurrently with the termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), as applicable, but in each case only after providing the Notice of Adverse Recommendation or Notice of Superior Proposal, as applicable, and entering into good faith negotiations as required by Section 7.11(f). The MDLY Board or the SIC Board, as applicable, shall (i) make an Adverse Recommendation Change, or (ii) terminate this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(g) or Section 9.1(i), in each case, only in accordance with this Section 7.11(e), only after complying with the requirements in Section 7.11(f), and only if directed to take such action by the MDLY Special Committee or the SIC Special Committee, as applicable.

(f) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, no Adverse Recommendation Change may be made and no termination of this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or Section 9.1(i), as applicable, may be effected, in each case until after the third (3rd) Business Day following receipt of written notice from the party intending to effect any Adverse Recommendation Change to the other party advising the other party that its board of directors intends to make an Adverse Recommendation Change (a “Notice of Adverse Recommendation”) or terminate this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), as applicable (a “Notice of Superior Proposal”), and specifying the reasons therefor, including, if the basis of the proposed action is a Superior Proposal, the material terms and conditions of any such Superior Proposal. At the option of the party not seeking to make an Adverse Recommendation Change or terminate this Agreement pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or 9.1(i), the parties shall negotiate in good faith during such period to amend this Agreement in such a manner that the relevant party no longer intends to make the Adverse Recommendation Change or the offer that was determined to constitute a Superior Proposal no longer constitutes a Superior Proposal. In determining whether to make an Adverse Recommendation Change or in determining whether a Competing Proposal constitutes a Superior Proposal, the applicable board of directors (including the MDLY Special Committee or the SIC Special Committee, as applicable) shall take into account any revisions to the terms of this Agreement proposed in writing by the other party in response to a Notice of Adverse Recommendation, a Notice of Superior Proposal or otherwise. Any material amendment to such Superior Proposal shall require a new Notice of Superior Proposal and the applicable party shall be required to comply again with the requirements of this Section 7.11(f).

(g) Nothing in this Agreement shall restrict MDLY or SIC from taking or disclosing a position contemplated by Rules 14d-9 or 14e-2(a) under the Exchange Act, or otherwise making disclosure to comply with Applicable Law (it being agreed that a “stop, look and listen” communication by the MDLY Board or SIC Board to its stockholders pursuant to Rule 14d-9(f) under the Exchange Act or a factually accurate public statement by MDLY or SIC that describes MDLY’s or SIC’s receipt, as applicable, of a Competing Proposal and the operation of this Agreement with respect thereto shall not be deemed to be an Adverse Recommendation Change).

7.12 Treatment of Outstanding Indebtedness.

(a) MDLY shall cause the termination of the CNB Credit Facility on or prior to the Closing Date.

(b) Except as set forth in Section 7.12(a), on or prior to the Closing, MDLY and SIC shall each use commercially reasonable efforts to take or cause to be taken all actions with respect to their respective Indebtedness and the Indebtedness of their respective Subsidiaries that is necessary or advisable in connection with the Merger, including without limitation, obtaining all necessary consents of the holders of such Indebtedness, executing and delivering all documents, instruments, certificates and opinions of counsel required under the terms of such Indebtedness, making all necessary filings, and taking all other actions that the respective boards of directors or officers of MDLY and SIC determine to be necessary or advisable in connection with such Indebtedness, including any assumption, refinancing or consolidation of such Indebtedness.

7.13 Takeover Statutes. The parties shall use their respective commercially reasonable efforts (a) to take all action necessary so that no Takeover Statute is or becomes applicable to the Merger or any of the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement, and (b) if any such Takeover Statute is or becomes applicable to any of the foregoing, to take all action necessary so that the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement may be consummated as promptly as reasonably practicable on the terms contemplated by this Agreement and otherwise to eliminate or minimize the effect of such Takeover Statute on the Merger and the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement.

7.14 Stockholder Litigation. Between the date hereof and the Effective Time, the parties shall cooperate and consult with one another in connection with any proceeding, including by either party’s stockholders and other stakeholders against any of them or any of their respective directors, officers or Affiliates with respect to this Agreement, the Merger and/or the transactions contemplated hereby. In furtherance of and without in any way limiting the foregoing, each of the parties shall use its respective commercially reasonable efforts to prevail in any such stockholder or stakeholder proceeding so as to permit the consummation of the Merger and/or the transactions contemplated by his agreement in the manner contemplated by this Agreement.

7.15 Section 15(f).

(a) SIC acknowledges that MDLY is entering into this Agreement in reliance upon the benefits and protections provided by Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act. Subject to Applicable Law and the fiduciary duties of the SIC Board, SIC shall, to the extent within its control, not take any action, or omit to take any action, that would have the effect of causing the requirements of any of the provisions of Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act not to be met in respect of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. In that regard, subject to Applicable Law and the fiduciary duties of the SIC Board, SIC shall take such actions as are within its control so that:

(i) for a period of not less than three years after the Closing, at least 75% of the members of the SIC Board are not (A) “interested persons” (within the meaning of Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act) of the investment adviser of SIC after the Closing or (B) “interested persons” (within the meaning of Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act) of the investment adviser of SIC immediately prior to the Closing; and

(ii) for a period of not less than two years after the Closing, there shall not be imposed on SIC an “unfair burden” (as interpreted under Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act) as a result of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, or any express or implied terms, conditions or understandings applicable thereto.

(b) To the extent within the control of MDLY and its Subsidiaries, MDLY shall not, and shall cause its Subsidiaries not to, take any action that would cause the foregoing covenants to not be satisfied by SIC.

(c) Section 7.15(a) shall not apply in the event that the parties reasonably agree that Section 15(f) of the Investment Company Act no longer applies to the transactions contemplated by this Agreement. Section 7.15(a)(i) shall not apply to the extent SIC or any of its Affiliates obtains an exemptive order from the SEC as contemplated by Section 15(f)(3) of the Investment Company Act. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, the covenants of the parties hereto contained in this Section 7.15 are intended only for the benefit of such parties and for no other Person.

7.16 Employment Matters. At the Closing, MDLY shall cause Medley Capital, LLC to enter into employment agreements substantially in the form attached hereto as Exhibit B-1 (the “Employment Agreements”) with the individuals identified in, and on the economic terms set forth in, Exhibit B-2. In addition, prior to Closing, the SIC Board shall adopt an incentive plan on substantially the same terms as the existing MDLY Stock Plan (the “SIC Incentive Plan”), which SIC Incentive Plan shall become effective at the Effective Time.

7.17 Interaction with MCC Merger Agreement. Without the consent of MDLY, SIC agrees that it will not agree to any waiver or amendment of the MCC Merger Agreement to the extent such waiver or amendment would adversely affect the economic or other rights or interests of MDLY and its stockholders under this Agreement or the MCC Merger Agreement in any material respect.

7.18 Other Matters. On or prior to the Closing Date, SIC shall pay all accrued but unpaid fees payable to SIC Advisors LLC pursuant to the SIC Investment Advisory Agreement.

ARTICLE VIII
CONDITIONS PRECEDENT

8.1 Conditions to Each Party's Obligation To Effect the Merger. The respective obligations of the parties to effect the Merger shall be subject to the satisfaction at or prior to the Effective Time of the following conditions:

(a) Stockholder Approval. (i) The MDLY Stockholder Approval shall have been obtained, and (ii) the SIC Stockholder Approval shall have been obtained.

(b) Form N-14 Registration Statement. The Form N-14 Registration Statement shall have been declared effective by the SEC under the Securities Act and no stop order suspending the effectiveness of the Form N-14 Registration Statement shall have been issued and no proceedings for that purpose shall have been initiated or threatened by the SEC.

(c) Exchange Listing. The outstanding shares of SIC Common Stock, the Merger Shares and the shares of SIC Common Stock to be issued in the MCC Merger shall have been authorized for listing on the NYSE, subject to official notice of issuance.

(d) SEC Exemptive Relief. The SEC Exemptive Relief shall have been granted and be in full force and effect as of the Closing Date.

(e) Blue Sky Filings. SIC shall have made or obtained such filings and approvals as are required to be made or obtained under the securities or "Blue Sky" laws of various states in connection with the issuance of the shares of SIC Common Stock pursuant to this Agreement.

(f) No Injunctions or Restraints; Illegality. No order, injunction or decree issued by any court or agency of competent jurisdiction or other law preventing or making illegal the consummation of the Merger or any of the other transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be in effect.

(g) HSR Act. Any applicable waiting period (and any extension thereof) applicable to the Merger under the HSR Act shall have expired or been terminated.

(h) Exchange of Medley LLC Units. All issued and outstanding Units of Medley LLC (including Medley Restricted Units that have vested) other than Medley LLC Units held by MDLY, shall have been converted into Class A Common Stock in accordance with the MDLY LLC Exchange Agreement on (and not sooner than) the Closing Date.

Table of Contents

(i) Tax Receivable Termination Agreement. The Tax Receivable Termination Agreement, to be effective as of the Effective Time, shall have been executed and delivered by all necessary parties.

(j) MCC Merger. Each of the conditions to closing under the MCC Merger Agreement shall have been satisfied or appropriately waived, and the MCC Merger shall be consummated simultaneously with the Merger.

(k) Third Party Consents. MDLY shall have obtained written consents to the continuation, following the Effective Time, of the advisory relationship with private funds and managed accounts representing sixty-five percent (65%) of MDLY's total revenues from private funds and managed accounts for the 12-month period ended as of June 30, 2018.

(l) Accounting Treatment. The SEC shall have confirmed in a manner reasonably acceptable to the parties that the equity of the Surviving Company, following the Merger, will be treated as a portfolio investment of SIC and reflected in SIC's consolidated financial statements at fair value for accounting purposes, and that the Surviving Company's financial results will not be consolidated into the financial statements of SIC.

(m) No Governmental Actions. There shall be no pending suit, action or proceeding by any Governmental Entity (i) challenging the acquisition by SIC of any MDLY Common Stock, seeking to restrain or prohibit the consummation of the Merger or any other transaction contemplated by this Agreement or seeking to obtain from MDLY or SIC any damages that are material in relation to MDLY and its Subsidiaries taken as a whole, or (ii) seeking to prohibit SIC or any of its Subsidiaries from effectively controlling in any material respect the business or operations of MDLY and its Subsidiaries.

(n) Section 368 Opinion. The parties shall have received the written opinion of Eversheds Sutherland (US) LLP (or such other counsel as may be reasonably satisfactory to the parties), dated as of the Closing Date and in form and substance reasonably satisfactory to the parties, to the effect that, on the basis of facts, representations and assumptions set forth or referred to in such opinion, the Merger will qualify as a reorganization within the meaning of Section 368(a) of the Code.

8.2 Conditions to Obligations of SIC. The obligation of SIC to effect the Merger is also subject to the satisfaction, or waiver by SIC, at or prior to the Effective Time, of the following conditions:

(a) Representations and Warranties. Subject to the standard set forth in Section 8.4, the representations and warranties of MDLY set forth in this Agreement shall be true and correct as of the date of this Agreement and as of the Effective Time as though made on and as of the Effective Time (except that representations and warranties that by their terms speak specifically as of the date of this Agreement or another date shall be true and correct as of such date); and SIC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of MDLY by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of MDLY to the foregoing effect.

(b) Performance of Obligations of MDLY. MDLY shall have performed in all material respects all obligations required to be performed by it under this Agreement at or prior to the Effective Time; and SIC shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of MDLY by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of MDLY to such effect.

(c) Outstanding Indebtedness. MDLY shall have delivered to SIC fully executed copies of all consents and approvals required in order to keep the Medley LLC Outstanding Indebtedness outstanding and the Medley LLC Debt Documents in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof.

(d) Employment Matters. Each of the individuals identified on Exhibit B-2 shall have entered into an Employment Agreement in the form set forth on Exhibit B-1, as amended to reflect the economic terms applicable to such individual, as set forth in Exhibit B-2.

8.3 Conditions to Obligations of MDLY. Subject to Section 9.7, the obligation of MDLY to effect the Merger is also subject to the satisfaction or waiver by MDLY at or prior to the Effective Time of the following conditions:

(a) Representations and Warranties. Subject to the standard set forth in Section 8.4, the representations and warranties of SIC set forth in this Agreement shall be true and correct as of the date of this Agreement and as of the Effective Time as though made on and as of the Effective Time (except that representations and warranties that by their terms speak specifically as of the date of this Agreement or another date shall be true and correct as of such date); and MDLY shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of SIC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of SIC to the foregoing effect.

(b) Performance of Obligations of SIC. SIC shall have (i) performed in all material respects all obligations required to be performed by it under this Agreement (other than its obligations under Section 7.17) at or prior to the Effective Time, and (ii) performed in all respects all obligations required to be performed by it under Section 7.17 at or prior to the Effective Time; and MDLY shall have received a certificate signed on behalf of SIC by the Chief Executive Officer or the Chief Financial Officer of SIC to such effect.

(c) Outstanding Indebtedness.

(i) SIC shall have taken all actions, and executed all documents, reasonably required of SIC by the holders of Medley LLC Outstanding Indebtedness in order to keep the Medley LLC Outstanding Indebtedness outstanding and the Medley LLC Debt Documents in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof; provided, however, neither SIC nor any of its Subsidiaries shall be obligated to provide any guarantees or other credit support for any such Medley LLC Outstanding Indebtedness.

(ii) SIC shall have taken all actions, and executed all documents, reasonably required of SIC in order to keep the Indebtedness represented by the SIC Debt Documents outstanding and the SIC Debt Documents in full force and effect in accordance with their terms as of the date of this Agreement without any breach or violation thereof.

8.4 Standard. No representation or warranty of MDLY contained in Article IV or of SIC contained in Article V shall be deemed untrue, inaccurate or incorrect for purposes of Section 8.2(a) or 8.3(a), as applicable, under this Agreement, as a consequence of the existence or absence of any fact, circumstance or event unless such fact, circumstance or event, individually or when taken together with all other facts, circumstances or events inconsistent with any representations or warranties contained in Article IV, in the case of MDLY, or Article V, in the case of SIC, has had or would reasonably be expected to have a Material Adverse Effect with respect to MDLY or SIC, respectively (disregarding for purposes of this Section 8.4, except as it relates to Section 4.8 and Section 5.8, all qualifications or limitations set forth in any representations or warranties as to “materiality,” “Material Adverse Effect” and words of similar import). Notwithstanding the immediately preceding sentence, the representations and warranties contained in (i) Section 4.2(a) and Section 5.2(a) shall be deemed untrue and incorrect if not true and correct except to a de minimis extent (relative to Section 4.2(a) or Section 5.2(a), respectively, taken as a whole), and (ii) Sections 4.3(a) and 4.3(b)(i), in the case of MDLY, and Sections 5.3(a) and 5.3(b)(i), in the case of SIC, shall be deemed untrue and incorrect if not true and correct in all material respects.

8.5 Frustration of Closing Conditions. Neither MDLY nor SIC may rely on the failure of any condition set forth in Section 8.1, Section 8.2 or Section 8.3, as applicable, to be satisfied if such failure was primarily caused by the party relying on such failure to perform any of its material obligations under this Agreement.

ARTICLE IX TERMINATION AND AMENDMENT

9.1 Termination. This Agreement may be terminated at any time prior to the Effective Time, whether before or after receipt of the MDLY Stockholder Approval or the SIC Stockholder Approval:

(a) by mutual consent of MDLY and SIC in a written instrument authorized by MDLY Board and SIC Board;

(b) by either MDLY or SIC, if any Governmental Entity whose consent or approval is a condition to Closing set forth in Section 8.1 has denied the granting of any such consent or approval and such denial has become final and nonappealable or any Governmental Entity of competent jurisdiction shall have issued a final and nonappealable order, injunction or decree permanently enjoining or otherwise prohibiting or making illegal the consummation of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement;

(c) by either MDLY or SIC, if the Merger shall not have been consummated on or before March 31, 2019 (the “Outside Date”), unless the failure of the Closing to occur by such date shall be due to the failure of the party seeking to terminate this Agreement to perform or observe the covenants and agreements of such party set forth in this Agreement provided that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein, and such breach has caused or resulted in the failure of the Closing to occur by or prior to the Outside Date;

(d) by either SIC or MDLY, at any time prior to the Effective Time, in the event that (i) MDLY or SIC, as the case may be, shall have failed to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval or SIC Stockholder Approval, as applicable, at the MDLY Stockholder Meeting or the SIC Stockholder Meeting, respectively, at which a vote is taken on the Merger, or (ii) the MCC Merger Agreement shall have been terminated;

(e) by either MDLY or SIC (provided that the terminating party is not then in material breach of any representation, warranty, covenant or other agreement contained herein), if there shall have been a breach of any of the covenants or agreements or any of the representations or warranties set forth in this Agreement on the part of MDLY, in the case of a termination by SIC, or SIC, in the case of a termination by MDLY, which breach, either individually or in the aggregate, would result in, if occurring or continuing on the Closing Date, the failure of the conditions set forth in Section 8.2 or 8.3, as the case may be, and which is not cured within thirty (30) days following written notice to the party committing such breach or by its nature or timing cannot be cured within such time period;

(f) by SIC, (i) within ten (10) Business Days after the MDLY Board shall have effected an MDLY Adverse Recommendation Change prior to receipt of the MDLY Stockholder Approval, (ii) in the event the MDLY Board shall have approved or authorized MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries to enter into a merger agreement, letter of intent, acquisition agreement, purchase agreement or other similar agreement with respect to a Competing Proposal or (iii) MDLY fails to include the MDLY Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus;

(g) by MDLY (at the direction of the MDLY Board or the MDLY Special Committee), in the event that:

(i) (A) MDLY shall have received a Superior Proposal, (B) subject to MDLY's compliance with its obligations under Section 7.11(f), the MDLY Board or any authorized committee thereof (including the MDLY Special Committee) shall have authorized MDLY to enter into a definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal, and (C) concurrently with the termination of this Agreement, MDLY pays SIC the Termination Fee contemplated by Section 9.4 and enters into the definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal; or

(ii) The MDLY Board (whether at the direction of the MDLY Special Committee or otherwise) shall have effected an MDLY Adverse Recommendation Change in accordance with the terms of Section 7.11.

(h) by MDLY, (i) within ten (10) Business Days after the SIC Board shall have effected a SIC Adverse Recommendation Change prior to receipt of SIC Stockholder Approval, (ii) in the event the SIC Board shall have approved, or authorized SIC or any of its Subsidiaries to enter into, a merger agreement, letter of intent, acquisition agreement, purchase agreement or other similar agreement with respect to a Competing Proposal or (iii) SIC fails to include the SIC Board Recommendation in the Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus; or

(i) by SIC (at the direction of the SIC Board or the SIC Special Committee), in the event that:

(i) (A) SIC shall have received a Superior Proposal, (B) subject to SIC's compliance with its obligations under Section 7.11(f), the SIC Board or any authorized committee thereof (including the SIC Special Committee shall have authorized SIC to enter into a definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal, and (C) concurrently with the termination of this Agreement, SIC pays MDLY the Termination Fee contemplated by Section 9.4 and enters into the definitive agreement to consummate the transaction contemplated by such Superior Proposal; or

(ii) the SIC Board or any authorized committee thereof shall have effected a SIC Adverse Recommendation Change in accordance with the terms of Section 7.11.

The party desiring to terminate this Agreement pursuant to clause (b), (c), (d), (e), (f), (g), (h), or (i) of this Section 9.1 shall give written notice of such termination to the other party in accordance with Section 10.2, specifying the provision or provisions hereof pursuant to which such termination is effected.

9.2 Effect of Termination. In the event of termination of this Agreement by either MDLY or SIC as provided in Section 9.1, this Agreement shall become void and have no effect, and none of MDLY, SIC, Merger Sub, any of their respective Subsidiaries or any of the officers or directors of any of them shall have any liability of any nature whatsoever under this Agreement, or in connection with the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, except that (i) Sections 7.2(c), 9.2, 9.3, 9.4, and Article X shall survive any termination of this Agreement, and (ii) except as provided in Section 10.9(c), neither MDLY nor SIC shall be relieved or released from any liabilities or damages arising out of its fraud or knowing and intentional breach of any provision of this Agreement.

9.3 Fees and Expenses. All fees and expenses incurred in connection with the Merger, this Agreement, and the transactions contemplated by this Agreement shall be paid by the party incurring such fees or expenses; provided, that the costs and expenses of preparing, filing, printing and mailing the Form N-14 Registration Statement and related Joint Proxy Statement/Prospectus, all other filing fees and amounts paid to the SEC in connection with the Merger, and the fees of any HSR Act filing shall be borne equally by MDLY and SIC.

9.4 Termination Fee.

(a) In the event that this Agreement is terminated pursuant to Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g) then, provided that SIC was not in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements hereunder at the time of termination, MDLY will pay to SIC, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g), as applicable, a fee in an amount equal to $5,350,000 (the "Termination Fee").

(b) In the event that this Agreement is terminated pursuant to Section 9.1(h) or Section 9.1(i) then, provided that MDLY was not in material breach of its representations, warranties, covenants or agreements hereunder at the time of termination, SIC will pay to MDLY, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(h) or Section 9.1(i), as applicable, the Termination Fee.

(c) In the event that (i) prior to the MDLY Stockholder Meeting, a Third Party (the “MDLY Pre-Meeting Offeror”) makes a Competing Proposal to MDLY and/or its stockholders, or such Competing Proposal is otherwise publicly announced, and in each case such Competing Proposal not withdrawn prior to the MDLY Stockholder Meeting, (ii) this Agreement is validly terminated by either SIC or MDLY pursuant to Section 9.1(d)(i) (with respect to the failure to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval), and (iii) within twelve (12) months following the date of such termination, MDLY consummates a Competing Proposal with the MDLY Pre-Meeting Offeror (provided that for purposes of this Section 9.4(c), the references to “twenty percent (20%)” in the definition of Competing Proposal shall be deemed references to “fifty percent (50%)”), MDLY will pay to SIC, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(d)(i) (with respect to the failure to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval), the Termination Fee.

(d) In the event that (i) prior to the SIC Stockholder Meeting, a Third Party (the “SIC Pre-Meeting Offeror”) makes a Competing Proposal to SIC and/or its stockholders, or such Competing Proposal is otherwise publicly announced, and in each case such Competing Proposal not withdrawn prior to the SIC Stockholder Meeting, (ii) this Agreement is validly terminated by either SIC or MDLY pursuant to Section 9.1(d)(i) (with respect to the failure to obtain SIC Stockholder Approval), and (iii) within twelve (12) months following the date of such termination, SIC consummates a Competing Proposal with the SIC Pre-Meeting Offeror (provided that for purposes of this Section 9.4(d), the references to “twenty percent (20%)” in the definition of Competing Proposal shall be deemed references to “fifty percent (50%)”), SIC will pay to MDLY, as its sole recourse in connection with termination of this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1(d)(i) (with respect to the failure to obtain SIC Stockholder Approval), the Termination Fee.

(e) The Termination Fee, if applicable, shall be payable (i) no later than two Business Days after the date on which this Agreement is terminated by SIC pursuant to Section 9.1(f) or by MDLY pursuant to Section 9.1(h), (ii) immediately prior to the time of termination by MDLY pursuant to Section 9.1(g) or by SIC pursuant to Section 9.1(i), (iii) pursuant to Section 9.4(c), within three (3) Business Days of the date on which MDLY consummates the Competing Proposal with the MDLY Pre-Meeting Offeror, and (iv) pursuant to Section 9.4(d), within three (3) Business Days of the date on which SIC consummates such Competing Proposal with the SIC Pre-Meeting Offeror. The parties hereto acknowledge and hereby agree that in no event shall any party be required to pay a Termination Fee on more than one occasion.

(f) Each of the parties hereto acknowledges that (i) the agreements contained in this Section 9.4 are an integral part of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement, (ii) the Termination Fee is not a penalty, but is liquidated damages, in a reasonable amount that will compensate the other party, in the circumstances in which the Termination Fee is payable, for the efforts and resources expended and opportunities foregone while negotiating this Agreement and in reliance on this Agreement and on the expectation of the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, which amount would otherwise be impossible to calculate with precision and (iii) without these agreements, the parties would not enter into this Agreement.

9.5 Amendment. This Agreement may be amended by the parties, by action taken or authorized by the MDLY Board, the MDLY Special Committee, the SIC Board and the SIC Special Committee, at any time before or after receipt of MDLY Stockholder Approval or the SIC Stockholder Approval; provided, however, that after receipt of MDLY Stockholder Approval or SIC Stockholder Approval, there may not be, without further approval of such stockholders, any amendment of this Agreement that requires further approval of the stockholders of MDLY or SIC under Applicable Law. This Agreement may not be amended except by an instrument in writing signed on behalf of each of the parties.

9.6 Extension; Waiver. At any time prior to the Effective Time, the parties, by action taken or authorized by the MDLY Board, the MDLY Special Committee, the SIC Board and the SIC Special Committee, may, to the extent legally allowed, (a) extend the time for the performance of any of the obligations or other acts of the other party, (b) waive any inaccuracies in the representations and warranties contained in this Agreement or (c) waive compliance with any of the agreements or conditions contained in this Agreement. Any agreement on the part of a party to any such extension or waiver shall be valid only if set forth in a written instrument signed on behalf of such party, but such extension or waiver or failure to insist on strict compliance with an obligation, covenant, agreement or condition shall not operate as a waiver of, or estoppel with respect to, any subsequent or other failure.

9.7 Effect of SIC Related Agreements. Notwithstanding anything in this Agreement to the contrary, SIC will not be considered in breach of any of its representations, warranties, covenants or other agreements contained in this Agreement to the extent such breach was or should reasonably have been known to MDLY as of the date of this Agreement or arose as a result of any act or omission by MDLY or any of its Subsidiaries not in compliance with their duties under the SIC Related Agreements.

ARTICLE X GENERAL PROVISIONS

10.1 Nonsurvival of Representations, Warranties and Agreements. None of the representations, warranties, covenants and agreements set forth in this Agreement or in any instrument delivered pursuant to this Agreement shall survive the Effective Time, except for the matters set forth in Section 7.7 and for those other covenants and agreements contained in this Agreement that by their terms apply or are to be performed in whole or in part after the Effective Time.

10.2 Notices. All notices and other communications in connection with this Agreement shall be in writing and shall be deemed given if delivered personally, sent via facsimile (with confirmation), mailed by registered or certified mail (return receipt requested) or delivered by an express courier (with confirmation) to the parties at the following addresses (or at such other address for a party as shall be specified by like notice):

10.3 Interpretation. When a reference is made in this Agreement to Articles, Sections, Exhibits or Schedules, such reference shall be to an Article or Section of or Exhibit or Schedule to this Agreement unless otherwise indicated. The table of contents and headings contained in this Agreement are for reference purposes only and shall not affect in any way the meaning or interpretation of this Agreement. Whenever the words “include,” “includes” or “including” are used in this Agreement, they shall be deemed to be followed by the words “without limitation.” MDLY Disclosure Schedule and the SIC Disclosure Schedule, as well as all other schedules and all exhibits hereto, shall be deemed part of this Agreement and included in any reference to this Agreement. This Agreement shall not be interpreted or construed to require any Person to take any action, or fail to take any action, if to do so would violate any Applicable Law.

10.4 Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in two or more counterparts, all of which shall be considered one and the same agreement and shall become effective when counterparts have been signed by each of the parties and delivered to the other party, it being understood that each party need not sign the same counterpart.

10.5 Entire Agreement. This Agreement (including the documents and the instruments referred to in this Agreement), together with the Confidentiality Agreement, constitutes the entire agreement and supersedes all prior agreements and understandings, both written and oral, between the parties with respect to the subject matter of this Agreement, other than the Confidentiality Agreement.

10.6 Governing Law: Jurisdiction. This Agreement shall be governed and construed in accordance with the internal laws of the State of Delaware applicable to contracts made and wholly-performed within such state, without regard to any applicable conflicts of law principles. Each of the parties hereby irrevocably and unconditionally submits, for itself and its property, to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Delaware Court of Chancery, or, if (and only if) such court lacks subject matter jurisdiction, any Federal court of the United States of America sitting in the State of Delaware, and the respective appellate courts from the foregoing (all of the foregoing, collectively, the “Delaware Courts”), in any action or proceeding arising out of or relating to this Agreement or the agreements delivered in connection herewith or the transactions contemplated hereby or thereby or for recognition or enforcement of any judgment relating thereto, and each of the parties hereby irrevocably and unconditionally (i) agrees not to commence any such action or proceeding except in the applicable Delaware Court, (ii) agrees that any claim in respect of any such action or proceeding may be heard and determined in the applicable Delaware Court, (iii) waives, to the fullest extent it may legally and effectively do so, any objection that it may now or hereafter have to the laying of venue of any such action or proceeding in the applicable Delaware Court, and (iv) waives, to the fullest extent permitted by Applicable Law, the defense of an inconvenient forum to the maintenance of such action or proceeding in the applicable Delaware Court. Each of the parties agrees that a final judgment in any such action or proceeding shall be conclusive and may be enforced in other jurisdictions by suit on the judgment or in any other manner provided by Applicable Law. Each party irrevocably consents to service of process in the manner provided for by Applicable Law. Nothing in this Agreement will affect the right of any party to serve process in any other manner permitted by Applicable Law.

10.7 Publicity. THE INITIAL PRESS RELEASE CONCERNING THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE A JOINT PRESS RELEASE. NEITHER MDLY NOR SIC SHALL, AND NEITHER MDLY NOR SIC SHALL PERMIT ANY OF ITS SUBSIDIARIES OR REPRESENTATIVES TO, ISSUE OR CAUSE THE PUBLICATION OF ANY PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT WITH RESPECT TO, OR OTHERWISE MAKE ANY PUBLIC STATEMENT CONCERNING, THE TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED BY THIS AGREEMENT WITHOUT THE PRIOR WRITTEN CONSENT OF SIC, IN THE CASE OF A PROPOSED ANNOUNCEMENT OR STATEMENT BY MDLY, OR MDLY, IN THE CASE OF A PROPOSED ANNOUNCEMENT OR STATEMENT BY SIC; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, THAT EITHER PARTY MAY, AFTER PRIOR WRITTEN NOTICE TO THE OTHER PARTY, ISSUE OR CAUSE THE PUBLICATION OF ANY PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING TO THE EXTENT REQUIRED BY LAW OR BY THE RULES AND REGULATIONS OF THE NYSE; PROVIDED, HOWEVER, THE PARTY ISSUING SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING MUST CONSULT WITH THE OTHER PARTY BEFORE ISSUING SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING AND PROVIDE SUCH PARTY WITH AN OPPORTUNITY TO REVIEW AND COMMENT UPON SUCH PRESS RELEASE OR OTHER PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT OR FILING, WHICH COMMENTS THE OTHER PARTY SHALL CONSIDER IN GOOD FAITH.

10.8 Assignment: Third Party Beneficiaries. Neither this Agreement nor any of the rights, interests or obligations under this Agreement shall be assigned by either of the parties (whether by operation of law or otherwise) without the prior written consent of the other party. Subject to the preceding sentence, this Agreement shall be binding upon, inure to the benefit of and be enforceable by each of the parties and their respective successors and assigns. Except as otherwise specifically provided in Section 7.7, this Agreement (including the documents and instruments referred to in this Agreement) is not intended to and does not confer upon any Person other than the parties hereto any rights or remedies under this Agreement. Except as provided in Section 7.7 only, SIC and MDLY hereby agree that their respective representations, warranties and covenants set forth herein are solely for the benefit of the other parties hereto, in accordance with and subject to the terms of this Agreement, and this Agreement is not intended to, and does not, confer upon any Person other than the parties hereto any rights or remedies hereunder, including, without limitation, the right to rely upon such representations and warranties set forth herein. The parties hereto further agree that the rights of Third Party beneficiaries under Section 7.7 shall not arise unless and until the Effective Time occurs. The representations and warranties in this Agreement are the product of negotiations among the parties hereto and are for the sole benefit of the parties hereto. In some instances, the representations and warranties in this Agreement may represent an allocation among the parties hereto of risks associated with particular matters regardless of the knowledge of any of the parties hereto. Consequently, Persons other than the parties hereto may not rely upon the representations and warranties in this Agreement as characterizations of actual facts or circumstances as of the date of this Agreement or as of any other date.

10.9 Remedies.

(a) Except as otherwise provided in this Agreement, any and all remedies herein expressly conferred upon a party will be deemed cumulative with and not exclusive of any other remedy conferred hereby, or by law or equity upon such party, and the exercise by a party of any one remedy will not preclude the exercise of any other remedy.

(b) The parties hereto hereby agree that irreparable damage would occur in the event that any provision of this Agreement to be performed by either party was not performed in accordance with its specific terms or was otherwise breached, and that money damages or other legal remedies would not be an adequate remedy for any such damages. Accordingly, the parties hereto acknowledge and hereby agree that in the event of any breach or threatened breach by either party of any of its respective covenants or obligations set forth in this Agreement, the non-breaching party shall be entitled to an injunction or injunctions to prevent or restrain breaches or threatened breaches of this Agreement and to specifically enforce the terms and provisions of this Agreement to prevent breaches or threatened breaches of, or to enforce compliance with, the covenants and obligations of the other under this Agreement. Each party hereby agrees not to raise any objections to the availability of the equitable remedy of specific performance to prevent or restrain breaches or threatened breaches of this Agreement by such party, and to specifically enforce the terms and provisions of this Agreement to prevent breaches or threatened breaches of, or to enforce compliance with, the covenants and obligations of such party under this Agreement. The parties hereto further agree that (i) by seeking the remedies provided for in this Section 10.9(b), neither party shall in any respect waive its right to seek any other form of relief that may be available to a party under this Agreement (including monetary damages) in the event that this Agreement has been terminated or in the event that the remedies provided for in this Section 10.9(b) are not available or otherwise are not granted, and (ii) nothing set forth in this Section 10.9(b) shall require either party to institute any proceeding for (or limit such party's right to institute any proceeding for) specific performance under this Section 10.9(b) prior or as a condition to exercising any termination right under Section 9.1 (and pursuing damages after such termination), nor shall the commencement of any legal proceeding pursuant to this Section 10.9(b) or anything set forth in this Section 10.9(b) restrict or limit such party's right to terminate this Agreement in accordance with Section 9.1 or pursue any other remedies under this Agreement that may be available then or thereafter.

(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Agreement, the parties hereto expressly acknowledge and agree that the remedies set forth in Section 9.4 shall be the sole and exclusive remedies available to SIC, in the event this Agreement is terminated under Section 9.1(d) (i)(with respect to the failure to obtain MDLY Stockholder Approval), Section 9.1(f) or Section 9.1(g), and MDLY, in the event this Agreement is terminated under Section 9.1(d)(i) (with respect to the failure to obtain SIC Stockholder Approval), Section 9.1 (h) or Section 9.1(i). To the extent SIC or MDLY is entitled to receive the Termination Fee, the receipt of such amounts shall be deemed to be full and final payment for any and all losses or damages suffered or incurred by SIC or MDLY, as applicable, or any of their respective Affiliates or any other Person in connection with this Agreement (and the termination hereof), the transactions contemplated hereby (and the abandonment thereof) or any matter forming the basis for such termination, and none of SIC nor any of its Affiliates, or MDLY or any of its Affiliates, as applicable, or any other Person shall be entitled to bring or maintain any other Claim against MDLY or SIC, as applicable, or any of their Affiliates arising out of this Agreement, any of the transactions contemplated hereby or any matters forming the basis for such termination.

10.10 Waiver of Jury Trial. EACH PARTY HEREBY IRREVOCABLY AND UNCONDITIONALLY WAIVES ANY RIGHT IT MAY HAVE TO A TRIAL BY JURY IN RESPECT OF ANY LITIGATION DIRECTLY OR INDIRECTLY ARISING OUT OF OR RELATING TO THIS AGREEMENT AND ANY OF THE AGREEMENTS DELIVERED IN CONNECTION HERewith OR THE MERGER AND OTHER TRANSACTIONS CONTEMPLATED HEREBY OR THEREBY. EACH PARTY CERTIFIES AND ACKNOWLEDGES THAT (A) NO REPRESENTATIVE, AGENT OR ATTORNEY OF ANY OTHER PARTY HAS REPRESENTED, EXPRESSLY OR OTHERWISE, THAT SUCH OTHER PARTY WOULD NOT, IN THE EVENT OF LITIGATION, SEEK TO ENFORCE EITHER OF SUCH WAIVERS, (B) IT UNDERSTANDS AND HAS CONSIDERED THE IMPLICATIONS OF SUCH WAIVERS, (C) IT MAKES SUCH WAIVERS VOLUNTARILY, AND (D) IT HAS BEEN INDUCED TO ENTER INTO THIS AGREEMENT BY, AMONG OTHER THINGS, THE MUTUAL WAIVERS AND CERTIFICATIONS IN THIS SECTION 10.10.

10.11 Severability. If any provision of this Agreement or the application thereof to any Person or circumstance is determined by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, void or unenforceable, the remaining provisions, or the application of such provision to Persons or circumstances other than those as to which it has been held invalid or unenforceable, will remain in full force and effect and will in no way be affected, impaired or invalidated thereby, so long as the economic or legal substance of the transactions contemplated by this Agreement is not affected in any manner materially adverse to any party. Upon such determination, the parties will negotiate in good faith in an effort to agree upon a suitable and equitable substitute provision to effect the original intent of the parties.

EXHIBIT A

Tax Receivable Termination Agreement

[See attached.]

TERMINATION, WAIVER AND LOCKUP AGREEMENT

This TERMINATION, WAIVER AND LOCKUP AGREEMENT, dated as of August 9, 2018 (this “Agreement”), is entered into by and among Medley Management Inc., a Delaware corporation (the “MDLY”), Medley LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Medley”), Medley Group LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (“Medley Group”), each of the undersigned on the signature page hereto (the “Unitholders”) and Sierra Income Corporation (“SIC”, and collectively with MDLY, Medley, Medley Group and the Unitholders, the “Parties”).

WHEREAS, MDLY, Medley, and the Unitholders, are parties to that certain Exchange Agreement, dated as of September 23, 2014 (as amended or otherwise modified from time to time, the “Exchange Agreement”);

WHEREAS, MDLY and the Unitholders, as the TRA Parties thereunder, are parties to that certain Tax Receivable Agreement dated as of September 23, 2014 (as amended or otherwise modified from time to time, the “Tax Receivable Agreement”);

WHEREAS, MDLY, Medley Group and the Unitholders, as the Covered Persons thereunder, are parties to that certain Registration Rights Agreement, dated September 23, 2014 (as amended or otherwise modified from time to time, the “Registration Rights Agreement”);

WHEREAS, MDLY has entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “MDLY Merger Agreement”), dated as of the date hereof, with SIC and Sierra Management Inc. (“Merger Sub”) pursuant to which MDLY will be merged (the “MDLY Merger”) with and into Merger Sub and the separate corporate existence of MDLY will cease (capitalized terms used in this Agreement without definition are used with the meanings given them in the MDLY Merger Agreement);

WHEREAS, SIC has also entered into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “MCC Merger Agreement”), dated as of the date hereof, with Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) pursuant to which MCC will be merged (the “MCC Merger”) with and into SIC and the separate corporate existence of MCC will cease;

WHEREAS, the MDLY Merger Agreement requires, among other things, as a condition precedent to the closing of the transactions contemplated by the Merger Agreement, that this Agreement be executed and delivered by the Unitholders to terminate the Tax Receivable Agreement and the Registration Rights Agreement effective as of the Effective Time and to reflect the agreement of the Unitholders not to exchange any of their Units for shares of Class A Common Stock pursuant to the Exchange Agreement until immediately prior to the Effective Time and to agree to not sell any of the shares of SIC Common Stock that they may receive upon consummation of the MDLY Merger or the MCC Merger for one year following the Effective Time;

WHEREAS, the cash consideration to be received by the Unitholders under the MDLY Merger Agreement was calculated by the Unitholders in consultation with their tax advisors and was based on their estimate of what would be approximately equal to and used to pay the Unitholders' taxes arising as a result of the exchange of their Units into shares of Class A Common Stock as of the Effective Time.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the foregoing and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged, the Parties hereby agree as follows:

1. Termination of Tax Receivable Agreement.
 - (a) Effective as of the Effective Time, and without any further action on the part of any person (including, without limitation, any of the Parties) and without any further consideration by MDLY or SIC, the Tax Receivable Agreement is hereby irrevocably and unconditionally terminated and shall be of no further force or effect with respect to the Parties, other than the provisions set forth in Section 7.12 (Confidentiality). Each of the Unitholders acknowledges and agrees that effective with the termination of the Tax Receivable Agreement any outstanding obligations of MDLY under the Tax Receivable Agreement to the Unitholders shall have been satisfied in full.
 - (b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Tax Receivable Agreement, from an after the Effective Time, no party to the Tax Receivable Agreement shall have any further rights or obligations thereunder, including without limitation the obligation to pay, or the right to receive, any amount or benefit, including without limitation the Early Termination Payment (as defined in the Tax Receivable Agreement), other than the rights and obligations set forth in Section 7.12 (Confidentiality).
2. Termination of Registration Rights Agreement. Effective as of the Effective Time, and without any further action on the part of any person (including, without limitation, any of the Parties) the Registration Rights Agreement is hereby irrevocably and unconditionally terminated and shall be of no further force or effect with respect to the Parties.
3. Waiver. Each Unitholder hereby agrees to (i) waive any and all rights to exchange Units for MDLY Class A Common Stock pursuant to the Exchange Agreement prior to the Effective Time, (ii) exchange Units for MDLY Class A Common Stock only as contemplated in the Merger Agreement, and (iii) not sell, transfer or otherwise dispose of any Units prior to the Effective Time, except to Permitted Transferees; provided, that such Permitted Transferees execute a joinder to this Agreement in form reasonably acceptable to the parties.

4. Lock Up. Each of the Unitholders hereby agrees:

(a) Definitions. For purposes of this Section 4, the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below:

“Common Shares” means the shares of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of SIC.

“Lock-Up Period” means the period beginning on the Effective Time and ending on the first anniversary of the Effective Time; provided, however, in the case of a Unitholder identified on the signature pages hereto as an “Individual Unitholder” who is also an employee of Medley Capital LLC, SIC or any of its Affiliates on or after the Effective Time, with respect to such Individual Unitholder and his or her Permitted Transferees, the Lock-Up Period shall end as of the date of termination of such Unitholder’s employment in the event that such termination is without Cause (as that term is defined in the form of Employment Agreement attached to the MDLY Merger Agreement) or such Individual Unitholder terminates his or her employment with Good Reason (as that term is defined in the form of Employment Agreement attached to the MDLY Merger Agreement).

“Lock-Up Shares” means any Common Shares that a Unitholder acquires pursuant to the MDLY Merger Agreement, including any that have been Transferred to a Permitted Transferee in accordance with Section 4(b) hereof (and shall include any shares of capital stock of SIC issued in respect thereof as a result of any stock split, stock dividend, share exchange, merger, consolidation or similar recapitalization). For the avoidance of doubt, Common Shares shall cease to be Lock-Up Shares hereunder as of the end of the Lock-Up Period.

“Permitted Transfer” means any of the following:

- (i) the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares to one (1) or more Permitted Transferees;
- (ii) the existence or creation of a testamentary power of appointment that may be exercised with respect to any Lock-Up Shares held by a trust; provided, however, that the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares upon the exercise of a testamentary power of appointment to someone other than a Permitted Transferee shall not be a “Permitted Transfer” within the meaning of this paragraph (ii) of this definition; or
- (iii) any Transfer by will or pursuant to the Laws of descent and distribution by any Person described in paragraph (i) or (ii) of the definition of Permitted Transferee.

“Permitted Transferee” means any of the following:

- (i) any Immediate Family Member of the Unitholder or any lineal descendant of any such Immediate Family Member;
- (ii) any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the Unitholder or any Immediate Family Member of the Unitholder; and
- (iii) any other entity directly or indirectly wholly-owned and controlled by the Unitholder or such Unitholder’s Permitted Transferees described in clauses (i) and (ii) of this definition.

For purposes of this definition, “lineal descendants” shall not include individuals adopted after attaining the age of eighteen (18) years and the adopted individual’s descendants.

“Transfer” means, with respect to Lock-Up Shares: (i) any sale, assignment, bequest, conveyance, devise, gift (outright or in trust), pledge, encumbrance, grant of an option, hypothecation, mortgage, exchange, transfer or other disposition of (whether directly or indirectly, whether with or without consideration and whether voluntarily or involuntarily or by operation of law), or agreement to do any of the foregoing, of any interest (legal or beneficial) in any Lock-Up Shares; (ii) the entry into any swap or other arrangement that transfers to another, in whole or in part, any of the economic consequences of ownership of Common Shares or any securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for Common Shares, or warrants or other rights to purchase Common Shares, whether any such transaction is to be settled by delivery of Common Shares or such other securities, in cash or otherwise; or (iii) any public announcement of an intention to effect any transaction specified in clause (i) or (ii); provided, however, that the term “Transfer” does not include any revocable proxy granted by the Unitholder or a Permitted Transferee or any exercise of rights by an executor, administrator, trustee, committee, guardian, conservator or receiver of the Unitholder or a Permitted Transferee, including the sale of Lock-Up Shares to pay any applicable estate taxes.

- (b) Restrictions on Transfer of Common Shares. Each Unitholder agrees that, during the Lock-Up Period, they will not Transfer any Lock-Up Shares other than pursuant to a Permitted Transfer; provided, however, that upon any Permitted Transfer each Permitted Transferee in such Transfer shall agree in writing to be bound by the restrictions set forth in this Section 4.
- (c) Legend. At the request of SIC, all share certificates or share statements evidencing Lock-Up Shares shall bear or contain a legend or notation substantially in the following form (or in such other form as SIC’s board of directors may determine):

THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED BY THIS [CERTIFICATE / STATEMENT] ARE SUBJECT TO RESTRICTIONS ON TRANSFER SPECIFIED IN AN EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT WITH THE CORPORATION, AS THE SAME MAY BE AMENDED AND MODIFIED FROM TIME TO TIME, AND THE CORPORATION RESERVES THE RIGHT TO REFUSE THE TRANSFER OF SUCH SECURITIES UNTIL SPECIFIED CONDITIONS HAVE BEEN FULFILLED. A COPY OF SUCH CONDITIONS SHALL BE FURNISHED BY THE CORPORATION TO THE HOLDER HEREOF UPON WRITTEN REQUEST AND WITHOUT CHARGE.

The term “Corporation” shall mean SIC for purposes of the above legend.

- (d) Stop Transfer. SIC and its transfer agent are hereby authorized to decline to make any Transfer of Lock-Up Shares if such Transfer would constitute a violation or breach of this Section 4 and the Unitholder agrees and consents to the entry of stop transfer instructions with the SIC transfer agent and registrar against any Transfer of the Lock-Up Shares not made in compliance with this Section 4.
5. Release. Each of the Parties (each a “Releasor”) hereby releases and forever discharges each other party to the Exchange Agreement, Tax Receivable Agreement and the Registration Rights Agreement, as applicable, and their respective predecessors, successors and assigns, and all of their respective partners, independent contractors, officers, directors, shareholders, employees, agents, advisers and representatives (collectively in each case, the “Released Parties”), of and from any and all liabilities, actions, suits, debts, accounts, obligations, covenants, claims and demands whatsoever, in law or in equity, which the Releasor ever had, now has, or may have, or which any successor or assign of the Releasor hereafter can, shall or may have, against any Released Party, relating to, resulting from or arising out of the Exchange Agreement, Tax Receivable Agreement or Registration Rights Agreement; provided, however, that the foregoing Release shall in no event constitute a future release or waiver of rights under Section 7.12 of the Tax Receivable Agreement (Confidentiality) to the extent a breach thereof occurs following the Effective Time. In addition to the foregoing release, the Unitholders shall execute and deliver at the Effective Time a bring down release agreement in the form of Exhibit A attached hereto.
6. Representations and Warranties of the Unitholders. Each Unitholder represents and warrants, on behalf of such Unitholder, as follows, as of the date of this Agreement:
- (a) Unitholder has full power and authority to execute and deliver this Agreement, to perform such Unitholder’s obligations hereunder and to consummate the transactions contemplated hereby. If Unitholder is not an individual, such Unitholder is duly organized, validly existing and in good standing under the laws of its jurisdiction of formation. The execution and delivery of this Agreement, the performance of Unitholder’s obligations hereunder, and the consummation of the transactions contemplated hereby, have been duly authorized by all requisite actions of such Unitholder. This Agreement has been duly and validly executed and delivered by Unitholder and constitutes a legal, valid and binding obligation of such Unitholder, enforceable against such Unitholder in accordance with its terms, except as may be limited by the Bankruptcy and Equity Exception.
- (b) Except for assignments that have occurred prior to the date hereof between Unitholders party hereto, Unitholder has not transferred, assigned, pledged or otherwise encumbered any of such Unitholder’s Class A Units or any of such Unitholder’s rights under the Tax Receivable Agreement, the Registration Rights Agreement or the Exchange Agreement. True and correct copies of the Tax Receivable Agreement, the Registration Rights Agreement and the Exchange Agreement are attached hereto as Exhibit A.

7. Governing Law. This Agreement and any dispute arising hereunder shall be governed by, and construed in accordance with, the laws of the State of New York, regardless of the laws that might otherwise govern under applicable principles of conflicts of laws thereof.
8. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in one or more counterparts (including by means of facsimile or PDF), each of which shall be deemed an original but all of which together will constitute one and the same instrument.
9. Amendment. This Agreement may not be terminated or amended in any manner, and no terms or conditions of this Agreement may be waived by any party hereto, without the prior written consent of SIC and, prior to the Effective Time, the MDLY Special Committee (as defined in the MDLY Merger Agreement).
10. Entire Agreement. The Merger Agreement and this Agreement constitutes the entire agreement between the Parties relating to the subject matter hereof and supersedes all previous agreements and representations, written or oral, between the Parties.
11. Further Assurances. If any Party reasonably determines or is reasonably advised that any further instruments, actions, or things are necessary or desirable to carry out the terms of this Agreement, each Party shall execute and deliver such instruments, perform all such actions and provide all such things reasonably necessary and proper to carry out the terms of this Agreement.

Bring Down Release
Dated as of _____

This Bring Down Release is hereby incorporated in its entirety into the Termination, Waiver and Lockup Agreement, dated as of August [__], 2018 (the "Termination Agreement"), by and among Medley Management Inc., a Delaware corporation (the "MDLY"), Medley LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Medley"), Medley Group LLC, a Delaware limited liability company ("Medley Group"), each of the undersigned on the signature page hereto (the "Unitholders") and Sierra Income Corporation ("SIC" and collectively with MDLY, Medley, Medley Group and the Unitholders, the "Parties").

As of the Effective Time, each of the Parties (each a "Releasor") hereby releases and forever discharges each other party to the Exchange Agreement, Tax Receivable Agreement and the Registration Rights Agreement, as applicable, and their respective predecessors, successors and assigns, and all of their respective partners, independent contractors, officers, directors, shareholders, employees, agents, advisers and representatives (collectively in each case, the "Released Parties"), of and from any and all liabilities, actions, suits, debts, accounts, obligations, covenants, claims and demands whatsoever, in law or in equity, which the Releasor ever had, now has, or may have, or which any successor or assign of the Releasor hereafter can, shall or may have, against any Released Party, relating to, resulting from or arising out of the Exchange Agreement, Tax Receivable Agreement or Registration Rights Agreement; provided, however, that the foregoing Release shall in no event constitute a future release or waiver of rights under Section 7.12 of the Tax Receivable Agreement (Confidentiality) to the extent a breach thereof occurs following the Effective Time.

The representations and warranties of the Unitholders set forth in Section 6 of the Termination Agreement are true and correct in all material respects on and as of the Effective Time, as though made on and as of such date.

EXHIBIT B-1

Form of Employment Agreement

[See attached.]

EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT

This Employment Agreement (the “Agreement”) is made and entered into as of [, 201_] (the “Effective Date”) between Medley Capital LLC (the “Company”) and [] (the “Employee”) (each a “Party,” collectively, “Parties”).

The Company wishes to engage Employee to provide services to the Company, Sierra Income Corporation and each of their respective subsidiaries and affiliates (the “Company Group”) and Employee wishes to provide such services, pursuant to the terms and conditions set forth in this Agreement.

In consideration of the mutual promises set forth below and other valuable consideration (the mutuality, adequacy and sufficiency of which are hereby acknowledged), the Parties agree as follows.

1. Position. The Company hereby employs Employee as [] or in such capacity as may later be agreed to by the Parties, and Employee agrees to serve the Company in such capacity in a manner consistent with the terms and conditions of this Agreement.

2. Term. This Agreement shall commence on the Effective Date and shall expire on the thirty (30) month anniversary of the Effective Date (the “Initial Term”), unless terminated earlier pursuant to the provisions of Section 8 hereof. The term of employment shall be renewed automatically for successive periods of one (1) year (each, a “Renewal Term”) after the expiration of the Initial Term, unless the Company provides Employee, or Employee provides the Company, with written notice to the contrary at least one hundred twenty (120) calendar days prior to the end of the Initial Term or any Renewal Term. For the avoidance of doubt, this Agreement shall remain in effect during the Renewal Term unless terminated earlier pursuant to the provisions of Section 8 hereof. The Initial Term and any Renewal Terms are collectively referred to herein as the “Term.”

3. Duties.

a. Employee shall have the duties, authorities and responsibilities forth in Exhibit B attached to this Agreement. Employee’s principal place of employment with the Company shall be at the Company’s offices, currently at 280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East, New York, New York, provided that Employee understands and agrees that Employee may be required to travel from time to time for business purposes.

b. Employee shall devote Employee’s full business time, energy, business judgment, knowledge, skill and best efforts to the performance of Employee’s duties with the Company Group, in conformance with rules and policies of the Company Group in effect from time to time and otherwise provided or made available to Employee. Employee will not, during the Term, directly or indirectly engage in any other business, either as an employee, employer, consultant, principal, officer, director, advisor or in any other capacity, either with or without compensation, without the prior written consent of the Company’s Board of Directors (the “Board”). However, Employee may devote reasonable time to activities such as supervision of personal investments and activities involving professional, charitable, civic, educational, religious and similar types of activities, speaking engagements and membership on other boards, provided such activities do not interfere in any material way with the business of the Company Group and provided further that Employee cannot serve on the board of directors of (or provide services to) any publicly traded company without the written consent of the Board, which shall not be unreasonably withheld. The time involved in such activities shall not be treated as vacation time. Employee shall be entitled to keep any amounts paid to him in connection with such activities (such as director fees and honoraria).

4. Compensation.

a. Generally. As compensation, Employee shall receive a Base Salary (as defined below) and may, as determined at the discretion of the Board or Compensation Committee of the Board (the “Compensation Committee”), as applicable, participate in an annual bonus program (the “Annual Bonus”). Annual Bonuses may be provided to align the goals and objectives of the Employee with those of the Company, business units within the Company and the expected goals and objectives of the Company’s shareholders, as applicable, and according to standards of good governance, ethical leadership and the successful growth and well-being of the Company Group. The award of any Annual Bonus will generally depend upon the satisfaction of personal and/or Company Group performance metrics as determined by Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, for the year.

Compensatory payments made to Employee under the terms of this Agreement are subject to tax and other withholding required or permitted by law and such additional withholding as may be requested by Employee.

b. Base Salary. The Company agrees to pay Employee a base salary at an annual rate of [] ($) (the “Base Salary”), payable in accordance with the regular payroll practices of the Company. This Base Salary shall compensate Employee for all hours of work, and this position shall not be eligible for overtime. The Base Salary shall be subject to change at the discretion of the Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable. The term “Base Salary” will refer to the Base Salary as may be modified from time to time.

c. Annual Bonus.

(i) Annual Bonus for 2018. Employee shall be eligible to receive an Annual Bonus with respect to performance for the 2018 year equal to [$ _____], as set forth in the economic terms set forth in Exhibit B-2 of the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among Medley Management Inc., Sierra Income Corporation, and Sierra Management, Inc., dated as of August 9, 2018 and on a similar basis for other selected senior executives] to be paid no later than March 15, 2019. The Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, may increase the 2018 Annual Bonus in recognition of performance in excess of performance objectives. No Annual Bonus shall be earned for 2018 unless the Employee remains employed through the date of payment.

(ii) Annual Bonus for 2019 and Thereafter. Each year during the first quarter of the year, the Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, shall establish a target annual bonus for the year of no less than [____% of Base Salary] and performance and other objectives for the year for such bonus, all as determined, in consultation with the Company's senior executive officers ("Management"), by the Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable.

No earlier than January 1 nor later than March 15 of the following year, the Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, shall determine the amount of the final Annual Bonus, if any, to be paid for the preceding year, which amount may be based in whole or in part on satisfaction of the performance and other objectives for the preceding year. The extent to which performance and other objectives are met will be determined based on actual achievement (as determined, in consultation with Management, by the Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, in good faith). The Board or Compensation Committee, as applicable, may increase the Annual Bonus in recognition of performance in excess of performance objectives. No Annual Bonus shall be earned for a year unless the Employee remains employed through the date of payment.

d. Form of Annual Bonus. The Annual Bonus for the preceding year (including for 2018) shall be paid [____%] in cash immediately and [____%] in the form of an RSU award. With respect to the Annual Bonus for 2018, the RSU shall vest in three (3) equal annual installments, beginning on the first anniversary of the Effective Date.

e. Clawback. The Annual Bonus made under this Agreement shall be subject to recoupment by the Company to the extent required by applicable law (including without limitation Section 304 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act and Section 954 of the Dodd-Frank Wall Street Reform and Consumer Protection Act) and/or the rules and regulations of the NYSE.

5. Employee Benefits.

a. Benefits. The Company intends to continue existing benefit plans maintained by Medley Capital LLC, or plans to adopt benefit plans consistent with or generally more favorable in the aggregate than the current benefit plans of Medley Capital LLC, and the Employee will remain or become eligible for participation in those plans made available to other similarly situated employees of the Company, including, but not limited to group health plan coverage, short and long term disability insurance coverage, life insurance coverage, qualified retirement benefit plan coverage, non-qualified benefit plan coverage and tax and financial planning benefits, in accordance with and subject to the terms and conditions of those plans. Notwithstanding the preceding sentence, the Company reserves the right to adopt, amend or terminate any benefit plan, program or arrangement.

b. Paid Time Off. Employee shall be entitled to no less than twenty-five (25) business days paid time off, subject to the terms and conditions of the Company's vacation policies, procedures and practices. Paid time off accrues with each pay period, subject to an annual cap, and cannot be carried over to the subsequent calendar year, except to the extent required by applicable law. Any unused vacation will not be paid upon termination of employment.

6. Business Expenses. The Company agrees to reimburse Employee for reasonable and customary business expenses related to Employee's performance of services under this Agreement, subject to appropriate approvals by the Board as applicable. As a condition of reimbursement, Employee must account for and substantiate all such expenses in accordance with applicable Company policies and consistent with Internal Revenue Service requirements for reimbursable business expenses.

7. Freedom to Contract. The Company does not infringe upon the proprietary information, trade secrets or confidential information of third parties. Employee represents and warrants that Employee has the right to enter into this Agreement, that Employee is eligible for employment by the Company, that no other written or verbal agreements exist that would be in conflict with or prevent the performance by Employee of any portion of this Agreement, and that Employee is not subject to or in breach of any non-disclosure agreement or restrictive covenant of any nature separate from the provisions included in this Agreement. Employee will not enter into this Agreement without first disclosing to the Board any non-disclosure agreement or restrictive covenant agreement Employee has entered into (verbally or in writing) at any time that is still in effect on its terms as of the Effective Date of this Agreement, regardless of whether Employee believes or has reason to believe such agreement is void or unenforceable in whole or in part.

8. Termination.

a. Death. Employee's employment shall terminate on the date of Employee's death. In the event of the death of Employee during the Term, the Company shall pay to Employee's legal representatives or named beneficiaries (as designated in a writing delivered to the Company):

- (i) Employee's earned but unpaid Base Salary as of the date of Employee's death;

(ii) Any unpaid Annual Bonus for the year prior to the date of Employee's death, based on actual performance for that year, payable at the same time (and in the same form) such amounts are paid to continuing employees; and

(iii) A pro-rated amount of the Annual Bonus for the year of death, assuming performance at the target level, if any, for the year in which death occurs and paid as soon as practicable following death.

In addition, vesting of any outstanding RSU awards at death shall be fully accelerated.

In addition, group health benefits will be provided to the Employee's qualified beneficiaries following the death of Employee to the extent such benefits are elected under COBRA and at no cost for a period of one (1) year following Employee's death. All amounts due under this paragraph shall, except as otherwise provided, be paid as soon as practicable following Employee's termination on account of death.

b. Disability. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Employee's employment shall terminate on the date specified in a written notice from the Company terminating Employee's employment due to Disability during the Term or, in the event no date is specified in such notice, on the date on which such notice is delivered to Employee or Employee's legal representative. For purposes of this Agreement, "Disability" shall mean that Employee is, by reason of any medically determinable physical or mental impairment that can be expected to result in death or can be expected to last for a continuous period of not less than twelve (12) months, (i) unable to engage in any substantial gainful activity, as determined by a licensed physician as reasonably chosen by the Company, or (ii) receiving income replacement benefits for a period of not less than three (3) months under the Company's group disability plan. In the event of the termination of Employee's employment due to Disability, the Company shall:

(i) Pay Employee's earned but unpaid Base Salary as of the date of Employee's termination;

(ii) Pay any unpaid Annual Bonus for the year prior to the date of Employee's termination, based on actual performance for that year, payable at the same time (and in the same form) such amounts are paid to continuing employees;

(iii) Pay a pro-rated amount of the Annual Bonus for the year of termination, assuming performance at the target level, if any, for the year in which termination; and

(iv) Fully accelerate vesting of any outstanding RSU awards as of the date of termination.

In addition, group health benefits will be provided to the Employee and his qualified beneficiaries following the Employee's termination on account of Disability to the extent such benefits are elected under COBRA and at no cost for a period of one (1) year following Employee's termination on account of Disability. All amounts due under this paragraph shall, except as otherwise provided, be paid as soon as practicable following termination on account of the Employee's Disability.

c. Termination by the Company for Cause. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Company may terminate Employee's employment under this Agreement at any time for Cause. "Cause" shall mean: (i) fraud against the Company Group, which causes material harm to any member of the Company Group; (ii) willful failure or any willful refusal to implement or undertake the lawful directives of the Board or such other supervisor as may be assigned by the Company Group when such directives are materially consistent with Employee's duties under this Agreement; (iii) engaging in willful conduct (other than at the direction of the Company) that causes material injury, monetary or otherwise, to any member of the Company Group, or that reflects adversely on any member of the Company Group, or that materially affects Employee's ability to perform Employee's duties; (iv) conviction of, or the entering of a plea of guilty or nolo contendere, by Employee to a financial crime that constitutes a felony (or any state-law equivalent) or involves moral turpitude; (v) the entry of any order or consent decree, whether or not liability is admitted or denied, by the Securities and Exchange Commission against Employee in respect of charges that Employee violated any provision of the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, or the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the "Exchange Act"), other than provisions requiring the maintenance of proper books and records; (vi) theft, misappropriation, embezzlement or conversion of the assets or opportunities of any member of the Company Group; (vii) a material breach of the terms, covenants or representations of this Agreement or any agreement between Employee and any member of the Company Group; or (viii) a willful violation of the written rules or policies of any member of the Company Group, which causes material harm to any member of the Company Group, provided that, in the case of the occurrence of an event described in clause (vii) or (viii) above, Employee shall have ten (10) business days after receipt of written notice thereof, stating in reasonable detail the actions or omissions purporting to constitute such breach or violation, to cure, and upon such cure, such event shall not be deemed to be the basis for a termination of Employee for Cause, unless the Company acting in good faith, otherwise determines that such occurrence is not reasonably subject to being cured; provided, however, that with respect to the occurrence of an event described in clause (vii) above, the foregoing cure period shall be available to Employee only with respect to the first occurrence of the same event described in clause (vii) above, and such cure period shall not be available to Employee with respect to any subsequent occurrence of an event described in clause (vii) above. For purposes of this Agreement, no act or failure to act on Employee's part shall be considered "willful" unless it is done, or omitted to be done, by Employee in bad faith or without reasonable belief that Employee's action or omission was in the best interests of the Company Group. Any act or failure to act based upon authority given pursuant to a resolution duly adopted by the Board or based upon the advice of counsel for the Company shall be conclusively presumed to be done, or omitted to be done, in good faith and in the best interests of the Company Group. In the event of Termination for Cause, Employee shall be entitled to receive any earned but unpaid Base Salary, paid as soon as practicable following termination.

d. Termination by the Company Without Cause or by Employee with Good Reason. The Company may terminate Employee's employment without Cause at any time under this Agreement. In the event of termination of Employee's employment by the Company without Cause or Employee terminates employment with Good Reason (as defined below), the Company shall:

- (i) Pay Employee's earned but unpaid Base Salary as of the date of Employee's termination;
- (ii) Pay any unpaid Annual Bonus for the year prior to the date of Employee's termination, based on actual performance, for that year and payable at the same time (and in the same form) such amounts are paid to continuing employees;
- (iii) Pay a pro-rated amount of the Annual Bonus for the year of termination, assuming performance at the target level, if any, for the year in which termination occurs (which amount shall be included in the amount payable in Section 8(d)(iv));
- (iv) Pay, on an equal monthly basis and using regularly scheduled payroll periods over [eighteen (18) / twenty-four (24) / thirty (30)]¹ months, an amount equal to the sum of (x) one-twelfth (1/12th) the Employee's Base Salary plus (y) one-twelfth (1/12th) of the cash portion of the Employee's Annual Bonus for the year of termination, assuming performance at the target level (for the avoidance of doubt, the amount referred to in Section 8(d)(iii)); and
- (v) Fully accelerate vesting of any outstanding RSU awards as of the date of termination.

e. Termination for Notice of Non-Renewal. If the Company provides notice to Employee that the Company is not renewing the Term under Section 2, at the end of the Initial Term or any Renewal Term, Employee's employment shall terminate and the Company shall:

- (i) Pay Employee's earned but unpaid Base Salary as of the date of Employee's termination;

¹ [Thirty (30) months for the CEO, twenty-four (24) months for the Vice Chairman, and eighteen (18) months for other employees who enter into this Agreement.]

(ii) Pay any unpaid Annual Bonus for the year prior to the date of Employee's termination, based on actual performance for that year, payable at the same time (and in the same form) such amounts are paid to continuing employees;

(iii) Pay a pro-rated amount of the Annual Bonus for the year of termination, assuming performance at the target level, if any, for the year in which termination occurs (which amount shall be included in the amount payable in Section 8(e)(iv));

(iv) Pay, on an equal monthly basis and using regularly scheduled payroll periods over [eighteen (18) / twenty-four (24) / thirty (30)]² months, an amount equal to the sum of (x) one-twelfth (1/12th) the Employee's Base Salary plus (y) one-twelfth (1/12th) of the cash portion of the Employee's Annual Bonus for the year of termination, assuming performance at the target level (for the avoidance of doubt, the amount referred to in Section 8(e)(iii)); and

(v) Fully accelerate vesting of any outstanding RSU awards as of the date of termination.

f. Good Reason. For purposes of this Agreement, "Good Reason" shall mean the occurrence of any of the following without Employee's consent: (i) a material diminution in Employee's base compensation opportunity; (ii) a material diminution in Employee's authority, duties or responsibilities; (iii) a requirement that Employee report to a corporate officer or employee instead of reporting directly to the Board or Employee's supervisor; (iv) a material diminution in the budget over which Employee retains authority; (v) a material change in the geographic location at which Employee must perform the services; or (vi) any other action or inaction that constitutes a material breach by the Company of this Agreement. Employee must provide notice to the Company of the existence of the condition described above within a period not to exceed ninety (90) calendar days of the initial existence of the condition, and the Company will have a period of at least thirty (30) calendar days following the notice during which it may remedy the condition. Any termination for Good Reason must occur within two (2) years following the initial existence of one or more of the foregoing conditions.

g. Termination by Employee other than for Good Reason. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Employee may terminate Employee's employment under this Agreement for any reason, provided such termination may take place no earlier than the end of the month that is not less than three (3) months after Employee has provided written notice to the Company of Employee's intent to terminate Employee's employment. The Company may elect to accept Employee's resignation at any time prior to the end of such notice period. In the event of any termination of Employee's employment under this Section, the Company shall pay to Employee Employee's earned but unpaid Base Salary.

² [Thirty (30) months for the CEO, twenty-four (24) months for the Vice Chairman, and eighteen (18) months for other employees who enter into this Agreement.]

h. Executed Waiver and Forfeiture. No amount shall be payable under this Section 8 unless a General Release of Claims, substantially in the form attached as Exhibit A (the “Release Form”), has been duly executed by Employee and delivered to the Company and any applicable revocation period has expired within the sixty (60) day period following termination of employment, provided that to the extent Internal Revenue Code Section 409A (“Section 409A”) applies to a payment, such payment will be deferred and paid in a lump sum on the sixtieth (60th) day following termination.

i. Post-Termination Knowledge of Cause or Breach. If (i) Employee’s employment with the Company terminates for any reason other than Cause and, after the date of Employee’s termination, matters constituting Cause become known to the Company or (ii) Employee materially breaches any of Employee’s post-employment obligations, including non-competition, non-solicitation, non-disparagement and non-disclosure obligations, then the Company may, by written notice to Employee (describing in reasonable detail the facts giving rise to such Cause or breach) obligate Employee to repay in full on a net after-tax within thirty (30) days of that notice: (1) any Annual Bonus(es) paid after the earliest date of occurrence of matters constituting Cause or breach, as determined by the Board in good faith; (2) any amounts of severance Employee has received hereunder; and (3) the amount of any compensation received upon exercise, settlement or other payment of any equity award that was exercised, settled or otherwise paid after the earliest date of occurrence of matters constituting Cause or breach, as determined by the Board in good faith. In addition, any unpaid Annual Bonus(es), severance, and any outstanding equity awards, shall be forfeited.

j. No Mitigation or Offset. Employee shall not be required to mitigate the amount of any payment provided for pursuant to this Agreement by seeking other employment or otherwise, and the amount of any payment provided for pursuant to this Agreement shall not be reduced by any compensation earned as a result of Employee’s other employment or otherwise.

9. Work Product.

a. Definition. Employee acknowledges and agrees that during the Term, there will be certain restrictions on Employee’s development of technology, ideas and inventions (collectively, “Work Product”). The term Work Product shall mean all ideas, processes, trademarks, service marks, inventions, technology, computer programs, original works of authorship, designs, formulas, discoveries, patents and copyrights, and all improvements, rights and claims related to the foregoing, which are within the scope of Employee’s employment, or that results from or is suggested by any work performed by Employee for the Company Group, or that relate to actual or demonstrably anticipated research or development for the Company, and which are conceived, developed or reduced to practice by Employee alone or with others, except to the extent that applicable law prohibits the assignment of these rights. Employee agrees that all original works of authorship that are made by Employee (solely or jointly with others) within the scope of Employee’s employment, or that results from or is suggested by any work performed by Employee for the Company Group, or that relate to actual or demonstrably anticipated research or development for the Company Group, and that are protectable by copyright, are “works made for hire,” as that term is defined in the United States Copyright Act of 1976, as amended (17 U.S.C. § 101).

b. Disclosure. Employee agrees to maintain adequate and current written records on the development of all Work Product and to disclose promptly to the Company all Work Product and relevant records, which records will remain the sole property of the Company Group. Employee further agrees that all information and records pertaining to any idea, process, trademark, service mark, invention, technology, computer program, original work or authorship, design formula, discovery, patent or copyright that Employee does not believe to be Work Product, but is conceived, developed or reduced to practice by Employee (alone or with others) during Employee's employment, or during the one (1) year period following termination of Employee's employment, shall be promptly disclosed to the Company (such disclosure to be received in confidence). The Company shall examine such information to determine if in fact it constitutes Work Product subject to this Agreement. The Company's determination that the information is Work Product subject to this Agreement shall be final and binding.

c. Assignment. Employee hereby assigns to the Company, without further consideration, all right, title and interest that Employee may presently have or acquire (throughout the United States and in all foreign countries), free and clear of all liens and encumbrances, in and to each Work Product, which will be the sole property of the Company Group, whether or not patentable or otherwise registrable. In the event any Work Product will be deemed by the Company to be patentable or otherwise registrable, Employee agrees to assist the Company Group (at its expense) in obtaining letters patent or other applicable registrations, and Employee will execute all documents and do all other things (including testifying at the Company's expense) necessary or proper to obtain letters patent or other applicable registrations and to vest the Company or a member of the Company Group with full title to them. Employee further agrees that Employee's obligation to assist the Company Group in obtaining and enforcing patents, registrations or other rights for such inventions in any and all countries, will continue beyond the termination of Employee's employment, but the Company shall compensate Employee at a reasonable rate after such termination for the time actually spent by Employee at the Company's request for such assistance. Should the Company or a member of the Company Group be unable to secure Employee's signature on any document necessary to apply for, prosecute, obtain or enforce any patent, copyright or other right or protection relating to any Work Product, whether due to Employee's mental or physical incapacity or any other cause, Employee hereby irrevocably designates and appoints the Company and each of its duly authorized officers and agents as Employee's agent and attorney-in-fact, to act for and on Employee's behalf, to execute and file any such document and to do all other lawfully permitted acts to further the prosecution, issuance and enforcement of patents, copyrights or other rights of protections with the same force and effect as if executed and delivered by Employee.

If Employee resides in California, the foregoing assignment clause in this Section 9(c) will not apply to an invention that Employee developed entirely on Employee's own time without using the Company Group's equipment, supplies, facilities or trade secret information except for those inventions that either: (i) relate at the time of conception or reduction to practice of the invention to the Company's business, or actual or demonstrably anticipated research or development of the Company; or (ii) result from any work performed by Employee for the Company Group. Cal. Lab. Code § 2870(a).

d. Waiver of Moral Rights. Employee hereby waives any and all moral rights that might otherwise accrue with respect to any Work Product.

10. Confidential Information. Employee agrees that, during Employee's employment with the Company or any member of Company Group, and following termination of Employee's employment, except as required by law, Employee will not, directly or indirectly, at any time, disclose to any third person or use in any way any non-public information or Confidential Information (i) regarding the business of any member of the Company Group and (ii) concerning any Business Opportunities (as defined below).

a. Definitions. For purposes of this Agreement –

(i) "Confidential Information" shall mean all confidential information, proprietary information or trade secrets (whether oral or written, whether maintained in hard copy, electronically (including, without limitation, in email or text messages) or otherwise) and including: (i) Know-How (as defined below), Trade Secrets (as defined in Section 11), information related to Business Opportunities, prospects, pricing, trading, trading strategies and methodologies, portfolio management strategies, programs, methods of operation, prospective and existing contracts, business plans, procedures, and strategies, costs profits, databases, personnel, operational methods, financial models, potential transactions, pending negotiations, computer programs, algorithms, negotiations, lists of actual and/or prospective clients and/or investors, financial results, business developments, internal controls, security procedures and confidential programs or procedures; (ii) Company Intellectual Property Rights (as defined below) that constitute proprietary Know-How and Customer Information (as defined below and if and to the extent that such proprietary Know-How and Customer Information has been maintained as Company's confidential information as of the date of this Agreement) and Trade Secrets; and (iii) information received by the Company Group from third parties under confidential conditions.

(ii) “Business Opportunities” shall mean: (1) any business plan or prospective new business developed or provided by Employee to the Company Group; and (2) any business plan or prospective new business developed by the Company or, to Employee’s knowledge, any of members of the Company Group that Employee has access to or otherwise becomes aware of during Employee’s employment with the Company or Company Group.

(iii) “Company Intellectual Property Rights” shall mean all Work Product and any other intellectual property owned or licensed by any member of the Company Group, including:

(1) all United States and foreign patents and patent applications that describe or claim inventions and improvements currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, that when used herein includes any electronic medium or tangible embodiment of the Company Group, any United States or foreign counterparts, non-provisionals, divisionals, continuations, continuations-in-part, and reissues thereof, heretofore or hereafter filed or having legal force in any country of the world, and the inventions and improvements disclosed therein (the “Patents”);

(2) all know-how that is currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group, including the following: (A) Trade Secrets, formulae, ideas, inventions and invention disclosures not subject to clause (1) above; (B) discoveries, innovations, improvements, results, reports, information and data (including all business and technical information and information and data relating to research, development, analytical methods, processes, formulations and compositions) and development work; (C) proprietary technology and information, designs, drawings, specifications or blueprints; and (D) all copies and tangible embodiments of the foregoing (in whatever form or medium, including electronic media) (collectively, “Know-How”);

(3) customer lists, supplier lists, pricing information, cost information, business and marketing research, plans and proposals and the like that are currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group (the “Customer Information”);

(4) all trademarks, service marks, trade dress, trade names, logos, commercial symbols and corporate names, whether or not registered, together with all translations, adaptations, derivations and combinations thereof that are currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group, and including all goodwill associated therewith, and all applications, registrations and renewals in connection therewith;

(5) all copyrightable works, whether or not registered, that are currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group, and all copyright applications, registrations and renewals in connection therewith;

(6) all internet domain names, URLs and applications therefor, that are currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group; and

(7) all computer software and programs in object code or source code form, databases and documentation and flow charts that are currently used, or currently conceived or currently developed for use, in the business of the Company Group.

b. Notwithstanding the foregoing, Confidential Information and Business Opportunities shall not include information: (i) that at the date hereof is in the public domain; (ii) that has come within the public domain through no fault or action of Employee that has the obligation of confidentiality (provided, however, that the fact that general information may be in or become part of the public domain, in and of itself, does not exclude any specific information from the obligations of this Agreement); (iii) that after the date hereof has been obtained lawfully from any third party that was entitled to disclose such information; and/or (iv) that an Employee is compelled to disclose by any judicial or administrative order after having given prompt notice of such order to the Company. Specific aspects or details of the Confidential Information will not be deemed to be published, generally known in the trade or otherwise within the public domain, or to be in possession of Employee, merely because the aspects of the Confidential Information are embraced by general disclosures in the public domain or in Employee's possession. In addition, any combination of aspects of the Confidential Information will not be considered in the public domain or in the possession of Employee merely because individual elements thereof are in the public domain or in Employee's possession unless the combination and its principles are in the public domain or in Employee's possession. The burden of proving these exceptions to the confidentiality and use provisions of this Agreement resides with Employee.

c. Obligations with respect to Confidential Information. Employee agrees to:

(i) hold the Confidential Information in strict confidence;

(ii) not give, sell or disclose Confidential Information to any other third party, unless such party is an auditor or contractor hired by any member of the Company Group and then only upon written approval of the Board;

(iii) not share or otherwise use the Confidential Information in violation of or in any manner inconsistent with the Company's information protection and transfer policies in place from time to time, applicable privacy laws, applicable state and federal law, any other applicable laws, and GDPR (EU General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679) to the extent that it applies; and

(iv) not share or otherwise use the Confidential Information in violation of or in any manner inconsistent with the Company's policies or reasonable requests made by the Company from time to time.

For avoidance of doubt, nothing in this Agreement shall prevent Employee from responding to any lawful subpoena or legal process, or sharing any Confidential Information or other information with regulators or appropriate governmental agencies without notice to the Company, whether in response to subpoena or otherwise, under the whistleblower provisions of federal law or regulation, and no prior authorization or notification is required prior to Employee making any such reports or disclosures, provided that no attorney client privilege shall be waived.

11. Trade Secrets. Employee acknowledges that Employee's obligations under Section 10 are separate and distinct from Employee's promise and obligation, affirmed by this Agreement, not to disclose or use the Company Group's "Trade Secrets," as defined by the applicable state statutory and common law and by federal law. During and at all times after the Term, Trade Secrets of the Company Group shall be subject to the maximum protections available under applicable law and no less protection than that provided by this Agreement applicable to "Confidential Information," as described in Section 10. Employee further acknowledges and agrees that protection of the Company Group's Trade Secrets is governed by Employee's promises in this Agreement and by any applicable law.

12. Protected Rights. Nothing in this Agreement prohibits Employee from reporting to any governmental authority information concerning possible violations of law or regulation. Provided Employee does so consistent with 18 U.S.C. § 1833, Employee may disclose trade secret information to a government official or to an attorney for the purposes of obtaining legal advice or use it in certain court proceedings without fear of prosecution or liability.

13. Restrictive Covenants.

a. Restricted Business; Restricted Territory. Employee expressly acknowledges that during the course of Employee's employment with the Company, Employee will be provided with specialized knowledge, information and training with respect to the products and services of the Company Group. Employee acknowledges and agrees that Employee's specialized knowledge, expertise and training will be of special value to the Company Group. Employee acknowledges: (i) that the Company Group engages in the business of middle market lending to borrowers in the United States (collectively, the "Restricted Business"); (ii) that, as of the date hereof, the Company Group conducts the Restricted Business across the United States ("Restricted Territory"); (iii) that Employee will, during the Term, customarily and regularly be engaged in the development, production and distribution of the products and services of the Company Group; (iv) that Employee has, during the Term, the primary duty of managing the Restricted Business; and (v) that Employee's position is a position of trust and responsibility with access to Confidential Information, Work Product, Company Intellectual Property, Trade Secrets, information concerning employees of the Company Group, information concerning the customers and investors of the Company Group and information concerning prospective customers and investors of the Company Group.

b. Noncompetition. Employee covenants and agrees that Employee will not, during the Term and for a period of twelve (12) months following Employee's termination of employment for any reason (the "Restricted Period"), directly or indirectly (whether through an entity, employee or other agent of any kind) acquire, develop, own, operate, lease, manage, have any financial interest in or otherwise participate in the acquisition, development, ownership, operation, leasing, management or financing of, any business or enterprise involved in the Restricted Business or engaged in Competition with any member of the Company Group in the Restricted Territory. A person or entity (including, without limitation, Employee) shall be deemed to be engaging in "Competition" with a member of the Company Group if such person or entity either engages primarily in the Restricted Business or engages in any other type of business that comprises a significant portion of any member of the Company Group's revenues as of the date of Employee's termination and for which Employee had responsibility or authority, or about which business Employee received Confidential Information during the course of Employee's employment. Notwithstanding the foregoing, the provisions of this Section 13(b) shall not be deemed to prohibit Employee's (i) ownership of not more than two percent (2%) of the total shares of all classes of stock outstanding of any publicly held company or (ii) ability to invest, as a limited partner, in any private equity, mezzanine or similar investment fund, provided in either event Employee is solely a passive investor in such entity.

c. No Interference with Customers. Employee covenants and agrees that during the Restricted Period, Employee will not, without the prior consent of the Board, solicit or attempt to solicit, directly or by assisting others, any Relevant Customer of any member of the Company Group for the purpose of selling to such Relevant Customer, any products or services which are the same as, or substantially similar to, or competitive with the Restricted Business or, to Employee's knowledge, that are the same as, or substantially similar to, or competitive with the products or services sold by any member of the Company Group at such date in the Restricted Territory. "Relevant Customer" shall mean any person, firm or company that was a customer or client of, or was a prospective customer or client being actively sought by, any member of the Company Group during the twelve (12) month period immediately preceding the date of Employee's termination ("Relevant Period") and with whom Employee had material contact during the Relevant Period. For purposes of this Section 13, "material contact" shall mean contact between Employee and each Relevant Customer: (i) with whom or which Employee dealt on behalf of the Company or any member of the Company Group; (ii) whose dealings with the Company Group were coordinated or supervised by Employee; or (iii) about whom Employee obtained confidential information in the ordinary course of business as a result of Employee's association with the Company Group.

d. No Interference with Employees. Employee covenants and agrees that Employee shall not, during the Restricted Period, directly or indirectly (whether through an entity, employee or other agent of any kind) solicit or recruit any Restricted Employee or induce or attempt to induce any Restricted Employee to leave his or her employment with the Company or, to Employee's knowledge, any member of the Company Group; provided, however, that general advertisements with respect to a position that are not directed to employees of any member of the Company Group will not violate the solicitation prohibition of this Section 13(d). "Restricted Employee" shall mean any individual who was employed by any member of the Company Group during the course of Employee's term of employment and with whom Employee had material contact during the twelve (12) month period immediately preceding the date of Employee's termination.

e. Non-Disparagement. Both during and after Employee's employment, he or she will not, whether in private or in public, directly or indirectly, make, publish, encourage, ratify, or authorize, or aid, assist or direct any other person or entity in making or publishing, any statements that in any way defame or disparage any member of the Company Group, or any of its directors or executive employees.

14. Enforcement. Employee acknowledges and agrees that: (i) the provisions and covenants set forth in Sections 9 through 13 are in addition to, and not in lieu of, any rights or remedies that the Company Group may have available to it under any laws (including any law preventing the disclosure of Trade Secrets or other Confidential Information); (ii) any enforcement of the Sections 9 through 13 by the Company shall not be construed as a waiver of any other rights or remedies that the Company Group may possess at law or in equity absent this Agreement; (iii) on account of Employee's service to the Company Group, Employee has been, and will in the future be, made aware of Trade Secrets and other valuable Confidential Information, including information relating to any member of the Company Group, and their respective customers, clients and employees, in each case that could be used to the great competitive disadvantage of, and cause great financial harm to, the Company Group if provided to any competitor; (iv) Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 are necessary to prevent the use and disclosure of Trade Secrets and other Confidential Information, to protect the relationships between the Company Group members and their respective customers and employees, to protect the goodwill of the Company Group and to protect other legitimate business interests of the Company Group; and (v) all of the restrictive covenants are reasonable in all respects, including duration, territory and scope of activity restricted. Employee acknowledges and agrees that (1) the restrictions in Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 shall be construed as separate agreements between Employee and the Company Group and shall be enforceable independent of, and in addition to, any other provision of this Agreement or any provision of any other agreement between Employee and the Company Group and (2) the existence of any claim or cause of action by Employee against any member of the Company Group, whether predicated on this Agreement or otherwise, shall not constitute a defense to the enforcement by the Company of the obligations imposed by Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 on Employee. The time periods referenced in Section 13 shall be extended on a day-for-day basis for each day during which Employee is found by a court of competent jurisdiction to have violated the provisions of Section 13 in any respect, so that Employee is restricted from engaging in the activities prohibited by Section 13 for the full Restricted Period.

15. Injunctive Relief. Employee acknowledges and agrees that the breach by Employee of Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13 will cause the members of the Company Group irreparable injury that cannot be adequately compensated by monetary damages alone. Therefore, Employee acknowledges and agrees that any member of the Company Group, without limiting any other legal or equitable remedies available to the member of the Company Group, shall be entitled to enforce this Agreement against Employee directly and shall be entitled to obtain equitable relief by injunction or otherwise from any court of competent jurisdiction, including injunctive relief to prevent any failure by Employee to comply with the terms and conditions of Sections 9, 10, 11 and 13.

16. Company Property. All information, materials, documents, supplies, equipment and other property furnished to Employee by the Company Group in connection with performance of services under this Agreement will be and remain the sole property of the Company Group. On the date of the termination of Employee's employment under this Agreement for any reason, or at any other time at the Company's request, Employee must return to the Company Group all tangible and intellectual property in whatever form belonging to the Company Group (including, but not limited to, the Company Group vehicle, any laptops, computers, cell phones, wireless electronic mail devices or other equipment, or information, documents and other property).

17. Non-Disclosure. Except as may be required by law, Employee shall not disclose the financial terms of this Agreement to any person or entity, except that this Agreement may be disclosed to: (a) Employee's attorneys, accountants or financial or tax advisors; and (b) members of Employee's immediate family; provided, however, that in the case of each of (a) and (b) such persons agree not to further reveal the terms of this Agreement.

18. Insurance. If the Company desires at any time or from time to time during the Term to apply in its own name or otherwise for life, health, accident or other insurance covering Employee, the Company may do so at its sole cost and expense and may take out such insurance for any sum that the Company may deem necessary to protect its interests. Employee will have no right, title or interest in or to such insurance, but will, nevertheless, assist the Company in procuring and maintaining the same by submitting from time to time to the usual customary medical, physical and other examinations and by signing such applications, statements and other instruments as may reasonably be required by the insurance company or companies issuing such policies.

19. Indemnification and Insurance. The Company shall indemnify, protect, defend and save Employee harmless from and against any threatened, pending, contemplated or completed action, suit or proceeding, whether civil, criminal, administrative or investigative, in which Employee is made a party by reason of the fact that Employee is or was an officer, employee or agent of the Company, or any judgment, amount paid in settlement (with the consent of the Company), fine, loss, expense, cost, damage and reasonable attorneys' fees incurred by reason of the fact that Employee is or was an officer, employee or agent of the Company; provided, however, that Employee acted in good faith and in a manner Employee reasonably believed to be in the best interests of the Company Group, and with respect to any criminal action or proceeding, had no reasonable cause to believe Employee's conduct was unlawful. Employee also shall be indemnified under the Company's LLC Agreement and By-Laws, and covered by directors' and officers' liability insurance policies that are the same as or equivalent to those the Company carries for its directors and other senior executives.

20. Lock-Up.

a. Definitions. For purposes of this Section 20 of this Agreement, the following terms shall have the meanings set forth below.

"Common Shares" means the shares of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of Sierra.

"Lock-Up Period" means the period beginning on the date of the closing under the Merger Agreement and ending on the first anniversary of such closing; provided, however, in the event of a termination by the Company without Cause or Employee terminates employment with Good Reason, the Lock-Up Period shall end as of the date of termination of employment].³

"Lock-Up Shares" means any Common Shares that the Employee acquires pursuant to the Merger Agreement, including any that have been Transferred to a Permitted Transferee in accordance with Section 20 hereof (and shall include any shares of capital stock of Sierra issued in respect thereof as a result of any stock split, stock dividend, share exchange, merger, consolidation or similar recapitalization). For the avoidance of doubt, Common Shares shall cease to be Lock-Up Shares hereunder as of the end of the Lock-Up Period.

"Merger Agreement" means that certain Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among Medley Management Inc., Sierra and Sierra Management, Inc. dated as of August 9, 2018.

³ [This proviso will not be included in employment agreements for the CEO or Vice Chair.]

“Permitted Transfer” means any of the following:

- (a) the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares to one (1) or more Permitted Transferees;
- (b) the existence or creation of a testamentary power of appointment that may be exercised with respect to any Lock-Up Shares held by a trust; provided, however, that the Transfer of any Lock-Up Shares upon the exercise of a testamentary power of appointment to someone other than a Permitted Transferee shall not be a “Permitted Transfer” within the meaning of this paragraph (b) of this definition; or
- (c) any Transfer by will or pursuant to the Laws of descent and distribution by any Person described in the definition of Permitted Transferee.

“Permitted Transferee” means any of the following:

- (a) any Immediate Family Member of the Employee or any lineal descendant of any such Immediate Family Member; and
- (b) any trust for the direct or indirect benefit of the Employee or any Immediate Family Member of the Employee.

For purposes of this definition, “lineal descendants” shall not include individuals adopted after attaining the age of eighteen (18) years and the adopted individual’s descendants.

“Person” means and includes any natural person, general partnership, limited partnership, corporation, limited liability company, joint venture, real estate investment trust, business trust or other trust, cooperative, unincorporated association or other form of organization, whether or not a legal entity.

“Sierra” means Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation.

“Transfer” means, with respect to Lock-Up Shares: (i) any sale, assignment, bequest, conveyance, devise, gift (outright or in trust), pledge, encumbrance, grant of an option, hypothecation, mortgage, exchange, transfer or other disposition of (whether directly or indirectly, whether with or without consideration and whether voluntarily or involuntarily or by operation of law), or agreement to do any of the foregoing, of any interest (legal or beneficial) in any Lock-Up Shares; (ii) the entry into any swap or other arrangement that transfers to another, in whole or in part, any of the economic consequences of ownership of Common Shares or any securities convertible into or exercisable or exchangeable for Common Shares, or warrants or other rights to purchase Common Shares, whether any such transaction is to be settled by delivery of Common Shares or such other securities, in cash or otherwise; or (iii) any public announcement of an intention to effect any transaction specified in clause (i) or (ii); provided, however, that the term “Transfer” does not include any revocable proxy granted by the Employee or a Permitted Transferee or any exercise of rights by an executor, administrator, trustee, committee, guardian, conservator or receiver of the Employee or a Permitted Transferee, including the sale of Lock-Up Shares to pay any applicable estate taxes.

b. Restrictions on Transfer of Common Shares. The Employee agrees that, during the Lock-Up Period, Employee will not Transfer any Lock-Up Shares other than pursuant to a Permitted Transfer; provided, however, that upon any Permitted Transfer each Permitted Transferee in such Transfer shall agree in writing to be bound by the restrictions set forth in this Section 20.

c. Legend. At the request of Sierra, all share certificates or share statements evidencing Lock-Up Shares shall bear or contain a legend or notation substantially in the following form (or in such other form as Sierra's board of directors may determine):

THE SECURITIES REPRESENTED BY THIS [CERTIFICATE / STATEMENT] ARE SUBJECT TO RESTRICTIONS ON TRANSFER SPECIFIED IN AN EMPLOYMENT AGREEMENT WITH THE CORPORATION, AS THE SAME MAY BE AMENDED AND MODIFIED FROM TIME TO TIME, AND THE CORPORATION RESERVES THE RIGHT TO REFUSE THE TRANSFER OF SUCH SECURITIES UNTIL SPECIFIED CONDITIONS HAVE BEEN FULFILLED. A COPY OF SUCH CONDITIONS SHALL BE FURNISHED BY THE CORPORATION TO THE HOLDER HEREOF UPON WRITTEN REQUEST AND WITHOUT CHARGE.

The term "Corporation" shall mean Sierra for purposes of the above legend.

d. Stop Transfer. Sierra and its transfer agent are hereby authorized to decline to make any Transfer of Lock-Up Shares if such Transfer would constitute a violation or breach of this Section 20 and the Employee agrees and consents to the entry of stop transfer instructions with Sierra's transfer agent and registrar against any Transfer of the Lock-Up Shares not made in compliance with Section 20.

21. Miscellaneous.

a. Successors and Assigns; No Third-Party Beneficiaries. The rights and obligations of the Company under this Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the members of the Company Group and their successors and assigns. The rights and obligations of Employee under this Agreement shall be binding upon and shall inure to the benefit of the heirs and legal representatives of Employee. Employee may not assign this Agreement or any right or obligation hereunder, without the prior written consent of the Company. The Company may assign this Agreement or any right or obligation hereunder to (i) any member of the Company Group, (ii) any other entity in connection with any reorganization, change in capital structure or similar transaction or (iii) any other entity in connection with the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company. For the avoidance of doubt, the Company's right to assign this Agreement may be exercised without the prior written consent of Employee. This Agreement does not create, and shall not be construed as creating, any rights enforceable by any person not a party to this Agreement.

b. Waiver; Amendments. Any waiver by either party of a breach of any provision of this Agreement shall not operate as, or be construed to be, a waiver of any other breach of such provision of this Agreement. The failure of either party to insist on strict adherence to any term of this Agreement on one or more occasions shall not be considered a waiver or deprive either party of the right thereafter to insist on strict adherence to that term or any other term of this Agreement. Neither this Agreement nor any part of it may be waived, changed or terminated orally, and any waiver, amendment or modification must be in a writing signed by Employee and the Company.

c. Governing Law; Choice of Forum. This Agreement will be governed and construed and enforced in accordance with the laws of the State of New York, without regard to its conflicts of law rules. Employee hereby submits to the exclusive jurisdiction and venue of the federal and state courts located in New York, New York for resolution of any and all claims, causes of action or disputes arising out of, related to or otherwise concerning this Agreement, and Employee agrees to waive any claim relating to forum non conveniens. EACH OF THE PARTIES FURTHER ACKNOWLEDGES AND AGREES THAT ANY SUIT, ACTION OR PROCEEDING, WHETHER CLAIM OR COUNTERCLAIM, OF ANY KIND OR NATURE BROUGHT BY EITHER PARTY ARISING OUT OF THE INTERPRETATION, ENFORCEMENT OR BREACH OF THIS AGREEMENT SHALL BE RESOLVED BY A JUDGE ALONE, AND BOTH PARTIES HEREBY WAIVE AND FOREVER RENOUNCE THE RIGHT TO A TRIAL BEFORE A CIVIL JURY OF ANY SUCH SUIT, ACTION OR PROCEEDING.

d. Legal Fees and Expenses. The Company will pay legal fees and expenses incurred by Employee in connection with the drafting and negotiation of this Agreement and any related agreements.

e. Entire Agreement; Construction. This Agreement and any further agreements dated as of the date hereof and relating to the subject matter described herein contains the entire understanding of the parties relating to the subject matter of this Agreement and supersedes all other prior written or oral agreements, understandings or arrangements between the parties relating to the subject matter hereof. Employee acknowledges and agrees that the compensation paid under the terms of this Agreement shall be in full satisfaction of any amounts due in connection with Employee's employment with the Company and members of the Company Group. Employee acknowledges that, in entering into this Agreement, Employee did not rely and has not relied on any statements or representations not contained in this Agreement. The parties acknowledge and agree that each of the parties has participated in the drafting of this Agreement. Accordingly, it is the intention and agreement of the parties that the language, terms and conditions of this Agreement are not to be construed in any way against or in favor of any party hereto by reason of the responsibilities in connection with the preparation of this Agreement.

f. Severability. Any term or provision of this Agreement that is determined to be invalid or unenforceable by any court of competent jurisdiction in any jurisdiction shall, as to such jurisdiction, be ineffective to the extent of such invalidity or unenforceability without rendering invalid or unenforceable the remaining terms and provisions of this Agreement or affecting the validity or enforceability of any of the terms or provisions of this Agreement in any other jurisdiction, and such invalid or unenforceable provision shall be modified by such court so that it is enforceable to the extent permitted by applicable law.

g. Notices. All notices, requests, claims, demands and other communications hereunder shall be in writing and shall be given or made (and shall be deemed to have been duly given or made upon receipt) by delivery in person, by an internationally recognized overnight courier service, by registered or certified mail (postage prepaid, return receipt requested) to the respective parties hereto at the following addresses (or at such other address for a party as shall be specified in a notice given in accordance with this Section 19(g)):

h. Section 409A Compliance. Although the Company makes no guarantee with respect to the tax or other treatment of payments or benefits under this Agreement and shall not be responsible in any event with regard to this Agreement's compliance with Section 409A, payments under this Agreement are intended to be exempt from or comply with the applicable requirements of Section 409A and shall be limited, construed and interpreted in a manner so as to comply therewith. In furtherance of the foregoing:

(i) notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, to the extent any payment hereunder constitutes deferred compensation subject to Section 409A, and if Employee is a "specified employee" as defined for purposes of Section 409A, then all payments to be made to Employee hereunder due to the termination of Employee's employment shall not be paid, or commence to be paid, until the earlier of (1) the date that is immediately following the date that six (6) months after the date that Employee's employment is terminated or (2) the date of Employee's death following such a separation from service. Upon the expiration of the preceding period, any payments that would have otherwise been made during that period (whether in a single sum or in installments) in the absence of this provision shall be paid to Employee or Employee's beneficiary in one lump sum (without interest).

(ii) notwithstanding any provision of this Agreement to the contrary, Employee's employment with the Company Group shall not be deemed to have been terminated unless and until Employee has had a "separation from service," as determined under Section 409A;

(iii) each payment that is part of a series of payments shall be a single payment for purposes of Section 409A; and

(iv) any taxable reimbursements under this Agreement, including, without limitation, those under Section 21(d), will be made no later than the end of the calendar year following the calendar year the expense was incurred. For purposes of complying with Section 409A, any such reimbursements and any in-kind benefit under this Agreement will be subject to the following: (1) payment of such reimbursements or in-kind benefits during one calendar year will not affect the amount of such reimbursement or in-kind benefits provided during a subsequent calendar year; and (2) such reimbursement benefit or rights or in-kind benefits may not be exchanged or substituted for another form of compensation to Employee.

i. Survival. The representations, warranties, covenants and other agreements contained herein, which by their nature are intended to survive the termination of Employee's employment with the Company Group, shall survive such termination (regardless of the reason for such termination) in accordance with their stated terms.

j. Counterparts. This Agreement may be executed in multiple counterparts, each of which shall constitute an original, and all of which together shall constitute one agreement. Any photocopy or scanned copy in portable document format (PDF) shall be deemed an original copy for all purposes.

GENERAL RELEASE OF CLAIMS

This General Release of Claims (the "Release") is being executed and delivered in accordance with Section 8(h) of the Employment Agreement between Medley Capital LLC and you. Each capitalized term used in this Release without definition has the meaning given to such term in the Agreement. This Release must be signed and dated no later than forty-five (45) days after you receive it. You will have [seven (7) days] after signing this Release to revoke your signature by delivering a signed notice of revocation to the Company. This Release will become binding on the eighth day after the Release is signed unless you have revoked your signature. You have the right to consult with an attorney prior to signing this Release.

In exchange for the promises and payments described in the Agreement, you (on behalf of yourself and your heirs, executors, administrators and assigns) hereby release and forever discharge the Company Group, its divisions, subsidiaries and affiliates, and all of their respective present and former directors, officers, shareholders, trustees, employees, agents, representatives, consultants, successors and assigns in their official and individual capacities (collectively, the "Released Parties"), from any and all suits, claims, demands, debts, sums of money, damages, interest, attorneys' fees, expenses, actions, causes of action, judgments, accounts, promises, contracts, agreements, and any and all claims of law or in equity, whether now known or unknown, which you now have or ever had against the Released Parties, or any of them, including, but not limited to, any claims under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Americans With Disabilities Act, the Family and Medical Leave Act, the Age Discrimination in Employment Act ("ADEA"), the Older Workers Benefit Protection Act of 1990, 29 U.S.C. § 626(f) ("OWBPA"), the Worker Adjustment Retraining and Notification Act ("WARN"), the Genetic Information Nondiscrimination Act, any state antidiscrimination law that is analogous to the foregoing, and any other federal, state or local statute, regulation, ordinance or common law creating employment-related causes of action, and all claims related to or arising out of your employment or the termination of your employment with the Company Group. You also waive any right you may have to recover any compensation or damages in any action against any of the Released Parties brought by any governmental entity on your behalf or on behalf of any class of which you may be a member. You hereby represent that you have not previously filed or joined in any complaints, charges or lawsuits against the Company Group pending before any governmental agency or court of law relating to your employment and/or the termination thereof.

CALIFORNIA ONLY (Delete highlighted section if outside of California)

In giving this Release, you specifically agree to waive the provisions of Section 1542 of the California Civil Code (and any other similar provisions of other applicable law), which section reads as follows:

A general release does not extend to claims which the creditor does not know or suspect to exist in his favor at the time of executing the release, which if known by him must have materially affected his settlement with the debtor.

MASSACHUSETTS ONLY (Delete highlighted section if outside of Massachusetts)

In giving this Release, you specifically agree to waive the provisions of the Massachusetts Wage Act, G.L. c. 149 and in so doing you explicitly waive any claims for unpaid wages.

This Release shall not apply to: (1) any vested interest you may have in any 401(k), pension or profit sharing plan, equity compensation agreement or any other employee benefit plan by virtue of your employment with the Company Group; (2) any claims that may arise after this Release is signed; (3) any claim that may not be waived by law; and (4) any right you may have to indemnification and/or advancement of legal fees by the Company Group or under its director's and officer's liability insurance coverage, under any agreement between you and the Company Group, under any provision of the Company Group's bylaws or plans, or by application of law.

IN WITNESS WHEREOF, the undersigned has executed this Release as of this ___ day of _____, 20__.

Special Committee of the Board of Directors of Sierra Income Corporation
c/o Sullivan & Worcester LLP
1666 K Street NW
Washington, D.C. 20006

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We understand that Sierra Income Corporation (“SIC”) proposes to enter into (i) an Agreement and Plan of Merger with Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) (the “MCC Agreement”) and (ii) an Agreement and Plan of Merger with Medley Management Inc. (“MDLY”) and a subsidiary of SIC (“Merger Sub”) (the “MDLY Agreement” and, together with the MCC Agreement, the “Agreements”). The MCC Agreement provides, among other things, that SIC will acquire MCC for shares of SIC common stock, par value $0.001 per share (the “SIC Common Stock”), and the MDLY Agreement provides, among other things, that SIC will acquire MDLY for a combination of cash and shares of SIC Common Stock (collectively, the “Transactions”).

Pursuant to the MCC Agreement, MCC will merge with and into SIC, with SIC surviving the merger, and each issued and outstanding share of MCC Common Stock, par value $0.001 per share (the “MCC Common Stock”) (other than such shares owned by SIC or by any wholly owned subsidiary of MCC or SIC) will be converted into the right to receive 0.805 shares of SIC Common Stock (the “MCC Consideration”). Pursuant to the MDLY Agreement, MDLY will merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub surviving the merger, and (i) each issued and outstanding share of MDLY Class A Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share (the “MDLY Common Stock”) (other than such shares owned by SIC or by any wholly owned subsidiary of MDLY or SIC) will be converted into the right to receive (1) 0.3836 shares of SIC Common Stock, (2) cash in an amount equal to $3.44 per such share and (3) a per-share dividend adjustment amount more fully described in a formula set forth in the MDLY Agreement (the “MDLY Consideration”) and (ii) each issued and outstanding share of MDLY Class B Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, will be canceled. The MCC Consideration and the MDLY Consideration are collectively referred to herein as the “Total Consideration”. The terms and conditions of the Transactions are more fully set forth in the Agreements.

You have asked for our opinion as to whether the Total Consideration to be paid and issued by SIC in the Transactions, considered as a whole and not in separate parts, is fair to SIC from a financial point of view.

In connection with the opinion set forth herein, we have:

1. Reviewed certain audited and unaudited financial information, and other business and operating data, regarding SIC, MCC and MDLY;
2. Reviewed certain financial projections relating to MCC (the “MCC Projections”) prepared by the management of MDLY, which manages MCC, and discussed with the management of MDLY its assessment as to the relative likelihood of achieving the MCC Projections;
3. Reviewed certain financial projections relating to MDLY prepared by the management of MDLY (the “MDLY Projections”) and discussed with the management of MDLY its assessment as to the relative likelihood of achieving the MDLY Projections;
4. Reviewed certain financial projections relating to SIC (the “SIC Projections”) prepared by the management of MDLY, which manages SIC, and discussed with the management of MDLY its assessment as to the relative likelihood of achieving the SIC Projections;
5. Discussed the past and current business, operations, financial condition and prospects of each of MCC and MDLY with members of senior management of MDLY, and discussed the past and current business, operations, financial condition and prospects of SIC, including after giving effect to the Transactions and the strategic and financial benefits anticipated by the management of MDLY to result therefrom, with members of senior management of MDLY;
6. Reviewed the recent stock price performance of the MDLY Common Stock and a comparison with the stock price performance of certain other comparable companies, the securities of which are publicly traded;
7. Reviewed the recent stock price performance of the MCC Common Stock and a comparison with the average and median trading prices of certain business development companies that are, in our judgment, comparable in certain respects to MCC, and the securities of which are publicly traded;
8. Reviewed the anticipated pro forma impact of the Transactions on SIC’s net interest income, net asset value and financial ratios;
9. Reviewed the financial terms, to the extent publicly available, of certain comparable acquisition transactions;
10. Compared the financial performance of MCC and MDLY and the prices and trading activity of the MCC Common Stock and the MDLY Common Stock with that of certain other publicly traded companies comparable in certain respects with MCC and MDLY, respectively, and their securities;

11. Reviewed the Tax Receivable Agreement, dated September 23, 2014, between MDLY and the holders of units in Medley LLC (the “TRA”), and the proposed treatment of the TRA under the Agreements;
12. Reviewed drafts of the Agreements, each dated August 9, 2018 (the “Draft Agreements”) and certain related documents; and
13. Performed such other analyses and considered such other factors as we have deemed appropriate.

We have assumed and relied upon, without independent verification, the accuracy and completeness of the information that was publicly available or supplied or otherwise made available to us by SIC, MCC or MDLY, and that formed a substantial basis for this opinion. We have further relied upon assurances of the management of MDLY, which also manages SIC and MCC, that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading and that there has not occurred any material change in the assets, financial condition, results of operations, business or prospects of SIC, MCC or MDLY since the respective dates of the most recent financial statements and other information, financial or otherwise, relating to SIC, MCC or MDLY, respectively, made available to us by the SIC, MCC or MDLY.

We have assumed with your consent that:

1. The final executed Agreements will not differ in any respect material to our analysis or this opinion from the Draft Agreements;
2. The MCC Projections and the MDLY Projections have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the management of MDLY, which manages MCC, of the future financial performance of each of MCC and MDLY on a standalone basis, respectively;
3. The SIC Projections have been reasonably prepared on bases reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the management of MDLY, which manages SIC, of the future financial performance of SIC on a standalone basis and following the acquisition of MCC and MDLY, respectively;
4. The Transactions will be consummated in accordance with the terms set forth in the Agreements without any waiver, amendment or delay of any terms or conditions in any manner that would be material to our opinion;
5. The revenues and earnings projected in the SIC Projections (and, following the Transactions, the revenues and earnings projected in the MCC Projections and the MDLY Projections) will be realized in the amounts and at the times projected in all respects material to our analysis;

6. The Transactions will not result in the assumption or other acquisition of any tax, regulatory or other liabilities (including liabilities of MCC and MDLY and their respective subsidiaries) beyond those provided for in the Agreements, the realization of which liabilities provided for in the Agreements we assume with your consent would not have a material impact on the value of SIC, and the rate of taxation applied to certain earnings of SIC included in the SIC Projections and the rate of taxation applicable to MDLY included in the MDLY projections will be experienced as projected following consummation of the Transactions;
7. In connection with the receipt of all the necessary governmental, regulatory or other approvals and consents required for the Transactions, no delays, limitations, conditions (including any required divestitures) or restrictions will be imposed that would have a material adverse effect on the contemplated benefits expected to be derived in the Transactions;
8. The representations and warranties of SIC, MCC and MDLY contained in the Agreements are accurate and complete in all respects material to our analysis; and
9. The Transactions will qualify for federal income tax purposes as a reorganization under the provisions of Section 368(a) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended.

We have further advised you of the following several important factors and assumptions that underlie our opinion expressed herein, the first four of which form the bases for important parts of the analysis we have used in reaching the opinion expressed herein, and we would be unable to deliver this opinion were any of these factors or assumptions to be incorrect in any material respect:

1. First, it is our view that, were the shares of SIC Common Stock to be listed and traded on a national securities exchange, such shares, on a fully distributed basis, would trade at a substantial discount to SIC's net asset value.
2. Second, we have assumed with your consent that SIC and its affiliates (including MDLY), pro forma for the Transactions, would, absent the tax relief afforded by the cancellation of and transfer of benefits under the TRA, pay taxes in the full amounts and at the times projected by the management of MDLY and that the taxes resulting from the results of operations of MDLY in each year in which tax benefits are available under the TRA would be in excess of the tax benefits afforded by the TRA.
3. Third, we have assumed with your consent that MDLY, following its acquisition by SIC, will be treated as a portfolio investment of SIC for accounting purposes and that MDLY's financial results will not be consolidated into the financial statements of SIC.

4. Fourth, we have assumed with your consent that the United States Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC") will grant exemptive relief consistent with that addressed in the Eversheds Sutherland memorandum to the SEC dated July 5, 2018 without qualification or modification to the Transactions.
5. Finally, with your consent, we have considered the fairness of the Total Consideration to be paid on an aggregate basis, including the combined amount of the MDLY Consideration and the MCC Consideration to be paid to the stockholders of MDLY and MCC, respectively. We are not expressing any opinion as to the fairness to SIC of the portion of the Total Consideration to be paid to each of the stockholders of MDLY and the stockholders of MCC on separate bases. Furthermore, we are not expressing any opinion as to the relative proportion of cash and shares of SIC Common Stock constituting the MDLY Consideration.

We are not legal, tax, accounting, or regulatory advisors. We are financial advisors only and have relied upon, without independent verification, the assessments of SIC and its legal, tax, accounting, and regulatory advisors with respect to legal, tax, accounting, and regulatory matters.

We have not made any independent valuation or appraisal of SIC, MCC, MDLY or their respective assets or liabilities, we have not relied upon any such valuations or appraisals furnished to us, and this opinion does not constitute or imply any particular valuation of SIC. In arriving at our opinion, we have not conducted a physical inspection of SIC, MCC, MDLY or their respective assets. Our opinion is necessarily based on financial, economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. Events occurring after the date hereof may affect this opinion and the assumptions used in preparing it, and we do not assume any obligation to update, revise or reaffirm this opinion. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, this opinion does not in any manner address the prices at which the SIC Common Stock will trade after the announcement or consummation of the Transactions or at any other time.

We have acted as financial advisor to the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of SIC in connection with the Transactions and will receive a fee for rendering this opinion and a fee for our services, which fee for our services was previously paid. In addition, SIC has agreed to reimburse our expenses and indemnify us against certain liabilities arising out of our engagement. In the two years prior to the date hereof, we have not provided services to SIC or MCC, but we have provided financial advisory services to MDLY as disclosed in the engagement letter between Broadhaven Securities LLC and the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of SIC dated July 2, 2018 (the "Engagement Letter"). We may seek to provide financial advisory and other services to SIC or MDLY in the future and would expect to receive fees for rendering those services.

This opinion has been approved by a committee of Broadhaven Capital Partners in accordance with our customary practice. This opinion does not constitute a recommendation as to how any stockholder of SIC, MCC or MDLY should vote with respect to the Transactions or any other matter. We have not been requested to opine as to, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the underlying business decision by SIC to proceed with or effect the Transactions or the likelihood of consummation of the Transactions. Furthermore, we have not given any advice as to, nor does our opinion in any way address, the fairness of the Transactions to any other person or entity, including but not limited to MDLY or its stockholders. Our opinion does not address the relative merits of the Transactions as compared to any other transaction or business strategy in which SIC might engage. This opinion does not address the fairness (financial or otherwise) of the amount, nature or any other aspect of any compensation to any of the officers, directors or employees of any party to the Transactions, or any such class of persons, relative to the Total Consideration. This opinion is for the information of the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of SIC only and, subject to the terms and conditions of the Engagement Letter, this opinion may not be used for any other purpose, quoted or referred to orally or in writing, or reproduced or disseminated, by SIC or its agents, without our prior written consent, except that a copy of this opinion may be included in its entirety and, subject to Broadhaven's prior review and approval (not to be unreasonably withheld or delayed), any summary of, or other description of, this opinion may be included, if required by applicable law or the rules and regulations of any applicable stock exchange, in any filing made by SIC in respect of the Transactions with the SEC or such exchange.

Based on and subject to the foregoing, including the various assumptions, limitations and qualifications set forth herein, we are of the opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Total Consideration to be paid and issued by SIC in the Transactions, considered as a whole and not in separate parts, is fair to SIC from a financial point of view.

Very truly yours,

Special Committee of the Board of Directors
Medley Capital Corporation
280 Park Avenue, 6th Floor East
New York, NY 10017

Ladies and Gentlemen:

Medley Capital Corporation (the “Company”) and Sierra Income Corporation (“SIC”) are proposing to enter into an Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “MCC Agreement”) pursuant to which the Company will merge with and into SIC, with SIC being the surviving corporation (the “MCC Merger”). In addition, contemporaneously with the execution of the MCC Agreement, SIC, its wholly-owned subsidiary, Sierra Management Inc. (“Merger Sub”), and Medley Management Inc. (“MDLY”) are proposing to enter into a separate Agreement and Plan of Merger (the “MDLY Agreement” and, together with the MCC Agreement, the “Agreements”) pursuant to which MDLY will merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub being the surviving corporation (the “MDLY Merger” and, together with the MCC Merger, the “Transaction”). The Agreements provide that the closing of each of the MCC Merger and MDLY Merger is conditioned upon the closing of the other. Pursuant to the terms of the MCC Agreement, at the Effective Time, each share of common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of the Company (“Company Common Stock”) issued and outstanding immediately prior to the Effective Time, excluding certain shares of Company Common Stock as specified in the MCC Agreement, will be converted into the right to receive 0.8050 of a share of common stock (“SIC Common Stock”), par value $0.001 per share, of SIC (the “Merger Consideration”). Capitalized terms used herein without definition have the meanings assigned to them in the MCC Agreement. The terms and conditions of the Transaction are more fully set forth in the Agreements. You have requested our opinion as to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Merger Consideration to the holders of Company Common Stock (other than SIC, MDLY and their respective affiliates).

Sandler O’Neill & Partners, L.P. (“Sandler O’Neill”, “we” or “our”), as part of its investment banking business, is regularly engaged in the valuation of financial services companies and their securities in connection with mergers and acquisitions and other corporate transactions. In connection with this opinion, we have reviewed and considered, among other things: (i) the MCC Agreement, dated August 9, 2018, and the MDLY Agreement, dated August 9, 2018; (ii) certain publicly available financial statements and other historical financial information of the Company, SIC and MDLY that we deemed relevant; (iii) certain financial projections for the Company, SIC and MDLY for the calendar years 2018 and 2019 and estimated net asset values of the Company and SIC, all as provided by the senior management of MDLY (which is the parent of the investment advisers that externally manage and advise the Company and SIC); (iv) the pro forma financial impact of the Transaction on SIC and also with respect to certain financial metrics of the Company, based on certain assumptions relating to cost savings, purchase accounting adjustments, transaction expenses and tax benefits, as provided by the senior management of MDLY; (v) the publicly reported historical price and trading activity for Company Common Stock; (vi) a comparison of certain financial information for the Company and SIC with similar companies for which information is publicly available; (vii) the financial terms of certain recent business combinations in the business development company industry, to the extent publicly available; (viii) the current market environment generally and the business development company industry environment in particular; and (ix) such other information, financial studies, analyses and investigations and financial, economic and market criteria as we considered relevant. We also discussed with certain members of the senior management of MDLY and its representatives the respective businesses, financial condition, results of operations and prospects of the Company, SIC and MDLY.

In performing our review, we have relied upon the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial and other information that was available to and reviewed by us from public sources, that was provided to us by the Company, SIC, MDLY or their respective representatives or that was otherwise reviewed by us, and we have assumed such accuracy and completeness for purposes of rendering this opinion without any independent verification or investigation. We further have relied on the assurances of the senior management of MDLY that it is not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make any of such information inaccurate or misleading. We have not been asked to undertake, and have not undertaken, an independent verification of any of such information and we do not assume any responsibility or liability for the accuracy or completeness thereof. We did not make an independent evaluation or perform an appraisal of the specific assets, the collateral securing assets or the liabilities (contingent or otherwise) of the Company, SIC, MDLY or any of their respective subsidiaries, nor have we been furnished with any such evaluations or appraisals. We render no opinion or evaluation on the collectability of any assets or the future performance of any loans or other investments of the Company or SIC. We have not reviewed any individual credit files relating to the Company or SIC.

In preparing its analyses, Sandler O'Neill used certain financial projections for the Company, SIC and MDLY for the calendar years 2018 and 2019 and estimated net asset values of the Company and SIC, all as provided by the senior management of MDLY. Sandler O'Neill also received and used in its pro forma analyses certain assumptions relating to cost savings, purchase accounting adjustments, transaction expenses and tax benefits, as provided by the senior management of MDLY. With respect to the foregoing information, the senior management of MDLY confirmed to us that such information reflected the best currently available estimates and judgments of such senior management as to the future financial performance of the Company, SIC and MDLY and the other matters covered thereby. We assumed that the future financial performance reflected in all of the foregoing information used by Sandler O'Neill would be achieved, and we express no opinion as to such information, or the assumptions on which such information is based. We have also assumed that there has been no material change in the respective assets, financial condition, results of operations, businesses or prospects of the Company, SIC or MDLY since the date of the most recent financial statements made available to us. We have assumed in all respects material to our analyses that the Company, SIC and MDLY will remain as going concerns for all periods relevant to our analyses.

We have also assumed, with your consent, that (i) each of the parties to the Agreements will comply in all material respects with all material terms and conditions of the Agreements and all related agreements, that all of the representations and warranties contained in such agreements are true and correct in all material respects, that each of the parties to such agreements will perform in all material respects all of the covenants and other obligations required to be performed by such party under such agreements and that the conditions precedent in such agreements are not and will not be waived, (ii) in the course of obtaining the necessary regulatory or third party approvals, consents and releases with respect to the Transaction, no delay, limitation, restriction or condition will be imposed that would have an adverse effect on the Company, SIC or the benefits contemplated by the Transaction or any related transaction, (iii) the Transaction and any related transactions (including, without limitation, the acquisition by MDLY of all of the outstanding units of its subsidiary Medley LLC not already owned by MDLY, the termination by MDLY of its existing tax receivables agreement and the final dividend to be paid by MCC pursuant to the MCC Agreement) will be consummated in accordance with the terms of the Agreements without any waiver, modification or amendment of any material term, condition or agreement thereof and in compliance with all applicable laws and other requirements, and (iv) the Transaction will qualify as a tax-free reorganization for federal income tax purposes. Finally, with your consent, we have relied upon the advice that the Company has received from its legal, accounting and tax advisors as to all legal, accounting and tax matters relating to the Transaction and the other transactions contemplated by the Agreements. We express no opinion as to any such matters.

Our opinion is necessarily based on financial, economic, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof. Events occurring after the date hereof could materially affect this opinion. We have not undertaken to update, revise, reaffirm or withdraw this opinion or otherwise comment upon events occurring after the date hereof. We express no opinion as to the trading values of Company Common Stock or SIC Common Stock at any time or what the value of SIC Common Stock will be once it is actually received by the holders of Company Common Stock.

We have acted as the financial advisor to the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of the Company in connection with the MCC Merger and will receive a fee for our services, the substantial portion of which fee is contingent upon consummation of the MCC Merger. We will also receive a fee for rendering this opinion, which opinion fee will be credited in full towards the transaction fee becoming payable to us upon closing of the MCC Merger. The Company has also agreed to indemnify us against certain claims and liabilities arising out of our engagement and to reimburse us for certain of our out-of-pocket expenses incurred in connection with our engagement. In connection with our engagement, we were not asked to, and did not, solicit indications of interest in a potential transaction with the Company from other parties. We have not provided any other investment banking services to the Company, SIC or MDLY in the two years preceding the date of this opinion. In the ordinary course of our business as a broker-dealer, we may purchase securities from and sell securities to the Company, SIC, MDLY and their respective affiliates. We may also actively trade the equity and debt securities of the Company, MDLY and their respective affiliates for our own account and for the accounts of our customers.

Our opinion is directed to the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of the Company (in its capacity as such) in connection with its consideration of the MCC Agreement and the MCC Merger and does not constitute a recommendation to any shareholder of the Company as to how any such shareholder should vote at any meeting of shareholders called to consider and vote upon the approval of the MCC Agreement and the MCC Merger. Our opinion is directed only to the fairness, from a financial point of view, of the Merger Consideration to the holders of Company Common Stock (other than SIC, MDLY and their respective affiliates) and does not address the underlying business decision of the Company to engage in the MCC Merger, the form or structure of the Transaction or any other transactions contemplated in the Agreements, the relative merits of the Transaction as compared to any other alternative transactions or business strategies that might exist for the Company or the effect of any other transaction in which the Company might engage. We also do not express any opinion as to the fairness of the amount or nature of the compensation to be received in the Transaction by any officer, director or employee of the Company or SIC, or any class of such persons, if any, relative to the compensation to be received in the MCC Merger by any other shareholder. We further express no opinion as to the fairness of the consideration to be paid by SIC in connection with the MDLY Merger (including, without limitation, the relative fairness of such consideration and the Merger Consideration) or any term or aspect of the new investment advisory agreement to be entered into by SIC, which is to be effective as of the Effective Time. This opinion has been approved by Sandler O'Neill's fairness opinion committee. This opinion shall not be reproduced without Sandler O'Neill's prior written consent; provided, however, Sandler O'Neill will provide its consent for the opinion to be included in regulatory filings to be completed in connection with the MCC Merger.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Merger Consideration is fair to the holders of Company Common Stock (other than SIC, MDLY and their respective affiliates) from a financial point of view.

Very truly yours,

Sandler O'Neill & Partners, L.P.

New York, NY 10017

Ladies and Gentlemen:

We understand that Medley Management Inc. (the “Company”) intends to enter into a transaction (the “Proposed Transaction”) with Sierra Income Corporation (“SIC”) and Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) (together, the “Counterparties”), pursuant to which (a) MCC will merge with and into SIC, with SIC as the surviving company (the “Merger”); (b) simultaneously, the Company will merge with and into Sierra Management, Inc., a Delaware corporation and wholly-owned subsidiary of SIC (“Merger Sub”); and (c) each share of Class A Common Stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company (the “Company Shares”), issued and outstanding (other than Company Shares owned by SIC or any wholly-owned subsidiary of SIC or the Company and any dissenting shares) held by Public Stockholders (as defined below) shall (x) be entitled to receive two special dividends totaling $0.65 payable in connection with the Merger and (y) be converted into the right to receive (i) $3.44, (ii) 0.3836 shares of the common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of SIC (the “SIC Shares”) and (iii) certain shortfall amounts in the event the special dividends are not paid in full ((x) and (y), collectively, the “Consideration”). The terms and conditions of the Proposed Transaction are set forth in more detail in the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among the Company, SIC and Merger Sub dated as of August 9, 2018 (the “Agreement”). The summary of the Proposed Transaction set forth above is qualified in its entirety by the terms of the Agreement.

We have been requested by the Special Committee of the Board of Directors of the Company (the “Special Committee”) to render our opinion with respect to the fairness, from a financial point of view, to the non-management holders of Company Shares (the “Public Stockholders”) of the Consideration to be offered to such stockholders in connection with the Proposed Transaction. We have not been requested to opine as to, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the Company’s underlying business decision to proceed with or effect the Proposed Transaction or the likelihood of consummation of the Proposed Transaction. In addition, we express no opinion on, and our opinion does not in any manner address, the fairness of the amount or the nature of any compensation to any officers, directors or employees of any of the parties to the Proposed Transaction, or any class of such persons, relative to the Consideration to be offered to the Public Stockholders in the Proposed Transaction. Our opinion does not address the relative merits of the Proposed Transaction as compared to any other transaction or business strategy in which the Company might engage.

745 Seventh Avenue
New York, NY 10019
United States

In arriving at our opinion, we reviewed and analyzed: (1) a draft of the Agreement, dated as of August 9, 2018, and the specific terms of the Proposed Transaction; (2) a draft of the Agreement and Plan of Merger by and among MCC and SIC dated as of August 9, 2018; (3) publicly available information concerning the Company that we believe to be relevant to our analysis, including its Annual Report on Form 10-K for the fiscal year ended December 31, 2017 and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q for the fiscal quarters ended March 31, 2018 and June 30, 2018; (4) financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of the Company furnished to us by the Company and financial projections of the Company prepared by management of the Company (the "Company Projections"); (5) financial and operating information with respect to the business, operations and prospects of MCC and SIC, including financial projections of each of MCC and SIC prepared by management of the Company as investment advisor and manager of MCC and SIC, respectively (the "Counterparties' Projections", and together with the Company Projections, the "Projections"); (6) pro forma financial projections for SIC after giving effect to the Proposed Transaction, including cost savings, operating synergies and other strategic benefits prepared by the management of the Company ("Proforma Projections"); (7) a trading history of the Company Shares from September 24, 2014 to August 8, 2018 and a trading history of the MCC Shares from September 24, 2014 to August 8, 2018; (8) a comparison of the historical dividend performance of the Company with those of the Counterparties; (9) a comparison of the historical financial results and present and projected financial condition of the Company with those of other asset management companies ("AMCs") that we deemed relevant; (10) a comparison of the financial terms of the Proposed Transaction with the financial terms of certain other transactions involving AMCs that we deemed relevant; (11) a comparison of the pro forma market position of SIC following the Proposed Transaction with those of other business development companies that we deemed relevant; (12) published estimates of independent research analysts with respect to the future financial performance and price targets of the Company; (13) information provided to us by the Company and its advisors with respect to the results of previous efforts by the Company and its advisors to solicit indications of interest from third parties with respect to a sale of the Company; (14) the Investment Advisory Agreement between SIC Advisors LLC (an affiliate of the Company) and SIC, dated April 5, 2012; and (15) the Investment Management Agreement between MCC Advisors LLC (an affiliate of the Company) and MCC, dated January 19, 2011. In addition, we have had discussions with the management of the Company, including in its capacity as investment advisor and manager of MCC and SIC, respectively, concerning the business, operations, assets, financial condition and prospects of each of the Company, MCC and SIC and of SIC individually and on a pro forma basis and have undertaken such other studies, analyses and investigations as we deemed appropriate.

In arriving at our opinion, we have assumed and relied upon the accuracy and completeness of the financial and other information used by us without any independent verification of such information (and have not assumed responsibility or liability for any independent verification of such information) and have further relied upon the assurances of the management of the Company that they are not aware of any facts or circumstances that would make such information inaccurate or misleading. With respect to the Company Projections and the Proforma Projections, upon the advice of management of the Company, we have assumed that such projections have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of management of the Company as to the future financial performance of each of the Company and of SIC on a pro forma basis, including as to the amount and timing of synergies expected to be realized. We have also assumed that each will perform substantially in accordance with such projections. With respect to the Counterparties' Projections, upon the advice of management of the Company, we have assumed that such projections have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of management of the Company and of its subsidiary that is the investment advisor and manager of MCC and SIC, respectively, as to the future financial performance of each of MCC and SIC. We have also assumed that each will perform substantially in accordance with such projections. Pursuant to the Special Committee's instructions, we have relied on and utilized the Projections and Proforma Projections in connection with our analysis and our opinion. We assume no responsibility for and we express no view as to any such projections or estimates or the assumptions on which they are based. In arriving at our opinion, we have not conducted a physical inspection of the properties and facilities of the Company and have not made or obtained any evaluations or appraisals of the assets or liabilities of the Company. In addition, you have not authorized us to solicit, and we have not solicited, any indications of interest from any third party with respect to the purchase of all or a part of the Company's business. Our opinion necessarily is based upon market, economic and other conditions as they exist on, and can be evaluated as of, the date of this letter. We assume no responsibility for updating or revising our opinion based on events or circumstances that may occur after the date of this letter. We express no opinion as to the prices at which the Company Shares would trade following the announcement of the Proposed Transaction or prices at which SIC Shares would trade following consummation of the Proposed Transaction. Our opinion should not be viewed as providing any assurance that the market value of the SIC Shares to be held by the stockholders of the Company after the consummation of the Proposed Transaction will be in excess of the market value of common stock of the Company owned by such stockholders at any time prior to the announcement or consummation of the Proposed Transaction.

745 Seventh Avenue
New York, NY 10019
United States

We have assumed that the executed Agreement will conform in all material respects to the last draft reviewed by us. In addition, we have assumed the accuracy of the representations and warranties contained in the Agreement and all agreements related thereto. We do not express any opinion as to any tax or other consequences that might result from the Proposed Transaction, nor does our opinion address any legal, tax, regulatory or accounting matters, as to which we understand that the Company has obtained such advice as it deemed necessary from qualified professionals.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, we are of the opinion as of the date hereof that, from a financial point of view, the Consideration to be offered to the Public Stockholders in the Proposed Transaction is fair to such stockholders.

We have acted as financial advisor to the Special Committee in connection with the Proposed Transaction and will receive fees for our services a portion of which is payable upon rendering this opinion and a substantial portion of which is contingent upon the consummation of the Proposed Transaction. In addition, the Company has agreed to reimburse our reasonable expenses and indemnify us for certain liabilities that may arise out of our engagement. We have performed various investment banking services for the Company and the Counterparties in the past, and expect to perform such services in the future, and have received, and expect to receive, customary fees for such services. However, in the past two years, we have not performed any investment banking or financial services for the Company or the Counterparties for which we have earned fees.

Barclays Capital Inc., its subsidiaries and its affiliates engage in a wide range of businesses, including investment and commercial banking, lending, asset management and other financial and non-financial services. In the ordinary course of our business, we and our affiliates may actively trade and effect transactions in the equity, debt and/or other securities (and any derivatives thereof) and financial instruments (including loans and other obligations) of the Company and the Counterparties for our own account and for the accounts of our customers and, accordingly, may at any time hold long or short positions and investments in such securities and financial instruments.

This opinion, the issuance of which has been approved by our Fairness Opinion Committee, is for the use and benefit of the Special Committee and, to the extent determined by the Special Committee, the Board of Directors of the Company and is rendered to the Special Committee in connection with its consideration of the Proposed Transaction. This opinion is not intended to be and does not constitute a recommendation to any Public Stockholder of the Company as to how such stockholder should vote with respect to the Proposed Transaction.

Very truly yours,

Gentlemen:

You have requested our opinion as to the fairness from a financial point of view to the holders (other than Sierra Income Corporation (“SIC”), Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) and any of their respective affiliates, the holders of Units (as defined below), the holders of the Medley Restricted Units (as defined below) (the “Restricted Unitholders”) and the holders of the MDLY RSUs (as defined below)) of the outstanding shares of Class A common stock, par value $0.01 per share (the “Shares”), of Medley Management Inc. (the “Company”) of the Consideration (as defined below) to be paid to such holders pursuant to the Agreement and Plan of Merger, dated as of August 9, 2018 (the “Company Merger Agreement”), by and among the Company, SIC and Sierra Management, Inc., a wholly owned subsidiary of SIC (“Merger Sub”). The Company Merger Agreement provides that (A) at the Effective Time, the Company will merge with and into Merger Sub, with Merger Sub as the surviving company (the “Surviving Company”) and a direct wholly owned subsidiary of SIC (the “Company Merger”), (B) contemporaneously with the execution of the Company Merger Agreement, SIC and Medley Capital Corporation (“MCC”) have entered into a merger agreement (the “MCC Merger Agreement”) pursuant to which MCC will merge with and into SIC, with SIC as the surviving company in the merger (the “MCC Merger”) and each share of common stock, par value $0.01 per share (the “MCC Common Stock”), of MCC will be converted into the right to receive 0.805 shares of common stock, par value $0.001 per share (the “SIC Common Stock”), of SIC, (C) prior to the Closing, (i) Medley LLC will distribute as a special dividend to the holders of issued and outstanding limited liability company interests of Medley LLC (“Units”) an amount equal to the lesser of (x) $0.35 per Unit of Medley LLC and (y) the maximum dividend per Unit that Medley LLC may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration (the “Medley LLC Special Dividend”) and (ii) the Company will distribute as a special dividend to the holders of record of the Shares an amount equal to the lesser of (x) $0.35 per Share and (y) the maximum dividend per Share that the Company may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration (the “Company Special Dividend”; together with the Medley LLC Special Dividend, the “First Special Dividend”), (D) the Company will distribute to each holder of a restricted stock unit of the Company (the “MDLY RSUs”) a dividend equivalent right in an amount equal to the First Special Dividend (the “Dividend Equivalent Right”), (E) prior to the Closing and subsequent to the payment of the First Special Dividend, the Company will distribute as a special dividend to the holders of record of the Shares an amount equal to the lesser of (x) $0.30 per Share and (y) the maximum dividend per Share that the Company may make based on its available cash at the time of such declaration (the “Second Special Dividend” and taken in the aggregate with the First Special Dividend and the Dividend Equivalent Right, the “Special Dividends”), (F) immediately prior to Closing and subsequent to the payment of the Second Special Dividend, each Unit held by members of Medley LLC (other than the Company), including Units resulting from the lapsing of restrictions on the restricted Units (the “Medley Restricted Units”) immediately prior to the Effective Time, will be converted into one Share (the “MDLY LLC Exchange”) pursuant to an exchange agreement (the “MDLY LLC Exchange Agreement”; together with the Company Merger Agreement and the MCC Merger Agreement, the “Agreements”), (G) at the Effective Time, each share of Class B common stock, par value $0.01 per share, of the Company (other than Dissenting Shares) will be cancelled and will cease to exist and no consideration will be delivered in exchange therefor, (H) at the Effective Time, each Share (other than (i) Shares owned by the Company, SIC or any wholly-owned subsidiary of the Company or SIC and (ii) Dissenting Shares), including Shares issued in the MDLY LLC Exchange immediately prior to Closing and the Shares issued upon the lapsing of restrictions on outstanding MDLY RSUs held by non-management directors, will be converted into the right to receive (v) 0.3836 shares of SIC Common Stock (the “Stock Consideration”), (w) an amount equal to $3.44 per Share (the “Cash Consideration), (x) in the event the Company Special Dividend is less than $0.35 per Share, each holder entitled to receive the Company Special Dividend or Dividend Equivalent Right, as the case may be, will receive an amount per Share or MDLY RSU, as the case may be, equal to the difference between $0.35 and the amount of the Company Special Dividend (the “Company Special Dividend Adjustment Amount”), (y) in the event the Medley LLC Special Dividend is less than $0.35 per Share, each holder entitled to receive the Medley LLC Special Dividend will receive an amount per Share equal to the difference between $0.35 and the amount of the Medley LLC Special Dividend (the “Medley LLC Special Dividend Adjustment Amount”), and (z) in the event the Second Special Dividend is less than $0.30 per Share, each holder entitled to receive the Second Special Dividend will receive an amount per Share equal to the difference between $0.30 and the amount of the Second Special Dividend (the “Second Special Dividend Adjustment Amount”; together with the Company Special Dividend Adjustment Amount, the Stock Consideration and the Cash Consideration, the “Merger Consideration”), and (I) at the Effective Time, each MDLY RSU (other than those held by non-management directors) will be converted into the right to receive 0.8532 SIC RSUs. The aggregate of the Merger Consideration, the First Special Dividend and the Second Special Dividend is herein referred to as the “Consideration”. All capitalized terms used but not defined herein shall have the respective meanings set forth in the Company Merger Agreement.

Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC and its affiliates are engaged in advisory, underwriting and financing, principal investing, sales and trading, research, investment management and other financial and non-financial activities and services for various persons and entities. Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC and its affiliates and employees, and funds or other entities they manage or in which they invest or have other economic interests or with which they co-invest, may at any time purchase, sell, hold or vote long or short positions and investments in securities, derivatives, loans, commodities, currencies, credit default swaps and other financial instruments of the Company, SIC, MCC, Medley LLC and any of their respective affiliates and third parties, including funds advised by the Company and affiliates of Restricted Unitholders, or any currency or commodity that may be involved in the transactions contemplated by the Agreements (the “Transactions”). We have acted as financial advisor to the Company in connection with, and have participated in certain of the negotiations leading to, the Transactions. We expect to receive fees for our services in connection with the Transactions, all of which are contingent upon consummation of the Transactions, and the Company has agreed to reimburse certain of our expenses arising, and indemnify us against certain liabilities that may arise, out of our engagement. We may also in the future provide financial advisory and/or underwriting services to the Company, SIC, MCC, Medley LLC, the Surviving Company, funds advised by the Company, affiliates of Restricted Unitholders and their respective affiliates for which our Investment Banking Division may receive compensation.

In connection with this opinion, we have reviewed, among other things, the Agreements; Annual Reports on Form 10-K of the Company for the four years ended December 31, 2017; the Registration Statement on Form S-1, including the prospectus contained therein dated September 15, 2014, relating to the initial public offering of the Shares; Annual Reports on Form 10-K of SIC for the five years ended December 31, 2017; Annual Reports on Form 10-K of MCC for the five fiscal years ended September 30, 2017; certain interim reports to stockholders and Quarterly Reports on Form 10-Q of the Company, SIC and MCC; certain other communications from the Company, SIC and MCC to their respective stockholders; certain publicly available research analyst reports for the Company, SIC and MCC; unaudited financial statements for the Company for the three month period ended March 31, 2018 and the six month period ended June 30, 2018; unaudited financial statements for SIC for the three month period ended March 31, 2018 and the six month period ended June 30, 2018; unaudited financial statements for MCC for the three month period ended March 31, 2018 and the six month period ended June 30, 2018; certain internal financial analyses and forecasts for the Company, SIC stand alone and pro forma for consummation of the Transactions and MCC, in each case prepared by the management of the Company and approved for our use by the Company (the “Forecasts”); and certain operating synergies projected by the management of the Company to result from the Transactions, as approved for our use by the Company (the “Synergies”). We have also held discussions with members of the senior management of the Company regarding their assessment of the strategic rationale for, and the potential benefits of, the Transactions and the past and current business operations, financial condition and future prospects of the Company, SIC and MCC; reviewed the reported price and trading activity for the Shares and MCC Common Stock; compared certain financial and stock market information for the Company and MCC and certain financial information for SIC with similar financial and stock market information for certain other companies the securities of which are publicly traded; reviewed the financial terms of certain recent business combinations in the alternative asset management industry; and performed such other studies and analyses, and considered such other factors, as we deemed appropriate.

For purposes of rendering this opinion, we have, with your consent, relied upon and assumed the accuracy and completeness of all of the financial, legal, regulatory, tax, accounting and other information provided to, discussed with or reviewed by, us, without assuming any responsibility for independent verification thereof. In that regard, we have assumed with your consent that the Forecasts and the Synergies have been reasonably prepared on a basis reflecting the best currently available estimates and judgments of the management of the Company. We have not made an independent evaluation or appraisal of the assets and liabilities (including any contingent, derivative or other off-balance-sheet assets and liabilities) of the Company, SIC, MCC, the Surviving Company or any of their respective subsidiaries and we have not been furnished with any such evaluation or appraisal. We have assumed that all governmental, regulatory or other consents and approvals necessary for the consummation of the Transactions will be obtained without any adverse effect on the Company, SIC, MCC or the Surviving Company or on the expected benefits of the Transactions in any way meaningful to our analysis. We have assumed that the Transactions will be consummated on the terms set forth in the Agreements, without the waiver or modification of any term or condition the effect of which would be in any way meaningful to our analysis.

Our opinion does not address the underlying business decision of the Company to engage in the Transactions, or the relative merits of the Transactions as compared to any strategic alternatives that may be available to the Company; nor does it address any legal, regulatory, tax or accounting matters. This opinion addresses only the fairness from a financial point of view to the holders (other than SIC, MCC and any of their respective affiliates, the holders of Units, the holders of Medley Restricted Units and the holders of MDLY RSUs) of the Shares, as of the date hereof, of the Consideration to be paid to such holders pursuant to the Company Merger Agreement. We do not express any view on, and our opinion does not address, any other term or aspect of the Agreements or Transactions or any term or aspect of any other agreement or instrument contemplated by the Agreements or entered into or amended in connection with the Transactions, including, any allocation of the Consideration or of the aggregate consideration, including the Special Dividends, payable to all holders of Shares pursuant to the Company Merger Agreement, the MCC Merger, the MDLY LLC Exchange or the transactions contemplated thereby, the fairness of the Transactions to, or any consideration received in connection therewith by, the holders of any other class of securities, creditors, or other constituencies of the Company; nor as to the fairness of the amount or nature of any compensation to be paid or payable to any of the officers, directors or employees of the Company, or class of such persons, in connection with the Transactions, whether relative to the Consideration to be paid to the holders (other than SIC, MCC and any of their respective affiliates, the holders of Units, the holders of Medley Restricted Units and the holders of MDLY RSUs) of the Shares pursuant to the Company Merger Agreement or otherwise. We are not expressing any opinion as to the prices at which the SIC Common Stock will trade at any time, the impact of the Transactions on the solvency or viability of the Company, SIC, MCC, Medley LLC or the Surviving Company or the ability of the Company, SIC, MCC, Medley LLC or the Surviving Company to pay their respective obligations when they come due. Our opinion is necessarily based on economic, monetary, market and other conditions as in effect on, and the information made available to us as of, the date hereof and we assume no responsibility for updating, revising or reaffirming this opinion based on circumstances, developments or events occurring after the date hereof. Our advisory services and the opinion expressed herein are provided for the information and assistance of the Board of Directors of the Company in connection with its consideration of the Company Merger and such opinion does not constitute a recommendation as to how any holder of Shares should vote with respect to the Company Merger or any other matter. This opinion has been approved by a fairness committee of Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC.

Based upon and subject to the foregoing, it is our opinion that, as of the date hereof, the Consideration to be paid to the holders (other than SIC, MCC and any of their respective affiliates, the holders of Units, the holders of Medley Restricted Units and the holders of MDLY RSUs) of the Shares pursuant to the Company Merger Agreement is fair from a financial point of view to such holders.

Very truly yours,

/s/ Goldman Sachs & Co. LLC
(GOLDMAN SACHS & CO. LLC)

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION
2018 OMNIBUS INCENTIVE PLAN

1. Purpose. The purpose of the Sierra Income Corporation 2018 Omnibus Incentive Plan is to provide a means through which the Company and its Affiliates may attract and retain key personnel and provide a means whereby directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors (and prospective directors, officers, employees, consultants and advisors) of the Company and its Affiliates can acquire and maintain an equity interest in the Company, or be paid incentive compensation, including incentive compensation measured by reference to the value of Common Stock, thereby strengthening their commitment to the welfare of the Company and its Affiliates and aligning their interests with those of the Company's stockholders. At all times during such periods as the Company qualifies or is intended to qualify as a "business development company" under the 1940 Act, the terms of the Plan shall be construed so as to conform to the stock-based compensation requirements applicable to "business development companies" under the 1940 Act. An Award or related transaction will be deemed to be permitted under the 1940 Act if permitted by any exemptive or "no-action" relief granted by the Commission or its staff.

In connection with the merger of Medley Management Inc., Sierra Income Corporation and Sierra Management Inc. (the "MDLY Merger"), certain awards outstanding under The Medley Management Inc. 2014 Omnibus Incentive Plan (the "Medley Plan") shall be converted into Awards under this Plan in accordance with the terms of the Medley Plan and Section 10 of this Plan.

2. Definitions. The following definitions shall be applicable throughout the Plan.

(a) "1940 Act" means the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and the rules and regulations promulgated thereunder.

(b) "Absolute Share Limit" has the meaning given such term in Section 5(b) of the Plan.

(c) "Affiliate" means any Person that directly or indirectly controls, is controlled by or is under common control with the Company. The term "control" (including, with correlative meaning, the terms "controlled by" and "under common control with"), as applied to any Person, means the possession, directly or indirectly, of the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of such Person, whether through the ownership of voting or other securities, by contract or otherwise.

(d) "Award" means, individually or collectively, any Incentive Stock Option, Nonqualified Stock Option, Restricted Share, Restricted Stock Unit, Other Stock-Based Award, or Performance Compensation Award granted under the Plan.

(e) "Board" means the Board of Directors of the Company.

(f) "Cause" means, as to any Participant, unless the applicable Award agreement states otherwise, (i) "Cause," as defined in any employment or consulting agreement between the Participant and the Service Recipient in effect at the time of such Termination; or (ii) in the absence of any such employment or consulting agreement (or the absence of any definition of "Cause" contained therein), the Participant's (A) willful neglect in the performance of the Participant's duties for the Service Recipient or willful or repeated failure or refusal to perform such duties; (B) engagement in conduct in connection with the Participant's employment or service with the Service Recipient that results, or could reasonably be expected to result, in material harm to the business or reputation of the Company or any Affiliate; (C) conviction of, or plea of guilty or no contest to, (I) any felony or (II) any other crime that results, or could reasonably be expected to result, in material harm to the business or reputation of the Company or any Affiliate; (D) material violation of the written policies of the Company and any Affiliate for which Participant is engaged in business dealings on behalf of the Company or a Service Recipient, including but not limited to those relating to sexual harassment, or the disclosure or misuse of confidential information, or any other policies set forth in the manuals or statements of policy of the Company, the Service Recipient, or an Affiliate, as applicable; (E) fraud or misappropriation, embezzlement or misuse of funds, property, or opportunity belonging to the Company or any Affiliate; or (F) act of personal dishonesty that involves personal profit in connection with the Participant's employment or service to the Service Recipient.

(g) “Change in Control” means:

(i) the acquisition (whether by purchase, merger, consolidation, combination or other similar transaction) by any Person of beneficial ownership (within the meaning of Rule 13d-3 promulgated under the Exchange Act) of more than fifty percent (50%) (on a fully diluted basis) of either (A) the then outstanding shares of Common Stock, taking into account as outstanding for this purpose such Common Stock issuable upon the exercise of options or warrants, the conversion of convertible stock or debt, and the exercise of any similar right to acquire such Common Stock, or (B) the combined voting power of the then outstanding voting securities of the Company entitled to vote generally in the election of directors; provided, however, that for purposes of this Plan, the following acquisitions shall not constitute a Change in Control: (I) any acquisition by the Company or any Affiliate; (II) any acquisition by any employee benefit plan sponsored or maintained by the Company or any Affiliate; or (III) in respect of an Award held by a particular Participant, any acquisition by the Participant or any group of Persons including the Participant (or any entity controlled by the Participant or any group of Persons including the Participant);

(ii) during any period of twenty-four (24) months, individuals who, at the beginning of such period, constitute the Board (the “Incumbent Directors”) cease for any reason to constitute at least a majority of the Board, provided that any person becoming a director subsequent to the date hereof, whose election or nomination for election was approved by a vote of at least two-thirds (2/3rds) of the Incumbent Directors then on the Board (either by a specific vote or by approval of the proxy statement of the Company in which such person is named as a nominee for director, without written objection to such nomination) shall be an Incumbent Director; provided, however, that no individual initially elected or nominated as a director of the Company as a result of an actual or threatened election contest, as such terms are used in Rule 14a-12 of Regulation 14A promulgated under the Exchange Act, with respect to directors or as a result of any other actual or threatened solicitation of proxies or consents by or on behalf of any person other than the Board shall be deemed to be an Incumbent Director;

(iii) the sale, transfer or other disposition of all or substantially all of the assets of the Company to any Person that is not an Affiliate of the Company; or

(iv) a change in the management structure of the Company from an internally managed business development company to an externally managed business development company pursuant to which the Company enters into an investment advisory agreement with a third-party advisor.

(h) “Code” means the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended, and any successor thereto. Reference in the Plan to any section of the Code shall be deemed to include any regulations or other interpretative guidance under such section, and any amendments or successor provisions to such section, regulations or guidance.

(i) “Commission” means the United States Securities and Exchange Commission.

(j) “Committee” means the Compensation Committee of the Board, or the Board.

(k) “Compensation Committee” means the compensation committee of the Board. The Compensation Committee shall have at least two (2) members, each of whom shall be a “non-employee director” as defined in Rule 16b-3 under the Exchange Act and, if applicable, meets the independence requirements of the applicable stock exchange, quotation system or other self-regulatory organization on which the Common Stock is traded.

(l) “Common Stock” means the common stock, par value $0.001 per share, of the Company (and any stock or other securities into which such Common Stock may be converted or into which it may be exchanged).

(m) “Company” means Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation, and any successor thereto.

Table of Contents

(n) “Continuous Service” means the Participant’s uninterrupted service with the Company or an Affiliate (including any predecessors), whether as an employee or a non-employee director.

(o) “Date of Grant” means the date on which the granting of an Award is authorized, or such other date as may be specified in such authorization.

(p) “Designated Foreign Subsidiaries” means all Affiliates organized under the laws of any jurisdiction or country other than the United States that may be designated by the Board or the Committee from time to time.

(q) “Detrimental Activity” means any of the following: (i) unauthorized disclosure of any confidential or proprietary information of the Company or its Affiliates; (ii) any activity that would be grounds to terminate the Participant’s employment or service with the Service Recipient for Cause; (iii) the breach of any noncompetition, nonsolicitation or other agreement containing restrictive covenants, with the Company or its Affiliates; or (iv) fraud or conduct contributing to any financial restatements or irregularities, as determined by the Committee in its sole discretion.

(r) “Disability” means, as to any Participant, unless the applicable Award agreement states otherwise, (i) “Disability”, as defined in any employment or consulting agreement between the Participant and the Service Recipient in effect at the time of such Termination; or (ii) in the absence of any such employment or consulting agreement (or the absence of any definition of “Disability” contained therein), a condition entitling the Participant to receive income replacement benefits under a long-term disability plan of the Company or an Affiliate, or, in the absence of such a plan, the complete and permanent inability by reason of illness or accident to perform the duties of the occupation at which a Participant was employed or served when such disability commenced. Any determination of whether Disability exists shall be made by the Company in its sole discretion.

(s) “Dividend Shares” has the meaning given such term in Section 8(g) of the Plan.

(t) “Effective Date” means the date when the Plan has been approved by the stockholders of the Company, which approval shall be within twelve (12) months before or after the date the Plan is adopted by the Board; provided, however, that the Plan shall not be effective until the time at which the MDLY Merger is effective, and shall not be effective with respect to Awards involving Common Stock, including Options, Restricted Shares, Restricted Stock Units and Other Stock-Based Awards, unless the Company has received an order of the Commission under Section 6(c) of the 1940 Act for an exemption from Sections 23(a) and 23(b), under Section 57(i) of the 1940 Act and Rule 17d-1 thereunder for an exemption from Section 57(a)(4) and under Section 23(c)(3) of the 1940 Act for an exemption from Section 23(c).

(u) “Eligible Person” means any (i) individual employed by the Company or an Affiliate; provided, however, that no such employee covered by a collective bargaining agreement shall be an Eligible Person unless and to the extent that such eligibility is set forth in such collective bargaining agreement or in an agreement or instrument relating thereto; (ii) director or officer of the Company or an Affiliate, including Non-Employee Directors; (iii) consultant or advisor to the Company or an Affiliate who may be offered securities registrable pursuant to a registration statement on Form S-8 under the Securities Act; or (iv) any prospective employees, directors, officers, consultants or advisors who have accepted offers of employment or consultancy from the Company or one of its Affiliates (and would satisfy the provisions of clauses (i) through (iii) above once he or she begins employment with or providing services to the Company or one of its Affiliates), who, in the case of each of clauses (i), (ii), or (iv) above has entered into an Award agreement or who has received written notification from the Committee or its designee that they have been selected to participate in the Plan. Solely for purposes of this Section 2(t), “Affiliate” shall be limited to: (A) a Subsidiary; (B) any parent corporation of the Company within the meaning of Section 424(e) of the Code (“Parent”); (C) any corporation, trade or business of which fifty percent (50%) or more of the combined voting power of such entity’s outstanding securities is directly or indirectly controlled by the Company or any Subsidiary or Parent; or (D) any corporation, trade or business that, directly or indirectly, controls fifty percent (50%) or more of the combined voting power of the outstanding securities of the Company.

(v) “Exchange Act” means the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended, and any successor thereto. Reference in the Plan to any section of (or rule promulgated under) the Exchange Act shall be deemed to include any rules, regulations or other interpretative guidance under such section or rule, and any amendments or successor provisions to such section, rules, regulations or guidance.

(tt) “Service Recipient” means, with respect to a Participant holding a given Award, either the Company or an Affiliate of the Company by which the original recipient of such Award is, or following a Termination was most recently, principally employed or to which such original recipient provides, or following a Termination was most recently providing, services, as applicable.

(uu) “Subsidiary” means, with respect to any specified Person:

(i) any corporation, association or other business entity of which more than fifty percent (50%) of the total voting power of shares of such entity’s voting securities (without regard to the occurrence of any contingency and after giving effect to any voting agreement or stockholders’ agreement that effectively transfers voting power) is at the time owned or controlled, directly or indirectly, by that Person or one or more of the other Subsidiaries of that Person (or a combination thereof); and

(ii) any partnership (or any comparable foreign entity) (A) the sole general partner (or functional equivalent thereof) or the managing general partner of which is such Person or Subsidiary of such Person or (B) the only general partners (or functional equivalents thereof) of which are that Person or one or more Subsidiaries of that Person (or any combination thereof).

(vv) “Substitute Award” has the meaning given such term in Section 5(e) of the Plan.

(ww) “Sub-Plans” means, any sub-plan to this Plan that has been adopted by the Board or the Committee for the purpose of permitting the offering of Awards to employees of certain Designated Foreign Subsidiaries or otherwise outside the United States, with each such sub-plan designed to comply with local laws applicable to offerings in such foreign jurisdictions. Although any Sub-Plan may be designated a separate and independent plan from the Plan in order to comply with applicable local laws, the Absolute Share Limit shall apply in the aggregate to the Plan and any Sub-Plan adopted hereunder.

(xx) “Termination” means the termination of a Participant’s employment or service, as applicable, with the Service Recipient.

3. Effective Date; Duration. The Plan shall be effective as of the Effective Date. The expiration date of the Plan, on and after which date no Awards may be granted hereunder, shall be the tenth (10th) anniversary of the Effective Date; provided, however, that such expiration shall not affect Awards then outstanding, and the terms and conditions of the Plan shall continue to apply to such Awards.

4. Administration.

- (a) Administration. As provided in Section 4(c), the Board has delegated the administration of the Plan to the Committee.
- (b) Powers of the Committee. The Committee shall have the power, subject to the express provisions of the Plan and applicable law:

(i) To determine from time to time: which of the Eligible Persons shall be granted Awards; when and how each Award shall be granted and documented; what type or combination of types of Awards shall be granted; the provisions of each Award granted, including the time or times when a person shall be permitted to exercise an Award; and the number of shares of Common Stock with respect to which an Award shall be granted to each such person.

(ii) To construe and interpret the Plan, Awards granted under it, and any Award documentation and reconcile any inconsistency in, correct any defect in and/or supply any omission in any Award documentation. To establish, amend and revoke rules and regulations for the administration of the Plan and Awards. The Committee, in the exercise of this power, may correct any defect, omission or inconsistency in the Plan or in any Award documentation, in such manner and to such extent as it shall deem necessary or expedient to make the Plan fully effective.

(iii) To determine whether, to what extent, and under what circumstances Awards may be settled or exercised in cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities, other Awards or other property, or canceled, forfeited, or suspended and the method or methods by which Awards may be settled, exercised, canceled, forfeited, or suspended.

(iv) To determine whether, to what extent, and under what circumstances the delivery of cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities, other Awards or other property and other amounts payable with respect to an Award shall be deferred either automatically or at the election of the Participant or of the Committee.

(v) To establish, amend, suspend, or waive any rules and regulations and appoint such agents as the Committee shall deem appropriate for the proper administration of the Plan.

(vi) To adopt Sub-Plans.

(vii) To amend an Award as provided in Section 11 of the Plan.

(viii) Generally, to exercise such powers and to perform such acts as the Committee deems necessary or expedient to promote the best interests of the Company and its Affiliates and that are not in conflict with the provisions of the Plan.

Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in the Plan, the Board may, in its sole discretion, at any time and from time to time, grant Awards and administer the Plan with respect to such Awards and amend, suspend or terminate the Plan as provided in Section 11 of the Plan. Any such actions by the Board shall be subject to the applicable rules of the NYSE or any other securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the Common Stock is listed or quoted. In any such case, the Board shall have all the authority granted to the Committee under the Plan.

(c) Delegation to Committee. The Board has delegated administration of the Plan to the Committee; provided that a “required majority,” as defined in Section 57(o) of the 1940 Act, must approve each issuance of Awards in accordance with Section 61(a)(4)(B)(i)(I) of the 1940 Act. The Board may rescind its delegation of authority to the Committee at any time and revert in the Board the administration of the Plan, in which case references herein to the Committee shall be to the Board.

Except to the extent prohibited by applicable law or the applicable rules and regulations of any securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the securities of the Company are listed or traded, the Committee may allocate all or any portion of its responsibilities and powers to any one or more of its members and may delegate all or any part of its responsibilities and powers to any person or persons selected by it. Any such allocation or delegation may be revoked by the Committee at any time. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Committee may delegate to one or more officers of the Company or any Affiliate the authority to act on behalf of the Committee with respect to any matter, right, obligation, or election that is the responsibility of or that is allocated to the Committee herein, and that may be so delegated as a matter of law, except for grants of Awards to persons who are Non-Employee Directors or otherwise are subject to Section 16 of the Exchange Act and provided that the grant of the Award complies with the 1940 Act. Unless otherwise expressly provided in the Plan, all designations, determinations, interpretations, and other decisions under or with respect to the Plan or any Award or any documents evidencing Awards granted pursuant to the Plan shall be within the sole discretion of the Committee, may be made at any time and shall be final, conclusive and binding upon all persons or entities, including, without limitation, the Company, any of its Affiliates, any Participant, any holder or beneficiary of any Award, and any stockholder of the Company.

(d) Effect of Decision. Determinations, interpretations and constructions made by the Board or the Committee, as applicable, in good faith shall not be subject to review by any person and shall be final, binding and conclusive on all persons.

(e) No member of the Board, the Committee or any employee or agent of the Company or any Affiliate (each such person, an “Indemnifiable Person”) shall be liable for any action taken or omitted to be taken or any determination made with respect to the Plan or any Award hereunder (unless constituting fraud or a willful criminal act or omission).

5. Grant of Awards; Shares Subject to the Plan; Limitations.

(a) The Committee may, from time to time, grant Awards to one or more Eligible Persons.

(b) Awards granted under the Plan shall be subject to the following limitations: (i) subject to Section 11 of the Plan, the total number of Awards available under the Plan shall be no more than ten percent (10%) of the outstanding shares of Common Stock as of the Effective Date (the “Absolute Share Limit”); (ii) subject to Section 11 of the Plan, grants of Awards under the Plan in respect of no more than two and one-half percent (2.5%) of the outstanding shares of Common Stock as of the Effective Date may be made to any individual Participant during any single fiscal year of the Company; (iii) no more than the number of shares of Common Stock equal to the Absolute Share Limit may be issued in the aggregate pursuant to the exercise of Incentive Stock Options granted under the Plan; and (iv) each of the foregoing limits on the number of Awards shall be subject to adjustment under Section 10 of the Plan.

(c) Other than with respect to Substitute Awards, to the extent that an Award expires or is canceled, forfeited, terminated, settled in cash, or otherwise is settled without delivery to the Participant of the full number of shares of Common Stock to which the Award related, the undelivered shares will again be available for grant; provided, however, that in the case of an Incentive Stock Option, the forgoing shall be subject to any limitations under the Code. Shares of Common Stock withheld in payment of the Exercise Price or taxes relating to an Award and shares equal to the number of shares surrendered (either actually or by attestation) in payment of any Exercise Price, purchase price for an Award other than an Option, or taxes relating to an Award shall be deemed to constitute shares not issued to the Participant and shall be deemed to again be available for Awards under the Plan on a one-for-one basis; provided, however, that in the case of an Incentive Stock Option, the forgoing shall be subject to any limitations under the Code; and provided further, that such shares shall not become available for issuance hereunder if: (i) the applicable shares are withheld or surrendered following the termination of the Plan; (ii) at the time the applicable shares are withheld or surrendered, it would constitute a material revision of the Plan subject to stockholder approval under any then-applicable rules of the NYSE or other securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the Common Stock is listed or quoted, (iii) the applicable shares were tendered by the Participant in payment of the Exercise Price of an Option or purchase price for an Award other than an Option; (iv) the applicable shares were tendered by the Participant to satisfy any tax withholding obligation with respect to an Award, or (v) the applicable shares were reacquired by the Company on the open market or otherwise using cash proceeds from the exercise of Options or settlement of an Award.

(d) Shares of Common Stock issued by the Company in settlement of Awards may be authorized and unissued shares, shares held in the treasury of the Company, shares purchased on the open market or by private purchase or a combination of the foregoing.

(e) Awards may, in the sole discretion of the Committee, be granted under the Plan in assumption of, or in substitution for, outstanding awards previously granted by an entity directly or indirectly acquired by the Company or with which the Company combines (“Substitute Awards”). Subject to the applicable rules of the NYSE or any other securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the Common Stock is listed or quoted, Substitute Awards shall not be counted against the Absolute Share Limit; provided, however, that Substitute Awards issued in connection with the assumption of, or in substitution for, outstanding options intended to qualify as “incentive stock options” within the meaning of Section 422 of the Code shall be counted against the aggregate number of shares of Common Stock available for Awards of Incentive Stock Options under the Plan. Subject to the applicable rules of the NYSE or any other securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the Common Stock is listed or quoted, available shares under a stockholder approved plan of an entity directly or indirectly acquired by the Company or with which the Company combines (as appropriately adjusted to reflect the acquisition or combination transaction) may be used for Awards under the Plan and shall not reduce the number of shares of Common Stock available for issuance under the Plan.

(f) No Grants in Contravention of 1940 Act. No Award may be granted under the Plan if the grant of such Award would cause the Company to violate any section of the 1940 Act, and, if otherwise approved for grant, shall be void and of no effect.

(g) Limits on Number of Awards. Pursuant to Section 61(a)(4) of the 1940 Act, the amount of voting securities that would result from the exercise of all of the Company’s outstanding warrants, options, or rights, at the time of issuance, together with the settlement of any Restricted Stock Units and the vesting of any Restricted Shares, whether issued under the Plan or any other compensation plan of the Company (the “Outstanding Equity Grants”), may not exceed twenty-five percent (25%) of the outstanding voting securities of the Company; provided, however, that if the amount of voting securities that would result from the exercise, settlement and vesting of all Awards issued to the Company’s directors and employees issued under the Plan or any other compensation plan of the Company, would exceed fifteen percent (15%) of the outstanding voting securities of the Company, then at the time of the grant of any Award, the total amount of voting securities that would result from the exercise of all Outstanding Equity Grants plus the new Award grant shall not exceed twenty percent (20%) of the outstanding voting securities of the Company. Shares granted pursuant to an Award of Restricted Shares or Restricted Stock Units that are used to settle tax withholding obligations pursuant to Section 12(c), or settled in cash, shall be included as “Restricted Shares issued” or “Restricted Stock Units granted” for purposes of the calculations set forth in this Section 5(g).

(h) Date of Award’s Grant. The date on which the “required majority,” as defined in Section 57(o) of the 1940 Act, and as described in Section 4(c) of the Plan, approves the issuance of an Award will be deemed the date on which such Award is granted.

(i) Application of Section 16 of the Exchange Act. With respect to persons subject to Section 16 of the Exchange Act, transactions under the Plan are intended to comply with all applicable conditions of Rule 16b-3 or its successor under the Exchange Act. To the extent any provision of the Plan or action by the Committee fails to so comply, it shall be deemed to be modified so as to be in compliance with such Rule or, if such modification is not possible, it shall be deemed to be null and void, to the extent permitted by law and deemed advisable by the Committee.

6. Eligibility. Participation in the Plan shall be limited to Eligible Persons.

7. Options.

(a) General. Each Option granted under the Plan shall be evidenced by an Award agreement, in written or electronic form, which agreement need not be the same for each Participant. Each Option so granted shall be subject to the conditions set forth in this Section 7, and to such other conditions not inconsistent with the Plan as may be reflected in the applicable Award agreement. All Options granted under the Plan shall be Nonqualified Stock Options unless the applicable Award agreement expressly states that the Option is intended to be an Incentive Stock Option. Incentive Stock Options shall be granted only to Eligible Persons who are employees of the Company or any of the Company’s present or future parent or subsidiary corporations, as defined in Section 424(e) or (f) of the Code, or other Affiliates the employees of which are eligible to receive Incentive Stock Options under the Code (each an “ISO Entity”); and no Incentive Stock Option shall be granted to any Eligible Person who is ineligible to receive an Incentive Stock Option under the Code. No Option shall be treated as an Incentive Stock Option unless the Plan has been approved by the stockholders of the Company in a manner intended to comply with the stockholder approval requirements of Section 422(b)(1) of the Code; provided, however, that any Option intended to be an Incentive Stock Option shall not fail to be effective solely on account of a failure to obtain such approval, but rather such Option shall be treated as a Nonqualified Stock Option unless and until such approval is obtained. In the case of an Incentive Stock Option, the terms and conditions of such grant shall be subject to and comply with such rules as may be prescribed by Section 422 of the Code. If for any reason an Option intended to be an Incentive Stock Option (or any portion thereof) shall not qualify as an Incentive Stock Option, then, to the extent of such nonqualification, such Option or portion thereof shall be regarded as a Nonqualified Stock Option appropriately granted under the Plan. No Incentive Stock Option may be granted more than ten (10) years from the date the Plan is adopted, or the date the Plan is approved by the stockholders, whichever is earlier.

(b) Exercise Price. Except as otherwise provided by the Committee in the case of Substitute Awards, the exercise price (“Exercise Price”) per share of Common Stock for each Option shall not be less than one hundred percent (100%) of the Fair Market Value of such share (determined as of the Date of Grant); provided, however, that in the case of an Incentive Stock Option granted to an employee who, at the time of the grant of such Option, owns stock representing more than ten percent (10%) of the voting power of all classes of stock of the Company or any ISO Entity, the Exercise Price per share shall be no less than one hundred ten percent (110%) of the Fair Market Value per share on the Date of Grant. No action shall be taken that would be treated as a repricing under the rules and regulations of the NYSE or any other securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the shares of Common Stock are listed, or if not listed quoted, or is otherwise prohibited by the 1940 Act.

(c) Vesting and Expiration; Termination.

(i) Options shall vest and become exercisable in such manner and on such date or dates or upon such events as determined by the Committee; provided, however, that notwithstanding any such vesting dates or events, the Committee may in its sole discretion accelerate the vesting of any Options at any time and for any reason.

(ii) Options shall expire upon a date determined by the Committee, not to exceed ten (10) years from the Date of Grant (the “Option Period”); provided, however, that if a ten (10) year Option Period (other than in the case of an Incentive Stock Option) would expire at a time when trading in the shares of Common Stock is prohibited by the Company’s insider trading policy (or Company-imposed “blackout period”), then the Option Period shall be automatically extended until the thirtieth (30th) day following the expiration of such prohibition except to the extent such extension would subject the Option to adverse tax consequences under Section 409A of the Code. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in no event shall the Option Period exceed five (5) years from the Date of Grant in the case of an Incentive Stock Option granted to an employee who on the Date of Grant owns stock representing more than ten percent (10%) of the voting power of all classes of stock of the Company or an ISO Entity.

(iii) Unless otherwise provided by the Committee, whether in an Award agreement or otherwise, in the event of: (A) a Participant’s Termination by the Service Recipient for Cause, all outstanding Options granted to such Participant shall immediately terminate and expire; (B) a Participant’s Termination due to death or Disability, each outstanding unvested Option granted to such Participant shall immediately terminate and expire, and each outstanding vested Option shall remain exercisable for one (1) year thereafter (but in no event beyond the expiration of the Option Period); and (C) a Participant’s Termination for any other reason, each outstanding unvested Option granted to such Participant shall immediately terminate and expire, and each outstanding vested Option shall remain exercisable for ninety (90) days thereafter (but in no event beyond the expiration of the Option Period).

(d) Method of Exercise and Form of Payment. No shares of Common Stock shall be issued pursuant to any exercise of an Option until payment in full of the Exercise Price therefor is received by the Company and the Participant has paid to the Company an amount equal to any Federal, state, local and non-United States income, employment and any other applicable taxes required to be withheld. Options that have become exercisable may be exercised by delivery of written or electronic notice of exercise to the Company (or telephonic instructions to the extent provided by the Committee) in accordance with the terms of the Option accompanied by payment of the Exercise Price. The Exercise Price shall be payable: (i) in cash, check, cash equivalent and/or shares of Common Stock valued at the Fair Market Value at the time the Option is exercised (including, pursuant to procedures approved by the Committee, by means of attestation of ownership of a sufficient number of shares of Common Stock in lieu of actual issuance of such shares to the Company); provided, however, that such shares of Common Stock are not subject to any pledge or other security interest; or (ii) by such other method as the Committee may permit in its sole discretion, including, without limitation, any one or more of the following: (A) in other property having a fair market value on the date of exercise equal to the Exercise Price; (B) if there is a public market for the shares of Common Stock at such time, by means of a broker-assisted “cashless exercise” pursuant to which the Company is delivered (including telephonically to the extent permitted by the Committee) a copy of irrevocable instructions to a stockbroker to sell the shares of Common Stock otherwise issuable upon the exercise of the Option and to deliver promptly to the Company an amount equal to the Exercise Price or (C) a “net exercise” procedure effected by withholding the minimum number of shares of Common Stock otherwise issuable in respect of an Option that are needed to pay the Exercise Price and all applicable required withholding and any other applicable taxes; provided, however, that such payment is permitted by the 1940 Act and otherwise legally permissible. Shares of Common Stock subject to the Option will be delivered by the Company as soon as practicable following exercise and payment of the Exercise Price, subject to compliance with applicable law. If the Participant fails to pay for or to accept delivery of all or any part of the number of shares specified in the notice upon tender of delivery thereof, the right to exercise the Option with respect to those shares shall be terminated, unless the Committee otherwise agrees.

(e) Notification upon Disqualifying Disposition of an Incentive Stock Option. Each Participant awarded an Incentive Stock Option under the Plan shall notify the Company in writing immediately after the date he or she makes a disqualifying disposition of any Common Stock acquired pursuant to the exercise of such Incentive Stock Option. A disqualifying disposition is any disposition (including, without limitation, any sale) of such Common Stock before the later of (i) two (2) years after the Date of Grant of the Incentive Stock Option or (ii) one (1) year after the date of exercise of the Incentive Stock Option. The Company may, if determined by the Committee and in accordance with procedures established by the Committee, retain possession, as agent for the applicable Participant, of any Common Stock acquired pursuant to the exercise of an Incentive Stock Option until the end of the period described in the preceding sentence, subject to complying with any instructions from such Participant as to the sale of such Common Stock.

(f) Limitation on Repurchase Rights. If an Option gives the Company the right to repurchase shares of Stock issued pursuant to the Plan, the terms of such repurchase right must comply with the 1940 Act.

(g) Compliance with Laws, etc. Notwithstanding the foregoing, in no event shall a Participant be permitted to exercise an Option in a manner that the Committee determines would violate the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002, as it may be amended from time to time, or any other applicable law or the applicable rules and regulations of the Commission or the applicable rules and regulations of any securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the securities of the Company are listed or traded.

8. Restricted Shares and Restricted Stock Units.

(a) General. Each grant of Restricted Shares and Restricted Stock Units shall be evidenced by an Award agreement. Each Restricted Share and Restricted Stock Unit so granted shall be subject to the conditions set forth in this Section 8, and to such other conditions not inconsistent with the Plan as may be reflected in the applicable Award agreement.

(b) Non-Employee Directors. Subject to the forfeiture restrictions set forth below, each Non-Employee Director shall automatically be granted the lesser of (i) Restricted Shares (as adjusted pursuant to Section 10 hereof) or (ii) that number of Restricted Shares equal to $ _____ divided by the greater of (A) the closing price per share of Common Stock on the date of grant and (B) the net asset value per share of Common Stock on the date of grant (such lesser number of shares, the “Periodic Grant Amount”), on the date of such Non-Employee Director’s election or re-election to the Board of Directors. Such Restricted Shares will be granted to each Non-Employee Director on the date of the Company’s Annual Meeting of Stockholders at which such Non-Employee Director is elected or re-elected to the Board (or such other date as determined by the Board in the event that an Annual Meeting of Stockholders is not held by the Company) and the forfeiture restrictions for such shares will lapse, if the Non-Employee Director is in Continuous Service through such date, as to one-third (1/3rd) of such shares on the anniversary of such grant (or, if earlier, the Annual Meeting of Stockholders that is closest to the anniversary of such grant) over three (3) years.

(c) Stock Certificates and Book-Entry; Escrow or Similar Arrangement. Upon the grant of Restricted Shares, the Committee shall cause a stock certificate registered in the name of the Participant to be issued or shall cause share(s) of Common Stock to be registered in the name of the Participant and held in book-entry form subject to the Company's directions and, if the Committee determines that the Restricted Shares shall be held by the Company or in escrow rather than issued to the Participant pending the release of the applicable restrictions, the Committee may require the Participant to additionally execute and deliver to the Company (i) an escrow agreement satisfactory to the Committee, if applicable and (ii) the appropriate stock power (endorsed in blank) with respect to the Restricted Shares covered by such agreement. If a Participant shall fail to execute and deliver (in a manner permitted under Section 12(a) of the Plan or as otherwise determined by the Committee) an agreement evidencing an Award of Restricted Shares and, if applicable, an escrow agreement and blank stock power within the amount of time specified by the Committee, the Award shall be null and void. Subject to the restrictions set forth in this Section 8 and the applicable Award agreement, the Participant generally shall have the rights and privileges of a stockholder as to such Restricted Shares, including, without limitation, the right to vote such Restricted Shares; provided, however, that if the lapsing of restrictions with respect to any grant of Restricted Shares is contingent on satisfaction of performance conditions (other than or in addition to the passage of time), any dividends payable on such Restricted Shares shall be held by the Company and delivered (without interest) to the Participant within fifteen (15) days following the date on which the restrictions on such Restricted Shares lapse (and the right to any such accumulated dividends shall be forfeited upon the forfeiture of the Restricted Shares to which such dividends relate). To the extent Restricted Shares are forfeited, any stock certificates issued to the Participant evidencing such shares shall be returned to the Company, and all rights of the Participant to such shares and as a stockholder with respect thereto shall terminate without further obligation on the part of the Company.

(d) Restricted Period; Termination.

(i) The Restricted Period with respect to Restricted Shares and Restricted Stock Units shall lapse in such manner and on such date or dates or upon such events determined by the Committee; provided, however, that notwithstanding any such dates or events, the Committee may in its sole discretion accelerate the lapse of the Restricted Period at any time and for any reason.

(ii) Unless otherwise provided by the Committee, whether in an Award agreement or otherwise, in the event of a Participant's Termination for any reason prior to the time that such Participant's Restricted Shares or Restricted Stock Units, as applicable, have vested (A) all vesting with respect to such Participant's Restricted Shares or Restricted Stock Units shall cease and (B) unvested Restricted Shares and unvested Restricted Stock Units, as applicable, shall be forfeited to the Company by the Participant, for no consideration, as of the date of such Termination.

(e) Issuance of Restricted Shares and Settlement of Restricted Stock Units.

(i) Upon the expiration of the Restricted Period with respect to any Restricted Shares, the restrictions set forth in the applicable Award agreement shall be of no further force or effect with respect to such shares, except as set forth in the applicable Award agreement. If an escrow arrangement is used, upon such expiration, the Company shall issue to the Participant, or his or her beneficiary, without charge, the stock certificate (or, if applicable, a notice evidencing a book-entry notation) evidencing the Restricted Shares that have not then been forfeited and with respect to which the Restricted Period has expired, except as set forth in the applicable Award agreement.

(ii) Unless otherwise provided by the Committee in an Award agreement or otherwise, upon the expiration of the Restricted Period with respect to any outstanding Restricted Stock Units, the Company shall issue to the Participant, or his or her beneficiary, without charge, one (1) share of Common Stock (or other securities or other property, as applicable) for each such outstanding Restricted Stock Unit; provided, however, that the Committee may, in its sole discretion, elect to (i) pay cash or part cash and part shares of Common Stock in lieu of issuing only shares of Common Stock in respect of such Restricted Stock Units; or (ii) defer the issuance of shares of Common Stock (or cash or part shares of Common Stock and part cash, as the case may be) beyond the expiration of the Restricted Period if such extension would not cause adverse tax consequences under Section 409A of the Code. If a cash payment is made in lieu of issuing shares of Common Stock, the amount of such payment shall be equal to the Fair Market Value of the Common Stock as of the date on which the Restricted Period lapsed with respect to such Restricted Stock Units.

(f) Legends on Restricted Shares. Each certificate (or entries in the case of book-entry form), if any, representing Restricted Shares awarded under the Plan, shall bear a legend substantially in the form of the following, in addition to any other information the Company deems appropriate, until the lapse of all restrictions with respect to such shares of Common Stock:

TRANSFER OF THIS CERTIFICATE AND THE SHARES REPRESENTED HEREBY IS RESTRICTED PURSUANT TO THE TERMS OF THE SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION 2018 OMNIBUS INCENTIVE PLAN AND A RESTRICTED SHARE AWARD AGREEMENT BETWEEN SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION AND THE STOCKHOLDER. A COPY OF SUCH PLAN AND AWARD AGREEMENT IS ON FILE AT THE PRINCIPAL EXECUTIVE OFFICES OF SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION.

(g) Dividend Equivalents. The Committee may provide for dividend equivalents in respect of all outstanding Restricted Stock Units and, if so provided, any such dividend equivalents shall be in the form of share equivalents, unless otherwise provided by the Committee. Any such dividend equivalents, unless otherwise provided by the Committee, shall be deemed to be hypothetically reinvested at Fair Market Value in shares of Common Stock on the date on which any such dividend is paid by the Company on its Common Stock ("Dividend Shares"). If dividend equivalents are not so reinvested, they shall be accumulated and paid (with or without interest credited on such cash, at the sole discretion of the Committee) in cash or at the sole discretion of the Committee, in shares of Common Stock having a Fair Market Value (on the date of distribution) equal to the amount of such dividends, at the time provided below in this Section 8(g). Dividend Shares shall be deemed to constitute outstanding shares for purposes of subsequent dividend payments by the Company. Dividend Shares (and/or accumulated cash) shall be settled and delivered on the date that the Restricted Stock Units to which they relate are settled and delivered if, and only to the extent that, the related Restricted Stock Unit vests. To the extent that all or any portion of the related Restricted Stock Unit does not vest or is forfeited any Dividend Shares (and/or accumulated dividends, as the case may be) corresponding to the portion of the Restricted Stock Unit that does not vest or is forfeited shall similarly not vest and be forfeited by the participant without any compensation therefore. Any elections as to form and investment in this Section 8(g) shall be made in accordance with the principles set forth in the Plan and as otherwise provided in the form prescribed by the Committee.

(h) Deferral of Restricted Stock Units. Subject to any procedures as may be permitted or required by the Committee, a Participant may file a written election with the Company in the form prescribed by the Committee pursuant to which such Participant elects to defer the receipt of all or a portion of the Common Stock to be issued in settlement of the vested portion of a Restricted Stock Unit described in this Section 8. In addition, subject to any procedures as may be permitted or required or further amended by the Committee in its sole discretion, the following shall apply to any such deferrals:

(i) Timing of Election. Such election must be filed in December of the year prior to the year of grant (unless permitted at a later date by Section 409A of the Code, in which case it must be filed by such later date). Any such election shall remain in effect until it is revoked or until a new election is submitted, in each case during December of the year prior to the year of grant.

(ii) Settlement of Award. If a Participant has made a deferral election with respect to any Restricted Stock Unit pursuant to this Section 8(h), the settlement of the vested portion of such Award shall be delayed until the date specified in the deferral election and Plan.

(iii) Rights of Participant during Deferral Period. Awards deferred pursuant to this Section 9(h) represent an unfunded and unsecured promise to pay on behalf of the Company. The right of any Participant to receive payments from the Company pursuant to a deferral election shall be no greater than the right of any general unsecured creditor of the Company or any Affiliate.

(i) Consideration. To the extent permitted by the 1940 Act, Awards of Restricted Shares may be made in exchange for past services or other lawful consideration.

9. Other Stock Awards; Performance Compensation Awards.

(a) The Committee may issue unrestricted Common Stock, rights to receive grants of Awards at a future date, or other Awards denominated in Common Stock, including, without limitation, performance shares or performance units (each, a form of “Other Stock-Based Award”), under the Plan to Eligible Persons, alone or in tandem with other Awards, in such amounts as the Committee shall from time to time in its sole discretion determine. Each Other Stock-Based Award granted under the Plan shall be evidenced by an Award agreement. Each Other Stock-Based Award so granted shall be subject to such conditions not inconsistent with the Plan as may be reflected in the applicable Award agreement.

(b) The Committee may provide for Performance Compensation Awards, subject to such terms and conditions as the Committee may deem appropriate. Each Performance Compensation Award so granted shall be subject to such conditions not inconsistent with the Plan as may be reflected in the applicable Award agreement.

(c) The Committee in its sole discretion may provide a Participant as part of an Other Stock-Based Award with dividends, dividend equivalents, or similar payments in respect of such Awards, payable in cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities, other Awards or other property, on a current or deferred basis, on such terms and conditions as may be determined by the Committee in its sole discretion, including, without limitation, payment directly to the Participant, withholding of such amounts by the Company subject to vesting of the Award or reinvestment in additional shares of Common Stock or other Awards; provided, however, that unless explicitly provided in the Award agreement, no dividends, dividend equivalents or other similar payments shall be payable in respect of outstanding unearned Performance Compensation Awards or other unearned Awards subject to (i) performance conditions (other than or in addition to the passage of time) and (ii) any dividends so payable upon satisfaction of performance conditions shall be delivered to the Participant within seventy-five (75) days following the date on which such restrictions lapse.

10. Changes in Capital Structure and Similar Events. In the event of (a) any dividend (other than regular cash dividends) or other distribution (whether in the form of cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities or other property), recapitalization, stock split, reverse stock split, reorganization, merger, consolidation, split-up, split-off, spin-off, combination, repurchase or exchange of shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company, issuance of warrants or other rights to acquire shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company, or other similar corporate transaction or event (including, without limitation, a Change in Control) that affects the shares of Common Stock, or (b) unusual or nonrecurring events (including, without limitation, a Change in Control) affecting the Company, any Affiliate, or the financial statements of the Company or any Affiliate, or changes in applicable rules, rulings, regulations or other requirements of any governmental body or securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system, accounting principles or law, such that in either case an adjustment is determined by the Committee in its sole discretion to be necessary or appropriate, then the Committee shall make any such adjustments in such manner as it may deem equitable, including, without limitation, any or all of the following:

(i) adjusting any or all of (A) the Absolute Share Limit, or any other limit applicable under the Plan with respect to the number of Awards that may be granted hereunder; (B) the number of shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company (or number and kind of other securities or other property) that may be issued in respect of Awards or with respect to which Awards may be granted under the Plan (including, without limitation, adjusting any or all of the limitations under Section 5 of the Plan); and (C) the terms of any outstanding Award, including, without limitation, (I) the number of shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company (or number and kind of other securities or other property) subject to outstanding Awards or to which outstanding Awards relate; (II) the Exercise Price or purchase price with respect to any Award other than an Option; or (III) any applicable performance measures;

(ii) providing for a substitution or assumption of Awards (or awards of an acquiring company), accelerating the exercisability of, lapse of restrictions on, or termination of, Awards or providing for a period of time (which shall not be required to be more than ten (10) days) for Participants to exercise outstanding Awards prior to the occurrence of such event (and any such Award not so exercised shall terminate upon the occurrence of such event); and

(iii) cancelling any one or more outstanding Awards and causing to be paid to the holders holding vested Awards (including any Awards that would vest as a result of the occurrence of such event but for such cancellation) the value of such Awards, if any, as determined by the Committee (which if applicable may be based upon the price per share of Common Stock received or to be received by other stockholders of the Company, as applicable, in such event), including, without limitation, in the case of an outstanding Option, a cash payment in an amount equal to the excess, if any, of the Fair Market Value (as of a date specified by the Committee) of the shares of Common Stock subject to such Option over the aggregate Exercise Price of such Option, respectively (it being understood that, in such event, any Option having a per share Exercise Price equal to, or in excess of, the Fair Market Value of a share of Common Stock subject thereto may be canceled and terminated without any payment or consideration therefor);

provided, however, that in the case of any “equity restructuring” (within the meaning of the Financial Accounting Standards Board Accounting Standards Codification Topic 718 (or any successor pronouncement thereto)), the Committee shall make an equitable or proportionate adjustment to outstanding Awards to reflect such equity restructuring. Any adjustment in Incentive Stock Options under this Section 10 (other than any cancellation of Incentive Stock Options) shall be made only to the extent not constituting a “modification” within the meaning of Section 424(h)(3) of the Code, and any adjustments under this Section 10 shall be made in a manner that does not adversely affect the exemption provided pursuant to Rule 16b-3 under the Exchange Act. Any such adjustment shall be conclusive and binding for all purposes. Payments to holders pursuant to clause (iii) above shall be made in cash or, in the sole discretion of the Committee, in the form of such other consideration necessary for a Participant to receive property, cash or securities (or any combination thereof) as such Participant would have been entitled to receive upon the occurrence of the transaction if the Participant had been, immediately prior to such transaction, the holder of the number of shares of Common Stock, as applicable, covered by the Award at such time (less any applicable Exercise Price). In addition, prior to any payment or adjustment contemplated under this Section 10, the Committee may require a Participant to (A) represent and warrant as to the unencumbered title to his or her Award(s); (B) bear such Participant’s pro rata share of any post-closing indemnity obligations, and be subject to the same post-closing purchase price adjustments, escrow terms, offset rights, holdback terms, and similar conditions as the other holders of Common Stock; and (C) deliver customary transfer documentation as reasonably determined by the Committee.

11. Amendments and Termination.

(a) Amendment and Termination of the Plan. The Board may amend, alter, suspend, discontinue, or terminate the Plan or any portion thereof at any time; provided, however, that no such amendment, alteration, suspension, discontinuation or termination shall be made without stockholder approval if: (i) such approval is necessary to comply with any regulatory requirement applicable to the Plan (including, without limitation, as necessary to comply with any rules or regulations of any securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the securities of the Company may be listed or quoted) or for changes in GAAP to new accounting standards; (ii) it would materially increase the number of securities which may be issued under the Plan (except for increases pursuant to Section 5 or 10 of the Plan) or (iii) it would materially modify the requirements for participation in the Plan; provided, further, that any such amendment, alteration, suspension, discontinuance or termination that would materially and adversely affect the rights of any Participant or any holder or beneficiary of any Award theretofore granted shall not to that extent be effective without the consent of the affected Participant, holder or beneficiary. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no amendment shall be made to the last proviso of Section 11(b) of the Plan without stockholder approval.

(b) Amendment of Award Agreements. The Committee may, to the extent consistent with the terms of any applicable Award agreement, waive any conditions or rights under, amend any terms of, or alter, suspend, discontinue, cancel or terminate, any Award theretofore granted or the associated Award agreement, prospectively or retroactively (including after a Participant’s Termination); provided, however, that any such waiver, amendment, alteration, suspension, discontinuance, cancellation or termination that would materially and adversely affect the rights of any Participant with respect to any Award theretofore granted shall not to that extent be effective without the consent of the affected Participant unless the Award agreement permits the Committee to make such modification; provided, further, that without stockholder approval, except as otherwise permitted under Section 10 of the Plan: (i) no amendment or modification may reduce the Exercise Price of any Option; (ii) the Committee may not cancel any outstanding Option and replace it with a new Option (with a lower Exercise Price, as the case may be) or other Award or cash payment that is greater than the intrinsic value (if any) of the cancelled Option and (iii) the Committee may not take any other action that is considered a “repricing” for purposes of the stockholder approval rules of any securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the securities of the Company are listed or quoted.

12. General.

(a) Award Agreements. Each Award under the Plan shall be evidenced by an Award agreement that shall be delivered to the Participant and shall specify the terms and conditions of the Award and any rules applicable thereto, including, without limitation, the effect on such Award of the death, Disability or Termination of a Participant, or of such other events as may be determined by the Committee. For purposes of the Plan, an Award agreement may be in any such form (written or electronic) as determined by the Committee (including, without limitation, a Board or Committee resolution, an employment agreement, a notice, a certificate or a letter) evidencing the Award. The Committee need not require an Award agreement to be signed by the Participant or a duly authorized representative of the Company.

(b) Nontransferability.

(i) Each Award shall be exercisable only by a Participant during the Participant's lifetime, or, if permissible under applicable law, by the Participant's legal guardian or representative. No Award may be assigned, alienated, pledged, attached, sold or otherwise transferred or encumbered by a Participant (including, without limitation and except as may be prohibited by applicable law, pursuant to a domestic relations order) other than by will or by the laws of descent and distribution and any such purported assignment, alienation, pledge, attachment, sale, transfer or encumbrance shall be void and unenforceable against the Company or an Affiliate; provided, however, that the designation of a beneficiary shall not constitute an assignment, alienation, pledge, attachment, sale, transfer or encumbrance.

(ii) Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Committee may, in its sole discretion, permit Awards (other than Incentive Stock Options) to be transferred by a Participant, without consideration, subject to such rules as the Committee may adopt consistent with any applicable Award agreement to preserve the purposes of the Plan, to: (A) any person who is a "family member" of the Participant, as such term is used in the instructions to Form S-8 under the Securities Act or any successor form of registration statement promulgated by the Commission (collectively, the "Immediate Family Members"); (B) a trust solely for the benefit of the Participant and his or her Immediate Family Members; (C) a partnership or limited liability company whose only partners or stockholders are the Participant and his or her Immediate Family Members; or (D) a beneficiary to whom donations are eligible to be treated as "charitable contributions" for federal income tax purposes;

(each transferee described in clauses (A), (B), (C) and (D) above is hereinafter referred to as a "Permitted Transferee"); provided, however, that the Participant gives the Committee advance written notice describing the terms and conditions of the proposed transfer and the Committee notifies the Participant in writing that such a transfer would comply with the requirements of the Plan.

(iii) The terms of any Award transferred in accordance with clause (ii) above shall apply to the Permitted Transferee and any reference in the Plan, or in any applicable Award agreement, to a Participant shall be deemed to refer to the Permitted Transferee, except that: (A) Permitted Transferees shall not be entitled to transfer any Award, other than by will or the laws of descent and distribution; (B) Permitted Transferees shall not be entitled to exercise any transferred Option unless there shall be in effect a registration statement on an appropriate form covering the shares of Common Stock to be acquired pursuant to the exercise of such Option if the Committee determines, consistent with any applicable Award agreement, that such a registration statement is necessary or appropriate; (C) the Committee or the Company shall not be required to provide any notice to a Permitted Transferee, whether or not such notice is or would otherwise have been required to be given to the Participant under the Plan or otherwise; and (D) the consequences of the Termination of the Participant under the terms of the Plan and the applicable Award agreement shall continue to be applied with respect to the Participant, including, without limitation, that an Option shall be exercisable by the Permitted Transferee only to the extent, and for the periods, specified in the Plan and the applicable Award agreement.

(c) Tax Withholding.

(i) A Participant shall be required to pay to the Company or any Affiliate, and the Company or any Affiliate shall have the right and is hereby authorized to withhold, from any cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities or other property issuable or deliverable under any Award or from any compensation or other amounts owing to a Participant, the amount (in cash, shares of Common Stock, other securities or other property) of any required withholding or any other applicable taxes in respect of an Award, its exercise, or any payment or transfer under an Award or under the Plan and to take such other action as may be necessary in the opinion of the Committee or the Company to satisfy all obligations for the payment of such withholding or any other applicable taxes.

(ii) Without limiting the generality of clause (i) above, the Committee may, in its sole discretion, permit a Participant to satisfy, in whole or in part, the foregoing withholding liability by (A) the delivery of shares of Common Stock (that are not subject to any pledge or other security interest) owned by the Participant having a Fair Market Value equal to such withholding liability or (B) having the Company withhold from the number of shares of Common Stock otherwise issuable or deliverable pursuant to the exercise or settlement of the Award a number of shares with a Fair Market Value equal to such withholding liability.

(iii) If the Participant is subject to Section 16(a) of the Exchange Act, his or her ability to pay any withholding obligation in the form of shares of Common Stock shall be subject to any additional restrictions as may be necessary to avoid any transaction that might give rise to liability under Section 16(b) of the Exchange Act.

(d) No Claim to Awards; No Rights to Continued Employment; Waiver. No employee of the Company or any Affiliate, or other person, shall have any claim or right to be granted an Award under the Plan. There is no obligation for uniformity of treatment of Participants or holders or beneficiaries of Awards. The terms and conditions of Awards and the Committee's determinations and interpretations with respect thereto need not be the same with respect to each Participant and may be made selectively among Participants, whether or not such Participants are similarly situated. Neither the Plan nor any action taken hereunder shall be construed as giving any Participant any right to be retained in the employ or service of the Company or any Affiliate, nor shall it be construed as giving any Participant any rights to continued service on the Board. The Company or any of its Affiliates may at any time dismiss a Participant from employment or discontinue any independent contractor relationship, free from any liability or any claim under the Plan, unless otherwise expressly provided in the Plan or any Award agreement and other than with respect to any vested Award. By accepting an Award under the Plan, a Participant shall thereby be deemed to have waived any claim to continued exercise or vesting of an Award or to damages or severance entitlement related to noncontinuation of the Award beyond the period provided under the Plan or any Award agreement, except to the extent of any provision to the contrary in any written employment contract or other agreement between the Company and its Affiliates and the Participant, whether any such agreement is executed before, on or after the Date of Grant.

(e) International Participants. With respect to Participants who reside or work outside of the United States, the Committee may, in its sole discretion, amend the terms of the Plan or Sub-Plans or outstanding Awards with respect to such Participants in order to conform such terms with the requirements of local law or to obtain more favorable tax or other treatment for a Participant, the Company or its Affiliates.

(f) Designation and Change of Beneficiary. Each Participant may file with the Committee a written designation of one or more persons as the beneficiary(ies) who shall be entitled to receive an Award or the amounts payable with respect to an Award, if any, due under the Plan upon his or her death. A Participant may, from time to time, revoke or change his or her beneficiary designation without the consent of any prior beneficiary by filing a new designation with the Committee. The last such designation received by the Committee shall be controlling; provided, however, that no designation, or change or revocation thereof, shall be effective unless received by the Committee prior to the Participant's death, and in no event shall it be effective as of a date prior to such receipt. If no beneficiary designation is filed by a Participant, the beneficiary shall be deemed to be his or her spouse or, if the Participant is unmarried at the time of death, his or her estate.

(g) Termination. Except as otherwise provided in an Award agreement, unless determined otherwise by the Committee at any point following such event: (i) neither a temporary absence from employment or service due to illness, vacation or leave of absence (including, without limitation, a call to active duty for military service through a Reserve or National Guard unit) nor a transfer from employment or service with one Service Recipient to employment or service with another Service Recipient (or vice-versa) shall be considered a Termination; and (ii) if a Participant undergoes a Termination of employment, but such Participant continues to provide services to the Company and its Affiliates in a non-employee capacity, such change in status shall not be considered a Termination for purposes of the Plan. Further, unless otherwise determined by the Committee, in the event that any Service Recipient ceases to be an Affiliate of the Company (by reason of sale, divestiture, spin-off or other similar transaction), unless a Participant's employment or service is transferred to another entity that would constitute a Service Recipient immediately following such transaction, such Participant shall be deemed to have suffered a Termination hereunder as of the date of the consummation of such transaction.

(h) No Rights as a Stockholder. Except as otherwise specifically provided in the Plan or any Award agreement, no person shall be entitled to the privileges of ownership in respect of shares of Common Stock that are subject to Awards hereunder until such shares have been issued or delivered to such person.

(i) Government and Other Regulations.

(i) The obligation of the Company to settle Awards in shares of Common Stock or other consideration shall be subject to all applicable laws, rules, and regulations, and to such approvals by governmental agencies as may be required. Notwithstanding any terms or conditions of any Award to the contrary, the Company shall be under no obligation to offer to sell or to sell, and shall be prohibited from offering to sell or selling, any shares of Common Stock pursuant to an Award unless such shares have been properly registered for sale pursuant to the Securities Act with the Commission or unless the Company has received an opinion of counsel (if the Company has requested such an opinion), satisfactory to the Company, that such shares may be offered or sold without such registration pursuant to an available exemption therefrom and the terms and conditions of such exemption have been fully complied with. The Company shall be under no obligation to register for sale under the Securities Act any of the shares of Common Stock to be offered or sold under the Plan. The Committee shall have the authority to provide that all shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company or any Affiliate issued under the Plan shall be subject to such stop transfer orders and other restrictions as the Committee may deem advisable under the Plan, the applicable Award agreement, the Federal securities laws, or the rules, regulations and other requirements of the Commission, any securities exchange or inter-dealer quotation system on which the securities of the Company are listed or quoted and any other applicable Federal, state, local or non-United States laws, rules, regulations and other requirements, and, without limiting the generality of Section 8 of the Plan, the Committee may cause a legend or legends to be put on certificates representing shares of Common Stock or other securities of the Company or any Affiliate issued under the Plan to make appropriate reference to such restrictions or may cause such Common Stock or other securities of the Company or any Affiliate issued under the Plan in book-entry form to be held subject to the Company's instructions or subject to appropriate stop transfer orders. Notwithstanding any provision in the Plan to the contrary, the Committee reserves the right to add any additional terms or provisions to any Award granted under the Plan that it in its sole discretion deems necessary or advisable in order that such Award complies with the legal requirements of any governmental entity to whose jurisdiction the Award is subject.

(ii) The Committee may cancel an Award or any portion thereof if it determines, in its sole discretion, that legal or contractual restrictions and/or blockage and/or other market considerations would make the Company's acquisition of shares of Common Stock from the public markets, the Company's issuance of Common Stock to the Participant, the Participant's acquisition of Common Stock from the Company and/or the Participant's sale of Common Stock to the public markets illegal, impracticable or inadvisable. If the Committee determines to cancel all or any portion of an Award in accordance with the foregoing, the Company shall pay to the Participant an amount equal to the excess of (A) the aggregate Fair Market Value of the shares of Common Stock subject to such Award or portion thereof canceled (determined as of the applicable exercise date, or the date that the shares would have been vested or issued, as applicable), over (B) the aggregate Exercise Price (in the case of an Option) or any amount payable as a condition of issuance of shares of Common Stock (in the case of any other Award); provided, however, that such payment shall only be made with respect to vested Awards. Such amount shall be delivered to the Participant as soon as practicable following the cancellation of such Award or portion thereof.

(j) No Section 83(b) Elections Without Consent of Company. No election under Section 83(b) of the Code or under a similar provision of law may be made unless expressly permitted by the terms of the applicable Award agreement or by action of the Committee prior to the making of such election. If a Participant, in connection with the acquisition of shares of Common Stock under the Plan or otherwise, is expressly permitted to make such election and the Participant makes the election, the Participant shall notify the Company of such election within ten (10) days of filing notice of the election with the Internal Revenue Service or other governmental authority, in addition to any filing and notification required pursuant to Section 83(b) of the Code or other applicable provision.

(k) Payments to Persons Other Than Participants. If the Committee shall find that any person to whom any amount is payable under the Plan is unable to care for his or her affairs because of illness or accident, or is a minor, or has died, then any payment due to such person or his or her estate (unless a prior claim therefor has been made by a duly appointed legal representative) may, if the Committee so directs the Company, be paid to his or her spouse, child, relative, an institution maintaining or having custody of such person, or any other person deemed by the Committee to be a proper recipient on behalf of such person otherwise entitled to payment. Any such payment shall be a complete discharge of the liability of the Committee and the Company therefor.

(l) Nonexclusivity of the Plan. Neither the adoption of this Plan by the Board nor the submission of this Plan to the stockholders of the Company for approval shall be construed as creating any limitations on the power of the Board to adopt such other incentive arrangements as it may deem desirable, including, without limitation, the granting of stock options otherwise than under this Plan, and such arrangements may be either applicable generally or only in specific cases; provided, however, that any such arrangement is permitted under the 1940 Act.

(m) No Trust or Fund Created. Neither the Plan nor any Award shall create or be construed to create a trust or separate fund of any kind or a fiduciary relationship between the Company or any Affiliate, on the one hand, and a Participant or other person or entity, on the other hand. No provision of the Plan or any Award shall require the Company, for the purpose of satisfying any obligations under the Plan, to purchase assets or place any assets in a trust or other entity to which contributions are made or otherwise to segregate any assets, nor shall the Company maintain separate bank accounts, books, records or other evidence of the existence of a segregated or separately maintained or administered fund for such purposes. Participants shall have no rights under the Plan other than as unsecured general creditors of the Company, except that insofar as they may have become entitled to payment of additional compensation by performance of services, they shall have the same rights as other employees or service providers under general law.

(n) Reliance on Reports. Each member of the Committee and each member of the Board shall be fully justified in acting or failing to act, as the case may be, and shall not be liable for having so acted or failed to act in good faith, in reliance upon any report made by the independent public accountant or counsel to the Company and its Affiliates and/or any other information furnished in connection with the Plan by any agent of the Company or the Committee or the Board, other than himself or herself and except to the extent he or she has actual knowledge of inaccuracies or material omissions in such report.

(o) Relationship to Other Benefits. No payment under the Plan shall be taken into account in determining any benefits under any pension, retirement, profit sharing, group insurance or other benefit plan of the Company except as otherwise specifically provided in such other plan or as required by applicable law.

(p) Governing Law. The Plan shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the internal laws of the State of Maryland applicable to contracts made and performed wholly within the State of Maryland, without giving effect to the conflict of laws provisions thereof.

(q) Severability. If any provision of the Plan or any Award or Award agreement is or becomes or is deemed to be invalid, illegal, or unenforceable in any jurisdiction or as to any person or entity or an Award would disqualify the Plan or any Award under any law deemed applicable by the Committee, such provision shall be construed or deemed amended to conform to the applicable laws, or if it cannot be construed or deemed amended without, in the determination of the Committee, materially altering the intent of the Plan or the Award, such provision shall be construed or deemed stricken as to such jurisdiction, person or entity or Award and the remainder of the Plan and any such Award shall remain in full force and effect.

(r) Obligations Binding on Successors. The obligations of the Company under the Plan shall be binding upon any successor corporation or organization resulting from the merger, consolidation or other reorganization of the Company, or upon any successor corporation or organization succeeding to substantially all of the assets and business of the Company.

(s) Section 409A of the Code.

(i) Notwithstanding any provision of the Plan to the contrary, it is intended that the provisions of this Plan comply with Section 409A of the Code, and all provisions of this Plan shall be construed and interpreted in a manner consistent with the requirements for avoiding taxes or penalties under Section 409A of the Code. Each Participant is solely responsible and liable for the satisfaction of all taxes and penalties that may be imposed on or in respect of such Participant in connection with this Plan (including any taxes and penalties under Section 409A of the Code), and neither the Company nor any Affiliate shall have any obligation to indemnify or otherwise hold such Participant (or any beneficiary) harmless from any or all of such taxes or penalties. With respect to any Award that is considered “deferred compensation” subject to Section 409A of the Code, references in the Plan to “termination of employment” (and substantially similar phrases) shall mean “separation from service” within the meaning of Section 409A of the Code. For purposes of Section 409A of the Code, each of the payments that may be made in respect of any Award granted under the Plan is designated as separate payments.

(ii) Notwithstanding anything in the Plan to the contrary, if a Participant is a “specified employee” within the meaning of Section 409A(a)(2)(B)(i) of the Code, no payments in respect of any Awards that are “deferred compensation” subject to Section 409A of the Code and that would otherwise be payable upon the Participant’s “separation from service” (as defined in Section 409A of the Code) shall be made to such Participant prior to the date that is six months after the date of such Participant’s “separation from service” or, if earlier, the Participant’s date of death. Following any applicable six (6) month delay, all such delayed payments will be paid in a single lump sum on the earliest date permitted under Section 409A of the Code that is also a business day.

(iii) Unless otherwise provided by the Committee in an Award agreement or otherwise, in the event that the timing of payments in respect of any Award (that would otherwise be considered “deferred compensation” subject to Section 409A of the Code) would be accelerated upon the occurrence of (A) a Change in Control, no such acceleration shall be permitted unless the event giving rise to the Change in Control satisfies the definition of a change in the ownership or effective control of a corporation, or a change in the ownership of a substantial portion of the assets of a corporation pursuant to Section 409A of the Code and any regulations promulgated thereunder or (B) a Disability, no such acceleration shall be permitted unless the Disability also satisfies the definition of “Disability” pursuant to Section 409A of the Code and any regulations promulgated thereunder.

(t) Clawback/Forfeiture. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained herein, an Award agreement may provide that the Committee may in its sole discretion cancel such Award if the Participant has engaged in or engages in any Detrimental Activity. The Committee may also provide in an Award agreement that if the Participant otherwise has engaged in or engages in any Detrimental Activity, the Participant will forfeit any gain realized on the vesting or exercise of such Award, and must repay the gain to the Company. The Committee may also provide in an Award agreement that if the Participant receives any amount in excess of what the Participant should have received under the terms of the Award for any reason (including, without limitation, by reason of a financial restatement, mistake in calculations or other administrative error), then the Participant shall be required to repay any such excess amount to the Company. Without limiting the foregoing, all Awards shall be subject to reduction, cancellation, forfeiture or recoupment to the extent necessary to comply with applicable law.

(u) Indemnity. Each Indemnifiable Person shall be indemnified and held harmless by the Company against and from any loss, cost, liability, or expense (including attorneys' fees) that may be imposed upon or incurred by such Indemnifiable Person in connection with or resulting from any action, suit or proceeding to which such Indemnifiable Person may be a party or in which such Indemnifiable Person may be involved by reason of any action taken or omitted to be taken or determination made under the Plan or any Award agreement and against and from any and all amounts paid by such Indemnifiable Person with the Company's approval, in settlement thereof, or paid by such Indemnifiable Person in satisfaction of any judgment in any such action, suit or proceeding against such Indemnifiable Person, and the Company shall advance to such Indemnifiable Person any such expenses promptly upon written request (which request shall include an undertaking by the Indemnifiable Person to repay the amount of such advance if it shall ultimately be determined as provided below that the Indemnifiable Person is not entitled to be indemnified); provided that the Company shall have the right, at its own expense, to assume and defend any such action, suit or proceeding and once the Company gives notice of its intent to assume the defense, the Company shall have sole control over such defense with counsel of the Company's choice. The foregoing right of indemnification shall not be available to an Indemnifiable Person to the extent that a final judgment or other final adjudication (in either case not subject to further appeal) binding upon such Indemnifiable Person determines that the acts or omissions or determinations of such Indemnifiable Person giving rise to the indemnification claim resulted from such Indemnifiable Person's fraud or willful criminal act or omission or that such right of indemnification is otherwise prohibited by law or by the Company's Certificate of Incorporation or Bylaws. The foregoing right of indemnification shall not be exclusive of or otherwise supersede any other rights of indemnification to which such Indemnifiable Persons may be entitled under the Company's or any Affiliate's organizational documents, as a matter of law, individual indemnification agreement or contract or otherwise, or any other power that the Company may have to indemnify such Indemnifiable Persons or hold them harmless.

(v) Expenses; Gender; Titles and Headings. The expenses of administering the Plan shall be borne by the Company and its Affiliates. Masculine pronouns and other words of masculine gender shall refer to both men and women. The titles and headings of the sections in the Plan are for convenience of reference only, and in the event of any conflict, the text of the Plan, rather than such titles or headings, shall control.

(w) 1940 Act. No provision of this Plan shall contravene any portion of the 1940 Act, and in the event of any conflict between the provisions of the Plan or any Award and the 1940 Act, the applicable Section of the 1940 Act shall control and all Awards under the Plan shall be so modified. All Participants holding such modified Awards shall be notified of the change to their Awards and such change shall be binding on such Participants.

(x) Rounding Conventions. The Committee may, in its sole discretion and taking into account any requirements of the Code, including without limitations Sections 422 through 424 and 409A of the Code, determine the effect of vesting, stock dividend and any other adjustments on shares and any cash amount payable hereunder, and may provide that no fractional shares will be issued (rounding up or down as determined by the Committee) and that cash amounts be rounded down to the nearest whole cent.

(y) Writing. References in this Plan and any Award agreement to a "writing" shall include, without limitation, direction through email, the Internet or other electronic means, as permitted from time to time by the Committee.

~~SECOND~~THIRD ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT AND RESTATEMENT OF
SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION

FIRST: Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation (the “Corporation”), desires to amend and restate its articles of incorporation as currently in effect and as hereinafter amended.

SECOND: The following provisions are all the provisions of the ~~Second~~Third Articles of Amendment and Restatement of the Corporation (the “Articles of Incorporation”) currently in effect and as hereinafter amended:

ARTICLE I

NAME

The name of the corporation is Sierra Income Corporation.

ARTICLE II

PURPOSE

The purpose for which the Corporation is formed is to engage in any lawful act or activity for which corporations may be organized under the general laws of the State of Maryland as now or hereafter in force.

ARTICLE III

RESIDENT AGENT AND PRINCIPAL OFFICE

The name of the resident agent of the Corporation in Maryland is CSC-Lawyers Incorporating Service Corporation whose address is 7 St. Paul Street, Suite 1660, Baltimore Maryland 21202. The street address of the principal office of the Corporation in the State of Maryland is c/o CSC-Lawyers Incorporating Service Company, 7 St. Paul Street, Suite 1660, Baltimore, Maryland 21202.

ARTICLE IV

PROVISIONS FOR DEFINING, LIMITING

AND REGULATING CERTAIN POWERS OF THE

CORPORATION AND OF THE STOCKHOLDERS AND DIRECTORS

Section 4.1 Number, Term and Election of Directors.

(a) The business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed by or under the direction of the Corporation’s board of directors. The board of directors may take any actions as in its sole judgment and discretion are necessary or desirable to conduct the business of the Corporation. The number of directors that shall comprise the Corporation’s board of directors is ~~five~~six (6), which number may be increased or decreased from time to time by the board of directors pursuant to the bylaws of the Corporation (the “Bylaws”) but in no event will be less than three.

(b) The board of directors shall be divided into three classes, designated Class I, Class II and Class III, as nearly equal in number as possible, and the term of office of directors of one class shall expire at each annual meeting of stockholders, and in all cases as to each director such term shall extend until his or her successor shall be elected and shall qualify or until his or earlier resignation, removal from office, death or incapacity. Additional directorships resulting from an increase in number of directors shall be apportioned among the classes as equally as possible. ~~Class I initially shall consist of one independent director, Class II initially shall consist of one independent director and one non-independent director, and Class III initially shall consist of one independent director and one non-independent director. The initial term of office of directors of Class I shall expire at the Corporation's first annual meeting of stockholders; the initial term of office of directors of Class II shall expire at the Corporation's second annual meeting of stockholders; and the initial term of office of directors of Class III shall expire at the Corporation's third annual meeting of stockholders. Following such initial terms, at each annual meeting of stockholders, a number of directors equal to the number of directors of the class whose term expires at the time of such meeting (or, if less, the number of directors properly nominated and qualified for election) shall be elected to hold office until the third succeeding annual meeting of stockholders after their election.~~

(c) Each director may be reelected to an unlimited number of succeeding terms in accordance with these provisions. At each annual election, directors chosen to succeed those whose terms then expire shall be of the same class as the directors they succeed, unless by reason of any intervening changes in the authorized number of directors, the board of directors shall designate one or more directorships whose term then expires as directorships of another class in order to more nearly achieve equality of number of directors among the classes.

(d) Notwithstanding the rule that the three classes shall be as nearly equal in number of directors as possible, in the event of any change in the authorized number of directors, each director then continuing to serve as such shall nevertheless continue as a director of the class of which such director is a member until the expiration of his or her current term, or his or her prior death, resignation or removal. If any newly created directorship may, consistently with the rule that the three classes shall be as nearly equal in number of directors as possible, be allocated to any class, the board of directors shall allocate it to that of the available class whose term of office is due to expire at the earliest date following such allocation.

(e) A majority of the board of directors shall be independent directors, except for a period of up to 60 days after the death, removal or resignation of an independent director pending the election of such independent director's successor. A director is considered independent if he or she is not an "interested person" as that term is defined under Section 2(a)(19) of the Investment Company Act of 1940 (the "1940 Act"). The names of the ~~initial~~ directors currently in office are ~~Seth Taube, Brook Taube, Spencer Neumann~~ Oliver T. Kane, Valerie Lancaster ~~Beal~~ and, Stephen R. Byers, Karin Hirtler-Garvey, and John E. Mack.

~~(f) Subject to applicable requirements of the 1940 Act and except as may be provided by the board of directors in setting the terms of any class or series of Preferred Shares (as hereinafter defined), any and all vacancies on the board of directors may be filled only by the affirmative vote of a majority of the remaining directors in office, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum, and any director elected to fill a vacancy shall serve for the remainder of the full term of the directorship in which such vacancy occurred and until a successor is duly elected and qualifies. The Corporation elects, at all times that it is eligible to so elect, to be subject to the provisions of Section 3-804(c) of the Maryland General Corporation Law (“MGCL”).~~

Section 4.2 Extraordinary Actions. Except as provided in Section ~~6.2 and Section 11.1-6.2~~, notwithstanding any provision of law requiring an action to be approved by the affirmative vote of the holders of shares entitled to cast a greater number of votes, any such action shall be effective and valid if declared advisable and approved by the board of directors, and approved by the affirmative vote of holders of shares entitled to cast a majority of all the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

Section 4.3 Authorization by Board of Directors of Share Issuance. The board of directors may authorize the issuance from time to time of shares of common stock of the Corporation (referred to herein as “shares”) of any class or series, whether now or hereafter authorized, or securities or rights convertible into shares of any class or series, whether now or hereafter authorized, for such consideration as the board of directors may deem advisable (or without consideration in the case of a share split or share dividend), subject to such restrictions or limitations, if any, as may be set forth in these Articles of Incorporation or in the Bylaws.

Section 4.4 Preemptive Rights. Except as may be provided by the board of directors in setting the terms of classified or reclassified shares pursuant to Section 5.3 or 5.4 or as may otherwise be provided by contract approved by the board of directors, no holder of shares of the Corporation shall, as such holder, have any preemptive right to purchase or subscribe for any additional shares of the Corporation or any other security of the Corporation which it may issue or sell.

Section 4.5 Appraisal Rights. Except as may be provided by the board of directors in setting the terms of any class or series of Preferred Shares and except as contemplated by ~~Maryland General Corporate Law (the “MGCL”)~~, no stockholder of the Corporation shall be entitled to exercise appraisal rights in connection with any transaction.

Section 4.6 Determinations by Board of Directors. To the fullest extent permitted by law, the determination as to any of the following matters, made in good faith by or pursuant to the direction of the board of directors consistent with these Articles of Incorporation shall be final and conclusive and shall be binding upon the Corporation and every stockholder: the amount of the net income of the Corporation for any period and the amount of assets at any time legally available for the payment of dividends, redemption of its shares or the payment of other distributions on its shares; the amount of stated capital, capital surplus, net assets, other surplus, annual or other net profit, net assets in excess of capital, undivided profits or excess of profits over losses on sales of assets; the amount, purpose, time of creation, increase or decrease, alteration or cancellation of any reserves or charges and the propriety thereof (whether or not any obligation or liability for which such reserves or charges shall have been created shall have been paid or discharged); any interpretation of the terms, preferences, conversion or other rights, voting powers or rights, restrictions, limitations as to dividends or other distributions, qualifications or terms or conditions of redemption of any class or series of shares of the Corporation; the fair value, or any sale, bid or asked price to be applied in determining the fair value, of any asset owned or held by the Corporation or any shares of the Corporation; the shares of any class of the Corporation; any matter relating to the acquisition, holding and disposition of any assets by the Corporation; any conflict between the MGCL and the provisions set forth in the North American Securities Administrators Association (“NASAA”) Omnibus Guidelines; or any other matter relating to the business and affairs of the Corporation or required or permitted by applicable law or the Bylaws or otherwise to be determined by the board of directors; and provided that to the extent the board of directors determines that the MGCL conflicts with the provisions set forth in the NASAA Omnibus Guidelines, NASAA Omnibus Guidelines control to the extent any provisions of the MGCL are not mandatory.

ARTICLE V

SHARES

Section 5.1 Authorized Shares. The Corporation has authority to issue 250,000,000 shares of common stock, $0.001 par value per share (“Common Stock”). The aggregate par value of all authorized shares having par value is $250,000. All shares shall be fully paid and nonassessable when issued, ~~and the Corporation shall not make any mandatory Assessment against any stockholder beyond such stockholder’s subscription commitment.~~ A majority of the entire board of directors, including a majority of the independent directors, without any action by the stockholders of the Corporation, may amend these Articles of Incorporation from time to time to increase or decrease the aggregate number of shares, or the number of shares of any class or series that the Corporation has authority to issue.

Section 5.2 Common Stock. Each share of Common Stock shall entitle the holder thereof to one vote. Except as otherwise provided in these Articles of Incorporation, and subject to the express terms of any class or series of Preferred Shares, holders of Common Stock shall have the exclusive right to vote on all matters as to which a stockholder is entitled to vote pursuant to applicable law at all meetings of stockholders. Unless otherwise provided, holders of Common Stock shall not be entitled to preemptive, appraisal, subscription, redemption, sinking fund, or conversion rights. In the event of any voluntary or involuntary liquidation, dissolution or winding up, the aggregate assets available for distribution to holders of Common Stock shall be determined in accordance with applicable law and these Articles of Incorporation. Each holder of Common Stock shall be entitled to receive, ratably with each other holder of Common Stock, that portion of the assets available for distribution as the number of outstanding shares of such class held by such holder bears to the total number of outstanding shares of such class then outstanding. The board of directors, including a majority of the independent directors, may classify or reclassify any unissued shares of Common Stock from time to time, in one or more classes or series of Common Stock or Preferred Shares by setting or changing the preferences, conversion or other rights, voting powers, restrictions, limitations, or to dividends, qualifications, or terms or conditions of redemption of the shares.

Section 5.3 Preferred Shares. The board of directors, including a majority of the independent directors, may classify or reclassify any unissued shares of stock from time to time, in one or more classes or series of preferred stock (“Preferred Shares”) by setting or changing the preferences, covenants or other rights, voting powers, privileges, restrictions, limitations as to dividends or other distributions, qualifications and terms and conditions of redemption for each class or series thereof.

Section 5.4 Classified or Reclassified Shares. Prior to the issuance of classified or reclassified shares of any class or series, the board of directors by resolution shall: (a) designate that class or series to distinguish it from all other classes and series of shares of the Corporation; (b) specify the number of shares to be included in the class or series; and (c) set or change, subject to the express terms of any class or series of shares of the Corporation outstanding at the time, the preferences, covenants or other rights, voting powers, privileges, restrictions, limitations as to dividends or other distributions, qualifications and terms and conditions of redemption for each class or series thereof; and (d) cause the Corporation to file articles supplementary with the State Department of Assessments and Taxation of Maryland. Any of the terms of any class or series of shares set or changed pursuant to clause (c) of this Section 5.4 may be made dependent upon facts or events ascertainable outside these Articles of Incorporation (including determinations by the board of directors or other facts or events within the control of the Corporation) and may vary among holders thereof, provided that the manner in which such facts, events or variations shall operate upon the terms of such class or series of shares is clearly and expressly set forth in the resolution or other instrument establishing any such class or series.

Section 5.5 ~~Deferred Payments. The Corporation shall not have authority to make arrangements for deferred payments on account of the purchase price of the Corporation's shares unless all of the following conditions are met: (a) such arrangements are warranted by the Corporation's investment objectives; (b) the period of deferred payments coincides with the anticipated cash needs of the Corporation; (c) the deferred payments shall be evidenced by a promissory note of the stockholder, which note shall be with recourse, shall not be negotiable, shall be assignable only subject to defenses of the maker and shall not contain a provision authorizing a confession of judgment and (d) selling commissions and Front End Fees paid upon deferred payments are payable when payment is made on the note. The Corporation shall not sell or assign the deferred obligation notes at a discount. In the event of default in the payment of deferred payments by a stockholder, the stockholder may be subjected to a reasonable penalty.~~ Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws. All Persons who shall acquire shares in the Corporation shall acquire the same subject to the provisions of these Articles of Incorporation and the Bylaws. The board of directors of the Corporation shall have the exclusive power to make, alter, amend or repeal the Bylaws. In addition, the stockholders may adopt, alter or repeal any provision of the Bylaws and make new Bylaws if such action is approved by the affirmative vote of a majority of all votes entitled to be cast on the matter, except that the stockholders shall not have the power to alter or repeal any provision of the Bylaws (a) subjecting the Corporation to the 1940 Act or (b) providing indemnification or advancement rights to any individual. The term "Person" shall mean an individual, corporation, partnership, estate, trust (including a trust qualified under Sections 401(a) or 501(c) (17) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986, as amended (the "Code"), a portion of a trust permanently set aside for or to be used exclusively for the purposes described in Section 642(c) of the Code, association, private foundation within the meaning of Section 509(a) of the Code, joint stock company or other entity and also includes a group as that term is used for purposes of Section 13(d)(3) of the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

~~Section 5.6 Distributions:~~

~~(a) Any investment advisory agreement with SIC Advisors LLC (the "Adviser") shall provide that the Adviser shall cause the Corporation to provide for adequate reserves for normal replacements and contingencies (but the Corporation shall not be required to maintain reserves for payment of fees payable to the Adviser) by causing the Corporation to retain a reasonable percentage of proceeds from offerings and revenues.~~

~~(b) From time to time and not less than quarterly, the Corporation shall cause the Adviser to review the Corporation's accounts to determine whether cash distributions are appropriate. The Corporation may, subject to authorization by the board of directors, distribute pro rata to the stockholders funds received by the Corporation which the Adviser deems unnecessary to retain in the Corporation. The board of directors may authorize the Corporation to declare and pay to stockholders such dividends or distributions, in cash or, subject to the provisions of this Section 5.6(b), other assets of the Corporation or in securities of the Corporation or from any other source as the board of directors in its discretion shall determine. The board of directors shall endeavor to authorize the Corporation to declare and pay such dividends and distributions (i) as shall be necessary for the Corporation to qualify as a "Regulated Investment Company" under the Code and under the 1940 Act, and (ii) to the extent that the board of directors deems it unnecessary for the Corporation to retain funds received by it; provided, however, that in each case, stockholders shall have no right to any dividend or distribution unless and until authorized and declared by the board of directors. The exercise of the powers and rights of the board of directors pursuant to this Section 5.6 shall be subject to the provisions of any class or series of shares at the time outstanding. The receipt by any person in whose name any shares are registered on the records of the Corporation or by his or her duly authorized agent shall be a sufficient discharge for all dividends or distributions payable or deliverable in respect of such shares and from all liability to see to the application thereof. Other than distributions of shares of the Corporation, distributions in kind shall not be permitted, except for distributions of readily marketable securities, distributions of beneficial interests in a liquidating trust established for the dissolution of the Corporation and the liquidation of its assets in accordance with the terms of these Articles of Incorporation or distributions in which (i) the board of directors advises each stockholder of the risks associated with direct ownership of the property, (ii) the board of directors offers each stockholder the election of receiving such in-kind distributions, and (iii) in-kind distributions are made only to those stockholders that accept such offer.~~

~~Section 5.7 Articles of Incorporation and Bylaws. All persons who shall acquire shares in the Corporation shall acquire the same subject to the provisions of these Articles of Incorporation and the Bylaws. The board of directors of the Corporation shall have the exclusive power to make, alter, amend or repeal the Bylaws.~~

~~Section 5.8 Suitability of Stockholders. Upon the commencement of the Initial Public Offering and until a Liquidity Event or until the Corporation is no longer subject to the NASAA Omnibus Guidelines, the following provisions shall apply:~~

~~Section 5.8.1 Investor Suitability Standards. Subject to such heightened suitability standards established by individual states set forth in the Prospectus, to become a stockholder, if such prospective stockholder is an individual (including an individual beneficiary of a purchasing Individual Retirement Account), or if the prospective stockholder is a fiduciary (such as a trustee of a trust or corporate pension or profit sharing plan, or other tax-exempt organization, or a custodian under a Uniform Gifts to Minors Act), such individual or fiduciary, as the case may be, must represent to the Corporation, among other requirements as the Corporation may require from time to time:~~

~~(a) that such individual (or, in the case of a fiduciary, that the fiduciary account or the donor who directly or indirectly supplies the funds to purchase the Common Stock) has a minimum annual gross income of $70,000 and a net worth (excluding home, furnishings and automobiles) of not less than $70,000; or~~

~~(b) that such individual (or, in the case of a fiduciary, that the fiduciary account or the donor who directly or indirectly supplies the funds to purchase the Common Stock) has a net worth (excluding home, furnishings and automobiles) of not less than $250,000.~~

~~Section 5.8.2 Determination of Suitability of Sale. The Adviser and each Person selling Common Stock on behalf of the Corporation shall make every reasonable effort to determine that the purchase of Common Stock by a stockholder is a suitable and appropriate investment for such stockholder. In making this determination, each Person selling Common Stock on behalf of the Corporation shall ascertain that the prospective stockholder: (a) meets the minimum income and net worth standards established for the Corporation; (b) can reasonably benefit from the Corporation based on the prospective stockholder's overall investment objectives and portfolio structure; (c) is able to bear the economic risk of the investment based on the prospective stockholder's overall financial situation; and (d) has apparent understanding of (i) the fundamental risks of the investment; (ii) the risk that the stockholder may lose the entire investment; the lack of liquidity of the Common Stock; (iv) the restrictions on transferability of the Common Stock; and (v) the tax consequences of the investment.~~

~~Each Person selling Common Stock on behalf of the Corporation shall make this determination on the basis of information it has obtained from a prospective stockholder. Relevant information for this purpose will include at least the age, investment objectives, investment experiences, income, net worth, financial situation, and other investments of the prospective stockholder, as well as any other pertinent factors.~~

~~Each Person selling Common Stock on behalf of the Corporation shall maintain records of the information used to determine that an investment in Common Stock is suitable and appropriate for a stockholder. Each Person selling Common Stock on behalf of the Corporation shall maintain these records for at least six years.~~

~~Section 5.9 Admission of Stockholders. Admission of stockholders to the Corporation shall be subject to the following:~~

~~(a) The minimum permitted purchase in the Initial Public Offering by an individual prospective stockholder is $2,000 of the Corporation's Common Stock, or such higher number as may be required by an Administrator and as set forth in the Prospectus or as required by NASAA.~~

~~(b) Upon the original sale of Common Stock in the Initial Public Offering, the purchasing stockholders will be admitted as stockholders not less than the last day of the calendar month following the date the subscription agreement was accepted by the Corporation. Subsequent subscriptions shall be accepted or rejected by the Corporation within 30 days of receipt; if rejected, all subscription funds shall be returned to the subscriber within 10 business days.~~

~~(e) The Corporation shall amend its records at least once each calendar quarter to effect the assignment, transfer, or resale of Common Stock. For assignments, the Corporation shall recognize the assignment not later than the last day of the calendar month following receipt of notice of such assignment and any required documentation.~~

~~Section 5.10 Periodic Repurchase Rights:~~

~~(a) Commencing twelve (12) months after the date that the Corporation meets the minimum offering requirement described in its registration statement on Form N-2 (File No. 333-175624) filed with the Securities and Exchange Commission (the "SEC"), the Corporation will offer to repurchase up to two and a half percent (2.5%) of the weighted average number of shares of Common Stock outstanding in the prior four calendar quarters from the holders thereof on the fifth Business Day (as defined below) (the "Repurchase Date") following the date that the Corporation files its Annual Report on Form 10-K or Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q with the SEC, or on such other date and time as determined by the board of directors of the Corporation and disclosed to the holders of the Common Stock through any means reasonably designed to inform the holders of the Common Stock thereof at least three Business Days prior to the applicable Repurchase Date, at a price per share of Common Stock equal to the net asset value per share of the Common Stock as disclosed in the Corporation's most recently filed Annual Report on Form 10-K or Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q with the SEC; provided, however, that the number of shares of Common Stock to be repurchased by the Corporation under this Section 5.10(a) during any calendar year shall be limited to the number of shares of Common Stock that the Corporation can repurchase with the proceeds it receives from the sale of shares of Common Stock under the Corporation's distribution reinvestment plan, unless the board of directors of the Corporation determines to dispense with this limitation. The Corporation shall repurchase shares of Common Stock under this Section 5.10(a) on a pro rata basis from among the requests for repurchase received by it in the event that it cannot satisfy all repurchase requests made by holders of Common Stock because of any of the limitations set forth herein. For avoidance of doubt, no holder of Common Stock shall be obligated to tender or otherwise present any shares of Common Stock for repurchase by the Corporation pursuant to the provisions of this Section 5.10(a), but may elect to do so subject to the terms and conditions contained in this Section 5.10 and otherwise specified by the Corporation in connection therewith.~~

~~(b) The board of directors of the Corporation shall have the right to suspend or terminate any repurchase to be made under Section 5.10(a) to the extent that such repurchase would cause the Corporation to violate federal law or the MGCL or otherwise to suspend or terminate the repurchase right and all of the Corporation's obligations set forth in Section 5.10(a) to the extent that it determines that such repurchase would impair the Corporation's capital or operations or that it is in the best interest of the Corporation to do so. The Corporation shall promptly notify the holders of Common Stock of any changes to the repurchase right and the Corporation's obligations under Section 5.10(a), including any suspension or termination referred in this Section 5.10(b), through any means reasonably designed to inform the holders of the Common Stock thereof.~~

~~(c) A holder of Common Stock shall have the right to tender and withdraw or rescind a repurchase request in connection with the repurchase right set forth in Section 5.10(a) at any time prior to the applicable Repurchase Date. All payments required to be made by the Corporation in accordance with Section 5.10(a) shall be made within three Business Days following the Repurchase Date or such other date as determined by the Corporation and disclosed to the holders of the Common Stock through any means reasonably designed to inform them thereof at least three Business Days prior to the applicable Repurchase Date. The Corporation shall develop any other procedures necessary to effectuate the repurchase right set forth in Section 5.10(a), including the form of repurchase requests holders of Common Stock are required to tender to the Corporation in connection with each repurchase in accordance with Section 5.10(a), and inform the holders of Common Stock through any means reasonably designed to inform the holders of the Common Stock thereof at least three Business Days prior to the applicable Repurchase Date.~~

~~(d) The repurchase right and all of the Corporation's obligations set forth in this Section 5.10 will terminate on the date that the Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange, is included for quotation in a national securities market or, in the sole determination of the board of directors of the Corporation, a secondary trading market for the Common Stock otherwise develops.~~

~~(e) All shares of Common Stock to be repurchased in accordance with Section 5.10(a) must be (i) fully transferable and not be subject to any liens or other encumbrances and (ii) free from any restrictions on transfer. If the Corporation determines that a lien or other encumbrance or restriction exists against the shares of Common Stock, the Corporation shall have no obligation to repurchase, and shall not repurchase, any of the shares of Common Stock subject to the lien or other encumbrance or restriction.~~

~~Section 5.11 Repurchase on Death or Disability.~~

~~(a) In the event of the death or Disability (as hereinafter defined) of a holder of Common Stock, the Corporation shall repurchase such holder's shares of Common Stock, upon the holder presenting such shares for repurchase; provided, however, that the Corporation shall not be obligated to repurchase such holder's shares of Common Stock if more than two years have elapsed from the date of the applicable death or Disability and, in the case of a Disability, if the holder fails to provide the opinion of the qualified independent physician referred to in the penultimate sentence in this Section 5.11. The repurchase price per share of Common Stock to be paid by the Corporation to the holder or holder's estate, as applicable, will be equal to the net asset value per share of the Common Stock as disclosed in the Corporation's most recently filed Annual Report on Form 10-K or Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q with the SEC immediately following the date of the death or Disability of such holder. The stockholder or the stockholder's estate, as applicable, shall notify the Corporation in writing of the stockholder's death or Disability. As used herein, "Disability" shall mean such holder of Common Stock suffers a disability for a period of time, as determined by the board of directors of the Corporation, and the accuracy of such determination is confirmed by a qualified independent physician from whom such holder is required to receive an examination within thirty (30) days following the board of directors' determination. The alleged disabled holder will share the opinion of such qualified independent physician with the board of directors and the board of directors will use best efforts to maintain the confidentiality of such information. If such holder fails to reasonably cooperate with the qualified independent physician, then the board of directors may, in its reasonable discretion, decide to not effectuate the repurchase right set forth above. For avoidance of doubt, no holder of Common Stock or holder's estate shall be obligated to tender or otherwise present any shares of Common Stock for repurchase by the Corporation pursuant to the provisions of this Section 5.11(a), but may elect to do so subject to the terms and conditions contained in this Section 5.11 and otherwise specified by the Corporation in connection therewith.~~

~~(b) The Corporation shall have the right to develop procedures necessary to effectuate the repurchase right set forth in Section 5.10(a), including the form of repurchase requests holders of Common Stock are required to tender to the Corporation in connection with each repurchase in accordance with Section 5.10(a), and inform the holders of Common Stock through any means reasonably designed to inform them thereof.~~

~~(c) The board of directors of the Corporation shall have the right to suspend or terminate any repurchase to be made under Section 5.10(a) to the extent that such repurchase would cause the Corporation to violate federal law or the MGCL or otherwise to suspend or terminate the repurchase right and all of the Corporation's obligations set forth in Section 5.10(a) to the extent that it determines that it is in the best interest of the Corporation to do so. The Corporation shall promptly notify the holders of Common Stock of any changes to the repurchase right and the Corporation's obligations under Section 5.10(a), including any suspension or termination referred in this Section 5.11(e), through any means reasonably designed to inform the holders of the Common Stock thereof.~~

~~(d) The repurchase right and all of the Corporation's obligations set forth in Section 5.9 will terminate on the date that the Common Stock is listed on a national securities exchange or is included for quotation in a national securities market.~~

~~(e) All shares of Common Stock to be repurchased in accordance with Section 5.10(a) must be (i) fully transferable and not be subject to any liens or other encumbrances and (ii) free from any restrictions on transfer. If the Corporation determines that a lien or other encumbrance or restriction exists against the shares of Common Stock, the Corporation shall have no obligation to repurchase, and shall not repurchase, any of the shares of Common Stock subject to the lien or other encumbrance or restriction.~~

AMENDMENTS; CERTAIN EXTRAORDINARY ACTIONS

Section 6.1 Amendments Generally. Subject to Section 6.2 hereof, the Corporation reserves the right, from time to time, and upon the requisite approval by the board of directors and stockholders, to make any amendment to these Articles of Incorporation, now or hereafter authorized by law, including any amendment altering the terms or contract rights, as expressly set forth in these Articles of Incorporation, of any outstanding shares. Provided that the board of directors has declared the amendment advisable and submitted it to the stockholders, any amendment to the Articles of Incorporation must be approved by the affirmative vote of holders of shares entitled to cast a majority (or such greater proportion as may be required elsewhere in the Articles of Incorporation) of the votes entitled to be cast on the matter.

Table of Contents

Section 6.2 Approval of Certain Amendments. Notwithstanding the provisions of Section 6.1 hereof, the affirmative vote of the holders of shares entitled to cast at least two-thirds of all the votes entitled to be cast on the matter shall be necessary to effect:

(a) Any amendment to these Articles of Incorporation to make the Common Stock a “redeemable security” or to convert the Corporation, whether by merger or otherwise, from a “closed-end company” to an “open-end company” (as such terms are defined in the 1940 Act); and

(b) Any amendment to Section 4.2, Section 4.6, Section 6.1 or this Section 6.2.

Section 6.3 Execution of Amendments. Upon obtaining such approvals required by the MGCL, these Articles of Incorporation and the Bylaws, and without further action or execution by any other Person, (i) any amendment to these Articles of Incorporation may be implemented and reflected in a writing executed solely by the requisite members of the board of directors, and (ii) the stockholders shall be deemed a party to and bound by such amendment of these Articles of Incorporation.

ARTICLE VII

LIMITATION OF LIABILITY; INDEMNIFICATION AND

ADVANCE OF EXPENSES

Section 7.1 Limitation of Stockholder Liability. No stockholder shall be liable for any debt, claim, demand, judgment or obligation of any kind of, against or with respect to the Corporation by reason of being a stockholder, nor shall any stockholder be subject to any personal liability whatsoever, in tort, contract or otherwise, to any Person in connection with the Corporation’s assets or the affairs of the Corporation by reason of being a stockholder.

Section 7.2 Limitation of Director and Officer Liability. ~~Subject to any limitation contained under~~ To the fullest extent permitted by Maryland law ~~or the federal securities laws, or in this Article VII~~, no director or officer of the Corporation shall be liable to the Corporation or its stockholders for money damages.

Section 7.3 ~~(a) Indemnification. Subject to any limitations set forth in paragraph (b) or (c) below or, with respect to the advancement of expenses, Section 7.4;~~ The Corporation shall have the power to indemnify and, without requiring a preliminary determination of the ultimate entitlement to indemnification, pay or reimburse reasonable expenses in advance of final disposition of a proceeding to (i) any individual who is a present or former director or officer of the Corporation and who is made or threatened to be made a party to the proceeding by reason of his or her service in that capacity, and (ii) any individual who, while a director or officer of the Corporation and at the request of the Corporation, serves or has served as a director, officer, partner or director of any corporation, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise and who is made or threatened to be made a party to the proceeding by reason of his or her service in that capacity ~~or (iii) the Adviser or any of its Affiliates acting as an agent of the Corporation (each such person an “Indemnitee”)~~, in each case to the fullest extent permitted by Maryland law. The Corporation may, with the approval of the board of directors or any duly authorized committee thereof, provide such indemnification and advance for expenses to a Person who served a predecessor of the Corporation in any of the capacities described in (i) or (ii) above and to any employee or agent of the Corporation or the Adviser or a predecessor thereof. The board of directors may take such action as is necessary to carry out this Section ~~7.3(a);~~ 7.3. No amendment of these Articles of Incorporation or repeal of any of its provisions shall limit or eliminate the right to indemnification provided hereunder with respect to acts or omissions occurring prior to such amendment or repeal.

~~(b) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in paragraph (a) above, the Corporation shall not provide for indemnification of an Indemnitee pursuant to paragraph (a) for any liability or loss suffered by such Indemnitee, unless all of the following conditions are met:~~

~~(i) The Corporation has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct that caused the loss or liability was in the best interests of the Corporation.~~

~~(ii) The Indemnitee was acting on behalf of or performing services for the Corporation.~~

~~(iii) Such liability or loss was not the result of (A) negligence or misconduct, in the case that the Indemnitee is the Adviser or an Affiliate of the Adviser, or an officer of the Corporation or (B) gross negligence or willful misconduct, in the case that the Indemnitee is a director of the Corporation (and not also an officer of the Corporation, the Adviser or an Affiliate of the Adviser).~~

~~(iv) Such indemnification or agreement to hold harmless is recoverable only out of assets of the Corporation and not from the stockholders.~~

~~Notwithstanding the foregoing, this paragraph (b) and paragraph (c) below shall apply to the Adviser and its affiliates only so long as the shares of the Corporation are not listed on a national securities exchange.~~

~~(c) Notwithstanding anything to the contrary contained in paragraph (a) above, the Corporation shall not provide indemnification for any loss, liability or expense arising from or out of an alleged violation of federal or state securities laws by an Indemnitee pursuant to paragraph (a) unless one or more of the following conditions are met: (i) there has been a successful adjudication on the merits of each count involving alleged material securities law violations as to the Indemnitee, (ii) such claims have been dismissed with prejudice on the merits by a court of competent jurisdiction as to the Indemnitee or (iii) a court of competent jurisdiction approves a settlement of the claims against the Indemnitee and finds that indemnification of the settlement and the related costs should be made, and the court considering the request for indemnification has been advised of the position of the SEC and of the published position of any state securities regulatory authority in which securities were offered or sold as to indemnification for violations of securities laws.~~

~~Section 7.4 Payment of Expenses. The Corporation shall pay or reimburse reasonable legal expenses and other costs incurred by a director, an officer, the Adviser or any Affiliate of the Adviser in advance of final disposition of a proceeding if all of the following are satisfied: (a) the proceeding relates to acts or omissions with respect to the performance of duties or services on behalf of the Corporation, (b) such Person provides the Corporation with written affirmation of such Person's good faith belief that the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the Corporation as authorized by Section 7.3 hereof has been met, (c) the legal proceeding was initiated by a third party who is not a stockholder or, if by a stockholder of the Corporation acting in his or her capacity as such, a court of competent jurisdiction approves such advancement and (d) such Person provides the Corporation with a written agreement to repay the amount paid or reimbursed by the Corporation, together with the applicable legal rate of interest thereon, in cases in which such Person is found not to be entitled to indemnification. Section 7.5 Express Exculpatory Clauses in Instruments. Neither the stockholders nor the directors, officers, employees or agents of the Corporation, including the Adviser, an Affiliate of the Adviser or an employee of the Adviser, shall be liable under any written instrument creating an obligation of the Corporation by reason of their being stockholders, directors, officers, employees or agents of the Corporation, and all Persons shall look solely to the Corporation's assets for the payment of any claim under or for the performance of that instrument. The omission of the foregoing exculpatory language from any instrument shall not affect the validity or enforceability of such instrument and shall not render any stockholder, director, officer, employee or agent liable thereunder to any third party, nor shall the directors or any officer, employee or agent of the Corporation be liable to anyone as a result of such omission.~~

~~Section 7.67.5 Limitation on Indemnification. As required under the 1940 Act, no provision of this Article VII shall be effective to protect or purport to protect any director or officer of the Corporation, the Adviser or an Affiliate of the Adviser against liability to the Corporation or its stockholders to which he or she would otherwise be subject by reason of willful misconduct, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of his or her office.~~

~~Section 7.77.6 Amendment or Repeal. Neither the amendment nor repeal of this Article VII, nor the adoption or amendment of any other provision of these Articles of Incorporation or Bylaws inconsistent with this Article VII, shall apply to or affect in any respect the applicability of the preceding sections of this Article VII with respect to any act or failure to act which occurred prior to such amendment, repeal or adoption.~~

~~Section 7.87.7 Non-exclusivity. The indemnification and advancement of expenses provided or authorized by this Article VII shall not be deemed exclusive of any other rights, by indemnification or otherwise, to which a director or officer may be entitled under the bylaws, a resolution of stockholders or directors, an agreement or otherwise.~~

~~ADVISER AND ADMINISTRATOR~~

~~Section 8.1 Supervision of Adviser and Administrator:~~

~~(i) The board of directors may exercise broad discretion in allowing the Adviser and, if applicable, the Administrator, to administer and regulate the operations of the Corporation, to act as agent for the Corporation, to execute documents on behalf of the Corporation and to make executive decisions that conform to general policies and principles established by the board of directors. The board of directors shall monitor the Adviser and, if applicable, the Administrator, to assure that the administrative procedures, operations and programs of the Corporation are in the best interests of the stockholders and are fulfilled and that (i) the expenses incurred are reasonable in light of the investment performance of the Corporation, its net assets and its net income, (ii) all Front End Fees shall be reasonable and shall not exceed 18% of the gross proceeds of any offering, regardless of the source of payment, and (iii) the percentage of gross proceeds of any offering committed to Investment in Program Assets shall be at least 82%. All items of compensation to underwriters or dealers, including, but not limited to, selling commissions, expenses, rights of first refusal, consulting fees, finders' fees and all other items of compensation of any kind or description paid by the Corporation, directly or indirectly, shall be taken into consideration in computing the amount of allowable Front End Fees.~~

~~(ii) The board of directors is responsible for determining that compensation paid to the Adviser and the Administrator is reasonable in relation to the nature and quality of services performed and the investment performance of the Corporation and that the provisions of each of the Investment Advisory Agreement entered into with the Adviser (the "Advisory Agreement") and the Administration Agreement entered into with the Administrator (the "Administration Agreement") are being carried out. The board of directors may consider all factors that they deem relevant in making these determinations.~~

~~Section 8.2 Contents of Advisory Agreement. Any investment advisory agreement with the Adviser shall contain the following provisions:~~

~~(a) The Adviser has a fiduciary responsibility and duty to the Corporation and to the stockholders for the safekeeping and use of all the funds and assets of the Corporation, whether or not in the Adviser's immediate possession or control.~~

~~(b) The Adviser shall not employ, or permit another to employ, such funds or assets except for the exclusive benefit of the Corporation (unless provided otherwise in such agreement, neither the power of direction of the Adviser nor the exercise thereof by any person shall cause such person to have duties, including fiduciary duties, or liabilities relating thereto to the Corporation or any stockholder).~~

~~(c) The Adviser shall not have an exclusive right to sell or exclusive employment to sell assets for the Corporation.~~

~~(d) No rebates or give-ups may be received by the Adviser nor may the Adviser participate in any reciprocal business arrangement which would circumvent the NASAA Omnibus Guidelines.~~

~~(e) No payments, awards, commissions, or other compensation may be made to any Person engaged to sell Shares or give investment advice to a potential stockholder; however, this prohibition shall not prohibit the payment to a registered broker-dealer under the 1934 Act, or other properly-licensed Person of normal and customary selling commissions for selling Shares.~~

~~(f) The Adviser shall not be permitted to commingle the funds of the Corporation with the funds of any other Person; however, this prohibition shall not prohibit the Adviser from establishing a master fiduciary account pursuant to which separate sub-trust accounts are established for the benefit of Affiliates of the Corporation, provided that the funds of the Corporation are protected from the claims of such other Affiliates and creditors of such other Affiliates. This prohibition shall not apply to investments meeting the requirements of Article IX hereof.~~

~~(g) From time to time and not less than quarterly, the Adviser shall review the Corporation's accounts to determine whether cash distributions are appropriate. The Corporation shall distribute pro rata to the stockholders any cash distributions deemed appropriate for such distribution by the Adviser. In no event shall funds be advanced or borrowed solely for the purpose of such cash distributions. Any cash distributions to the Adviser shall be made only in conjunction with distributions to stockholders and as a result of any shares of Common Stock held by the Adviser. All such cash distributions shall be made only out of funds legally available therefor pursuant to the MGCL.~~

~~Section 8.3 Successor Adviser. The board of directors shall determine whether any successor Adviser possesses sufficient qualifications to perform the advisory function for the Corporation and whether the compensation provided for in its contract with the Corporation is justified.~~

~~Section 8.4 Termination. The Advisory Agreement shall provide that it is terminable by (a) a majority of the independent directors on 60 days' written notice or (b) the Adviser on 120 days' written notice, in each case without cause or penalty, and in each case the Adviser will cooperate with the Corporation and the board of directors in making an orderly transition of the advisory function. In addition, if the Corporation elects to continue its operations, the Adviser shall pay all expenses incurred as a result of its withdrawal.~~

~~Section 8.5 Organization and Offering Expenses Limitation. Unless otherwise provided in any resolution adopted by the board of directors, the Corporation shall reimburse the Adviser and its Affiliates for Organization and Offering Expenses incurred by the Adviser or its Affiliates; provided, however, that the total amount of all Organization and Offering Expenses shall be reasonable and shall be included in Front-End Fees for purposes of the limit on such Front-End Fees set forth in Section 8.1.~~

~~Section 8.6 Acquisition Fees. Unless otherwise provided in any resolution adopted by the board of directors, the Corporation may pay the Adviser and its Affiliates fees for the review and evaluation of potential investments; provided, however, that the board of directors shall conclude that the total of all Acquisition Fees and Acquisition Expenses shall be reasonable.~~

~~Section 8.7 Reimbursement of Adviser. The Corporation shall not reimburse the Adviser or its Affiliates for services for which the Adviser or its Affiliates are entitled to compensation in the form of a separate fee. Excluded from the allowable reimbursement shall be: (a) rent or depreciation, utilities, capital equipment, other administrative items of the Adviser; and (b) salaries, fringe benefits, travel expenses and other administrative items incurred or allocated to any Controlling Person of the Adviser.~~

~~Section 8.8 Reimbursement of Administrator. In the event the Corporation executes an agreement for the provision of administrative services, then the Corporation may reimburse the Administrator, at the end of each fiscal quarter, for all expenses of the Corporation incurred by the Administrator as well as the actual cost of goods and services used for or by the Corporation and obtained from entities not Affiliated with the Corporation. The Administrator may be reimbursed for the administrative services necessary for the prudent operation of the Corporation performed by it on behalf of the Corporation; provided, however, the reimbursement shall be an amount equal to the lower of the Administrator's actual cost or the amount the Corporation would be required to pay third parties for the provision of comparable administrative services in the same geographic location; and provided, further, that such costs are reasonably allocated to the Corporation on the basis of assets, revenues, time records or other method conforming with generally accepted accounting principles. Except as otherwise provided herein, no reimbursement shall be permitted for services for which the Administrator is entitled to compensation by way of a separate fee.~~

~~Notwithstanding the foregoing, the Corporation may reimburse the Administrator, under an agreement between the Corporation and the Administrator whereby the Administrator shall provide certain administrative services for the Corporation, for the salaries, rent and travel expenses of executive officers of the Administrator also serving in the capacity of chief financial officer or chief compliance officer of the Corporation, provided such reimbursement is approved annually by the independent directors.~~

ARTICLE IX

INVESTMENT OBJECTIVES AND LIMITATIONS

~~Section 9.1 Investment Objectives. The Corporation's investment objectives are to generate current income and capital appreciation. The independent directors shall review the investment policies of the Corporation with sufficient frequency (not less often than annually) to determine that the policies being followed by the Corporation are in the best interests of its stockholders. Each such determination and the basis therefor shall be set forth in the minutes of the meetings of the board of directors.~~

~~Section 9.2 Investments in Other Programs-~~

~~(a) The Corporation shall not invest in general partnerships or joint ventures with non-Affiliates that own and operate specific assets, unless the Corporation, alone or together with any publicly registered Affiliate of the Corporation meeting the requirements of subsection (b) below, acquires a controlling interest in such a general partnership or joint venture, but in no event shall the Adviser be entitled to duplicate fees; provided, however that the foregoing is not intended to prevent the Corporation from carrying out its business of investing and reinvesting its assets in securities of other issuers. For purposes of this Section, "controlling interest" means an equity interest possessing the power to direct or cause the direction of the management and policies of the general partnership or joint venture, including the authority to: (i) review all contracts entered into by the general partnership or joint venture that will have a material effect on its business or assets; (ii) cause a sale or refinancing of the assets or its interest therein subject, in certain cases where required by the partnership or joint venture agreement, to limits as to time, minimum amounts and/or a right of first refusal by the joint venture partner or consent of the joint venture partner; (iii) approve budgets and major capital expenditures, subject to a stated minimum amount; (iv) veto any sale or refinancing of the assets, or alternatively, to receive a specified preference on sale or refinancing proceeds and (v) exercise a right of first refusal on any desired sale or refinancing by the joint venture partner of its interest in the assets, except for transfer to an Affiliate of the joint venture partner.~~

Table of Contents

~~(b) The Corporation shall have the authority to invest in general partnerships or joint ventures with other publicly registered Affiliates of the Corporation if all of the following conditions are met: (i) the Affiliate and the Corporation have substantially identical investment objectives; (ii) there are no duplicate fees to the Adviser; (iii) the compensation payable by the general partnership or joint venture to the Advisers by each of the Corporation and its Affiliate that invests in such partnership or joint venture is substantially identical; (iv) each of the Corporation and the Affiliate has a right of first refusal to buy if the other party wishes to sell assets held in the joint venture; (v) the investment of each of the Corporation and its Affiliate is on substantially the same terms and conditions and (vi) any prospectus of the Corporation in use or proposed to be used when such an investment has been made or is contemplated discloses the potential risk of impasse on joint venture decisions since neither the Corporation nor its Affiliate controls the partnership or joint venture, and the potential risk that while the Corporation or its Affiliate may have the right to buy the assets from the partnership or joint venture, it may not have the resources to do so.~~

~~(c) The Corporation shall have the authority to invest in general partnerships or joint ventures with Affiliates other than publicly registered Affiliates of the Corporation only if all of the following conditions are met: (i) the investment is necessary to relieve the Adviser from any commitment to purchase the assets entered into in compliance with Section 10.1 prior to the closing of the offering period of the Corporation; (ii) there are no duplicate fees to the Adviser; (iii) the investment of each entity is on substantially the same terms and conditions; (iv) the Corporation has a right of first refusal to buy if the Adviser wishes to sell assets held in the joint venture and (v) any prospectus of the Corporation in use or proposed to be used when such an investment has been made or is contemplated discloses the potential risk of impasse on joint venture decisions.~~

~~(d) The Corporation may be structured to conduct operations through separate single-purpose entities managed by the Adviser (multi-tier arrangements); provided that the terms of any such arrangements do not result in the circumvention of any of the requirements or prohibitions contained herein or under applicable federal or state securities laws. Any agreements regarding such arrangements shall accompany any prospectus of the Corporation, if such agreement is then available, and the terms of such agreement shall contain provisions assuring that all of the following restrictions apply: (i) there will be no duplication or increase in Organization and Offering expenses, fees payable to the Adviser, program expenses or other fees and costs; (ii) there will be no substantive alteration in the fiduciary and contractual relationship between the Adviser, the Corporation and the stockholders and (iii) there will be no diminishment in the voting rights of the stockholders.~~

~~(e) Other than as specifically permitted in subsections (b), (c) and (d) above, the Corporation shall not invest in general partnerships or joint ventures with Affiliates.~~

~~(f) The Corporation shall be permitted to invest in general partnership interests of limited partnerships only if the Corporation, alone or together with any publicly registered Affiliate of the Corporation meeting the requirements of subsection (b) above, acquires a "controlling interest" as defined in subsection (a) above, the Adviser is not entitled to any duplicate fees, no additional compensation beyond that permitted under applicable law is paid to the Adviser, and the agreement of limited partnership or other applicable agreement complies with this Section 9.2.~~

~~Section 9.3 Other Goods or Services~~

~~(a) In addition to the services to be provided under the Administration Agreement, the Corporation may accept goods or other services provided by the Adviser or Administrator in connection with the operation of assets, provided that (i) Adviser, as a fiduciary, or the Administrator, as applicable, determines such self-dealing arrangement is in the best interest of the Corporation; (ii) the terms pursuant to which all such goods or services are provided to the Corporation by the Adviser or Administrator shall be embodied in a written contract, the material terms of which must be fully disclosed to the stockholders; (iii) the contract may only be modified with approval of holders of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Corporation and (iv) the contract shall contain a clause allowing termination without penalty on 60 days' notice. Without limitation to the foregoing, arrangements to provide such goods or other services must meet all of the following criteria: (i) the Adviser or Administrator must be independently engaged in the business of providing such goods or services to persons other than their Affiliates and at least 33% of the Adviser's or Administrator's associated gross revenues must come from persons other than their Affiliates; (ii) the compensation, price or fee charged for providing such goods or services must be comparable and competitive with the compensation, price or fee charged by persons other than the Adviser or Administrator and their Affiliates in the same geographic location who provide comparable goods or services which could reasonably be made available to the Corporation; and (iii) except in extraordinary circumstances, the compensation and other material terms of the arrangement must be fully disclosed to the stockholders. Extraordinary circumstances are limited to instances when immediate action is required and the goods or services are not immediately available from persons other than the Adviser or Administrator and their Affiliates.~~

~~(b) Notwithstanding the foregoing clause (a), if the Adviser or Administrator is not engaged in the business to the extent required by such clause, the Adviser or Administrator may provide to the Corporation other goods and services if all of the following additional conditions are met: (i) the Adviser or Administrator can demonstrate the capacity and capability to provide such goods or services on a competitive basis; (ii) the goods or services are provided at the lesser of cost or the competitive rate charged by persons other than the Adviser or Administrator and their Affiliates in the same geographic location who are in the business of providing comparable goods or services; (iii) the cost is limited to the reasonable necessary and actual expenses incurred by the Adviser or Administrator on behalf of the Corporation in providing such goods or services, exclusive of expenses of the type which may not be reimbursed under applicable federal or state securities laws and (iv) expenses are allocated in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles and are made subject to any special audit required by applicable federal and state securities laws.~~

~~ARTICLE X~~

~~CONFLICTS OF INTEREST~~

~~Section 10.1 Sales and Leases to the Corporation. Except as otherwise permitted under the 1940 Act or by a determination of the staff of the SEC under the 1940 Act, the Corporation shall not purchase or lease assets in which the Adviser or any Affiliate thereof has an interest unless all of the following conditions are met: (a) the transaction is fully disclosed to the stockholders either in a periodic report filed with the SEC or otherwise; and (b) the assets are sold or leased upon terms that are reasonable to the Corporation and at a price not to exceed the lesser of cost or fair market value as determined by an Independent Expert. Notwithstanding anything to the contrary in this Section 10.1, the Adviser may purchase assets in its own name (and assume loans in connection therewith) and temporarily hold title thereto, for the purposes of facilitating the acquisition of the assets, the borrowing of money, obtaining financing for the Corporation, or the completion of construction of the assets, provided that all of the following conditions are met: (a) the assets are purchased by the Corporation at a price no greater than the cost of the assets to the Adviser; (b) all income generated by, and the expenses associated with, the assets so acquired shall be treated as belonging to the Corporation and (c) there are no other benefits arising out of such transaction to the Adviser.~~

Table of Contents

~~Section 10.2 Sales and Leases to the Adviser, Directors or Affiliates. Except as otherwise permitted under the 1940 Act, the Corporation shall not sell assets to the Adviser or any Affiliate thereof unless such sale is duly approved by the holders of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Corporation. The Corporation shall not lease assets to the Adviser or any director or Affiliate thereof unless all of the following conditions are met: (a) the transaction is fully disclosed to the stockholders either in a periodic report filed with the SEC or otherwise and (b) the terms of the transaction are fair and reasonable to the Corporation.~~

~~Section 10.3 Loans. Except for the advancement of funds pursuant to Sections 7.3 and 7.4, no loans, credit facilities, credit agreements or otherwise shall be made by the Corporation to the Adviser or any Affiliate thereof.~~

~~Section 10.4 Commissions on Financing, Refinancing or Reinvestment. The Corporation shall not pay, directly or indirectly, a commission or fee to the Adviser or any Affiliate thereof (except as otherwise specified in this Article X) in connection with the reinvestment of cash flow from operations and available reserves or of the proceeds of the resale, exchange or refinancing of assets.~~

~~Section 10.5 Other Transactions. Except as otherwise permitted under the 1940 Act or by a determination of the staff of the SEC under the 1940 Act, the Corporation shall not engage in any other transaction with the Adviser or a director or Affiliate thereof unless (a) such transaction complies with the NASAA Omnibus Guidelines and all applicable law and (b) a majority of the directors (including a majority of the independent directors) not otherwise interested in such transaction approve such transaction as fair and reasonable to the Corporation and on terms and conditions not less favorable to the Corporation than those available from non-Affiliated third parties.~~

~~Section 10.6 Lending Practices. On financing made available to the Corporation by the Adviser, the Adviser may not receive interest in excess of the lesser of the Adviser's cost of funds or the amounts that would be charged by unrelated lending institutions on comparable loans for the same purpose. The Adviser shall not impose a prepayment charge or penalty in connection with such financing and the Adviser shall not receive points or other financing charges. The Adviser shall be prohibited from providing permanent financing for the Corporation. For purposes of this Section 10.6, "permanent financing" shall mean any financing with a term in excess of 12 months.~~

ARTICLE XI
STOCKHOLDERS

~~Section 11.1 Additional Voting Rights of Stockholders. Subject to and in addition to the provisions of any class or series of shares then outstanding and the mandatory provisions of any applicable laws or regulations, including the MGCL, upon a vote by the holders of a majority of the shares entitled to vote on a matter, stockholders may, without the necessity for concurrence by the Adviser, direct that the board of directors cause the Corporation to: (a) amend the Advisory Agreement, the Administration Agreement, and the Articles of Incorporation; (b) remove the Adviser and elect a new investment adviser; (c) dissolve the Corporation; (d) approve or disapprove the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the Corporation when such sale is to be made other than in the ordinary course of the Corporation's business; or (e) cause the merger or other reorganization of the Corporation. Without approval of holders of a majority of shares entitled to vote on the matter, the Corporation shall not permit the Adviser to: (a) amend the Advisory Agreement except for amendments that do not adversely affect the interests of the stockholders; (b) voluntarily withdraw as the Adviser unless such withdrawal would not affect the tax status of the Corporation and would not materially adversely affect the stockholders; (c) appoint a new investment adviser; (d) sell all or substantially all of the Corporation's assets when such sale is to be made other than in the ordinary course of the Corporation's business; or (e) cause the merger or other reorganization of the Corporation. With respect to any shares owned by the Adviser, the Adviser may not vote or consent on matters submitted to the stockholders regarding the removal of the Adviser or regarding any transaction between the Corporation and the Adviser. In determining the existence of the requisite percentage of the Corporation's shares entitled to vote on the matter and necessary to approve a matter on which the Adviser may not vote or consent pursuant to this Section 11.1, any of the Corporation's shares entitled to vote on the matter and owned by the Adviser shall not be included.~~

~~Section 11.2 Voting Limitations on Shares Held by the Adviser, Directors and Affiliates. With respect to shares owned by the Adviser, any director, or any of their Affiliates, neither the Adviser, nor such director(s), nor any of their Affiliates may vote or consent on matters submitted to the stockholders regarding the removal of the Adviser, such director(s) or any of their Affiliates or any transaction between the Corporation and any of them. In determining the requisite percentage in interest of shares necessary to approve a matter on which the Adviser, such director(s) and any of their Affiliates may not vote or consent, any shares owned by any of them shall not be included.~~

~~Section 11.3 Right of Inspection. Any stockholder and any designated representative thereof shall be permitted access to the records of the Corporation to which it is entitled under applicable law at all reasonable times, and may inspect and copy any of them for a reasonable charge. Inspection of the Corporation's books and records by the office or agency administering the securities laws of a jurisdiction shall be provided upon reasonable notice and during normal business hours. Information regarding stockholders' right to access to the Corporation's records pertaining to its stockholders is set forth in the Bylaws.~~

Section 11.4 Reports:

~~(a) The directors, including the independent directors, shall take reasonable steps to ensure that the Corporation shall cause to be prepared and mailed or delivered by any reasonable means, including an electronic medium, to each stockholder as of a record date after the end of the fiscal year and each holder of other publicly held securities within 120 days after the end of the fiscal year to which it relates an annual report for each fiscal year ending after the commencement of the Corporation's initial public offering that shall include: (i) financial statements prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles which are audited and reported on by independent certified public accountants; (ii) a report of the activities of the Corporation during the period covered by the report; and (iii) where forecasts have been provided to the stockholders, a table comparing the forecasts previously provided with the actual results during the period covered by the report; and (iv) a report setting forth distributions to stockholders for the period covered thereby and separately identifying distributions from: (A) cash flow from operations during the period, (B) cash flow from operations during a prior period which have been held as reserves, (C) proceeds from disposition of assets; and (D) reserves from the gross proceeds. Such annual report must also contain a breakdown of the costs reimbursed to the Adviser. The directors shall take reasonable steps to ensure that, (i) within the scope of the annual audit of the Adviser's financial statements, the independent certified public accountants preparing such annual report will issue a special report on the allocation of such costs to the Corporation in accordance with the Advisory Agreement, (ii) the special report shall be in accordance with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants United States Auditing Standards relating to special reports, (iii) the additional costs of such special report will be itemized and may be reimbursed to the Adviser by the Corporation in accordance with this Section only to the extent that such reimbursement, when added to the cost for administrative services rendered, does not exceed the competitive rate for such services as determined above, (iv) the special report shall at minimum provide: a review of the time records of individual employees, the costs of whose services were reimbursed; and a review of the specific nature of the work performed by each such employee, and (v) the prospectus, prospectus supplement or periodic report as filed with the SEC shall disclose in tabular form an itemized estimate of such proposed expenses for the next fiscal year together with a breakdown by year of such expenses reimbursed in each of the last five public programs formed by the Adviser.~~

~~(b) The directors, including the independent directors, shall take reasonable steps to ensure that the Corporation shall cause to be prepared and mailed or delivered to each stockholder within 60 days after the end of each fiscal quarter of the Corporation, a report containing the same financial information (i) contained in the Corporation's Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q filed by the Corporation under the 1934 Act and (ii) within 120 days after the end of each fiscal year of the Corporation, a report containing the same financial information contained in the Corporation's Annual Report on Form 10-K filed by the Corporation under the 1934 Act.~~

~~(c) The directors, including the independent directors, shall take reasonable steps to ensure that the Corporation shall cause to be prepared and mailed or delivered within 75 days after the end of each fiscal year of the Corporation to each Person who was at any time during such fiscal year a stockholder all information necessary for the preparation of the stockholders' federal income tax returns.~~

~~(d) If shares have been purchased on a deferred payment basis, on which there remains an unpaid balance during any period covered by any report required by subsections (a) and (b) above; then such report shall contain a detailed statement of the status of all deferred payments, actions taken by the Corporation in response to any defaults, and a discussion and analysis of the impact on capital requirements of the Corporation.~~

ARTICLE XII

ROLL-UP TRANSACTIONS

~~Section 12.1 Roll-up Transactions. In connection with any proposed Roll-Up Transaction, an appraisal of all of the Corporation's assets shall be obtained from a competent Independent Expert. The Corporation's assets shall be appraised on a consistent basis, and the appraisal shall be based on the evaluation of all relevant information and shall indicate the value of the assets as of a date immediately prior to the announcement of the proposed Roll-Up Transaction. The appraisal shall assume an orderly liquidation of the assets over a twelve-month period. The terms of the engagement of the Independent Expert shall clearly state that the engagement is for the benefit of the Corporation and the stockholders. A summary of the appraisal, indicating all material assumptions underlying the appraisal, shall be included in a report to stockholders in connection with a proposed Roll-Up Transaction. In connection with a proposed Roll-Up Transaction, the Person sponsoring the Roll-Up Transaction shall offer to stockholders who vote against the proposed Roll-Up Transaction the choice of:~~

~~(a) accepting the securities of a Roll-Up Entity offered in the proposed Roll-Up Transaction; or~~

~~(i) remaining as stockholders and preserving their interests therein on the same terms and conditions as existed previously; or~~

~~(ii) receiving cash in an amount equal to the stockholder's pro rata share of the appraised value of the net assets of the Corporation.~~

~~The Corporation is prohibited from participating in any proposed Roll-Up Transaction:~~

~~(c) that would result in the stockholders having voting rights in a Roll-Up Entity that are less than the rights provided for in the second sentence of~~

~~Section 12.2 hereof;~~

~~(a) that includes provisions that would operate as a material impediment to, or frustration of, the accumulation of shares by any purchaser of the securities of the Roll-Up Entity (except to the minimum extent necessary to preserve the tax status of the Roll-Up Entity), or which would limit the ability of an investor to exercise the voting rights of its securities of the Roll-Up Entity on the basis of the shares held by that investor;~~

~~(b) in which investor's rights to access of records of the Roll-Up Entity will be less than those described in Section 11.3 hereof; or~~

~~(c) in which any of the costs of the Roll-Up Transaction would be borne by the Corporation if the Roll-Up Transaction is rejected by the stockholders.~~

ARTICLE XIII

ARTICLES OF AMENDMENT
SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION

Sierra Income Corporation, a Maryland corporation (the "Corporation"), hereby certifies to the State Department of Assessments and Taxation of the State of Maryland that:

FIRST: The Corporation desires to, and hereby does, amend its charter (the "Charter") as currently in effect as hereinafter set forth.

SECOND: The Charter is hereby amended by deleting Section 4.6 of Article IV in its entirety and inserting the following:

To the fullest extent permitted by law, the determination as to any of the following matters, made in good faith by or pursuant to the direction of the board of directors consistent with these Articles of Incorporation shall be final and conclusive and shall be binding upon the Corporation and every stockholder: the amount of the net income of the Corporation for any period and the amount of assets at any time legally available for the payment of dividends, redemption of its shares or the payment of other distributions on its shares; the amount of stated capital, capital surplus, net assets, other surplus, annual or other net profit, net assets in excess of capital, undivided profits or excess of profits over losses on sales of assets; the amount, purpose, time of creation, increase or decrease, alteration or cancellation of any reserves or charges and the propriety thereof (whether or not any obligation or liability for which such reserves or charges shall have been created shall have been paid or discharged); any interpretation of the terms, preferences, conversion or other rights, voting powers or rights, restrictions, limitations as to dividends or other distributions, qualifications or terms or conditions of redemption of any class or series of shares of the Corporation; the fair value, or any sale, bid or asked price to be applied in determining the fair value, of any asset owned or held by the Corporation or any shares of the Corporation; the shares of any class of the Corporation; any matter relating to the acquisition, holding and disposition of any assets by the Corporation or any other matter relating to the business and affairs of the Corporation or required or permitted by applicable law or the Bylaws or otherwise to be determined by the board of directors.

THIRD: These Articles of Amendment have been duly advised by the board of directors and approved by the stockholders of the Corporation as required by law.

FOURTH: The total number of shares of capital stock which the Corporation had authority to issue immediately prior to the foregoing amendment and restatement of the Articles of Incorporation was 250,000,000 shares of Common Stock, $0.001 par value per share. The total number of shares of capital stock which the Corporation has authority to issue after giving effect to the amendments set forth in the foregoing amendment and restatement of the Articles of Incorporation is 250,000,000 shares of Common Stock, $0.001 par value per share. There is no change in the aggregate par value of all authorized capital stock.

FIFTH: The undersigned acknowledges these Articles of Amendment to be the corporate act of the Corporation and, as to all matters or facts required to be verified under oath, the undersigned acknowledges that, to the best of his knowledge, information and belief, these matters and facts are true in all material respects and that this statement is made under the penalties for perjury.

Appendix I-2

AMENDED AND RESTATED BYLAWS OF SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION

ARTICLE I OFFICES

Section 1. PRINCIPAL OFFICE. The principal office of Sierra Income Corporation (the “Corporation”) shall be located at such place as the Corporation’s board of directors (the “Board”) may designate.

Section 2. ADDITIONAL OFFICES. The Corporation may have additional offices, including a principal executive office, at such places as the Board may from time to time determine or the business of the Corporation may require.

ARTICLE II MEETINGS OF STOCKHOLDERS

Section 1. PLACE. All meetings of stockholders shall be held at the principal office of the Corporation or at such other place as shall be set by the Board and stated in the notice of the meeting.

Section 2. ANNUAL MEETING. An annual meeting of the stockholders for the election of directors and the transaction of any business within the powers of the Corporation shall be held on a date and at the time set by the Board each year.

Section 3. SPECIAL MEETINGS.

(a) General. The Chairman of the Board, the chief executive officer, the president or the Board may call a special meeting of the stockholders. Subject to subsection (b) of this Section 3, a special meeting of stockholders shall also be called by the secretary of the Corporation upon the written request of the stockholders entitled to cast not less than ten percent (the “Special Meeting Percentage”) of all the votes entitled to be cast at such meeting.

(b) Stockholder Requested Special Meetings. (1) Any stockholder of record seeking to have stockholders request a special meeting shall, by sending written notice to the secretary (the “Record Date Request Notice”) by registered mail, return receipt requested, request the Board to fix a record date to determine the stockholders entitled to request a special meeting (the “Request Record Date”). The Record Date Request Notice shall set forth the purpose of the meeting, the matters proposed to be acted on at it and any material interest in such matter of such stockholder, including any anticipated benefit to such stockholder therefrom. The Record Date Request Notice shall be signed by one or more stockholders of record as of the date of signature (or their duly authorized agents), shall bear the date of signature of each such stockholder (or such agent) and shall set forth all information relating to each such stockholder that must be disclosed in solicitations of proxies for election of directors in an election contest (even if an election contest is not involved), or is otherwise required, in each case pursuant to Regulation 14A (or any successor provision) under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended (the “Exchange Act”). Upon receiving the Record Date Request Notice, and subject to Maryland General Corporation Law (the “MGCL”), the Board may fix a Request Record Date. The Request Record Date shall not precede and shall not be more than ten days after the 5:00 pm, Eastern Time, on the date on which the resolution fixing the Request Record Date is adopted by the Board. If the Board, within ten days after the date on which a valid Record Date Request Notice is received, fails to adopt a resolution fixing the Request Record Date and make a public announcement of such Request Record Date, the Request Record Date shall be 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the tenth day after the first date on which the Record Date Request Notice is received by the secretary.

(2) In order for any stockholder to request a special meeting, one or more written requests for a special meeting signed by stockholders of record (or their duly authorized agents) as of the Request Record Date entitled to cast not less than the Special Meeting Percentage of all of the votes entitled to be cast at such meeting (the "Special Meeting Request") shall be delivered to the secretary. In addition, the Special Meeting Request shall set forth the purpose of the meeting and the matters proposed to be acted on at it (which shall be limited to the matters set forth in the Record Date Request Notice received by the secretary), shall bear the date of signature of each such stockholder (or such agent) signing the Special Meeting Request, shall set forth the name and address, as they appear in the Corporation's books, of each stockholder signing such request (or on whose behalf the Special Meeting Request is signed) and the class, series and number of all shares of the Corporation which are owned by each such stockholder, and the nominee holder for, and number of, shares owned beneficially but not of record, shall be sent to the secretary by registered mail, return receipt requested, and shall be received by the secretary within 60 days after the Request Record Date. Any requesting stockholder may revoke his, her or its request for a special meeting at any time by written revocation delivered to the secretary.

(3) The secretary shall inform the requesting stockholders of the reasonably estimated cost of preparing and mailing the notice of meeting (including the Corporation's proxy materials). The secretary shall not be required to call a special meeting upon stockholder request and such meeting shall not be held unless, in addition to the documents required by subsection (b)(2) of this Section 3, the secretary receives payment of such reasonably estimated cost prior to the mailing of any notice of the meeting.

(4) Any special meeting shall be held at such place, date and time as may be designated by the Board; provided, however, that the date of any stockholder requested meeting shall be not more than 60 days after the record date for such meeting (the "Meeting Record Date"); and provided further that if the Board fails to designate, within ten days after the date that a valid Special Meeting Request is actually received by the secretary (the "Delivery Date"), a date and time for a stockholder requested meeting, then such meeting shall be held at 2:00 P.M. local time on the 60th day after the Meeting Record Date or, if such 60th day is not a Business Day (as defined below), on the first preceding Business Day; and provided further that in the event that the Board fails to designate a place for a stockholder requested meeting within ten days after the Delivery Date, then such meeting shall be held at the principal executive office of the Corporation. In fixing a date for any special meeting, the Board may consider such factors as the directors deem relevant within the good faith exercise of business judgment, including, without limitation, the nature of the matters to be considered, the facts and circumstances surrounding any request for meeting and any plan of the Board to call an annual meeting or a special meeting. In the case of any stockholder requested meeting, the Board shall fix a Meeting Record Date that is a date not later than 30 days after the Delivery Date.

(5) If written revocations of requests for the special meeting have been delivered to the secretary and the result is that stockholders of record (or their agents duly authorized in writing), as of the Request Record Date, entitled to cast less than the Special Meeting Percentage have delivered, and not revoked, requests for a special meeting to the secretary, the secretary shall: (i) if the notice of meeting has not already been mailed, refrain from mailing the notice of the meeting and send to all requesting stockholders who have not revoked such requests written notice of any revocation of a request for the special meeting, or (ii) if the notice of meeting has been mailed and if the secretary first sends to all requesting stockholders who have not revoked requests for a special meeting written notice of any revocation of a request for the special meeting and written notice of the Secretary's intention to revoke the notice of the meeting, revoke the notice of the meeting at any time before ten days before the commencement of the meeting. Any request for a special meeting received after a revocation by the Secretary of a notice of a meeting shall be considered a request for a new special meeting.

(6) The Board, the Chairman of the Board, the chief executive officer or the president may appoint independent inspectors of elections to act as the agent of the Corporation for the purpose of promptly performing a ministerial review of the validity of any purported Special Meeting Request received by the secretary. For the purpose of permitting the inspectors to perform such review, no such purported request shall be deemed to have been delivered to the secretary until the earlier of (i) five Business Days after receipt by the secretary of such purported request and (ii) such date as the independent inspectors certify to the Corporation that the valid requests received by the secretary represent at least the Special Meeting Percentage. Nothing contained in this subsection (6) shall in any way be construed to suggest or imply that the Corporation or any stockholder shall not be entitled to contest the validity of any request, whether during or after such five Business Day period, or to take any other action (including, without limitation, the commencement, prosecution or defense of any litigation with respect thereto, and the seeking of injunctive relief in such litigation).

(7) For purposes of these Bylaws, "Business Day" shall mean any day other than a Saturday, a Sunday or other day on which banking institutions in the State of New York are authorized or obligated by law or executive order to close.

Section 4. NOTICE OF MEETINGS. Written or printed notice of the purpose or purposes, in the case of a special meeting, and of the time and place of every meeting of the stockholders, whether it be an annual meeting or a special meeting, shall be given by the secretary of the Corporation to each stockholder of record entitled to vote at the meeting and to each other stockholder entitled to notice of the meeting, by either placing the notice in the mail, delivering it by overnight delivery service or transmitting the notice by electronic mail or any other electronic means at least 15 days, but not more than 60 days, prior to the date designated for the meeting, addressed to each stockholder at such stockholder's address appearing on the books of the Corporation or supplied by the stockholder to the Corporation for the purpose of notice. The notice of any meeting of stockholders may be accompanied by a form of proxy approved by the Board in favor of the actions or persons as the Board may select. Notice of any meeting of stockholders shall be deemed waived by any stockholder who attends the meeting in person or by proxy or who before or after the meeting submits a signed waiver of notice that is filed with the records of the meeting.

Except as provided in Article II, Section 11, any business of the Corporation may be transacted at an annual meeting of stockholders without being specifically designated in the notice of such meeting, except such business as is required by any statute to be stated in such notice. No business shall be transacted at a special meeting of stockholders except as specifically designated in the notice of such meeting.

Section 5. ORGANIZATION AND CONDUCT. Every meeting of stockholders shall be conducted by an individual appointed by the Board to be chairman of the meeting or, in the absence of such appointment, by the Chairman of the Board, if any, or, in the case of a vacancy in the office or absence of the Chairman of the Board, by one of the following officers present at the meeting: the Vice Chairman of the Board, if any, the chief executive officer, the president, any vice president, the secretary, the treasurer or, in the absence of such officers, a chairman chosen by the stockholders by the vote of a majority of the votes cast by stockholders present in person or by proxy. The secretary or, in the secretary's absence, an assistant secretary or, in the absence of both the secretary and assistant secretaries, an individual appointed by the Board or, in the absence of such appointment, an individual appointed by the chairman of the meeting shall act as secretary. In the event that the secretary presides at a meeting of the stockholders, an assistant secretary, or, in the absence of assistant secretaries, an individual appointed by the Board or the chairman of the meeting, shall record the minutes of the meeting. The order of business and all other matters of procedure at any meeting of stockholders shall be determined by the chairman of the meeting. The chairman of the meeting may prescribe such rules, regulations and procedures and take such action as, in the discretion of such chairman, are appropriate for the proper conduct of the meeting, including, without limitation, (a) restricting admission to the time set for the commencement of the meeting; (b) limiting attendance at the meeting to stockholders of record of the Corporation, their duly authorized proxies or other such individuals as the chairman of the meeting may determine; (c) limiting participation at the meeting on any matter to stockholders of record of the Corporation entitled to vote on such matter, their duly authorized proxies or other such individuals as the chairman of the meeting may determine; (d) limiting the time allotted to questions or comments by participants; (e) maintaining order and security at the meeting; (f) removing any stockholder or any other individual who refuses to comply with meeting procedures, rules or guidelines as set forth by the chairman of the meeting; and (g) recessing or adjourning the meeting to a later date and time and place announced at the meeting. Unless otherwise determined by the chairman of the meeting, meetings of stockholders shall not be required to be held in accordance with the rules of parliamentary procedure.

Section 6. QUORUM. The presence in person or by proxy of the holders of shares of the Corporation entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast (without regard to class) shall constitute a quorum at any meeting of the stockholders, except with respect to any such matter that, under applicable statutes or regulatory requirements, requires approval by a separate vote of one or more classes of shares, in which case the presence in person or by proxy of the holders of shares entitled to cast a majority of the votes entitled to be cast by each such class on such a matter shall constitute a quorum.

If, however, such quorum shall not be present at any meeting of the stockholders, the chairman of the meeting or the stockholders entitled to vote at such meeting, present in person or by proxy, shall have the power to adjourn the meeting from time to time to a date not more than 120 days after the original record date without notice other than announcement at the meeting. At such adjourned meeting at which a quorum shall be present, any business may be transacted which might have been transacted at the meeting as originally notified.

The stockholders present either in person or by proxy, at a meeting which has been duly called and convened, may continue to transact business until adjournment, notwithstanding the withdrawal of enough stockholders to leave less than a quorum.

Section 7. VOTING. Directors shall be elected by a plurality of all the votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called and at which a quorum, as defined in Section 6 of this Article II, is present. Each share may be voted for as many individuals as there are directors to be elected and for whose election the share is entitled to be voted. A majority of the votes cast at a meeting of stockholders duly called and at which a quorum, as defined in Section 6 of this Article II, is present shall be sufficient to approve any other matter which may properly come before the meeting, unless more than a majority of the votes cast is required by the MGCL or by the charter of the Corporation (the "Articles of Incorporation"). Unless otherwise provided in the Articles of Incorporation, each outstanding share, regardless of class, shall be entitled to one vote on each matter submitted to a vote at a meeting of stockholders.

Section 8. PROXIES. A stockholder may cast the votes entitled to be cast by the shares owned of record by the stockholder in person or by proxy executed by the stockholder or by the stockholder's duly authorized agent in any manner permitted by law. Such proxy or evidence of authorization of such proxy shall be filed with the secretary of the Corporation before or at the meeting. No proxy shall become invalid due to the adjournment or postponement of a meeting of stockholders, or a change in the record date for such meeting, unless so provided in the proxy. No proxy shall be valid more than eleven months after its date unless otherwise provided in the proxy.

Section 9. VOTING OF SHARES BY CERTAIN HOLDERS. Shares of the Corporation registered in the name of a corporation, partnership, trust or other entity, if entitled to be voted, may be voted by the president or a vice president, a general partner or director thereof, as the case may be, or a proxy appointed by any of the foregoing individuals, unless some other person who has been appointed to vote such shares pursuant to a bylaw or a resolution of the governing body of such corporation or other entity or agreement of the partners of a partnership presents a certified copy of such bylaw, resolution or agreement, in which case such person may vote such share. Any fiduciary may vote a share registered in his or her name as such fiduciary, either in person or by proxy.

Shares of the Corporation directly or indirectly owned by it shall not be voted at any meeting and shall not be counted in determining the total number of outstanding shares entitled to be voted at any given time, unless they are held by it in a fiduciary capacity, in which case they may be voted and shall be counted in determining the total number of outstanding shares at any given time.

The Board may adopt by resolution a procedure by which a stockholder may certify in writing to the Corporation that any shares registered in the name of the stockholder are held for the account of a specified person other than the stockholder. The resolution shall set forth the class of stockholders who may make the certification, the purpose for which the certification may be made, the form of certification and the information to be contained in it; if the certification is with respect to a record date or closing of the share transfer books, the time after the record date or closing of the share transfer books within which the certification must be received by the Corporation; and any other provisions with respect to the procedure which the Board considers necessary or desirable. On receipt of such certification, the person specified in the certification shall be regarded as, for the purposes set forth in the certification, the stockholder of record of the specified share in place of the stockholder who makes the certification.

Section 10. INSPECTORS. The Board, in advance of any meeting, may, but need not, appoint one or more individual inspectors or one or more entities that designate individuals as inspectors to act at the meeting or any adjournment thereof. If an inspector or inspectors are not appointed, the person presiding at the meeting may, but need not, appoint one or more inspectors. In case any person who may be appointed as an inspector fails to appear or act, the vacancy may be filled by appointment made by the Board in advance of the meeting or at the meeting by the chairman of the meeting. The inspectors, if any, shall determine the number of shares outstanding and the voting power of each, the shares represented at the meeting, the existence of a quorum, as defined in Section 6 of this Article II, the validity and effect of proxies, and shall receive votes, ballots or consents, hear and determine all challenges and questions arising in connection with the right to vote, count and tabulate all votes, ballots or consents, and determine the result, and do such acts as are proper to conduct the election or vote with fairness to all stockholders. Each such report shall be in writing and signed by him or her or by a majority of them if there is more than one inspector acting at such meeting. If there is more than one inspector, the report of a majority shall be the report of the inspectors. The report of the inspector or inspectors on the number of shares represented at the meeting and the results of the voting shall be prima facie evidence thereof.

Section 11. ADVANCE NOTICE OF STOCKHOLDER NOMINEES FOR DIRECTORS AND OTHER STOCKHOLDER PROPOSALS.

(a) Annual Meetings of Stockholders. (1) Nominations of individuals for election to the Board and the proposal of other business to be considered by the stockholders may be made at an annual meeting of stockholders (i) pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting, (ii) by or at the direction of the Board or (iii) by any stockholder of the Corporation who was a stockholder of record both at the time of giving of notice provided for in this Section 11(a) and at the time of the annual meeting, who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who has complied with this Section 11(a).

(2) For nominations or other business to be properly brought before an annual meeting by a stockholder pursuant to clause (iii) of subsection (a)(1) of this Section 11, the stockholder must have given timely notice thereof in writing to the secretary of the Corporation and such other business must otherwise be a proper matter for action by the stockholders. To be timely, a stockholder's notice shall set forth all information required under this Section 11 and shall be delivered to the secretary at the principal executive office of the Corporation not less than 90 days nor more than 120 days prior to the first anniversary of the date of mailing of the notice for the preceding year's annual meeting; provided, however, that in the event that the date of the mailing of the notice for the annual meeting is advanced or delayed by more than 30 days from the first anniversary of the date of mailing of the notice for the preceding year's annual meeting, notice by the stockholder to be timely must be so delivered not earlier than the 120th day prior to the date of mailing of the notice for such annual meeting and not later than 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the later of the 90th day prior to the date of mailing of the notice for such annual meeting or the tenth day following the day on which public announcement of the date of mailing of the notice for such meeting is first made. In no event shall the public announcement of a postponement or adjournment of an annual meeting commence a new time period for the giving of a stockholder's notice as described above. Such stockholder's notice shall set forth (i) as to each individual whom the stockholder proposes to nominate for election or reelection as a director (each, a "Proposed Nominee"), (A) the name, age, business address and residence address of each Proposed Nominee, (B) the class, series and number of any shares of the Corporation that are beneficially owned by such each Proposed Nominee and the date such shares were acquired and the investment intent of such acquisition, (C) whether such stockholder believes any such Proposed Nominee is, or is not, an "interested person" of the Corporation, as defined in the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and the rules promulgated thereunder (the "1940 Act") and information regarding such Proposed Nominee that is sufficient, in the discretion of the Board or any committee thereof or any authorized officer of the Corporation, to make such determination, (D) such Proposed Nominee's written consent to being named in the Corporation's proxy statement as a nominee and to serve as a director of the Corporation if elected, (E) such Proposed Nominee's certification that he or she currently intends to serve as a director for the full term for which he or she is standing (if so elected), (F) whether and the extent to which such stockholder, Proposed Nominee or Stockholder Associated Person, directly or indirectly (through brokers, nominees or otherwise), is subject to or during the last six months has engaged in any hedging, derivative or other transaction or series of transactions or entered into any other agreement, arrangement or understanding (including any short interest, any borrowing or lending of securities or any proxy or voting agreement), the effect or intent of which is to (I) manage risk or benefit from changes in the price of securities of the Corporation for such stockholder, Proposed Nominee or Stockholder Associated Person or (II) increase or decrease the voting power of such stockholder, Proposed Nominee or Stockholder Associated Person in the Corporation or any affiliate thereof disproportionately to such person's economic interest in the securities of the Corporation and (G) all other information relating to such stockholder and Proposed Nominee that would be required to be disclosed in solicitations of proxies for election of directors in an election contest (even if an election contest is not involved), or is otherwise required, in each case pursuant to Regulation 14A (or any successor provision) under the Exchange Act and the rules thereunder; (ii) as to any other business that the stockholder proposes to bring before the meeting, a description of the business desired to be brought before the meeting, the reasons for proposing such business at the meeting and any material interest in such business of such stockholder and any Stockholder Associated Person (as defined below), individually or in the aggregate, including any anticipated benefit to the stockholder and any Stockholder Associated Person therefrom; (iii) as to the stockholder giving the notice and any Stockholder Associated Person, the class, series and number of all shares of the Corporation which are owned beneficially by such stockholder and by such Stockholder Associated Person, if any, (iv) as to the stockholder giving the notice and any Stockholder Associated Person covered by clauses (ii) or (iii) of this Section 11(a)(2), the name and address of such stockholder and any Stockholder Associated Person, as they appear on the Corporation's share ledger and current name and address, if different, and of such Stockholder Associated Person and (v) to the extent known by the stockholder giving the notice, the name and address of any other stockholder supporting the nominee for election or reelection as a director or the proposal of other business on the date of such stockholder's notice. Such stockholder's notice shall also attach (i) a completed Proposed Nominee questionnaire (which questionnaire shall be provided by the Corporation, upon request) and (ii) an agreement from each Proposed Nominee (in the form to be provided by the Corporation upon written request) that such nominee represents and agrees that he or she would be in compliance, if elected as a director of the Corporation, and will comply, with applicable law and all applicable publicly disclosed corporate governance, conflict of interest, corporate opportunities, confidentiality and stock ownership and trading policies and guidelines of the Corporation relating to his or her membership on the Board.

(3) Notwithstanding anything in this Section 11(a) to the contrary, in the event the Board increases or decreases the number of directors in accordance with Article III, Section 2 of these Bylaws, and there is no public announcement of such action at least 100 days prior to the first anniversary of the date of mailing of the notice for the preceding year's annual meeting, a stockholder's notice required by this Section 11(a) shall also be considered timely, but only with respect to nominees for any new positions created by such increase, if it shall be delivered to the secretary at the principal executive office of the Corporation not later than 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the tenth day following the day on which such public announcement is first made by the Corporation.

(4) For purposes of this Section 11, "Stockholder Associated Person" of any stockholder shall mean (i) any person controlling, directly or indirectly, or acting in concert with, such stockholder, (ii) any Beneficial Owner (as defined in the Articles of Incorporation) of shares of the Corporation owned of record or beneficially by such stockholder and (iii) any person controlling, controlled by or under common control with such Stockholder Associated Person.

(5) If information submitted pursuant to this Section 11 by any stockholder proposing a nominee for election as a director or any proposal for other business at a meeting of stockholders shall be inaccurate in any material respect, such information may be deemed not to have been provided in accordance with this Section 11. Any stockholder proposing a nominee for election as a director or any proposal of other business at a meeting of stockholders shall notify the Corporation of any inaccuracy or change in such stockholder's notice (within two Business Days of becoming aware of such inaccuracy or change). Upon written request by the Secretary or the Board, any such stockholder shall provide, within five Business Days of delivery of such request (or such other period as may be specified in such request), (A) written verification, satisfactory, in the discretion of the Board or any authorized officer of the Corporation, to demonstrate the accuracy of any information submitted by the stockholder pursuant to this Section 11, and (B) a written update of any information (including, if requested by the Corporation, written confirmation by such stockholder that it continues to intend to bring such nomination or other business proposal before the meeting) submitted by the stockholder pursuant to this Section 11 as of an earlier date. If a stockholder fails to provide such written verification or written update within such period, the information as to which written verification or a written update was requested may be deemed not to have been provided in accordance with this Section 11.

(6) Except as otherwise expressly provided in any applicable rule or regulation, only such individuals who are nominated in accordance with this Section 11 shall be eligible for election by stockholders as directors, and only such business shall be conducted at a meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting in accordance with this Section 11. Except as otherwise required by law, the chairman of the meeting shall have the power and duty (i) to determine whether a nomination or any other business proposed to be brought before the meeting was made or proposed, as the case may be, in accordance with this Section 11 and (ii) if any proposed nomination or business was not made or proposed in compliance with this Section 11, to declare that such nomination shall be disregarded or that such proposed business shall not be transacted. The Corporation may require any proposed nominee to furnish such other information as the Corporation may reasonably require to determine the eligibility of such proposed nominee to serve as a director of the Corporation.

(b) Special Meetings of Stockholders. Only such business shall be conducted at a special meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting. Nominations of individuals for election to the Board may be made at a special meeting of stockholders at which directors are to be elected (i) pursuant to the Corporation's notice of meeting, (ii) by or at the direction of the Board or (iii) provided that the Board has determined that directors shall be elected at such special meeting, by any stockholder of the Corporation who is a stockholder of record both at the time of giving of notice provided for in this Section 11 and at the time of the special meeting, who is entitled to vote at the meeting and who complied with the notice procedures set forth in this Section 11. In the event the Corporation calls a special meeting of stockholders for the purpose of electing one or more individuals to the Board, any such stockholder may nominate an individual or individuals (as the case may be) for election as a director as specified in the Corporation's notice of meeting, if the stockholder's notice required by paragraph (a)(2) of this Section 11 shall be delivered to the secretary at the principal executive office of the Corporation not earlier than the 120th day prior to such special meeting and not later than 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the later of the 90th day prior to such special meeting or the tenth day following the day on which public announcement is first made of the date of the special meeting and of the nominees proposed by the Board to be elected at such meeting. In no event shall the public announcement of a postponement or adjournment of a special meeting commence a new time period for the giving of a stockholder's notice as described above.

(c) General. (1) Upon written request by the secretary or the Board or any committee thereof, any stockholder proposing a nominee for election as a director or any proposal for other business at a meeting of stockholders shall provide, within five Business Days of delivery of such request (or such other period as may be specified in such request), written verification, satisfactory, in the discretion of the Board or any committee thereof or any authorized officer of the Corporation, to demonstrate the accuracy of any information submitted by the stockholder pursuant to this Section 11. If a stockholder fails to provide such written verification within such period, the information as to which written verification was requested may be deemed not to have been provided in accordance with this Section 11.

(2) Only such individuals who are nominated in accordance with this Section 11 shall be eligible for election as directors, and only such business shall be conducted at a meeting of stockholders as shall have been brought before the meeting in accordance with this Section 11. The chairman of the meeting shall have the power to determine whether a nomination or any other business proposed to be brought before the meeting was made or proposed, as the case may be, in accordance with this Section 11.

(3) For purposes of this Section 11, (a) the "date of mailing of the notice" shall mean the date of the proxy statement for the solicitation of proxies for election of directors and (b) "public announcement" shall mean disclosure (i) in a press release reported by the Dow Jones News Service, Associated Press or comparable news service or (ii) in a document publicly filed by the Corporation with the Securities and Exchange Commission pursuant to the Exchange Act.

(4) Notwithstanding the foregoing provisions of this Section 11, a stockholder shall also comply with all applicable requirements of state law and of the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder with respect to the matters set forth in this Section 11. Nothing in this Section 11 shall be deemed to affect any right of a stockholder to request inclusion of a proposal in, nor the right of the Corporation to omit a proposal from, the Corporation's proxy statement pursuant to Rule 14a-8 (or any successor provision) under the Exchange Act.

Section 12. VOTING BY BALLOT. Voting on any question or in any election may be viva voce unless the presiding officer shall order or any stockholder shall demand that voting be by ballot.

Section 13. CONTROL SHARE ACQUISITION ACT. Notwithstanding any other provision of the charter of the Corporation or these Bylaws, Title 3, Subtitle 7 of the MGCL, or any successor statute, shall not apply to any acquisition by any person of shares of stock of the Corporation. This section may be repealed, in whole or in part, at any time, whether before or after an acquisition of control shares and, upon such repeal, may, to the extent provided by any successor bylaw, apply to any prior or subsequent control share acquisition.

ARTICLE III DIRECTORS

Section 1. GENERAL POWERS. The business and affairs of the Corporation shall be managed under the direction of its Board. The Board may designate a Chairman of the Board and a Vice Chairman of the Board, who shall not be officers of the Corporation but shall have such powers and duties as determined by the Board from time to time.

Section 2. NUMBER AND TENURE. At any regular meeting or at any special meeting called for that purpose, a majority of the entire Board may establish, increase or decrease the number of directors, provided that the number thereof shall never be less than three nor more than 12, and further provided that the tenure of office of a director shall not be affected by any decrease in the number of directors.

Section 3. ANNUAL AND REGULAR MEETINGS. An annual meeting of the Board shall be held immediately after and at the same place as the annual meeting of stockholders, no notice other than this Bylaw being necessary. In the event such meeting is not so held, the meeting may be held at such time and place as shall be specified in a notice given as hereinafter provided for special meetings of the Board. Regular meetings of the Board shall be held from time to time at such places and times as provided by the Board by resolution, without notice other than such resolution.

Section 4. SPECIAL MEETINGS. Special meetings of the Board may be called by or at the request of the Chairman of the Board, the chief executive officer, the president or by a majority of the directors then in office. The person or persons authorized to call special meetings of the Board may fix any place as the place for holding any special meeting of the Board called by them. The Board may provide, by resolution, the time and place for the holding of special meetings of the Board without notice other than such resolution.

Section 5. NOTICE. Notice of any special meeting of the Board shall be delivered personally or by telephone, electronic mail, facsimile transmission, United States mail or courier to each director at his or her business or residence address. Notice by personal delivery, telephone, electronic mail or facsimile transmission shall be given at least 24 hours prior to the meeting. Notice by United States mail shall be given at least three days prior to the meeting. Notice by courier shall be given at least two days prior to the meeting. Telephone notice shall be deemed to be given when the director or his or her agent is personally given such notice in a telephone call to which the director or his or her agent is a party. Electronic mail notice shall be deemed to be given upon transmission of the message to the electronic mail address given to the Corporation by the director. Facsimile transmission notice shall be deemed to be given upon completion of the transmission of the message to the number given to the Corporation by the director and receipt of a completed answer-back indicating receipt. Notice by United States mail shall be deemed to be given when deposited in the United States mail properly addressed, with postage thereon prepaid. Notice by courier shall be deemed to be given when deposited with or delivered to a courier properly addressed. Neither the business to be transacted at, nor the purpose of, any annual, regular or special meeting of the Board need be stated in the notice, unless specifically required by statute or these Bylaws.

Section 6. QUORUM. A majority of the directors shall constitute a quorum for transaction of business at any meeting of the Board, provided that, if less than a majority of such directors are present at said meeting, a majority of the directors present may adjourn the meeting from time to time without further notice, and provided further that if, pursuant to the Articles of Incorporation or these Bylaws, the vote of a majority of a particular group of directors is required for action, a quorum must also include a majority of such group.

The directors present at a meeting which has been duly called and convened may continue to transact business until adjournment, notwithstanding the withdrawal of enough directors to leave less than a quorum.

Section 7. VOTING. The action of the majority of the directors present at a meeting at which a quorum, as defined in Section 6 of this Article III, is present shall be the action of the Board, unless the concurrence of a greater proportion is required for such action by applicable statute or the Articles of Incorporation. If enough directors have withdrawn from a meeting to leave less than a quorum, as defined in Section 6 of this Article III, but the meeting is not adjourned, the action of the majority of the directors still present at such meeting shall be the action of the Board, unless the concurrence of a greater proportion is required for such action by applicable statute or the Articles of Incorporation.

Section 8. ORGANIZATION. At each meeting of the Board, the chairman of the board or, in the absence of the chairman, the vice chairman of the board, if any, shall act as Chairman. In the absence of both the chairman and vice chairman of the board, the chief executive officer or in the absence of the chief executive officer, the president or in the absence of the president, a director chosen by a majority of the directors present, shall act as Chairman. The secretary or, in his or her absence, an assistant secretary of the Corporation, or in the absence of the secretary and all assistant secretaries, a person appointed by the Chairman, shall act as secretary of the meeting.

Section 9. TELEPHONE MEETINGS. Directors may participate in a meeting by means of a conference telephone or other communications equipment if all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other at the same time; provided however, this Section 9 does not apply to any action of the directors pursuant to the 1940 Act, that requires the vote of the directors to be cast in person at a meeting. Participation in a meeting by these means shall constitute presence in person at the meeting.

Section 10. WRITTEN CONSENT BY DIRECTORS. Any action required or permitted to be taken at any meeting of the Board may be taken without a meeting, if a consent in writing to such action is signed by each director and such written consent is filed with the minutes of proceedings of the Board; provided however, this Section 10 does not apply to any action of the directors pursuant to the 1940 Act that requires the vote of the directors to be cast in person at a meeting.

Section 11. VACANCIES. If for any reason any or all the directors cease to be directors, such event shall not terminate the Corporation or affect these Bylaws or the powers of the remaining directors hereunder, if any. Pursuant to the Corporation's election in Article IV of the Articles of Incorporation, subject to applicable requirements of the 1940 Act, except as may be provided by the Board in setting the terms of any class or series of preferred shares, (a) any vacancy on the Board may be filled only by a majority of the remaining directors, even if the remaining directors do not constitute a quorum, and (b) any director elected to fill a vacancy shall serve for the remainder of the full term of the class in which the vacancy occurred and until a successor is elected and qualifies.

Section 12. COMPENSATION. Directors shall not receive any stated salary for their services as directors but, by resolution of the Board, may receive compensation per year and/or per meeting and for any service or activity they performed or engaged in as directors. Directors may be reimbursed for expenses of attendance, if any, at each annual, regular or special meeting of the Board or of any committee thereof and for their expenses, if any, in connection with any other service or activity they performed or engaged in as directors; but nothing herein contained shall be construed to preclude any directors from serving the Corporation in any other capacity and receiving compensation therefor.

Section 13. LOSS OF DEPOSITS. No director shall be liable for any loss which may occur by reason of the failure of the bank, trust company, savings and loan association, or other institution with whom moneys or shares have been deposited.

Section 14. SURETY BONDS. Unless required by law, no director shall be obligated to give any bond or surety or other security for the performance of any of his or her duties.

Section 15. RELIANCE. Each director, officer, employee and agent of the Corporation shall, in the performance of his or her duties with respect to the Corporation, be fully justified and protected with regard to any act or failure to act in reliance in good faith upon the books of account or other records of the Corporation, upon an opinion of counsel or upon reports made to the Corporation by any of its officers or employees, accountants, appraisers or other experts or consultants selected by the Board or officers of the Corporation, regardless of whether such counsel or expert may also be a director.

ARTICLE IV COMMITTEES

Section 1. APPOINTMENT BY BOARD. The Board may appoint from among its members an Audit Committee, a Nominating and Corporate Governance Committee and other committees, composed of one or more directors, to serve at the pleasure of the Board.

Section 2. POWERS. The Board may delegate to committees appointed under Section 1 of this Article any of the powers of the Board, except as prohibited by law.

Section 3. MEETINGS. Notice of committee meetings shall be given in the same manner as notice for special meetings of the Board. A majority of the members of the committee shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business at any meeting of the committee. The act of a majority of the committee members present at a meeting shall be the act of such committee. The Board may designate a chairman of any committee, and such chairman or, in the absence of a chairman, any two members of any committee (if there are at least two members of the Committee) may fix the time and place of its meeting unless the Board shall otherwise provide. In the absence of any member of any such committee, the members thereof present at any meeting, whether or not they constitute a quorum, may appoint another director to act in the place of such absent member. Each committee shall keep minutes of its proceedings.

Section 4. TELEPHONE MEETINGS. Members of a committee of the Board may participate in a meeting by means of a conference telephone or other communications equipment if all persons participating in the meeting can hear each other at the same time. Participation in a meeting by these means shall constitute presence in person at the meeting.

Section 5. WRITTEN CONSENT BY COMMITTEES. Any action required or permitted to be taken at any meeting of a committee of the Board may be taken without a meeting, if a consent in writing to such action is signed by each member of the committee and such written consent is filed with the minutes of proceedings of such committee.

Section 6. VACANCIES. Subject to the provisions hereof, the Board shall have the power at any time to change the membership of any committee, to fill all vacancies, to designate alternate members to replace any absent or disqualified member or to dissolve any such committee. Subject to the power of the Board, the members of the committee shall have the power to fill any vacancies on the committee.

ARTICLE V OFFICERS

Section 1. GENERAL PROVISIONS. The officers of the Corporation shall include a president, a secretary and a treasurer and may include a chief executive officer, one or more vice presidents, a chief operating officer, a chief financial officer, a chief investment officer, a chief compliance officer, one or more assistant secretaries and one or more assistant treasurers. In addition, the Board may from time to time elect such other officers with such powers and duties as it shall deem necessary or desirable. The officers of the Corporation shall be elected annually by the Board, except that the chief executive officer or president may from time to time appoint one or more vice presidents, assistant secretaries, assistant treasurers or other officers. Each officer shall hold office until his or her successor is elected and qualifies or until death, resignation or removal in the manner hereinafter provided. Any two or more offices except president and vice president may be held by the same person. Election of an officer or agent shall not of itself create contract rights between the Corporation and such officer or agent.

Section 2. REMOVAL AND RESIGNATION. Any officer or agent of the Corporation may be removed, with or without cause, by the Board if in its judgment the best interests of the Corporation would be served thereby, but such removal shall be without prejudice to the contract rights, if any, of the person so removed. Any officer of the Corporation may resign at any time by giving written notice of his or her resignation to the Board, the chairman of the Board, the president or the secretary. Any resignation shall take effect immediately upon its receipt or at such later time specified in the notice of resignation. The acceptance of a resignation shall not be necessary to make it effective unless otherwise stated in the resignation. Such resignation shall be without prejudice to the contract rights, if any, of the Corporation.

Section 3. VACANCIES. A vacancy in any office may be filled by the Board for the balance of the term.

Section 4. CHIEF EXECUTIVE OFFICER. The Board may designate a chief executive officer. In the absence of such designation, the president shall be the chief executive officer of the Corporation. The chief executive officer shall have general responsibility for implementation of the policies of the Corporation, as determined by the Board, and for the management of the business and affairs of the Corporation.

Section 5. CHIEF OPERATING OFFICER. The Board may designate a chief operating officer. The chief operating officer shall have the responsibilities and duties as set forth by the Board or the chief executive officer.

Section 6. CHIEF INVESTMENT OFFICER. The Board may designate a chief investment officer. The chief investment officer shall have the responsibilities and duties as set forth by the Board or the chief executive officer.

Section 7. CHIEF FINANCIAL OFFICER. The Board may designate a chief financial officer. The chief financial officer shall have the responsibilities and duties as set forth by the Board or the chief executive officer.

Section 8. CHIEF COMPLIANCE OFFICER. The Board shall designate a chief compliance officer to the extent required by, and consistent with the requirements of, the 1940 Act. The chief compliance officer, subject to the direction of and reporting to the Board, shall be responsible for the oversight of the Corporation's compliance with the federal securities laws and other applicable regulatory requirements. The designation, compensation and removal of the chief compliance officer must be approved by the Board, including a majority of the directors who are not "interested persons" (as such term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the 1940 Act) of the Corporation. The chief compliance officer shall perform such executive, supervisory and management functions and duties as may be assigned to him or her from time to time.

Section 9. PRESIDENT. In the absence of a designation of a chief executive officer by the Board, the president shall be the chief executive officer. He or she may execute any deed, mortgage, bond, contract or other instrument, except in cases where the execution thereof shall be expressly delegated by the Board or by these Bylaws to some other officer or agent of the Corporation or shall be required by law to be otherwise executed; and in general shall perform all duties incident to the office of president and such other duties as may be prescribed by the Board from time to time.

Section 10. VICE PRESIDENTS. In the absence of the president or in the event of a vacancy in such office, the vice president (or in the event there be more than one vice president, the vice presidents in the order designated at the time of their election or, in the absence of any designation, then in the order of their election) shall perform the duties of the president and when so acting shall have all the powers of and be subject to all the restrictions upon the president; and shall perform such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to such vice president by the president or by the Board. The Board may designate one or more vice presidents as executive vice president or as vice president for particular areas of responsibility.

Section 11. SECRETARY. The secretary shall: (a) keep the minutes of the proceedings of the stockholders, the Board and committees of the Board in one or more books provided for that purpose; (b) see that all notices are duly given in accordance with the provisions of these Bylaws or as required by law; (c) be custodian of the corporate records and of the seal of the Corporation; (d) keep a register of the post office address of each stockholder which shall be furnished to the secretary by such stockholder; (e) have general charge of the share transfer books of the Corporation; and (f) in general perform such other duties as from time to time may be assigned to him by the chief executive officer, the president or by the Board.

Section 12. TREASURER. The treasurer shall be responsible for: (1) the custody of the funds and securities of the Corporation; (2) the keeping of full and accurate accounts of receipts and disbursements in books belonging to the Corporation; and (3) the depositing of all moneys and other valuable effects in the name and to the credit of the Corporation in such depositories as may be designated by the Board. In the absence of a designation of a chief financial officer by the Board, the treasurer shall be the chief financial officer of the Corporation.

The treasurer shall disburse the funds of the Corporation as may be ordered by the Board, taking proper vouchers for such disbursements, and shall render to the president and Board, at the regular meetings of the Board or whenever it may so require, an account of all his or her transactions as treasurer and of the financial condition of the Corporation.

If required by the Board, the treasurer shall give the Corporation a bond in such sum and with such surety or sureties as shall be satisfactory to the Board for the faithful performance of the duties of his or her office and for the restoration to the Corporation, in case of his or her death, resignation, retirement or removal from office, of all books, papers, vouchers, moneys and other property of whatever kind in his or her possession or under his or her control belonging to the Corporation.

Section 13. ASSISTANT SECRETARIES AND ASSISTANT TREASURERS. The assistant secretaries and assistant treasurers, in general, shall perform such duties as shall be assigned to them by the secretary or treasurer, respectively, or by the president or the Board. The assistant treasurers shall, if required by the Board, give bonds for the faithful performance of their duties in such sums and with such surety or sureties as shall be satisfactory to the Board.

ARTICLE VI
CONTRACTS, LOANS, CHECKS AND DEPOSITS

Section 1. CONTRACTS. The Board may authorize any officer or agent to enter into any contract or to execute and deliver any instrument in the name of and on behalf of the Corporation and such authority may be general or confined to specific instances. Any agreement, deed, mortgage, lease or other document shall be valid and binding upon the Corporation when authorized or ratified by action of the Board and executed by an authorized person.

Section 2. CHECKS AND DRAFTS. All checks, drafts or other orders for the payment of money, notes or other evidences of indebtedness issued in the name of the Corporation shall be signed by such officer or agent of the Corporation in such manner as shall from time to time be determined by the Board.

Section 3. DEPOSITS. All funds of the Corporation not otherwise employed shall be deposited from time to time to the credit of the Corporation in such banks, trust companies or other depositories as the Board may designate.

ARTICLE VII
SHARES

Section 1. CERTIFICATES; REQUIRED INFORMATION. Except as otherwise provided in a resolution approved by the Board, all shares of the Corporation shall be uncertificated shares. In the event that the Corporation issues shares represented by certificates, such certificates shall be signed by the officers of the Corporation in the manner permitted by the MGCL and contain the statements and information required by the MGCL.

Section 2. TRANSFERS WHEN CERTIFICATES ISSUED. Upon surrender to the Corporation or the transfer agent of the Corporation of a share certificate duly endorsed or accompanied by proper evidence of succession, assignment or authority to transfer, the Corporation shall issue a new certificate to the person entitled thereto, cancel the old certificate and record the transaction upon its books.

Subject to Article II, Section 9 hereof, the Corporation shall be entitled to treat the holder of record of any shares as the holder in fact thereof and, accordingly, shall not be bound to recognize any equitable or other claim to or interest in such share or on the part of any other person, whether or not it shall have express or other notice thereof, except as otherwise provided by the laws of the State of Maryland.

Notwithstanding the foregoing, transfers of shares of any class of shares will be subject in all respects to the Articles of Incorporation and all of the terms and conditions contained therein.

Section 3. LOST CERTIFICATES. The president, the secretary, the treasurer or any officer designated by the Board may direct a new certificate or uncertificated shares to be issued in place of any certificate previously issued by the Corporation alleged to have been lost, stolen or destroyed upon the making of an affidavit of that fact by the person claiming the certificate to be lost, stolen or destroyed. When authorizing the issuance of a new certificate or uncertificated shares, an officer designated by the Board may, in his or her discretion and as a condition precedent to the issuance thereof, require the owner of such lost, stolen or destroyed certificate or the owner's legal representative to advertise the same in such manner as he or she shall require and/or to give bond, with sufficient surety, to the Corporation to indemnify it against any loss or claim which may arise as a result of the issuance of a new certificate or uncertificated shares.

Section 4. CLOSING OF TRANSFER BOOKS OR FIXING OF RECORD DATE. The Board may set, in advance, a record date for the purpose of determining stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at any meeting of stockholders or determining stockholders entitled to receive payment of any dividend or the allotment of any other rights, or in order to make a determination of stockholders for any other proper purpose. Such date, in any case, shall not be prior to 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the day the record date is fixed and shall be not more than 90 days and, in the case of a meeting of stockholders, not less than ten days, before the date on which the meeting or particular action requiring such determination of stockholders of record is to be held or taken.

In lieu of fixing a record date, the Board may provide that the share transfer books shall be closed for a stated period but not longer than 20 days. If the share transfer books are closed for the purpose of determining stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders, such books shall be closed for at least ten days before the date of such meeting.

If no record date is fixed and the share transfer books are not closed for the determination of stockholders, (a) the record date for the determination of stockholders entitled to notice of or to vote at a meeting of stockholders shall be at 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the day on which the notice of meeting is mailed or the 30th day before the meeting, whichever is the closer date to the meeting; and (b) the record date for the determination of stockholders entitled to receive payment of a dividend or an allotment of any other rights shall be 5:00 pm Eastern Time on the day on which the resolution of the directors, declaring the dividend or allotment of rights, is adopted.

When a determination of stockholders entitled to vote at any meeting of stockholders has been made as provided in this section, such determination shall apply to any adjournment thereof, except when (i) the determination has been made through the closing of the transfer books and the stated period of closing has expired or (ii) the meeting is adjourned to a date more than 120 days after the record date fixed for the original meeting, in either of which case a new record date shall be determined as set forth herein.

Section 5. SHARE LEDGER. The Corporation shall maintain at its principal office or at the office of its counsel, accountants or transfer agent, an original or duplicate share ledger containing the name and address of each stockholder and the number of shares of each class held by such stockholder.

Section 6. FRACTIONAL SHARES; ISSUANCE OF UNITS. The Board may issue fractional shares or provide for the issuance of scrip, all on such terms and under such conditions as they may determine. Notwithstanding any other provision of the Articles of Incorporation or these Bylaws, the Board may issue units consisting of different securities of the Corporation. Any security issued in a unit shall have the same characteristics as any identical securities issued by the Corporation, except that the Board may provide that for a specified period securities of the Corporation issued in such unit may be transferred on the books of the Corporation only in such unit.

ARTICLE VIII
ACCOUNTING YEAR

The fiscal year of the Corporation shall end on December 31 of each fiscal year, and may thereafter be changed by duly adopted resolution of the Board from time to time.

ARTICLE IX
DISTRIBUTIONS

Section 1. AUTHORIZATION. Dividends and other distributions upon the shares of the Corporation may be authorized by the Board, subject to the provisions of law and the Articles of Incorporation. Dividends and other distributions may be paid in cash, property or shares of the Corporation, subject to the provisions of Maryland law and the Articles of Incorporation.

Section 2. CONTINGENCIES. Before payment of any dividends or other distributions, there may be set aside out of any assets of the Corporation available for dividends or other distributions such sum or sums as the Board may from time to time, in its absolute discretion, think proper as a reserve fund for contingencies, for equalizing dividends or other distributions, for repairing or maintaining any property of the Corporation or for such other purpose as the Board shall determine to be in the best interest of the Corporation, and the Board may modify or abolish any such reserve.

ARTICLE X
SEAL

Section 1. SEAL. The Board may authorize the adoption of a seal by the Corporation. The seal shall contain the name of the Corporation and the year of its incorporation and the words "Incorporated in Maryland." The Board may authorize one or more duplicate seals and provide for the custody thereof.

Section 2. AFFIXING SEAL. Whenever the Corporation is permitted or required to affix its seal to a document, it shall be sufficient to meet the requirements of any law, rule or regulation relating to a seal to place the word "(SEAL)" adjacent to the signature of the person authorized to execute the document on behalf of the Corporation.

ARTICLE XI
INDEMNIFICATION AND ADVANCE OF EXPENSES

To the maximum extent permitted by the charter of the Corporation, Maryland law and the 1940 Act, in effect from time to time, the Corporation shall indemnify and, without requiring a preliminary determination of the ultimate entitlement to indemnification, shall pay or reimburse reasonable expenses in advance of final disposition of a proceeding to (a) any individual who is a present or former director or officer of the Corporation and who is made or threatened to be made a party to the proceeding by reason of his or her service in any such capacity or (b) any individual who, while a director or officer of the Corporation and at the request of the Corporation, serves or has served as a director, officer, partner or trustee of another Corporation, real estate investment trust, partnership, joint venture, trust, employee benefit plan or other enterprise and who is made or threatened to be made a party to the proceeding by reason of his or her service in that capacity. The Corporation may, with the approval of its Board of Directors or any duly authorized committee thereof, provide such indemnification and advance for expenses to a person who served a predecessor of the Corporation in any of the capacities described in (a) or (b) above and to any employee or agent of the Corporation or a predecessor of the Corporation. The indemnification and payment of expenses provided in these Bylaws shall not be deemed exclusive of or limit in any way other rights to which any person seeking indemnification or payment of expenses may be or may become entitled under any bylaw, regulation, insurance, agreement or otherwise. Any indemnification or advance of expenses made pursuant to this Article XI shall be subject to applicable requirements of the 1940 Act.

Neither the amendment nor repeal of this Article, nor the adoption or amendment of any other provision of the Bylaws or Articles of Incorporation of the Corporation inconsistent with this Article, shall apply to or affect in any respect the applicability of the preceding paragraph with respect to any act or failure to act which occurred prior to such amendment, repeal or adoption.

No provision of this Article XI shall be effective to protect or purport to protect any director or officer of the Corporation against liability to the Corporation or its stockholders to which he or she would otherwise be subject by reason of willfulness, misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of the duties involved in the conduct of his or her office.

ARTICLE XII
WAIVER OF NOTICE

Whenever any notice is required to be given pursuant to the Articles of Incorporation or these Bylaws or pursuant to applicable law, a waiver thereof in writing, signed by the person or persons entitled to such notice, whether before or after the time stated therein, shall be deemed equivalent to the giving of such notice. Neither the business to be transacted at nor the purpose of any meeting need be set forth in the waiver of notice, unless specifically required by statute. The attendance of any person at any meeting shall constitute a waiver of notice of such meeting, except where such person attends a meeting for the express purpose of objecting to the transaction of any business on the ground that the meeting is not lawfully called or convened.

ARTICLE XIII
1940 ACT

If and to the extent that any provision of the MGCL or any provision of the Articles of Incorporation or these Bylaws conflicts with any provision of the 1940 Act, the applicable provision of the 1940 Act shall control; provided, however, that such conflict shall not affect any of the remaining provisions of these Bylaws or the Articles of Incorporation or render invalid or improper any action taken or omitted prior to such determination.

ARTICLE XIV
EXCLUSIVE FORUM

Unless the Corporation consents in writing to the selection of a different forum, the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, Maryland, or, if that court does not have jurisdiction, the United States District Court for the District of Maryland, Baltimore Division, shall be the sole and exclusive forum for (a) any derivative action or proceeding brought on behalf of the Corporation, (b) any action asserting a claim of breach of any duty owed by a director or officer or other employee of the Corporation to the Corporation or to the stockholders of the Corporation or asserting a claim of breach of any standard of conduct set forth in the Maryland General Corporation Law, (c) any action asserting a claim against the Corporation or any director or officer or other employee of the Corporation arising pursuant to any provision of the Maryland General Corporation Law, the Articles of Incorporation or these bylaws, or (d) any action asserting a claim against the Corporation or any director or officer or other employee of the Corporation that is governed by the internal affairs doctrine. With respect to any proceeding described in the foregoing sentence that is in the Circuit Court for Baltimore City, Maryland, the Corporation and its stockholders consent to the assignment of the proceeding to the Business and Technology Case Management Program pursuant to Maryland Rule 16-205 or any successor thereof.

ARTICLE XV
AMENDMENT OF BYLAWS

These Bylaws may be altered, amended or repealed or new bylaws may be adopted in the manner described in the Articles of Incorporation.

INVESTMENT ADVISORY AGREEMENT

BETWEEN

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION.

AND

MCC ADVISORS LLC

This Investment Advisory Agreement (the “Agreement”) is made as of [], by and between SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION, a Maryland corporation (the “Company”), and MCC ADVISORS LLC, a Delaware limited liability company (the “Adviser”).

WHEREAS, the Company is a non-diversified, closed-end management investment company that intends to elect to be treated as a business development company (“BDC”) under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (together with the rules promulgated thereunder, the “1940 Act”);

WHEREAS, the Adviser is registered as an investment adviser under the Investment Advisers Act of 1940, as amended (together with the rules promulgated thereunder, the “Advisers Act”);

WHEREAS, the Company desires to retain the Adviser to provide investment advisory services to the Company in the manner and on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth; and

WHEREAS, the Adviser is willing to provide investment advisory services to the Company in the manner and on the terms and conditions hereinafter set forth.

NOW, THEREFORE, in consideration of the premises and the covenants hereinafter contained and for other good and valuable consideration, the receipt and adequacy of which are hereby acknowledged, the Company and the Adviser hereby agree as follows:

1. Duties of the Adviser.

(a) Retention of Adviser. The Company hereby appoints the Adviser to act as the investment adviser to the Company and to manage the investment and reinvestment of the assets of the Company, subject to the supervision of the board of directors of the Company (the “Board of Directors”), for the period and upon the terms herein set forth in accordance with:

(i) the investment objective, policies and restrictions that are set forth in the Company’s Registration Statement on Form N-2 as declared effective by the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), as supplemented, amended or superseded from time to time (the “Registration Statement”);

(ii) during the term of this Agreement, all other applicable federal and state laws, rules and regulations, and the Company’s articles of incorporation, as further amended from time to time (“Articles of Incorporation”);

(iii) such investment policies, directives, regulatory restrictions as the Company may, from time to time, establish or issue and communicate to the Adviser in writing; and

(iv) the Company’s compliance policies and procedures as applicable to the Company’s investment adviser and as administered by the Company’s chief compliance officer.

(b) Responsibilities of Adviser. Without limiting the generality of the foregoing, the Adviser shall, during the term and subject to the provisions of this Agreement:

(i) determine the composition and allocation of the Company’s investment portfolio, the nature and timing of any changes therein and the manner of implementing such changes;

(ii) identify, evaluate and negotiate the structure of the investments made by the Company;

Table of Contents

(iii) perform due diligence on prospective portfolio companies;

(iv) execute, close, service and monitor the Company's investments;

(v) determine the securities and other assets that the Company shall purchase, retain, or sell;

(vi) provide the Company with such other investment advisory, research and related services as the Company may, from time to time, reasonably require for the investment of its funds; and

(vii) to the extent permitted under the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, on the Company's behalf, and in coordination with any Sub-Adviser (as defined below) and administrator, provide significant managerial assistance to those portfolio companies to which the Company is required to provide such assistance under the 1940 Act, including utilizing appropriate personnel of the Adviser to, among other things, monitor the operations of the Company's portfolio companies, participate in board and management meetings, consult with and advise officers of portfolio companies and provide other organizational and financial consultation.

(c) Power and Authority. To facilitate the Adviser's performance of these undertakings, but subject to the restrictions contained herein, the Company hereby delegates to the Adviser, and the Adviser hereby accepts, the power and authority to act on behalf of the Company to effectuate investment decisions for the Company, including the execution and delivery of all documents relating to the Company's investments and the placing of orders for other purchase or sale transactions on behalf of the Company. In the event that the Company determines to acquire debt financing, the Adviser shall use commercially reasonable efforts to arrange for such financing on the Company's behalf, subject to the oversight and approval of the Board of Directors. If it is necessary for the Adviser to make investments on behalf of the Company through a special purpose vehicle, the Adviser shall have authority to create, or arrange for the creation of, such special purpose vehicle and to make investments through such special purpose vehicle in accordance with applicable law. The Company also grants to the Adviser power and authority to engage in all activities and transactions (and anything incidental thereto) that the Adviser deems, in its sole discretion, appropriate, necessary or advisable to carry out its duties pursuant to this Agreement.

(d) Acceptance of Appointment. The Adviser hereby accepts such appointment and agrees during the term hereof to render the services described herein for the compensation provided herein, subject to the limitations contained herein.

(e) Sub-Advisers. The Adviser is hereby authorized to enter into one or more sub-advisory agreements (each a "Sub-Advisory Agreement") with other investment advisers (each a "Sub-Adviser") pursuant to which the Adviser may obtain the services of the Sub-Adviser(s) to assist the Adviser in fulfilling its responsibilities hereunder, subject to the oversight of the Adviser and/or the Company, with the scope of such services and oversight to be set forth in each Sub-Advisory Agreement.

(i) The Adviser and not the Company shall be responsible for any compensation payable to any Sub-Adviser; provided, however, that the Adviser shall have the right to direct the Company to pay directly any Sub-Adviser but only with respect to the amounts due and payable to such Sub-Adviser from the fees and expenses payable to the Adviser under this Agreement.

(ii) Any Sub-Advisory Agreement entered into by the Adviser shall be in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, including without limitation, the requirements of the 1940 Act relating to Board of Directors and Company stockholder approval thereunder, and other applicable federal and state law.

(iii) Any Sub-Adviser shall be subject to the same fiduciary duties as are imposed on the Adviser pursuant to this Agreement, the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act, as well as other applicable federal and state law.

(f) Independent Contractor Status. The Adviser shall, for all purposes herein provided, be deemed to be an independent contractor and, except as expressly provided or authorized herein, shall have no authority to act for or represent the Company in any way or otherwise be deemed an agent of the Company.

(g) Record Retention. Subject to review by and the overall control of the Board of Directors, the Adviser shall maintain and keep all books, accounts and other records of the Adviser that relate to activities performed by the Adviser hereunder as required under the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act. The Adviser agrees that all records that it maintains and keeps for the Company shall at all times remain the property of the Company, shall be readily accessible during normal business hours, and shall be promptly surrendered to the Company upon the termination of this Agreement or otherwise on written request by the Company. The Adviser further agrees that the records that it maintains and keeps for the Company shall be preserved in the manner and for the periods prescribed by the 1940 Act, unless any such records are earlier surrendered as provided above. The Adviser shall have the right to retain copies, or originals where required by Rule 204-2 promulgated under the Advisers Act, of such records to the extent required by applicable law, subject to observance of its confidentiality obligations under this Agreement. The Adviser shall maintain records of the locations where books, accounts and records are maintained among the persons and entities providing services directly or indirectly to the Adviser or the Company.

(h) State Administrator. The Adviser shall, upon by request by an official or agency administering the securities laws of a state, province, or commonwealth (a “State Administrator”), submit to such State Administrator the reports and statements required to be distributed to Company stockholders pursuant to this Agreement, the Registration Statement and applicable federal and state law.

(i) Fiduciary Duty: It is acknowledged that the Adviser shall have a fiduciary responsibility for the safekeeping and use of all funds and assets of the Company, whether or not in the Adviser’s immediate possession or control. The Adviser shall not employ, or permit another to employ, such funds or assets in any manner except for the exclusive benefit of the Company. The Adviser shall not, by entry into an agreement with any stockholder of the Company or otherwise, contract away the fiduciary obligation owed to the Company and the Company’s stockholders under common law or otherwise.

2. Expenses Payable by the Company.

(a) Adviser Personnel. All investment personnel of the Adviser, when and to the extent engaged in providing investment advisory services and managerial assistance hereunder, and the compensation and routine overhead expenses of such personnel allocable to such services, shall be provided and paid for by the Adviser and not by the Company.

(b) Costs. Subject to the limitations on expense reimbursement of the Adviser as set forth in Section 2(c), the Company, either directly or through reimbursement to the Adviser, shall bear all costs and expenses of its investment operations and its investment transactions, including, without limitation, costs and expenses relating to: all direct and indirect costs and expenses incurred by the Adviser for office space rental, office equipment, utilities and other non-compensation related overhead allocable to performance of investment advisory services hereunder by the Adviser; organizational and offering expenses; corporate and organizational expenses relating to offerings of shares of the Company’s common stock, subject to limitations included in the Agreement; the cost of calculating the Company’s net asset value, including the cost of any third-party valuation firms; offerings of the Corporation’s common stock and other securities; fees and expenses associated with performing due diligence reviews of prospective investments; transfer agent and custodial fees, fees and expenses associated with marketing efforts (including attendance at investment conferences and similar events); federal and state registration fees; all costs of registration and listing the Corporation’s shares on any securities exchange; federal, state and local taxes; independent directors’ fees and expenses; brokerage commissions for the Company’s investments; costs of proxy statements, stockholders’ reports and notices; fidelity bond, directors and officers errors and omissions liability insurance and other insurance premiums; direct costs such as printing, mailing, long distance telephone and staff costs associated with the Company’s reporting and compliance obligations under the 1940 Act and applicable federal and state securities laws, including compliance with the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002; fees and expenses associated with accounting, independent audits and outside legal costs; and all other expenses incurred by the Company’s Adviser, any Sub-Adviser or the Company in connection with administering the Company’s business, including expenses incurred by the Company’s administrator in performing administrative services for the Company, and the reimbursement of the compensation of the Company’s chief financial officer and chief compliance officer and their respective staffs paid by the Company’s administrator.

(c) Limitations on Reimbursement of Expenses.

(i) In addition to the compensation paid to the Adviser pursuant to Section 3, the Company shall reimburse the Adviser for all expenses of the Company incurred by the Adviser as well as the actual cost of goods and services used for or by the Company and obtained from entities not affiliated with the Adviser. The Adviser may be reimbursed for the administrative services performed by it on behalf of the Company; provided, however, the reimbursement shall be an amount equal to the lower of the Adviser’s actual cost or the amount the Company would be required to pay third parties for the provision of comparable administrative services in the same geographic location; and provided, further, that such costs are reasonably allocated to the Company on the basis of assets, revenues, time records or other method conforming with generally accepted accounting principles. No reimbursement shall be permitted for services for which the Adviser is entitled to compensation by way of a separate fee. Excluded from the allowable reimbursement shall be:

(A) rent or depreciation, utilities, capital equipment, and other administrative items of the Adviser; and

(B) salaries, fringe benefits, travel expenses and other administrative items incurred or allocated to any executive officer or board member of the Adviser (or any individual performing such services) or a holder of 10% or greater equity interest in the Adviser (or any person having the power to direct or cause the direction of the Adviser, whether by ownership of voting securities, by contract or otherwise).

(d) Periodic Reimbursement.

Expenses incurred by the Adviser on behalf of the Company and payable pursuant to this section shall be reimbursed no less than monthly to the Adviser. The Adviser shall prepare a statement documenting the expenses of the Company and the calculation of the reimbursement and shall deliver such statement to the Company prior to full reimbursement.

3. Compensation of the Adviser.

The Company agrees to pay, and the Adviser agrees to accept, as compensation for the services provided by the Adviser hereunder, a base management fee ("Base Management Fee") and an incentive fee ("Incentive Fee") as hereinafter set forth. The Adviser may, in its sole discretion, elect or agree to temporarily or permanently waive, defer, reduce or modify, in whole or in part, the Base Management Fee and/or the Incentive Fee. Any of the fees payable to the Adviser under this Agreement for any partial month or calendar quarter shall be appropriately prorated. The fees payable to the Adviser as set forth in this Agreement shall be calculated using a detailed calculation policy and procedures approved by the Adviser and the Board of Directors, including a majority of the Independent Directors (as defined below), and shall be consistent with the calculation of such fees as set forth in this Section. See Appendix A for examples of how these fees are calculated.

(a) Base Management Fee. The Base Management Fee will be calculated at an annual rate of 1.75% of gross assets payable quarterly in arrears. For purposes of calculating the Base Management Fee, the term "gross assets" includes any assets acquired with the proceeds of leverage. For the first quarter of the Company's operations, the Base Management Fee will be calculated based on the initial value of the Company's gross assets. Subsequently, the Base Management Fee will be calculated based on the Company's gross assets at the end of each completed calendar quarter. Base Management Fees for any partial quarter will be appropriately prorated.

(b) Incentive Fee.

The Incentive Fee will be divided into two parts: (1) a subordinated incentive fee on income, and (2) an incentive fee on capital gains. Each part of the Incentive Fee is outlined below.

The subordinated incentive fee on income is earned on pre-incentive fee net investment income and shall be determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar quarter during which the Investment Advisory Agreement is in effect. If this Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination.

The subordinated incentive fee on income for each quarter will be calculated as follows:

- No subordinated incentive fee on income will be payable in any calendar quarter in which the pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed a quarterly return to stockholders of 1.75% per quarter on our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the "quarterly preferred return").
- For any quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds the quarterly preferred return, but is less than or equal to 2.1875% of our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter (the "catch up"), the subordinated incentive fee on income shall equal 100% of pre-incentive fee net investment income.

- For any quarter in which pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds 2.1875% of our net assets at the end of the immediately preceding fiscal quarter, the subordinated incentive fee on income shall equal 20% of pre-incentive fee net investment income.
- “Pre-incentive fee net investment income” is defined as interest income, dividend income and any other income accrued during the calendar quarter, minus operating expenses for the quarter, including the Base Management Fee, expenses payable to the Company’s administrator, any interest expense and dividends paid on any issued and outstanding preferred stock, but excluding the Incentive Fee. Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not include any realized capital gains, realized capital losses or unrealized capital appreciation or depreciation.

The incentive fee on capital gains will be earned on investments sold and shall be determined and payable in arrears as of the end of each calendar year during which this Agreement is in effect. If this Agreement is terminated, the fee will also become payable as of the effective date of such termination. The fee is equal to 20% of realized capital gains, less the aggregate amount of any previously paid incentive fee on capital gains. Incentive fee on capital gains is equal to realized capital gains on a cumulative basis from inception, computed net of all realized capital losses and unrealized capital depreciation on a cumulative basis.

(c) Waiver or Deferral of Fees.

The Adviser shall have the right to elect to waive or defer all or a portion of the Base Management Fee and/or Incentive Fee that would otherwise be paid to it. Prior to the payment of any fee to the Adviser, the Company shall obtain written instructions from the Adviser with respect to any waiver or deferral of any portion of such fees. Any portion of a deferred fee payable to the Adviser and not paid over to the Adviser with respect to any month, calendar quarter or year shall be deferred without interest and may be paid over in any such other month prior to the occurrence of the termination of this Agreement, as the Adviser may determine upon written notice to the Company.

4. Covenant of the Adviser.

(a) Registration of Adviser

The Adviser covenants that it is or will be registered as an investment adviser under the Advisers Act on the effective date of this Agreement as set forth in Section 9 herein, and shall maintain such registration until the expiration or termination of this Agreement. The Adviser agrees that its activities shall at all times comply in all material respects with all applicable federal and state laws governing its operations and investments. The Adviser agrees to observe and comply with applicable provisions of the code of ethics adopted by the Company pursuant to Rule 17j-1 under the 1940 Act, as such code of ethics may be amended from time to time.

(b) Reports to Stockholders.

The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared and distributed to stockholders during each year the following reports of the Company (either included in a periodic report filed with the SEC or distributed in a separate report):

(i) Quarterly Reports. Within 60 days of the end of each quarter, a report containing the same financial information contained in the Company’s Quarterly Report on Form 10-Q filed by the Company under the Securities Exchange Act of 1934, as amended.

(ii) Annual Report. Within 120 days after the end of the Company’s fiscal year, an annual report containing:

(A) A balance sheet as of the end of each fiscal year and statements of income, equity, and cash flow, for the year then ended, all of which shall be prepared in accordance with generally accepted accounting principals and accompanied by an auditor’s report containing an opinion of an independent certified public accountant;

(B) A report of the activities of the Company during the period covered by the report;

(C) Where forecasts have been provided to the Company’s shareholders, a table comparing the forecasts previously provided with the actual results during the period covered by the report;

(D) A report setting forth distributions by the Company for the period covered thereby and separately identifying distributions from (i) cash flow from operations during the period; (ii) cash flow from operations during a prior period which have been held as reserves; and (iii) proceeds from disposition of Company assets.

Table of Contents

(iii) Previous Reimbursement Reports. The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared a report, prepared in accordance with the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants United States Auditing Standards relating to special reports, and distributed to stockholders not less than annually, containing an itemized list of the costs reimbursed to the Adviser for the previous fiscal year. The special report shall at a minimum provide:

(A) A review of the time records of individual employees, the costs of whose services were reimbursed; and

(B) A review of the specific nature of the work performed by each such employee.

(iv) Proposed Reimbursement Reports. The Adviser shall prepare or shall cause to be prepared a report containing an itemized estimate of all proposed expenses for which it shall receive reimbursements pursuant to Section 2(c) of this Agreement for the next fiscal year, together with a breakdown by year of such expenses reimbursed in each of the last five public programs formed by the Adviser.

(c) Reports to State Administrators.

The Adviser shall, upon written request of any State Administrator, submit any of the reports and statements to be prepared and distributed by it to such State Administrator.

(d) Recommendations Regarding Reviews.

From time to time and not less than quarterly, the Adviser must review the Company's accounts to determine whether cash distributions are appropriate. The Company may, subject to authorization by the Board of Directors, distribute pro rata to the stockholders funds received by the Company which the Adviser deems unnecessary to retain in the Company.

(e) Temporary Investments.

The Adviser shall, in its sole discretion, temporarily place proceeds from offerings by the Company into short term, highly liquid investments which, in its reasonable judgment, afford appropriate safety of principal during such time as it is determining the composition and allocation of the portfolio of the Company and the nature, timing and implementation of any changes thereto pursuant to Section 1(b); provided however, that the Adviser shall be under no fiduciary obligation to select any such short-term, highly liquid investment based solely on any yield or return of such investment. The Adviser shall cause any proceeds of the offering of Company securities not committed for investment within the later of two years from the date of effectiveness of the Registration Statement or one year from termination of the offering, unless a longer period is permitted by the applicable State Administrator, to be paid as a distribution to the stockholders of the Company as a return of capital without deduction of Front End Fees (as defined below).

5. Brokerage Commissions.

The Adviser is hereby authorized, to the fullest extent now or hereafter permitted by law, to cause the Company to pay a member of a national securities exchange, broker or dealer an amount of commission for effecting a securities transaction in excess of the amount of commission another member of such exchange, broker or dealer would have charged for effecting that transaction, if the Adviser determines in good faith, taking into account factors, including without limitation, price (including the applicable brokerage commission or dealer spread), size of order, difficulty of execution, and operational facilities of the firm and the firm's risk and skill in positioning blocks of securities, that such amount of commission is reasonable in relation to the value of the brokerage and/or research services provided by such member, broker or dealer, viewed in terms of either that particular transaction or its overall responsibilities with respect to the Company's portfolio, and is consistent with the Adviser's duty to seek the best execution on behalf of the Company. Notwithstanding the foregoing, with regard to transactions with or for the benefit of the Company, the Adviser may not pay any commission or receive any rebates or give-ups, nor participate in any business arrangements which would circumvent this restriction.

6. Other Activities of the Adviser.

The services of the Adviser to the Company are not exclusive, and the Adviser may engage in any other business or render similar or different services to others including, without limitation, the direct or indirect sponsorship or management of other investment-based accounts or commingled pools of capital, however structured, having investment objectives similar to or different from those of the Company, and nothing in this Agreement shall limit or restrict the right of any officer, director, stockholder (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), officer or employee of the Adviser to engage in any other business or to devote his or her time and attention in part to any other business, whether of a similar or dissimilar nature, or to receive any fees or compensation in connection therewith (including fees for serving as a director of, or providing consulting services to, one or more of the Company's portfolio companies, subject to applicable law). The Adviser assumes no responsibility under this Agreement other than to render the services set forth herein. It is understood that directors, officers, employees and stockholders of the Company are or may become interested in the Adviser and its affiliates, as directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members, managers or otherwise, and that the Adviser and directors, officers, employees, partners, stockholders, members and managers of the Adviser and its affiliates are or may become similarly interested in the Company as stockholders or otherwise.

7. Indemnification.

(a) Indemnification. Subject to Section 8, the Adviser, any Sub-Adviser, each of their directors, officers, stockholders or members (and their stockholders or members, including the owners of their stockholders or members), agents, employees, controlling persons (as determined under the 1940 Act (“Controlling Persons”)) and any other person or entity affiliated with, or acting on behalf of, the Adviser or any Sub-Adviser (each an “Indemnified Party” and, collectively, the “Indemnified Parties”) shall not be liable to the Company for any action taken or omitted to be taken by the Adviser or any Sub-Adviser in connection with the performance of any of their duties or obligations under this Agreement or otherwise as an investment adviser of the Company (except to the extent specified in Section 36(b) of the 1940 Act concerning loss resulting from a breach of fiduciary duty with respect to the receipt of compensation for services), and the Company shall indemnify, defend and protect the Indemnified Parties (each of whom shall be deemed a third party beneficiary hereof) and hold them harmless from and against all losses, damages, liabilities, costs and expenses (including reasonable attorneys’ fees and amounts reasonably paid in settlement) (“Losses”) incurred by the Indemnified Parties in or by reason of any pending, threatened or completed action, suit, investigation or other proceeding (including an action or suit by or in the right of the Company or its security holders) arising out of or otherwise based upon the performance of any of the Indemnified Parties’ duties or obligations under this Agreement, any Sub-Advisory Agreement, or otherwise as an investment adviser of the Company to the extent such Losses are not fully reimbursed by insurance and otherwise to the fullest extent such indemnification would not be inconsistent with the Articles of Incorporation, the 1940 Act, or the laws of the State of Maryland law.

(b) Advancement of Funds. The Company shall be permitted to advance funds to the Indemnified Parties for legal expenses and other costs incurred as a result of any legal action for which indemnification is being sought only if all of the following conditions are met:

(i) The legal action relates to acts or omissions with respect to the performance of duties or services on behalf of the Company;

(ii) the Indemnified Party provides the Company with written affirmation of the Indemnified Party’s good faith belief that the Indemnified Party has met the standard of conduct necessary for indemnification by the Company;

(iii) The legal action is initiated by a third party who is not a Company stockholder, or the legal action is initiated by a Company stockholder and a court of competent jurisdiction specifically approves such advancement; and

(iv) The Indemnified Party provides the Company with a written agreement to repay the advanced funds to the Company, allocated as advanced, together with the applicable legal rate of interest thereon, in cases in which the Indemnified Party is not found to be entitled to indemnification pursuant to a final, non-appealable decision of a court of competent jurisdiction.

(c) The Adviser shall indemnify the Company, and its affiliates and Controlling Persons, for any Losses that the Company or its Affiliates and Controlling Persons may sustain as a result of the Adviser’s willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence, reckless disregard of its duties hereunder or violation of applicable law, including, without limitation, the federal and state securities laws.

8. Limitation on Indemnification.

Notwithstanding Section 7(a) to the contrary, the Company shall not provide for indemnification of the Indemnified Parties for any liability or loss suffered by the Indemnified Parties, nor shall the Company provide that any of the Indemnified Parties be held harmless for any loss or liability suffered by the Company, unless all of the following conditions are met:

- (i) the Indemnified Party has determined, in good faith, that the course of conduct which caused the loss or liability was in the best interests of the Company;
- (ii) the Indemnified Party was acting on behalf of or performing services for the Company;
- (iii) such liability or loss was not the result of willful misfeasance, bad faith, gross negligence or reckless disregard of its duties by the Indemnified Party; and
- (iv) such indemnification or agreement to hold harmless is recoverable only out of the Company's net assets and not from stockholders.

Furthermore, the Indemnified Party shall not be indemnified for any losses, liabilities or expenses arising from or out of an alleged violation of federal or state securities laws unless one or more of the following conditions are met:

- (i) there has been a successful adjudication on the merits of each count involving alleged material securities law violations;
- (ii) such claims have been dismissed with prejudice on the merits by a court of competent jurisdiction; or
- (iii) a court of competent jurisdiction approves a settlement of the claims against a particular indemnitee and finds that indemnification of the settlement and related costs should be made, and the court of law considering the request for indemnification has been advised of the position of the SEC and the published position of any state securities regulatory authority in which securities of the Company were offered or sold as to indemnification for violations of securities laws.

9. Effectiveness, Duration and Termination of Agreement.

(a) Term and Effectiveness. This Agreement shall become effective as of []. Once effective, this Agreement shall remain in effect for two years, and thereafter shall continue automatically for successive one-year periods, provided that such continuance is specifically approved at least annually by: (i) the vote of the Board of Directors, or by the vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company and (ii) the vote of a majority of the Company's directors who are not parties to this Agreement or "interested persons" (as such term is defined in Section 2(a)(19) of the 1940 Act) of any such party ("Independent Directors"), in accordance with the requirements of the 1940 Act.

(b) Termination. This Agreement may be terminated at any time, without the payment of any penalty: (i) by the Company upon 60 days' prior written notice to the Adviser: (A) upon the vote of a majority of the outstanding voting securities of the Company (as defined in Section 2(a)(42) of the 1940 Act) or (B) by the vote of the Company's Independent Directors; or (ii) by the Adviser upon not less than 120 days' prior written notice to the Company. This Agreement shall automatically terminate in the event of its "assignment" (as such term is defined for purposes of construing Section 15(a)(4) of the 1940 Act). The provisions of Sections 8 and 9 of this Agreement shall remain in full force and effect, and the Adviser shall remain entitled to the benefits thereof, notwithstanding any termination of this Agreement.

(c) Payments to and Duties of Adviser Upon Termination.

(i) After the termination of this Agreement, the Adviser shall not be entitled to compensation for further services provided hereunder except that it shall be entitled to receive from the Company within 30 days after the effective date of such termination all unpaid reimbursements and all earned but unpaid fees payable to the Adviser prior to termination of this Agreement, including any deferred fees.

(ii) The Adviser shall promptly upon termination:

(a) deliver to the Board of Directors a full accounting, including a statement showing all payments collected by it and a statement of all money held by it, covering the period following the date of the last accounting furnished to the Board of Directors;

(b) deliver to the Board of Directors all assets and documents of the Company then in custody of the Adviser; and

(c) cooperate with the Company to provide an orderly transition of services.

10. Notices.

Any notice under this Agreement shall be given in writing, addressed and delivered or mailed, postage prepaid, to the other party at the address listed below or at such other address for a party as shall be specified in a notice given in accordance with this Section.

11. Amendments.

This Agreement may be amended by mutual written consent of the parties, subject to the provisions of the 1940 Act.

12. Counterparts.

This Agreement may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed to be an original copy and all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument binding on all parties hereto, notwithstanding that all parties shall not have signed the same counterpart.

13. Governing Law.

Notwithstanding the place where this Agreement may be executed by any of the parties hereto and the provisions of Section 7, this Agreement shall be construed in accordance with the laws of the State of New York. For so long as the Company is regulated as a BDC under the 1940 Act, this Agreement shall also be construed in accordance with the applicable provisions of the 1940 Act and the Advisers Act. In such case, to the extent the applicable laws of the State of New York or any of the provisions herein conflict with the provisions of the 1940 Act or the Advisers Act, the latter shall control. Any reference in this Agreement to a statute or provision of the 1940 Act shall be construed to include any successor statute or provision to such statute or provision and any reference to any rule promulgated under the Advisers Act shall be construed to include any successor promulgated rule.

Appendix A

Below are examples of the two-part incentive fee:

Example — Subordinated Incentive Fee on Income, Determined on a Quarterly Basis

Assumptions

First Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 0.5500%.
Second Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 1.9500%.
Third Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income equals 2.800%.

The subordinated incentive fee on income in this example would be:

First Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income does not exceed the 1.75% preferred return rate, therefore there is no catch up or split incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income.
Second Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income falls between the 1.75% preferred return rate and the catch up of 2.1875%, therefore the incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income is 100% of the pre-incentive fee above the 1.75% preferred return of 1.95%.
Third Quarter:	Pre-incentive fee net investment income exceeds the 1.75% preferred return and the 2.1875% catch up provision. Therefore the catch up provision is fully satisfied by the 2.8% of pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 1.75% preferred return rate and there is a 20% incentive fee on pre-incentive fee net investment income above the 2.1875% “catch up.”

Example — Incentive Fee on Capital Gains (Millions)

Alternative 1 — Assumptions

Year 1:	$20 million investment made in company A (“Investment A”), and $30 million investment made in company B (“Investment B”)
Year 2:	Investment A sold for $50 million and fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $32 million
Year 3:	FMV of Investment B determined to be $25 million
Year 4:	Investment B sold for $31 million

The capital gains portion of the incentive fee would be:

Year 1:	None, because no investments were sold
Year 2:	Capital gains incentive fee of $6 million ($30 million realized capital gains on sale of Investment A multiplied by 20%)
Year 3:	None, because no investments were sold
Year 4:	Capital gains incentive fee of $200,000 ($6.2 million ($31 million cumulative realized capital gains multiplied by 20%) less $6 million (capital gains fee taken in Year 2))

Alternative 2 — Assumptions

Year 1:	$20 million investment made in Company A (“Investment A”), $30 million investment made in Company B (“Investment B”), $25 million investment made in Company C (“Investment C”) and the cost basis of Other Portfolio Investments is $25 million
Year 2:	Investment A sold for $50 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $30 million capital gain is available for distribution), fair market value, or FMV, of Investment B determined to be $25 million (creates $5 million in unrealized capital depreciation), the FMV of Investment C determined to be $25 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $25 million
Year 3:	FMV of Investment B determined to be $27 million (creates $3 million in unrealized capital depreciation), Investment C sold for $30 million ($25 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and the $5 million capital gain is available for distribution) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 4:	FMV of Investment B determined to be $30 million and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 5:	Investment B sold for $20 million ($20 million cost basis to be reinvested into Other Portfolio Investments and $10 million capital loss) and FMV of Other Portfolio Investments determined to be $45 million
Year 6:	Total Portfolio is sold for $80 million ($15 million capital gain computed based on a cumulative cost basis in Other Portfolio Investments of $65 million)

The incentive fee on capital gains in this example would be:

Year 1:	None, because no investments were sold
Year 2:	$5 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $25 million ($30 million realized capital gains on Investment A less unrealized capital depreciation on Investment B))
Year 3:	$1.4 million incentive fee on capital gains ($6.4 million (20% multiplied by $32 million ($35 million cumulative realized capital gains less $3 million unrealized capital depreciation))) less $5 million incentive fee on capital gains received in Year 2
Year 4:	None, because capital gains incentive fees are paid on realized capital gains only
Year 5:	None, because $5 million (20% multiplied by $25 million (cumulative realized capital gains of $35 million less realized capital losses of $10 million)) is less than $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains paid in prior years
Year 6:	$1.6 million incentive fee on capital gains (20% multiplied by $40 million ($25 million cumulative realized capital gains plus $15 million realized capital gains)) less $6.4 million cumulative incentive fee on capital gains received in prior years

Section 262 of the General Corporation Law of the State of Delaware

§262. Appraisal rights.

(a) Any stockholder of a corporation of this State who holds shares of stock on the date of the making of a demand pursuant to subsection (d) of this section with respect to such shares, who continuously holds such shares through the effective date of the merger or consolidation, who has otherwise complied with subsection (d) of this section and who has neither voted in favor of the merger or consolidation nor consented thereto in writing pursuant to § 228 of this title shall be entitled to an appraisal by the Court of Chancery of the fair value of the stockholder's shares of stock under the circumstances described in subsections (b) and (c) of this section. As used in this section, the word "stockholder" means a holder of record of stock in a corporation; the words "stock" and "share" mean and include what is ordinarily meant by those words; and the words "depository receipt" mean a receipt or other instrument issued by a depository representing an interest in 1 or more shares, or fractions thereof, solely of stock of a corporation, which stock is deposited with the depository.

(b) Appraisal rights shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock of a constituent corporation in a merger or consolidation to be effected pursuant to § 251 (other than a merger effected pursuant to § 251(g) of this title), § 252, § 254, § 255, § 256, § 257, § 258, § 263 or § 264 of this title:

(1) Provided, however, that, except as expressly provided in § 363(b) of this title, no appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock, which stock, or depository receipts in respect thereof, at the record date fixed to determine the stockholders entitled to receive notice of the meeting of stockholders to act upon the agreement of merger or consolidation (or, in the case of a merger pursuant to § 251(h), as of immediately prior to the execution of the agreement of merger), were either: (i) listed on a national securities exchange or (ii) held of record by more than 2,000 holders; and further provided that no appraisal rights shall be available for any shares of stock of the constituent corporation surviving a merger if the merger did not require for its approval the vote of the stockholders of the surviving corporation as provided in § 251(f) of this title.

(2) Notwithstanding paragraph (b)(1) of this section, appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of stock of a constituent corporation if the holders thereof are required by the terms of an agreement of merger or consolidation pursuant to §§ 251, 252, 254, 255, 256, 257, 258, 263 and 264 of this title to accept for such stock anything except:

- a. Shares of stock of the corporation surviving or resulting from such merger or consolidation, or depository receipts in respect thereof;
- b. Shares of stock of any other corporation, or depository receipts in respect thereof, which shares of stock (or depository receipts in respect thereof) or depository receipts at the effective date of the merger or consolidation will be either listed on a national securities exchange or held of record by more than 2,000 holders;
- c. Cash in lieu of fractional shares or fractional depository receipts described in the foregoing paragraphs (b)(2)a. and b. of this section; or
- d. Any combination of the shares of stock, depository receipts and cash in lieu of fractional shares or fractional depository receipts described in the foregoing paragraphs (b)(2)a., b. and c. of this section.

(3) In the event all of the stock of a subsidiary Delaware corporation party to a merger effected under § 253 or § 267 of this title is not owned by the parent immediately prior to the merger, appraisal rights shall be available for the shares of the subsidiary Delaware corporation.

(4) In the event of an amendment to a corporation's certificate of incorporation contemplated by § 363(a) of this title, appraisal rights shall be available as contemplated by § 363(b) of this title, and the procedures of this section, including those set forth in subsections (d) and (e) of this section, shall apply as nearly as practicable, with the word "amendment" substituted for the words "merger or consolidation," and the word "corporation" substituted for the words "constituent corporation" and/or "surviving or resulting corporation."

(c) Any corporation may provide in its certificate of incorporation that appraisal rights under this section shall be available for the shares of any class or series of its stock as a result of an amendment to its certificate of incorporation, any merger or consolidation in which the corporation is a constituent corporation or the sale of all or substantially all of the assets of the corporation. If the certificate of incorporation contains such a provision, the provisions of this section, including those set forth in subsections (d), (e), and (g) of this section, shall apply as nearly as is practicable.

(d) Appraisal rights shall be perfected as follows:

(1) If a proposed merger or consolidation for which appraisal rights are provided under this section is to be submitted for approval at a meeting of stockholders, the corporation, not less than 20 days prior to the meeting, shall notify each of its stockholders who was such on the record date for notice of such meeting (or such members who received notice in accordance with § 255(c) of this title) with respect to shares for which appraisal rights are available pursuant to subsection (b) or (c) of this section that appraisal rights are available for any or all of the shares of the constituent corporations, and shall include in such notice a copy of this section and, if 1 of the constituent corporations is a nonstock corporation, a copy of § 114 of this title. Each stockholder electing to demand the appraisal of such stockholder's shares shall deliver to the corporation, before the taking of the vote on the merger or consolidation, a written demand for appraisal of such stockholder's shares. Such demand will be sufficient if it reasonably informs the corporation of the identity of the stockholder and that the stockholder intends thereby to demand the appraisal of such stockholder's shares. A proxy or vote against the merger or consolidation shall not constitute such a demand. A stockholder electing to take such action must do so by a separate written demand as herein provided. Within 10 days after the effective date of such merger or consolidation, the surviving or resulting corporation shall notify each stockholder of each constituent corporation who has complied with this subsection and has not voted in favor of or consented to the merger or consolidation of the date that the merger or consolidation has become effective; or

(2) If the merger or consolidation was approved pursuant to § 228, § 251(h), § 253, or § 267 of this title, then either a constituent corporation before the effective date of the merger or consolidation or the surviving or resulting corporation within 10 days thereafter shall notify each of the holders of any class or series of stock of such constituent corporation who are entitled to appraisal rights of the approval of the merger or consolidation and that appraisal rights are available for any or all shares of such class or series of stock of such constituent corporation, and shall include in such notice a copy of this section and, if 1 of the constituent corporations is a nonstock corporation, a copy of § 114 of this title. Such notice may, and, if given on or after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, shall, also notify such stockholders of the effective date of the merger or consolidation. Any stockholder entitled to appraisal rights may, within 20 days after the date of mailing of such notice or, in the case of a merger approved pursuant to § 251(h) of this title, within the later of the consummation of the offer contemplated by § 251(h) of this title and 20 days after the date of mailing of such notice, demand in writing from the surviving or resulting corporation the appraisal of such holder's shares. Such demand will be sufficient if it reasonably informs the corporation of the identity of the stockholder and that the stockholder intends thereby to demand the appraisal of such holder's shares. If such notice did not notify stockholders of the effective date of the merger or consolidation, either (i) each such constituent corporation shall send a second notice before the effective date of the merger or consolidation notifying each of the holders of any class or series of stock of such constituent corporation that are entitled to appraisal rights of the effective date of the merger or consolidation or (ii) the surviving or resulting corporation shall send such a second notice to all such holders on or within 10 days after such effective date; provided, however, that if such second notice is sent more than 20 days following the sending of the first notice or, in the case of a merger approved pursuant to § 251(h) of this title, later than the later of the consummation of the offer contemplated by § 251(h) of this title and 20 days following the sending of the first notice, such second notice need only be sent to each stockholder who is entitled to appraisal rights and who has demanded appraisal of such holder's shares in accordance with this subsection. An affidavit of the secretary or assistant secretary or of the transfer agent of the corporation that is required to give either notice that such notice has been given shall, in the absence of fraud, be prima facie evidence of the facts stated therein. For purposes of determining the stockholders entitled to receive either notice, each constituent corporation may fix, in advance, a record date that shall be not more than 10 days prior to the date the notice is given, provided, that if the notice is given on or after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, the record date shall be such effective date. If no record date is fixed and the notice is given prior to the effective date, the record date shall be the close of business on the day next preceding the day on which the notice is given.

(e) Within 120 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, the surviving or resulting corporation or any stockholder who has complied with subsections (a) and (d) of this section hereof and who is otherwise entitled to appraisal rights, may commence an appraisal proceeding by filing a petition in the Court of Chancery demanding a determination of the value of the stock of all such stockholders. Notwithstanding the foregoing, at any time within 60 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, any stockholder who has not commenced an appraisal proceeding or joined that proceeding as a named party shall have the right to withdraw such stockholder's demand for appraisal and to accept the terms offered upon the merger or consolidation. Within 120 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, any stockholder who has complied with the requirements of subsections (a) and (d) of this section hereof, upon written request, shall be entitled to receive from the corporation surviving the merger or resulting from the consolidation a statement setting forth the aggregate number of shares not voted in favor of the merger or consolidation (or, in the case of a merger approved pursuant to § 251(h) of this title, the aggregate number of shares (other than any excluded stock (as defined in § 251(h)(6)d. of this title)) that were the subject of, and were not tendered into, and accepted for purchase or exchange in, the offer referred to in § 251(h)(2)), and, in either case, with respect to which demands for appraisal have been received and the aggregate number of holders of such shares. Such written statement shall be mailed to the stockholder within 10 days after such stockholder's written request for such a statement is received by the surviving or resulting corporation or within 10 days after expiration of the period for delivery of demands for appraisal under subsection (d) of this section hereof, whichever is later. Notwithstanding subsection (a) of this section, a person who is the beneficial owner of shares of such stock held either in a voting trust or by a nominee on behalf of such person may, in such person's own name, file a petition or request from the corporation the statement described in this subsection.

(f) Upon the filing of any such petition by a stockholder, service of a copy thereof shall be made upon the surviving or resulting corporation, which shall within 20 days after such service file in the office of the Register in Chancery in which the petition was filed a duly verified list containing the names and addresses of all stockholders who have demanded payment for their shares and with whom agreements as to the value of their shares have not been reached by the surviving or resulting corporation. If the petition shall be filed by the surviving or resulting corporation, the petition shall be accompanied by such a duly verified list. The Register in Chancery, if so ordered by the Court, shall give notice of the time and place fixed for the hearing of such petition by registered or certified mail to the surviving or resulting corporation and to the stockholders shown on the list at the addresses therein stated. Such notice shall also be given by 1 or more publications at least 1 week before the day of the hearing, in a newspaper of general circulation published in the City of Wilmington, Delaware or such publication as the Court deems advisable. The forms of the notices by mail and by publication shall be approved by the Court, and the costs thereof shall be borne by the surviving or resulting corporation.

(g) At the hearing on such petition, the Court shall determine the stockholders who have complied with this section and who have become entitled to appraisal rights. The Court may require the stockholders who have demanded an appraisal for their shares and who hold stock represented by certificates to submit their certificates of stock to the Register in Chancery for notation thereon of the pendency of the appraisal proceedings; and if any stockholder fails to comply with such direction, the Court may dismiss the proceedings as to such stockholder. If immediately before the merger or consolidation the shares of the class or series of stock of the constituent corporation as to which appraisal rights are available were listed on a national securities exchange, the Court shall dismiss the proceedings as to all holders of such shares who are otherwise entitled to appraisal rights unless (1) the total number of shares entitled to appraisal exceeds 1% of the outstanding shares of the class or series eligible for appraisal, (2) the value of the consideration provided in the merger or consolidation for such total number of shares exceeds $1 million, or (3) the merger was approved pursuant to § 253 or § 267 of this title.

(h) After the Court determines the stockholders entitled to an appraisal, the appraisal proceeding shall be conducted in accordance with the rules of the Court of Chancery, including any rules specifically governing appraisal proceedings. Through such proceeding the Court shall determine the fair value of the shares exclusive of any element of value arising from the accomplishment or expectation of the merger or consolidation, together with interest, if any, to be paid upon the amount determined to be the fair value. In determining such fair value, the Court shall take into account all relevant factors. Unless the Court in its discretion determines otherwise for good cause shown, and except as provided in this subsection, interest from the effective date of the merger through the date of payment of the judgment shall be compounded quarterly and shall accrue at 5% over the Federal Reserve discount rate (including any surcharge) as established from time to time during the period between the effective date of the merger and the date of payment of the judgment. At any time before the entry of judgment in the proceedings, the surviving corporation may pay to each stockholder entitled to appraisal an amount in cash, in which case interest shall accrue thereafter as provided herein only upon the sum of (1) the difference, if any, between the amount so paid and the fair value of the shares as determined by the Court, and (2) interest theretofore accrued, unless paid at that time. Upon application by the surviving or resulting corporation or by any stockholder entitled to participate in the appraisal proceeding, the Court may, in its discretion, proceed to trial upon the appraisal prior to the final determination of the stockholders entitled to an appraisal. Any stockholder whose name appears on the list filed by the surviving or resulting corporation pursuant to subsection (f) of this section and who has submitted such stockholder's certificates of stock to the Register in Chancery, if such is required, may participate fully in all proceedings until it is finally determined that such stockholder is not entitled to appraisal rights under this section.

(i) The Court shall direct the payment of the fair value of the shares, together with interest, if any, by the surviving or resulting corporation to the stockholders entitled thereto. Payment shall be so made to each such stockholder, in the case of holders of uncertificated stock forthwith, and the case of holders of shares represented by certificates upon the surrender to the corporation of the certificates representing such stock. The Court's decree may be enforced as other decrees in the Court of Chancery may be enforced, whether such surviving or resulting corporation be a corporation of this State or of any state.

(j) The costs of the proceeding may be determined by the Court and taxed upon the parties as the Court deems equitable in the circumstances. Upon application of a stockholder, the Court may order all or a portion of the expenses incurred by any stockholder in connection with the appraisal proceeding, including, without limitation, reasonable attorney's fees and the fees and expenses of experts, to be charged pro rata against the value of all the shares entitled to an appraisal.

(k) From and after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, no stockholder who has demanded appraisal rights as provided in subsection (d) of this section shall be entitled to vote such stock for any purpose or to receive payment of dividends or other distributions on the stock (except dividends or other distributions payable to stockholders of record at a date which is prior to the effective date of the merger or consolidation); provided, however, that if no petition for an appraisal shall be filed within the time provided in subsection (e) of this section, or if such stockholder shall deliver to the surviving or resulting corporation a written withdrawal of such stockholder's demand for an appraisal and an acceptance of the merger or consolidation, either within 60 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation as provided in subsection (e) of this section or thereafter with the written approval of the corporation, then the right of such stockholder to an appraisal shall cease. Notwithstanding the foregoing, no appraisal proceeding in the Court of Chancery shall be dismissed as to any stockholder without the approval of the Court, and such approval may be conditioned upon such terms as the Court deems just; provided, however that this provision shall not affect the right of any stockholder who has not commenced an appraisal proceeding or joined that proceeding as a named party to withdraw such stockholder's demand for appraisal and to accept the terms offered upon the merger or consolidation within 60 days after the effective date of the merger or consolidation, as set forth in subsection (e) of this section.

(l) The shares of the surviving or resulting corporation to which the shares of such objecting stockholders would have been converted had they assented to the merger or consolidation shall have the status of authorized and unissued shares of the surviving or resulting corporation.

SIERRA INCOME CORPORATION
CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS

I. INTRODUCTION

This Code of Business Conduct and Ethics (this “Code”) is adopted pursuant to Section 406 of the Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 (“SOX”), Rule 17j-1(c) promulgated under the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended (the “1940 Act”), and the New York Stock Exchange (“NYSE”) rules to encourage the officers, directors and employees (collectively “Personnel”) of Sierra Income Corporation (the “Fund”) to act in a manner consistent with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including state and federal securities laws, SOX, the 1940 Act, and the NYSE rules, and to conduct business with the highest level of integrity and honesty. Although the shares of the Fund will not be listed on a securities exchange, the Fund will generally abide by the requirements of the New York Stock Exchange (the “NYSE”), including those found in the NYSE’s Listed Company Manual.

For purposes of this Code, employees mean employees of SIC Advisors LLC (the “Adviser”) who spend some of their time assisting the Adviser in its efforts with respect to the Fund’s operations and any employees of the Fund or its subsidiaries. A copy of this Code will be posted on the Fund’s corporate website.

II. PURPOSES OF THE CODE

The purposes of this Code are:

- to promote honest and ethical conduct by Personnel, including the ethical handling of actual or apparent conflicts of interest;
- to promote full, fair, accurate, timely and understandable disclosure in reports and documents that the Fund files with, or submits to, the Securities and Exchange Commission (the “SEC”), and in other public communications made by the Fund;
- to promote compliance with applicable laws, rules and regulations;
- to promote fair dealing practices;
- to deter wrongdoing;
- to promote the protection of the Fund’s assets, including corporate opportunities and confidential information;
- to encourage prompt internal reporting to an appropriate person of violations of this Code; and
- to ensure accountability for adherence to this Code.

III. QUESTIONS ABOUT THE CODE

The Fund’s Chief Compliance Officer (the “CCO”) is designated to oversee compliance with, and shall serve as compliance officer for the implementation and administration of, this Code. Questions about this Code should be directed to the CCO.

IV. CONDUCT GUIDELINES

The Fund has adopted the following guidelines under which Personnel must perform their official duties and conduct the business affairs of the Fund.

A. Ethical and Honest Conduct

Personnel must act with integrity and honesty to avoid violations of this Code and promote ethical behavior in the work environment.

B. Conflicts of Interest

The Fund will be externally managed and advised by the Adviser. Certain Personnel also serve as officers of the Adviser. The Adviser, either directly or through its affiliates, furnishes advisory services to other clients, in addition to the Fund. The Adviser has adopted policies and procedures that address, among other things, the allocation of investment opportunities, execution of portfolio transactions, personal trading by employees and other potential conflicts of interest, which policies and procedures are designed to ensure that all client accounts, including the Fund, are treated equitably over time.

Personnel must avoid any actual or apparent conflict between their personal interests and the Fund's interests. A conflict exists when the personal interests of Personnel in any way interfere, or appear to interfere, with the interests of the Fund, or when Personnel take any action or have any interest that may make it difficult for them to objectively and effectively perform their jobs.

Pursuant to this Code, Personnel must disclose to the CCO all actual or apparent conflicts of interest that Personnel may have with the Fund, which could reasonably be expected to give rise to a violation of this Code.

If it is impractical to disclose the matter to the CCO, such actual or apparent conflicts of interest should be disclosed to the Fund's Chief Executive Officer, Chairman, or another member of the Board of Directors of the Fund (the "Board"). If Personnel are unsure of whether particular facts give rise to a conflict of interest or whether a particular transaction or relationship is "material," the matter should be brought to the attention of the CCO.

C. Internal Controls and Disclosure of Information

The reports and materials that the Fund files with the SEC, and in other public communications made by the Fund, must comply with all applicable law and SEC rules. Personnel involved in the Fund's financial reporting and disclosure process must be familiar with and comply with the Fund's disclosure controls and procedures and its internal control over financial reporting. Personnel who contribute in any way to the preparation or verification of the Fund's financial statements and other financial information must ensure that the Fund's books, records and accounts are accurately maintained. Personnel must provide accurate, complete, objective, relevant, timely and comprehensive information and cooperate fully with the Fund's and Adviser's internal accounting and audit staff, as well as the Fund's independent public accountants and counsel.

Further, Personnel must report to the CCO any information concerning (a) deficiencies in the design or operation of disclosure and internal controls which could adversely affect the Fund's ability to record, process, summarize and report financial data, or (b) any fraud, material or not, that involves the Fund's internal controls.

D. Compliance with Laws

Personnel must comply with all state and federal securities laws, including insider trading laws, and all other laws and rules applicable to the Fund, such as the Internal Revenue Code. The Fund has a separate insider trading policy with which Personnel must comply. Any questions about compliance with applicable laws and rules should be addressed to the CCO.

E. Confidentiality of Information

Personnel must respect and protect the confidentiality of information acquired in the course of their professional duties, except when authorized by the Fund to disclose such information or where disclosure is otherwise legally mandated. Confidential information acquired in the course of work may not be used by Personnel for personal advantage.

Confidential information about the Fund, including information that can be reasonably expected to have an impact on the market for the Fund's securities, such as forward-looking information like projections of revenue or earnings, may be released only in accordance with the Fund's Corporate Communications Policy and applicable law. Contacts with news organizations should be handled in accordance with the Fund's Corporate Communications Policy set forth in this Regulatory Compliance Manual.

F. Standards for Recordkeeping

Personnel must at all times endeavor to ensure that the Fund's financial books and records are thoroughly and accurately maintained to the best of their knowledge in a manner consistent with applicable laws and this Code.

G. Corporate Opportunities

All Personnel have a duty to advance the interests of the Fund when the opportunity to do so presents itself. Therefore, they may not:

- take opportunities personally (or for the benefit of friends or family members), including investment opportunities discovered through the use of their position with the Fund or through the use of any of the Fund's assets, property or information.
- use any Fund assets, property or information for personal gain (or the gain of a friend or family member); or
- compete, or prepare to compete, with the Fund.

H. Fair Dealing

All Personnel have a duty to deal fairly with the Fund's investors, product and service providers, business partners or any other companies or individuals with whom Personnel come into contact in the course of performing their jobs, including directors, officers and employees of the Fund or any of its affiliated entities, and its competitors. Personnel may not take advantage of these or any other parties by means of:

- manipulation;
- concealment;
- abuse of privileged information;
- misrepresentation of material facts; or
- any other unfair-dealing practice.

I. Protection and Proper Use of Fund Assets

Personnel should protect the Fund's assets and ensure that they are used efficiently. The Fund assets are to be used only for legitimate business purposes. Incidental personal use of telephones, fax machines, copy machines, personal computers and similar equipment is generally allowed if there is no significant added cost to the Fund, it does not interfere with work duties and it is not related to an illegal activity or any outside business.

V. WAIVERS OF THIS CODE

Any amendment or waiver of this Code for an executive officer or member of the Board of the Fund must be made by the Fund's Board or an independent committee thereof. All other Personnel may request a waiver of a provision of this Code by submitting a request in writing to the CCO for review. An executive officer of the Fund, or another appropriate person (such as a designated member of the Board or Audit Committee), will decide whether to grant a waiver. A log of all waivers to this Code made pursuant to this section shall be maintained by the CCO.

Any amendment or waiver for an officer or director must be disclosed within four (4) business days following such amendment or waiver by distributing a press release, providing website disclosure, or by filing a current report on Form 8-K with the SEC, or in such other manner as may be required by applicable SEC rules.

VI. AFFIRMATION OF THE CODE

Upon adoption of this Code, all Personnel must certify through the execution of an acknowledgement and certification form (in the form attached as Exhibit A hereto), that they have received, read and understood this Code, and annually thereafter must affirm that they have complied with the requirements of this Code. To the extent necessary, the CCO will provide guidance on the conduct required by this Code and the manner in which violations or suspected violations must be reported and waivers must be requested.

VII. REPORTING VIOLATIONS

In the event that Personnel discover or, in good faith, suspect a violation of this Code, Personnel are obligated to immediately report the suspected violation to the CCO. Any suspected violations involving officers or directors should be reported to the Fund's Audit Committee. Personnel who report violations or suspected violations in good faith will not be subject to retaliation of any kind. Reported violations will be investigated and addressed promptly and will be treated as confidential to the extent possible. All Personnel are expected to cooperate with any such investigations. The CCO shall maintain a log of suspected violations and the results of any investigations resulting therefrom.

VIII. VIOLATIONS OF THE CODE

A violation of this Code may result in disciplinary action, including termination of employment and/or removal as an officer of the Fund and/or referral to appropriate regulatory authorities.

Adopted: April 12, 2012

EXHIBIT A TO CODE OF BUSINESS CONDUCT AND ETHICS

CERTIFICATION

I, the undersigned, affirm as follows:

- I have received, read and understood the Fund's code of business conduct and ethics (the "Code") which was adopted by the Fund's board of directors on_ 201_ to act in a manner consistent with all applicable laws, rules and regulations, including state and federal securities laws, Sarbanes-Oxley Act of 2002 and the Investment Company Act of 1940, as amended, and to conduct business with the highest level of integrity and honesty; and
- I further affirm that during the year prior to the date hereof I complied with the Code.
