NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

1. Contingencies

UnumProvident Corporation (UnumProvident) and its insurance company subsidiaries, including Provident Life and Casualty Insurance Company (the Company), as part of their normal operations in managing disability claims are engaged in claim litigation where disputes arise as a result of a denial or termination of benefits. Most typically those lawsuits are filed on behalf of a single claimant or policyholder, and in some of these individual actions punitive damages are sought, such as claims alleging bad faith in the handling of insurance claims. For claim litigation, UnumProvident and its insurance company subsidiaries, including the Company, maintain reserves based on experience to satisfy judgments and settlements in the normal course. Management expects that the ultimate liability, if any, with respect to claim litigation, after consideration of the reserves maintained, will not be material to the financial condition of the Company. Nevertheless, given the inherent unpredictability of litigation, it is possible that an adverse outcome in certain claim litigation involving punitive damages could, from time to time, have a material adverse effect on the Company's results of operations in a period.

Additionally, from time to time class action allegations are pursued where the claimant or policyholder purports to represent a larger number of individuals who are similarly situated. Since each insurance claim is evaluated based on its own merits, there is rarely a single act or series of actions, which can properly be addressed by a class action. Nevertheless, the Company monitors these cases closely and defends itself appropriately where these allegations are made. Seven such purported class actions are described below.

The Multidistrict Litigation

On May 22, 2003, UnumProvident, several of its subsidiaries, including the Company, and some of their officers and directors filed a motion with the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation seeking to transfer a number of class actions suits, now pending against them in various federal district courts to a single district for coordinated or consolidated pre-trial proceedings. Oral arguments on the transfer motion were held on July 24, 2003. On September 2, 2003, the Judicial Panel on Multidistrict Litigation entered an order transferring these cases, including each of the cases described below, other than the Jewel action, to the U.S. District Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee for coordinated or consolidated pretrial proceedings.

On November 4, 2002 the case of Keir et al. v. UnumProvident Corporation et al., was filed in the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York. This case purports to be a class action on behalf of a putative class of group long-term disability participants insured under ERISA plans whose claims were denied or terminated on or after June 30, 1999. The amended complaint alleges that these claimants had their claims improperly challenged and allege that UnumProvident and its insurance subsidiaries, including the Company, breached certain fiduciary duties owed to these participants in ERISA plans in which the Company is the claims adjudicator. The Company maintains that the allegations are false and that the claims, as framed, are not permissible under ERISA's carefully structured avenues of relief. On April 29, 2003, the court denied the defendants' motion to dismiss the complaint. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class. This action was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee as part of the multidistrict litigation transfer order.

On February 11, 2003, the case of Harris, et al. v. UnumProvident Corporation, et al., was filed in the Circuit Court of St. Clair County, Illinois. This case purports to be a class action. The complaint alleges that individuals were wrongfully denied benefits and alleges causes of action under breach of contract, breach of the covenant of good faith and fair dealing, violation of the Illinois Consumer Fraud Act, common law fraud, intentional misrepresentation, and breach of fiduciary duty. Alternatively, the complaint alleges violations of ERISA. The complaint seeks injunctive and declaratory relief as well as restitution and punitive damages. On April 4, 2003 the case was removed to the United States District Court for the Southern District of Illinois. The Company strongly denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation. This action was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee as part of the multidistrict litigation transfer order.

On April 30, 2003, the case of Taylor, on behalf of herself and all others similarly situated v. UnumProvident Corporation, et al., was filed in the Circuit Court for Shelby County, Tennessee in the Thirteenth Judicial District at Memphis. The plaintiff seeks to represent all individuals who were insured by long-term disability policies issued by subsidiaries of UnumProvident and who did not obtain their coverage through employer sponsored plans and who had a claim denied, terminated, or suspended by a UnumProvident subsidiary after January 1, 1995. Plaintiff alleges that UnumProvident and its subsidiaries, including the Company, employed various unfair claim practices in assessing entitlement to benefits by class members during this period and as a result wrongfully denied legitimate claims. The plaintiff and the class seek contractual, equitable and injunctive relief. On June 9, 2003, the defendants removed this action to the United States District Court for the Western District of Tennessee. The defendants strongly deny the allegations in the complaint, do not believe that class certification is appropriate for the relief sought and will vigorously defend the litigation. This action was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee as part of the multidistrict litigation transfer order.

On July 18, 2003, Contreras v. UnumProvident Corporation, et al., was filed in the Southern District of New York. Plaintiffs allege claims on behalf of a putative class of ERISA plan participants, beneficiaries, third-party beneficiaries or assignees of group long-term disability insurance issued by the insuring subsidiaries of UnumProvident, including the Company, who have had a disability claim denied, terminated or suspended by UnumProvident on or after June 30, 1999. Plaintiffs assert bad faith claims practices by UnumProvident in violation of ERISA. Plaintiffs seek equitable and injunctive relief to require, among other things, that UnumProvident re-evaluate all previously denied, terminated, or suspended claims. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class. This action was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee as part of the multidistrict litigation transfer order.

On September 17, 2003, the case of Rudrud et al. v. UnumProvident Corporation et al., was filed in the United States District Court for the District of Massachusetts. The plaintiffs assert claims on behalf of a putative class of disability participants insured under ERISA plans. The complaint alleges that these claimants had their claims improperly denied or terminated and that the Company breached certain fiduciary duties owed to these participants in ERISA plans. The complaint also alleges violations under the federal Racketeer Influenced and Corrupt Organizations Act (RICO) and Massachusetts state law. The complaint seeks payment of benefits, reversal of claim denials or contract rescissions and re-determination by an independent person of claims of the named plaintiffs and others similarly situated, appointment of a master to oversee certain claim handling matters, restitution and damages, and treble damages under RICO. The defendants have not yet answered or otherwise responded to this complaint. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class. This action was transferred to the Eastern District of Tennessee as part of the multidistrict litigation transfer order.

On November 13, 2003, the case of Dauphinee et al. v. UnumProvident, et al., was filed in the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Tennessee. This action is brought as a putative class action lawsuit on behalf of representative plaintiffs and all disabled individuals insured under a UnumProvident long-term disability plan. The complaint alleges that UnumProvident and its subsidiaries fraudulently and otherwise unlawfully denied and terminated long-term disability insurance benefits. Additionally, the complaint alleges misuse of authority as an ERISA claims fiduciary. The complaint seeks injunctive and declaratory relief to require, among other things, that UnumProvident re-evaluate all previously denied, terminated, or suspended claims. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class.

On December 22, 2003, the Tennessee federal district court entered an order consolidating all of the above actions other than the Taylor action for all pretrial purposes under the caption In re UnumProvident Corp. ERISA Benefit Denial Actions. Among other things, the Court in that order appointed a lead counsel in the actions and directed lead counsel to file a consolidated amended complaint in the ERISA Benefit Denial Actions, which was filed on February 20, 2004. On March 26, 2004, the defendants answered the complaints in these actions, and simultaneously filed a motion for judgment on the pleadings in the ERISA Benefit Denial Actions. The parties have engaged in certain limited discovery in connection with a court-ordered mediation to take place later this year.

On April 9, 2004, the plaintiffs in each of these two actions separately filed motions seeking certification of a plaintiff class. The defendants have not yet responded to that motion.

The Court entered a schedule providing for the completion of all pretrial proceedings in these actions by December 2005. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class.

Claim Litigation

On December 11, 2003, the case of Jewel, et al. v. UnumProvident, et al., was filed in the Worcester County Superior Court, Commonwealth of Massachusetts. The Company received service of this matter on March 8, 2004. Plaintiffs seek to represent all individual long-term disability policyholders and all participants in group, long-term disability plans which are not covered by the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 who (a) had coverage issued by an insuring subsidiary and (b) whose claims for long-term disability benefits were denied, or whose payments of long-term disability benefits were terminated or suspended, on or after July 1, 1999. Plaintiffs allege that the defendants employed various unfair claim practices and seek declaratory, contractual, and injunctive relief. On April 20, the defendants answered the complaint by denying generally the allegations and asserting various defenses. The Company denies the allegations in the complaint and will vigorously defend the litigation and any attempt to certify the putative class.

Other Claim Related Examinations and Investigations

Some of UnumProvident's insuring subsidiaries have experienced increased market conduct examinations by state insurance departments focused specifically on its disability claims handling policies and practices. On March 19, 2003, four UnumProvident insurance subsidiaries consented to the entry of an order by the Georgia Insurance Commissioner that, among other things, ordered them to each pay a monetary penalty of $250,000 and to adhere to certain claims handling practices. The order also placed these four companies on regulatory probation for two years, during which period certain Georgia claims and complaints will be reviewed on a quarterly basis by representatives of the Georgia Department of Insurance. The Georgia order did not cite any violations of Georgia law or regulations.

Because of the number of market conduct examinations initiated during 2002 and 2003, a coordinated market conduct examination of UnumProvident's disability claims handling policies and practices was organized during 2003 by Massachusetts, Maine, and Tennessee, the states of domicile for several of the Company's insurance subsidiaries. Currently 44 states and the District of Columbia are participating in this coordinated examination in which the domiciliary states are attempting to address common state concerns and also eliminate or reduce the number of duplicative individual examinations by multiple states. California, Arizona, Minnesota, and New Mexico have chosen to continue pursuing their own examinations and investigations, although California and Minnesota have elected to participate in the multi-state examination as well. Additional state market conduct examinations may be commenced.

In addition, UnumProvident received a letter in September 2003 from the office of the New York State Attorney General indicating that it is reviewing the disability claims-handling procedures of the Company and its insurance subsidiaries. The Company is cooperating and is in the process of gathering and providing information in response.

In a letter dated March 25, 2004, the U.S. Department of Labor informed UnumProvident that it was conducting an examination pursuant to the Employee Retirement Income Security Act of 1974 (ERISA) of the benefit plans UnumProvident provides to its employees and the products and services provided to third party plans. UnumProvident is cooperating and is in the process of gathering and providing information in response.

These regulatory examinations and investigations could result in, among other things, changes in the claims handling and other business practices, increases in policy liabilities, reopening certain closed or denied claims, injury to the Company's reputation, negative publicity, and harm to the Company's ability to sell or retain insurance policies, thereby adversely affecting the Company's business, and potentially materially affecting the consolidated results of operations in a period. Determination by regulatory authorities that UnumProvident or its insurance subsidiaries have engaged in improper conduct could also adversely affect UnumProvident's defense of various lawsuits described herein.
