

International

Already serving core-market customers in 80 nations, we continued to expand internationally in 2007, growing our sales outside the United States in applications ranging from command and control to missile defense. We also addressed international opportunities in adjacent markets. Our November e-Borders win confirmed Raytheon's global leadership in homeland security.

e-Borders Photo: This comprehensive air, sea, rail and border security program for the United Kingdom is expected to set new standards for accuracy and effectiveness in combating global terrorism.
