AIG ADDED AS COMPONENT OF DOW JONES SUSTAINABILITY INDEX FOR NORTH AMERICA

NEW YORK, September 24, 2007 – American International Group, Inc. (AIG) was today included as an insurance sector component in the Dow Jones Sustainability Index North America (DJSI North America). The index captures, in terms of sustainability, the leading 20 percent of the 600 largest North American companies of the Dow Jones Global Index.

Index components are selected according to a systematic assessment that identifies the leading sustainability-driven companies in each industry group. Corporations are evaluated on a variety of sustainability criteria including climate change strategies, energy consumption, human resources development, knowledge management, stakeholder relations, and corporate governance.

AIG President and Chief Executive Officer Martin J. Sullivan commented, “We are proud to be included in the Dow Jones Sustainability Index for North America. Sustainable corporations are responsible corporate citizens, and AIG strives to be a leader in all areas of corporate social responsibility.”

Additional information about AIG’s corporate social responsibility initiatives and a copy of its Corporate Social Responsibility Report can be found on the AIG corporate website, www.aigcorporate.com
