US Tax Information – Entity Classification (“check-the-box”) Election

In September 2002, the Company made a “check-the-box” election, which under US tax law is treated as a taxable liquidation for minority shareholders. As a result of this election, U.S. taxpayers that were shareholders of the Company on September 19, 2000 will be required to recognize taxable gain or loss on the shares of the Company they hold based on the difference between their tax basis in the shares and the deemed liquidation proceeds, which we believe to be $6.39 per share. By early 2003, the Company will send a 1099DIV to its minority shareholders, which will include the calculation of the deemed liquidation proceeds. Shareholders are encouraged to discuss the potential tax and financial consequences of the election with their tax and financial advisors.
