

Q: When was NextWave Wireless formed?

A: NextWave Wireless was formed on April 13, 2005, as a limited liability company (LLC). The company converted into a Delaware corporation on November 13, 2006.

Q: When did NextWave Wireless list on NASDAQ?

A: We listed on NASDAQ on January 3, 2007.

Q: What is NextWave's ticker symbol?

A: WAVE

Q: Is NextWave traded on any other exchange?

A: No. We have no plans to trade on any other exchange at this time.

Q: Who is NextWave's transfer agent?

A: We have retained Computershare Trust Company, N.A., as our Registrar and Transfer Agent.

Q: Did NextWave have an IPO?

A: No. We have never sold or offered to sell stock to the public. Shares of our common stock that currently trade on NASDAQ include shares issued in private placements including those issued in connection with our acquisition of various companies and shares issued in the reorganization of our predecessor company.

Q: Has NextWave ever split its stock?

A: As a public company, we have never split our stock.

Q: Can I purchase NextWave stock directly from the company?

A: We do not offer a direct stock purchase plan. You may purchase shares through a stockbroker.

Q: When and where will the next Annual Shareholder meeting be held?

A: We intend to announce details about our 2009 Annual Shareholder meeting in January 2009. Our 2008 Annual Shareholder meeting was held in San Diego on May 14, 2008.

Q: Does NextWave conduct earnings calls?

A: We do not currently have plans to conduct earnings calls.

Q: When does NextWave intend to release its Q2 2008 and Q3 2008 earnings?

A: In accordance with SEC regulations for accelerated filers, we are required to file our Q2 2008 10-Q no later than August 8, 2008, and our Q3 2008 10-Q no later than November 7, 2008.